Heat Is Hard For Unacclimated Guardsmen.

MANY DISCOMFORTS AHEAD.

But There is a Wide Variety of Scenery and Much to Interest the Volunteers Who Are Doing Patrol Duty. Lower Part of Border Will Fascinate the Recruits.

San Antonio, Tex.—Campaigning upon the Mexican border is no pleasant picnic in these hot summer days for the thousands of unacclimated men from after their arrival threw them on the the northern states. Notwithstanding the many discomforts that will be encountered by the raw and unseasoned military men they will find portions of hungry vagrants. Two weary wanderthe frontier region full of fascinating Interest. This is particularly true of that part of the border which extends from the mouth of the Rio Grande along the course of that stream for more than 600 miles. When the upper reaches of the Rio Grande begin to break into a rough, barren, monotonous country that runs westward all the way to the Pacific ocean the wild beauty and striking strangeness that characterize the lower border begin to

There is a marked difference in the summer climate of the various points along the border, due to the varying altitude and the nearness of the ocean. Many people would suppose that Brownsville, situated far down toward the tropics and within twenty-five miles of the mouth of the Rio Grande, would be a veritable inferno during the hot weather months. Just the contrary is true. The climate there in summer is delightful. The ever blowing trade winds sweep inward from the gulf of Mexico, tempering the heat of the sun. The effect of the gulf "breeze" is felt along the Rio Grande for more than 200 miles.

The towns and military stations of Harlingen, Mercedes, Donna, Mission, McAllen, Samfordyce, Hidalgo, San Benito, Edinburg, Rio Grande City, Roma, Zapata, Laredo, Fort Brown, Fort Ringgold and Fort McIntosh are all within the zone that is tempered by the constantly blowing breeze from the gulf. From Laredo all the way west to the Pacific ocean the summer temperature varies in intensity. The breeze that usually blows from the mountains of the states of Coahuila and Tamaulipas has a cooling effect upon the climate of the border from Laredo to the edge of the Big Bend country, taking in the towns of Eagle Pass and Del Rio.

If there is anything that the soldier from other states fervently bopes for above others it is that he be kept out of the Big Bend region. From now on until November an almost steady temperature ranging from 110 to 120 in the shade can be counted on. There is not a tree or shrub to break the terrific rays of the sun.

Most of the larger cities of Mexico are well situated at altitudes ranging from 3,000 to 7,000 feet. Saltillo, Durango, Zacatecas, Aguas Callentes, San Luis Potosi, Puebla, Pachuca, City of Mexico, Guadalajara, Oaxaca, Morelia and many other cities and towns have delightful summer climates, while the attempted to use firearms of any kind, temperature in winter is mild and pleasant. The climate of Monterey the animal, stunning him sufficiently to and Torreon is hot, but not oppressively so. The gulf coast cities of Tampico, Vera Cruz, Coatzacoalcos, Tuxpan | brought to the hospital here for treatand Progreso are refreshed by cooling breezes. The same is true of the Pacific coast cities of Guaymas, Mazatlan, Manzanilla, Acapulco and Salina

The climate of the border towns of Columbus, N. M.; Douglas, Naco and Nogales, Ariz., is not as unbearable in city recently G. F. Abrahams, propriesummer as one who has not gone through a living experience upon that um, and Harry Lashley of Kirwin part of the border might suppose. The nights are usually pleasant and the some of the historic oak trees at Lindays are relieved by a breeze from coln Park, near Cawker City. the mountains. The region, however. is desolate and uninviting.

It is the mystery of the chaparral covered region of the lower Rio Grande border that appeals most to the aver age visitor to the frontier. Upon both sides of the international boundary stream the low growing mesquite trees cat claws, prickly pear and innumer able other varieties of thorny shrubs and plants form an almost imper > trable wilderness.

Italian Army Has Special Department For This Purpose.

FEATURE IN PRESENT WAR.

Organized by General Cadorna, This Division Protects and Preserves Treasures In Fighting Areas, Not Only In Italian Territory, but In Places Taken From Austrians.

Headquarters of the Italian Army.-A department of fine arts is one of the features of the Italian army. It is at tached to the general staff, and it has proved to be such a highly important feature in modern warfare that admiration of it was expressed by Gen eral Joffre and the late Lord Kitch ener on their visits to Italy.

This art department was organized by General Cadorna, commander in chief of the Italian armies, primarily to protect and preserve the art treas ures in the fighting areas, not only in Italian territory, but in places taker from the Austrians. Ugo Ojetti, an art critic of international reputation. who has long been officially identified with Italian art and architecture, was appointed the head of the department just a year ago, since which time many million dollars' worth of art treasures have been taken in charge.

The art department is kept fully in formed regarding any new advance on the part of the Italian army, and it frequently acts under artillery fire. Once the Austrian troops have been definitely dislodged the department conducts a thorough search for art objects and takes complete charge of those that the Austrians have left behind. The search often leads into graveyard tombs and into vaults under churches where the treasures are hidden for safe keeping in the early days of the war. But in many instances the Austrians have taken everything away with them.

The work of the art department in Venice has given that city the aspect of a much bandaged football player. All of its monuments have been care fully protected against the stray shells of Austrian aeroplanes. It is estimated that no less than 700,000 sacks full of sand have been placed around the finest buildings and monuments. By actual count 20,000 such bags protect the basilica of St. Mark's. ## BEGAN WITH NINETEEN CENTS

New Yorker Invested That Sum In Suspenders and Sold Them on the Bowery-Now Is Able to Share Success With Those Who Helped to Make It.

New York.—Bernhard Blitzer of a gas and electric appliance company in this city arrived in New York from Austria thirty years ago with 19 cents in his pocket. He invested his 19 cents in suspenders and sold them on the Bowery. Recently he distributed more than $15,000 among the twentyseven heads of departments and salesmen employed by the firm of which he is the president.

Mr. Blitzer told the story of his life at a dinner in the Hotel Belleclaire given by his firm to the traveling sales-

"I came to America from Austria," said Mr. Blitzer, "when about eighteen years old, and when I landed I had just 19 cents. I met an Austrian friend who ran a small hotel near the Battery, and he offered me a room and meals on credit until I was able to pay for them. I accepted his kindness, and with my 19 cents I bought a few pairs of suspenders, which I peddled. When they were sold I put my principal and profit into suspenders and peddled again. I kept this up, always putting every cent of profit into more stock, until I rose to the proud position of peddler-merchant. In those days a peddler-merchant was one who had a cart and paid a man $1 a day to push it while he sold merchandise.

After a time Mr. Blitzer was able to pay his landlord in full, and some time later he was able to marry. From peddling merchandise be went to work for the gas company of New York, and there he had his opportunity and his

PAPER SHORTAGE IS SERIOUS

The United States Hasto Import Every Year Tons of Material. - The War Has Interfered With the Available Supply.

The saving of waste material is absolutely essential and should be generally practised. Some people seem to regard the injunction about saving rags and waste paper as a sort of a fad, a sort of trumped up economy spasm. On the contrary the shortage of paper is a startling reality. "The cause of it is twofold," says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. "There is an increased demand for paper and cardboard, and the war has cut off our imports of rags and wood-pulp. Not long ago the American Newspaper Publishers' Association urged its members to practice economy in the use of paper.

The Eastern Shore of Maryland contributed $1,000 in fines in a few days, to the Automobile Commission, for violating the automobile laws.

Commissioner E. Austin Baughman heard that autoists were operating with a disregard for any law. Gathering up nearly his entire force of men he took a trip to the Shore. Here he found cars being driven by intoxicated persons, no head lights, tail lights, no operator's licenses, no chauffer's licenses, were being used, in fact every section of the law was being violated. Col. Baughman stated that the campaign was a very successful one but there were still more violators to be caught.

No estimate of the loss could be obtained, but it was said the building destroyed would be rebuilt.

"The office of Road Inquiry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, conducted a series of investigations covering the five years from 1910 to 1914, including four counties in Virginia, one in New York, one in Alabama, one in Mississippi and one in Florida. The comparison of the value of the land based on actual sales was made between the value before the roads were improved and the value of the land after the improvement.

"The summary of the report shows that land values in the eight counties increased from 9 to 114 per cent after the roads were improved and that the decrease in the cost of haulage was from 33 5c. per ton a mile before improvement, a saving of 53 per cent. School attendance increased from 66 out of each hundred pupils to 76, after the road improvement and the consolidation of schools was greatly facilitated through the abolition of the one room

"In some counties, it was found that there were very few sales of land except in the sections where the roads had been improved. The areas devoted to truck growing, poultry and small fruits proved roads are now being cultivated for the first time since the civil war.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the produc-tion of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a value. greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Mary-land Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

foolhardy, the indifferent, are the after effect. responsible for the majority of accidents, but the unfortunate part of it is that the results of mishaps caused by motorists who are a law unto themselves frequently have to be borne by others-those who take every proper precaution. As a rule it is the careful man who gets the jolt from the speed fiend and the joy rider. Were the culprit the only one to suffer it would not be so bad. Even if he met his death it would "help some;" the breed would the more quickly be cut off and the labor of the fool killer would be less arduous.

When the speed-maniac is fined until his pocket book is flat; when the gasoline experimenter discovers that a mixture of whiskey and "gas" is not conducive to level-headedness and clear vision; when the amateur is kept in leash until he or she acquires perfect control; when teamsters and drivers of horse-drawn vehicles learn where and when to "turn out" for approaching cars; and when pedestrians cease to dance artists even in the psalmists' the Higland Fling and the Fish time. Electric Current. One of the simplest electrical devices known to the average person is the incandescent electric lamp. According to the Electrical Experimenter, if we could obtain a sufficient number of these lamps of the twenty watt size and string them along a wire line from the earth to the moon, the lamps being fifteen inches apart, the amount of current necessary to light them would then represent the amount of power generated by all the dynamos in the United States, which in their entirety have an output of about 20,350,000,000 watts per hour.

For another illustration we might stretch a line of two conductors fifteen times around the earth and place on this 1,000 watt lamps, 100 feet apart. The power required to light this gigantic line would also represent the electrical energy produced by these ever humming dynamos.

Handsome Is That Handsome Doesn't. The idea that handsome is that handsome does has caused so much trouble ever since it was first sprung upon an unsuspecting world that it is high time it is disposed of. In the first place, if you are really handsome, especially if you happen to be a girl, you don't have to do anything else. As a matter of fact, no beautiful girl ever does anything else. It isn't necessary for her to cook or sew or even talk. All she has to do is to sit still and be loved, and the line usually forms on the right.

If you do a thing, on the other hand, the mere fact that you have done it is supposed to insure your being handsome. What nonsense! If you do the handsome thing it will never be regarded as handsome by the only people whose opinion is worth while, because with them doing the handsome is so usual that it becomes commonplace If you are homely nothing you do will be handsome.

To do a handsome thing, therefore, always start by being handsome. Then you won't have to do it.-Life.

Quick Wit On the Stage.

Richard Mansfield created the role of Beau Brummel. W. J. Ferguson acted the valet in the original production. In the character of the valet it was Ferguson's place to hand the Beau his gloves, his stick and finally his hat. Upon the opening night he proffered the hat to Mansfield, turned the wrong way around. Had the Beau put on the hat in the way it was handed to him and strolled down Piccadilly or Bond street the faux pas might have created a scandal. When Ferguson discovered his error he turned pale under his makeup.

Mansfield was quick to grasp the situation and with one of his most courtly bows gave the hat back to the valet so that he might turn it around, which Ferguson did with pantomimic apol-

HAMMER AND NAILS FOR

Maryland Ministers Will Hold Their Third Annual Country Life School And Conference, July 24 To August 5.

"No, I don't attend conventions any more," said a Maryland minister recently. "They just pump you full of inspiration until you feel that you are as big as Goliath and as cunning as David-man enough to tackle anything. But you go home and shrink and shrink as you meet the same old difficulties, until you feel too small and weak to carry out your conventionborn plans for the saving of the universe. It's like rhapsodising on the beauties of the house you want the apprentice carpenter to build and failing to give him carpenter's tools or definite instructions."

A Common Defect Avoided. The program committee of the third annual Country Life Conference of Maryland Ministers which will be held at the State College of Agriculture, August 2-4, and will be preceded by a Country Life School on Rural Community Problems, beginning July 24, has realized the truth of the above criticism and has sought by choice of speakers and arrangement of the addresses and discussion to make its sesion give a definite and practical message that can be used by the average minister in the average community. That the previous school and conferences have provided both hammer and nails for community building has been proven by the good work since accomplished by the ministers who attended. Community centers, community improvement associations, granges, and county ministerial associations that have been organized during the past year are directly traceable to the 1914 and 1915 efforts.

A National Movement.

The ministers in many states are getting together for the good of the cause. In at least ten states the country life opportunity chord is being struck, and everywhere it makes for harmony and happiness in country life. Country Life School. *

The aim of the Country Life School is to give the minister a deeper insight into the social and economic phases of country life and also to give him practical training in agriculture and domestic science. Soils and Drainage, Rural Sanitation, Fertilizers, Use of Lime, Concrete on the Farm, Orchard Fruits, Small Fruits, Hog Cholera Control, and Poultry are some of the topics that will be presented by the specialists of the College and the Experiment Station. The purpose is to better equip the preacher to lead his community not to make him a specialist but to give him a deeper fundamental conception of the needs of his community for better agriculture as well as for better spiritual life.

Professor F. B. Bomberger, who is well qualified for this work by both experience and training and dean of the Economics Department of the State College, will give a series of lectures upon Rural Economics, tracing the development of agriculture and emphasizing the factors that make for progress. Ralph A. Felton, of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, will lecture daily upon Rural Sociology. It is he who is largely responsible for the epoch making country life surveys for which his board is famous. His grasp is that of one thoroughly grounded in all the library can afford but depending upon intimate knowledge gained in his field work for his conclusions as to the measures necessary for the development of a satisfying social life for the country.

The Conference August 2-4.

Again in the conference the tools of community building will be presented and their use explained. While inspiration and enthusiasm will be much in evidence they will be accompanied by concrete suggestions.

Ralph Felton will lecture daily on sociological questions, Rev. Silas E. Persons, of Cazenovia, N. Y., whose work in a country pastorate has been heralded from coast to coast, will speak daily on mastering the every day problems of the country pastorate. F. B. Freeman, of the International Y. M. C. A., will deliver three addresses upon Leadership of the Country Community. He has had years of successful experience in enlisting and training boys and girls in community work. Dr. W. H. Burk, of the Protestant Episcopal Domestic Mission Society, will speak daily upon "The Rural Sunday School." He is a national authority upon the country Sunday School, with a great faith in the wonderful opportunities it offers for building up the church.

Among the other speakers will be Dr. P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education; Gifford Pinchot, of the U.S. Conservation Association; Dr. E. L. Watson, a former district superintendent of the M. E. Church; and Dr. H. J. Patterson, president of the State College of Agriculture.

Several excellent pieces of work done in the State during the past year will also be reported by the ministers to whom credit is due. Half the time is left free for general discussion, thus making the conference a clearing house for all worth while and workable ideas.

Announcement bulletins may be obtained by writing to Prof. F. B. Bomberger, who has charge of the school, or to B. H. Darrow, secretary of the Country Life Conference, both at College Park, Md

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fall to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

THE GRANGE MEETING ON NEXT THURSDAY

Experienced Men Will Address Local Farmers and it is Hoped that an Emmitsburg Grange May be Organized.

As published last week, there will be a public meeting in the School House next Thursday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of interesting farmers in this district-including those across the line-in the formation of a local Grange. Several attempts to organize have been made, but as yet no organization has been effected, notwithstanding many farmers have signified their intention to join-some going so far as to sign their names to formal applications.

At a previous meeting application Va., and Miss Clara Gungree, of Balti blanks were distributed, the acceptors Friday July 14, 1916. of them promising to have them filled out. Up to this time but one list has Miss Marguerite Dill, of Frederick, is been returned. Those who have taken the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edgar the time and trouble to bring the project to the attention of this farming community feel that, as the Grange is essentially for the benefit of farmers and for their profit in every way, more earnestness of purpose should be shown

On the 20th of July, which is next Thursday, experienced men will address the meeting and everything will be in readiness for organization. The actual organization will take but a short time, Mr. I. WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains shut every door against you What of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—which vary widely but may include pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine. etc. But if you keep the filters right the danger is overcome. ## Seed Potato Growers Form Important Organization

With Other Business Men To Promote A New Industry.

On Friday, April 14th, there was organied at Frostburg, Maryland, The Western Maryland Seed Potato Growers' Association. The object of the organization is to promote the growing and marketing of seed potatoes grown under such conditions of altitude and climate as make the seed as well suited to the requirements of Maryland and Virginia potato growers as is seed grown in Maine, Michigan or other higher altitudes.

ciation, which will be incorporated under the laws of Maryland, represents the culmination of the efforts of a number of banks and business men of Allegheny county, aided by Mr. John McGill, Jr., county agent for Allegheny county, and Professors Temple and Bomberger, of the State College of Agriculture.

The bankers and business men financed the project by procuring a car- Our full and complete line of Ladies load of the best Maine seed potatoes for distribution among the farmers of Allegheny and Garrett counties. It has been demonstrated by the Experiment Station that seed grown at the high altitudes prevailing in the mountain region of Western Maryland are fully equal to northern grown seed. It remained for the farmers of that region to undertake the growing of seed under proper regulations for guaranteeing a standard product free from disease in order to establish the business upon a sound commercial basis. The the date. organiation effected will do this; and, as the business expands, the potato growers of Maryland will not be compelled to send outside the State for standard seed. In time the seed potato industry of Western Maryland should assume large proportions and hundreds of thousands should be saved to the potato growers of the State. Last year several farmers made the mistake of buying seed of crimson clover that was not properly tagged as to germination—lacking the germination test entirely, or without the date when the test was made. Were you one of them? Every lot of a bushel or more (10 pounds after October 1st) should be labeled to show as much information as: "Germination 90 per cent, tested June, 1916."

One lot of seed sampled last summer by the seed inspector was tagged 96 per cent germination—no date given. The sample was secured August 21 and our test of a month later, about as soon as the lot could have been planted in the field and there judged, showed a germination value of 321/2 per cent; a December test later.

Gardens.-Keep up a succession of garden crops. Continue to plant beans, tomatoes and sweet corn. Tomatoes should be staked and pruned. The shoots appearing in the axils of the leaves should be removed as rapidly as they appear. All garden crops should be cultivated often and shallow. Horse cultivation is best.
