MARYLAND STATE COLLEGE

WILL TEACH WOMEN TO FARM Special Course in Practical Farm Work To Women Who Desire To Aid War Food Problem.

The Maryland State College of Agriculture will open its doors during the summer to women who desire to take special courses in practical farm work. This is designed to aid in the solution of the war food problem and was decided upon by Dr. Patterson, acting president, after an appeal had been made to him by Mrs. Flora McDonald Thompson president of the Housekeepers' Alliance of Washington.

The plan of instruction is tentative and will be shaped finally as a demand from prospective students determine. The date fixed for opening the school is June 4. There will be a nominal charge for tuition of $5. The college dormitory will be open for students who wish to live at the college. The charge for a room will be $1 a week and for board $4.50.

The courses of studies will be elective. In general they will comprise classroom drill in agricultural subjects, together with actual participation in farmwork. The farmwork may be done on the college experiment station farm or on the home project farms, that is to say, the student may work on her own farm where she might care to employ her services, carrying out certain projects assigned her in class.

In choosing a course of instruction students will be guided by Dr. Patterson and by data which Mrs. Thompson has accumulated. Broadly stated, instruction will cover general farming, milking, stock tending and rearing, butter making, cheese making and poultry rearing. A course in home economics also will be available, as well as an elementary course in carpentry.

Presents Relics Of 1776.

Captain Bureaux de Pusy, a great grandson of the Marquis Lafayette, has sent to United States Ambassador Sharp a number of souvenirs of the War of Independence. They are to be given to the American committee which has purchased Lafayette's birthplace and were received by Captain de Pusy from his uncle, Senator Edmond de Lafayette, the last direct descendant of the famous general.

The souvenirs include a set of pistols given to General Lafayette by Washington after the surrender of Yorktown, as a token of friendship, an original portrait of Washington by Stuart, painted on wood, a gold snuff box presented to General Lafayette by the city of New York, and several other objects, including a little box made out of wood from Penn's tree, and containing a lock of Franklin's hair. The collection visited America at the time of the Chicago Exposition.

To Provide Labor For Farms.

A working arrangement has been effected with the Department of Labor whereby through the efforts of an inter-departmental committee a scheme of agricultural mobilization is being worked out. The Department of Agriculture will make a specialty of rounding up the professional farmers and the Department of Labor will go after the non-professionals—the men who are hired to work upon the farms but do not necessarily know much about farming. The employment agencies of the Department of Labor, organized a few years ago more particularly in connection with the immigration stations and now operating successfully in many of the large cities of the country, will be found particularly useful in maintaining a labor supply for the farm.

America's Educational Belt.

Someone who has a genius for figures and has been exercising it, has discovered that America's "educational belt" is as distinctly defined as its "wheat belt" or its "corn belt." This new belt is found by putting a pencil on Williamsport, Pa., on the north, drawing a line to Pittsburgh on the west, to Annapolis, Md., on the south, and to Philadelphia on the east, says the Boston Transcript. The resulting zone, it is declared, contains more well-known institutions of higher learning than any other like area in the United States.

Rowe Released On Account Of Salary

Francis ("Dutch") Rowe, who for the past ten days has been playing with the Frederick team of the Blue Ridge League, was released on Tuesday. The Frederick management regretted letting Rowe go and made this statement: "Rowe has shown considerable promise as a ballplayer and Crooke would have been glad to have carried him, but the salary limit forbade." "Dutch" who is a player on Mount St. Mary's college team, met the Mountain nine Wednesday morning at Emmitsburg Junction and accompanied it on its northern tour.

FROM THE COUNTY.

William Smith, employed at LeGore's quarry, near Woodsboro, was painfully injured Friday by a chip from a rock striking him in the eye. He was sledging the rock when a piece flew up and struck him. The injury was dressed by Dr. James A. Long.

Henry Baumgardner, a well known resident of Frederick, died Friday morning, at his home on North Market street after a lingering illness. He was aged eighty-two years.

Dr. George Moore, of Peorio, Ill., who owns 100 houses in Frederick city, is there looking over the properties with the view of making improvements and repairs.

The girls defeated the boys in the declamation contest held Friday in the Red Men's Hall at Brunswick. The contestants were representatives, three each, of the boys' and girls' literary societies of the Brunswick high school, and was held in the interest of the Maryland Tract Branch of the Frederick County Chapter of the American Red Cross Society.

Harry Junes, of New Market, was recommended by the Democratic State Central Committee as the successor of the late County Commissioner George C. Huffer, Republican, of Middletown. The meeting was very short, just long enough to take one deciding ballot. Mr. Wood received three votes, and Calvin R. Coblenz, of Middletown, two. The recommendation of Mr. Wood has already been forwarded to Governor Harlington.

Brakes on the truck refusing to hold, M. F. Cutsail, of Frederick city, who runs the freight and express bus from Frederick to Brunswick, while turning around on High street at the corner of Second, backed up on the sidewalk and crashed into the plate glass windows of the new Bank of Brunswick in the Red Men's building. The accident happened soon after the loaded truck's arrival in Brunswick about 6.45 o'clock Friday. It made a great crash which brought those in the neighborhood running to the scene. No one was in the bank at the time. The loss is estimated at about $75. New glass windows has been ordered. The car was not damaged.

Started in their sleep by the smell of smoke, Mrs. John D. Domer, Mr. and Mrs. William Eicholtz and their little son, and Mr. and Mrs. Hays Domer, all of whom reside about a mile south of Jimtown, in the northern part of the county, and in the region of Thurmont, narrowly escaped being burned to death early Friday morning. The residence was completely destroyed by fire. The loss amounts to probably $3,000 or $4,000 and is only partially covered by insurance.

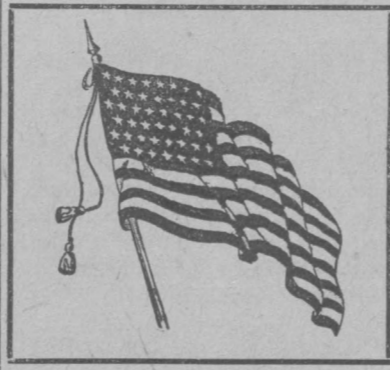

Leonard Wilhelm, 19 years old, son of Luther Wilhelm, a yard engineer of Brunswick, was struck by the West bound Chicago express near Weyverton Station Saturday afternoon and instantly killed. He was hurled about sixty feet and his back was broken, several ribs fractured and his forehead injured.

Fines aggregating nearly $1,300 were imposed on 55 motorists throughout the State during the past week for violations of the motor vehicle laws. The total of fines and the number of violators caught set up a new record for the authorities for a single week's work among those automobile and motorcycle operators who deliberately ignore and violate the road safety laws.

Three classes are being conducted in first aid Red Cross work in Frederick, upwards of 75 ladies taking the instruction, which is given by local physicians without charge. The instruction is intended primarily for use at home, in the event such services are needed. When local physicians are called to the colors, there will be a dearth of doctors. The Red Cross Society feels that by equipping the women at home to attend to certain classes of medical work the community will be better taken care of in such an emergency. After having the instruction as given, a person can give first aid in many cases where a doctor would ordinarily be called in.

At the Peoples National Bank, of Brunswick, it was learned that $47,000 have been paid out to employees of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, in Brunswick, for the first half of April. This includes money paid out for overtime made by employees in train service during the month of February. The extra large sum of money paid to railroad employees at the last payment is due to the eight-hour day, many of the trainmen receiving from ten to twenty-five dollars more on their checks for the half month than they received on the ten-hour basis.

The War From Day to Day IN Paragraph Form

A full outline of plans for training the first 10,000 officers for the first 500,000 troops raised by selective conscription was made public Friday by the War Department.

The Administration bill for insurance of lives of crews on American merchant ships and extension of the Federal War Risk Bureau to cover allied ships and cargoes was approved Friday by the Senate Finance Committee and reported by Chairman Simmons. The appropriation asked by the Treasury Department was increased from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Tako Junesco, the Rumanian statesman, in a statement cabled to the State Department Friday by the American Legation at Jassy, predicted the effect of the United States, entrance into the war would be to cause doubt in the minds of the German people that they are waging "a war of defense against their neighbors."

Reports that Turkey may make a separate peace was strengthened Saturday by a dispatch from an unnamed city on the frontier, saying that Talaat Pasha, grand vizier of Turkey, has announced in Vienna that Turkey's peace terms have been communicated to President Wilson.

England Saturday opened negotiations for another emergency loan of $100,000,000. Members of the British Mission were in conference with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and other Treasury officials throughout the morning.

British labor leaders sent to the United States at the invitation of the American Federation of Labor to participate in conferences between the British War Mission, headed by Foreign Minister Balfour and representative of the American Government arrived in Washington, Saturday.

The Belgian government was advised Saturday that the United States will devote $150,000,000 for provisioning the population of the occupied districts of Belgium and France. Of this sum $90,000,000 will be devoted to Belgium and $60,000,000 to the occupied districts of France.

It was reported from Berlin Saturday that orders have been issued for all Americans remaining in Germany to report daily to the authorities.

An omnibus rivers and harbors bill appropriating $26,893,000 and carrying authorizations for many surveys and examinations with a view to future improvements was agreed on Saturday by the House Rivers and Harbors Committee.

Great Britain formally joined France, Saturday, in expressing the hope that an American expeditionary force soon would take its place on the western front in Europe.

W. L. Saunders, chairman of the Naval Consulting Board, announced in New York Saturday that the board had forwarded to Washington plans for dealing with the submarine problem which it, it was believed, had solved the problem successfully.

Mr. Saunders, who has been chairman of the Naval Consulting Board about two months, supplemented his announcement by saying that while the submarine problem cannot be considered in reality to have been solved until the U-boats have been destroyed, nevertheless numerous experiments had been made along the Atlantic Coast with highly encouraging results which led the board to feel confident that a successful solution had been reached.

War Department officials on Sunday freely predicted that an American military force would be ready for service in France by June 10.

Sugar Crops Double in Louisiana.

The Louisiana sugar crop of 1916 was practically twice as great as the crop of 1915.

Figures compiled by the Department of Agriculture show the 1916 crop was 607,800,000 pounds as against 275,000,000 pounds in 1915. The average cane yield was 18 tons an acre in 1916, as against 11 tons in 1915.

For the first time in the history of the Hong-Kong rice trade, a shipment of polished rice has been made to the United States.

Maurice S. Amos, of the British mission, on Sunday declared that the United States in the first four weeks of the war has accomplished much that it took England two years to do.

An additional loan of $25,000,000 was made Monday to Great Britain. The transfer was not attended by the usual formalities. Secretary McAdoo sent a Treasury warrant to British Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice at the British Embassy, and received in return Great Britain's obligation for the sum. The loan is a part of $100,000,000 which will be turned over to Great Britain at intervals during the month of May.

A consular report reached the State Department Monday giving particulars of the sinking of the Uruguayan steamer Gorizia, aboard which were five Americans, sunk by a German submarine April 30.

"Any German peace proposal at this time simply indicates the determination of a tremendously organized and still powerful nation to gain its own ends," declared American Minister Maurice Francis Egan Monday, in a warning to the people of America, voiced through the United Press. He appealed to his fellow-countrymen not to be deceived by German peace duplicity and not to slacken their war preparations under the mistaken impression that the Germans are really ready to quit.

It was definitely decided on Monday that American troops shall go to France. The date of their sailing and all details concerning their dispatch will be withheld. Until they finally take their places on foreign soil no information regarding what the make-up of the detachment shall be or anything in connection with plans will be made public. It is considered certain, however, that the initial contingent will be made up of selected units.

An American hospital contingent of 26 surgeons, 65 women nurses and 153 enlisted men sailed Tuesday for Europe from a United States port.

It was the first corps to go abroad with regular United States Army surgeons in its personnel. A surgeon of the regular army is in command.

Many of the surgeons are from Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

The bill to increase the war strength of the navy to 150,000 men and the Marine Corps to 30,000 was passed by the House.

A loan of $100,000,000 was made by the United States Tuesday to France.

This was France's first share in the $5,000,000,000 war chest. Secretary McAdoo turned over a Treasury warrant for the sum to French Ambassador Jules Jusserand and received in return the obligation of the French Government for the sum.

The Greek steamship Parthenon, which left New York April 14 for Havre, has been sunk by a German submarine, according to a private dispatch received Tuesday. The vessel and cargo were worth $4,000,000, agents here declared.

President Wilson will ask Congress to appropriate immediately $1,000,000,000 for the construction of 6,000,000 tonnage of American ships to defeat Germany's submarine blockade. This was learned in official circles in Washington, Tuesday.

"England will be defeated in eight months unless at the end of that time the United States has cleared the steamer lanes of German submarines and is sending a steady stream of foodstuffs to feed her people and her armies."

This was the announcement of the Federal Shipping Board Tuesday afternoon.

To Be First U. S. Flag in France.

The Massachusetts Special Aid Society has presented to the Massachusetts Base Hospital No. 5—the Harvard University unit—which leaves for France soon, a beautiful silk flag, regulation size and mounted on a standard, and it is expected and hoped that this will be the first American flag to be carried to France.

There are more than 85,000,000 sheep in Australia, and nearly 25,000,000 in New Zealand, or more than eighteen for each resident.

STATE CONDENSED.

John H. McCusker, 82 years old, for more than 52 years tollgate keeper on the Williamsport and Hagerstown turnpike died at his home near Halfway Friday. He leaves nine children.

The First National Bank, Kitzmiller, Md., on the Western Maryland Railroad, 60 miles west of Cumberland was robbed Friday by three masked men who held up the cashier and his assistants and escaped with more than $7,000. The bandits, it is reported, were young men. Posses were quickly organized and in search, Paul Jenkins, a butcher of Kitzmiller, had a pistol duel with the robber and was wounded in the head and arms. The affair was pulled off quickly, although Cashier Inshkeep does not think it the professionals. He says that the fellows acted like novices and seemed scared.

Community Educational Day observed Friday in Rockville, Montgomery county, the object of which was to awaken greater interest in public schools. Mrs. Katharine M. Cook, of the United States Bureau of Education was present and delivered an address.

A memorial service was held Sunday afternoon in St. Anne's Protestant Episcopal Church, at Annapolis, for the late Lieut. Clarence C. Thomas, of the navy, the first American officer to lose his life in the European war. Lieutenant Thomas was among the victims when the American oil tank steamer Vacuum was torpedoed in British waters several days ago.

Damages aggregating $11,600 were awarded to members of families of James and Michael Shaffer in suits against the Kendall Lumber Co., and the Preston Railroad Company, of Garrett county. Mrs. Hannah E. Shaffer was awarded $3,600 for the death of her husband, Michael Shaffer. Mrs. Ethel Shaffer and four children were given $8,000 damages for the death of husband, James Shaffer.

As a result of the campaign to secure recruits for Company B, First Regiment 82 young men have made application for enlistment, only a few more being needed to bring the company up to the required strength of 100 men. Twenty young men responded in Hagerstown on Saturday.

Nearly 400 youths have mentally qualified this spring for admission to the Naval Academy as members of the next year's fourth class of midshipmen, according to the announcement made at the Academy, Monday.

Hagerstown is soon to have another hotel. Announcement has just been made that J. C. Roulette & Sons have sold the Colonel Apartment House, corner of Potomac and Antietam streets to Frank L. Hamilton, Charlestown, W. Va., formerly proprietor of the Franklin Hotel, Hagerstown, who plans to remodel the building and make it into a modern 100-room hotel.

Charles Ling, 40 years old, was found dead along the Baltimore and Ohio tracks near Rockwood, Sunday. He was struck by a locomotive in front of which it is believed he threw himself. He had been taken from the track just in time to save his life several times previously.

Dr. Richard Fulton Keiffer, of Hagerstown and a brother of Rev. Henri L. G. Keiffer, of Frederick, graduate of the medical departments of Johns Hopkins University interne for three years at the Union Protestant Infirmary and during the fourth and present year resident surgeon of that hospital, having offered his services some time ago to the Government has been ordered to report to the War Department and will go, about the first of June, to France with the first company of surgeons from this country to be sent to the scene of war. His rank upon entering the army will be that of first lieutenant.

One hundred and ten years old Monday, Mrs. Ann Ponder, the oldest woman in Maryland, although bedridden and almost blind, is in fairly good general health. For the last 10 years she has made her home with the family of John Anderson, 723 North Carey street, and they make no secret of the fact that they expect her to live on for sometime yet. On hearing from Congressman Linticum that Mrs. Ponder remembers very distinctly the visit of George Lafayette to Baltimore, the Marquis de Chambrum, a great-grandson of the General, sent her a card congratulating her on her birthday. The Marquis is a member of the French Commission to America.

More than 200 carpenters of Baltimore, members of Local No. 101, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, have answered the call of the Government, and have gone somewhere in the South to work on buildings for the training camp. Most of the local men have been sent to Fort Myer or Quantico, Va.

BRICE CLAGGETT NAMED SECRETARY TO SECRETARY MCADOO

For Three Years Has Been the White House Correspondent of the Associated Press.

Secretary McAdoo has appointed Brice Claggett, of Maryland, as his private secretary to succeed George R. Cooksey, recently appointed assistant to the Secretary.

Mr. Claggett assumed his new duties Monday. He is a well-known and popular newspaper man of Washington. He was born in this city but has lived most of his life in Linden, Md., having been educated in the public schools of Washington and Maryland and Lafayette College, Easton, Pa. During his high school days in Washington he was colonel of the Washington High School Cadets.

Mr. Claggett began his newspaper work in Sioux City, Iowa, in 1910, and was connected with papers in the Middle West before he returned to Washington a few years ago. He is a versatile writer, and for the last three years has been the White House correspondent of the Associated Press, having accompanied President Wilson on all of the trips he made out of Washington during that time.

K. of C. For Country's Service.

As an incentive for members of the order to join the ranks of those who are going to fight for their country, the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus has decided to remove from the order's insurance policies the clause placing soldiers and sailors in the extra hazardous class. Word of this decision has been received by the councils of the order throughout the state.

The Supreme Council ruling will not only affect those who have already enlisted or were member of the military or naval forces of the country, but those who later join the ranks. At the same time the supreme body ordered that any member who shall engage with any power to fight against the United States shall be deemed an alien enemy and will thereby forfeit membership.

Christian Training for Military Camps

The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago has lent one of its professors, E. O. Sellers, to the International Y. M. C. A., for evangelistic service in the English Camps. He gave some time last year to the Canadian camps. The Institute is desirous of living up to its pseudonym of "The West Point on Christian Service," by being prepared for any demand on its student body for workers in United States camps in the evangelistic field, or through the channel of the Red Cross or in other ways. Some of its graduates at the close of the last term were called into Christian work in the army and others are expecting service as chaplains in the navy. The training is entirely free for Christian men and women of any state, nation, or denomination when references are satisfactory. Catalogues are sent free on application.

Engineers Await Call to go to France.

It is expected that Baltimore will furnish a large quota of the Americans who will go to France to assume charge of railroad operations there. Patriotic engineers in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania and other railway systems are eagerly awaiting the call of their country.

A number of men in the Baltimore and Ohio Central Building, including J. B. Jenkins, head of the valuation department, weeks ago enlisted in the Engineers' Reserve Corps, and Mr. Jenkins has received a commission as a major, there being only one Baltimorean, Kith Compton, who is in the service of the city, that holds a like commission.

In all, the Baltimore and Ohio has about 300 engineers in its service, every one of whom is competent to do railroad engineering work. Of course, all can not go abroad, as some of them will have to remain at home to look after necessary engineering work for the Baltimore and Ohio. It may be that a large number of them will be designated for foreign service by President Daniel Willard and Vice-President J. M. Davis.

Hoarding Nitrate For Profit.

A glaring case of dangerous selfishness is exhibited by some of the owners of the nitrate supplies, who are holding their product at something like $100 a ton and thereby planning an extortionate profit. May 15 represents about the latest date when nitrates can be used on the fields in a large section of the country. A bill pending in Congress would authorize the Government to seize the nitrates at cost and sell to farmers, but obviously if it is passed it must come almost too late to do much good this year.

With the idea in view of the possibility of the location of a fish hatchery in Frederick county, Chairman W. Thomas Kemp, of the Conservation Commission of Maryland, and Commissioner William H. Killian, accompanied by E. Peter Mantz, Harry Snook and E. B. Nicodemus, of Frederick, made a tour of different parts of the county and spent several hours investigating the conditions of Monocacy River, Fishing Creek and other streams.

Much interest is attached to the announcements which have been made by the U. S. Treasury Department concerning the Bonds which are to be issued by the Federal Government. Four Frederick financial institutions—Citizens', Farmers and Mechanics, Central Trust and Commercial State—have already announced that they will aid in selling these bonds.

Thomas R. Pomeroy, aged about 23 years, was arrested on Saturday afternoon, on a charge of embezzlement of the sum of $315.80 from the American Express Company and was held in $700 bail for the action of the September grand jury by Justice Guy K. Motter. Pomeroy, it appears, had first been employed with the Adams Express Company in 1915, and then later took charge of the office of the American Express Company in Frederick. He remained in this position for about one year.

A large delegation, composed of about 150 men and women from Walkersville and vicinity appeared before the school board Tuesday morning and asked for a new public school building at Walkersville. Superintendent of Schools, G. Lloyd Palmer, County Commissioners Stevens, Humm, Mohler and Witter, and Clerk to the Commissioners Harman L. Gaver and others heard the speakers. O. B. Coblentz, on behalf of the school board, said that on account of the war, building materials are very high, but that attention will be directed to the school building as soon as possible.

Maryland soil will be attacked by soldiers. This means that Maryland's own agricultural army will assist in producing the crops that are so greatly needed by the nation and its allies. Two camps in Harford county and two in Carroll county will be the scene of operation, with about 50 men at work at each location. The agricultural army now has nearly 300 recruits.

John B. Robinette, 76 years old, member of the Maryland legislature from 1898 to 1900 and a prominent merchant at Flintstone, Md., died suddenly Wednesday afternoon at his home at that place.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE--ACADEMY

Valley Echoes

Mrs. Susie Thomas Fickland, Regent of the Chicago Chapter, was the guest of honor at the New York Chapter Alumnae meeting last week.

The annual formal appearance of St. Joseph's Orchestra took place Thursday of this week. The immense strides made by this department of musical education was evinced throughout the evening.

The students of the college are rejoicing in the return of Miss Hilda Kelly, '19, Pittsburgh, Pa., after an unavoidable absence of two months. Miss Kelly is a great favorite among the girls and her delayed return to the Valley has been keenly felt by all.

Among the guests during the week were: Mrs. John M. Miller, Jr., Miss Hallie Inge, Richmond, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fudge, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Layton, Jr., Pittsburgh; Miss May Rehill, White Plains, N. Y.; Mrs. C. A. Rogers, Misses Mary and Rosa Rogers and friends, Frederick; Mrs. Hartman, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. D. H. Warfield, Misses Margaret and Lillian Field, Rockville, Md.

The second French play of this season enacted by the members of the sophomore class was presented with éclat Sunday night. "Madame Corneille" a comedy in two acts gave excellent opportunity to the aspiring linguists to exhibit their proficiency in the musical tongue of La Belle France. Caroline Gable playing the title part, admirably impersonated the typical bas-bleu and added considerably to the piece by her artistic interpretation, lively wit and clever repartee. Mary Cofer, who took the part of Josephine, the outraged cook, was the humorous piece de résistance of the evening. The entire cast showed remarkable skill in the linguistic as well as in the histrionic art.

Mrs. Sherran Gives Dinner In Honor Of Countess.

On Monday, May eighth, Mrs. James J. Sheeran gave a dinner in honor of the Countess Colgan. Among the guests were Miss Emily Droagan of Albany, Mrs. Margaret McManus Glennon, Miss Virginia Douglas, the Misses Welty, Miss Olive Foley, of Ottawa, and Miss Helen Reed O'Neil, Secretary of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.

During the evening, Miss Elizabeth Welty sang several Spanish folk songs, in tribute to the many interests of the Countess in sunny Spain. The Countess the Misses Welty, and Miss O'Neil sang, "O, Canada," in honor of British members of the company, and Mr. Sheeran gave one of his inimitable impersonations of a Hyde Park orator on the Temperance question.

Upon the arrival of the Reverend Bernard McKenna, of the Catholic University, the friends gathered around a blazing log fire, and discussed war conditions, the work of the Catholic women of Brooklyn, co-operating with the Red Cross, and the use and abuse of the Day nursery. Father McKenna told of the hopes of the Salve Regina, of which he is editor, and of the plans of the National Shrine to our Blessed Mother in Washington.

A long anticipated event of the season, the vocal recital given by Miss Major Miller, '17, took place last Sunday night in the Auditorium of St. Joseph's Emmitsburg, Md. Miss Miller's voice has been under cultivation for two years only, but its excellent talent qualities, developed rapidly owing to her advanced knowledge of music, and to the admirable facility with which she responded to careful and wise direction. Miss Miller is a promising young singer possessing a rich full mezzo voice, with probable future development into an exceptional dramatic soprano range. The evening's selections were remarkably successful in both choice and suitability. Miss Miller's enunciation was clear and delightfully distinct. This was particularly evident in several difficult German compositions. Her rendition of "Elsa's Dream" from Lohengrin deserves special mention. The heavy legato quality of this number fully exhibited her predominating qualities. Miss Miller's versatility was displayed by her charming interpretation of the dainty little encore, "A Dutch Garden." In "Ah figliuol, mio figliuol," from "Il Profeta," was at her best; the pathos of the selection bringing out to the fullest capacity the unusual soulfulness of her voice.

The charming young vocalist was presented with many beautiful hothouse flowers and the audience outdid itself in giving her the prolonged and enthusiastic applause she deserved.

Miss Miller was assisted in her presentation by her younger sister, Miss Nan Miller, '20, violinist; Miss Nan Miller's graceful bowing and splendid left-hand technique evoked well-merited admiration. Her charming and spirited rendition of the "Danse Hongroise" is worthy of recognition. Miss Louise Sebald, '06, Emmitsburg, Md., rendered excellent support throughout the evening, combining with extraordinary skill the talent of the pianiste with the art of the accompanist.

Program: Ponchielli, Voca di donna, "Gioconda;" Lacombe, Un chanson de printemps, Bonjour, Suzon, Le bal o'oiseaux; Van Goens, op. The Elf Dropped the Jar.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Fairy Queen's Jar of Preserved Sunshine.

THE fields and roadsides were flaming with goldenrod. Jack and Evelyn had come home laden with great bunches of it, which their mother placed in great bowls on the porch and in the sitting room.

"Can you tell us a story about the goldenrod?" the children asked as they hung around daddy's chair.

"Perhaps I can," he smiled. "Settle down now till I think. All the flowers, I've heard, used to belong to the fairies. They loved them and took care of them.

"Well, once in the time that never was on land or sea Queen Mab, who you know, is said to have been one of the greatest of fairy queens, was going to have a grand celebration.

"You see all the prettiest flowers open in the springtime, and as this was late in the year the fairies could find few nice ones with which to decorate the big outdoor ballroom in which they were all to dance in the moonlight while the feast was being spread on little toadstool tables.

"There was one meddlesome little elf who was always prying into everything. One day he was peering around in the pantry in the hollow tree where the good things for the feast were kept when he noticed a curious jar. He hadn't time to take off the lid and try it, as he would have liked to do, when he heard the flutter of wings. He knew some of the fairies were coming and he would be caught and scolded if he stayed. So he tucked the gold jar under his cloak and skipped out.

"He flew off, saying to himself, 'Oh, well, the jar will never be missed; there are so many good things in there!'

"The naughty elf found a quiet place in the woods and perched on the top of a tall plant while he took the lid off the jar. It did not come off very easily, and when he did get it off old Mr. Owl, who lived on top of one of the neighboring trees and had been watching him, cried, 'Hoot, hoot; here's the thief!'

"The little elf was so startled that he dropped the jar, and as it upset and fell all the preserved sunshine spilled over the plant, and the flower, instead of being dull green, was changed to a beautiful gold.

"And when the other fairies came rushing up there sat the naughty elf on top of a great plummy golden plant that made them open their eyes and exclaim 'Oh!' and 'Ah!' in admiration. They had never seen anything like it before.

"They put it into a pot and carried it off to the ballroom, where Queen Mab admired it and said to put it right beside her throne, and as she couldn't think of any better name she called it goldenrod. And if you don't believe this ask the first fairy you meet."

Uncle Sam needs more men. Enlist now, if you are in a position to serve.

Got Something You Want to Sell?

Most people have a piece of furniture, a farm implement, or something else which they have discarded and which they no longer want.

These things are put in the attic, or stored away in the barn, or left lying about, getting of less and less value each year.

WHY NOT SELL THEM?

Somebody wants those very things which have become of no use to you. Why not try to find that somebody by putting a want advertisement in

NOTICE.

SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Frederick, Md., April 23, 1917.

The County Commissioners will meet at their office in the Court House on Monday, April 30, 1917, at 9.30 o'clock a. m., and will continue in session for two weeks to hear appeals from assessments, assess new property, consider pension applications and for transaction of general business. The following schedule of districts has been adopted:

Monday, April 30—Frederick, Brunswick and Braddock, Districts 2, 35 and 24.

Tuesday, May 1—Middletown, Creagerstown and New Market, Districts 3, 4 and 9.

Wednesday, May 2—Emmitsburg and Lewistown, Districts 5 and 20.

Thursday, May 4—Catoctin and Woodsboro, Districts 6 and 11.

Friday, May 5—Hauvers and Buckeystown, Districts 10 and 1.

SATURDAY WEEK.

Monday, May 7—Liberty and Mount Pleasant, Districts 8 and 13.

Tuesday, May 8—Burkittsville and Walkersville, Districts 22 and 26.

Wednesday, May 9—Linganore and Jackson, Districts 19 and 16.

Thursday, May 10—Mechanicstown and Ballenger, Districts 15 and 23.

Friday, May 11—Woodville and Jefferson, Districts 18 and 14.

Saturday, May 12—Johnsville and Petersville, Districts 17 and 12.

Persons having erected new buildings or made additions and other improvements to their old buildings and those having acquired additional personal property would do well to report the valuation of the same, otherwise they may be excessively assessed. Those disposing of their personal property are earnestly requested to report the same and bring their sale books to this office before May 15, if they wish to be released from taxes for the year 1917. The attention of all taxables is especially directed to this notice as no credit will be allowed after May 15, 1917, until the levy for this year shall have been completed.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The above notice does not apply in any way to the new assessment, as each Real Estate owner will be mailed a notice from this office giving the amount of the new assessment and naming a day on which the property owner will be given an opportunity to appear before the county commissioners and take up the matter of their assessment.

SOME SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS TO WIDEAWAKE BUSINESS MEN

Mr. Advertiser, If You Want Your Publicity Talks to the People of This Community to Hit the Mark It Will Pay You to Read Every Word of the Following:

THIS IS A LITTLE TALK to the wide awake, Progressive Advertiser—the one who is really alive to the interests of the business to which he is devoting his every ounce of effort during working hours and his earnest thought during leisure moments.

It has long since become proverbial among the greatest national advertisers that THE HOME NEWSPAPER IS THE BEST MEDIUM for urging recognition and creating a demand for their goods. Even with these astute publicity experts magazine space has lost its charms.

Have you ever thought, Mr. Advertiser, that YOUR HOME PAPER IS TEN TIMES MORE VALUABLE FOR YOUR USE THAN IT IS TO THE MAIL ORDER MAN? You are on the job every day in the year. You are here to follow up your advertising with the strength of your personality and your constant contact with the buying public, while the outside advertiser is largely dependent upon "general publicity results," backed up possibly by the work of a local agent or dealer who handles the line advertised.

NEWSPAPER SPACE COSTS ONLY ONE-FOURTH THE PRICE OF MAGAZINE SPACE, WITH NO DUPLICATION OF CIRCULATION.

The foregoing statement is not made without the best of authority. It is the conclusion reached by A. E. Chamberlain, one of the most prominent Chicago advertising men and announced by him in an address before the American Advertisers' association at a recent convention in Chicago.

Read Mr. Chamberlain's logical conclusions, based on exact data, and then REFLECT ON WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU AS A LOCAL ADVERTISER. Mr. Chamberlain analyzed the situation as follows:

- First, consider a comparison of the cost of advertising space in magazines and newspapers.
- Twenty-four leading magazines, 11,739,413 circulation in the United States and elsewhere. Price, $60.72 per line. Price per line per 1,000, $0.0517.
- Three hundred and thirty newspapers of over 5,000 circulation each, 11,823,123 circulation in forty-six states in the United States only. Price, $15.62 per line. Price per line per 1,000, $0.0132.
- Estimated duplicate circulation in magazines, 50 per cent (obtained from an advertiser using magazine space). Duplication in newspapers, one in each city, none. Result, newspaper expense one-fourth that of magazines and no duplication.

(Note.—Where Mr. Chamberlain uses the word "line" in the foregoing he refers to an "agate line of type," which is an arbitrary unit of space measurement used by most national advertisers. It takes fourteen agate lines to make an ordinary inch of newspaper space one column wide.)

THESE FACTS ARE EVEN MORE STARTLINGLY TRUE OF SMALL TOWN NEWSPAPERS THAN OF THE BIG CITY DAILIES.

A moment's thought will prove to you the truth of this last assertion, for without question the so called "country newspapers" are paramount in their own field—without successful rivals either in the form of magazines or the scattering city papers which reach every community.

MR. ADVERTISER, IT'S THE PART OF GOOD BUSINESS FOR YOU TO RECOGNIZE THESE FACTS AND TO MAKE YOUR BUSINESS STRONG BY FEEDING IT CONSTANTLY ON EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING.

THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

 A happier story than either of these I have told is of the war. In one of the great frigate duels with the English, in which the navy was really baptized, it happened that a round shot from the enemy entered one of our ports square and took right down the officer of the gun himself and almost every man of the gun's crew. As the surgeon's people were carrying off the bodies there appeared Nolan in his shirt sleeves, with the rammer in his hand, and, just as if he had been the officer, told them off with authority who should go to the cockpit with the wounded men, who should stay with him, perfectly cheery and with that way which makes men feel sure all is right and is going to be right. And he finished loading the gun with his own hands, aimed it and bade the men fire. And there he stayed, captain of that gun, keeping those fellows in spirits till the enemy struck. The captain walked forward by way of encouraging the men, and Nolan touched his hat and said:
 "I am showing them how we do this in the artillery, sir."
 And this is a part of the story where all the legends agree—that the commodore said:
 "I see you do, and I thank you, sir, and I shall never forget this day, sir, and you never shall, sir."
 And after the whole thing was over and he had the Englishman's sword in the midst of the state and ceremony of the quarterdeck he said:
 "Where is Mr. Nolan? Ask Mr. Nolan to come here."
 And when Nolan came the captain said:
 "Mr. Nolan, we are all very grateful to you today. You are one of us today. You will be named in the dispatches."
 And then the old man took off his own sword of ceremony and gave it to Nolan and made him put it on. The man told me this who saw it. Nolan cried like a baby, and well he might. He had not worn a sword since that infernal day at Port Adams.
 The captain did mention him in the dispatches. It was always said he asked that he might be pardoned. He wrote a special letter to the secretary of war. But nothing ever came of it. As I said, that was about the time when they began to ignore the whole transaction at Washington.

AID THOU OUR CAUSE.

O GOD of peace, yet God of righteous war,
 Strengthen our hearts and fire our souls with zeal;
 Aid Thou our cause as Thou hast done of yore,
 For truth and liberty and common weal.

Give us the spirit, the vision of our sires,
 Who looked to Thee for guidance and for might,
 Knowing that God the trusting mind inspires
 With hope and courage when imbued with right

Bless Thou our flag by Christian soldiers borne,
 Bless Thou our men on land and on the sea,
 Hearten the weary, wounded and forlorn,
 Comfort the comfortless who call on Thee.

And at the end may peace reign o'er the earth,
 May then the Golden Rule be understood—
 May freedom from this land that gave it birth,
 Bind every nation in one brotherhood.

GROWING OF FIELD BEANS URGED

CAN BE EASILY GROWN UNDER ORDINARY CONDITIONS.

WILL YIELD WELL

Growers Should Consult Their County Demonstration Agent Before Planting.

College Park, May 10.—Owing to their scarcity and the high prices offered for them, farmers in many sections of Maryland are putting out a considerable acreage of field or navy beans. As a result of receiving many inquiries regarding the growing of navy beans, the Maryland Agricultural Extension Service has just issued a circular regarding them, by W. B. Kemp, farm crops specialist. Mr. Kemp advises the planting of navy beans on every farm for home use and to market as a most valuable food for human consumption. He points out that navy beans can be easily grown, giving a yield of from 10 to 25 bushels per acre, which at present prices makes them very profitable. In regard to planting them, Mr. Kemp says: "Planting may be started at any time after the ground becomes warm in the spring. In the southern part of the State this is generally early in May, while in the northwestern part, planting is not usually safe before the latter part of the same month. With short season varieties like the navy, the planting season may continue until early in July, but large yields are not to be expected from late planting.

Rate of Planting.
 "Use two to three pecks per acre of the pea and medium varieties of field bean, three to four pecks of the marrow, and four to five pecks of the kidney varieties. These beans should be planted in rows two to three feet apart. If only a few are grown, the planting may be done by hand. For larger areas use a one or two-row corn planter or a grain drill. If the two-row planter is set to space rows at four feet and if these rows are straddled, the bean rows will be two feet apart. If three out of four tubes of the grain drill are stopped up the tubes that are running will space rows 32 inches apart. Two to three hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre will give returns to fully justify its use.

Working the Crop.
 "Like field corn, beans should be given frequent and shallow cultivation. To prevent the spread of disease they should not be cultivated while the vines are wet. When the beans are in bloom, cultivation may be stopped. Seed may be obtained from any reliable seedman or may be secured at cost through his County Demonstration Agent by any responsible farmer while the supply reserved at the beginning of the war by the Maryland Agricultural Extension Service lasts. If beans, in the grocery store are used for seed, they should certainly be tested for germination before use. Seed obtained in this way is not likely to be as free from disease or from mixture with other varieties as seed obtained from a reliable seedman or through your County Demonstration Agent. Before undertaking any extensive plantings a prospective grower should by all means consult his County Demonstration Agent."

WHY SPRAY YOUR FRUIT?

College Park, May 10.—The Spray Calendar issued as a bulletin by the Maryland Agricultural Extension Service is proving very popular with fruit and truck growers. Copies may be obtained by writing either to the Extension Service at College Park or to your County Demonstration Agent. In regard to spraying fruit, particularly apples, E. N. Cory, the author of the bulletin says: "The production of worm free and marketable apples can be increased at least 50 per cent. by careful spraying. Normally an average of 50 per cent. of the fruit that sets on unsprayed trees is lost in the June drop and in the wormy and rotten apples that mature. This loss is largely preventable by spraying the trees just after the fruit blossoms fall and again, July first to fifteenth with 5 quarts of concentrated lime sulphur and one pound of arsenate of lead powder in 50 gallons of water. "Additional sprays at proper intervals will give a higher percentage of fancy fruit. The keeping qualities, moreover, of sprayed fruit is vastly superior to unsprayed fruit."

There is a great demand for the production of more meat in this country, and this can be done quickest by stimulation of the raising of poultry. It takes but about 12 to 15 weeks to raise a broiler from the egg, and roasters can be raised in from 4 to 6 months. Contrary to the opinion of many, chicks can be hatched and raised very successfully during the months of May and June, providing they can be given plenty of shade. Every farmer and poultry raiser must consider it a duty to produce every chick possible. From all indications there will be ample return from this work.—Roy H. Waite, Poultryman, Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

PREVENT POTATO SCAB.

Treatment For Tubers Intended to Be Used For Seed.

The per cent of scabby tubers in this season's crop will be reduced if seed potatoes are treated with formalin or corrosive sublimate before being cut to plant, says Professor E. L. Kilpatrick in the Orange Judd Farmer. The formalin treatment consists of soaking the tubers for two hours in a solution of formaldehyde and water at the rate of one pint to each thirty gallons of water. The other treatment uses two ounces of corrosive sublimate to each fifteen gallons of water. (Corrosive sublimate is very poisonous and should be used with care.) Tubers are given the same time in this liquid as in the formalin.

Either treatment may be given by placing the tubers in an old gunny sack and lowering them into a barrel or tub containing the liquid. Tubers may be spread out on the grass or barn floor to dry, after which they are ready to cut and plant. Any number of sacks of potatoes may be treated in either solution. Since formalin evaporates very rapidly, the vessel containing it is kept covered to preserve the strength of the liquid.

TREATMENT FOR CAULK WOUNDS IN HORSES

When horses are sharp shod and the snow is deep conditions are just right for caulk wounds at the crown of the hoof. Remove caulks or shoes, if sharp, before starting a team out in deep snow, says Dr. M. H. Reynolds, University farm, St. Paul, Minn.

A caulk wound should be thoroughly cleaned at once. Contaminations should then be prevented. Nothing additional in the way of washing or other treatment that is not actually necessary should be done, adds Dr. Reynolds. Cleanliness at the very beginning of treatment may be secured either by long continued irrigation or injections with a mild antiseptic, such as common salt—a teaspoonful to a quart of water. Military surgeons have found during the present war that a tablespoonful of chlorinated lime to a quart of warm water, applied thoroughly twice a day to every part of the wound, is very satisfactory for this preliminary cleansing. Either one should be applied continuously to every part of the wound for at least an hour before the wound is considered thoroughly and safely clean.

Strong disinfectants may also be used. These give quicker results and are in some cases more practical. Hydrochloric acid or even nitrohydrochloric acid may be used for the first treatment provided it is applied to every part of the torn surface in the depth of the wound and provided the

The undesirable qualities inherited from the grade sire may show up in the first generation, but the worst feature is that they will continue to show up for several generations after. skin is not burned with it. Undiluted carbolic acid or tincture of iodine in full strength may also be used. Two or three thorough treatments with the iodine should be given the first day. Plugs of cotton may be soaked in the tincture of iodine and packed in the wound.

After this first thorough treatment use a drying antiseptic powder composed of iodoform, tannic acid and boric acid, equal parts by bulk, applying lightly three times a day. But it is of the utmost importance to keep such a wound out of mud and filth. A stockman attempting to treat a wound of this kind will usually do better to avoid bandaging.

Worms in Swine.
 For stomach worms in swine a good remedy is one to two teaspoonfuls of turpentine (vary according to size) well mixed with two to four ounces of castor or olive oil, repeated for three days, and in two weeks repeat the entire treatment. For kidney worms the following medicated salt works well: Four parts of charcoal and three parts each of salt, sulphur, Glauber's salt and sal soda. These should be well mixed and placed where they can get it at will. Where hogs are infested with any parasite seriously it is not advisable to allow them to run in the same lots year after year; in fact, the run should be changed each year. Another source of infection is the drinking water. They should not be allowed to drink stagnant water nor water that is polluted by surface drainage, especially from the yards and runways.

Stocked Legs.
 Stocked legs affect horses that stand idle in the stable. A yard should be made which to turn all horses for exercise when they get no work. A colt that cannot be exercised should also have a box stall, and if his legs stock they must be bandaged from hoof to hock each time he comes in.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

A RUN ON FIGS.

STEWED FIGS.—Thoroughly wash the figs, cover with boiling water and simmer until the figs are tender, adding water if necessary. When nearly done add sugar to sweeten. Let cook until sirup thickens. Serve hot or cold with a cereal or serve with whipped cream as a dessert. The figs may be stuffed with nuts before cooking. A slice of lemon may be stewed with the figs.

Fig Cookies.—Cream one-half cupful of chicken fat or butter, add one cupful of brown sugar and thoroughly cream, add one well beaten egg, three tablespoonfuls of thick sour cream in which one teaspoonful of soda is dissolved, one cupful of finely chopped figs, grated rind of one orange and one lemon, one teaspoonful of vanilla and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Chill and bake.

Fig Eclair.—Cream one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of powdered sugar. Stir together one and three-fourth cupfuls of sifted flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add this to the dry ingredients, alternating with one-half cupful of milk. Beat thoroughly, flavor with vanilla and bake in a shallow pan on top grate of a hot oven. When brown reduce heat by turning out the back burner. When cool cut in oblongs about 2 by 3 inches and put together with a fig filling.

Fig Sandwiches.—Chop one-fourth pound of figs very fine, add one-fourth cupful of water, cook to a smooth paste, add one-third cupful of almonds or pecans chopped very fine. Moisten with rosewater, lemon juice or orange flower water. When cold use between layer fingers or macaroons. Serve at 5 o'clock tea or use in the children's lunch box.

Figs Farci.—Wipe choice figs with a damp cloth. Cut a slit large enough to permit filling the fig with chopped nuts blended with maraschino cherries (cut in slices), lemon juice, sherry and sugar. Fasten opening with toothpicks. Add enough hot water to prevent burning, cover and simmer until tender. Remove, drain and dry. Roll in confectioner's sugar and chill.

Fig Salad.—Wipe choice figs with damp cloth, remove stem ends, cut in strips and cover with sherry or rum for several hours. Drain the figs, lay on lettuce, add broken pecans or shredded almonds and serve with a French dressing made of three teaspoonfuls of oil, one teaspoonful of claret and one teaspoonful of lemon juice, paprika and salt.

He who loathes war, and will do everything in his power to avert it, but who will, in the last extremity, encounter its perils, from love of country and of home—who is willing to sacrifice himself, and all that is dear to him in life, to promote the well-being of his fellowman, will ever receive a worthy homage.—Abbott.

You Need Fence But Once---
 Use Concrete Posts Made of SECURITY Portland Cement
 Why build fences of wood—fences that are but temporary at best? Wooden posts quickly rot, get out of alignment and burn readily. Concrete fence posts are very easily made, indestructible, cost little more than wood, keep in alignment and can't burn. In a very short time you can make enough for your needs for many years to come. Our free literature tells how to do the work yourself. Write for it.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

There was a flurry of snow on Wednesday. Hail was reported across the line.

A new board fence is being erected at the rear of the Emmitsburg Savings Bank.

Several young men from Emmitsburg left the district this week to enlist in the Service.

The maximum temperature for this week was sixty-four degrees on Thursday and the minimum temperature was fifty two degrees on Monday.

Among the real estate transfers this week were: Jacob Rowe Ohler and wife to J. Albert Saffer real estate in Emmitsburg, $250.

A very delightful dance was given at the home of Mr. Charles Topper, of near town, on Monday evening. About seventy-five guests were present.

Among the automobiles from other states that were in town this week were one from Quebec, Canada, Vermont and Connecticut.

Mr. Harry Beam accompanied by an expert buyer was in Emmitsburg buying horses for the Fifth Maryland Regiment, this week.

Saturday street commissioner Rosensteel had the ruts in the public square filled with crushed lime stone. It is understood several streets in town will receive similar attention.

Louis Denson, a tramp, became seriously ill and died from exposure on Saturday morning and was buried at the expense of the country on Sunday morning. Denson fell asleep along the creek, at "Tramp's Roost" on Friday.

The breaking of two bolts on the engine of the Emmitsburg Railroad caused a long delay in the arrival of the evening train Tuesday. This train is due at 6:35 P. M. and arrived at 10 P. M.

The Red Cross Auxiliary, of Emmitsburg, is very busy in its very commendable work for the soldiers at the front. Weekly meetings are held in the public school auditorium. A great many articles for hospital purposes have already been finished.

Emmitsburg's military enrollment of eligibles for the selective draft is next to that of Frederick City, the number being 1,048. Frederick comes first with 3,500 and Brunswick third with 1,019. The total enrollment in the county approximates 16,000 and the country's quota for enlistment is 1,000.

The annual meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co, was held in the Fireman's Hall on Friday evening. The old officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. The annual report showed that all indebtedness of the company, except $200, had been paid.

During the week the flags of the Allies have been displayed with the American flag on may building in town. The British, French and Belgium flags are grouped above the entrance to the Reformed church and on the coping of the Emmitsburg Savings Bank, and the French tricolor flats from the Annan building on the square.

Mr. Miles Ringgold Houston, son of Mrs. Sophia Rowe, left yesterday for Plattsburg, New York to join the Students' Officers Class. Out of 20,000 applicants Mrs. Rowe reports, 2,500 passed the mental and physical examination, and Mr. Houston was one of this number.

The annual election for Burgess, to serve one year, and one commissioner, to serve three years, was held in the Fireman's Hall on Monday. As there was only one ticket in the field the vote was not heavy, the balloting being merely complimentary. Burgess John Stewart Annan and Commissioner William Morrison were re-elected, each receiving the same number of votes.

A very successful meeting was held, by the Women's Auxiliary Defense League, Thursday night. Miss Gertrude Annan, a member of the Patriotism Committee read a very interesting article, "The Altar Of Freedom," by Mary Roberts Reinhart. The auxiliary feels very much encouraged by the interest manifested. Reports show an enrollment of 65 members and the auxiliary is anxious to increase its membership therefore an invitation is extended to all.

PASSES HALF MILLION MARK

Statement Of Emmitsburg Savings Banks Shows Total Resources Of Over $500,000.

The Report of the Condition of The Emmitsburg Savings Bank, at the close of business on May 1, 1917, as published elsewhere in this issue of THE CHRONICLE, shows that this progressive local institution had total resources of $57,162.46. It will be recalled that in a letter to stockholders at the last dividend period, the Bank expressed the hope that the half-million mark would be reached by July 1st next, two months later than the date of the present statement.

A comparison with the statement of May 1st, 1916, one year ago, shows a growth in the Bank's total resources of $87,162.46, of which $86,126.30 is the increase in deposits alone during the twelve-month. adv 1t

Colored People Delighted With New Discovery To Bleach The Skin.

Atlanta, Ga.—Says that recent tests have proven without doubt that swarthy or sallow complexions can be made light by a new treatment recently discovered by a man in Atlanta. Just ask your druggist for Cocotone Skin Whitener. People who have used it are amazed at its wonderful effect. Rid your face of that awful dark color or greasy appearance in a few minutes. It costs so little that you can't afford to be without it. Just think how much prettier you would look with that old dark skin gone and new soft, light skin in its place. Men and women today must care for their complexions to enter society.

If your druggist will not supply you with Cocotone Skin Whitener, send 25c for a large package to Cocotone, Co., Atlanta, Ga. Advertisement.

OBITUARY.

JAMES A. HELMAN.

After an illness of four months, from pneumonia and heart trouble, Mr. James A. Helman died at his residence here on Wednesday afternoon in his seventy-ninth year. He was born in Emmitsburg, October 4, 1839, and resided here during his early life. Later he became a resident of Baltimore where for a number of years he was a salesman for some of the leading houses of that city, including Daniel Miller and Co., and Baker Bros., and Simons: He returned to his native town engaging in the mercantile business which he conducted up to the time of his death. For many months he was a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Helman is survived by his wife who before her marriage was Miss Clara Greene, of Baltimore, and four sisters, Misses Belle C., Mary E., Maria L., and Annie S. Helman, all at home.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Helman residence, Rev. L. B. Hensley, assisted by Rev. E. L. Higbee, officiating. The I. O. O. F., of which Mr. Helman was a member had charge of the funeral. The Session of the Presbyterian church acted as honorary pallbearers. Interment was made in the Lutheran cemetery.

Mr. Helman belonged to the older regime and prized the friendships of the many who, one by one, entered before him, into their long rest.

He was a kindly man and a firm friend, and among his kindred he was dutiful, considerate, faithful and affectionate far beyond the common standard.

It was Mr. Helman's delight to delve into old records, to search out, talk of and write about the folk lore of Emmitsburg and its vicinity. Much of the early tradition of the district has been kept alive because of this happy trait, and fact and fancy are interestingly woven together in the History of Emmitsburg published by Mr. Helman several years ago.

At the time of his death Mr. Helman was engaged in the practical and laudable endeavor to raise (by means of voluntary contributions from those who have relatives buried therein,) a fund for the maintenance of the cemetery adjoining the Lutheran Church, the cemetery where he now lies. He did not live to see the fulfillment of his desire, but mayhap the cause in which he was so earnestly engaged will bear fruit after all. It is to be hoped so.

Near Admiral R. S. Griffin, Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

The United States was on Monday advised against taking over American railroads for the period of the war by W. M. Acworth, England's leading railway expert.

Arthur James Balfour, Secretary of Foreign Affairs of Great Britain and head of the British Mission to the United States called at the Brazilian Embassy on Wednesday and it is reported that pressure is being brought to bear upon the Brazilian Government to go further than the diplomatic break.

A German steamship which took refuge from British cruisers in August, 1914, steamed out Wednesday with the American flag flying from her staffrail. She is bound to a port in Europe with a cargo of supplies.

Discussion of the details of the $2,000,000,000 Liberty Loan bond offering reached its final stage Wednesday.

The American government Wednesday assumed the immediate financial burden of Belgian relief by arranging to lend to the French and Belgian governments jointly $75,000,000 to be expended by the American Belgian Relief Commission for food to go to Belgium and Northern France.

The State Department was officially notified Thursday that Liberia has severed diplomatic relations with Germany in a cablegram from American Minister James L. Curtis. All Germans in Liberia, of whom there are many, are being disarmed, the minister added.

One hundred and twenty-seven Americans, taken from ships, are reported to be held prisoners by Germany. This developed from a State Department announcement, whereas it had been generally believed the last of Germany's American prisoners was freed when the Yarrowdale men quit. The women of the American Legation at Berne have formed an organization to assist the prisoners.

FROM ALL POINTS OF COMPASS.

Victor Carlstrom, aviator instructor at the Atlantic coast aeronautical station Washington and Carey B. Eppes of Newport News, an army student aviator, were killed almost instantly today when their machine collapsed at an altitude of about 3500 feet.

It was announced today that work will begin immediately on the Columbia University war hospital, in New York, and that it was hoped to have it completed by June 4.

Nineteen persons were injured when a Coney Island trolley car was wrecked in Brooklyn early today.

Egg dealers in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas were ordered today to appear before the Department of Agriculture to answer in charges of shipping impure eggs in interstate commerce.

Thursday.

Joseph Benson Foraker, former United States senator and governor of Ohio from 1885 to 1887, died at 11.50. He had been unconscious for 60 hours.

One of the most spectacular fires downtown New York has been in years occurred today in the City Hall. Many platoons of fire fighters were called to the scene and the blaze offered stubborn opposition. Firemen had hopes of confining the blaze to the tower, but at 1.13 P. M. smoke was pouring into Park Row in dense volume.

A Symbol of Health.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfills its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable everywhere.

ACROSS THE LINE

Twenty five thousand dollars' worth of hatching eggs will be distributed free by Pennsylvania poultrymen to persons not now raising or who cannot afford to raise poultry, but who will agree to hatch the eggs. This announcement was made by the poultrymen at a meeting held in Harrisburg, Friday. The distribution will be made through a "war commission of poultrymen," of which F. W. Deiancy of York is chairman.

By the death of Mrs. Catherine McClellan Welsh, which occurred on April 14, the Children's Home of York will receive a trust fund amounting to between $6,500 and $7,000 through the will of her mother, Mrs. C. Louise McClellan, who died on July 2, 1884.

The dwelling of Edward Breneam, about a mile from Larue, Pa., with all its furniture, was burned Friday night. An adjoining timber tract caught fire and six acres were swept before the fire was extinguished. The loss is placed at about $3,000.

The Rev. D. T. Koser, pastor of the Lutheran church, of Arendtsville, has donated 550 fruit trees of different varieties to the Loysville Orphans' Home. The trees were taken to the Home by George E. Boyer and George W. Minter and planted at once.

All the State employees who are now receiving less than $1,400 a year will get an increase of $200. And those earning $1,400 and not more than $1,500 will receive an increase of $100.

According to figures compiled by the Bureau of Statistics of the State Department of Health 11,948 deaths occurred in Pennsylvania during the month of February. Births for the same month totalled 18,988.

Why This Is Baltimore's Best Store...

"Baltimore's Best Store" is not a title which we arbitrarily adopted. It was conferred upon us years ago by the shopping public.

From the beginning of this store, nearly twenty years ago, we have striven to do these things:

To serve as well as to sell;

To give the store a homelike and hospitable atmosphere;

To make courtesy, liberality and friendliness everyday virtues among our people;

To sell dependable merchandise at fair prices, permitting no misrepresentation of quality or value, either in the public prints or behind our counters;

To make good, cheerfully and willingly, any shortcomings in any article we sell.

It is these principles that have been woven into the success of Baltimore's Best Store. And we are not even content with the store as it is, but are ever trying to make it still better.

Whenever you visit Baltimore, make this store your shopping headquarters. Whether you purchase or not, you will find the same cordial welcome.

Says Phosphates Make Beautiful Women and Strong, Healthy, Vigorous, Robust Men.

Physicians all over the world are prescribing phosphates to build up run down enemic conditions and those who have treated their patients with Argo-Phosphate are changing thin, enemic women with toneless tissues, flabby flesh, into the most beautiful rosy cheeked and plump round formed women imaginable.

Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Jacobson said in a recent interview that 90 per cent. of enemia comes from nervous breakdown which can only be corrected by supplying the necessary phosphates to the nervous system that is lacking in the food you eat, and this can be quickly supplied by taking one or two 5-grain Argo-Phosphate tablets after each meal, and at bed time. It will in many cases make a pale scrawny face the picture of health in a few days. I have seen women that I expected would have to be kept under treatment for months restored to perfect health in one or two weeks time.

SPECIAL NOTICE The Argo-Phosphate recommended by Dr. F. H. Jacobson contains phosphates such as are prescribed by leading physicians throughout the world, and it will be found the most effective form for treating patients with Nervous Dyspepsia, Stomach troubles, Brain Fag, and Nervous Prostration. It will renew youthful vim and vigor, and build up the whole body. If your druggist will not supply you with the Argo-Phosphate, send $1.00 for two weeks treatment to Argo Laboratories, 10 Forsyth, St., Atlanta, Ga. Advertisement.

The Man Without A Country

By EDWARD EVERETT HALE

NOW, when the fire of American patriotism flares again from the rocky headlands of Maine to the golden beaches of California, is the time to read anew this "prose epic of American patriotism."

As a story it holds the interest; as a lesson in love of country it has thrilled the American heart for half a century. There are now, thank God, but few Philip Nolans among us, men who "wish they may never hear of the United States again!"

This famous story, which will rank forever first among America's appeals to patriotism, should be read and reread for its own sake and for the inspiration it brings.

PART I.

PHILIP NOLAN was as fine a young officer as there was in the "Legion of the West," as the western division of our army was then called. When Aaron Burr made his first dashing expedition down to New Orleans in 1805 at Fort Massac or somewhere above on the river he met, as the devil would have it, this gay, dashing, bright young fellow at some dinner party. I think Burr marked him, talked to him, walked with him, took him a day or two's voyage in his flatboat and, in short, fascinated him. For the next year barrack life was very tame to poor Nolan. He occasionally availed of the permission the great man had given him to write to him. The other boys in the garrison sneered at him because he sacrificed in this unrequited affection for a politician the time which they devoted to monogamela, sledge and high-low-jack. Bourbon, euchre and poker were still unknown. But one day Nolan had his revenge. This time Burr came down the river not as an attorney seeking a place for his office, but as a disguised conqueror. It was rumored that he had an army behind him and an empire before him. It was a great day—his arrival—to poor Nolan. Burr had not been at the fort an hour before he sent for him. That evening he asked Nolan to take him out in his skiff to show him a canebrake or a cottonwood tree, as he said—really to seduce him—and by the time the sail was over Nolan was enlisted body and soul. From that time, though he did not yet know it, he lived as "a man without a country."

What Burr meant to do I know no more than you, dear reader. It is none of our business just now. Only when the grand catastrophe came some of the lesser fry in that distant Mississippi valley to write away the monotony of the summer at Fort Adams got up for spectacles a string of court martials on the officers there. One and another of the colonels and majors were tried, and, to fill out the list, little Nolan, against whom, heaven knows, there was evidence enough—that he was sick of the service, had been willing to be false to it and would have obeyed any order to march anywhere with any one who would follow him had the order only been signed. "By command of His Exc. A. Burr." The courts dragged on. The big files escaped—rightly for all I know. Nolan was proved guilty enough as I say, yet you and I would never have heard of him, reader, but that, when the president of the court asked him at the close whether he wished to say anything to show that he had always been faithful to the United States he cried out in a fit of frenzy:

"D— the United States! I wish I may never hear of the United States again!"

I suppose he did not know how the words shocked old Colonel Morgan, who was holding the court. Nolan had grown up in the west of those days in the midst of "Spanish plot," "Orleans plot" and all the rest. He had been educated on a plantation where the finest company was a Spanish officer or a French merchant from Orleans. His education, such as it was, had been perfected in commercial expeditions to Vera Cruz and I think he told me his father once hired an Englishman to be a private tutor for a winter on the plantation. He had spent half his youth with an older brother hunting horses in Texas, and, in a word, to him "United States" was scarcely a reality. Yet he had been fed by "United States" for all the years since he had been in the army. He had sworn on his faith as a Christian to be true to "United States." It was "United States" which gave him the uniform he wore and the sword by his side. I do not excuse Nolan. I only explain to the reader why he damned his country and wished he might never hear her name again.

He never did hear her name but once again. From that moment, Sept. 23, 1807, till the day he died, May 11, 1863, he never heard her name again. For that half century and more he was a man without a country.

Old Morgan, as I said, was terribly shocked. He called the court into his private room and returned in fifteen minutes with a face like a sheet, to say:

"Prisoner, hear the sentence of the court. The court decides, subject to the approval of the president, that you never hear the name of the United States again."

Nolan laughed. But nobody else laughed. Old Morgan was too solemn, and the whole room was hushed dead as night for a minute. Even Nolan lost his swagger in a moment. Then Morgan added: "Mr. Marshal, take the prisoner to Orleans in an armed boat and deliver him to the naval commander there."

The marshal gave his orders, and the prisoner was taken out of court. "Mr. Marshal," continued old Morgan, "see that no one mentions the United States to the prisoner. Mr. Marshal, make my respects to Lieutenant Mitchell at Orleans and request him to order that no one shall mention the United States to the prisoner while he is on board ship. You will receive your written orders from the officer on duty here this evening. The court is adjourned without day."

I have always supposed that Colonel Morgan himself took the proceedings of the court to Washington city and explained them to Mr. Jefferson. Certain it is that the president approved them—certain, that is, if I may believe the men who say they have seen his signature. Before the Nautilus got round from New Orleans to the northern Atlantic coast with the prisoner on board the sentence had been approved, and he was a man without a country.

When I was second officer of the Intrepid some thirty years after I saw the original paper of instructions:

Washington (with the date, which must have been late in 1807).

Sir—You will receive from Lt. Neale the person of Philip Nolan, late a lieutenant in the United States army.

You will provide him with such quarters, rations and clothing as would be proper for an officer of his late rank if he were a passenger on your vessel on the business of his government.

The gentlemen on board will make any arrangements agreeable to themselves regarding his society. He is to be exposed to no indignity of any kind, nor is he ever unnecessarily to be reminded that he is a prisoner.

But under no circumstances is he ever to hear of his country or to see any information regarding it, and you will especially caution all the officers under your command to take care that, in the various indulgences which may be granted, this rule, in which his punishment is involved, shall not be broken.

It is the intention of the government that he shall never again see the country which he has deserted. Before the end of your cruise you will receive orders which will give effect to this intention. Resp'y yours, W. SOUTHWARD,
For the Secretary of the Navy.

I suppose the commander of the Levant has it today as his authority for keeping this man in his mild custody.

The rule adopted on board the ships on which I have met "The Man Without a Country" was, I think, transmitted from the beginning. No mess liked to have him permanently, because his presence cut off all talk of home or of the prospect of return, of politics or letters, of peace or of war—cut off more than half the talk men like to have at sea. But it was always thought too hard that he should never meet the rest of us, except to touch hats, and we finally sank into one system. He was not permitted to talk with the men unless an officer was by. With officers he had unrestrained intercourse, as far as they and he chose. But he grew shy, though he had favorites. I was one. Then the captain always asked him to dinner on Monday. Every mess in succession took up the invitation in its turn. According to the size of the ship, you had him at your mess more or less often at dinner. His breakfast he ate in his own stateroom—he always had a stateroom—which was where a sentinel or somebody on the watch could see the door. And whatever else he ate or drank he ate or drank alone. Sometimes, when the marines or sailors had any special jollification, they were permitted to invite "Plain Buttons," as they called him. They called him "Plain Buttons" because, while he always chose to wear a regulation army uniform, he was not permitted to wear the army button, for the reason that it bore either the initials or the insignia of the country he had deserted.

I remember soon after I joined the navy. Some one told the system which was adopted from the first about his books and other reading. As he was almost never permitted to go on shore, even though the vessel lay in port for months, his time at the best hung heavy, and everybody was permitted to lend him books if they were not published in America and made no allusion to it. He had almost all the foreign papers that came into the ship sooner or later, only somebody must go over them first and cut out any advertisement or stray paragraph that alluded to America. Phillips told me a story of something which happened at the Cape of Good Hope on Nolan's first voyage, and it is the only thing I ever knew of that voyage. Phillips had borrowed a lot of English books from an officer, which in those days, as indeed in these, was quite a windfall. Among them, as the devil would order, was the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," which they had all of them heard of, but which most of them had never seen. I think it could not have been published long. Well, nobody thought there could be any risk of anything national in that, so Nolan was permitted to join the circle one afternoon when a lot of them sat on deck smoking and reading aloud. Nolan took the book and read to the others, and he read very well, as I know. Nobody in the circle knew a line of the poem, only it was all magic and border chivalry and was 10,000 years ago. Poor Nolan read steadily through the fifth canto, stopped a minute and drank something and then began, without a thought of what was coming:

"Breathes there the man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
"This is my own, my native land?"

Then they all saw something was to pay, but he expected to get through, I suppose, turned a little pale, but plunged on:

"Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well!"

By this time the men were all beside themselves, wishing there was any way to make him turn over two pages, but he had not quite presence of mind for that. He gaged a little, colored crimson and staggered on:

"For him no minstrel raptures swell,
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim,
Despite these titles, power and pelf,
The wretch, concentrated all in self!"

And here the poor fellow choked, could not go on, but started up, swung the book into the sea, vanished into his stateroom, "and, by Jove," said Phillips, "we did not see him for two months again. And I had to make up some beggarly story to that English surgeon why I did not return his Walter Scott to him."

That story shows about the time when Nolan's braggadocio must have broken down. At first they said he took a very high tone, considered his imprisonment a mere farce, affected to enjoy the voyage, and all that, but Phillips said that after he came out of his stateroom he never was the same man again. He never read aloud again unless it was the Bible or Shakespeare or something else he was sure of. He was always shy afterward when I knew him—very seldom spoke unless he was spoken to, except to a very few friends. He lighted up occasionally, but generally he had the nervous, tired look of a heart wounded man.

Nolan's transfer at sea to the Warren was the first of some twenty such transfers, which brought him sooner or later into half our best vessels, but which kept him all his life at least some hundred miles from the country he had hoped he might never hear of again.

It may have been on that second cruise—it was once when he was up the Mediterranean—that Mrs. Graff, the celebrated southern beauty of those days, danced with him. They had been a long time in the bay of Naples, and the officers were very intimate in the English fleet, and there had been great festivities, and our men thought they must give a great ball on board the ship. They wanted to use Nolan's stateroom for something, and they bared to do it without asking him to the ball, so the captain said they might ask him if they would be responsible that he did not talk with the wrong people, "who would give him intelligence." For ladies they had the family of the American consul, one or two travelers who had ventured so far and a nice bevy of English girls and matrons, perhaps Lady Hamilton herself.

As the dancing went on, Nolan and our fellows all got at ease, as I said—so much so that it seemed quite natural for him to bow to that splendid Mrs. Graff and say:

"I hope you have not forgotten me Miss Rutledge. Shall I have the honor of dancing?"

He did it so quickly that Shubrick, who was by him, could not hinder him. She laughed and said:

"I am not Miss Rutledge any longer. Mr. Nolan, but I will dance all the same," just nodded to Shubrick as if to say he must leave Mr. Nolan to her and led him off to the place where the dance was forming.

Nolan thought he had got his chance. He had known her at Philadelphia, and at other places had met her and this was a godsend. He said boldly—a little pale, she said, as she told me the story years after:

"And what do you hear from some Mrs. Graff?"

And that splendid creature looked through him. Jove! how she must have looked through him! "Home! Mr. Nolan!!! I thought you were the man who never wanted to hear of home again!" And she walked directly up the deck to her husband and left poor Nolan alone, as he always was.
