The Black Stone, which measures about 6 by 8 inches, is believed to have fallen from Paradise, to have been guarded during the Deluge and handed to Abraham by Gabriel when the Ka'aba was built. Certain parts of the ceremonial—the throwing of stones at the devil, and the imitation of Hagar's distracted wanderings in the desert, are supposed to have had significance for the pre-Mohammedan times as well as for Islam.

Numbness Through Cold.

The most remarkable effect of the cold which a member of one of the Antarctic expeditions noticed was the loss of sense and touch in the fingers. It was almost complete. "Suppose you wanted to look for a knife in your kitbag," he said, "you would get it in your hand and would not know. It was the same with everything we handled. We saw that we picked it up, and saw that we held the article; We could not feel that we had it." He added that it was not possible to shave because the skin became irritated and sore, while if the beard grew too long it attracted moisture and then froze into a block. The only thing to do clipped close.

by Wilbur D. Nesbit Your Flag and My Flag"

The banner breaks in glory on the breeze, The trumpets sing from all their brazen throats A chorused chant of thrilling harmonies, The drumbeats throb amid the ringing notes-An echo, but a growing echo; yes, An echo that is flung from hill to plain, An echo that shall never grow the less, Born from the chord that was not struck in vain.

The diapason of the booming guns Blends with the shriller sounding of the cheers-Ah, this had been foreheard by those great ones Who planned the structure in the former years, Who dreamed and dared, and gave of wealth and life That this great nation-song should never cease, Who blent the surging song of somber strife With all the after croons of honored peace!

And so today the southland and the north Clasp hands with their blood-brothered east and west And in the mighty song their lips send forth The fullness of our faith is all expressed.

And deeper than the very deepest chord Are the foundations laid in days agone When men for hearth and home and manhood warred-The truths our nation has been builded on.

And higher than the farthest reach of song That quivers in the bosom of the sky There flames the flag of faith above the throng-The flag whose plan and purpose cannot die. The flag of promise floats from sea to sea, The bugles shout in answer to the drum And send a sense of strength to you and me From days that were, and are, and are to come!

Girls Have Pretty Face And Beautiful Complexion

An Atlanta man makes new discovery that makes an old face look years younger. If your skin is dark, brown, or covered with freckles or blemishes, just use a little Cocotone Skin Whitener; it's made with cocoanut oil and is perfectly harmless. A few days' use will improve your looks 190%. The wornout skin comes off evenly, leaving no evidence of the treatment, the new healthy under-skin appearing as a lovely new complexion.

Just ask your druggist for an ounce of Cocotone Skin Whitener, and If he will not supply you send twenty-five cents to The Cocotone Co., Atlanta, Ga., and the rairy Queen. 'We were going to give another Ball just for you. Now we will give one for you and ask the Butterflies, as you have come to their Ball. We are so glad you did decide to come!' WEST MAIN STREET EMMITSBURG, MD. C. F. ROTERING, Prop. MORE VEGETABLES IN FAVOR best if put into storage comparatively late, it should be the aim of the gardener to mature the vegetables for winter use late in the season. If planted too early many crops will become tough, woody and pithy before the season for storage arrives.

Fresh Garden Truck Should Form Part of Everyone's Diet-Reduce High Cost of Living.

(By W. E. EDMUNDSON, Idaho Experiment Station.)

Fresh garden vegetables should furnish a large part of everyone's diet, and if produced at home are not expensive. Abundantly used in the diet, they will aid in forming a balanced ration and will greatly assist in reducing the high cost of living. While we are planting the gardens this year everyone should make a special effort to grow special vegetables for winter use. No less than 30 distinct kinds of vegetables can be preserved for winter use by proper methods of storing, canning and pickling. The vegetables most commonly canned are tomatoes, corn, peas and string beans. Those most commonly preserved by pickling are cauliflower, cucumbers, green peppers and green tomatoes. There are many vegetables that may be kept in the fresh state by proper storage methods. This list includes potatoes, beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, winter radishes, rutabagas, cabbage, kolhrabi, celery, onions, pumpkins and squashes.

INSECT INJURIES TO CROPS

Great Part of Annual Loss Can Be Prevented by Vigilance and Action on Part of Growers.

Be on the job against insect pests this season. Make your food contribution to the human family, not the insect family. Farmers who provide themselves with insect poisons and then keep a vigil for the first outbreaks of crop enemies will bring through the largest yields. Failure to detect an outbreak at its beginning and delay in getting combative material may be fatal to the crop attacked, warn entomologists in the United States department of agriculture.

That a great part of the annual loss to grain crops due to insect injuries Dear can be avoided by vigilance and vigornot sufficiently realized, the entomologists say. Frequently insect outbreaks originate within a limited area, and when this is the case it is often quite possible to stamp them out before any great damage has been done. If the outbreak is general, then comthe infestation from becoming wide-

Kerosene Emulsion Is Easily Prepared and Not Expensive—Best to Use Rain Water.

Kerosene emulsion is one of the best lice killers on plants and animals. It is easily prepared and very cheap. Dissolve one-half pound of soap in one gallon of kerosene and stir very vigorously or, better yet, churn with a force pump for a few minutes. For use, dilute one gallon with nine to ten gallons of water. Stir well. It is best to use rain water. If only a small quantity is wanted, use one to two ounces of soap, two quarts of boiling water and one pint of kerosene, and dilute to two gallons.

"Our Colonial forefathers made an economical and sustaining use of con, writes a contributor to a New England paper. "They took ordinary corn, and first parched it over the fire. The result of that process was to drive all the moisture out the corn-to reduce its bulk. They then brayed it in a mortar, which produced a highly concentrated meal, with no water in it, which they carried with them on hunting trips and military expeditions. This meal which "Consider the Lilies of the in New England the called "nocake," and in the South "rockahominy," and which in the Southwest is still used under the name of pinole, was eaten dry, or with a little cold water. The expansion of the meal then took place in the stomach, just as the food was needed, and it would sometimes keep that organ busy for an entire day. A single handful of this "rockahominy" served the Colonial hunter or soldier as sufficient sustenance for a day's hard march, and the Indian fighters and bear hunters sometimes caried no other food."

The following is a re medy for cab bage worms: In the morning when the dew is still on the plant take fine cornmeal and sprinkle it over the plants. No matter how far advanced, the worms eat the meal and swell up and burst. This has been found very successful.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the produc-tion of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoc-tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and produce most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. #### EMMITSBURG.

in all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State-there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notedly healthful; its water-pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive or-

LEARN TO SAVE MONEY.

Banking Merely a Dollar a Week Is a Good Investment.

"It is mighty hard," said an unfortunate workingman some time ago to the writer, "to save up a thousand dollars by laying aside a dollar or two a week and then to take it out of the savings bank and lose it to a get rich quick swindler, as I have just done."

The poor fellow could work and save, but he had not had even a kindergarten education in finance, else his story would have been different. He had never given a thought to interest and through compound interest and, of course, had never heard of that wonderful process of accumulation known as "progressive compound interest."

One dollar deposited in a savings bank that pays 4 per cent will amount to $2.19 in twenty years. This is simple compound interest. Now, if you eposit $1 every year for twenty years, or $20 in all, the sum to your credit will have grown to $30.97. Any wage earner can put by $1 a week. That money deposited in a savings bank for twenty years will have week will have grown to $8,000, and this at 4 per cent will be $320 a year. There is no secret, no mystery, about this. It is as clear as the cloudless sun, and the method is just as clean

Three Ways Applicable in Making Dried Products.

SHRED OR CUT INTO SLICES

When Artificial Heat Is to Be Used, Freshly Cut Fruits and Vegetables Should Be Exposed First to Gentle Heat.

(From FARMERS' BULLETIN 841, United States Department of Agriculture.) Three main ways of drying are applicable in the home manufacture of dried fruits and vegetables, namely, and drying by air blast. These, of course, may be combined. In general, most fruits or vegetables, to be dried five minutes, long enough to set the quickly, must first be shredded or cut milk. Cut the kernels from the cob into slices, because many are too large to dry quickly or are covered with a skin, the purpose of which is to prevent drying out. When freshly cut wits or vegetables are to be dried by means of artificial heat, they should be exposed first to gentle heat and later to the higher temperatures. If the air applied at the outset is of too high a temperature, the cut surfaces of the sliced fruits or vegetables become hard, or seorched, covering the juicy interior so that it will not dry out. Generally it is not desirable that the air temperature in drying should go above 140 degrees to 150 degrees Fahrenheit, and it is better to keep it well below this point. Insects and insect eggs are killed by exposure to heat of this temperature.

Degree of Heat.

It is important to know the degree of heat in the drier, and this cannot "The clock is striking twelve," said be determined very accurately except the impassioned suitor. "Oh, that I by using a thermometer. Inexpensive the market, or an ordinary chemical thermometer can be suspended in the drier. If a thermometer is not used, the greatest care should be given to the regulation of the heat. The temperature in the drier rises rather quickly and the product may scorch unless close attention is given. The reason sun drying is popularly believed to give fruits and vegetables a sweeter flavor lies probably in the fact that in the sun they never are scorched, whereas in the oven or over a stove scorching is likely to occur unless careful attention is given them. Drying of certain products can be completed in some driers within two or three hours. The time required for drying vegetables varies. However, it can be determined easily by a little experience on the part of the person doing the drying. The material should be stirred or turned several times during the drying in order to secure a uniform product.

The ability to judge accurately as to when fruit has reached the proper condition for removal from drier can be gained only by experience. When sufficiently dried it should be so dry that it is impossible to press water out of the freshly cut ends of the pieces, and will not show any of the natural grain of the fruit on being broken, and yet not so dry that it will snap or crackle. It should be leathery Sliced Beets in Tray, Ready for Drying. and pliable.

Evaporation of Moisture.

When freshly cut fruits or vegetables are spread out they immediately begin to evaporate moisture into the air around them, and if in a closed

nust be dried uniformly through and

It will be found advisable also to "condition" practically all dried vegetables and fruits. This is best done in a small way by placing the material in boxes and pouring it from one box into another once a day for three or four days, so as to mix it thoroughly and give to the whole mass an even degree of moisture. If the material is found to be too moist, it should be returned to the drying trays for a short drying.

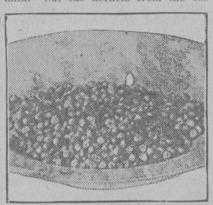

Directions for Drying.

Many of the products for which directions are given here may be dried either with or without preliminary blanching. In such cases both methods are described. Alternative methods are designated by letters.

Sweet Corn. Only very young and tender corn should be used for drying, and it sun drying, drying by artificial heat, should be prepared at once after gath-with a sharp knife, taking care not to cut off pieces of the cob. Spread thinly on trays, and place in position to dry. Stir occasionally until dry.

(b) Boil or steam on the cob eight to ten minutes to set the milk. To improve flavor a teaspoonful of salt to a gallon of water may be used. Drain well and cut corn from cob, using a very sharp and flexible knife. Cut grains fine, only half way down to the cob, and scrape out the remainder of grain, being careful not to scrape off any of the chaff next to the cob. Dry from three to four hours at 110 degrees to 145 degrees Fahrenheit. When field corn is used, good, plump roasting-ear stage is the proper degree of ripeness. A pound of dried corn per dozen ears is an average yield.

(c) The corn may be dried in the sun. Dry in oven ten to fifteen minutes, and finish drying in the sun. Sun drying, of course, is not satisfactory in moist weather.

Pack in cartons or boxes for a few days to "condition."

Lima Beans.

Lima beans can be shelled from the pod and dried. If gathered before maturity when young and tender, wash and blanch from five to ten minutes. Length of time for blanching depends upon size and maturity of beans. Remove surface moisture and dry from three to three and one-half hours at same temperature as string beans.

Peppers. (a) Peppers may be dried by splitting on one side, removing seed, drying in the air, and finishing the drying in the drier at 140 degrees Fahrenheit. A more satisfactory method is to place peppers in biscuit pan in oven and heat until skin blisters, or to steam peppers until skin softens, peel, split in half, take out seed, and dry at 110 degrees to 140 degrees Fahrenheit. In drying thick-fleshed peppers like the pimento, do not increase heat too quickly, but dry slowly and even-

To The Editor:

Emmitsburg now realizes her position in the great world war, since the departure of her loyal soldiers on July 25, when they were called to Frederick, and in a short time will be sent to Alabama. It is indeed true that Anniston will be nearer and dearer to the hearts of Marylanders, in the short space of a week when they think of the hundreds of true patriots, that will be assembled there awaiting the call of their country to join their Allies in the fight for democracy, not for conquest but to win for

Therefore, let all the young men when their call to the colors comes, go willingly; let it never be said that Emmitsburg stood behind in a time of national peril, for if they place themselves them no matter how far off they are. -PATRIOT.

COMMUNITY GIVES A FAREWELL PARTY TO CO. A. IN FREDERICK

City Honors Men With Music And Addresses On Wednesday Evening.-100 Comfort Kits.

A community farewell was tendered Company A., at Courthouse Park, Frederick, Wednesday evening. Notvithstanding the heat a very large rowd was in attendance and much inerest was manifested in a program of xercises especially fitting and approriate to the occasion. Love of counry and patriotism were the themes of xcellent addresses, and each speaker aid a tribute to the soldiers.

The farewell was arranged by the uxiliary Committee of Company A. Irs. George Birely chairman and the uxiliary committee of the Frederick ounty National Defense Association, which Mrs. Francis H. Markell is nairman. It was in honor of the soliers who at any time may be ordered the training camp at Anniston, Ala., reparatory to being sent to France.

The exercises began at 6.30 o'clock ast before which Company A. marched p Church street and formed a line in ont of the court house steps from here the addresses were delivered. Total..... $520.500.79 The soldiers were given an ovation as they took their position and the Company, recruited to full war strength and ready for their country's call, presented an appearance that will not be forgotten for generations.

CULTIVATION OF CORN.

Too Frequent Stirring of the Ground When Dry May Do Harm.

Cultivation is of greatest importance in the early growth of corn, according to L. E. Call, professor of agronomy in the Kansas State Agriculture col-

The harrow may often be used to advantage after planting on both listed and surface planted corn but when the shoots of the surface planted corn are just out of the ground it is not best to harrow again until the corn is two or three inches high. Weeds that are just germinating or that have not yet obtained a good root hold on the soil are easily killed by light cultivation with the harrow or the weeder.

The lister cultivator is admirably adapted for cultivating listed corn. Ordinarily it is used twice, once with the disks set to throw the soil away from the corn and once with the disks set to throw it toward the corn. It is important that the cultivator be set to kill or cover all the weeds in the row. Those which escape the early cultivation cannot, as a rule, be destroyed

The shovel cultivator is used in cultivating corn after it becomes too high to harrow or, in the case of listed corn, after the ridges have been worked down with the lister cultivator. The number of cultivations depends on the type of soil, on the distribution of the rainfall and on whether the weeds are unusually numerous.

Experiments show that from three to six cultivations are as many as are practical. Too frequent stirring of the ground, especially when it is dry, may do harm, in that the dusty condition of the soil is effective in keeping rainwater from entering the soil readily. The ideal condition in which to maintain the soil is to have a mulch two or three inches deep, composed of small lumps mixed with small granules and reasonably free from dust.

On the average it is best to cultivate two or three inches deep. While the plants are small and before the roots ground may be stirred deeply with good results. After the roots have permeated all the soil it should not be cultivated to a depth of more than three

An extra cultivation or two with a one horse cultivator may be given to advantage if rains have heavily crested the soil after the corn has been "laid by" and if a crop of weeds is starting. When the ground is in good tilth and reasonably free from weeds nothing is gained by cultivating after the ordinary 'laying by" time. Late cultivations should always be shallow to avoid damaging the corn crops.

Sheep on the Farm.

People are rapidly learning that mutton is the most delicious, nutritious and healthful of all meats. This growing appreciation is creating an insistent demand, which, together with the decrease in production, has made prices high and has opened new opportunities for profitable sheep husbandry on the average farm. Formerly sheep production was largely a range industry, but since the ranges have been so materially reduced it is becoming more and more a part of the business of the foodstuffs. general farm.

Pasture For Swine.

Pork production is cheaper with grain and green forage crops than with grain alone. Some grain is necessary for fattening hogs on pasture. Clover and alfalfa rank among the best crops for swine pasture.

EGGS VALUABLE FOR FOOD.

College Park, July 26.—Poultryman Roy H. Waite, of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, calls the attention of poultry growers to the advertising value of the high food value of eggs. Mr. Waite says: "Recently full-paged, colored advertisements have been appearing in most of the leading women's magazines, telling how a certain kind of baking powder will take the place of eggs. These advertisements say nothing about the decreased food values. During the winter the newspapers of the country contained many accounts of a boycott of eggs on account of high prices.

"'Eggs contain considerable quantities of protein, and, if not too high in price, have a wide, etc., etc., etc.' This was quoted from a recent publication, and is the way the value of eggs as compared with other similar food products is usually handled by writers on the subject. 'If not too high in price.' What is 'high in price?'

"A few years ago eggs sold at a very low price, and consumers do not seem able to forget this price. If they could only be made to appreciate the full value of eggs as food when compared with other similar food substances, consumers might look upon eggs with a little different attitude. They might consider them at their true worth as compared with other

"There has never been a campaign made to teach the consumer the value of this product. The only large or ganization devoted to the interests of poultry has almost completely neglect. ed this field, while spending its energies upon stimulating a greater production.

"Now that the poultry raisers are being induced to show their patriotreplacing corn in the ration, of $101.02 ism by raising large quantities of poulin one test made by the Ohio agricul- try products, it is only fair that some tural experiment station, with corn attention be given toward educating valued at $1.68 a bushel.
