London Reports Germans Driven Out of Voormezeele by Counter Attack and Fighting on Both Sides of the Ypres-Comines Canal.

Voormezeele is almost due south of quickly as possible. Ypres, at the foot of a low ridge, and for the British to have remained in the bulge northeast of Ypres would have been courting disaster.

That the retirement was orderly there is no doubt. The official reports from London do not mention it, and their reserve may indicate larger movements under way back of the bat-

The British front is straightened, but whatever high ground remained in British hands falls to the Germans. The enemy was more prompt to follow than after the last retirement, and Haig's men fell back fighting sharply and with some loss as they pivoted on the Belgians.

On the Somme battlefield there were only patrol encounters, in which the British took some prisoners. But the great cannon were roaring with intensity, especially north of the Avre and on the southern leg of the German salient between Noyon and Lassigny.

A telegram from Reuter's correspondent at Amsterdam says:

Extraordinary nervousness and depression prevail in Germany owing to the losses on the western offensive. This is revealed with remarkable frankness in an article by Captain von Salzman in the Vossiche Zeitung, in which he endeavors to restore lost confidence to the Germans by emphasizing the importance of the capture of Kem-

The people, continues Captain Salzman, have begun to lose their nerve. Replying in the reichstag, the minister of war said something like this:

It goes without saying that there are big losses in such a struggle. Our losses in one part of the front have been very heavy. Two-thirds of the company leaders in many regiments have fallen.

Our losses have been enormous. The offensive in the west has arrived at a deadlock. The enemy is much stronger than the supreme command assumed. We are unable to continue the offensive owing to lack of horses. The region before Ypres is a great lake and therefore impassable. The whole country between our Amiens front and Paris is mined and will be blown up.

If bigness is of benefit to the public it should be commended.

The size of a business depends upon the needs which that business is called upon to serve. A business should be as big as its job. You do not drive tacks with a piledriver—or piles with a tack-hammer.

Only an organization like that of Swift & Company, with its many packing plants, hundreds of distributing houses, and thousands of refrigerator cars, would have been able to handle the varying seasonal supplies of live stock and meet the present war emergency by supplying, without interruption:

Everyone, we believe, concedes the efficiency of the Swift & Company organization -in performing a big job in a big way at a minimum of expense.

Swift & Company's total profit in 1917 was less than 4 cents on each dollar of sales of meat and by-products. Elimination of this profit would have had practically no effect on live stock and meat prices.

Do you believe that this service can be rendered for less by any other conceivable method of organization or operation?

Credulous Man Labored Under Misapprehension When He Gave Up His Seat in Car.

It had been the credulous man's busy day. Furthermore, his stenographer was out with smallpox, and the credulous man's own vaccination was just beginning to "take." So when two handsomely gowned women boarded the car near Tenth and Baltimore, the credulous man resolved for once to renounce chivalry and keep his seat. For some reason, however-perhaps with that womanly intuition we hear so much about—the two women chose the back of the credulous man's seat to cling to, and there to carry on their lamentations against selfish masculinity. "I never put in such a day before in my life," sighed the first. "Nor I," agreed the other. "Such a crowd of wild, wrangling women I never saw." It was too much for the credulous man, whose particular weakness is for the poor tired creatures who serve the bargain hounds. "Won't you take my seat?" he said, rising wearily and making way for his seatmate, forced to do likewise. "Thanks," said the women, shortly. Comfortably seated, one of them opened her handbag and brought forth two little green slips of paper. "I guess we don't need these any more," she said, and cast them on the floor. The letters the credulous man made out on the slips were: "R H 3" and "R H 4," "Wed Matinee."—Kansas

The Thirteenth Juror.

What is the influence of the thirteenth juror upon the other twelve jurors? asks Willis Barnes in Case and Comment. Here are twelve men selected from the ordinary walks of life, commercial or industrial—rarely from WATCH the auto casualty lists professional life. The only impressive faculty they are supposed to have is a sane mind capable of a common-sense conclusion upon facts submitted, and that each man's mind will be brought to a unanimous conclusion, but in the effort to accomplish this the thirteenth juror takes a part; he is looked upon as one learned in the law and neces sarily learned in the skillful analysis of evidence; the jury listens to this analysis and the color put upon it by one who knows what he is talking about, and when the twelve jurors retire to the consultation room they carry with them a mental influence so impressive that it cannot be easily dismissed; it enters into and necessarily becomes a part of the evidence they are called upon to consider.

Bohemia's Sufferings.

Bohemia went through some of the most barbarous of the German religious wars in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Between 1617 and 1637 the Bohemian population was reduced from 3,000,000 to 780,000 by the ravages of execution and exile, says Richard Wilmer Rowan in World's Work. The Czech language was banished from the Bohemian school room in favor of the German by the otherwise liberal Maria Theresa just two years before our American declaration of independence. Czech rioting signalized the upheavals in 1848 that drove Metternich and his fellow reactionaries to a timely seclusion. Yet the Ausgleich or Austro-Hungarian compromise of 1867 found Bohemia still refused the national recognition it demanded.

Very few white people have actually visited Wadai, but tales of the region are numerous both in upper Egypt and in Tripoli. Up to very recent times these savage people are known to have been captured and sold as slaves along the Barbary coast. The French only established a protectorate in 1912, so that they had little opportunity to break up the trade before the European war.

In physical appearance Wadai is delow-lying plain. Great tracts of it have never been explored. It seems to have once formed the bed of a great inland sea, of which Lake Chad, in the southwest, is the shriveled remnant. In fact, the Sahara is steadily encroaching on it from the northward. It is crossed by the old channels of several rivers, but without a single flowing stream. At no very remote geologic epoch of the future Wadai will apparently become a part of the great desert to the north.

OUTSIDE PALE OF HUMANITY

That German Spies Can Be Classed Only as Dangerous Reptiles, Is Opinion of One Writer.

It is not dishonorable to be a spy, says the Santa Fe New Mexican. One of the Americans we most revere, whose only regret was that he had but one life to give to his country, was shot as a spy. The spy must be most daring and courageous, must face extraordinary perils, must have remarkable nerve and resourcefulness.

That, at least, is the conception of the spy which we had until the German spy got into the game and made the word synonymous with all that is most execrable in treachery and cunning, dishenor and all forms of evil. A spy has come to mean an incendiary and murderer, an assassin of women and babies, a poisoner of food and water, a dynamiter and train wrecker. a coward and a human reptile.

The fate which made Capt. Nathan Hale immortal is much too good for the men whom America has suckled and who have become vipers at the bosom of their adopted mother. The sooner government waives charity and leniency and drops hesitation and half way measures the better for all concerned.

The German who breathes a word of disloyalty should be interned, no mat ter who he is; the one who conspires against the government or its work should be promptly put to death. We are at war. The traitor at home helps kill our boys at the front. Why should the government parley with him?

Changes in Men's Clothes.

Fashion is doing its bit too. The International Custom Cutters' convention ruled out patched pockets, belts and turned-up trousers. If they would only go back to the old-fashioned shirt cuffs, sew the buttons on the trousers on the outside of the waist band, and take off a yard or two of the four-inhand neckties we would get somewhere near where the weary are at rest. Camera Men Bothered With the Pests, Which Persist in Circling in Front of the Lens.

Flies give the technical department of the movie companies some of their hardest battles, writes Robert Wagner in the Saturday Evening Post. Flies are worse camera hogs than actors; they wouldn't be so bad if they'd stay at the table and eat, but between courses they up and fly in droves all round the camera, just to be in the close-ups, and when they pass directly in front of the lens they take on the proportions of buzzards.

When we stage a banquet scene it is a banquet—not pasteboard eats, such as they have on the stage, but the real Peruvian doughnuts. And when one of these great open-air feasts-for, alas, our banquet halls are usually shy two or more walls-is announced and the diners sit down to their happy feed they soon discover that every fly from as far north as Inyo county is also in attendance

As wicked as it seems to use poison gases at a banquet, we often have to do it just to keep the flies out of our artistic ointment. It was because these creatures liked burnt sugar so much that we had to give up that sticky camouflage for our strong waters; our Martinis are now drier than every.

Origin of "Machiavellian."

A favorite epithet for centuries, the word "Machiavellian," has seen tireless service since the beginning of the present war as an adjective to be hurled at rulers who are accused of being treacherous and dishonorable. The adjective is derived from the name of Niccolo Machiavelli of Florence, Ifaly, who died in 1527.

Machiavelli, famous as an author, wrote a book, "The Prince," in an endeavor to prove that, for the establishment and maintenance of government, any means might be resorted to, no matter how treacherous, unlawful, or dishonorable. The ruler would be justified in using these forces, the author argued, because he would only be pitting them against similar traits of wickedness and treachery in his

Machiavelli was a friend of popular government, and for several centuries there were a few who argued that "The Prince" did not truly represent his principles, but in reality was a satire on rule by despots. The dispute was set at rest in 1810, however, by the discovery of a letter written by closely in order to save material, but Machiavelli. The author said he wrote the Medici, an Italian family of great wealth and power, because he desired to curry favor with them, and he had -People's Home Journal.

"CANNOT MATCH THE BIBLE"

Stories in Sacred Volume Have Never Been Equaled, a Yale Professor Says.

The bulk of the people-business men, lawyers, doctors and others don't read the Bible, but writers universally recognize it as the greatest book, Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale university said in a recent address.

"Being a serious book it is weak in I think Job intended a grim joke when he said: 'Would that mine adversary had written a book.'

"No narrative writers can match the style of the Bible's Old Testament stories-Hume, Gibbon, Rose-they are all inferior. This is the day of the sant, O. Shaft at National Capital Is One of the Most Remarkable Ever Built by Man.

The foundation of the great shaft of the Washington monument is 80 feet square and is set in solid rock eight feet below the surface of the earth. The interior is only 25 feet in diameter, while the exterior diameter is 55 feet. This shows the tremendous thickness of the walls, which are made of perfectly fitted stones. No wonder that this obelisk has been called "the best piece of masonry in the world."

Many nations, as well as many cities and states, wished to contribute to this great cenotaph, and as the visitor enters the monument and takes his place in the big elevator, he may see, as he slowly mounts, various interesting stones from all parts of the world., He may catch a glimpse of a stone from "Braddock's field," one from the "battlefield of Long Island," one from the Alexandrian library in Egypt, one from the tomb of Napoleon at St. Helena, a mosaic block from the ruins of Carthage, lava from Vesuvius and stones from Jerusalem and Mecca, besides blocks contributed by 40 states, 16 cities and towns and 44 societies. Ten foreign countries sent blocks of stone, suitably inscribed, to testify to their regard .- Mary V. Worstell in St. Nicholas.

Remedies for the Earache.

For an earache, dry heat is the safest remedy. Never should the mother drop oil or anything else into the ear without being especially ordered to do so by a doctor. A small hot-water bag with a flannel cover, a kid glove-finger filled with salt and then heated in the oven, or, simply, a flannel made very hot and covered by another one to hold in the heat, may be placed over the baby's ear to relieve the pain. If this does not seem enough, then a small rubber ear-syringe may be filled with hot water; and while the lobe of the ear is gently held downward and backward the mother should use the syringe carefully, then apply the hot flannel after drying out the ear. When pus has formed, or if this simple treatment does not relieve the acute pain, a doctor should be asked to examine the ear. Possibly the drum membrane may need to be opened. Hot boric acid solution or some other disinfectant will be needed to syringe the ear if pus is present.—Marianna Wheeler, in the People's Home Jour-

Push-Button Batteries. Something new in push-buttons has been invented by an Eastern man that bids fair to send the old dry batteries now in use to ring your front door bell to the ashcan. It is quite a simple arrangement, and it is strange that no one should have thought of such a simple device. The button itself is connected to a rod that is geared to a small dynamo, and when the button is pushed the dynamo armature rotates in the field of a permanent magnet, thereby generating enough electricity to ring the bell. The whole unit hardly takes up more space than the ordinary push button, and does away with the constant expense of renewing batteries .-- From the Electrical Experimenter.

IN SATIN AND CREPE

When distinction and simplicity are united in a beautiful gown there is nothing else to wish for-except that it will prove becoming. Here is an example of this happy combination in an afternoon dress of satin and crepe georgette. It is gracefully designed to assure a slender silhouette-has an over-bodice, sleeves and tunic drapery of crepe with collar, girdle and underdress of satin. There is a quiet garni ture of embroidery and the fine finish of tiny satin-covered buttons on collar and sleeves.

LOVELY FROCK OF GEORGETTE

Wherever she elects to wear this charming afternoon dress, its owner may do so with the comfortable feeling that it is a work of art. It will not suffer by any sort of comparison, being both beautiful and up to date. Twice it affirms its allegiance to the tunic; once in a long-over skirt and again in the flounce with deep tucks over the hips and at the back. An applique of satin, outlined with embroidery in a braid pattern challenges our admiration. It is a new idea adapted with cleverness to a beautiful and use-

MAY ADOPT DECIMAL SYSTEM

England Seriously Considering Abandoning Its Antiquated Currency in Favor of Simplicity.

England may adopt the decimal sysfavor with the British people, and Roche took Diggles hard drive. ig the important agencies behind dom. For generations schoolboys have been learning this: Four farthings make one penny, twelve pence make one shilling, twenty shillings make one pound, twenty-one shillings sterling make one guinea, twenty shillings sterling make one sovereign.

Then there were the symbols to learn—the capital "L" with a short line across the shank of the letter for "s" for shilling, or the Latin solidus; Royer flied to Marifino. the little "d" for denarius, or penny and the "qr" for "quadrans," or quarter of a penny, standing for farthing, though latterly "far" came to stand generally for farthing. All American English money in that part of their arithmetic dealing with "reduction," which is "the changing of numbers, either simple or compound, from one denomination to another without altering their values." Many men will probably remember that as boys they worked and labored over two kinds of "reduction," which were called "reduction descending and reduction ascending."

The decimalizing of English money is, of course, in the line of simplification. Some of the financial powers and papers are urging that parliament take the matter under consideration, and it is likely to come up for official treatment and discussion at any time.

OUR BOYS "OVER THERE" EN-JOY TOASTED CIGARETTES.

Through the patriotism of the citizens of this country thousands of smoke kits are being distributed to American soldiers in France. Authorities agree that men in the trenches need cigarettes almost as much as food and munitions.

Doctors, nurses, and commanding officers all join in the demand which has awakened in this country a great movement to keep our boys supplied with smokes.

Millions of the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are "going over" all the time. There's something about the idea of the toasted cigarette that appeals to the men who spend their time in cold, wet trenches

Then, too, the real Kentucky Burley tobacco of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette gives them the solid satisfaction of a pipe, with a lot less trouble.

MUCH WORK YET TO BE DONE

Every Community And Every Person Should Back Up The Boys In The Trenches.

While Liberty Friday saw the Third Liberty Loan given a good boost all over the State, there is much to be done yet by Maryland to measure up to the quota that has been fixed for

Many communities have gone over their quotas, but there are many more that are still behind and it is up to the people of these communities to throw off their coats and prove to the rest of the State and to the counttry at large, that they are not more careful with their money than they are with their sons who have gone out to face the nation's foe

The boys on the battlefront and those who are soon going to be there should feel that the folks in their own home town and their own homes are behind them with all they pos-

As a speaker at "Over There" Cantonment said:

"What must be the feeling of a boy in the trenches when he learns that those he loves and those who profess to love him, his relatives, his friends, his neighbors, de not care enough for the life that he is risking for them to lend their money to help save him. We've sent them there; we must bring them back. We can't bring them back unless we send our dollars to Uncle Sam to feed and clothe and arm them. The sooner we send this money and the more we send, the sooner will our brave boys win this war and come back, and the more of them will be saved to be brought back. Every slacker dollar in this land means a drop of American blood spilled on French soil by the Hun."

In practically every community in the State enthusiastic patriotic meetings are being held in the interests of the Third Liberty Loan. Much excellent work has been done in the rural districts by the "flying squadron" which, manned by would known Liberty Loan speaks; and bond salesmen "sailed" into the rural neighborhoods and there obtained subscripions to the Loan.

Subscriptions amounting to $34,700 were received at a meeting held at Colgate school house, St. Helena, Baltimore county. The speakers were Senator Carville D. Benson, Cy Cummings and Charles Morris Howard.

Robert P. Graham, captain of the Liberty Loan Campaign Team for Central Maryland on a visit to the Baltimore headquarters of the Liberty Loan Committee, reported much enthusiasm in communities visited by his team. Former Congressman David J. Lewis, accompanied Mr. Graham, and with them as speakers at different points, appeared Congressman Carraway of Arkansas, Corporal Ellis, Milton G. Urner, State Senator Wade Warfield, Richard Bond, Lewis Allen, Howard Bryant, Judge Peter and oth-

At Poolesville, Montgomery county, individual subscriptions amounting to more than $21,700, a sum greater than the bank apportionment for that place, were made. Westminster subscribed $60,000, Gaithersburg, $26,000; Mt. Airy between $16,000 and $20,000; Towson, between $56,000 and $60,000 and when the team left Rockville, more than $30,000 had subscribed. Other towns visited were Sykesville, Taneytown and Hampstead.

From Worcester county, comes the word that Berlin has subscribed $42,-'000 and Snow Hill, $68,000. Chairman John W. Ennis, for that county, telegraphed this announcement to the Liberty Loan Committee for Mary

W. Bladen Lowndes and Benjamin Dobson addressed an enthusiastic meeting at Dayton, Howard county and following their addresses $14,000 worth of Bonds were sold. In the Second Liberty Loan the amount of bonds sold in this district were but

Subscriptions to the amount of $29,-150 to Liberty Bonds were received at a meeting at Upper Marlboro, Prince George county. Congressman Dill addressed this meeting as did also a number of soldiers. Patriotic songs were sung by a group of boys from the Upper Marlboro High School. Many of the communities are giving liberally, but others are not. It is going to take a whirlwind finish to put Maryland "Over the top." Only a comparatively few days remain before the campaign closes. The failure of Marylanders to make the proper response will mean that this state, which has never fallen down on anything before, will, in this instance, fall below its allotment of $38,229,000. It is imperative that the entire State arouse itself and put forth a supreme effort to "make good" for Uncle Sam. Maryland cannot afford to be a slacker State. It is not going to be if all Marylanders do their part. By putting their hands to the plow with staunch determination to see the thing through, Uncle Sam will have no difficulty in furroughing a line straight through Autocracy's bloody field and implanting therein the seeds of true democracy and liberty
