NO LIMIT ARMY BILL IS PASSED

House Unanimous for Greatest Military Budget in U. S. History.

CARRIES $12,000,000,000 FUND

Carries Appropriations 50 Per Cent. Greater Than Total Cost of Civil War—Amendment Prohibits Cost-Plus Contracts.

Washington.—Without a dissenting vote the house passed the $12,042,682,000 army appropriation bill, the largest sum ever voted for the military establishment. The bill now goes to the senate. The measure went through on a rising vote, and when Speaker Clark called for the noes he looked all over the chamber and announced amid loud applause:

"Not a soul has arisen in the negative."

Just before passage of the nation's greatest army budget Representative Garrett of Texas, Democrat, a member of the Military Affairs Committee, raised the nonpartisan spirit shown in committee and in the house during consideration of the bill and added:

"By taking this action we serve notice on the Kaiser that this country is united to a man and that we're going to get his scalp."

Aside from its vast appropriations, the outstanding feature of the army bill is the grant of unlimited power to the President to call out the man power of the nation within the limitations of the selective draft act as rapidly as men can be trained and shipped to France.

Under the authority the President may raise an army of any size, and the strength of the army is limited only by training and transportation facilities. Secretary Baker urged this legislation, saying it would have a better psychological effect than even an authorization for an army of 5,000,000 men, which was suggested as a substitute plan.

The house adopted an amendment to the army bill which forbids the use of stop watch systems on government work paid for from the army budget. Similar legislation has been written into army and navy bills for the last four years.

In adopting another amendment to the bill the house dealt what is believed to be a death blow to the cost-plus form of army contract. The amendment, if enacted, means that all future army contracts shall be for a definite sum.

The army bill carries $9,583,000,000 in round figures and additional authorizations for the expenditure of $2,458,000,000.

Representative Longworth told the house just before the bill passed that it carried appropriations 50 per cent. greater than the total cost of the Civil War to both sides.

The measure passed after three days' debate, all limited to five minute speeches. When it was certain no vote had been cast against the great measure—by far the hugest appropriation in the history of the world—the house rose and applauded.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee is understood to be ready to begin work at once on the bill. Notice has been given that there will be senate opposition to the section which gives President Wilson power to raise as large an army as can be equipped and shipped to Europe.

GRACE LUSK IS GUILTY.

Wisconsin Teacher Attacks Prosecutor After Conviction.

Waukesha, Wis.—Facing a sentence of from 14 to 25 years in the penitentiary for second degree murder, Miss Grace Lusk, former school teacher, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mary Roberts, is under the care of a physician. Since her hysterical outburst and attempt to choke the district attorney before the jury had returned its verdict Miss Lusk has been sullenly silent and is constantly watched by a woman attendant.

The premier of Australia, the Right Hon. William Morris Hughes, addressing the members of the Pilgrim Society at a dinner in the Union League Club, New York, made known the purpose of his visit to America and revealed to a further extent the German plan of world conquest. He said that the crisis of the war has now come and that sacrifice must be made freely else the Teuton will sweep all before him. "The fate of civilization hangs by a hair," he said.

Mat Restorer.

Rubber matting that has been in use for some time and is beginning to look the worse for wear may be restored to respectability by painting it with lead-colored paint. This gives a varnish surface that is not only oilproof, but is easily cleaned with a cloth.

WAR BULLETINS

On the flanks of the great Aisne salient the French have fought stubbornly and materially retarded the enemy advance. Southwest of Rheims a French counter attack drove the enemy out of Thillois, which he had captured May 29.

Along an 80 mile front Ludendorff is now striking for Paris, 45 miles away. In the center so far he has scored his maximum success.

The Germans have now thrown 45 divisions into the new battle. Most of Ludendorff's remaining reserves are still held in the north. Whether he will shift these to the Marne front in an attempt to reach a decision will be decided soon.

Berlin claims that 35,000 prisoners so far have been captured. The booty is described as "tremendous." Guns of every description, including railway guns of the heaviest caliber, were captured, the German statement says, adding: "The impetuous advance of our attacking troops prevented the enemy from carrying back rich war provisions heaped up in large depots in the captured territories."

The fighting activity on the fronts held by the army groups of General von Gallwitz and Duke Albrecht of Wuertemberg was revived temporarily, Berlin announces. This may be of extreme significance. Gallwitz commands the army at Verdun. The duke commands the army west of Rheims. The Hun drive in the direction of the Marne threatens the communications of the French armies facing these two generals.

GENERAL

Alfred H. Smith resigned as president of the New York Central railroad and subsidiary lines, comprising 125 separate corporations, and W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was elected his successor. Mr. McAdoo named traffic committees to pass on complaints against the proposed increase in freight rates June 25.

Prime minister of Australia declares Germany intended to seize island continent and divide it among junker capitalists.

During June 280,000 men will be called to the colors. This may be raised to 300,000.

Men of draft age who have slight physical defects which make them unfit for service at the front will be used, to the number of 200,000, in timber work in the northwest and other productive labor for the army.

Fully 10,000 persons, including Charles M. Schwab, who was principal speaker, saw the launching of the first new standardized steel ship at Newark Port.

The northern terminus of the new postplane service between Washington and New York will be in Branch Brook Park, near the Forest Hill Golf Club, Newark.

Elisha Lee was appointed as federal manager of the Pennsylvania railroad for the Allegheny district by Charles H. Markham, regional director of that district for the federal railroad administration.

Colonel Roosevelt after a speaking trip in the middle west said Wisconsin is heartily loyal and is doing wonderful war work.

The Red Cross fund has reached a total of $165,064,784.

Riveting contests are likely to be discontinued, as ship chiefs assert they eventually impair efficiency.

Witness at Chicago trial reveals an I. W. W. plot to organize sabotage in the American army.

Newark, N. J., conductors will strike if women are employed.

280,000 IN JUNE DRAFT.

New Quota May Be Increased If Camp Space Permits.

Washington.—Official announcement was made here that 280,000 men will be called to the colors during June. They will be ordered to report on June 24.

The quota is based on estimates of the space available for the men in camps and cantonments. If the rate of shipment of troops across the Atlantic again is raised still more men may be called.

FIRST FABRICATED SHIP.

Agawam, 7,500 Tons, New Departure in Building.

Port Newark, N. J.—The first standardized cargo vessel to be constructed of structural steel plates and shapes heretofore used only in the erection of office buildings and bridges was launched at the yard of the Submarine Boat Corporation for the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

The vessel was named Agawam, and she represents a new departure in ship building.

Dummy Taylor, one time Giant pitcher and one of the most picturesque characters the game ever produced, is now engaged as an athletic instructor for the deaf mute employees of a large rubber company in Akron, O.

PRES. LINCOLN SUNK

Torpedoed U. S. Transport Remained Afloat One Hour.

She Was One of the Great Hamburg-American Liners Seized by the United States.

Washington.—The United States transport President Lincoln, formerly the Hamburg-American liner, of 18,500 tons displacement, has been sunk by a German U boat while on her way back to this country after landing troops.

Word of her sinking was flashed to the navy department by Vice Admiral Sims, but no details were given beyond the fact that she remained afloat an hour.

The President Lincoln was 600 miles from the French coast when sunk.

The announcement of her sinking, made by the navy department, said:

The navy department has received a dispatch from Vice Admiral Sims stating that the United States steamship President Lincoln was torpedoed at 10:40 o'clock this morning and sank an hour later. The vessel was returning from Europe. No further particulars have been received.

Reports of other sinkings by U boats received unofficially here indicate that the U boats may have opened a desperate drive along the line frequently predicted of late. The Germans have said they would center attention on American transports and cut off communication between the United States and Europe. The attack on the President Lincoln may be the first blow struck in a carefully planned campaign. Opinion in naval circles is unanimous that the German efforts will be thwarted.

That she was attacked so far from the French coast makes it appear possible in the opinion of naval officers that she ran across one of the larger German submarines, possibly one of the latest cruiser type, which carry five inch guns. Vice Admiral Sims' brief dispatch makes it certain, however, that she was sunk by a torpedo and not by gunfire.

SPORTING

While one of the most stupendous battles in the history of the world was being waged and the roar of cannon could be heard in the distance American soldiers and sailors took part in athletic games on the grounds of the Racing Club at Colombes, near Paris.

Pitcher Dick Rudolph was restored to good standing in organized baseball by the National Commission. The commission received an application from Rudolph stating that he had come to terms with the Boston Nationals and during his layoff had played with no other team.

Elm's Primus, an Airedale terrier from Brookline, Mass., won the prize for best in the show of the Long Island Kennel Club.

Jerome D. Travers and Maxwell R. Marston defeated George Low and James M. Barnes 5 and 4 in golf match at Baltusrol.

Fred Alexander and Harold Throckmorton, lawn tennis stars, have enlisted in the navy.

HUNS WIDEN WEDGE

Tremendous Booty, Many Guns Taken as Foe Gains Five Miles.

French and British, Though Beaten Back Near Rheims, Still Protect the City—Reserves Arrive.

London.—The Germans continued to hurl their masses toward Paris, reaching the banks of the Marne on a ten mile front, according to the British general staff, as well as the Berlin war office. The British official statement added that the situation was extremely anxious, but it was believed that a change was at hand in the battle, the allies being far from a rout and showing indications of a counter blow. The German statement said the captives amounted to 45,000 men and more than 400 guns had been taken.

The French, having fallen back from the limits of the city of Soissons, have stood their ground against the attacks of the enemy, and the German official statement fails to show material advances there during the day's fighting.

On the eastern end of the fighting line some of the forts before Rheims are said to have fallen, which was to be expected from the fact that they have been outflanked by the tide of invasion that has swept far to the south of the city.

The situation, while apparently extremely serious, has not assumed the critical aspect of the fighting late in March. The allies are resisting the enemy's attacks stubbornly, giving ground when overpowered and always maintaining a solid front.

The wave of the advance is now approaching the valley of the Marne, the nearest approach to that avenue toward Paris being at the village of Vezilly, which lies at the extreme apex of the German wedge and is about seven miles from the river. In 1914 the Germans advanced over a front extending from Bainsles, just east of Soissons, to Vauquois, a little west of Verdun. After having reached the Marne the Huns turned the force of their advance toward the west, and they may be expected to repeat their tactics of four years ago.

The reserve forces at the command of Generalissimo Foch are now coming into action on ground chosen for the combat by that master strategist, and it is possible that a blow of tremendous proportions may be struck somewhere along the front of the German wave or on its western side, which seems to be open to an attack which might crumple up the German armies to the east of Soissons.

PITH OF THE WAR NEWS

In the center of the salient the enemy plunged ten miles southward and reached the Marne river along a front of about ten miles south of Fere-en-Tardenois.

American troops repulsed four German counter attacks at Cantigny in a day. The enemy bombarded the American positions heavily, and enemy aviators dropped bombs on many hospitals and villages in the rear. American soldiers conducted a successful raid on a 600 yard front near Toul. Foch has not yet engaged the main bulk of his reserves, which are said to number "millions."

The Germans are pushing forward toward the Marne on the south and widening their drive on the west beyond Soissons and Rheims. The Germans say they have captured 35,000 prisoners and an immense quantity of munitions thus far in the drive. French reports declare that fresh reserves are being constantly thrown into the allied lines and it is expected the German tide will soon be dammed.

The forts on the northwestern front of Rheims have fallen. The northern parts of La Neuvillelette and of Betheny have been captured.

ANNE MORGAN'S TOWN LOST.

Berlancourt, in Aisne Country, Rebuilt by Her.

Washington.—In the capture of Berlancourt, northwest of Soissons, there falls into German hands some of the finest reconstruction work among the French villages done by Miss Anne Morgan of New York and her associates.

Berlancourt had been rehabilitated by Miss Morgan, who spent much time there. It is assumed that the village will be destroyed.

Germans Fail to Increase Damage, but Make More Noise.

Paris.—The long range bombardment of Paris began again. Examination of the shells discharged by the Germans indicates that new guns are being used. Larger shells are being employed than formerly, the calibre of the guns being 24 centimeter (9 1/2 inches) instead of 21. The powder charge is greater and the detonation louder, but the force of the explosion does not seem to have increased.

Felix Frankfurter, director of the War Labor Policies Board, said he was working out a scheme to place in useful employment the registrants who must relinquish useless jobs by July 1. An announcement of the details of the scheme will be made shortly.

German-American War

The British Medical Mission to the United States brings highest praise of the efficiency and heroism of American physicians and nurses at the battle front.

Brigadier General Treat, commanding the department of the west, has been ordered to the Italian front.

The American transport President Lincoln was sunk in the Atlantic by a torpedo on her homeward voyage.

The Americans penetrated the German positions to a depth of more than 400 yards. They found numbers of dead Germans, who had been killed by the American artillery fire. Information was secured, and the Americans blew up defensive works and dugouts.

American soldiers repulsed more German attacks in the Cantigny sector, the heaviest yet made in the effort to retake the ground captured by the Americans in Picardy. The German losses were heavy. Enemy activity on the Toul front increased sharply.

American destroyers sank with depth bombs a huge German submarine which carried six deck guns, two of them of eight-inch caliber.

A report indicated 200,000 men will be called in the draft in five days beginning June 24 to be distributed in 22 camps.

The fifth successive counter attack against Cantigny, near Montdidier, in Picardy, was repulsed by the Americans. Machine guns raked the enemy. The new American positions are rapidly being strengthened. The Germans' losses are about 1,000. The Americans are using captured machine guns against the Huns.

AMERICANS BEAT SUPERIOR FORCE

Capture of Cantigny Grows in Importance With Detailed Account.

FOUGHT HAND TO HAND.

Our Troops Routed Enemy From Cellars With Grenades—All Gains Are Held—Toll of Prisoners Is Increased to 242.

With the American Army in France. —From the prisoners taken in the American capture of Cantigny it has been established that our advance was opposed by two German regiments, which puts the superiority in numbers on the side of the troops under cover. The enemy was amazed at the sight of tanks operating in conjunction with the American troops.

The capture of the town and 242 German prisoners was about as dashing and complete a coup de main as the war has seen. It was an all American affair, too, but under the watchful eye of the French high command. Cantigny lies upon the lower slope of the plateau northwest of Montdidier. It all began at 4:45 o'clock in the morning with a terrific neutralization fire along the American front upon the hostile artillery. The roar of our cannon was heard for miles behind the lines and lasted one hour.

The first phase of the attack ended after one additional hour of artillery preparation, diversion and destructive fire had knocked the German positions into a shambles. The artillery fire passed into a rolling barrage. Then came the second phase. Promptly at 6:45 o'clock the American infantry went to it. Its advance was preceded by 12 tanks acting as pacemakers. The ground was very level, with a slope eastward. A thrilling spectacle was the advancing American forces on a width of two and one-half kilometers and over a green plateau wet with dew.

Fought With Grenades.

On the extreme right a unit of infantry attacked simultaneously from Bois Cantigny, popping suddenly out of the woods and advancing to the north. Summed up, it took exactly 40 minutes for our troops to reach their objective, the distance covered being about one and one-half kilometers. Within the town of Cantigny occurred fierce grenade fights and many acts of valor.

The Germans had honeycombed the village with tunnels, and into these retreats and also into old wine cellars rushed our men. Here took place the third phase of the fight and the capture of a majority of the prisoners. The infantry on the left had been detailed to "mop up the town." It went through on the run, driving the Germans out of their holes and from behind buildings and charred tree trunks.

Protected From Flank Attacks.

The Americans went beyond the former German first lines to a depth of one kilometer and immediately dug in, being protected by their splendid artillery barrage. The ravines upon the right and left of the troops making the charge have prevented flank attacks so far. No German reaction yet has developed. Our new lines now are well beyond Cantigny, running through Bois Francourt, from which woods extend for some distance beyond, there being no other village ahead of our present lines for seven kilometers.

The whole operation was conducted from a headquarters located in a second cellar, itself directly under the fire of German artillery. Here our generals of artillery and infantry staff officers and French liaison officers rubbed elbows with telephone operators. In the intelligence section a major gave the news of their progress to newspaper correspondents.

London.—Noel Pemberton-Billing, member of parliament for East Hertfordshire and publisher of the newspaper Vigilante, opening his defense in his trial in the Bow street police court on the charge of libeling Maud Allen, dancer, called Mrs. Villiers Stewart to prove the existence of a book, which had been prepared by German secret agents, containing the names of 47,000 British persons said to be addicted to vice and held in bondage to Germany through fear of exposure.

Mrs. Stewart said the book, which she had seen, but which was not produced, contained the names of ex-Premier Asquith and Mrs. Asquith, Viscount Haldane, former secretary for war, and Justice Darling, who is trying the case against the member of parliament.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE-ACADEMY

Valley Echoes

The Valley was honored by a visit from His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons on Decoration Day.

Miss Catherine Letters, Philadelphia has accepted a position in her father's office with a view of adding her bit for the service of the country.

Miss Clementine Kelly, '14, is now working for the Pittsburgh Insurance Company and is thereby contributing to the already splendid patriotic spirit of the St. Joseph's girls.

Mrs. Marie Gloninger Rial, Pittsburgh, Pa., was the Matron of Honor at the Miller-Cook wedding which took place in Richmond, Virginia, this week.

The Misses Mercedes and Irenita Monterey, daughters of Mrs. Irenita Sol Monterey, have returned to their home in San Salvador, Central America.

Miss Anna Hall, '18, after passing an examination in differential calculus with the percent. of one hundred, is to be awarded the Denny Mathematic Medal.

On Wednesday, June sixth, Mrs. Helen Brickell Ellis, '12, Treasurer of the New Orleans Chapter of St. Joseph's Alumnae, entertained the members of the Alumnae at her home on Audubon Place.

Miss Ruth Pattison, '17, has signed up as a private in the United States Army; she has pledged to serve in the Emergency Squadron of the United States Motor Corps Service for the duration of the war.

Miss Margaret Bresnahan, '16, anticipated being in the Valley last week, but was detained to continue patriotic work. Miss Bresnahan represented France in a play given for the benefit of the Red Cross which met with such success that it was repeated this week.

Very Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M., gave the percents for the quarterly examination last Wednesday. Miss Marie Louise Pattison, '18 is the medalist in Science of Religion, having received 100 per cent. in each of the four quarterly examinations.

Miss Anna Fesenmeier, '14, was unanimously elected Secretary of the Baltimore Chapter of St. Joseph's Alumnae, replacing Miss Mary A. Rodgers, '15, who is engaged in Red Cross Work, Washington, D. C.

The autumn meeting of the Baltimore Chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. May Kaibach Neily, 32 York Court, Guilford, Baltimore, Md.

The College Elocution Recital took place May twenty-eighth. All the readers appeared to advantage and the variety of the selections suggests the versatility of interpretations. Miss Gloninger recited with her wonted dramatic finish; Miss Pattison's recitation, an original composition, Huns and Huns, painted vivid war pictures; Miss Nan Gable admirably portrayed the noble sacrifice of a French lady; Miss Flynn's story of child life was appealingly delivered; Miss Cain, making her first appearance, recited Service's Revelations with marshal fire.

The recital of the mandolin orchestra which took place Sunday night was especially pleasing because of its unusual harmony. Melody in F, played by the orchestra consisting of twelve mandolins was exceedingly beautiful; Miss Mary Cofer, '19 rendered her solo, Miserere, with skill and feeling; Serenade, was delightfully interpreted by Miss Nan Gable, '19; first laughter, then the smile and finally slumber. Misses Agnes Cogan and Mercedes Monterey played their respective solos with their usual talent and mastery. The duet, Norma, was rich in harmony; the Misses Dorothy Adelsperger and Ruth Conley are to be congratulated because of the difficulty of their selection.

ANOTHER SERVICE

Nine From Fort Myer Will Cross Bats This Coming Saturday With Mt. St. Mary's.

What should prove to be one of the best baseball games of the season played here will take place on Echo Field, Mt. St. Mary's College this coming Saturday. Fort Myer service team of Washington will be the attraction. Before the war, Fort Myer was one of the regular military stations of the United States being on the banks of the Potomac. When activities started besides the regular Fort the Government turned it into an Officers' Training School. With the increased number of military men sent to this Fort under Government regulations, an athletic director was put in charge. Athletic activities have been brisk since the camp started as the man in charge has the cream of the college athletic circles to pick from. As a rule Mt. St. Mary's has had her schedule so arranged to play college games right up to Commencement time, but in keeping with the wish of the Government so that the service boys will get action, Manager Carroll of the Mountaineers has been booking as many of the camp games as possible. The game with Camp Colt of Gettysburg some ten days ago was a decided innovation as the spirit manifested clearly proved that such games were desired. The Fort Myer team has been playing all the strong teams around Washington and Virginia and have made a very fine showing. The Mountaineers up to date have won seven out of the ten played. Hagarty who has developed into somewhat of a "phenom" will be sent in to do the twirling by Coach Thompson Saturday and from the way he has been going through practice he will give a good account of himself against the more experienced players that will face him in the contest. The Fort Myer Boys will make the trip from Washington in Army trucks arriving at the College about one thirty. The game will start at two thirty, Umpire Jack Doyle calling the plays.

The President and Faculty of Mt. St. Mary's have extended an invitation to Captain Eisenhower of Camp Colt to have his boys witness the game.

War Savings Stamps are "little government bonds" bearing 4 per cent compound interest. They cost $4.17 now. In five years they will be worth $5 each. If you wish to cash them in before that time you can do so any time at the post-office with interest.

Let Your Dollars Be Patriots!

THIS war is a test of a democratic Government. It is also a trial of democracy as to its fitness to survive. A small group of autocrats within whose hands are the resources of Central Europe are attacking the principle of the right of people to govern themselves. Should the United States and its allies fail in this war there will not remain on earth a people absolutely independent of the dictation of the Teutonic empires, organized for military efficiency and bent on using that efficiency for the purpose of forcing their will upon the world. Let the Teutons triumph and the world will not be a safe place for democracy, and to make it such a safe place, is not only the expressed purpose of the United States in taking up the challenge of the Huns, but also the purpose of the other powers who took up the challenge when Germany sent it forth three years and a half ago, and who for three years and a half have borne the burden of the conflict.

For this reason the PRESENT BUSINESS OF THE UNITED STATES IS WAR—war to exterminate organized unrighteousness and to establish peace among the nations of the world.

The Government has perfected a plan which will enable all of our people without exception, to take a definite part in winning the war.

One of the first great steps called for by the Government is—SAVING. The American people must cease to require all of the pleasant and comfortable luxuries which they consumed before the war, the production of which calls for the energy of millions of men and women. These men and women must devote themselves to the production of the things which are needed to win the war. This is the key to the present situation; it rests in the hands of the average man, woman and child in every state in the Union, by refraining from everything not absolutely necessary to health, and efficiency, to release strong arms for the production of materials of war to support our army and navy.

Idle dollars are SLACKER dollars, but dollars spent for unnecessary articles, the production of which require labor and materials which the government needs to save the lives of our fighting men, are TRAITOR dollars.

Women Make Gas Masks.

"Somewhere in the United States," at a plant whose location for obvious reasons is not made public, thousands of women are engaged in the delicate and intricate making of gas masks for the American army. Most of these women are either wives, mothers or sisters. They have been organized in military fashion and specially selected for the work.

"It soon became apparent that the type of women needed could not be secured through the ordinary channels of employment," says a statement of the Gas Defense Service, that section of the surgeon general's office which controls the manufacture, "and men were sent to localities displaying service flags to secure the services of women vitally interested, who would be most loyal in their work and extremely anxious to send out perfect gas masks."

War Savings Stamps are a direct loan from you to Uncle Sam. Nothing can lessen their value. They're always at par.

Get Advice Without Pay.

Men going into the United States service either in the army, navy, marine corps or aviation service, can have their legal affairs attended to before they leave without one cent of charge. This action was decided upon at a recent meeting of the legal advisory board and the members of the bar at the Court House, Frederick.

Most of the attorneys were at the meeting and all volunteered to give their advice and services free of charge. A man about to leave to enter the service, who has personal or business affairs to settle, should consult some member of the bar before taking his departure.

Whooping Cough.

In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy, which can be done by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. P. H. Martin, Peru, Ind., writes, "My two daughters had whooping cough. I gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it worked like a charm." June 7-1mo. Advertisement.

Dr. Conley Now Major.

Capt. Charles H. Conley, of Frederick city, has been advanced to Major, attached to the base hospital at Camp Meade. Notice of his promotion was received by him last week.

Major Conley was one of the first Frederick county physicians who volunteered for service shortly after the outbreak of the war. He was assigned to the Base Hospital at Camp Meade with the rank of Captain. The valuable services rendered by him are attested by his promotion.

Major Conley is one of the best known physicians in the county. He has also been chairman of the Democratic county and State Central committees and is now a member of those committees.

Has a Good Opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"Chamberlain's Tablets are a wonder. I never sold anything that beat them," writes F. B. Tressey, Richmond, Ky. When troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. June 7-1mo Advertisement.

New P. O. Building For Hagerstown.

A new post office building for Hagerstown, to cost $175,000, is urgently recommended to Congress by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in a special report declaring that the congestion of mail at the post office is so great that the postal employees find it almost impossible to handle the mail.

Mr. McAdoo states that it is proposed to tear down the present post office building and erect on its site a new building, which can provide accommodations for the growing postal needs of that city.

You'll pay $4.17 for each W. S. S. on June 28th—and you'll get $5 for each of them.

HOT WATER FRUIT AND VEGETABLE DRYER

This is the cheapest, simplest, most durable and effective dryer for domestic use that has ever been invented. It requires very little space and is used on top of a range or stove when not used for cooking, and when it is removed from the range to make room for cooking it still continues to dry on account of the hot water, which requires some time to cool. This dryer is especially adapted to drying sweet corn and with very little attention can be dried off twice in one day. There is absolutely no burning or scorching which is one of the essential features of a dryer. It has a dry surface of 18 by 26 in. and weighs six pounds PRICE $2.50.

A VITAL MEASURE.

The practice of thrift is a vital factor in the winning of the war.

"This war," says President Wilson, "is one of nations—not of armies—and all of our 100,000,000 people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions if this nation is to play its full part in the conflict."

There is no better way systematically and profitably to begin the practice of thrift than the plan suggested to and urged upon all people by the Government—Buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

Between this date and June 28, every man, woman and child in this district will be given the opportunity to keep faith with the "Boys Over There."

The faith of those boys has not faltered. Will ours? They are fighting for us—to keep the knife of the Hun from our throats. While they are in a foreign land surrounded by terrors almost inconceivable, battling with a foe that knows no mercy, whose hell-hatched cruelties out-savage the savage—while they are giving up their very lives for us will we at home not seek to save them?

We have not been called to fight upon the battlefield or there to die; but our sons, our brothers or the kids now in Khaki—boys from our own community to whom only a short time ago we were giving pennies—they have.

For them we are asked to INVEST pennies NOW—yes, pennies, dimes and dollars. We are asked to LEND money to the Government for the Boys' welfare. We are asked to buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps, (this is the medium) at the Post Office and in so doing enter into a contract with the United States Government whereby that Government pledges to PAY back principal (the original cost of the stamps) plus interest.

Let us all pledge ourselves to buy as many War Savings Stamps as we can on or before June 28, which is National War Savings Day. That day says the President "ends this special period of enlistment in the great volunteer army of production and saving here at home. MAY THERE BE NONE UNENLISTED ON THAT DAY."

THE CHRONIC WORRIER.

Do not go through life with a frown upon your face and a grumble in your system. The grumbler has few friends. Every trifling mishap is a cause of worry to his morbid mind; every pleasure forecasts a gloomy future. The world calls such a man a chronic grumbler, or, more harshly put, a crank.

Petty worryment disturbs not only the mental but also the physical faculties. The reverse of this also is true.

An analysis of the causes and effects of worryment and ill-health will not benefit the unfortunate possessor of these maladies; what he wants is a cure, a remedy which can be effectively applied. Physical exercise, plenty of fresh air and frequently a good hearty laugh will eradicate the cause.

Optimism and the preservation of youth are brick walls separating happiness from gloom.

The chronic worrier cannot fail to be unhappy; he dwells in a house of dark shadows and as he passes through life he is a bore to himself and to others.

If you are a chronic worrier wake up! Shake yourself together; get into the open and become normal.

THERE seems to be some black walnut and much patriotism left in New Jersey; an inkeeper offers free to the Government for use in making gunstocks the black walnut top of his bar, which has been in use 100 years. A gunstock seasoned for a century with "Jersey lightning" sure ought to make "some" gun, firing not only bullets, but the imagination and patriotic spirit of the man behind it.

A HOLIDAY INCIDENT.

A monstrous Tank, a tank of sturdy build, with soldiers laden came upon the scene.—('Twas shown the public's valor to increase).—A human "tank," a tank with booze well filled, came head-on with his great big limousine.—(His friends are saying "may he rest in peace").—

"THERE is seldom a white blouse that is not improved by a touch of black." Finger marks on the back excepted, of course.

ABOUT the only place for some folks to get ahead in this world is in a cabbage patch.

Patrotic Mother Canny.

When, a few months ago, one of our troop ships was torpedoed there were, of course, many worried mothers. One of them received a cable message telling her of her son's rescue, and was naturally much relieved. But this cable was followed almost immediately by another asking for money by cable.

The mother of this lad was rather puzzled by the message, as she could not tell if it was genuine or not. She did not wish to risk sending a comparatively large amount of money to an imposter, so she hit on the plan of sending a return message asking the sender of the first cable to cable the name of the family's two dogs; names which would only be known to a member of the family.

The answer with the right names came at once, and the son received the money. He has been boasting of his mother's cleverness ever since.

Macbeth's Death Place Given City.

Belmont castle, the scene of the final struggle between Macbeth and Macduff when Macbeth was slain, has been given to the city of Dundee by its owner, Mrs. Marryat, who inherited a large fortune from her brother, Sir James Caird. The castle, which is located 17 miles from Dundee, was once the home of the British premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. The property includes 900 acres of park land and is valued at $2,000,000.

MAKES SACRIFICE FOR SONS.

Spirit of Self-Denial Shown by Little New York Jew as Beautiful as It Is Rare.

Essex and Delancey streets are the heart of the great many-tongued city which lives over near East river—the Ghetto. The streets are always crowded—crowded with bearded men, old women with shawls and sheitels, eager dark-eyed children; handsome girls, and young men clothed in the East side's version of what Fifth avenue wears.

On the corner year in and year out is a little Galician Jew. His small shrunken face is smeared dark by the stubble of a sparse beard; his flat little derby is pushed down over his ears; his clothes are a mere covering. For years he has been peddling the large salt pretzels which are strung on sticks and stand upright from his basket.

He never tries to force a sale. He never solicits patronage. He lives in a little room over a small bakery. He speaks very little English—and yet in a large Eastern college there are two of his sons being educated so that they will not have to live the life of drudgery the father has led. And the world-weary little father is paying the bills by self-denial.

War Strain Causes Nerve Shock.

The term shell shock has misled many persons to believe that it is due to the profound impression or shock produced on the nervous system by the detonations of high explosives. No doubt, there are cases of actual brain or nerve injury due to concussion of the air accompanying shell explosions, but these mechanical causes are a great deal less frequently responsible for war neuroses than the mental effects of general war strain. It is remarkable that these war neuroses, common as they are among privates and officers alike, are seldom found in men who have been actually wounded. Perhaps this seeming anomaly is due to the actual wound shock offsetting the mental impression affecting the controlling nerve-center in such cases.—Popular Science Monthly.

Ship on Girl's Back Bar to Society.

A ship on a girl's back is a bar to her entrance into society, according to State Senator Alfred J. Gilchrist, of New York city. The senator declares that a Brooklyn girl is barred from society because, when ten years old, a ship was tattooed on the girl's back. She cannot wear a fashionable, low-neck dress because of the spreading sails across the ocean on her back. The senator, therefore, asks for a law imposing a fine of $500 for any one who mars a young woman's beauty.

BOTH MEN IN RIGHT PLACE

At Least, That Is Likely to Be Verdict of Those Who Toiled Over Income-Tax Schedules.

The visitor was being conducted through a state institution for the insane and his guide was an affable young man from the harmless ward whose keen intelligence made the visitor wonder why he was under restraint.

Stopping in front of a padded cell, they looked at a stout, short individual with a forelock draped over one eye and a pose characteristically Napoleonic.

"Thinks he's the Little Corporal, eh?" the visitor asked of the guide.

"Yes; he's had that hallucination for five years."

Across the corridor in another cell was an old man poring over a number of blue prints.

"What's the matter with him?" "Poor chap," laughed the guide; "he thinks that he has invented a submarine-proof ship. The hull of the ship is honeycombed with holes; when the war-head of the torpedo strikes, it goes into one of the holes and is held fast by its sides."

"But," objected the visitor, "suppose the torpedo strikes between the holes?"

"In that case," said the guide as he shook with laughter, "it wouldn't count and the submarine would be entitled to another try."

In the last cell was a middle-aged man at a high desk. He looked up as the others approached and nodded smilingly.

"What's the matter with him?" queried the visitor.

"Him? He's hopeless; he believes that he is an authority on income-tax legislation."

"Ah," said the visitor, "and he isn't?"

"No, indeed!" replied the guide; "I am the only authority."—Kant Slip.

Foch Keen Student of War.

General Foch, like General Joffre, is a home lover and avoids society. He is said to live in a small flat near his office, when not at the front, and to be devoted to his family. The conventions of society bore him. Like the proverbial Englishman, he is fond of taking long walks, and never knows when he is beaten. His saying that "the battle is never lost until its loss is admitted" is famous and indicates not only his military wisdom, but his sane and courageous philosophy. Already a master of strategy before the war, he has not been slow to learn the new lessons of the present conflict; rather, indeed, he has developed added initiative, decision and military audacity.

WOULD BRING BACK OLD COIN

Our Daddies Found Many Uses for Copper Two-cent Pieces, and Its Restoration Is Urged.

The American Newspaper Publishers' association has recommended the return to the two-cent piece. Do you remember the old two-cent coin, with the big figure "2" on it? It was decorated with a wreath and almost everything else that could be crowded onto it.

It was used principally for the children to play with. It was too big for the baby to swallow and large enough to be found when once it was lost. When the Sunday school kids read of the woman in the Bible who had lost a coin and searched the house until she found it, they immediately associated it with the two-cent piece and wondered why there should be any trouble about its recovery.

But it was good old family coin, nevertheless, and would buy two pieces of licorice or one all-day sucker. It was not without its advantages, either, for the Sunday collection. It looked big, anyway, and made a very respectable noise when it was tossed into the plate on top of a pile of other coins.

To have the old two-cent coin with us again would remind us of the good old days and work no hardship on our financial system. So, let us have it—with the big figure "2" on one side, the wreath and the national shield, and everything, just as big as life.—Kansas City Times.

Gas Well Finally "Tamed."

Out in the sagebrush-covered wastes of eastern Washington there has just been tamed a big gas well, and development work on the property is now under way. The flow of gas was discovered three years ago, when a misguided settler drilled for water and had a four-inch pipe blown out of the ground. A year later a passerby threw a lighted match into the gas and for 18 months the well burned day and night, a beacon visible for miles around. A few months ago the old well was capped, the gas used to provide fuel for a modern drilling engine, and an 18-inch pipe has just been sunk into the gas reservoir.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

"I didn't much care about the way Josh's clothes looked down to camp," commented Farmer Cornstossel.

"Hasn't he his regular uniform?"

"Not yet. If they're going to keep him dressed that way in hopes of deceiving the enemy into thinking he's just an obscure peasant or something, what I say is that it's carrying this new kermooing too far!"

PROBABLY SET HIM THINKING

Reply of War Department Official to Slacker's Request Might Almost Be Called Caustic.

The following letter, addressed to a certain branch of the war department, and dated from a town somewhere in the West, arrived in Washington a few days ago:

"Dear Sirs: I am a young man who would like to get into the fray against the kaiser and his hordes. I am twenty-one years of age, of splendid physique, being five feet and ten inches in height. I weigh about 180 pounds, am quite an athlete and a graduate of the local high school. Together with these qualifications, I have had considerable experience in business, having managed for some time various automobile agencies. I am quite familiar with many kinds of automobiles.

"I would like a position in some branch of the war department as a typewriter and stenographer."

The officer to whom this letter came for a reply has seen considerable active service, not only in this war, but in others. He notified his stenographer that he would write a personal answer to the young man who desired war service. A portion of his letter was as follows:

"Young man, your letter has been received in this office, and I am writing you a personal letter. It will be short and to the point. I have a son. He is just your age, height and weight. He has a splendid education and has been considered quite an athlete. You have the advantage of him in business; he has never had any business experience. "My son is in France—where you should be."

Making New Words.

We're going to help the dictionary makers with a couple of suggestions. Here are two words we have thought up without the aid of mechanical appliances or paraphernalia whatever—without even brains.

Piscapalate—A taste for fish; for instance, the fellow has one who loves shad so much that he is willing to spend half an hour taking bones out of his teeth just so to eat one slab of fish.

Strenulst—here is now "strenuity," therefore, why not strenulst, one who strens? The strenulst is one who gets up before any one else and starts in doing a lot of unnecessary things real hard, just to make dust fly. He bores you to death telling you about it, so he should be separated from the common herd.

We'd like to have some more new words. If you've coined any, pass 'em along, please. The language is in danger and needs help!—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

NO newspaper can succeed without advertising, therefore we solicit the patronage of our readers for those who by their advertising help to make this paper possible.

IT MAY BE THAT YOU are among the number who intended to settle for your subscription and who overlooked the last notice requesting all those who are in arrears to make a settlement.

LITERARY FOLK KEEP BUSY

English and American Men of Letters Faithfully "Doing Their Bit" to Help Win War.

Here is some gossip about literary folk as condensed by a New York writer:

"Rudyard Kipling is 'doing his bit' as director of propaganda in England. Phyllis Bottome, author of 'The Dark Tower' and other novels, is now Mrs. Forbes Dennis, wife of an officer in the British army. A one-story adobe shack in Austin, Tex., the home of O. Henry's now famous journalistic venture 'The Rolling Stone,' was recently demolished to make way for modern progress in the shape of a telephone building. Five stories by John Galsworthy, who recently refused the honor of knighthood offered him by the British government, have been published under the title of 'Five Tales.' 'I would rather entrust the moral character of my boy to the camps than to any college or university I know,' says Joseph H. Odell in 'The New Spirit of the New Army,' a recently published book describing the life at the camps and the effects of military training on our young men. 'The Hundred Best Gaps' is the felicitous title Sir James Barrie gave to his letter calling upon authors and book collectors to make one marked gap each in their shelves for the benefit of the British Red Cross. Barrie himself gave the original manuscript of 'The Little Minister.'

The Sap of Spring.

When the sap of spring is bursting the fetters of winter the general human heart beats high. A few of us philosophers receive amid the rich but sober tints of autumn a happiness that we would not exchange for any other season, but we are a minority, and small. The head of one of the most important departments at Washington, who thinks about the processes of mankind, has a theory that makes a regular curve of the relation of the seasons to the appetite for war. As the buds open, every nation thinks it is on the edge of victory. This curve rises for a while, begins to decline in the summer and gets well down in the autumn. The period therefore, when statesmen, if they had decided to make peace, could do it most easily, is from the days of goldenrod and autumn browns to just before the greening of the buds. The story of coal, a tragic story to the poor, helps this curve, but there is in it much of sheer poetry, independent of more solid things.—Norman Hapgood in Leslie's.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

GOOD ECONOMICAL DISHES.

In these days with a desire to have a small portion of meat do double duty, the following will appeal to the thrifty housewife.

Beef and Potato Roll.—Take a pound loaf and put it twice through the meat chopper, add a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of pepper, one egg, and a half pint of cold boiled potatoes finely chopped, form into a roll about six inches long and bake for half an hour, basting it once or twice during the baking. Serve either with tomato or brown sauce. It may be rolled in oiled paper and baked over the paper while cooking.

Where there is a small family a three-pound chicken will serve for several meals. Cook the wing tips and giblets, chopping the giblets when cooked and adding to the broth, this making sufficient gravy to serve with the fowl for two or three meals. Make the gravy by using any sweet fat brown with flour, then add some of the broth with a spoonful or two of the chopped giblets, cook until smooth, change the flavor, using celery salt once, onion or parsley, with a dash of tobacco or Worcestershire and kitchen bouquet.

A serving of the second joints and drumsticks parboiled and the liquid added to the gravy broth then brown the pieces in a little hot fat will make a fine meal with baked or mashed potatoes, then the rough pieces, neck and back in a stew with dumplings and gravy, making a little meat and much dumpling and gravy answer for the meal. Then there will be a little of the breast left which may be used in a few dainty sandwiches or mixed with apple in a salad or finely minced and served in a sauce either of the broth or a white sauce on toast. All the bones carefully saved may be crushed and covered with cold water and will make another cup or two of good broth which may be set away and used after a day or two. A chicken costing 80 cents may thus serve a family of two or three with three or even four good meals, and they need not come in succession so that one tires of the flavor.

Nellie Maxwell

Trench Coats Occupy Fashion's Salient.

Just as we came to the conclusion that there would be no new departure in styles for the midwinter coat, the "trench coat" breezed in and made an instantaneous success with the younger set. Its name bespoke an interest in it and the coat repays this interest. It is only in details of finishing that it differs from many other of the winter's successful models. It is the sort of comfortable, practical affair that commends itself for general wear, to the active young woman who goes everywhere. But it has a style of its own with a snappy military flavor.

Even though it reaches to the shins, the trench coat contrives to be trim looking with its wide flat box plait down the front. The belt, of the material, slips through upturned flaps at each side, which are fastened down with big bone buttons. The deep cuffs, that are of uneven width, overlap at the edges and an important button stands guard on each of these. The collar is of the snuggling variety that has won the devotion of the fashionable. It is immensely becoming and comfortable. This garment may be developed in any of the plain, soft coatings that have made this a most successful coat season.

Content to hear comparison with the trench coat, another popular model presents itself in the picture. It also has several interesting points to be considered with yoke and sleeves cut in one, double collar and huge buttons. The collar of cloth amounts to a small cape and the collar of fur is planned so that it may be brought up about the throat and chin in the approved manner when its wearer decides to cuddle down into it. The deep cuffs and belt are of cloth like the coat, the latter fastened with two of the large buttons, making assurance doubly sure. These two very sensible models probably finish the story of coats for this winter—in a season of excellent styles they play a creditable part.

A Unique Camisole.

White or light-colored Italian silk stockings, worn at the heels or toes, may be used for a "dainty camisole" by removing the feet and cutting the upper parts along the back seam. Use lace three inches wide for the top of the camisole, also to join the two pieces of silk together in the back. Ribbon for shoulder straps, adds to make it very attractive.

The Johns Hopkins University BALTIMORE

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

State Scholarships in Engineering Courses

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS for the Department of Engineering, as well as for the College of Arts and Sciences, will be held in Gilman Hall, Monday-Thursday, September 16-19, 1918, beginning at 9 A. M. each day.

Examinations will also be conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board, Monday-Saturday, June 17-22, in Gilman Hall, beginning at 9 A. M. These examinations are accepted by the University.

APPLICATIONS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS IN THE DEPARTMENT OF ENGINEERING, established under the provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 90, 1912, will now be received. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship, a competitive examination must be taken Friday, September 20, 1918, beginning at 9 A. M. Appointments will be made soon after.

Each Legislative District of Baltimore City, and Each County of the State with the exception of Howard and Worcester Counties, will be entitled to one or more scholarships for the year 1918-1919, in addition to those who have already been assigned. In the two counties mentioned above, all the available scholarships have been awarded.

Under the provisions of the Act of Assembly, the County and City Scholarships in the department of Engineering are awarded only to deserving students whose financial circumstances are such that they are unable to obtain an education in Engineering unless free tuition be granted to them. The scholarships entitle the holder to free tuition, free use of text-books, and exemption from all regular fees. One of the scholarships in each County and each Legislative District of the City carries also the sum of $200. The expense of attendance for those who do not receive scholarships is not greater than at other Maryland institutions.

PYROX

Kills Insects and Prevents Fungus Use It On Fruits, Berries, Vegetables.

Pyrox Increases Yields

It was discovered long ago that fruits and vegetables produced more heavily when sprayed with a material containing a copper fungicide.

Pyrox Is Economical

The fact that PYROX sticks so tenaciously after it is applied adds greatly to its value. Rains do not wash it off and respraying is required only to cover new growth.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF EMMITSBURG SCHOOL.

Delightful Programme Arranged By The Principal.—Certificates Awarded To Four Young Ladies.

The exercises marking the close of the school year were held last Friday evening in the public school building. The Misses Saranna White, Annie Houck, Margaret Hays and Edna Miller were given their certificates by County Superintendent Palmer.

A delightful programme was arranged for the occasion by the Principal, Miss Elizabeth Horner. The audience while rather small was very appreciative. The Rev. Charles Reinewald, D. D., delivered the address and before the last chorus led the audience in three rousing cheers for the soldiers from Gettysburg who attended the exercises. Mrs. Robert Gillelan gave a most interesting reading and the music, furnished by Miss Frailey, Mrs. T. C. Hays, Miss Luella Annan and Miss Eloise Gross, in spite of the heat, made the evening very enjoyable.

Mr. Palmer told the patrons of the school that there was no reason why Emmitsburg should not have an accredited high school. One is to be established in the county before the next school year, and he suggested that a committee of citizens call upon the School Commissioners and press their very worthy claim for some scholastic recognition, and this at their earliest convenience as there are other eager claimants.

IS CITED FOR GALLANTRY

Capt. Henry W. Worthington, Well Known in Emmitsburg Where He Has Relatives and Many Friends Receives Signal Honor.

With the American Army in France, June 2.—"Although wounded, he continued to direct his company and hold his position against the attack of superior enemy forces on the night of April 13," reads the citation of Capt. Henry W. Worthington, of Lancaster, Pa., one of the thirty-eight officers and men of the American Expeditionary Forces who have been cited by their divisional commanders for gallantry.

Captain Worthington, whose wounds were severe, is now in a hospital in France. His men, as are all American soldiers, were new to the European methods of warfare, and were uncertain quantities, as far as American soldiers can be uncertain, but their captain from his cot in the hospital wrote that he was now perfectly satisfied, "they were some fighters." Two platoons and their officers were captured but would not stay captured and returned to their trench driving their former captors ahead of them. As all the officers of the unit were wounded Captain Worthington directed his men for almost six hours after he was wounded, (and one of his wounds was a piece of grenade through his back piercing his kidneys,) repelling the attack, accounting for many dead Germans and a few prisoners, and attending to his own wounded. It was for this gallantry that he was cited.

In his letters home he speaks in a most appreciative manner of the splendid treatment our men are receiving in the hospitals. He expects to be back at work in two months.

TOPPER—ECKENRODE.

One of the prettiest weddings Emmitsburg has ever witnessed was celebrated on Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church when Miss Mary Bernadette Eckenrode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Eckenrode, of this place, became the bride of Mr. James Lester Topper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Topper, also of Emmitsburg.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Faithful and True sung by a special choir. The costume of the bride was a gown of white satin and georgette crepe combined with silver lace. She carried a bouquet of cream roses. Her veil was of tulle entwined with smilax and her only ornament was a necklace worn by her mother on her wedding day.

Miss Mary Eckenrode who was her sister's maid of honor, wore grey crepe de chine and pink georgette crepe with picture hat. She carried a basket of cream roses. The groom and his best man, Mr. Edward Eckenrode, brother of the bride, wore suits of blue.

Mr. Topper had for his ushers, Messrs. Daniel Topper, Cecil C. Rotering, J. Albert Saffer and Robert Burdner.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M., pastor of the bride and groom, who was also the celebrant of the Nuptial High Mass, which followed.

The altars were beautifully decorated by the Misses Anne and Estelle Codori. Laurel and ferns were used in profusion. A special choir rendered the music for the occasion.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, Woodlawn, near Emmitsburg. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents of gold, silver, china, cut glass, linen, etc.

In the afternoon they left on an extended wedding trip. They will make their future home in Baltimore, where the groom is employed.

Those from out of town who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brenner, Miss Rebecca Brenner, Hanover, Pa., Misses Genevieve Staub and Gertrude Lilly, McSherrystown, Pa., Miss Mary Helen Garrity, York, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckenrode, Mrs. Howard Steller, Miss Margaret Eckenrode, Mr. and Mrs. James Spaulding, Miss Annie Eckenrode, Littlestown, Pa., Mr. Henry Eckenrode, Miss Bertha Eckenrode Thurmont, Md., Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Beall, Miss Fannie Yingling, Libertytown, Md., Mr. Francis S. Topper, Princeton, N. J.

Scur Stomach.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion. June 7-1mo Advertisement.

AID FOR PIG CLUB MEMBERS

Increased Membership Will Be Great Help in Increasing Production of Needed Pork.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the most potent ways of increasing the number of hogs is by encouraging more boys and girls to join pig clubs. In the past these clubs have been markedly successful. They have been the means of introducing purebred hogs into many communities and raising the standard of hogs as well as improving the conditions under which they are kept and the care given them. The number of pig clubs in the Northern states on June 30, 1917, totaled 1,037; in the South the number of community clubs is between 2,000 and 2,500, and in almost every club are found members of pig clubs. Although the number is large, it is possible to increase it greatly by forming more clubs in counties where there are agents to direct properly the efforts of the young people. In order to stimulate these activities, the department during the past year has added to its force several pig club specialists, and a number of the agricultural colleges have done likewise. In this work, it is of first importance that proper instructions be given to the members in regard to all phases of swine husbandry so that clubs will be successful in bringing to market a large percentage of the pigs under their care. Clubs should not be organized unless there is ample assurance that sufficient feed will be available to bring the pigs to maturity.

Swine breeders' associations have been active for a number of years in assisting pig club members to secure purebred hogs at reduced prices. This has made it possible for members to obtain good stock with which to lay the foundation for a herd of purebred swine. The result has been the introduction into many communities of desirable breeding stock and the stimulation of more widespread interest in good quality hogs. Swine breeders' associations doubtless will be willing to continue in the future the assistance given to club members in the past.

Bankers in many states have realized the value of pig clubs as a means of materially improving rural conditions and at the same time increasing the production of meat and teaching the members good business methods. Not a few bankers have made it possible for worthy club members to secure pigs on their personal notes. In this way a well-bred pig is obtained through the efforts of a county agent or pig club leader or specialist and a banker. The member is given the opportunity to pay for it from the proceeds of the pig as a meat animal or from the sale of offspring in case of a breeding animal. Often the member enters into a business agreement (with the parents' consent) with the banker and thus secures a pig when otherwise it would have been impossible for the child to have joined the club.

Enthusiastic Pig Club Member With

In other instances the bankers have bought bred gilts to be bred and given them to club members with the understanding that two pigs were to be returned for the original gilt loaned. These pigs in turn are lent to other children. This plan is the so-called endless chain contract. Either plan has resulted in increasing interest in pig clubs with its accompanying expansion in the supply of pork products and the instruction in swine husbandry which is a part of the club work. The banker thus helps to lay a foundation for the prosperity which will be lasting. The money received from the sale of hogs will be expended in further developing the county. Every merchant in the county will profit, the banks will get more deposits, and the farmers will have more money with which further to develop their farms.

Suitable Hay for Horses.

To make hay suitable for horses at hard work alfalfa must be allowed to become rather mature before cutting; in fact, the field should be in full bloom before the mower is started.

Pigs Get Better Start.

Pigs raised by a mature sow get a better start while young and give greater profits than the pigs from a young, immature sow.

Cholera Morbus.

This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Engyear, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief." June 7-1mo.

HOW DRYING WILL CUT HIGH COST OF LIVING

The installation of a dehydrating machine at the War Food Bureau shows that Baltimore is as wide-awake as other great American cities to the need for keeping up the food supply by the prevention of waste. For the next three years at least one-half of our Allies' food must cross the ocean—whether peace comes before then or not. Production has reached almost the highest point possible with the labor available. There is one alternative, to save, to prevent waste. A nation-wide educational campaign is on to rescue millions of pounds of vegetables from rotting, and upon its success depends to a large extent whether or not the United States shall feel the pinch of hunger before the world recovers from its debauch of bloodshed.

While the Sammy battles with the myrmidons of destruction the American housewife must combat the agents of decay. Dehydration is the weapon. The word is Greek—but the process is so simple that its meaning does not need to be Greek to any intelligent woman. "Dehydration" means nothing more than "drying" or getting out the water. It is not a new art; ancient Egyptians and African savages practiced it. But it is an art which we have foolishly allowed to fall into disuse, and have had to pay the penalty of eating tough, old carrots in the winter-time when a little foresight would have given us them young and tender.

"All you need is common sense," declares one Maryland woman who won prizes two years running with the same dried string beans. "Put the vegetables, properly sliced, a few feet above your stove on a wire tray and leave them there till they are thoroughly dried. I then keep mine in a muslin bag till I want to use them—perhaps months afterward. The only advice I offer is to see that they are really dried. Otherwise, the boll weevil and such-like insects may get busy and spoil them."

In Germany there are over two thousand community drier in use, most of them built during the war. They saved the Hun from famine. Gradually, the United States is awakening to the merits of an art which saves storage, saves transportation, and, above all, saves food. The Baltimore plant is one of many recently erected. It can be a help to all and a Godsend to people who live in flats.

The New York dehydrator cost $1,500, including the preparatory machinery for cutting and peeling. It will dry one thousand pounds of fresh material a day at a cost, including wages, of one cent a pound. As a general rule, drying will shrink vegetables five-sixths of their volume without at all altering the cellular structure. A few hours' soaking restores the original flavor, color, form and fragrance. The most popular container is a double-lined paper bag, waxed inside. Canning the fresh produce would cost about twenty-five times as much for containers, while bottling would cost fifty times as much. Cold storage, another means of keeping these foods, will be increasingly costly, as military needs are apt to cause a shortage in the supply of that commodity to civilians.

Dehydration is not a fad; it is a war need. Even in time of peace its use is the acme of common sense, for it will keep the produce of the farmer from rotting away. Thus, it offers the one visible solution to the high cost of living. It insures the producers a market for their crops. It keeps the consumers from being saddled with the cost of shipping and storing millions of gallons of water which they can just as well draw from the kitchen tap a few hours before the cook wishes to use the vegetables, yes, and the eggs and the milk which she had the prudence to buy when they were plentiful and, therefore, cheap.

Whoever can attend the daily demonstrations in the Lexington Building, Baltimore, will save many dollars by the expenditure of a few minutes of time. As a substitute, the literature is recommended which is given out there or in Bulletins 841 and 916, issued by the Department of Agriculture, Washington.

CABBAGE IN CASSEROLE. (Official recipe.)

Take off any withered outside leaves, divide the cabbage into four, cut off the stalk, wash well in salted water. Place in an earthen casserole for choice with one gill of water and one ounce of fat to one medium sized cabbage. Cover and cook quite gently, stirring now and then until tender. Season with pepper and salt and serve very hot in the casserole.

Swiss bakers were compelled to use potatoes in bread. Now their supply of potatoes has been cut off.

German sailors are giving their lives to stop our wheat reaching France. Sacrifice a little of your comfort or convenience to keep the supply on the move.

Make this a record canning and drying year. That is one of the objects of your war garden. And start early. Don't wait until the vegetables become overgrown, old, tough or stringy before you prepare them for storage. Get ready to dehydrate.
