FOLKS ARE GETTING THEIR DANDER UP

Emmitsburgians are beginning to get more than a little disgusted with the apparent neglect of the powers that be in the matter of police protection here in Emmitsburg. . . LOCAL police protection, I mean—to keep law and order 24 hours a day. . . We've a State Trooper and a County Detective, but not a single local enforcer of the law. . . This is a most regrettable situation—one that should be remedied and remedied fast. . . As a matter of fact this is the first time in all the years that I've lived in Emmitsburg that such a situation ever existed. Are our Town Fathers hiding their heads in the ground like the well-known ostrich while all the disturbance is going on in the town around them? Doesn't it make any difference to them that our local young women are absolutely afraid to traverse the streets these days for fear of being insulted by "mashers" and ill-bred fellows? It has LATELY been reported to me that several young ladies from the outskirts of town recently came to town to shop and were accosted by a couple of these smart alecs with a couple remarks that were so pointed and so vile the girls were horrified and actually ran into a local store frightened enough to refuse to go out again. The store owner very kindly drove the girls back to their place of residence in his car. . . Disgraceful. . . This is 1949 in Emmitsburg, NOT Chicago during the gang war days. . . We should have local police protection here and AT ONCE. . . State and County police are not empowered to attend local matters like the ones in question and whether it's in the Town Charter or not makes not the slightest difference. . . It's an old charter—one that was made long before automobiles were zooming around town driven by filthy-tongued young men bent on insulting and frightening women. . . If it's not in the Charter why can't the present Town Council think for themselves as all our past town councils have done and provide the protection that any town should have. . . The Town has no money to pay a local deputy, he says. Fiddlesticks! There's money spent for less important things. . . How about making a survey of needless expenditures and necessities and sorting them out. . . I think it could be arranged, and quite a few of my readers are of the same opinion.

Incidentally, readers, don't be misguided and place the entire blame for this negligence on Burgess Rodgers' shoulders. . . Remember the Burgess is controlled by a board of commissioners and I have it from good authority that a certain member of the board has very definitely shown that he is not interested in the slightest about town protection. . . In fact this same commissioner refused to pay one man who had acted as deputy, the three month's salary due him, saying that Emmitsburg definitely does not need police protection. . . I reiterate, this information was given me by very good authority. . . A fine state of affairs, what?

ALMOST A CENTURY OLD

Are you aware of the fact that next year in 1950 your newspaper will celebrate its hundredth anniversary? 'Sa fact. . . First it was called the "Emmitsburg Star" and was published for 30 years under that name and then the name was changed to The Emmitsburg Chronicle, which it has retained for 70 years. . . A hundred years is a long, long time and believe me that is something for any town to be proud of. . . Indeed your newspaper is not just a newspaper, it's a TRADITION. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stahley, Emmitsburg R. 2, announce the birth of a daughter at the Gettysburg Hospital Sunday afternoon.

VETERANS POST SUPPORTING YOUTH PROGRAM

Plan To Cooperate
With Other Groups
In Aiding Scouts, Etc.

Emmitsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars, meeting last Wednesday evening at the post home here, voted to join with other organizations in the town to develop a youth program for the community.

Members, discussing the problem of the town's young people, the question of backing Boy and Girl Scout troops and similar activities decided to send a committee to meet with other organizations in Emmitsburg and attempt to develop an expanded program of events and activities for the youth of the community. The committee to meet with other groups will be named in the near future by Commander Vernon Keilholtz, post officials reported and the veterans hope to have some sort of activities under way by this summer for the town's youngsters.

Reports presented at the meeting showed that operation of the community ambulance purchased by the post cost $815 during the past year.

Considering Carnival

One hundred members were present with Senior Vice Commander Louis Stoner presiding. It was voted to follow the usual custom of sending gifts to members who are ill.

The possibility of holding another carnival this year was discussed by the post. It was reported that the fire company is planning to hold a carnival July 11 to 16 and any carnival planned by the post will be set at some other date, probably in late summer. No decision was reached in a discussion on whether the post should seek to have a professional carnival come to town under its sponsorship or once again stage a carnival manned and operated entirely by members of the post and the auxiliary.

DEMONSTRATION AGENT IS THURMONT HOMEMAKERS' GUEST

Enlightening Spring
Demonstration Is Given At Home of Mrs. Glenn Gall

The Thurmont Homemakers Club held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Glenn Gall. The session was opened with the president, Mrs. O. Ruth Eyer, presiding.

A highly interesting demonstration on "The New Look For Spring" was conducted by Miss Miriam Leiter, assistant County Home Demonstration Agent. She gave many helpful suggestions on ways to re-style out-of-date garments and hints as regards the making of new fashions. Several of the attending members had brought garments with them and Miss Leiter enlightened the ladies with various ideas for the improvement of the articles.

A recreation period followed the demonstration, during which the ladies indulged in group singing, choosing "God Bless America" as the club's song for February.

Music was played and Valentine games helped amuse the members and guests present.

Thirty-five members and guests attended the affair.

MIXED DOUBLE BOWLING CONTEST SUNDAY

Bowlers from this section are still enjoying the healthful sport at the Emmitsburg Recreation Center. Besides league competition through the week, the management has reserved the alleys on Sunday for mixed doubles contest. Although the vieing for honors in the past tilts has been between more men than women, Mr. Harner urges more women to participate this Sunday and top the maples with the men.

In last week's mixed doubles' game, eight teams rolled, with Ira McClain teamed with Roy Sanders nosing out David Topper and Mr. Deathridge for high honors.

TEACHERS' GROUP IS SEEKING PAY INCREASE

Delegation Appeals
To Education Board
At Monthly Meeting

A general increase in the salaries of Frederick County public school teachers, beginning next September was requested Wednesday by a delegation from the Frederick County Teachers Association which appeared before the Board of Education at its monthly meeting.

The delegation, composed of Harry Frushour, president and principal of Liberty school; Heislery Corum, of Frederick High, and Miss Pauline Van Pelt, of Middletown, asked a $200 a year increase for all teachers not holding masters' degrees and $400 a year for those with masters' degrees. It was estimated there are 20 to 25 teachers with master's degrees in the school system.

The delegation pointed out that Frederick County teachers are paid only the minimum wage required by state law and asserted that probably 85% of the teachers of the state get higher salaries than the teachers in Frederick County.

Members of the committee said the county would be placed in a more favorable position to secure good teachers by raising salaries, claimed morale was lowered here by the fact that the wage scale is under much of the remainder of the state and reported that even some Frederick County students at teacher schools will teach elsewhere unless the scale is increased.

29 Near Retirement

Twenty-nine teachers in the system are approaching the retirement age, it was said, and will soon have to be replaced. It was claimed that most of the neighboring counties have higher wage scales and that Carroll County has promised its teachers an increase.

WEDDINGS

WILEY—SANDERS
A very lovely wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's Catholic Church Saturday morning at 9:00 when Miss Rita Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Sanders, East Main Street, became the bride of John Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Wiley of Metuchen, N. J. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor of the bride, the Rev. Fr. Francis Stauble.

The altar was banked with white snapdragons, carnations and fern with two large vases of snapdragons at each side.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a form-fitting gown of white satin, fashioned with a long train, an off-the-shoulder effect, a net yoke and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil hung from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of white carnations centered with a white gardenia. Her only jewelry was a large cameo pin and earrings to match.

Miss Anna Sanders, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor, and wore a blue satin gown, identically the same in pattern as the bride's gown, a blue shoulderette veil caught by a halo of material matching the dress and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink carnations and blue daisy irises.

The best man was Frank Horn, of Metuchen, N. J., and the ushers were Marshall Sanders, brother of the bride and William Sheekey, of Metuchen, N. J.

The organist was Mrs. Euphemia Rotering and the soloists were Mrs. Joseph Wivell, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Marie Rosensteel. Several violin selections were played by Prof. William S. Sterbinsky accompanied by the organist.

At the conclusion of the mass, the bride accompanied by the bridegroom, proceeded to the altar of the Blessed Mother on which she placed her bouquet and both knelt at the altar while the hymn, "Mother, At Your Feet We're Kneeling" was sung.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the White House Inn. A reception was held after the breakfast at the home of the bride. Guests from Baltimore, Gettysburg, New Jersey, Bonneauville, Taneytown, St. Anthony's and Emmitsburg attended.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mr. "Duke" Kelly, of town, was taken to the Veterans' Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., this week in the VFW Ambulance.

POMONA GRANGE SUPPORTS PARI- MUTUEL BETTING

Pass Resolution
Supporting Measure;
For Bond Issue

Resolutions calling for a referendum on proposed pari-mutuel betting and endorsing a $2,000,000 bond issue for school construction and additions were adopted by Frederick County Pomona Grange in quarterly session at Jefferson last Saturday.

This action on two major county proposals followed prolonged floor discussion by the more than 200 Grangers in attendance. Present were the county's delegation to the State Legislature—Senator Edward D. Storm, and Delegates Jacob R. Ramsburg, Joseph B. Payne, William E. Hauver, and C. Clifford Virts.

The Grange also went on record as opposing the proposed Federal minimum wage increase to 75 cents an hour, and referred to its Legislative Committee for study and its Executive Committee for action House Bill No. 26 regulating zoning on state highways.

The County Pomona's executive committee, at a meeting on Jan. 29, took this action: "We, the Executive Committee of Frederick County Pomona Grange, do recommend to the Legislature of the State of Maryland that the question of legalizing pari-mutuel betting in Frederick County be submitted to a referendum and the notification of said action be forwarded to our State Senator and Frederick County delegation." This report was submitted to the Grange and adopted in the form of a resolution at Saturday's meeting.

Submitted by the Emmitsburg group and signed by its chairman, John L. Baumgardner the following school bond issue resolution was approved by the County Grange:

"That the Pomona Grange of Frederick County go on record as favoring the proposed $2,500,000 Frederick County School Building program and that a copy of the resolution be presented to the County Commissioners."

In this connection, the county Pomona also went on record as favoring the principle that incentive funds from the State to the county for school building, purposes should go to the taxing authorities of the county to be used for school building purposes, or servicing school bonds, rather than to the School Board, since the taxing authority (County Commissioners) is responsible for paying off bonds issued for school building purposes.

The other two resolutions were to officially place the County Pomona on record, especially that opposing the increase of the Federal minimum wage rate of 75c hourly.

The legislative committee is expected to give early consideration to the bill which would vest the State Roads Commission with power to set up a zoning system over highways with traffic counts exceeding 1,000 vehicles per day. This applies to signs, commercial establishments, etc. A subject of considerable controversy, the legislative group is to study the proposal in detail and submit its recommendations to the executive committee for action.

A special committee was designated to study general recommendations by nation-wide dental and public health groups for use of sodium fluoride in treatment of teeth.

ROCKY RIDGE MAN SUCCUMBS TO HEART ATTACK

Well-Known Church
Elder Dies Suddenly
In Frederick Hospital

A heart attack on January 28 proved fatal to Elder Elmer P. Schildt of the Rocky Ridge Church of the Brethren who succumbed Saturday morning at 12:30 o'clock at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Elder Schildt was well-known throughout Maryland and Southern Pennsylvania as the associate general representative for the LeGore Lime Co., a position which he held for 45 years. He was also vice president, director and solicitor for the Carroll County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. since 1928. He operated a large farm at Rocky Ridge specializing in the raising of beef cattle.

Elder Schildt was baptized October 20, 1898, in the Rocky Ridge Church of the Brethren by Elder John S. Weybright. In 1922 he was elected a deacon of the church and four years later was elected to the ministry. He became elder in 1935 and was serving in that capacity at the time of his death. He was also elder in charge of Piney Creek Church of the Brethren, a position held since September 9, 1948, and had also served as elder at the Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren from 1945 until 1948.

A son of the late David and Elizabeth Jones Schildt, he was born in Frederick County and was aged 66 years, five months and five days. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rhoda E. Pfutz Schildt, and the following brothers: James, Rocky Ridge; Charles and Penrose, Thurmont; Edwin and Elvin, Rocky Ridge; and Silas of LeGore.

Funeral services were very largely attended and many beautiful floral emblems were presented. Mrs. John Dubel, Mrs. Richard Dubel, Miss Erma Rice and Rodger Fogle, members of the church choir, sang "Beyond The Sunset."

DR. D. L. BEEGLE TO HEAD LOCAL BASEBALL ASSN.

All Club Officials
Installed At
Sunday's Meeting

At the Firemen's Hall last Sunday afternoon at 2:30, the people of Emmitsburg voted and elected twelve directors of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. who will direct the local ball team's activities this year. More than 35 ardent fans attended.

The nominating committee of five submitted twenty-five nominees and there was one write-in on the ballot. When the voting had been tallied, it showed Dr. D. L. Beegle, Charles Bollinger, Bernard Boyle, John White, Norman Flax, Arthur Elder, Floyd Miller, Carroll Frock, Thomas Gingell, Edward Lingg, George Rosensteel and Edward Stull as being elected.

Leonard Zimmerman, temporary chairman, had charge of the meeting until after the election of directors. Herbert Rogers read last year's treasurer's report which gave a balance of $357.10.

Discussion at the open meeting centered on the playing of Saturday baseball. It was stated by many persons that occasionally a deficit occurred through the playing of Saturday games in the Adams County League, mainly because of the number of contests in a season, in addition to the traveling expense incurred. To offset this, many believed that by joining a Frederick County League to play Saturday ball, it would be less expensive. First the latter league plays fewer games and there would be less mileage.

Virtually, it was assured that Emmitsburg would have a berth in the Penn-Maryland League which plays its games on Sunday. Although the local American Legion didn't have a representative at the open meeting, it was reported that they were desirous of sponsoring a Saturday team for Emmitsburg.

After the open meeting adjourned, the newly-elected directors met. They elected the following officers: president, Dr. D. L. Beegle; vice president, Charles A. Elder; treasurer, John White, and secretary, Edward G. Stull. Since there is so much intricate work connected with this type of organization, it seemed necessary to establish a new office in the executive capacity, that of business manager. To this post, Norman Flax was elected.

One important position remains to be filled. Perhaps it will be decided at the next meeting when a manager will be named. According to reports several good prospects have been mentioned.

The new directors, after studying the by-laws, accepted them, after which the following men were placed on the various committees: chairman of finance, John White, assisted by Charles Bollinger and Floyd Miller; George Rosensteel heads the ground committee, getting assistance from Thomas Gingell, Edward Lingg, C. A. Elder and Bernard Boyle, while Edward Lingg, was named chairman of the transportation committee assisted by Carroll Frock and Bernard Boyle.

The meeting adjourned at five o'clock with the next meeting scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 20 at 1:30 p. m. in the Firemen's Hall.

VETERANS' BONUS IN OTHER STATES

In the commotion aroused over the State Legislature's proposed intention of passing on to the people the question of a veterans' bonus, many on both sides of the controversy have overlooked a significant fact: Voters in four states last November rejected bonus plans.

Why were these bonus projects rejected, and what part did veterans play in their defeat?

It may surprise some groups in Maryland to learn that veterans actively campaigned against the bonus in Missouri and Oregon, while in Nebraska and Wisconsin, the other states refusing to approve payments, a lack of organized support by veterans was noticed.

Of special interest to Maryland legislators should be the reasons assigned by political leaders in the four states for rejection of the proposals, since our lawmakers have failed to reveal the source they hope to tap to finance a $100,000,000 bonus.

Missouri veterans fought the plan there because it would have hiked their sales tax from two to three per cent and left them very largely in the position of paying much of their own bonus.

Nebraska's nebulous measure would have directed the Legislature to "find" the wherewithal, which could have led to almost any kind of tax. Again the veterans and their families were not tempted.

Oregon voted "no" because the proposal there was hazy except on one point—it would have upped taxes. Wisconsin would have paid for its bonus with a three per cent sales tax. So, in all these cases, the veteran would have footed a big share of the bill, and this business of taking it out of one pocket and shoving it into another held little appeal for him.

Such are the facts of rejected bonus proposals in four states, none of which are backward in welfare legislation. We recommend that the Maryland Legislature, veterans and taxpayers consider Oregon, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Missouri.

SMOKED PORK FOR A WINTER DAY

A generous platter of juicy smoked pork slices makes attractive service for a winter dinner. In this case the slices are from the smoked shoulder butt of pork. Roast the shoulder butt as you do any cut of smoked pork (in an uncovered pan in a 300° F. oven), then slice and serve with scalloped corn. Thick orange slices topped with lemon gelatin molds are a colorful and appetizing garnish.

IN A LITTLE OVER TWO YEARS, Kentucky-born, Patricia Neal has pulled herself into the bright lights of Broadway and Hollywood. She worked as a doctor's assistant, hotel dining room cashier and hostess, model and jewelry store clerk while trying to get started, and — after several hard knocks and knocking hard on Broadway doors, made her debut on the stage in 1947 in "Another Part Of The Forest" which netted her five performance awards. With Patricia's looks (and ability) Hollywood couldn't overlook her. "John Loves Mary" was her first film and she has just captured the much desired feminine lead in "The Fountainhead" in which Gary Cooper is starred.

HANDSOME GLENN FORD, one of Hollywood's most popular leading men, has been chosen to portray the sensitive, ambitious and sometimes bitter American author, Nathaniel Hawthorne, as a young man, in "A Valentine for Sophia" heard this month on NBC's Monday "Cavalcade of America." "A Valentine for Sophia" is the story of Hawthorne's early writing career, and his romance with the lovely Sophia Peabody, which almost stopped the wonderful flow of words from his pen. Sophia, however, with her patience and love, managed to turn Hawthorne back to a literary career. Other top names scheduled for "Cavalcade" this month are Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Zachary Scott. Ford is married to dancer Eleanor Powell.

THE "GOLD" exchanging hands this year threatens to out-do the gold rush of 1849 if the cash contests already started are any indication of the trend. One of the biggest among those heard of to date is the "49er Gold Rush Contest" (totaling $102,000) being announced on NBC's Wednesday "Blondie" and Saturday "Dennis Day Show" as well as CBS' Sunday "Our Miss Brooks." Frankly, the odd "49er Gold Rush" $2,000 (a "mere drop") had us puzzled until we found there was a reason. All 4,951 cash prizes include the figure 49, in the amount or number of prizes, in honor of the 100th anniversary of the 1849 gold rush—result, one hundred and TWO thousand dollars!

FIRST TO RECOGNIZE the radio talent of wide-eyed Irene Deasley, now musical mistress of "Grand Slam," was her home town Memphis — and first to develop a brand new idea for a radio show, back in 1946, was Irene herself. Her program was the first on the air to include both studio audience and listeners in a musical quiz contest. And the fan mail she receives!! We've been to her offices and can vouch for a daily deluge. And no wonder, "Grand Slam"—full of fun, music and beautiful prizes — is one of CBS' most popular weekday programs.

SPECULATION is that Walt Disney's trip to New York, this month may be due to television interest.

MUSIC MISTRESS Irene Deasley, now musical mistress of "Grand Slam," was her home town Memphis — and first to develop a brand new idea for a radio show, back in 1946, was Irene herself. Her program was the first on the air to include both studio audience and listeners in a musical quiz contest. And the fan mail she receives!! Harman, Silver Run, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mohny, Taneytown. The pallbearers were Edwin Price, Fred Harman, Larry Harman and Francis Nelson.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

There are to be no corn acreage allotments for 1949. This recent announcement made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture was called to the attention of Maryland farmers by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

He explains that this decision must be announced annually by Feb. 1 under terms of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 as amended. The announcement also states that there will be no corn marketing quotas in effect for the marketing year beginning Oct. 1, 1949, nor will it be necessary to establish a commercial corn-producing area for the year.

The decision that there will be no quotas or acreage allotments for 1949 corn is in line with the declared policy of the Act to insure continuous and staple supplies in the interest of both producers and consumers. The Act includes provisions to insure supplies adequate to meet domestic consumption and export needs "in years of drought, flood, or other adverse conditions," and further directs that consideration be given to maintenance of supplies to meet consumer demand "at prices fair to both producers and consumers."

The difficulties in estimating yields in advance, because of the uncertainties of weather conditions, are fully recognized by department officials. Unusually favorable weather again in 1949, and resulting very high yields, could mean production well above the estimated totals. This might require the imposition of acreage allotments and marketing quotas in 1950. At the same time unfavorable weather could cut production below the estimated level and force reliance on accumulated reserves. Probabilities are based on realistically adjusted averages, and a policy of sustained abundance calls for playing safe on the long side, rather than taking chances of being caught with inadequate reserves in an emergency.

Corn production in 1947 offers a good illustration of the danger involved in any action which might reduce reserves too far. Because of generally adverse weather that year, and although more than 86,000,000 acres were planted, total United States corn production was only 2,384,000,000 bushels. This was almost 800,000,000 bushels short of the presently estimated total disappearance of corn in the 1949-50 marketing year. Feb. 15 is the deadline by which Maryland farmers must report on the practices followed under the 1948 Agricultural Conservation Program. Mr. Blandford reminded farmers that they should visit their agricultural conservation office by Tuesday, the 15th.

He stated that the 1948 conservation payments, either in cash or in lime, fertilizer and seed furnished, will be made to nearly 19,500 Free State farmers. Before payments can be made, farmers must file a statement with their county committee showing the amount of lime and fertilizer used. They must also show how it was used and the extent of which they performed other practices such as terracing, and seeding of cover crops and pastures.

Farmers reporting to the county offices now may also make their statement of the program to be followed during 1949. This will save them an extra trip and will aid the work of the committee.

"The question of public assistance to farmers undertaking conservation practices is widely misunderstood," states Mr. Blandford. To clear up some of the misunderstanding, he quotes the following from a statement by R. S. Trigg, administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration and president of the Commodity Credit Corp.:

"My feelings are strong about this basic conservation problem. . . . We in PMA know that direct Government assistance to farmers—incentive payments to cover part of the out-of-pocket costs—are absolutely essential if adequate national conservation is to be achieved before it is too late. Conservation research is important; high technical standards are a 'must' in any sound program; education and demonstration will provide the needed background of understanding; but without financial assistance—to stimulate immediate action and provide the incentive for a great majority of our farmers to conserve now—the job just won't be done 'in our time.' There is so much at stake here, both for our farmers and for the Nation as a whole, that our Government and Congressional leaders, and the public as well, must be given a full understanding of the urgent need."

FREDERICKTONIAN IS SUICIDE VICTIM

His whereabouts unknown since he left home Saturday morning, the lifeless body of Lester Byron Nicodemus 70, well-known Frederick merchant, was found submerged in about 30 feet of water in Spahr's lime quarry, about 2 miles north of Lewistown Sunday afternoon. The discovery followed an intensive search by State Police. An official verdict of suicide by the county medical examiner was announced by State's Attorney Edwin F. Nikirk. Ill-health was apparently the motive, Mr. Nikirk stated.

Mr. Nicodemus conducted an electrical and household appliance business in Frederick.

During the search Sergeant W. K. May, State Police, discovered the abandoned pickup truck used by Mr. Nicodemus in his business. Surmising that a search of the nearby water-filled quarry would be required, Sgt. May radioed the barracks for additional help. Within a half-hour, the body was recovered lying in the water, close to the bank, and beneath a coating of ice which, officers said, had apparently been shattered with a board by Mr. Nicodemus before he took the fatal plunge. The body was recovered with grappling hooks on the first attempt made by Trooper Charles D. McLane.

As a young man, Mr. Nicodemus was engaged in the wholesale business in Piedmont, W. Va. In 1907, he became divisional manager in Baltimore for the McCormick Spice and Tea Company. Later, he entered the farm implement business at Graceham, Frederick County. In 1925 he went to Frederick where he established his business as the Frederick Home Appliance Store, but usually referred to as the L. B. Nicodemus Appliance Store" and has since operated successfully.

A life-long Methodist, he has for some 21 years been a devout member of Calvary Methodist Church Frederick and the Leaders Bible Class.

Mr. Nicodemus was born near New Windsor, son of the late Morgan M., and Ellen Thomas Nicodemus, both of Frederick County. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Hoffman Nicodemus; a daughter, Mrs. Lloyd M. Freeze, at home; a granddaughter, Jeannette Key Freeze; two sisters, Mrs. Charles E. Stocksdale and Miss Mabel Nicodemus, both of Thurmont.

A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon followed by interment in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Frederick.

ACT OF DESPERATION

(To His Eminence Josef Cardinal Mindszenty)

By JACK LORING

Desperation and limit of thought go hand

In hand, the act is the consequence of the other.

And in that enslaved domain, unhappy land

Behind the curtain, evidence that another

Tyrant sullenly nears the end of the road

Becomes profoundly clear. 'Tis sorry pass

In the Kremlin, wit's end; as mounting frustrations goad

The oppressors to the ruinous act, alas!

For them, prelude to their undoing. For when

The godless, prone to rashness, reach out high

For a Prince of the Church, despot and minions then

O'erleap themselves beyond redoning. Awry

In heart and mind and soul, such desecration

But cries to a mindful God for castigation.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB CREATES DEPARTMENT OF TRAFFIC SAFETY TO STUDY AUTO ACCIDENTS

Basic research into the many unknown causes of traffic accidents and intensive concentration on the human factor will be among the major objectives of the newly-created AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety.

The short-range plan of the Foundation, Mr. Leonard E. Kolmer, general manager of the Automobile Club of Maryland, said, "is to raise a substantial fund through contributions from within and from without the AAA to start during 1949 a highly specialized four-year program."

The general manager of the club stressed several features of the new set-up. He pointed out that it would be entirely separated from the AAA from the standpoint of government; that its funds would be used in the intensification of established activities and in the launching of new ones, and that current safety programs of the AAA and affiliated clubs would continue their present activities to the full extent of their resources.

"Too much of our accident-prevention work at the present time is based on guesswork and hunches," said Mr. Kolmer. "Accordingly, down-to-earth and fundamental research into causes of accidents will be a primary goal of the Foundation. There is particular need for studies of the factors contributing to crashes, including the physical and psychological causes. Other matters on which basic information is vitally needed include: vision and night driving; the most effective measures for influencing driver behavior; improved driver licensing standards and methods; best driver training methods and testing devices, and the relationship of vehicle condition to accidents.

"The Foundation also will give particular attention to the problem of adult behavior in traffic. Better traffic education of adults is badly needed, but such educational programs cannot be fully effective until a great deal more has been learned about the nature of and the reasons-for, the types of traffic errors that lead to accidents.

"A highly important objective of the Foundation is to work toward institution of driver education and training programs in all of the nation's 26,000 high schools. Studies show that properly-trained drivers have only half as many accidents as drivers without such training, but at the present time less than one-sixth of the students graduating from high schools receive behind-the-wheel training.

"Expansion of safety education in the grade schools together with a tripling in the strength of the school safety patrols—now 350,000 strong—are other important goals in the Foundation's program. The pedestrian problem, which accounts for 2 out of every 3 traffic fatalities in urban areas, also will be given major attention."

CLAIMS YOUTHS AS WELL AS ADULTS

Although tuberculosis is primarily a disease of adults, nearly 100 children under five years of age die of it annually.

Many people believe that pulmonary tuberculosis, or TB of the lungs, is the rarest type among small children. Yet of the total number of deaths from tuberculosis in the pre-school age group, more than a third are caused directly by the pulmonary form.

A few decades ago, many young children suffered from tuberculosis of the joints and bones, a form of the disease that wasn't always fatal, but that disfigured and crippled its victims often for life.

Until very recently, when military tuberculosis or tuberculous meningitis struck, it was almost invariably fatal. Today, the drug streptomycin is being used with some success in treating these two types of tuberculosis.

Babies are not born with tuberculosis, and the small child who gets it contracts it from his parents or from others with whom he comes in contact.

We all want to protect our children from illness and disease. Any adult would be horrified at the suggestion that he might be giving some child tuberculosis germs. But people can be spreading the disease without even knowing that they are doing so.

Every adult should have a periodic chest X-ray as well as a physical examination, to protect his own health, the health of the community, and the health of the children with whom he comes in contact.

SECURITY OF NURSE NOW ASSURED

Special services to students who wish to enter the nursing profession were offered yesterday when Miss M. Ruth Moubray, executive secretary of the Maryland State Nurses' Assn., announced that the organization is prepared to give information on all nursing schools, their requirements and advantages.

Meanwhile, Miss Moubray urged all registered nurses in the State to fill out their questionnaires and send them in immediately. The questionnaires were sent out by the Association in cooperation with the National Security Board which is making a nationwide inventory of nurses to ascertain the existing and potential nursing personnel for both peacetime and national emergency.

The oil, skin, bones and liquid from canned fish are high in food value and should be used. The bones are soft enough to eat and the oil and liquid may be used to make cream sauce.

SCHENLEY REPORT COMPARES FAVORABLY

How many dependents are supported by today's (typical) American breadwinner? This question is especially timely as lines form at income tax windows of the nation.

Schenley Industries, Inc., which operates the Joseph S. Finch and Company distillery here and Melrose and Company, Inc. at Baltimore, revealed today in its annual census of some 13,000 workers that the average Schenley wage-earner has 1.44 dependents.

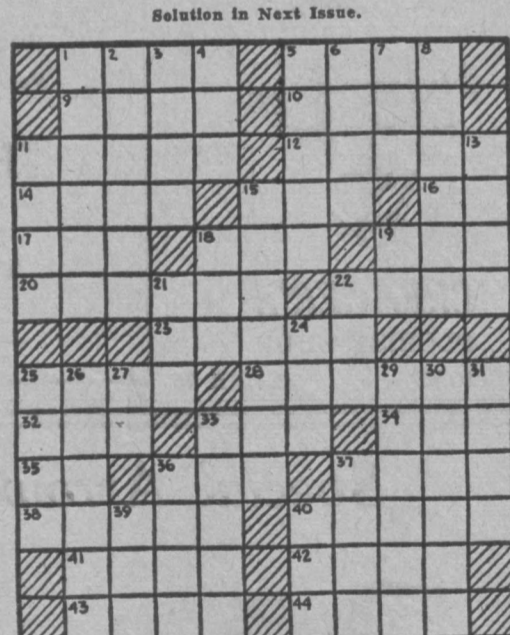

The Schenley census also revealed that the average length of service of all employees was five years, 11 months. The average amount of life insurance protection afforded each employee covered under the Schenley retirement and benefit plan was $7,062.

OVER 13 MILLION PEOPLE SHARE SAVINGS

A year-end statement released this week by William J. Lanahan, manager of the Hagerstown field office of the Social Security Administration reveals that approximately 13,200,000 wage and salary earners in the United States have now attained lifetime insurance protection for themselves and their families under the Federal old age and survivors insurance program.

Permanently insured status has come about through completion of a required number of years of work in jobs covered by the Social Security Act, Mr. Lanahan said, explaining that it does not mean that the retirement or survivor benefit amounts are not subject to change.

The Social Security Administration also estimates that at the end of 1948 almost 78,700,000 had some wages credited towards old age and survivors insurance benefits, an increase of 2,000,000 persons over the number reported at the end of 1947.

The Hagerstown field office, located at 74 W. Washington St., still has a problem from the fact that old age and survivors insurance benefits are being lost because of delayed filing of claims. Mr. Lanahan stated, "Many persons are still unaware that benefits are payable only if they are claimed and that back payments cannot be made for more than three months before the date of application."

Look for more information in 1949 seed catalogs. Federal and state vegetable men are continually urging seed companies to include data on which varieties are the choice for freezing, canning, home gardens or shipping, for example. Some catalogs may even indicate some of the limitations of certain varieties.

GOOD LAYERS FOUND CHEAPER TO FEED

The faster your laying flock fills a case of eggs, the less feed and more profit you'll have in every case.

A flock of 100 hens that is in 40% production will consume about 26 pounds of feed daily. A flock of the same size that is in 70% production eats about 32 pounds. The high producers lay nearly twice as many eggs while consuming less than 20% more feed.

It is apparent that a good laying hen, while she eats more than her slow-laying sister, is more economical because she requires less feed to lay each egg. The poultryman's aim should be to keep consumption high, thus encouraging high egg production.

Water is important. An egg is about 65% water, so the hen that is unable to get enough water to drink cannot lay as often as it would otherwise. Keep water before the hens at all times, take the chill off the water, and make sure there is enough space at the waterers so that none of the birds are crowded away.

NEWLY-WEDS URGED TO CHART COURSE

Young married couples stand a better chance of making future dreams come true if they chart a course for their dollars, according to a home management specialist. Make the best use of your income by following these six steps in planning a family money management program:

- 1-List short and long time goals which are obtainable both now and in the future (such as kitchen equipment and home ownership). 2-Determine your present financial situation, and how your income and resources were used last year. 3-Write down fixed annual expenses (such as payments on a home, insurance, taxes, and church donations). 4-Write down the estimated annual expenses of all other major items, (such as food, clothing, operating costs, and recreation). 5-Outline the infrequent expenses and savings for the next seven years, deciding the sequence in which to buy large items so that the goals will be reached at the same time these things are most needed. 6-Check the estimated annual expenses with the estimated income, then refigure the expenses so that they will balance with the latter.

Keeping a family account book for one year will give exact costs and greatly aid in laying a good foundation for future buying and saving decisions.

18-YEAR-OLD YOUTH FACES LARCENY CHARGE

An 18-year-old youth of near Taneytown charged with larcenies from a relative's garage; a fighting driver, booked for three offenses and a man charged with assault with a deadly weapon, were lodged in jail at Westminster over the week-end, for hearings this week. All of the trio have addresses of Taneytown Route 1.

Waiting Station Blown Up

Another case involves four juvenile offenders who are alleged to have blown up a school bus waiting station with a stick of dynamite they found Saturday. No one was hurt. A tag number led to information being secured by Trooper J. S. Simmons. The chief judge of the Circuit Court for Carroll County has taken this matter under consideration.

State Trooper Poteet, Saturday obtained a confession from Jennings V. Frock, Jr., that the youth had stolen more than $100 at various times since November, from the till of his uncle, Herman B. Keefe, service station on

York Street, Taneytown. Driver Arrested

Raymond William Schildt, 43, was arrested Friday night about 11 o'clock in Keymar by Officer Poteet who charged drunken and reckless driving. Schildt became belligerent and force had to be resorted to to subdue him.

Following a stabbing at Close's Tavern near Union Bridge, Saturday, Harold Edward Stutphen, 38, formerly of Tennessee, now Route 1, Taneytown, was arrested by Trooper Markle charging assault with a deadly weapon.

The tavern proprietor called the State Police when Cecil Thompson, Silver Rock, was stabbed in the stomach, allegedly by Stutphen wielding a pocket knife.

"Oh, about 15 cents," said the physician.

The Other Half

The former United States Senator James E. Watson, recalling his days as a struggling lawyer, related an amusing story about one of his first cases. His client was a rambunctious old Irish woman whose unpredictable and irascible actions bedeviled not only the august court, but her own sweating attorney as well.

The old lady had only one lawyer, while the opposition had two, an advantage which seemed to weigh exceedingly heavy on her mind. Watson was not greatly concerned about the outcome, and sought to reassure his client; but without avail.

"Mary," he finally demanded, "what on earth do you want another lawyer for?"

"Faith, and you have the nerve to ask me that!" she shrieked in tones which arrested the attention of the court and spectators alike. "Well, you see, on their side when wan is talkin' the other wan is a-thinkin', while on our side when yez are talkin' there's no wan a-thinkin'!"

He's All Wet

An officer asked a tough "old army" sergeant to look after a plot of grass in front of the mess hall. The sergeant promptly appointed a private to water the plot each afternoon.

One day, during a terrific thunderstorm, the sergeant stormed into the barracks and caught the private doing bunk fatigue.

"It's 3 o'clock," roared the sergeant, "and you're supposed to be out there watering the grass!"
"Eut sergeant," the private pleaded, "look at the thunder-storm."

"That's no excuse," the sergeant bellowed. "Haven't you got a rain-coat?"

TRUTH COMES TO LIGHT

She: "You look very downcast."
He: "Yes, my wife has been away for six weeks, and she's just come back."

She: "And does that make you so unhappy?"

He: "Well, I told her I spent all my evenings at home—and today the light bill came. It's for 50 cents."

SUPERSALESMAN

Businessman: "What do you do with all those pictures you paint?"
Artist: "I sell them, sir."

Businessman: "Well, name your terms, my man. I've been looking for a man like you for years."

Famous Tenant

In the history class of a New York school the teacher was discussing the life of George Washington. She called the attention of the children to a picture of Mount Vernon in their history books.

"That," she said, "is the house in which George Washington lived."

One of the boys looked at the teacher questioningly.

"What floor?" he asked.

Asphalt floors in poultry houses cost about one-third that of concrete and are very durable and moisture proof.

NOTED EDUCATOR WAS GUEST SPEAKER AT PTA MEETING

I. Malcolm Stuart Addressed Large Gathering Tuesday Night Here

The Emmitsburg PTA met in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening with the regular officers in charge. After a short business meeting, Mr. Ian Malcolm Stuart—director of guidance—Mercersburg Academy—was introduced and spoke to an appreciative audience.

Mr. Stuart is a well-rounded educator and athlete, who is very highly recommended. He is the only son of the late W. H. Stuart who was land commissioner of Ireland from 1911 to 1921. He was educated at Malcolm College and holds degrees from Trinity College, Dublin University, B. A. in 1924 and M. A. in 1929, M. R. S. T. in 1931 (Member of Royal Society of Teachers).

Mr. Stuart's experience as a teacher has been varied, being master of St. Paul's School, London; master of Harrow School; joint principal, Marcy's, London; and member of senate Belfast University among others.

Included among his publications are Matriculation History of England, Scenes Selected from Shakespeare, Textbook on Rugby Football, Reminiscences of a Schoolboy.

As a title for his speech Tuesday, Mr. Stuart selected "Irish Stew" or a little bit of everything. One thing he suggested was a Declaration of Educational Rights in which we teach the great truths of all ages. We should be progressive also, but be like an anchored ship with long chains so that we may always return to the fundamentals.

The goal of education is to produce character and in order to do so, children should be happy but should learn to know the purpose of work and its values. Home is an important place to learn these values, too. A child often knows how much a thing cost but not its value. Education should prepare for a life of service because when not giving, life isn't worth living.

Other telling statements made were: "Life is a fight between ideas and ideals but both must be present. The child should be taught to discriminate between real success or failure. Conscience should be aroused and developed for there is too much apathy on the part of citizens over filthy films, literature, and so on. "Education should be for the masses but not mass education. One way for us to obtain this is to hire more teachers at twice as much pay with half as many members in the classes.

"One of the most important professions today is teaching. Youth should be taught how to alter human nature for the test of education is what kind of people are produced. Pride in ancestry is praiseworthy but not to be carried so far as to be boastful."

Another important point was the statement that "Charity begins at Home," by which he meant that we should organize our Democracy so that no Communist could say anything about it or be able to find an opportunity for infiltration.

His speech was rounded out by saying that women are the greatest factor in the world because they control the tone of the nation. They are the power behind the throne. The speech was both full of meaning and helpful to everyone. We have Sam Hays to thank for getting us such an outstanding speaker.

The Noon Meal The Emmitsburg High School has the facilities for serving the noon meal, a carefully planned lunch, which is a valuable addition to the program of the whole school. It not only contributes an important proportion of the child's daily food intake, but also serves as a laboratory for many worthwhile experiences with food. The children are provided with a ready-made opportunity for practicing food selection and an ideal opportunity to introduce them to new and interesting food.

A great many children bring their lunches to school. These, as well as those who buy lunches in the school lunch room, are carefully supervised by teachers. Often a hot dish or hot drink might be taken with the cold lunch to good advantage. Menus are sent out with meals typed for two weeks, so there is ample time for the menu for the whole meal to be well co-ordinated.

SUBORDINATE GRANGE MEETING IS HELD

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Subordinate Grange No. 407 was held Wednesday in the Emmitsburg High School auditorium with a fair attendance.

Brother and Sister Howard Quinn of New Market, were guests at this meeting. Brother Quinn asked help from the Emmitsburg Grangers to aid the officers of the Taneytown Grange to get organized.

Reports were given by the delegates that attended the Leaders' Training Meeting at the University of Maryland. A motion was made that during the next lecture hour penny bingo will be played. Each member was asked to bring a prize valued at about a quarter.

A motion was made and carried that a letter be sent to the State Roads Commission asking what action, if any, has been taken in regards to a letter sent concerning the road from Four Points to Toll Gate Hill.

The meeting was turned over to the new 1949 Lecturer Brother Morris A. Zentz. A very special program was rendered consisting of a one-act play by three girls. Brother McDonnell gave a piano recital and conducted group singing.

EHS BOYS' BASKET TEAM NO MATCH FOR FREDERICK

Frederick High School out-classed Emmitsburg's court representation Monday afternoon by a 67-20 score, in a county secolastic league contest played here. After piling up a 20-2 lead in the first period, the Frederick Cadets used the varsity sparingly the rest of the game.

"The way to a man's heart —"
By NANCY COOK

Alice Faye, who co-stars with her famous husband on NBC's "Phil Harris-Alice Faye Show" is a mighty busy lady on Sunday, the day of their broadcast. For the Harris like to entertain, and they often bring home friends for a Sunday night snack after the show. Alice's pancakes bring so many requests for a repeat performance, we urged her to share her secret with us and with you. We tried the pancakes on our man the other night and now he is telling all his friends at the office that the little woman is a "star" cook.

Alice Faye

STAR PANCAKES
Mix one-half cup of flour and three fourths cup of milk until smooth. Add a pinch of salt and the yolks of four eggs. Fold in the whites of the four eggs which have been beaten stiff. Pour into well greased very hot skillet, allowing about three tablespoonsful to each pancake. When slightly brown, flip-over and put into hot oven four minutes. Serve with jelly, jam or syrup.

I have a new salmon "Teaser" which you who like to snack it with your evening guests will want to present socially as soon as you have a chance. It's a thrifty, easy-to-fix snack, but with a thrift so toothsome that the family may even suspect you of over-stepping the food budget.

SALMON SNACK
Flake an 8-ounce can of pink salmon (it's a little cheaper but just as tasty as the red) and combine it with 2 tablespoons each of chopped pitted ripe olives and green olives, 3 tablespoons of mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Use as a filling for celery sticks, or serve on crackers.

Jams and jellies satisfy eager appetites and "dress up" even the most ordinary meal or snack. Until the other day I relied entirely upon the numerous sweet spreads you find in the stores. It never occurred to me to put up my own, for my early memories of mother's jam making left the impression that it was a rather tedious process. Then I came across a recipe using powdered fruit pectin and quick-frozen strawberries. It takes a few minutes to make about three 6-ounce glasses of the most delicious rich-flavored jam you ever tasted.

HOME MADE STRAWBERRY JAM
Thaw a box (1 pound) of quick-frozen sweetened sliced strawberries as directed on the package. Place in large saucepan. Measure 1/2 cups of sugar and set aside. Put saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add 3 tablespoons of powdered fruit pectin (mix contents of package thoroughly before measuring). Stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Add sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, and pour into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Cooking tip from Penny Singleton, better known as "Blondie" on NBC Wed. nights . . . next time you open a can of chicken soup, try adding some fresh cooked or canned spinach. Looks pretty . . . tastes good.

Cut out these "Taste Teasers" - paste on card for recipe file.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLASS CARRIES ON

The boys of the eleventh, tenth and ninth grades are doing a wonderful job of helping our school. For the past few weeks, ever since Mr. Lawyer, our Industrial Arts teacher, was taken ill, they have been working. Directed by Mr. Jones, the boys are making a new ping-pong table, which compared with the old one, is a great improvement. They are repairing the see-saws and painting them. They, also, are making platforms for the shower rooms, and putting up new stands to hold the see-saws. They are going to make an outside basketball court for the children of the lower grades. This is a wonderful project for all the boys and they like it very much.

POTOMAC EDISON CO. SPONSORS FARMERS MEETING

Third Annual Meeting Scheduled in Hagerstown The third annual "Farmers' Meeting" is scheduled to be held in Franklin Court Auditorium, Hagerstown, Md., beginning at 9:30 a. m. on Friday, Feb. 25. It is expected to attract an attendance of between 400 and 500 farmers from this county and neighboring counties of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia.

The program for this year's meeting has again been arranged by a committee of farmers from the counties of this four-state area, assisted by local county agents and the farm supervisor for the Potomac Edison System. As a result of their combined thinking, a four-topic schedule has been developed which it is believed will be of unusual interest to all farmers.

The four topics to be discussed will be handled by exceptionally well-qualified speakers and further amplified by panels of local farmers selected for their familiarity with the subjects. First subject slated for coverage is "The Farm Economic Outlook." This will be handled by Professor Corbett of the University of Maryland.

Professor Corbett will be followed by James Stere of C. A. McDade Company of Pittsburgh, and a former member of the staff of the West Penn Power Company. Mr. Stere will cover "Dairy and Poultry Barn Ventilation." He is considered the leading man in this field in the United States. Another University of Maryland representative, Mr. John Magruder, will discuss "Trends and Efficiency in Farm Machinery" as the third program topic.

Final speakers of the day will be Mr. Nolan Mitchell of Lansing, Mich. and Mr. George Burkhardt of the University of Maryland who will jointly discuss "Drying Grain With and Without Heat."

As was the case in last year's highly successful and well attended meeting the program topics have been selected on the basis of the expressed desires of farmers in this area and the committee has made every effort to obtain the best qualified people to discuss the respective subjects. The complete and detailed program of the meeting will be available to any farmer in this area the first of next week at his county agent's office or at any office of the Potomac Edison Company.
