Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

On the whole the people of Emmitsburg are a pretty regular civilized group, but there are a certain few who definitely belong in the category of uncivilized, vindictive and ignorant backwoodsmen. You must know, I'm sure that only persons belonging to this group could have participated in the recent theft and damaging of several of the new parking meters which had been installed not 24 hours earlier.

We're well aware that when such a project as the installation of meters is introduced in a town, there are always two groups of citizens—those FOR the project, and those against. Someone has to be unhappy—that's just LIFE . . . But, folks, there's such a thing as being a good loser, and since you know the parking meters are to be given a trial, why not accept it like a good sport and ride along with the Town Council? The episode of stealing parking meters from their posts was a foolishly childish thing to do. What did those of you who did it hope to gain? The meters are still going in whether you like it or not. The culprits let themselves wide open for legal prosecution, as well as disgusted criticism from decent folks, so I fail to see where you gained a thing . . .

And another thing—Certain residents made very unpleasant scenes when the workers started installation in front of their respective properties. Tsskk! Tssk—Come now, you're big boys and girls now. Why not act like it. You're supposed to be the staunch defenders of the Town, so why not behave like the good citizens you've always been heretofore? C'mon now, let's give the meters a chance, whatt'ya say

That enthusiasm and anticipation are running high here as far as baseball is concerned was evidenced Sunday by the spectacular turnout of both spectators and players at Sunday's regular practice session. Certainly there's enough material to pick a first string and a second string team from . . . There's even a profusion of batboys this year . . . The box seats have been built, the visiting team's dugout is nearing completion, the fellas' muscles are relaxing (though they're still causing trouble to a great number of the boys) and Manager Bubrick is just about satisfied that his gang is ready for a fray with a visiting team . . . At any rate, baseball lovers, it won't be long now . . .

I understand a certain crew of local Casanovas attended a burlesque show in Baltimore recently . . . Naughty, naughty . . . I also understand that one of them actually FELL ASLEEP during the performance . . . Would you say that that would stamp this fella as being sleepy, blase' or just not interested?

COURT UPHOLDS RIGHT TO PADDLE SCHOOL PUPIL

The right of a school principal to paddle a pupil was upheld by Magistrate E. G. Miller.

A question came before Miller when the parents of 10-year-old Harold Tracy swore out warrants against Weldon F. Wetzel, principal of the Leitersburg School.

Wetzel admitted he had punished the boy, but said he did it after teachers complained of young Tracy's actions.

Magistrate Miller said he found regulations of the State Board of Education permitting a principal to paddle a pupil and sets no standards on the degree of punishment.

Wetzel, however, was reprimanded by Magistrate Miller, who said he used too heavy a paddle.

Mrs. Sara Pappas, housewife, of Birmingham, Alabama, had breast cancer—in 1940.

George McCoog, schoolboy, of Paterson, New Jersey, had cancer of the thigh—in 1938.

Mrs. George Hall, housewife, of Havre, Montana, had skin cancer—in 1938.

Verna Dunca, schoolgirl, of La Grange, Georgia, had cancer of the neck—in 1937.

Living Proof—Cancer Can Be Cured

Emmitsburg's hard-hitting cancer committee went into their second week of the drive to raise money to fight this deadly malady.

Chairman of the drive, Dr. D. L. Beegle, announced the appointment of door-to-door canvassers as the drive gained momentum in its second week. He announced the following local ladies and gentlemen assisting in the drive: Mrs. Donald Stoner, Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz, Mrs. Meryl F. Keilholtz, Mrs. Anna Bentz, Mrs. Andrew Eyster, Mrs. B. P. Ogle, Miss Mary Theresa Houck, Mrs. Norman Flax, Mrs. Herbert Rogger, Mrs. B. F. Eckenrode, Mrs. Robert Fitez, Mrs. Thornton Rodgers, Mrs. Richard Rosensteel, Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Mrs. Roy Sanders, Mrs. Clarence Hahn, Mrs. Harry S. Boyle, Mr. John Roddy Jr., and C. A. Elder.

The committee informed the public that a detection center has been established at Winchester Hall in Frederick and that it is for the public's use. The institution is operated on the money derived from the cancer drive each year. There are other cancer detection stations operated throughout the state also maintained by this fund.

Dr. Beegle stated that the drive was progressing satisfactorily and that he not only believed the quota will be met, but from all indications, will be surpassed.

Anyone wishing to contribute can do so by calling any of the above-mentioned solicitors or by placing his or her donation in the coin deposit boxes in many of the local stores.

It was announced that most of the money raised this year will be spent in the state in which it is collected. Only a small portion of the funds will be dispersed on a national scale.

FIELD AGENT'S SERVICE AVAILABLE FOR STATE TAXES

Deadline Is Nearing For Annual Filing; Office Located in Frederick

Sidney Watters, field representative in the income tax division of the State Comptroller's office, is in Frederick for his annual visitation to render any desired aid to taxpayers in making out their State income tax forms. As in the past, his quarters are established in the large front office on the second floor of the Court House.

If the past can be taken as a criterion, providing desired aid to taxpayers is going to be more than a one-man job, if the tax deadline is to be met. Frederick County is the second largest in the state and even on the first day's operations overtime was necessary to render the desired service.

Regular office hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. In most instances, however, the tax adviser does not get away until much later. No one is left in the lurch.

The office is not open tomorrow. And another thing—April 15, the customary deadline, happens to fall today and is a holiday. In view of this, the Comptroller's representative will be in Frederick until Monday evening, he said.

In commenting upon the state tax return service, one prominent court house official glanced at the first-day waiting group last Friday and observed that Frederick should be given service comparable to that in Washington and Montgomery counties and many of those on the Eastern Shore, where more than one representative from the Comptroller's office is on duty during the pre-deadline period.

"It's more than a one-man job," he said.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES WISHING TO FILE

The Mayor and Commissioners of Emmitsburg announce that all those wishing to file their applications for offices in the Town election must have their notice of intention in the hands of the Commissioners 10 days prior to the day of the election, which this year will occur May 2.

The Mayorship and one commissioner will be elected this year.

Also another registration for those wishing to vote in the municipal election will be held Tuesday, April 19, from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m. in the Firemen's Hall. This will be the last registration before the election.

What's Your Name?

By JULES CHRISTIAN

An out-of-town request has been received about the name of Martin. In response to this inquiry today's column will be given to the origin and meaning of this name.

MARTIN

This is one of the most honored and respected names of history. In almost every country, from the ancient day until now, Martin has been one among the most highly esteemed of all names.

In origin the name comes from the Bible. One of the surprising facts about Emmitsburg family names is the large number derive from the Scriptures. This is sufficient to justify, as far as Emmitsburg is concerned, another special source of family names.

Five sources have already been mentioned from which local names have come, namely (1) Worthies of the past, (2) Place of resident, (3) Trade followed, (4) Given name of father or mother, (5) and some peculiar personal characteristic. To these then is hereby added one other source for Emmitsburg. (6) That is, family names derived from the Bible.

BIBLICAL NAMES

The particular fact that made Bible names popular was the translation of the Scriptures into the language of the common people in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. For a long time thereafter, it was popular for parents to name their children after characters found in the Bible. And when the time came to select family names, numerous people chose to call themselves after names found in the Bible. One of these was Martin.

ST. MARK

Martin, as a name, goes back to St. Markos, commonly called St. Mark, the writer of the second Gospel. The name, however, did not originate with St. Mark. He derived it from one of the most honored families of Rome. That was Marcus. No family in the Roman Empire was held in higher regard. The Marcus family, in turn, derived the name from Mars the Roman God of war, and regarded as the father and founder of the Roman Empire.

Therefore, when the parents of St. Mark chose a name for their son, they selected the most honored name of the Roman World. They named him Markos or Mark. Mighty Warrior. St. Mark, however, transformed the meaning of the name into that of a Great Spiritual Warrior.

For that reason names derived therefrom became among the most popular in Christian tradition. Parents named their daughters after St. Mark and called them by the feminine form of the word such as Marcia, or Martina, etc. As the Christian Faith spread from country to country, the name became one of the most popular also for boys. Martin of Tours, the Roman soldier, converted the Gauls and became the Patron Saint of France. St. Martin was also a favorite saint of England where over 170 churches are dedicated to him. Also the name of birds such as Martin and Martlet, as well as the name of the month of March, are derived from this source.

FAMILY NAME OF MARTIN

When the institution of surnames eventually came into being and people had to group themselves together under family names, it was natural that Martin, having been so popular as a personal name in Christian tradition should become a choice family name. In many countries numerous families chose the name themselves after St. Mark and called themselves Martin. Originally it meant Son of Mars, a mighty warrior. Through St. Mark it came to mean Son of St. Mark, the spiritual warrior.

Oremus Hoc Paschate

Dear Lord, Who didst partake of lowly man's Existence, suffer and die that we might copy Thy glorious resurrection, and in remodeled Clay Thy sovereignty reattest before

All men assembled, give us strength of flesh To match the spirit's, in manner like Thou gavest Thy servant Paul; so that in a benighted, Worsening world we may bend the fragile knee

To onslaught neither from without nor from Within, should either trial o'ertake us. But rather, In a faltering moment, perchance, ah! suffer Us an exit before Thine enemies' blow

In likeness to our saintly predecessors: Tearless and prayerful, unafraid and eager.

—JACK LORING

POLICE CHIEF IS APPOINTED BY TOWN OFFICIALS

Waynesboro Man To Assume Duties Approximately May 1

Meeting Tuesday evening in the Firemen's Hall, the Mayor and Commissioners cleared their dockets of much routine and new business in a four-hour session.

The Town Fathers decided to go ahead of schedule in paying of the Town's indebtedness by voting to retire two instead of one $500 bond when due this July. All bills were ordered paid and a $35 donation to the Emmitsburg Public Library was given.

The solons announced that Emmitsburg will officially go on day light saving time starting at two a. m. Sunday, April 24, and terminating at two a. m. Sunday, Sept. 25.

It was unanimously adopted that the Town Clerk's salary be increased by the sum of $10 monthly.

Appoint Police Chief

Commissioner Chairman James Hays announced that four applications for the constabulary were received. These were acted upon in order received.

After much discussion of the applications, it was decided unanimously to accept the application of H. C. Woodring, of Waynesboro, Pa. Mr. Woodring's superior qualifications and experience in policing was the major factor in his appointment.

The new chief has done police work on the Waynesboro police force for seven years, and at present is employed by the Landis Tool Co. there as chief of the guard division.

During the war he commanded a force from 10 to 20 guards and assisted the FBI in many useful ways at the plant, which was making vital war material. His police guard won the much-coveted Navy "E" award for perfection.

The new chief is married and has four sons. The constabulary head is expected to train another younger man for his assistant in the near future. He is 51 years old and expects to take up his residence in Emmitsburg in approximately two weeks.

Will Install Sewerage

In accordance with their promise of bettering the insanitary condition due to lack of adequate sewerage on N. Seton Ave., the lawmakers decided to begin work immediately on the project and will start at the American Legion Home with new sewer pipe and extend the line down to the Rhodes' property. A septic tank will take care of the refuse at the end of the line.

A donation of $25 was voted the Emmitsburg Fire Co. to assist them in preparations for their carnival later this summer.

Mayor Rodgers announced that the annual Spring Clean-up days will be Tuesday and Wednesday, May 24 and 25, at which time the local garbage truck will pick-up all the refuse placed at designated spots.

It is expected that the parking meters will go into operation approximately May 1, if not sooner.

The officials said that most of the alleys have been stoned and cleaned up and asked the cooperation of the people of this corporation in helping keep them free of broken bottles, cans and other trash. They also announced that they have received numerous complaints from citizens concerning the disregard for public property by large numbers of youths with air rifles. Many glass panes have been reported broken and other property damaged by them. If this continues the law concerning these supposedly harmless weapons will be invoked and the offenders made to pay for the damages.

COUPLE TO WED

A marriage license was issued at the court house today to Grier LaVerne Keilholtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grier J. Keilholtz, Key-mar Rt. 1, and Miss Bessie Marie Good, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Good, Littlestown Rt. 2.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Harriet A. Allen was admitted as a patient at Annie Warner Hospital Monday to be under observation. Mrs. Allen is the mother of Mrs. John White.

U. S. SENATE SHOULD RATIFY ATLANTIC PACT

Signing of the North Atlantic Security Treaty by 12 powers recently, confronts the peoples of the world with historic decisions. That is particularly true here in the United States, where the Senate must determine if the treaty is to be approved or rejected, and if so, with what understanding.

The United States must decide if it is ready to formalize abandonment of the isolationism which dates back to George Washington's warning against foreign alliances, but which our growth as a world power has gradually made inevitable.

In our opinion, it should and will be done. Events of the last 10 years really leave us no alternative. Since the outbreak of war in Europe in 1939, we have become so fully committed to a course of internationalism that to attempt to turn back now would be tragic not only to us but to the other free nations of the Atlantic community who look to us for leadership and protection.

There are few Americans who believe in these days of supersonic planes and atomic weapons that we can remain aloof from world affairs. That being true, we must be prepared to participate in them under conditions offering the greatest hope of survival in a world torn between two conflicting ways of life.

The Atlantic pact, we believe, constitutes the best hope. Still, it promises to touch off a momentous Senate debate in the weeks ahead. It seems likely that the Senate will confirm the pact, but there is within that body considerable doubt as to an arms program with which to implement the pact. Some senators are said to favor a reservation stipulating that in ratifying the treaty the Senate is not promising in advance to back it up with military supplies to our Allies.

Thus there is a possibility that the treaty will be ratified and then the Senate will reject a European arms program. We think that would be a mistake. There is little point in approving the pact unless we are prepared to help our allies defend themselves, and us, against aggression from the East.

In addition to the impact it will have upon our foreign policy, the treaty will also exert a tremendous influence upon the deliberations of the United Nations General Assembly, currently meeting at Lake Success.

Since Russia has condemned the pact as an aggressive move against the Soviet Union, it is to be assumed that the issue will be injected into the Assembly. In fact, Russia might even use the treaty as an excuse to withdraw from the world peace agency, on the ground that the treaty has usurped the position of the United Nations.

We hope that will not be the case. For, whatever may be said for or against the United Nations, it is still all we have in the way of a world peace agency and it should be preserved and, if possible, strengthened.

The Atlantic pact, will, in our opinion, strengthen the United Nations.

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

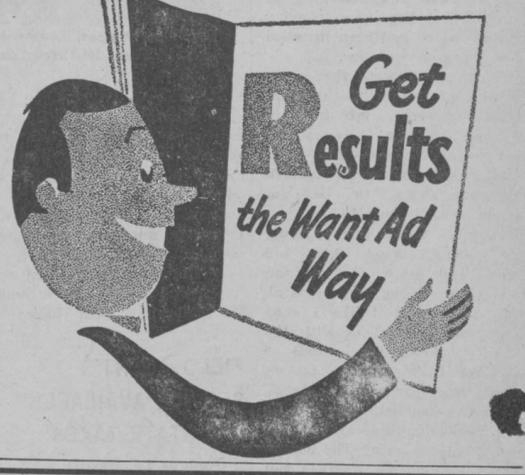

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months.

The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:
 1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.
 2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.
 3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.
 4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.
 5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

 The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 25 per cent are left with only slight after effects.
 If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

Tuberculosis and Diet

Everybody knows a "food faddist," the amateur dietician who composes reducing menus for her friends, relates just how to "feed" a cold or tells you what food to eat to prevent greying hair.

Unfortunately, some times she can do considerable harm if her advice is taken seriously. Among the more dangerous "food precautions" of such a person is her "cure" for serious illnesses. She will tell a tuberculous patient how to cure his illness by diet with the same assurance as if she were telling a child how to tie his shoelace.

There is no set diet or any one food item which can "cure" tuberculosis, despite some superstitions and false notions about the diet of tuberculous patients which still exist.

The basic treatment for tuberculosis is complete bed rest under medical supervision in a sanatorium. The diet of a tuberculous patient in the sanatorium is planned to fit his particular needs. There are no "magic" foods on his menu. His diet is a well balanced one, adequate in caloric value and in vitamins which will build his strength and provide "ammunition" for him to fight his disease.

Some of the theories about the diet of tuberculous patients are outmoded. Once it was believed that the tuberculous patient should drink as many quarts of milk as he could hold. Some people used to claim that great quantities of raw eggs were vital to the patient's cure. We know now that these foods, in the right amounts and the right times, are important in the patient's diet, but not to the exclusion of other nourishing foods.

At one time, the diet of a tuberculous patient was mainly aimed at "fattening him up." He was stuffed with fattening foods to the exclusion of foods valuable in protein, minerals, and vitamins. Furthermore, too much weight is as inadvisable for the tuberculous patient as it is for anyone else.

In brief, the doctor -- not well-meaning friends -- is the one who knows best what foods his patient should have, in what quantities, and at what times.

CORN LOAN AND PURCHASE CONTRACTS CHANGED

Due to the danger of damage to farm-stored corn by moths, the last day for accepting applications for Corn Loans and Purchase Agreements has been changed from June 30 to April 30, 1949. After this date no applications for loans and purchase agreements may be accepted. Persons interested in a support price on their 1948 corn crop should contact their Triple-A office at once.

Income Tax Data

People earning above $6,000 a year make up only .243 per cent of the Federal income tax payers, but pay 51.27 per cent of total income taxes, the Treasury Department has disclosed, basing its figures on 1946 income, the most recent complete information available. Only 2,227,013 out of the 52,600,470 persons filing Federal income tax returns that year were listed as having income above $6,000.

Maryland Farmers Increase Productivity In Using Hybrid Corn

Maryland farmers are leading the way in use of hybrid seed corn. Figures just released show that 90 per cent of the corn grown here last year was from hybrid seed. Nearby states averaged 64 and 83 per cent, according to agronomy department officials at the University of Maryland.

Free State farmers are being encouraged to undertake the production of certified hybrid seeds and can get complete details from the department.

Variety U. S. No. 13

A consistent, high-yielding corn both under favorable and unfavorable conditions. It is a mid-season corn, maturing in one hundred eighteen to one hundred twenty days. It has a stiff stalk and strong roots, giving it good standability. Its attractive ears are borne moderately high on a stalk that is tall under favorable conditions. It is somewhat susceptible to corn borer. This is probably the most popular hybrid in the corn belt and has the largest acreage in Maryland. It is used widely as a silage corn. It is recommended generally east of Allegheny County.

Variety Ohio C-12

A substitution of Ohio's "07" for Indiana's "38-11" in its pedigree, makes only a slight difference between this hybrid and U.S. 13. It is a few days earlier, more resistant to European corn borer, but more susceptible to leaf blight. It tends to have weaker roots but a stronger stalk.

It is considered slightly superior to U.S. 13 for mechanical picking.

It yields not quite so consistent but sometimes superior to U.S. 13. Variety Ohio W-10

The introduction of "51A" in a pedigree otherwise identical with U.S. 13 largely brings in the factor of early maturity.

W-10 is considered about one week earlier than U.S. 13, thus making it fall within the short season group.

It is well suited for mechanical picking.

It yields slightly less than U.S. 13.

Variety Ohio K-24

This hybrid, while not new to Maryland, is new to seed growers in Maryland. It is being recommended primarily where a short-season, early-maturing hybrid is needed to fit into a small grain corn rotation. Some sacrifice in yield should be expected whenever full use is not made of the entire growing season. K-24 is the highest yielding known in its maturity group. The plant has a good root system and strong stalk, is dark green, and leafy. The ears are borne low on a reasonably small stalk. It matures from ten to fourteen days earlier than U. S. No. 13. An average yield loss of from six to nine bushels per acre can be expected when substituted for U. S. No. 13. Maryland grown certified seed are not available. Seed are being produced for 1950.

Variety U. S. No. 505

Liquor Now Legal In Kansas

After 69 years of prohibition, Kansas has now joined the ranks of the "wet" states by approving a law which makes it legal to drink liquor in the Sunflower State. That leaves only two dry states in the nation—Oklahoma and Mississippi.

hybrid released in Maryland after four years of testing. Test yields have been superior to U. S. No. 13 in a significant number of trials. The stalk is stocky and strong, the fodder heavy and dark green. Its fodder quality makes this an excellent silage corn. It is recommended for central Maryland for ensilage and for crib where early mechanical picking is not desired. It is strongly recommended for general use in south Maryland and the Eastern Shore. A small quantity of Maryland certified seed was produced this year.

Each county agent has a list of approved seed sources which may help growers seeking a supply of seed for this year.

SECOND FLOOR

FREDERICK, MD.

Homemakers' Corner

Will your Easter dinner feature the traditional baked ham? No doubt you have already planned that meal completely, but have you given a thought to how you will serve that same the next day, and perhaps the day after that?

On the first reappearance, you may want to try this stuffed smoked ham, suggested by Miss Margaret McPheeters, extension nutrition specialist. Remove the rind from two large-thick slices of smoked ham and slash fat along the edges. Combine two and a half cups cooked mashed sweet potatoes with one-half cup dry bread crumbs, four table spoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon nutmeg. Spread this sweet potato mixture between slices of ham and fasten them together with wooden skewers or toothpicks. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350°) for 1½ hours. Serve with raisin or pineapple sauce. This makes six generous servings.

The ham might make its third entrance in a tasty casserole combination. Alternate layers of crumbs (moistened in melted butter), cubed ham, sliced hardboiled eggs, and sliced mushrooms. Cover with white sauce, or slightly diluted canned mushroom soup, top with more crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes. This also will serve six people.

What, you still have some ham left? Grind part of it, and mix with pickle relish, chopped hard-cooked egg, and salad dressing for a toothsome sandwich spread. And remember, chopped ham can be added to scalloped potatoes, potato salad, macaroni and cheese, omelets—the list is almost endless.

Do you regard your piano as "just another piece of furniture" and treat it accordingly? On the contrary, it's a fine instrument and deserves fine care.

One of the first considerations is the location of the piano in a room. If possible, don't put it near a window, because sudden changes in temperature and dampness injure both tone and finish. Never put it near a radiator or over a register, because heat may dry and split the sounding board.

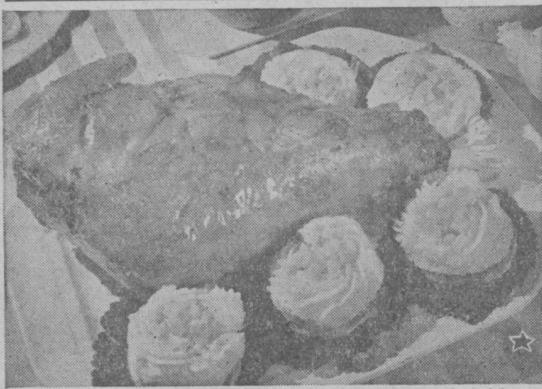

A piano should be tuned by an expert three times a year, according to piano manufacturers. If this seems like over-doing it, remember that concert pianos are tuned before every performance.

About every three years a piano needs "voicing." This includes filing and reknapping the felt hammers, cleaning the inside and regulating the action. Leave the keys exposed to light during the day. Real ivory always yellows with age, but darkness speeds the discoloration.

Never use soap to wash the keys—it also darkens the ivory. Instead, get denatured alcohol from the drug store, dampen a cloth with it, and rub it over the keys. Don't use much, for dampness loosens the ivory from the key blocks.

Pianos made during the last fifteen years usually have a satiny lacquer finish which does not need furniture polish. A soft, untreated duster is all that is necessary. Older pianos may have a varnish finish which requires furniture polish or wax to keep it gleaming.

COMPANY TREAT FOR EASTER SUNDAY

Easter Sunday visitors, and the family too, will praise the mistress of the house when they sit down to this sumptuous Frenched leg of lamb. Roasted to perfection, and served with an accompaniment of diced carrots in mashed potato nests, this is truly a "company" meal.

CHEVROLET DEVELOPS NEW TYPE AMBULANCE

The first ambulance in the country especially equipped to carry prematurely born babies to hospitals in electrically-heated incubators was recently put into service in Detroit.

The vehicle is a Chevrolet, with an all-metal body on a light truck chassis. Special fittings were installed by a Detroit Chevrolet dealer, based on designs of the Detroit Department of Health. The city council has accepted the vehicle as a gift from the State of Michigan.

The ambulance will carry a driver, doctor, nurse and two incubators. Dr. Joseph G. Molner, deputy commissioner of the Detroit Department of Health, and hospital officials believe the vehicle will result in an important reduction in the mortality rate of infants born prematurely in Detroit homes.

SCHOOLS WILL OPERATE ON DAYLIGHT TIME

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

"The idea that price supports, production adjustments when needed, and conservation are all part of one program is gaining acceptance," says Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

"Many of us believe that, when acreage allotments are used, farmers should plant within all of them to be eligible for price support," he says. "For a farmer to shift from one crop to another which is also in bountiful supply could result in over-production which would hurt the producers who usually grow that crop. It would also build up surpluses and cost the Government too much money for price support."

The PMA official reasons that the land not used for the allotment crops should be put into the production of crops in short supply, or should be put to uses that will conserve soil resources. He says that grass and hay planted on surplus cropland will help build up depleted livestock numbers and will do much to help farmers take care of the land. Land not needed for crops should be in permanent cover or trees, he concludes.

"In other words," he adds, "the necessity of reducing the acreage of crops such as wheat, corn, and cotton presents an opportunity to the agricultural conservation program. Many of the payments which we make to farmers will help them turn cropland to use for pasture or woods. For example, the program provides a credit rate of $0.50 per acre for the establishment of permanent pasture; $7.50 per acre for planting trees."

Corn Loan Deadline Changed
The county ACA offices have been instructed by Mr. Blandford to discontinue the acceptance for corn loans and purchase agreements after April 30. This action has been taken due to the danger of damage to farm-stored corn by moths which frequently infest the grain after warm weather arrives. The deadline had been originally set as June 30.

The program provides that the Government will lend $1.59 per bushel to farmers wishing to take advantage of the support price. This applies to corn grading No. 3 or better and carrying no more than 17.5 per cent moisture. Farmers wanting more information are urged to get in touch with their local ACA office.

Good neighbors—on and off the job
Most telephone men and women live in the communities they serve. Some of them may be friends of yours. If so, we're sure you've found them willingly taking an active part in community life.
They may attend your church, belong to your service club or work on your favorite charity drive. They're interested in your hometown because it's theirs, too.

Where proper spacing is important
If you've ever planted corn, you know the value of proper spacing. Another place where "spacing" pays is on your telephone party line.
On a party line, "spacing" means allowing a little time between calls. When you do this, you give others a chance to use the line.
It's little things like this that make your party-line service good service. When everybody on the line is considerate and courteous, each party gets full value from his telephone.

A Long Distance call can make someone's day so much brighter
There's nothing quite so cheerful as the sound of a warm, familiar voice across the miles.

SHORT STORY

The Young Old Folks

By Matthew F. Christopher

"THERE!" Dave said. "The ceiling's finished. Now, you've got new stairs, new walls in the living room and bedrooms, and a new porch." He lifted his chin defiantly, and something like a cold glint entered his brown eyes as he gazed down at his mother. "Anything else you going to do?"

Drusilla glanced at him warily, clutched his arm. "Dave!" She sounded so weak, like a child.

His mother stared up at him with a soft flame burning in her cheeks. She was so short, thought Drusilla, so small against her son.

"Why? What's the matter? Dad and I—we were talking about putting in a new kitchen floor, too."

Dave shook his head. "There you go! Ever since you bought this place that's all you and Dad have been doing—fixing and fixing. For a couple of old people you're certainly throwing your money around."

"I'm only fifty-five," said his father solemnly, puffing quietly on an old, black-bowled pipe.

"Dave laughed dryly. 'Well? Don't you think that's getting along?'"

After lunch he took a nap, and Drusilla sneaked quietly out of the kitchen door and started back across the field to Mother and Dad Parsell's.

"I didn't have anything to do," she explained, "so I thought I'd come back and visit awhile. Dave's sleeping. Mother said you're going to put in a new kitchen floor. What kind? Oak?"

"Oh, no, Mother did not mean that. We just want to san' the old floor, then put on inlaid linoleum. She left soon, for fear Dave would get up and not find her there."

When he woke there was still time for supper, and Drusilla suggested a little ride through the country.

"The road down toward the lake," she said. "We haven't seen the Acklings so long! And Mrs. Ackling has been so sweet to me!"

"OH, DRUSILLA — and Dave! It's so good to see you!" "Come around the house. John is back there, working on the terrace. They followed her. Drusilla stopped and stared surprisedly at the vari-colored flagstones that made up the terrace. At one corner, which was not quite finished, a white-haired figure dabbled with a trowel. He looked up, his red face crinkled in a smile. "Well!" he exclaimed. "Look who's here! How are you, Drusilla? Dave? My, you're both looking so young

Dave had hurt them. She could see that in the soft tears in their eyes, and their mouths that hung, limply at the corners.

you make me feel old! How's the folks, Dave?"

"Good, Mr. Ackling, thanks."

"Doing any more on that house of theirs?"

"Some. Just finished—"

"Mrs. Ackling!" Drusilla exclaimed. "What's that down below here? A flower bed? Oh, it's beautiful! Dave, look!"

After work the next day she saw Dave drive past the house, and from the back door she saw him stop at his mother's. She waited for the sound of the car's motor to start up again, for he should be coming home to eat. Minutes went by. What was Dave doing?

She heard the motor. She stared at the car, waiting for it to move. Suddenly, she realized, it wasn't the car. And then, hurriedly, she ripped off a sheet of wax paper, covered the food on the table, and started running across the field to Mother and Dad Parsell's.

When she peered through the door of the kitchen, the noise that came from within was so loud she could barely think. But she could see Mother Parsell sweeping one side of the old floor that was slowly changed to new, her round, rosy cheeks puffed up in a smile. And Dad Parsell, his mild, contented face in the center of his own smoke fog, holding an electric cord, so that Dave wouldn't run it over with the sander.

Pinball Machine Bill Before Gov. Lane

The pinball bill introduced by Delegate Horace M. Alexander and passed at the recent session of the General Assembly definitely does not undertake to legalize slot machines in any form, it was learned this week.

A copy of the bill, which is before Gov. Lane for action, outlines the provisions for legalizing "free play" pinball machines and then says:

" * * * provided, however, that nothing in this section shall in any way be construed as authorizing the issuance of a license, other than one hereinbefore authorized, for any game, device or machine for which a license may not hereafter lawfully be issued in accordance with any law or pertaining to Frederick County."

This would seem to rule out any possibility that the bill could be used for the legalization of the so-called "one arm bandits" in this county.

It is therefore an entirely different measure from the one which Alexander introduced and which the Governor vetoed in 1947, which would have permitted licensing of mechanical and electrical amusement devices in county private clubs. These "devices" undeniably were primarily slot machines.

The new Alexander bill would place the licensing powers in the Clerk of the Circuit Court rather than the County Commissioners, who were named in the 1947 bill. The commissioners viewed the 1947 bill with alarm and were well satisfied when it was vetoed. It provides that every "person, firm or corporation" operating "for public entertainment" in the county any pinball machine or similar device "including any such machine or device which gives or allows free plays by registering such plays on the machine or device, operated or played by the insertion of a coin," shall obtain a license for $50 per machine from the Court Clerk. The application and license forms shall be as specified by the Clerk. Metal tags must be affixed to the machines to show payment of license fee.

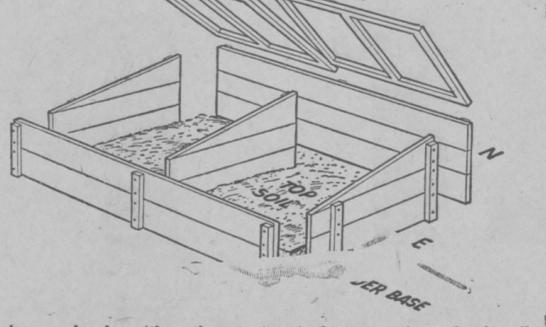

An operator who keeps or maintains such machines shall secure an operator's license from the Clerk at an annual fee of $500. The bill was amended in the Senate to define an operator as one who kept or maintained three or more machines.

Licenses would expire on April 30 of each year, be transferable upon application to the Court Clerk and could be pro-rated monthly. Any such licensed machine could be moved to and operated at a new location at the discretion of the licensee.

It would be a misdemeanor "knowingly to permit" any person under 16 years of age to play such a device.

A flat fine of $100 would be provided for each violation of the law. The license fees would be paid to the County Commission-

Easy to Make SEED FRAME

Anyone handy with a hammer and saw can construct this sturdy seed frame. It is made up of four sides, and a hinged top glazed with Vimlite, flexible plastic glazing. Vimlite is used because it is shatterproof, lightweight, has good insulation qualities and is easy to install. No grooving of the frame, or putting in necessary. Vimlite is merely tacked in place like fly screen.

The standard size for seed frames is 3 feet x 6 feet. To protect it against rot and decay, the lumber used should be treated with Dow's pentachlorophenol. This chemical and Vimlite can be obtained at hardware, lumber and building supply stores.

Assemble the four sides, center partition, and top frames according to the sketch. For permanent construction it is advisable to use gal-

TROUT SEASON GETS UNDER WAY IN COUNTY TODAY

Five thousand trout were released in four Frederick County streams this week in preparation for opening of the fishing season this morning at 5:30 o'clock.

With the season opening on the first day of a long Easter week-end holiday, a record number of anglers is expected to turn out in quest of the elusive brooks, rainbows and browns. In expectation of heavy week-end fishing, officials have arranged to stock streams again next week in preparation for the following Saturday and Sunday on-slaught.

Big Hunting Creek, which is limited to fly fishing in the Ca-toctin Recreational Area, has been stocked with 2,500 fish, while 2,000 were released in Fishing Creek, 200 in Middle Creek and 300 in Little Hunting Creek.

Regional Game Warden Benjamin P. Phebus announced this week that no trout have been stocked as yet on the right fork of Fishing Creek. That branch will receive its quota of fish next week.

Trout were stocked from the headwaters of Fishing Creek to the Mountandale bridge. In addition to the right fork, fish will be turned loose from below Fishing Creek receiver to Angelberger's Dam next week, Mr. Phebus said.

Middle Creek and Little Hunting Creek will also get another stocking next week, the warden said. They were stocked lightly for the opening, he explained, because of the lack of truck equipment to complete the task in the time allotted. Middle Creek will get a season's stocking of 2,000 and Little Hunting Creek will receive 1,000.

Friends Creek, which is being tried as an experiment this year, will not be stocked until later. It has been assigned 500 fish. Since the stream is near the Pennsylvania line, Phebus has cautioned anglers not to fish beyond the border, which is near the second bridge.

A total of 76,000 trout, measuring from eight to 14 inches, are being distributed throughout the State this season, Albert M. Powell, Lewistown, superintendent of State hatcheries, has announced. This year's supply is split into 60 per cent brooks; 26 per cent browns, and 14 per cent rainbows. The browns, numbering about 10,000, were purchased by the State, which paid about 25 cents each.

Fishermen are advised to obey the law which limits the hours for catching trout from 5:30 a. m. to 8 p. m., EST. All streams will be patrolled by wardens and those found violating the regulations will be charged, Phebus warned. The daily creel limit is 10 trout, eight inches or more in length, on all streams except Big Hunting Creek in the Federal area where the limit is five. Only flies may be used in the Recreational Area. Elsewhere any type of bait is permissible.

FOREST FIRE VIGILANCE MUST BE MAINTAINED

With approximately one-third of the spring forest fire season behind us, there seems a tendency, says State Forester H. Buckingham, on the part of certain landowners to relax their vigilance in the matter of forest fires and to forget that as much care with fire is needed now as at the beginning of the season. It should be remembered, warns Mr. Buckingham, that cool spells of spring are usually followed by a day or two of high winds that produce an extra fire hazard. Unless these various factors are taken into account, the result is sure to be, says Mr. Buckingham, that there will be more fires in April than in March, which should not be the case.

Carelessness in brush burning will start too many fires. The regulation is that brush can be burned only between four in the afternoon and midnight.

In the absence of natural barriers to the escape of fire, the landowner must—

1—Plow or otherwise construct a fire line at least 10 feet wide completely around the area to be burned free of inflammable material.

2—Provide sufficient help with tools to prevent fire from escaping, and have at least one watchman on the ground until the last spark is out.

Needless to say, the utmost vigilance should be used to see that lighted matches and cigarets are not thrown on inflammable material along the roadsides or in the woods.

Marylanders should know that their state leads the nation with the lowest acreage loss from forest fire in years during 1948. Despite frequent high hazard conditions it indicates that the day and night vigilance of the State's forest fire fighting forces and the excellent cooperation given them by its citizens is producing the desired results.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS OF THE UNITED STATES 1899 * GOLDEN JUBILEE ANNIVERSARY * 1949

VFW PROUD OF PAST ACHIEVEMENTS

More than a million and half members of the Gold Chevron organization and its Auxiliary are celebrating the VFW Golden Jubilee. They are paying tribute to the veterans of the Spanish-American War who, fifty years ago, banded together to fight for the rights of America's fighting men.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars looks back upon its achievements with a feeling of pride. The men who nurtured the young organization through its struggling infancy were willing and ready to stand firm for the principles of right and justice.

The VFW have, through the years, steadfastly championed the welfare of the national welfare, convinced that what is good for our country is good for our country's veterans.

To the men who wear the badge of membership in the VFW, America is a great, a beautiful, a proud land. Because they fought to preserve it, and to perpetuate the freedoms and the opportunities which have made it the envy of peoples in every other nation, they have an abiding faith in its institutions. The VFW revere its constitution which guarantees to each individual right to live his life in his own way.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars is holding high the banner of human liberty, of justice, of peace and understanding among all the peoples of the world. They are carrying on the crusade that had its beginning in the aftermath of the war with Spain.

WILL PROBATED

Charles H. Richardson, late of Emmitsburg District, left his estate to Annie Richardson, William H. and Maria Frances Richardson as joint tenants for life with right of survivorship, according to the terms of his will which was admitted to probate Tuesday by the Orphans' Court. At the termination of the survivorship the estate is left to Katherine and Martin Williams in fee simple absolute.

Martin Williams, near Emmitsburg, who qualified as executor, reported real estate estimated to be worth $800. The will was dated March 31, 1948 and witnessed by John Sterling Chase and Edward D. Storm.

Dragon flies benefit mankind through their fondness for mosquitoes.

VFW WOULD FORCE IDENTIFICATION OF COMMIES

A demand that all communist and communist-front organizations "stand up and be counted," has been presented to Congress by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to VFW officials.

The proposed legislation would require all such groups to identify themselves as such on all letters, publications, and other literature sent through the mails.

The VFW legislative representative in Washington appeared before a recent hearing of the House subcommittee on postoffices and civil service in support of H.R. 1002, which embodies such a requirement. The VFW added that it "has supported ever measure advanced in Congress which sought to outlaw, expose, or curb the activities of the Communist party and its 'stooge organizations in the United States."

RECEPTION HELD

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Burrier, of Detour, April 10, in honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Grabill Jr., who were married March 5. Mrs. Grabill was the former Miss Louise E. Burrier.

A three-tier wedding cake adorned the center of the table. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

Approximately 100 guests attended the affair.

AAA OPPOSES HIGH AUTOMOBILE TAXES

Motorists in Maryland paid Uncle Sam a total of $16,120,227 in the form of Federal automotive excise taxes, Leonard E. Kolmer, general manager of the Automobile Club of Maryland reported this week.

Of this amount, $5,903,097 was collected through the Federal tax of 1 1/2 cents per gallon on gasoline, while the remainder represented tax collections on new vehicles, tires, tubes, lubricating oil and replacement parts and accessories.

"Since the Federal automotive taxes were levied in 1932 as an 'emergency measure' they have cost the nation's motorists close to $10,000,000,000. Although the American Automobile Assn. temporarily dropped its opposition to these Federal taxes during the war years, it has again taken up the cudgels for its repeal. At a recent meeting in Miami, Fla., the AAA's executive committee adopted a resolution which said in part: 'These taxes are admittedly inequitable, since they single out the motorist to bear an additional share of the general cost of government and have been continued only as a matter of expediency. The AAA urges that, when revision of the excise tax schedule comes up for consideration by the Congress, elimination of the Federal automotive taxes be given high priority.'

Meet "Miss Meter"

Shall we greet her when we meter
With a doffing of the hat,
Or just pay her parking charges
And let it go at that.
Shall we buss her or just cuss her,
When we park our piece of junk.
Shall we adore her or abhor her
And say it's all the bunk.

Some will think the idea silly
Imbecilic and insane,
When they find "Miss Parking Meter"
Waiting for them on the main.
Every rod of curving curbstone
That runs around the Square
Will have "Miss Parking Meter"
Ready to greet you there.

But the City Fathers argue
That the city needs the dough;
For the salaries of our gendarmes,
And the Fathers surely know,
So let us get behind them
And back them, one and all,
And help the City Fathers
Get out and hit the ball!

Easy Disinfecting

For easy, yet efficient, disinfecting of brooders, poultry houses, etc., try Dr. Salsbury's GERMEX or PAR-O-SAN. Each features high germ-killing power, low cost of use. No "dippy" odor. Ask for either GERMEX or PAR-O-SAN — both Dr. Salsbury's items.

YOU WILL LIKE an Electric Range for its ## PERFECT RESULTS

YOU too will enjoy the assurance that everything you bake will turn out perfectly everytime. Even the best of cooks will be happier in the knowledge that uncertain heat can never spoil her masterpieces. And think what a blessing for a new cook to know that she can be sure of perfect results. Yes—you'll like the certainty provided by the completely automatic controls of the electric range. Set a control for a certain heat and that's the heat you get—never more, never less. Add to that the electric range time control and you have fully automatic, almost foolproof cooking. But nice as these things are, they tell only part of the electrical cooking story. You'll also like the greater cleanliness, higher speed, complete safety, increased convenience, the modern beauty, and of course the low operating cost of today's electric ranges.

DO YOU know that the number of electric ranges in use in this very area has practically doubled in just the past two years—that nearly 30,000 nearby women are now cooking electrically? Because in time something better always replaces something less desirable, you too will eventually become an electric range user. But why eventually? Why not NOW?
