Emmitsburgians got their first glimpse of what the new street lights will look like Tuesday when the Potomac-Edison Co., the installing company, threw into service those lamps on North and South Seton Ave. Feelings were mixed about the new lamps. Opinions were divided as to whether they were an asset or detriment to the town. . . . Complaints were heard from several of the residents that the location of poles in front of their homes disturbed them considerably. . . . Others were "tickled" to have them directly in front of their homes. . . . Several "dark spots" in the spacing were reported and it is believed that in some instances several additional lights will have to be added. However, generally, opinion of the new setup was that they were 100 per cent better than the old system. From what can be observed of the outfit so far, it is believed that when the Square is lighted it will be the showplace of the town. It certainly will be as bright as daylight. However, with all the goodness they may bring, it saddened our hearts to see the installation follow the old pattern of erecting these lights over the center of the road. That is the very thing which the town wanted to discard. Automobiles provide their own light and it would have proven wiser had these lights been so placed along the sides to provide sufficient illumination for the pedestrians. According to information available, the contract called for erecting them on 25-foot poles and an extending arm of six feet. However, the installers chose to use extension arms of much longer length. Many of the poles on the North and South Seton Ave. lay in an irregular line. Nothing was done to keep the lights in alignment which certainly detracts from their appearance and lighting value. We know that the company will give the answer that they had to be extended to greater lengths in order that the trees would not conceal them, but how much nicer would it have been to have them all in perfect alignment from one end of town to the other? This could have easily been done by trimming a few trees and keeping them trimmed. Apparently, the company chose the way of least resistance.

I just can't believe that after all these years Emmitsburg is to have a Chamber of Commerce. It thrills me to no end. . . . These individuals are to be commended on their efforts at bringing the town up to date. I am sure it took a lot of hard work and co-operation on their part to get the thing started, but I feel confident that in the long run, and not too far in the future, they will see the wisdom of their action. I don't like to start the ball rolling or doing any showing, but might I suggest, Dear Chamber, that we acquire a Community Hall somehow within the next few years?

A friend of mine related this little story to me the other day. It seems that as he was walking in Main St. the other night, a disgruntled citizen approached him and asked for the price of a drink. Reaching into his pocket he handed the moocher a dime. Highly insulted, his friend wheeled on his heel and retorted as he walked away—I asked you for the price of a drink, not a beer.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS DAYLIGHT TIME FOR EMMITSBURG

Emmitsburgians are reminded to set their clocks ahead one hour Saturday upon retiring, as official daylight savings time will go into effect at two o'clock Sunday morning, April 30. Local school hours will also be changed to daylight time.

LOCAL BALL TEAM AT WESTMINSTER SUNDAY

Rained-Out Game
To Be Played
Here Thursday

The local baseball team, member of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, will journey to Westminster for a contest this Sunday afternoon. The game will represent the curtain-raiser of the season. The opening game was scheduled for last Sunday, but all games were canceled because of the all-day rain in this section.

Coach John Law plans to use the same lineup he announced last week, and which shows the following players and their positions:

FROCK, If
DEARDORFF, 2b
NOYAK, ss
SMITH, 1b
SHAFFER, 3b
McMAHON, c
HOLLINGER
McGLAUGHLIN, p

Emmitsburg will not get a look at their team until next Thursday, May 4, when Littlestown will be engaged in a contest here that was rained out last Sunday. The game will be a twilight affair.

Business Agent Flax announced that the television set which is being chanced off in conjunction with 10 other prizes will not be awarded next Thursday, as time will not permit drawing of all these prizes. There is barely daylight enough to play a full game as it is. However, Mr. Flax stated that the drawing will be held here on Sunday, May 7, when Hanover appears at Community Field.

The Boosters' Club gained eight more members this week when season passes were purchased by the following: Clarence G. Frailey, Robert H. Giljelan, Dr. D. L. Beegle, Dr. W. R. Cadie, Edward Lingg, Mrs. Norman Flax, Thomas Gingell, and George S. Eyster.

The diamond has been rolled, grandstand, and bleachers painted and lights placed in the concession stand, President Bernard H. Boyle announced this week.

Mayor Proclaims Good Posture Week

Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers issued a proclamation this week designating the week of April 30 as Good Posture Week. The mayor's action was in co-operation with that of the Governor and other state societies in sponsoring the movement to arouse the public to the importance of good posture.

The Mayor's proclamation is as follows:

Corporation of Emmitsburg
Proclamation

WHEREAS, the most important single factor in man's attainment of his goals and in the materialization of his plans is physical fitness, and

WHEREAS, all doctors are agreed that good health and correct posture go hand in hand, and that in any general program planned to better the health of the people of this nation, posture must be considered as one of the main factors in promoting sound bodies and the advancement of individual efficiency, and

WHEREAS, the week of April 30 to May 6, inclusive, has been set aside to stress the importance of correct posture in the schools, factories and homes of the nation to the end that the health of the nation may benefit thereby.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, THORNTON RODGERS, Mayor of the Corporation of Emmitsburg, by the power invested within me do hereby proclaim the week of April 30 to May 6 inclusive as "CORRECT POSTURE WEEK IN EMMITSBURG" and do urge all our citizens to give serious consideration to the important benefits to be derived from good posture.

THORNTON RODGER,
Mayor

Dr. D. L. Beegle, local chiropractor, in collaboration with Good Posture Week, has consented to examine all children up to and including high school ages free of charge. However, all children must be accompanied by their parents and will be taken by appointment only.

WALES RIGHTNOUR FILES FOR TOWN COMMISSIONER

War Veteran
Will Run
Unopposed

Wales E. Rightnour, youthful commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, announced his intentions of running for the office of town commissioner. Mr. Rightnour filed his candidacy late Friday and will be the only candidate to appear on the ballot which will be cast by the citizens of Emmitsburg in the annual town election Monday. Mr. Rightnour, while not a native townsman, has resided here for several years and is married to a local girl. For the past two years he has headed the local Veterans' organization and is employed by the Gettysburg Times.

Mr. Rightnour was born in Colome, S. D., in 1920 and was graduated from Gettysburg High School, class of 1938. The candidate was a paratrooper in World War II and was connected with the 503rd Regimental Combat team, Parachute Infantry and participated in the Philippine Campaign. He was later assigned to the 11th Airborne Division and participated in occupational duties in Japan.

In a statement to the press this week concerning his candidacy, Mr. Rightnour had this to say:

"The citizens of Emmitsburg are keenly aware that in many respects our town has lagged behind towns of similar size in community, civic and industrial development.

"These citizens feel they have a responsibility in these conditions. They feel any shortcoming can be improved by proper planning, yet as individuals they feel incapable of exerting sufficient influence to take corrective measures.

"It doesn't require complicated reasoning to suggest remedies, but it does take positive action to put civic programs beyond the stage of unproductive conversation.

"Take as an example, our postal service. We have a post-office approaching the first class specifications of the postal department, yet we have no town delivery service.

"Curbs in numerous sections of town are incomplete and as a result the State Roads Commission will not cooperate in making needed street repairs and additions to street surfaces.

"Another hindrance to healthy town development is the lack of available building lots within the corporate limits. The few available lots are located in sections so poorly serviced by utilities and so poorly developed that they are undesirable to prospective builders. Of course, there are many complications in arranging new streets or industrial sites. But is it proper to ask these people to go elsewhere when they wish to become part of our town?"

Magistrate Baker
Fines Two On Conduct Charge

On a disorderly conduct charge, growing out of an altercation recently at a nearby tavern, a man and his wife were fined $15 and given a suspended six-month sentence in the Maryland House of Correction and Maryland Reformatory for Women, respectively, before Magistrate Jacob E. Baker at a hearing Tuesday night.

The parents of a 3-week-old baby and a 2-year-old child were with them at the time the arrest was made by State Trooper Kenneth E. Bond, who said that Harry Fogle, Lantz, got into an argument with his wife, Edna, and struck her with a beer bottle. The bottle broke, cutting Mrs. Fogle about the face, hands, and arms, Raymond Lingg, Emmitsburg Rt. 1, bartender at the cafe, who went to break up the argument, was also hit by the bottle and cut, the Trooper said.

Judge Baker in handing down the decision said the woman was not fit to be a mother and that if she was ever brought into court again, there would be no suspension of sentence.

Glenn Glass, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glass, Emmitsburg, has been transferred to Mitchell Field, N. Y.

What's Your Name?

By JULES CHRISTIAN

Thanks for the few weeks' vacation. Prior to this interlude we were considering the physicians of the community, that extraordinary group of men engaged in that extraordinary battle for the good health of the people. It has been pointed out before that the doctor tends to play the role of God, by proxy, on earth in time of emergency. The little anonymous rhyme calls attention to this fact:

"Three faces wear the doctor: when first sought an Angel's; and a God's the cure half wrought; But when, the cure complete, he seeks his fee, The Devil looks less terrible than he."

Of course, the second half of the rhyme would never apply to Emmitsburg. Before finishing with these distinguished servants of the people, there are the names of two others that merit special attention. The first of these is the pleasing chiropractor located in the east end of town.

W. F. ROUTZAHN

Dr. Routzahn was born in Myersville, Md. This makes him a native son of the state. He was educated at Middletown High School and at Susquehanna University where he graduated with the B. S. Degree. He is also a graduate from the Los Angeles School of Chiropractic. With such a splendid preparation for his chosen profession, he began his practice in Westminster. He remained there for five years until during the late war, he went into the service of his country.

After his war-time service he came to Emmitsburg where, for a number of years, he was associated with Dr. Beegle. Here he has won many friends and shown impressive skill in the art of his chosen profession.

After the previous installment of this column, a letter came from another community asking why the men's wives were not included. We are glad to comply with this request if and when the information is available. Dr. Routzahn, however, has no wife. He still lives in that state of single blessedness.

WHAT NAME MEANS

Routzahn, sometimes spelled Routzon, is a name of German ancestry. It is derived from the older German "Hrothi," which means fame. It was used to designate one who had achieved a distinguished mark of glory as a brave warrior known for his speed, dexterity, and valor. Other German forms coming from the same source are Rout, Routh, Roth, Rhode, Rutte, Rutte, Rott, Rudinger, Rohtger, Rudrich, etc. Also Robert and Roger are English and American adaptations of the old German form of Hrothi, distinguished fame.

OBITUARIES

JAMES W. HARNER

James W. Harner, 69, well-known farmer and business man of Carroll County, died at Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., Monday at 11 a. m. of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He had been hospitalized since April 16, when he was seized with vertigo while doing chores alone on his farm, and fell. He lay unattended for more than an hour before he could summon help.

Mrs. Harner stepped off the back porch on Easter Monday, fell and broke three bones in her right ankle. She was taken to the Warner Hospital, and afterwards taken to the home of her son, Walter, where she is getting along nicely.

Less than a week later, Mr. Harner fell while at work and broke his left hip. Neighbors heard him calling for help and he was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Mr. Harner was a son of the late John and Lydia Harner. He had been a devout member of the Taneytown Trinity Lutheran Church for 40 years and had served several terms as a member of the church council. He was also a member of the Adult Bible Class of the Church school.

For several years past, he was a director of the Taneytown Mutual Fire Insurance Co., in addition to actively operating his farm holdings.

Surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Mamie Whitmore Harner, is his son, Walter L. Harner, Taneytown; two grandchildren; four brothers and four sisters, George W., Emmitsburg; John H., Taneytown; Harry T., Littlestown, Pa.; Charles F., Barlow; Mrs. William Martin, Rocky Ridge; Mrs. Ivan Riley, Littlestown; Mrs. Luther Harner, Taneytown, and Mrs. Clarence Eyer, Hanover, Pa.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday at 1 p. m. at the C. O. Fuss and Son Funeral Home with his pastor, Rev. Glenn L. Stull officiating. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

HARRY E. WEANT

Harry E. Weant, 79, died Tuesday morning at 11:45 o'clock at the home of his son, Frank W. Weant, W. Main St.

A son of the late William H. and Phoebe Markle Weant, he had resided at Emmitsburg for more than a half-century and was employed as a plumber at Mt. St. Mary's College.

He was a member of Elias Ev. Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg.

Surviving besides his son, is a daughter, Mrs. John Moriarty, Winchester, Mass.; these brothers and sisters, Charles Weant, Dayton, O.; Frank, Miamisburg, O.; Hamilton, York, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Lookingball, York, and Mrs. John Grushon, Emmitsburg.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at two o'clock from the S. L. Allison Funeral Home, Emmitsburg. Rev. Philip Bower will officiate. Interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

Noted Lecturer to Deliver Address At St. Joseph's College Tomorrow

Joseph A. Brieg, noted lecturer and author, will speak at St. Joseph's College auditorium, Emmitsburg, tomorrow, April 29, at 3:00 p. m. His speech, entitled the Whole Story, will discuss the fields of radio and newspaper.

The St. Joseph's College Chapter of the National Federation of Catholic College Students is sponsoring the lecture for the benefit of the Foreign Overseas Student Relief Drive. Following the lecture, a buffet supper will be served in the college dining room.

Mr. Brieg, author of the recent best-seller, God In Our House, attended Notre Dame for three years and in his junior year was editor of the student paper. For 10 years he was a columnist and reporter for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph before joining the Catholic Universe Bulletin, Cleveland's diocesan paper, in 1945. His Universe Bulletin column is syndicated to seven other Catholic papers. He is also associate editor of the Family Digest.

Two Youths Arrested For Defacing Local Postoffice Property

Two local youths, both 15 years of age and sophomores at St. Joseph's High School, were apprehended on Monday of this week by Chief of Police H. C. Woodring. The boys were charged with defacing the front of the postoffice. No charges were preferred on the two after complete restoration of the facing to its original condition was accomplished. Because of their youth, their names are withheld from publication.

T. W. RODGERS AGAIN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Candidate Changes
Mind at Late Hour;
Election Monday

Emmitsburg's election picture cleared some what this week when it was learned that only two candidates had filed for the two offices on the Town Council.

Interest appeared lacking in the affair until practically the deadline last Friday at Midnight. Last-minute filing of the candidates clarified the picture somewhat.

The incumbent mayor, Thornton W. Rodgers, served notice late Friday that he was again a candidate for the office. Mr. Rodgers has been in and out of public service for more than 15 years and it was not until the last minute that he was persuaded by a host of his friends to again seek office. Mr. Rodgers stated that he felt "he would be letting the people down if he removed himself from the election scene at this time, with so many projects which he helped to start, getting under way."

Reluctant to run again for office was Commissioner James T. Hays, who for the past three years acted as chairman of the board of commissioners. Mr. Hays did not file.

New blood seems about to be injected into Emmitsburg's official family with the filing of the candidacy of youthful Wales E. Rightnour. Mr. Rightnour seeks the commission vacated by Mr. Hays. The mayor is elected annually while commissioners are elected to three-year terms. Hold-over commissioners are John J. Hollinger and Lloyd G. Ohler.

Voting is expected to be light when the citizenry go to the polls Monday. Emmitsburg has a registration of about 400, but from indications to date, only 50 per cent of those eligible to cast ballots are expected to do so. A tally of new registrations for this year shows 35 new names.

Corporation law provides for write-in votes and unless any of these appear, or are planned, it seems a certainty that both Mr. Rodgers and Mr. Rightnour will be elected to office.

College Bazaar Offers New Car

A brand new 1950 Chevrolet will be given away at Flynn Hall on the campus of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, on May 4 as the grand prize of the annual Mission Bazaar, conducted by the seminarians.

The purpose of this yearly affair is to raise funds for the home and foreign missions. Two years ago the seminarians were able to rebuild a devastated chapel in China with the profits realized at the bazaar.

The motif for the gala event to be held on the campus this spring is the Holy Year. Appropriate decorations featuring a huge tiara, the Pope's triple crown, giant paintings of the Pope and St. Peter's Square in Rome will transform the old gym into a place of unforgettable beauty.

The bazaar will be held from 2 p. m. until 11 and a larger variety of thrilling games will be available this year for the enjoyment of the guests. To delight the palate, refreshments will also be served.

We invite you to come and enjoy a pleasant time in a most friendly atmosphere.

Geo. L. Wilhide Heads School P-TA

Officers elected to head the Emmitsburg High School P-TA were elected this week at the regular meeting in the high school auditorium.

Elected to serve as president of the association for the 1950-51 period was George L. Wilhide. Other officers include Samuel Hays, vice president; Mrs. Mary Hoke, secretary; Miss Edna Stull, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Luther Cregger, treasurer.

The P-TA attendance banner award went to Mrs. Arvin Jones' room this month.

At the close of the business meeting, movies were shown on the new movie projector purchased for the school by the P-TA. Refreshments were served.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS FORMED

Temporary Officers Appointed At Tuesday's Meeting

Emmitsburg's Chamber of Commerce got off to a flying start Tuesday night as a goodly representation of the business men and civic leaders gathered in the Lutheran Parish Hall to take the necessary initial steps preparatory to chartering. While the turnout was excellent, had the weather been more favorable, it would have been even better. Also the date conflicted with that of the Sportsmen's Club meeting.

The gathering was addressed by Mr. Merwyn Fuss, president of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Charles Bowlers and Mr. George Slagle, president and manager-secretary, respectively, of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce. These men disclosed valuable information to the group as to preparing for their charter and getting industry to locate here. They expressed a desire for complete cooperation between the Chambers of the State.

Selected to head the organization through its metamorphosis was Bernard J. Eckenrode, who acted as temporary chairman, and introduced the speakers. Mr. Eckenrode bestowed much of the credit for getting the ball rolling to Dr. D. L. Beegle and C. A. Elder.

After completion of the speech-making, the meeting took the form of a round-table discussion with the speakers answering the many questions shot at them by the enterprising group.

First step was the motion to form the new Chamber. Then the following temporary officers were appointed: president, Bernard J. Eckenrode; vice president, Charles A. Elder; secretary, John M. Roddy Jr.; treasurer, J. W. Houser. These officers will serve until the next meeting when an election and installation of permanent officers will be held.

A by-laws committee was appointed and those serving are: Dr. D. L. Beegle, Thornton W. Rodgers, Bernard H. Boyle, Louis Cooper and Samuel C. Hays. Also appointed was a nominating committee composed of Louis H. Stoner, David L. Neighbours, and George W. Gingell. The group decided to meet again on Thursday, May 11, at a place to be named later.

Those attending the initial meeting of the Chamber of Commerce were Roger Zurgabe, David L. Neighbors, J. W. Houser, Bernard H. Boyle, Thornton W. Rodgers, Rev. Michael O'Brien, Louis H. Stoner, Cloyd W. Seiss, Clay Green, Samuel C. Hays, James T. Hays, Louis Cooper, Dr. D. L. Beegle, Charles Fuss, John A. O'Donoghue, George L. Wilhide, Norman Shriver, Edward G. Stull, George W. Gingell, Lumen F. Norris, John R. Roddy Jr., Bernard J. Eckenrode, Richard Yeomans, John Law, Charles A. Elder, and Wales Rightnour.

Will Divides $2,000

A will of the late John J. Dillon of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Emmitsburg was admitted to probate Monday by the Orphans' Court, Frederick.

The estate of Mr. Dillon, estimated at $2,000 is left to two sons, John J. Dillon Jr., and Thomas P. Dillon, Emmitsburg. The sons qualified as executors. The will was dated Sept. 2, 1939. The testator died last March 21 at Opalecka, Fla.

County Democrats Elect Norris

Lumen F. Norris, local young veterans' club service officer, was elected to the treasurership of the Frederick County Young Democrats organization at a meeting, held in Frederick last Friday night.

The young politicians were presided over by President Arthur Potts and were addressed by Democratic candidates for mayor and aldermen of Frederick City. Reports by various committees were heard and cited the progress of the campaign to date. It was the consensus of the group that the election looked "promising."

THEY DESERVE A RAISE

The lack of interest which has been displayed this year in the Town Election proves the old adage you can't get something for nothing. These elective offices were at one time considered sinecure positions. They no longer fall in that category. Time and conditions have played a major role in the transfiguration. The positions of Mayor and Commissioners have become more complicated throughout the years, and are now just about full-time occupations.

One Town Solon has estimated that in the past three years, he has spent nearly $1500 of his own time and money in rendering his valuable services to the Community. Hours are spent in planning, interviewing, transportation, phone calls, and actual labor at times in accomplishments for the welfare of the Town.

Emmitsburg is fast developing into a hustling community. Dial telephones are on the way, new street lights are being installed, garbage collection will begin shortly, parking meters are in operation, a police docket inaugurated, new roads are in the offing, a Chamber of Commerce is forming, a new addition to the public school is planned, several new buildings are to be erected. Yes, Emmitsburg is rapidly expanding and progressing. Such has not been the case for compensation of the lawmakers who head these vast progressive undertakings. At present your governing heads are working for less than $1.00 a week. Ridiculous when you come to think of it. The pay of these officials is the butt end of many a joke, but the fact remains they are working diligently on your behalf—the Community.

We know public officials are reticent about increasing their salaries while in office—except Congress—but it is the firm opinion of the majority of the citizenry that the compensation of these representatives should be upped, and considerably. Neighboring towns at present are paying their mayors between two and three hundred dollars annually, while Emmitsburg "big-heartedly" gives a "healthy" $75.00.

Under existing law, the officials are the only ones empowered to strengthen their pay. We feel the public is wholeheartedly behind them in any action they take on the matter. We feel that a salary of $300, paltry as it is, would at least be a step in the right direction. The Town's revenue has increased by the thousands of dollars, but the old rate of compensation continues on. High-caliber business men are reluctant to tackle the office. We say this with no reflection or thought of prejudice or animosity toward the men now in office. They have done an excellent job and should be rewarded on their merits—which are many, indeed!

At The Majestic Theatre, Gettysburg

Jane Wyman heads the cast of Warner Bros.' suspense drama, "Stage Fright," playing Sunday and Monday, April 30th and May 1 at the Majestic Theatre, Gettysburg. Directed by Alfred Hitchcock, the cast also includes Marlene Dietrich, Michael Wilding and Richard Todd.

New Change In Bus Time

Effective Sunday, Blue Ridge Bus Lines will revise its bus schedules, it was announced today. These changes are a result of the shift to Daylight Saving Time on that date. A majority of the towns served by the bus company are going to "fast time" again this summer.

Schedules will be affected in different ways. In some cases they will simply be changed to comply with the time change. In other cases it will be necessary to make a complete revision because of connecting problems.

Since the schedule changes will not be uniform, Blue Ridge officials say it is extremely difficult to announce the changes for each locality in advance. They urge all passengers to check schedules with Blue Ridge drivers or local agents before traveling on, or after April 30.

Saylor Weybright Victorious In Thurmont Mayoralty Election

In a hotly-contested election held Monday for the mayoralty post of Thurmont, Saylor Weybright emerged victoriously by a wide margin. A total of 336 votes was cast this year in comparison with only 26 for last year. Three candidates were listed for the position on the ballot. Also elected to two-year terms as commissioners were Russell N. Flanagan and Charles "Pinky" Ambrose.

The incumbent president of the board defeated two others for his fourth term. He polled 185 votes to 121 for Paul S. Hoffman, and 28 for George T. Trexler.

Mr. Flanagan topped the four aspirants for the two-year terms with 214 votes. Mr. Ambrose received 153 and William Benjamin 68.

The new commissioners replace Clinton R. Woesche and Ross V. Smith, who declined re-nomination.

Those elected will take the oath of office on May 1, when the board reorganizes for another year.

Mahoney Gets More Support In Campaign

Two aspirants for political office in Maryland this week announced their support of the candidacy of George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Maryland.

William D. Schaefer, Baltimore lawyer who has filed his certificate for the House of Delegates from the Fifth Legislative District, said he is supporting Mr. Mahoney because "this State needs a man of Mr. Mahoney's business achievements to run its affairs."

Mr. Schaefer, a World War II veteran, has announced he is opposed to the State sales tax and will campaign for a referendum on the soldiers' bonus.

Herman Broomhall, Chestertown businessman who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congressman from the First District, also said in his support of Mr. Mahoney:

"I am definitely for Mr. Mahoney and against the Lane administration. I believe the time has come for a businessman, who understands the problems of capital, labor and the farmer, to take over the government of the State and put it on a sound basis."

Mr. Broomhall said he also favors a referendum on the soldiers' bonus.

County Registration Forms Arrive; Work Proceeds

Forms for the county's new card index system of voter registration arrived this week at the office of the Board of Election Supervisors, Frederick, and workers started the job of transcribing the names of registrants from the old books to the new system.

Grover C. Stewart, president of the board, said a crew of 16 was employed and hoped that typing of the new registration cards be completed within a month.

Two forms are filled in for each registrant on the books. One goes into the precinct file and will be used on primary and election day. The other will be placed in a master file of all precincts, which will be kept at the office of the supervisors.

Groups of four persons are at work typing the cards for each precinct. Eight persons started the transcribing of the first two precincts in Buckeystown District. Eight others will begin typing the forms for the last two districts on the books—which are in Walkersville. While the one group works from District One upward, the other will be working from District 26—the last in numerical order—downward until they meet.

Approximately 40,000 each of the precinct forms and the master forms were secured.

Pimlico Opens Tomorrow

Pimlico is preparing for what appears to be a successful race meeting when the opening of a 21-day session begins Saturday.

Plenty of thoroughbreds are stabled there and only the weatherman stands in the way of giving the turfgoers a high brand of sport.

Joe Gillem, track superintendent, has had his crew working on the racing strip, and if no more rain falls between now and Saturday, the mile oval will be in tip-top shape.

Racing each day at Old Hill Top will start later than at the other Maryland tracks. The first race is scheduled for 2:15 p. m. and the daily double windows will close 15 minutes earlier.

Pimlico always has been the meeting place of sportsmen. Some of these fans even take their vacations during the spring session.

Dave Woods is publicity director of the course.

Preakness, Maryland's oldest stake event for three-year-olds will be run on Saturday, May 20.

Williams Grove Features Twin Bill Program Sunday

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa., Friday, April 28—Two complete programs of racing, bringing top competition from both sports to fans, will be presented for the first time Sunday on the Williams Grove Speedway.

Roy Richwine, owner of the famous half-mile oval, announced that both a complete program of auto racing under sanction of the American Automobile Association and a full card of motorcycle racing under sanction of the American Motorcycle Association, will be offered to fans.

"This double attraction will provide the opportunity for fans to see both types of racing the same day so they can decide which provides the best racing," Mr. Richwine stated.

Time trials for the cycle races are to begin at 11 a. m.

Vaccination of Chickens and Turkeys

In spite of several new vaccines there is not enough known about them for the average poultry farmer to take the chance, and you should restrict your vaccination program to either one, or two, or all of the following vaccines: Chicken pox, laryngotracheitis and Newcastle.

Chicken pox vaccine should be used in all areas where the disease is prevalent and where it is not? The vaccine costs only about a cent a bird and is good for a lifetime. There is a general rule for all vaccines that whenever you have used one, you must continue the same vaccination for all replacement birds, year after year. The best time for chicken pox vaccination is between 10 to 14 weeks of age. At any rate, not later than three weeks before you may expect the first eggs, which with Leghorns and New Hampshires, is at about four and a half months. At the time of vaccination, birds should be absolutely healthy, and when they do not appear in good condition, do not vaccinate them until they have regained their health, or use pigeon pox vaccine. It takes birds at least two weeks to recover from the shock of chicken pox vaccination, therefore it is inadvisable to vaccinate them when laying. It would cause them to molt.

Pigeon pox vaccine does not protect for a lifetime. Its immunity does not last longer than three months. It should be used when an outbreak of non vaccinated birds occurs, or when the birds in poor condition have to be vaccinated. There is no use of vaccinating sick birds. In case of a chicken pox outbreak, vaccinate the well ones only, when the majority are not yet sick. Turkeys must be vaccinated against chicken pox, the only vaccination commonly used for turkeys, at about 10 weeks of age. They do not acquire immunity for a lifetime as chickens do, therefore it is necessary for breeders to re-vaccinate them about the time when the meat birds go to market. There are many farmers who are using no vaccine at all until they have trouble. This method is like not carrying fire insurance until after the fire. Other vaccinations and multiple vaccination will be discussed in Pointer 82.

Excellent Safety Record

Scheduled airlines in this country delivered 99.99 per cent of their passengers safely in the past five years, Jerom Lederer, director of the Flight Safety Foundation, reports. "In the next five years about 90 million passengers will use our scheduled air services and there is every reason to believe the safety record will be even better," Mr. Lederer says.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Eyer, Mrs. George Stouter, Mrs. John Sprinkle and children, Frederick and Delores, visited in Cumberland, Md., last Friday.

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

Baltimore grain markets strengthened further during the week ended April 21. Wheat made another sharp advance of about five cents per bushel. Yellow corn advanced about two cents per bushel. Barley and oats remained firm on the Baltimore market. Yellow soybeans advanced about three cents per bushel while black soybeans gained about two cents per bushel.

National Grain Market

Grain markets continued to strengthen at the close of last week-end, and prices of the principal grains reached a new high for the season. Continued unfavorable crop prospects in the southwest, some improvements in export inquiry and small offerings were strengthening influences in the wheat market. Prices of ordinary protein types advanced around two cents per bushel, except on the Pacific Coast where the market was independently weak. Continued heavy feeding of corn and active demand for current marketings were principally responsible for the advance of two to three cents per bushel in prices of that grain. Oats and barley strengthened with corn but unfavorable weather for seeding in northern areas was an additional strengthening influence. Oilseeds were quite firm. Soybeans advanced to a new season high of $2.76 1/2 per bushel at Chicago.

Maryland Feed Market

The Baltimore feed market strengthened during the ending of last week. Wheat millfeeds advanced sharply almost 6% on the Baltimore market last week. Standard bran is about $4.11 per ton higher and standard middlings, about $4.21 per ton higher. Linseed oil meal increased over 2%—$2.20 per ton more than a previous week. Gluten feed made a sharp decline of almost 5% on the Baltimore market during the same period—$3.35 per ton less. Feeds showing declines of about 2% to 3% are: distillers' dried grains—$1.76 per ton less, and 17% dehydrated alfalfa meal—$1.63 per ton less. Broiler prices averaged 28.3 cents per pound during the week, while 20% broiler mash on lower Eastern Shore averaged $94.49 per ton. Based on these prices, one pound live weight of broilers would buy six pounds of feed.

National Feed Market

Sharp advances in wheat millfeeds featured the feed market during the week of April 18, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. A continued good demand, together with light available supplies resulting from recent heavy feeding in northern areas, was principally responsible for the strength in millfeeds, prices of which advanced $4-$5 per ton. Corn byproduct feeds were steady to slightly firmer. Oilseed meals declined slightly. Offerings were generally adequate for trade needs. The market for commercial mixed feeds was rather unsettled. Dairy feeds were generally in good demand at steady prices. Poultry rations containing a high percentage of millfeeds were firm to higher but those composed largely of grains were generally slightly lower. A prospective drop in hatchings of spring chickens caused feed distributors to purchase supplies cautiously. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices advanced more than five points, to 224.2. The feed grain index held unchanged at 201.6. These indexes compare with 235 for feedstuffs and 198.2 for feed grains a year ago.

Expert Advice On Pruning Shrubby

As these first warm days of spring roll around, many home gardeners start pruning all of their ornamental shrubs. In many cases this is a grave mistake. The summer flowering plants should be pruned in the early spring, but those which bloom in the spring should be pruned after they have finished flowering.

Ornamental horticulturist at the University of Maryland explains that the spring flowering shrubs such as Forsythia, Flowering Quince, Flowering Almond, and VanHoutte Spirea produce their flowers on wood that was grown the previous year and early pruning will greatly reduce the bloom. The others which bloom in the summer produce blossoms on wood grown this spring and should be pruned very early in the spring.

Mr. Cornell adds that pruning is a gradual rejuvenation process, not a butchering job. Most plants should not be pruned severely. The extent of the pruning often depends on the condition of the shrubs. If plants such as Azaleas, Rhododendrons, and Mountain Laurel are spindly, they may be cut back right after flowering. Otherwise, no pruning is necessary except to remove the old flower clusters before the seed pods are formed.

The first step to take in pruning shrubs is to remove the dead, diseased, or broken stems from the plant. A few of the older stems should then be removed as close to the soil as possible. Cutting all the shoots to the same height is undesirable because the plants appear unnatural and give a broom-like appearance.

Although pruning is necessary to keep shrubs looking nice, too much pruning at the wrong time can easily ruin ornamental plantings.

Chevrolet Dealers Back Safety Drive

"Check Your Car, Check Accidents." With this as the slogan, Chevrolet is urging its 7,000 dealers to get behind the National Safety Council's drive to promote safety in May.

Chevrolet proposes a 10-point program for safer cars. Check covers brakes, steering gear, tires, wheel alignment, exhaust system, windows and windshield, rear vision mirror and windshield wiper, horn and lights.

"If every motorist will see that his car gets this ten-point check-up during May it will be a definite contributing factor toward safety on the highways and streets," said E. L. Harrig, director of the service and mechanical department, Chevrolet Motor Division. "We believe that Chevrolet dealers will do their part in promoting this worthy drive of the National Safety Council."

Executor's Sale

By virtue of the power and authority contained in the Last Will and Testament of Annie M. HEALTH COLUMN

TB Isn't "Licked"

Complete victory over the enemy is the goal of every war. No military leader or soldier is satisfied with mere "progress" against the enemy.

So it is in the battle against a communicable disease such as tuberculosis. Progress has undoubtedly been made in this country against tuberculosis, which has been forced down since the turn of the century from first to seventh place as a cause of death. Yet tuberculosis today kills more people in "the prime of life"—young adults between 15 and 34—than any other disease.

Tuberculosis is taking close to 45,000 American lives annually. It is estimated there are approximately 500,000 cases of tuberculosis in the United States, but only about half of these cases are known to the health authorities. Most of the 250,000 "unknown" cases are people who do not even know that they are ill, yet their lives are in danger and they may be spreading disease.

We must find those quarter-of-a-million unknown cases so that treatment can be provided for the individual and the spread of the disease prevented. And these unknown cases of TB can be found. They can be found by means of the chest X-ray examination of every adult, even apparently healthy ones. The X-ray can detect signs of tuberculosis even before there are obvious symptoms.

Case-finding is only one weapon against tuberculosis used in communities all over the country. Other major weapons include health education, treatment, rehabilitation, and medical research.

The individual can take an active part in the nation-wide battle against tuberculosis. First of all, he should have chest X-rays at least once a year. He should also find out what is being done to fight tuberculosis in his community and give his active support to sound measures taken to bring tuberculosis under complete control.

St. Joseph's High Seniors To Present Play

Recently there has been a great deal of speculation among theater-minded people as to whether or not the theater has gone into a permanent decline. This applies to the legitimate theater, of course.

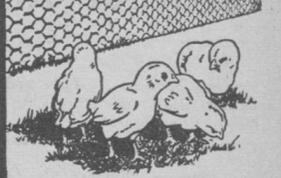

The movies, radio and television have made heavy inroads and this has crippled the legitimate stage to a great extent. But it is our firm opinion that nothing can ever completely kill the longing of those who enjoy seeing clean, wholesome entertainment as performed by flesh and blood actors and the real test will take place the evening of June 2, when the Senior Class of St. Joseph's High School produces for the first time in Emmitsburg, Joyce Andrews' fascinating comedy, by the title of "Leave It To Mother."

The play is being given by special arrangement with Samuel French, the largest and most important play publisher in the world.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Butter and cheese, acquired by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture under price-support programs, have been added to the list of foods available free to school lunch programs and to public and private welfare agencies for the assistance of needy persons in Maryland. This was announced this week by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

Fifteen million pounds of butter and five million pounds of cheese have been offered free of cost to eligible agencies at the point of storage, in accordance with provisions of Section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949. Agencies receiving the commodities must pay shipping and handling costs from storage points. They also must agree to distribute the commodities only to those whom the agencies determine to be eligible under approved program outlets, and to agree not to reduce their expenditures for food because of the receipt of the donated commodities.

This action increases to five the number of commodities available for donation. Surplus stocks of potatoes, nonfat dry milk solids and dried eggs have been offered to eligible agencies for distribution in this country.

No Supports On Turkey Prices
To help producers plan their 1950 production, the Dept. of Agriculture has announced that there will be no price support program this year for chickens—including broilers—and turkeys.

Mr. Blandford explained that price support for chickens and turkeys is not mandatory under the provisions of present legislation. While such supports were required from 1942 until this year, purchase programs for these commodities were necessary on only a few occasions.

Factors considered by the Secretary of Agriculture in determining whether a non-mandatory price-support operation shall be undertaken include the perishability of the commodity, its importance to agriculture and the national economy, and the ability of the department to dispose of stocks acquired through price-support operations.

About nine million pounds of turkeys have been bought so far under the 1949 program, but the department is obligated to make further purchases of turkeys still in storage in July, 1950. Most of the purchases have been transferred for use in school lunch programs.

Acreage Guides Suggested
As a guide to commercial vegetable growers in developing production plans for the last half of this year, the PMA has issued a series of acreage and production suggestions, according to Mr. Blandford.

In general, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture agency suggests acreage of sweet potatoes about the same as last year, acreage of summer vegetables about three per cent less, acreage of fall vegetables about three per cent less, and acreage of truck crops for processing about nine per cent less than in 1949.

If yields average about the same as in recent years, PMA officials said that these acreages would result in production of sweet potatoes about three per cent less than in 1949, production of summer vegetables about three per cent less, production of fall vegetables about six per cent less, and production for processing about 13 per cent less than in 1949. In these calculations, melon crops have been included with vegetables.

No increases in vegetable acreage are suggested. Among the summer crops produced in the Northeastern States, PMA suggests the same acreage as last year on the following: cabbage, cantaloupes, carrots, early cucumbers, lettuce, late onions, spinach, tomatoes, and late watermelons. Among summer crops for which acreage reductions are proposed are the following, with the figure indicating the suggested percentage of 1949 acreage: lima beans 95, snap beans 95, beets 96, cauliflower 95, celery, 96, sweet corn 90, late cucumbers 90, early onions 95, green peas 85, and late green peppers 95.

Among fall vegetables produced by Northeastern farms, PMA suggests the same acreage last year for cabbage, carrots, early celery, and lettuce. Reductions are suggested, to the percentages of 1949 acreage indicated, for the following fall vegetables: early snap beans 90, cauliflower 90, late celery 95, and early spinach 95. State Police Participate In Safety Drive

The Maryland State Police announced this week its participation in the nation-wide highway safety campaign sponsored by the National Safety Council. "CHECK YOUR CAR—CHECK ACCIDENTS" is the theme of the campaign for May and the State Police will display on the rear bumper of all patrol cars a safety slogan reading "DRIVE A SAFE CAR."

"While national surveys indicate that the majority of highway accidents are due to human failures," commented Col. Jarman, Supt. of State Police, "yet it is known that defective vehicles are the cause of a substantial number of such accidents—13% in 1948. Therefore, it makes good sense to check your car periodically for defective brakes, lights, steering, glass, and tires. To 'DRIVE A SAFE CAR' is the mark of a careful driver—he knows that it is his responsibility to drive a safe car, and he knows also that the life he saves may be his own."

Chief Cause of Labor Discord

The Labor Dept. has reported that more than half the heavy total of strike idleness in 1949 was due to labor disputes over union pension and insurance demands.

One Out of Five Are Chevrolets

In the record-breaking production of 6,243,572 passenger cars and trucks in 1949, Chevrolet accounted for 21 per cent of all passenger cars and 34 per cent of all trucks, a break-down in figures reveals.

committees, Ralph S. Trigg, said, "They represent our best judgment of desirable levels of these commodities, after considering various factors, to provide adequate supplies for consumers and favorable returns to growers. Growers will not have individual and absolute acreage allotments, but they should understand the percentage-change features of these suggestions, which can be applied to the individual farmer's acreage."

"The department contemplates no price support program for vegetables in 1950," Mr. Trigg stated. "No requests for price support or assistance will be considered in areas where growers have substantially exceeded the suggested acreage for the commodity."

State and county PMA committees in areas where commercial truck crops are produced will hold meetings with growers to explain the suggested production guides and to discuss supply and demand factors on which they are based.

HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

The Talented Onion

Are onions among the staples you keep on hand for constant use? They should be, say home economists of the Maryland Extension Service. As a food by themselves, they are good prepared in any number of ways. And as a "pepper-upper" for other dishes, they have no equal. Or, as someone once said, "No other seasoning can do so much for so little."

Yes, because onions have the happy talent to make other foods taste better, they're important in your kitchen. In recipes for everything from soufflé to stew, you'll find onion juice, or grated, chopped or sliced onions listed among the ingredients.

For a hearty appetizer, try French onion soup, rich with beef stock, thick with onions, and garnished with crisp toast cubes and grated cheese. Dice onions for fish, meat, and vegetable salads. And for super sandwiches, combine chopped onion with diced pimento and mayonnaise, and spread on rye bread.

Pressure Cooker Not So New

The pressure cooker isn't such a modern invention after all. The British Information Service tells us that they were in use back in the 17th Century, although in those days they were called "digestors." They were mentioned in John Evelyn's Diary for April 12, 1682, when he said he "went this afternoon with several of ye Royal Society to a supper which was all dress'd, both fish and flesh, in Monsieur Papin's digestors, by which the hardest bones of beefe itselfe, and mutton were made as soft as cheese without water or other liquor..."

According to our British friends, the "digestor" which caused so much excitement actually looked very much like the modern pressure cooker, valve and John Larkin thinks he's found a sure-fire way to make a baseball fan out of your best girl. It worked for him!

John and I were having an informal lunch-interview at Chero's, as he regaled me with the gay tale of the days when he was first courting pretty Teri Keane, who stars in "Life Can Be Beautiful", and found that she knew practically nothing about baseball—and took a dim view of it, too.

"This was serious," John said, his blue eyes twinkling, "so I sat down and figured out what to do. I'm a rabid Yankee fan, myself, and my best girl had to at least like the game."

But John's training as fast-thinking "Perry Mason", on the famous CBS serial, hadn't gone for naught, and with fine understanding of feminine psychology, he first introduced Teri to Joe DiMaggio. Teri was charmed and impressed.

"So next I took her to a Yankee game, handed her a pair of binoculars, pointed out Joe on the field, and from then on, selling her the game was all smooth sailing!" Last year about this time I interviewed John for this column, and told you something of the background of the dynamic young actor; our conversation the other day, though, was mostly of the exciting future John and Teri are planning. They hope to be married this summer, and have begun collecting early American antiques for their apartment.

John finds his role as Perry Mason stimulating and worthwhile. Appeals have been made by various government officials, including President Truman, for radio to make more of a concentrated effort at mass education against the dangers of crime... and the current "Perry Mason" story line falls right in with this.

"I read that Rep. Jacob Javits of New York, stated on the floor of the House the other day that he wished radio could be utilized more than ever to drive home to the public the dangers of crime," I commented, "and I hear Perry Mason is now engaged in waging war against a narcotics ring within a huge crime syndicate, in the current episode."

"The show's scripts are realistic and down-to-earth," John agreed, "I feel as if these were real problems, happening to real people. In fact, 'he grinned,' I 'love my work!'"

Feather-bedding scheme of Firemen's Union to put an additional fireman on diesel locomotives has been

Fact Finding Boards appointed by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman have said these demands were "devoid of merit" and they were

FEATHER-BEDDING!

LEADERS of the Firemen's union have called a nationwide strike starting with four great railroads on April 26. These railroads are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Southern.

The union claim that a second fireman is needed on grounds of safety is sheer hypocrisy. Safety has been dragged into this dispute only in an unsuccessful effort to give a cloak of respectability to vicious feather-bedding demands.

After a careful study of the first demands of this union, a Presidential Fact Finding Board on May 21, 1943, reported to President Roosevelt that there was no need for an extra fireman on diesel locomotives.

Again, on September 19, 1949, after a second hearing on the union leaders' demands, a second Board reported to President Truman that: "there presently exists no need for an additional fireman... upon either the ground of safety or that of efficiency and economy of operation."

Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good

Although the railroads accepted the Board findings, the union leaders have brazenly rejected them. They represent that an extra fireman is needed for "safety" reasons. Here's what the Board had to say on that point:

"The safety and on-time performance of diesel electric locomotives operated under current rules have been notably good...
"Upon careful analysis of the data submitted on safety, we have concluded that no valid reasons have been shown as a support for the Brotherhood proposal under which a fireman would be required to be at all times continuously in the cab of road diesels. The proposal must be rejected."

The real reason behind these demands is that the union leaders are trying to make jobs where there is no work. In other words, a plain case of "feather-bedding."
The railroads have no intention of yielding to these wasteful make-work demands.

water until it swallows. Bright colored marbles, or finely chopped green feed, or rolled oats may be placed in the mash in the hoppers to interest the poults in the feed.

Later in the season, the turkeys should be put on a good green range to reduce feed costs, and produce good quality birds at marketing time. Finally, Dr. C. F. Combs of the Poultry Department at the University of Maryland, recommends that turkeys should not be held any longer than necessary after they are ready for market.

Crab Catch Higher

The Maryland hard crab catch was 21 million pounds in 1949, an increase of 25 per cent over the catch in 1948.

Boy Scout NEWS

By HENRY H. CHARLTON
Scoutmaster, Troop No. 284

Friday, April 21, the Boy Scouts met at 5 p. m. for a supper meeting and camp fire. The supper and camp fire were held on Mr. Peter Long's property, just outside of town, under direct supervision of the four patrol leaders.

Saturday morning the troop held a food sale, the proceeds of which will be used to send a representative to the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa.

The troop goal was realized at this food sale and we wish to thank all parents who donated things for the sale. We particularly wish to thank Mrs. Andrew Eyster, Mrs. Guy Baker and Mrs. Sanders for giving their time to the administration of the sale.

The boys are continuing their paper collection to increase the camping fund in order that the entire troop may go to Camp Theodore Roosevelt this summer for a week or two.

The boys of the troop attended the installation services of Cub Pack 284 Tuesday evening.

The troop committee will hold its monthly board of review in the near future. This board is the troop advancement committee. Its function is to examine the boys who have passed the required number of tests for advancement to the next rank in Scouting.

You May Be Eligible For Social Security Benefits

The 12th article of "Our County and Social Security" illustrates the difficulty older workers have in getting work and how Social Security helps solve the problem.

Today, an actual case. One which might very easily be your own.

An elderly man, whom I will call Mr. Watson, came to our office with this problem. He had owned a business and did well. During the depression he lost his business. He tried to find a job, for although he had a small income, he knew it would last only a few years. Everywhere it was the same story. "Sorry, we want younger men," or "Sorry, no vacancies." He finally had to move to another town and make his home with his only child, a son. Mr. Watson's wife had died several years before.

Six months ago, Mr. Watson's son died leaving him with no support. I asked him why he had not inquired earlier about possible benefits. He said that he did not want to ask for charity. I explained to him, that if his son had worked long enough under the Social Security Act to be insured and that if he, Mr. Watson, met the requirements for entitlement, any benefits he would receive would not be from charity because his son had worked under Social Security and had contributed to the Social Security fund.

Mr. Watson then wanted to know what requirements he would have to meet to get benefits. I told him that his son would have to have been insured under the Act at the time of his death; not survived by a widow or any children under 18 years of age; that he would have to prove that he was chiefly dependent upon his son at the time of his son's death; that he would have to prove that he was 65 or older; and that he would have to file an application for benefits. Well, to make a long story short, Mr. Watson met all requirements and filed his application for benefits.

Mr. Watson will receive $20 a month as long as he lives provided he does not work in covered employment and earn over $14.99 a month. For these months in which he does work, he cannot receive his Social Security checks. His monthly payment will start again after he stops work. But, he can work in employment not covered by the Social Security Act and still get the check from the Government. I told him if he did return to work and was not sure whether or not the employment was covered, to come in to see me for there is a penalty for not notifying the Social Security Administration about returning to work in covered employment. A representative from Hagerstown will be in Emmitsburg on May 22 at 11:30 a. m. at the postoffice.

Century-Old Battle Over Chesapeake Bay Fisheries Continues Between Maryland and Virginia

Maryland and Virginia engaged in a long series of disputes over the fisheries and over the rights of navigation in the Chesapeake Bay and Potomac River. Its original charter gave Maryland full jurisdiction over the Potomac River to the lower water mark on the southern shore. Virginia held complete jurisdiction over the lower Chesapeake Bay and claimed the right to levy tolls on Maryland vessels outward or inward bound through the Capes.

To settle these disputes, the two states, in 1785, entered into a solemn compact or treaty in which each state made certain concessions in return for privileges granted by the other. Among other provisions of the Compact, Virginia agreed to permit vessels bound to or from Maryland to pass through the Capes without any duty, toll or tax. In return Maryland agreed to give Virginia fishermen the same privilege in the Potomac River which Maryland fishermen enjoy.

The Constitution, adopted in 1789, placed interstate commerce, under control of the Federal government. It denied the right of any state to levy tolls against the shipping of any other state and assured Maryland vessels free passage through the Capes. The Constitution thus refuted that part of the Compact of 1785 which assumed that Virginia could collect tolls on Maryland vessels. The Constitution left intact, however, that part of the Compact which gave Virginia fishermen access to the Potomac. Consequently, since the establishment of the Federal government, the Compact of 1785 has been a one-sided bargain. Maryland still permits Virginia fishermen to operate in the Potomac River, but receives in return no equal privilege.

As matters now stand, Virginia fishermen may operate in the Potomac merely by the purchase of a Virginia license from Virginia authorities. Since the Potomac lies within the boundaries of Maryland, Virginia has been reluctant to make any expenditure to develop or restore the Potomac fisheries. Maryland has been equally reluctant to expend funds in the Potomac where Virginia fishermen would share in these benefits. Within recent years, it has become increasingly evident that the two states have a common stake in certain other fishery resources. For example, the crab fishery of the two states is supported by a single crab population hatched in Virginia waters near the Capes. The two states likewise exploit the same populations of shad, herring, croaker and sea trout. In view of these circumstances, a joint Maryland-Virginia Commission was established in 1947 to restudy the Compact of 1785 and the fishery problems of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

This special Commission recommended that the Compact be amended to provide for a permanent Maryland-Virginia Commission having control over the fish and crab resources of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries and over the oyster resources of the Potomac River. In 1949, the Maryland General Assembly adopted the proposed amendments which, however, will not become effective until adopted by Virginia and approved by the Congress.

During the 1950 Session of the Virginia General Assembly, a series of bills was introduced providing for a joint Maryland-Virginia Commission to manage the oyster fisheries of the Potomac River. Maryland authorities, however, felt that such action would merely reaffirm and strengthen Virginia's claims in the Potomac which, after all, is Maryland territory. Therefore, the Maryland General Assembly replied by passing a Resolution urging the fishery commissions of the two states to continue their efforts to find a plan mutually acceptable to both states for the joint management of all the fishery resources of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries. A similar resolution has been prepared by a member of the Virginia Senate and is now under consideration

Governor Proclaims "Safety Week"

In an effort to alert the public to the loss in time and earnings from industrial accidents, Wm. Preston Lane Jr., Gov. of Maryland, has proclaimed May 1-6 as "Safety Mobilization Week."

The Governor called upon all the citizens of the state as well as labor organizations and safety groups to co-operate with the Safety Dept. of the State Industrial Accident Commission at its annual State-wide Safety-Health Conference.

As an addition to the usual sessions on occupational accident prevention and the control of occupational diseases, the conference has been enlarged to include highway traffic safety, community safety, and industrial nursing.

Kirk Douglas, virile film star who often appears on CBS's "Family Hour of Stars," has finally solved a slight contretemps which arose as a result of his role of a fighter in "Champion." In restaurants and other public places, Kirk is constantly being approached by belligerent characters who saw the movie and wish to announce that they think they can lick him. Kirk says that now, when he enters a night club and is shown to his table, the first thing he does is to bang his hand on the tabletop and announce in firm, ringing tones, "Anyone in this room can lick me!" "That," Kirk affirms, "stops 'em cold."

Among her tele-viewing admirers is the publicity director of the Norwegian America Line. When the new luxury liner Oslofjord was in New York after its maiden voyage recently, the shipping company arranged a round of gay activities and invited members of the press and celebrities aboard to inspect the vessel—and Miss Wood was among those attending. Surrounded by Norwegian accents she couldn't resist a quip, as she and the Chief Officer were having their picture taken. "If," suggested Peggy, "you were all Swedes instead of Norwegians, this could be termed a smorgasbord of sounds."

Winner of a recent "Wendy Warren Women's Commentator" Contest," sponsored by CBS's "Wendy Warren and the News," Lolly Vernon of Station WHGN, Reading, Pa., told her yarn about the newest wrinkle in child care. It seems that a group of Detroit pediatricians have decided that sticking to rigid schedules with babies is hard on their nervous systems, and that the "self-regulating" idea, whereby the baby, by making his wants known, works out his own schedule, is the best way to give him a feeling of security. Fascinating to Wendy, who is the mother of three herself, is that the idea came from the Okinawans. These hard-pressed people during the war, were found to have unusually strong nervous systems—and investigation proved that the now scientifically approved "self-regulating" method of child care was the reason.

County Teachers Banquet In Frederick

On Tuesday evening at 6:30, more than 175 teachers of Frederick County attended the annual banquet held in the ballroom of the Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick.

Decorations were particularly effective in honor of the United Nations, with flags of the various countries and other items significant of the nationality of the members.

After the delicious meal of Maryland roast turkey and all its accompanying viands, Mr. Lawyer of Thurmont and Emmitsburg, in the absence of Arvin P. Jones, principal of the Emmitsburg Schools, due to illness, introduced the officers of the Frederick County Teachers Assn.:

Miss Dora Magha, president; Mrs. Zelma Smith, first vice president; Harry Frushour, second vice president; Miss Pauline Van Pelt, secretary, and Miss Irma Stull, treasurer.

Mr. Lawyer then called upon Mr. Eugene Pruitt, county superintendent, to make known the honored guests, the retired teachers of Frederick County.

Miss Edna Leiter, Mr. Biehl, Marion K. Green, Mrs. Tyson, Mr. William Hauver, Mrs. Hal Lee Ott, Miss Castle and Mr. Clem. He also introduced Mr. George Rhoderick Jr., president of the board of education, who made a few well chosen remarks as did Mr. Pruitt.

Mr. Lawyer thanked the several committees in charge of the banquet arrangements carried out by the teachers of the Emmitsburg School.

Mr. C. T. Thompson, president of Thompson's Business College of York, Pa., was presented by Mr. Lawyer and he proceeded to announce the musical numbers to be given by the students of the college.

One outstanding feature of the program was the playing of several of the national anthems of the United Nations countries, tying the whole program in with the idea of International Night.

The banquet closed with the singing of our own National Anthem, The Star Spangled Banner, by Maryland's Francis Scott Key.

Super Highway Believed Possible In Five Years

As the result of a dinner meeting held Wednesday night at the Hotel Gettysburg, attended by representatives of the highway departments of Pennsylvania and Maryland, the Chambers of Commerce of Gettysburg and Frederick, representatives of Emmitsburg and Thurmont and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, it appeared that a Memorial Highway between Gettysburg and Washington, D. C., was still at least five years in the future, and if built, will by-pass not only Emmitsburg, but Frederick, Thurmont and Gettysburg.

Samuel Hays and George Wilhide and Ross V. Smith represented Emmitsburg and Thurmont respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Eyer of Thurmont, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of their third son at the Waynesboro Pa., Hospital on last Friday afternoon. The baby, weighing 7 pounds, will be named Joseph Albert. The other two sons are Joseph Galt, 14, and Joseph Eugene, aged three years. The Eyers are well-known throughout a wide area through their large public sales and for their interest and skill in harness racing.

Son Born

George T. Keech, Baltimore real estate broker, formerly of Creagerstown, has negotiated the sale for Bernard J. Retz and wife, of their farm near Motters, to Robert A. Nicolls and wife of Baltimore.

The farm, formerly known as the Mumma place, is situated near the road leading from Motters to the Monocacy, containing 28 acres; improved with seven-room dwelling, outbuildings, etc. Mr. Retz purchased the place last summer from Charles Lottes and wife, through Mr. Keech.

FARM SOLD

Miss Marie Rial returned to her home near Emmitsburg, on Wednesday after spending the winter months at Bradenton Beach, Fla.

Miss Mary Fiery, State Teachers College, Towson, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fiery.
