Our congratulations to Prof. Eckenrode on his election to the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce. We are of the opinion that a better man could not have been selected. A business man and a former college professor, Mr. Eckenrode appears to have all the qualifications and more, than are required to fulfill this position. . . Things are expected to move swiftly for the Chamber, now that it has begun operation. Already a communication has arrived from an industrial concern wanting to locate in a small town. One sad feature, which we knew would hinder us sooner or later, is the glaring fact that we are without rail transportation. It was a sad occasion when the former Emmitsburg Railroad shut down, quite some years ago, because of lack of business. We predicted then that the old iron horse would some day haunt us for its extinction. . . It seems that the new industry wanting to locate here requires rail transportation or facilities for its very existence. . . Woe is us. No railroad, no industry. However, the Chamber is not disheartened. . . Many other concerns do not require this means of transportation, and it is the hope of the local Chamber of Commerce to coax one of these into the community.

Just a few words of information that are prerequisites for a Chamber to have at their fingertips. Let's say an industrial engineer of a large concern confronts the officers of the local Chamber with these questions: What is the population of your community? What transportation facilities are available? What is the capacity of your reservoir? What are your power rates, water rate, tax rate? What is the elevation of your location? What fire protection have you and what are your insurance rates? How much land is available for building? What are the educational facilities of the town? How many churches exist? What recreational facilities have you? What is the number of employables available in the town, neighboring town or cities? Do unions operate here? What are the prevailing rates of pay? Can you provide adequate housing facilities for employees? Is there a newspaper available? What is the number of physicians at hand? These are but a FEW of the answers the officials of the Chamber will have to have available, so you see that putting a Chamber of Commerce into effect is quite a major operation. I should think it would take a year at least just to compile all this data. I also believe that some of you good citizens have a lot of this information at your fingertips. . . If you have, why not be good sports and part with some of it to any of the members of the Chamber. They are working for you, and you and you. . . Let's all get behind them and boost our community. . . not KNOCK. . . 'Tis a tremendous job putting new transfusions into the old body. . . BUT IT CAN BE DONE!

COMMUNITY FUND TO AID AFFLICTED GIRL

Plans Discussed For Holding Fall Minstrel

The Community Fund of Emmitsburg held its regular monthly meeting last Friday evening in the Fire Hall, Chairman Lumen F. Norris, presiding.

The Fund began preparations to tackle its second case in recent months. The first attempt at administering good will and help in the community occurred several months ago when a television set was purchased and given to young Frank Stinson, who underwent an amputation of one of his legs.

Attention of the Fund has been called to the unfortunate case of a local young girl, who is suffering a tremendous physical handicap. At present the child is attending the Maryland State School for the Deaf in Frederick. The child had an infection which left her deaf and dumb. It is understood the young silente is also in need of dental and other medical assistance. The Fund readily agreed to sponsor the project.

Up for consideration as a money-raising endeavor was the staging of a benefit baseball game to be held in the near future. Three plans are under advisement. First, a game between the local members of the Pen-Mar and Penn-Maryland Baseball League teams; secondly, a contest between the local Pen-Mar team and an all-star combination, and third, an exhibition game between Emmitsburg and either Thurmont or Taneytown. Final decision will be reached within the next two weeks.

Another enterprise under study is the presentation of a fall minstrel. John Law has been asked to direct the production, assisted by Dr. J. J. Dillon. It has been possibly a dozen years or so since anything of this type of entertainment has been held here, and it is believed it will prove a good money-maker.

Members of the organization decided to change the place of meeting from the Fire Hall to the VFW Home on the Square. A letter of thanks has been sent to the Vigilant Hose Co. for their kindness in permitting the use of the Hall. An invitation is to be extended by the Fund to the newly-formed Chamber of Commerce to place a delegate on the board of directors. The Fund will meet again at the VFW Home on Friday, June 16.

Racing Pigeon Tarries Here

Young James Sanders of Emmitsburg Rt. 2, had a unique experience this week when an unscheduled carrier pigeon arrived at his home. The bird, competing in a 200-mile race from Orange, Va., to Shamokin, Pa., evidently became fatigued or lost.

After watering and feeding the pigeon for a day, Jim wrote a note and placed it in the capsule the bird was wearing, informing the owner in Shamokin of the activities of the fowl.

Released Wednesday, Jim said the carrier stayed around the premises until Friday and then took off. Several days later Jim was the recipient of a card from John O. Fertig, Shamokin, notifying him the bird had arrived there last Saturday safe and sound, and expressed his thanks to Jim. The owner also said, in his card, that the pigeon is scheduled for two 300 and one 500-mile races in the near future. Wonder if he'll stop for refreshments again, Jim?

EHS Seniors To Present Play

The senior class play of the Emmitsburg High School entitled, "Leave It To Mother," will be presented on Friday evening, June 2, with Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, directress.

The cast includes Hazel Keilholtz, Ruth Neighbors, Lois Bentz, Sue Stinson, Anna Mae Linn, Beverly Miller, Betty Ann Hollinger, Gary Troxell, Ruby Cregger, Clyde Keilholtz, and Gene Toms.

BEAUTY CONTEST IS OPEN TO LOCAL GIRLS

"Miss Frederick" To Be Selected; Will Go to Atlantic City

Announcement has been made by the Frederick Optimist Club that the Miss Frederick Pageant will send their winner to the State finals of the Miss America Pageant, which will be held in Baltimore, at the Lyric Theater, June 24, 1950.

The judging for county entries will take place June 9, at the Frederick High School at 8:00 p. m.

Emmitsburg and district girls, between the ages of 18 and 27, who are high school graduates, or will graduate in June, and who are unmarried, will be invited to compete for the honor of representing Frederick at the State finals.

Chairman C. Lease Bussard announces his entries committee has begun the search in earnest for the Miss America "we believe is quietly residing in Frederick or Frederick County." She will not be the most glamorous girl in the world, nor perhaps the most talented, but she will be a typical American girl with charm, poise, intelligence, character and a sincere ambition to develop her talents through the opportunities offered by participating in this contest.

She will be seeking one of the 16 educational scholarships, that amount to $25,000, offered annually by the national finals of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

The committee is asking the citizens to aid it in its search for Miss Frederick. "If she lives next door to you, won't you write us a letter or telephone us the information," said Mr. Bussard. "We will then contact her and her parents so that they will fully understand how our contest is to be conducted and why she has been invited to participate."

It is easy to apply for entry as a contestant for the title of Miss Frederick and the opportunity to participate in the national finals of the Miss America Pageant, to be held in Atlantic City, Sept. 4 to 10. All that is necessary is to fill in the official entry blank appearing elsewhere in this paper and mail it to Miss Frederick Pageant, Box 310, Frederick, Md.

Phone Company Not to Appeal Increase Denial

Reluctantly this week, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company acquiesced to the Public Service Commission's denial recently for further rate increases.

The utility notified the PSC it was not going to appeal the case to the courts.

Locally, it is not known, whether the action would halt the proposed installation of dial equipment in Emmitsburg.

The company repeated its contention that the Commission's opinion on the fair value of its property is less than the actual fair value. It reserved the right to contest in any future proceedings the findings of the PSC which followed extended hearings several months ago.

Previously the Commission had made permanent a temporary rate hike of $4,000,000 annually, but denied the company's request for more than $2,000,000 beyond that.

The utility's letter to the PSC took issue with its valuation of $111,594,909, as a basis on which to determine the rates. It stated, however, the company would not pursue efforts for further tariff increases now.

Concerning the rate base valuation, the company declared the Commission's findings "are not in compliance with the law of Maryland and are not supported by a reasonable interpretation of the evidence of the case."

Qualifies As State Pharmacist

Mr. William A. Frailey of Emmitsburg and Washington, D. C., has recently been advised by the Maryland Board of Pharmacy that he is registered as a pharmacist in Maryland, as well as in the District of Columbia.

What's Your Name?

By JULES CHRISTIAN

Today's column presents one of the best known sons of Emmitsburg. After a career as an educator, he now serves the community by operating the well-known Book Nook on E. Main Street. Here is a shop of good taste where books, stationery, phonograph records, 24-hour photo service, greeting cards, novelties, and gifts can be secured with courteous attention. The operator of this shop is

BERNARD J. ECKENRODE

Mr. Eckenrode was born in Emmitsburg, son of Vincent J. and Emma J. Eckenrode, who came here from Conewago, Pa. He is one among the most cultured and best educated citizens of Emmitsburg. A graduate of Mt. St. Mary's College with both the A. B. and A. M. degrees, he took post graduate work at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore. After this achievement in scholarship, he entered the teaching profession. He first taught at Brooklyn, a preparatory Jesuit College. Then he taught at Mobile, Ala., where he met and married his first wife, Anna J. Eckenrode, who died some years ago. His daughter, Ann, by this marriage, is now secretary to the president of Loyola College, Baltimore.

Mr. Eckenrode's second wife was Mary Lynch of Norfolk, Va. Now he has two other children, a son, Bernard Jr., age 3, and a daughter, Marie, age five months. Congratulations. After leaving his positions in Mobile, Ala., Prof. Eckenrode taught at St. Joseph's College. In addition to his present business at the Book Nook, he is a member of the Knights of Columbus, president of the newly formed Chamber of Commerce, the Holy Name Society, former member of the Fountain Head Country Club. He likes to collect old coins, book matches, stamps, and enjoys fishing and golfing.

This highly esteemed citizen of Emmitsburg has traveled very extensively. He has been in every state of the Union and most of Canada. He saw the World's Fair both at San Francisco, and later at New York City, and believes that the former was the better of the two. The achievement in life he cherishes most, is the Fourth Degree K. of C watch charm of gold and platinum, which was given to him by the students of the K. of C at Mobile, Ala. He held Faithful Navigator in the Fourth Degree K. of C., Grand Knight of the Third Degree in Emmitsburg for 14 years. For 6 years he was the Department Deputy in Maryland. Thus, it can be seen that Prof. Eckenrode has achieved a place of distinction and leadership in both the field of education and the Knights of Columbus.

MEANING OF NAME

Eckenrode is a name of German or Dutch origin. English forms of the name are recorded in the Domesday Register of 1086 A. D. The name is made up of two German forms combined into one, or a compound word. It was chosen by its founder to indicate a personal characteristic. The first form is Eck from which so many names in this vicinity and elsewhere have been formed, such as Eck, Ecker or Eckard. The Anglo-Saxon names beginning with Eg come from the same source. As such it means sword.

The other form of the name, Rode, is taken from the Old German Hrothi, meaning fame. Other forms of the same origin have been spelled in different ways, such as Rhode, Roght, Ruda, Rudd, etc. At one time Eckenrode was spelled Eckenroght. This second half of the name was chosen to indicate that its founder had clothed himself with glory or devoutly wished to do so.

The name indicates the area wherein the founder proved his prowess. That was in the skilled use of the sword as a brilliant warrior in the defense of his people. This might refer either to the military or spiritual era of life. Thus, Eckenrode means the glorious warrior. And the meaning of the name has been well exemplified in the accomplished career of Bernard J. Eckenrode.

Walter To Play Infield Position On American Legion Junior Team

team.

One of the local lads to be seen in action this year on the American Legion Junior baseball team, sponsored by the Francis X. Elder Post, is John H. Walter.

John, a 12th year student at St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, is a son of the well-known Emmitsburg contractor and Form-Stone installer, John W. Walter.

Besides playing baseball, John loves to play basketball and football. He is a member of the high school basketball team, a former member of the local Boy Scout troop, and belongs to the Junior Holy Name Society.

The young lad was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1933. He will play an infield position on the Legion team which opens its season Saturday, May 27, against Hampstead away.

Miss Barbara Peters Becomes Bride Of Leroy Vaughn at Saturday Wedding

Miss Barbara Louise Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Peters of Emmitsburg, became the bride of Leroy Kenneth Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vaughn of Taneytown Rt. 2, last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis Staube, pastor of the bride, in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends.

The bride wore a grey gabardine suit with green accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. She was attended by her sister, Mary Teresa Peters, who wore a grey suit with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom chose as his best man Donald Kessler, cousin

Stealing Coal for Old Mother, Or How to Doll Up a Snowman

By BILLY ROSE

If the man who was yard detective at the East River tugboat terminal 40 years ago will drop around to my office, I'd like to present him with a pair of down-front tickets for the show playing at my theater.

What did the yard dick do to rate these front-row ducts? Well, I can't answer that one without sketching in a bit of my bumptious background...

The year Senator Taft's pop became President, the Roses were living in a railroad road flat on the lower East Side—four rooms in a row, each with a window that leaked cold climate. Our central heating system consisted of a squarish stove in the kitchen, and the cost of coal being what it was (15 cents a bag), it was seldom that the home fires were burning.

Billy Rose

Most of the time I went around the house with a lady's stocking stretched over my ears, but when it got so blustery that even that didn't help, I would stick an old flour bag into my pants, ease my way into the yard back of the tugboat terminal south of Manhattan bridge, and swipe as much coal as I could carry from the piles used to fire the boilers of the tugs.

Then, as now, I was built close to the ground and fast as all get-out, so I usually got away clean as a clinker from the yard detective—an oyster-faced little man whose idea of a good time was to catch two coal thieves at once and knock their heads together.

One murderously cold February, I was stuffing an old sack with choice chunks of anthracite when the dick sneaked up and caught me black-handed.

"Don't ya know what happens to kids who steal?" he said. I could have told him they get warm, but decided not to.

"Don't tell me—let me guess," he went on. "Ya got a poor old mother and unless ya bring home some coal she'll catch her death at cold."

"How'd ya know?" I said. "I also suppose yer old man hasn't worked in six months."

"It ain't that long," I said, "but he don't make much even when he does work."

"A dozen times a day I hear the same story," said the yard detective. "I know it like I know my name."

Suddenly, to my unbelief, he handed me the bag of coal and walked away. "Don't let me catch ya again," he said.

As I got to the gate he yelled, "Wait a minute," and scaled a silver dollar in my direction. "Maybe this'll help out."

I picked up the buck, floated out of the yard and kept floating until I came to a vacant lot on Rivington street where a bunch of my pals were making a snowman.

"Did ya get it?" one of them asked.

"Nothing to it," I said.

We used two lumps for the eyes, a large chunk for the nose, a few smaller pieces for the mouth, and there was enough left over for a row of buttons down the front and a belt clear around the middle.

What did I do with the dollar? Well, there was a little cutie on Rivington street who had never given me a tumble, and so I offered to buy her a hot chocolate at Slickin's drugstore.

"You mean you got money?" she said.

"I not only got for hot chocolate," I bragged, "but for movies and after, maybe, ice cream."

"That would be peachy," said the little doll, flashing the kind of smile that in later years I had to give up diamonds to see.

Well, there it is, the nasty little secret I've been harboring for 40 years. I won't go as far as to say it's been keeping me awake nights, but—well, I'd feel a lot better if the old yard detective were to pick up those down-front ducts.

ANGLING ANGLES by old Hi

Let me tell you about some of the new features built into certain items of tackle, which will be giving you greater sport and more assurance of making better catches of game and pan fish this season if you take advantage of them.

A lot of interest is being shown in the glass rods. There is a one-piece solid glass bait casting rod five and one-half feet in length, that is mounted with three chrome-plated guides and tip-top and has an aluminum offset hand grip. Old Hi has found this rod to be flexible, strong and durable. It shoots a plug out with speed and accuracy.

It's amazing to think that half a million glass fibers are pressed into one five-foot casting rod. These fibers are fused into a solid tip through the use of special resins. The life of a glass rod, handled with ordinary care, is almost beyond belief.

There are woven or spun, hollow center glass rods for salt water fishing, such as for surf casting, still fishing, and light trolling. You can get a fiber glass bay rod with 39-inch tip section, rubber butt cap, and metal locking reel seat that is ideal for taking weakfish and flounders.

If you have any questions about glass rods, drop me a letter, in care of this newspaper, and I'll pass the dope on to you. And if you plan to visit the seashore this season, send for your free copy of Old Hi's booklet, "Salt Water Sports Fishing." At the same time ask for your copy of "Fishing For The Millions."

In sending letters for personal reply, or postcards for booklets, please be sure to write or print your name and address plainly.

Those who go spinning will be glad to know that one of the best fixed-spool reels has been improved by placing a "line retainer" on the edge of the spool to prevent the line from dropping behind the spool and snarling.

This spinning reel also has a new slip arrangement on the bail type pickup, so that the arm goes back farther and cannot be hit and sprung accidentally. Bait casters who hurl plugs at night or on dark days, will find the new, better-glowing paint finish to be a great advantage. The plugs show up brighter and thus have a wider area of attraction. These may be obtained in standard patterns, such as with red head and white body, scale finish, shore minnow, and pikie.

The upright model of the automatic fly reel is proving to be highly popular with all anglers. This style gives the rod better balance since the weight is placed in a more normal position; hence casting is much easier.

Booklet Describing Flag Furnished Free

It was announced this week that once again the United States Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Baltimore would make distribution to civic organizations and clubs, copies of their booklet, "How To Respect and Display Our Flag."

June 14 is the National observance of Flag Day and the Baltimore recruiting sergeant urges all civic organizations and clubs to take advantage of his offer of free copies of this beautiful booklet.

The booklet is reproduced in full color and contains over 30 pages of the origin, history, and proper method of displaying flags on National and State holidays. Among the many interesting stories in this booklet is the Origin of Flags, the Story of the Stars and Stripes, Early American Flags, and the History of Old Glory with the U. S. Marines.

A limitation of one per organization or address will be enforced. For your free copy, simply address a card or letter to: Marine Recruiting Sergeant, Post Office Bldg., Baltimore.

Rosecroft Raceway Opens Monday

More racing stables are arriving at Rosecroft Raceway, Oxon Hill, and Stable Superintendent John Kirker is assigning them to quarters at nearby Marlboro.

Indications now are that more than 600 standard breeds are ready for action when the Maryland harness racing season gets under way Monday night, May 22.

Trainers have been taking advantage of improved weather conditions to get in some intensive training for their charges before the grand opening.

Racing fans also will find improved road conditions in reaching the track. The resurfacing and widening of St. Barnabas Rd., connecting Maryland State Highway No. 414 and Brinkley Rd. near the track entrance, is progressing rapidly and will be completed by Monday. Improvements also are being made in the Oxon Hill Rd. connecting the Indian Head Rd. and S. Capitol St. and leading to the track.

George Gingell, local sportsman will have his stable racing at Rosecroft when it opens Monday, as will the Eyer Stable, headed by Joseph Eyer of Thurmont, C. W. Eyer and Merle F. Keilholtz.

Those from Emmitsburg who were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kekner, of near Baltimore, were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bentz, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glacken, and Miss Hazel Glacken. Mrs. Kekner is a sister of Mrs. Bentz and Miss Glacken.

Braddock Heights Readies For Opening Season

Braddock Heights Park will open May 30, it was announced this week by park officials, and will feature the many attractions that have proved so popular in the past.

The giant, 12-car ferris wheel which first went into operation last year, will again be spinning over the park, offering an unequalled view of the Middletown Valley.

In addition, the swimming pool, the skating rink, the bowling alleys and other attractions have been completely overhauled and repainted. Braddock's miniature train, pony rides, giant slide, merry-go-round, and kiddies ride will also be open for business on Decoration Day.

The famous Mountain Theater, located on the park grounds, has announced as its stage schedule for the 1950 season such favorites as Dulcy, Harvey, Born Yesterday, Kiss the Boys Good-bye, and The Heiress. Noted personalities from Broadway and Hollywood will be starred in these and the other Mountain Theater productions.

The stage shows will start on June 21 and will be offered each week, Wednesday through Saturday.

It was also announced by Braddock officials that the mountaintop dance pavilion will be available to groups and clubs for rental. Accommodations may be arranged by contacting your P-E office in this area.

Mother's Day visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Romanus Florence were Richard Florence, University of Maryland, Miss Carol McCoy of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Redding and family of Gettysburg, Pa.

Rights and Social Justice

There are many factors working against continuation of American liberty for the individual and one of the most dangerous is the antagonisms between groups of Americans effectively against an enemy themselves.

One of the worst blights in America today is the conflict which propagandists have built up between employers and employees. This war of group against group is actively agitated by Communists and other radical elements working for a new "Social Order."

Social Justice Only Decrees

The true interests of both labor and management are identical. Employees of a business or industry always have a moral right to request an increase in pay when there is increased productivity for which they are directly responsible.

Wage raise requests are just, therefore, when the employees have themselves helped to boost productivity and, thus, company income. Though social justice may in some instances decree that they be given a share of profits or wealth they didn't help create, they have no moral right to demand that.

Investors Have Rights, Too People who invest their savings (capital) in the establishment and operation of a business have the right, under the American system, to keep the profit. The only moral obligation on them is to accord just treatment to the employees and the public.

Therefore, the demand of Socialist or Communist propagandists for a share in the profits of a business solely on the basis of their so-called "Social Justice" or "Economic Democracy," and ignoring the fundamental rights of the business ownership, can never be harmonized with the philosophy of American capitalism or real human justice.

Contrasting Principles Dave Beck, leader of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, said in a recent speech: "There is no problem in human relationships so complex or so grievous that it cannot be solved reasonably, if men of character, men with a sincere desire to co-operate in mutual confidence, will sit down together around the conference table, respecting the rights and dignity of the other, and all inspired by the will to serve the common good."

That's a good statement. It is in contrast to one made a few weeks later by Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the

Health Column

Suppose a relative, a friend or a neighbor received his medical discharge from a tuberculosis hospital and was coming back home, ready to become a part of community life again. What would your reaction be?

Your first reaction should be one of admiration. The former patient has successfully fought a heroic battle against a serious, communicable disease. His cure was due to the fact that he carefully followed the advice of the doctors and staff at the tuberculosis hospital, and his co-operation with them meant above-average courage, will power, and perseverance.

While the ex-patient was fighting his disease in the hospital, he gained a special knowledge of healthful living which could excite envy. He learned to live sensibly, in a way that will help him get more out of life than the person who has never been seriously ill and foolishly squanders what health he has.

We should feel respect and gratitude toward the person who has licked his TB. In entering a hospital to fight his communicable disease, the ex-patient at the same time was protecting his family and associates, since in its active stage tuberculosis is communicable.

Finally, our attitude toward the ex-patient should be one of unqualified welcome and acceptance. If anything, he will be an unusually valuable member of the community because he knows the value of self-control, of sensible living, of perseverance, and of sound health.

There are, unfortunately, some people who simply do not understand the former patient's medical discharge means that it is safe for him to leave the hospital and that it is safe for anyone to live or associate with him.

There is no need to worry about contact with the ex-patient who has received his medical discharge. On the contrary, since tuberculosis has no symptoms in an early stage, it is the person who never gets a physical examination or a chest X-ray who could be a hazard. It is the undiscovered cases of tuberculosis—apparently healthy people who have the disease without knowing it—who may spread the disease.

Approximately 150,000 people are employed to supply ice for the U. S. every summer.

United Automobile Workers, in a speech to Chrysler strikers. He was quoted as saying: "When we grow a little stronger we will demand all that we produce." This goal ignores the "rights and dignity" of the investors who build the plants and finance purchase of the machinery, raw materials and managerial skill to provide the jobs. It is a disruptive statement, not a harmonizing one.

Laying Cages

Every method of raising chickens has advantages and disadvantages. So there are with laying cages certainly quite a number of disadvantages as for instance, the large amount of space needed per bird, the capital investment per cage, the amount of labor per bird, because each cage has to be taken care of individually. One advantage, which outweighs the disadvantages, is the maximum amount of eggs which one can obtain, because in a smartly-organized cage plant, one can keep records about each bird without difficulty, and one can not only detect broody birds quickly, but break them up at the same time. It is most economical to keep two birds in one cage. A good trick to know which bird laid an egg, and which one of the two in the same cage did not lay, is to house a white egg-laying bird with a brown egg-laying one. If you find a brown egg only, you know that the white egg-laying rooster was idle and when you find a white egg you may assume just as safely that the brown egg-laying bird was striking.

There are laying cages being manufactured with a roll-out lip below the feed trough, which is outside on front of each cage. It is quite amusing to watch a brooding hen in a sloping wire floor cage. After she laid her egg, it rolls out under the feed trough, but is stopped by a turning lip of the wire floor. The brooding hen goes down on her knees to "investigate" where her egg disappeared. She tries then to get it back, and sometimes succeeds with her rescuing job. Right after all her successful efforts, when she got her egg back she starts ruffling contentedly her feathers, turns around to sit on her egg again, but as soon as the poor girl starts sitting she loses her egg again by means of her keeper's trick device.

Laying cages are quite economical for a small flock where the housing facilities are rather poor, and average egg production without cages is below normal. (If you like to know more about laying cages, drop a post card for free information either to this paper or to Fred Block, Gettysburg, Pa.)

HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

Spring Fever

While you're still involved with spring housecleaning, it's a good idea to double-check all storage closets. Make sure your oily cleaning cloths are tucked in a covered metal container. Clean out your medicine cabinet and throw away dosages for cured-and-gone disease, old razor blades and such. Move the more dangerous medicines to the top shelf, after marking them plainly.

And while the urge is still strong, check up on your husband's housekeeping, too. It will pay you in safety insurance to see how he stores his greasy rags, if he has a convenient place for his tools rather than leaving them strewn about the floor or standing precariously in corners, and if he's repaired that loose stair tread.

Spring Clean-Up Week is a good incentive for doing this job thoroughly. "It's better to clean up than burn down."

Planning on Canning?

If you intend to do some canning this year, make a schedule now of the products you expect to "put up," and just how much of each variety. This will determine the equipment you'll need, and may prevent rush jobs and midnight sessions over a hot stove. Test your pressure canner, too, to avoid a last minute repair job or spoiled food.

Bring Down the Ceiling

If high ceilings make your rooms seem cold and poorly proportioned, try one or two of these ideas from extension home furnishings specialist.

Give the windows special treatment, with deep valences which break the height of the walls, or deep swags that also interrupt that long look. Ruffled curtains make a window look lower, and ruffled criss-cross curtains in sheer rayons are especially good, since they also appear to fill up the expanse of wall. Bold patterned draperies "bring ceilings down"—splashy designs are in proportion to a high room and help to hold it together. Horizontal draperies are good, too, because they cut the height of the wall.
Since warm colors make any room seem cosier, red, yellow, pink, and peach in furniture coverings, lamps and draperies ward off a barren look. Patterned rugs help by focussing attention on the floor, and, by contrast, make the ceiling appear less high. Of course, these rugs should carry out the color scheme of the room.

Well-Known Drivers To Compete At Grove Sunday

Two drivers well known to Central Pennsylvania racing fans, who miraculously escaped death or serious injury in separate accidents 10 days ago at Atlanta, Ga., today signified their intentions to compete in the big car auto racing program scheduled for Sunday on the Williams Grove Raceway. They are Lee Wallard, of Altamont, N. Y., and Otis Stine, York, Pa., both old-time veterans of the raceways.

Wallard escaped injury when his car overturned in a heat race at almost the same spot Mike Joseph, of Philadelphia, lost his life in time trials on the same day. Stine emerged unscathed, when his car rolled into the lake in the infield during the feature race.

Roy Richwine, owner of the Cumberland County oval, said he had heard from the owners of both cars that they will endeavor to have them "ready to go" again Sunday.

Herman Hoppe, owner of the car driven by Stine, was successful in having his car towed from 30 feet of water in which it had submerged, while the Donleavy Offenhauser, driven by Wallard, was also badly damaged in the accident.

One of the gamest drivers in the country, Wallard is slated to drive the Lou Moore car, driven to victory in the "500" in 1948, and to second place last year by Mauri Rose, in the Indianapolis Classic on Memorial Day.

The fact that he was back in another car to compete in the feature race at Atlanta, is evidence of his daring and one of the reasons he is picked by the racing fraternity to win the classic this year. It is also reminding of this retort several season ago when his car was demolished at the start of the feature race at Williams Grove, and he asked for another car to start in the event when it was restarted, to be in-

Planning
Commissions
Honor Pasarew

I. Alvin Pasarew, director of the Maryland State Planning Commission, was elected to the board of directors of the Association of State Planning and Development Agencies at the association's fifth annual conference in New York City last week. As chairman of the Association's Public Works Planning Committee, which brings together from all parts of the nation outstanding authorities in the field of public works, Mr. Pasarew presented the committee's policy report, entitled "The Role of the State Planning Agency in Long-Range Public Works Planning."

Mr. Pasarew noted that the state planning agency "can render valuable service in the orderly planning and projection of public works, especially among state programs and state projects, and in the maintenance of proper relationships between state expenditures for needed physical improvements and present an estimated future state revenue." Emphasizing that the role of a state planning agency should generally be advisory rather than mandatory, Mr. Pasarew pointed out that "the final responsibility for public works expenditure should rest with the governor and the legislature."

In the field of public works planning, Mr. Pasarew's report pointed to the fact that the greatest contribution that a state planning agency can make is "to build up, stimulate, and render assistance wherever possible in the development of long-range county and municipal construction programs, including plans for sound financing."

In addition to his new office, Mr. Pasarew serves as chairman of the Baltimore Metropolitan District Planning and Coordinating Committee and as member of the committee on medical care, the program planning committee and the technical committee of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, and the aid to small business committee of the Southern Assn. of State Planning and Development Agencies.

Court Says "Slow Down"

Do you slow down when you are blinded by the headlights of an approaching car? If you don't, you should. That's the word of the Maryland Court of Appeals. It handed down the headlight decision recently in a case growing out of a 1948 accident in Allegheny County. Maryland's highest court held that a driver is required to slow down if he is blinded by the lights of another car.

Thurmont Senior Class Plans
Staging Play

The senior class of Thurmont High School will present a comedy entitled, "Tish," on Friday and Saturday, May 19 and 20, at 8:15 p. m. in the new auditorium of Thurmont school in Thurmont.

"Tish" is another of Mary Roberts Rinehart's delightful stories which you have read many times in the Saturday Evening Post. Now Alice Chadwick has adapted these stories for the theater and turned them into a gay and joyous modern comedy.

The scene of the play is the great Southwest, near the Mexican border. In that colorful locale, Tish, a perennial spinster, and her companions experience a variety of strange adventures.

The cast of characters and the members of the senior class are Tish, Elizabeth Reid; Lizzie and Aggie, Tish's close companions, Anne Smith and Dorothy Barnhart; Ellen Leighton, who runs the Eagle Hotel, Ruby Lidie; Charita, her Mexican maid, Dorothy Dewees; Luther Hopkins, hard-headed and hard-hearted. Foyd McAfee; Callie Hopkins, his daughter and a friend of Ellen's, Janet Lohr; Charlie Sands, Tish's charming young nephew, Joseph Cover; Bettina Trent, a most unhappy young lady, Betty Lou Kelly; Sheriff Lem Pike, who has romantic tendencies, Earl Davis; Wesley Andrews, a most engaging young man, Harold Weybright; Denny Grimes, a moving picture director, Ronald Boward, and Dorice Gaylord, a movie actress, Alice Bittner.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. William Bensinger, this play packed with hair-raising thrills, will give you an evening of delightful entertainment.

Individuals Happy at Discovery Of Eligibility for Social Security Benefits

Today, another straight-from-life story taken from our claims files. We shall use a fictitious name, of course, because our files are confidential.

Frank Holt had always been an active man and at 66 he felt that he had plenty of working years ahead of him. His wife had died some time before, and he made his home with an only son and his family. You can imagine that his great joy in life was playing the role of "Gramps" to his grandchildren.

His health began to fail and his son finally persuaded him to see a doctor, who told him he had a serious heart condition and would have to stop work at once. Mr. Holt became alarmed, not because he was ill, but because he had never saved much money, and he faced the prospect of becoming a burden to his son, who had his own responsibilities. He was a badly worried man until he visited our office and learned that he would receive retirement insurance payments of $37.62 each month for the rest of his life.

Comparing $37.62 with the present high cost of living, you would say that is not a lot of money, and I would agree, but it was enough to make a lot of difference to Frank Holt. What was worrying him, of course, was that he wouldn't be able to contribute to the household funds for his board and lodging, as he had always done in the past. Now he can do that and have a little money left for himself, especially to get a gift now and then for his grandchildren. He needed a rest after a lifetime of work and he's getting it. He's feeling better. He still has the children he loves around him. And he's very thankful for Federal Insurance. A small regular income can lend dignity to a man's life when his working days are over.

Our office is located in Hagerstown at the postoffice. A field representative will be at the postoffice in Emmitsburg on Monday, May 22, at 11:30 a. m.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Growers and handlers of Irish potatoes produced in Delaware and along Maryland's Eastern Shore will have a chance during the period May 22-26 to approve or disapprove a proposed marketing agreement and order program for locally-grown potatoes. Price support for the 1950 crop of potatoes from this area will hinge on grower approval of the order. This was announced this week by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee.

The proposed program was considered at a public hearing on Jan. 18-20 at Salisbury, and its adoption was recommended by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture on May 2. Under the proposal, administration of the program would be in the hands of a committee of growers. No specific grade, size, or quality requirements are included in the proposed order, but a method is established whereby the committee and the Secretary of Agriculture can recommend and issue specific grade, size, quality, and maturity regulations on shipments of potatoes out of the production area. The entire state of Delaware and the Maryland counties of Worcester, Somerset, Wicomico, Dorchester, Talbot, Caroline, Queen Anne, and Cecil are included in the affected production area.

Ballots, voting instructions, and copies of the proposed agreement and the order effectuating it will be mailed during this week to growers who produced and marketed potatoes from the area during calendar year 1949. Ballots are to be returned by mail no later than May 26. Under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, at least two-thirds of the growers voting—by number or volume—must approve the proposed order before it can be issued. Under current legislation no price support will be available for 1950-crop potatoes grown in this area unless such a marketing program is in effect.

Handlers of potatoes grown in the area during calendar year 1949 will receive in the mail copies of the proposed agreement, which they may sign and return through May 26. Handlers of 50 per cent of the affected potato volume must sign the agreement to make it effective, but if the requisite number of growers approve the order the secretary may issue it, even if the agreement is not signed by the required number of handlers.

In order to make the voting of this question as representative as possible, all eligible growers and handlers are being urged to return the completed ballots or signed agreements before the terminal date of May 26. Any eligible grower or handler who fails to receive his ballot or agreement by May 22, is urged to request one from the county committee of the PMA.

Few Maryland Apples to Govt.
Few Maryland apples from the 1949 crop went to the government. Of the 42,021 bushels distributed through school lunch and similar programs, only 30,037 came from Maryland. This, according to an announcement by Mr. Blandford amounted to less than one per cent of the apples purchased by the government. This amounted to only two per cent of the Maryland crop.

Loans Still Important
Price support loans to farmers have been important factors in determining domestic wheat prices since 1948 when a near record crop was produced in this country. They will continue to be important, states M. Blandford, in spite of recently lowered estimates of 1950 production.

He explains that, barring growing conditions from now on which are below average, the wheat crop this year will again be larger than domestic disappearance and exports. This takes into consideration a 121-million-bushel drop in the expected winter wheat crop below last December's estimates. Continued dryness, insect infestation, and acreage abandonment in the southern Great Plains are chiefly responsible for the drop to the current figure of 764 million bushels.

While production of spring wheat has not yet been estimated, yields per seeded acre equal to the 1944-48 average should produce about 300 million bushels on the acreage farmers have reported they intended planting. Total wheat production in 1950, therefore, would amount to 1,064 million bushels.

With a domestic use of near 700 million bushels and a prospective 1950 carry-over of about 450 bushels, a crop of the indi-

Maryland War History Goes to Press

The first of four volumes detailing Maryland's participation in World War II is on the presses and will be published shortly by the Maryland Historical Society.

Compiled by Harold R. Manakoe, director of the Society's War Records Division, the first volume will deal entirely with famous Maryland military organizations, military installations within the State, and active military personnel.

Sketches in the book will cover campaigns of the Maryland combat units, services of the medical detachments from Baltimore's medical schools, and the exploits of individuals at the top and in the ranks.

The new history shows that Maryland furnished 250,786 men and women to the combined armed forces, 6,439 of whom died in line of duty.

Largest Free State contribution to the combat effort was the Maryland contingent in the 29th Blue and Gray Division, which was composed entirely of Maryland and Virginia troops and retained its home-state character throughout the European invasion.

A complete list of all the towns liberated by the Division from D-Day to Bremen and of all the Marylanders who served overseas with the group, and details of the more important battles in which the Division was engaged are contained in the book.

The Free State staffed four well-known general hospitals in the Pacific combat area, and most of another in the European theater.

Several chapters are devoted to wartime military installations within the State, including Ft. George G. Meade, Aberdeen Proving Ground, the Patuxent Naval Air Base, and the Army and Navy Message centers, which covered the world from within the State.

Other important operations were the Army Mapping Center and the Navy Hydrographic Center, which furnished most of the maps and charts used by the services.

The amphibious training base at Solomon's Island sent out the men who landed on Pacific beachheads.

These and hundreds of other installations are dealt with in the book. There were others whose operations were so secret that details about them have still not been revealed.

The Historical Society will furnish the book to Maryland school libraries free and copies will be on sale to the general public. Other books in the series will deal with the State's industrial contribution, the honor roll and home-front activities.

The U. S. Post Office Department's air mail service is now 31 years old.

ated size would provide about 314 million bushels for export during the coming season and for carry-over July 1, 1951. Exports of about 300 million bushels in 1950-51 would leave about 500 million bushels carry-over, which compares with the record high of 631 million in 1942 and the pre-war average of 235 million.

Wheat prices usually start to adjust to new crop conditions after the middle of May, but the adjustment this year may be delayed because of the short crops in Texas and Oklahoma.

If the crop turns out as now indicated, however, prices for the 1950 crop will fall below the loan following harvest but should average close to it for the marketing year as a whole. Price-supporting loans on the 1950 wheat crop are provided at 90 per cent of parity as of mid-June. If the parity price is the same on June 15 as on March 15, the national farm loan rate on the new crop would be about $1.93 per bushel, compared with $1.95 for the 1949 crop. The rate for No. 2 Hard Winter at Kansas City would be about $2.19 per bushel, compared with $2.20 for the 1949 crop.

HEALTH COLUMN

ACNE

The skin ailment known as "acne vulgaris," characterized by the chronic appearance of facial pimples and blackheads, is a fairly common affliction. Doctors estimate that more than half the population in this country is subject to it at some time or other.

Acne occurs most frequently and with greatest severity, in boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 25. At one time, acne was considered just "part of adolescence," and ignored as something that would be outgrown eventually.

Doctors today feel that acne, especially when neglected, can be very serious. Even when acne is only a temporary facial disfigurement, it can do a person permanent harm, leaving "mental scars" as well as physical ones. A person, particularly a sensitive adolescent, who suffers from the facial blemishes of acne, might develop feelings of shyness, extreme reserve, or inferiority which can carry into adulthood and cause him much misery and unhappiness.

Acne is the medical term for chronic inflammation of the oil glands and hair follicles of the skin. The formation of numerous pimples and blackheads is the skin's attempt to wall in these tiny infections and keep them from spreading and getting into the bloodstream.

There are different types of acne, due to various causes, and the doctor or dermatologist is the person to determine the cause and prescribe the right treatment. The sooner the condition gets medical attention, the better the chance of arresting or curing it. "Home care" or neglect frequently spread the blemishes or even encourage the development of more serious infection.

Acne is often stubborn to cure, but medical research is constantly uncovering improved treatments for it. A recent effective treatment, studied in a Midwest hospital, combined simple diet restrictions and rules of skin cleanliness with daily applications of a cosmetic-like antiseptic lotion. The simplicity and economy of the treatment, practicable for the medical doctor as well as the skin specialist, offers new hope to the acne victim. But again, all treatment of acne should be under the supervision and advice of the doctor.

No one has ever died of acne, but thousands of people allow it to make them miserable because they do not realize that simple medical care can help or cure the unsightly condition.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, has handed the people of his country an eleven billion dollar budget for 1950-51 and served notice that both taxes and Government spending must remain high permanently if Britain wants to keep its social benefits and freedom.

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

Baltimore grain markets, following the national trend, made further gains as last week ended. Demand was fair. Wheat advanced about six cents per bushel on the Baltimore market. Yellow corn gained one to two cents per bushel. Barley was firm. Western oats were steady to higher on the Baltimore market. Yellow soybeans declined about two cents per bushel while black soybeans lost about four cents per bushel last week.

National Grain Market

Grain markets made further gains last week influenced principally by unfavorable prospects for the 1950 crop. Market offerings were only moderate while demand was rather active. Wheat prices advanced four to five cents per bushel; corn two to three cents; oats and barley two to five cents per 100 lbs. Soybeans turned weaker following sharp advances and prices were down one to five cents per bushel from the previous week. No. 2 yellow soybeans reported on May 11 at Chicago at $3.06½ to $3.07½ per bushel.

Maryland Feed Market

The Baltimore feed market was firm during last week. Supplies sufficient for trade needs; demand fair. Meat scrap advanced sharply almost five per cent on the Baltimore market—$5.30 per ton higher than a week ago. Feeds that showed increases of two to three per cent were: standard middlings, $1.73 per ton higher, brewers' dried grains, $1.80 per ton higher, and linseed oil meal, $2.3 per ton higher. Distillers' dried grains declined more than 2% during the past week—$1.62 per ton less than last week's average.

National Feed Market

Feed markets held generally firm during last week, influenced principally by steady demand as a result of continued cool weather and lateness of pastures, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices moved up nearly four points, to 245.6. The feed grain index was not materially changed and stood at 209.7. A year ago these indexes were 225.9 and 187.6 respectively. The principal strength was in grain by-product feeds and soybean meal. Bran and middlings advanced $1-$2, gluten meal and digester tankage about $2, and soybean meal around $1 per ton. Cottonseed, linseed, and alfalfa meals were barely steady.

Mr. Charles Peters, Philadelphia, returned to his home yesterday, after spending several days with his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Peters, Center Square.

Ted Beard Suffers Fracture Of Wrist

Frederick County's latest contribution to the major league baseball, will be out of action for at least a month, advices from Pittsburgh said this week.

Ted Beard, Woodsboro, whose acknowledged speed on the paths and in centerfield for the Pirates has just been further enhanced in value by a rising batting average, was injured in last Friday's night game, sliding into a base.

Beard sustained a fractured wrist and was hospitalized, midway in the arc-lighted game between the Bucs and the Cubs at Chicago. The injury came after the Woodsboro big-leaguer singled for his second time of the evening.

The Pirate outfielder's batting ability had been under criticism by top Pittsburgh National brass. It is understood he was "on trial" since his recall to the major league club this season.

When injured, Beard was sporting an average of .238 and it was slowly increasing.

Three Will Share In Estate

Three children of the late Alonzo M. Williar, of Thurmont, will share in his estate, according to the provisions of his will, which was admitted to probate this week by the Orphans' Court.

The estate consists of real estate in Thurmont. A daughter, Mrs. Mettie W. Boller, is given an option to buy the residence on East Street, Thurmont, within 6 months, at the appraised value. If she declines to exercise the option, the property is to be sold and the proceeds divided between Mrs. Margie W. Finneyfrock, Mrs. Boller and Gilmer Williar. Any other assets are to be divided by the three children.

Gilmer Williar of Salisbury, qualified as executor. The will was executed October 18, 1947, and witnessed by Charles McC. Mathias and Miss Dorothy T. Keyes.

Suggestions for Early Tomato Planting

Some suggestions for the production of top quality early tomatoes were listed this week by Edward K. Bender, vegetable specialist at the University of Maryland. This included a use of strong healthy tomato plants, 8 to 10 inches tall with a leaf spread about equal to the height, when transplanting, set the plants two or three inches deeper than they were in the pot or flat; avoid use of too much nitrogen fertilizer or manure, and much plants not staked.

Mr. Bender reports that staked tomatoes usually produce better quality fruit but have a smaller yield. However, staked plants may be planted closer together and hence, yield about the same total production in a given area. A more detailed list of suggestions is available from county agents.

County Commissioners Asking State For Funds for School Buildings

The County Commissioners late this year, or early in 1951, Saturday signed resolutions to be forwarded to the State Department of Education formally indicating that they will ask for State funds for school construction at Brunswick, Emmitsburg and Woodsboro.

The resolutions are not applications for funds. They give notice to the State what the county contemplates and are used, it is understood, with similar information for other counties, in determining the amount of bonds which the State will issue during a certain period for school work.

The resolutions, prepared by the Board of Education and presented to the commissioners today by Superintendent of Schools Eugene W. Pruitt, give a rough estimate of the probable cost of the school work.

A new Brunswick elementary school is estimated in the resolutions to cost around $420,000. It will have around 16 classrooms. An Emmitsburg High School addition, to include an auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria and possibly other rooms, is estimated at around $180,000. A four-room public school at Woodsboro is estimated at around $103,000.

One-fourth of the cost of these improvements will come in the form of an outright grant from the State. The remainder is expected to come from the State bond pool as a long-term loan.

The resolutions included general description of the buildings contemplated, the probable facilities, the status of the program as to whether land has been purchased, and other items of general information.

As the commissioners understand it, plans and specifications for the buildings may be ready within the next three months but no money—or very little at any rate—is expected to be needed any more this year. It is anticipated that an actual application for funds may not be made until home last Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock, following an illness of several years.

She was born in Fairfield, Pa., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Hoffman. Besides her husband, she is survived by three children, Mrs. Frank Clabaugh, Mrs. Charles Stitley and John F. Hoffman, Keymar; a brother and sister, Charles Hoffman, Harney; Mrs. Lillian Good, Hanover, Pa.; six grandchildren and one great grandchild. She was a member of the Reformed Church at Fairfield.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 p. m. in Woodsboro Funeral Home. Interment in Fairfield Union Cemetery.

Tall 'n' Tiny on "LCBB"

Announcer Bob Dixon, who's 6'3", and Teri Keane, who's just over five feet in height, get into a lively discussion on NBC's dramatic daytime serial, "Life Can Be Beautiful". Seems that Bob, who comes on at the beginning of the program to tell the audience just how things stand with "LCBB'S" characters — and again at the end, to sum up happenings, claims "Chichi", the heroine, has just talked herself out of a job. Teri, on the other hand, is sure that "Chichi", who is employed by a crusty old spinster, can convince the old lady to keep her. And she should know — since lilting-voiced Teri is "Chichi"!

Catholic Students' Mission Crusade

The regular monthly meeting of the Blue Ridge Conference, Catholic Students' Mission Crusade was held on the afternoon of May 16 at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg.

Presided over by President George Greco, the opening prayer was said by Fr. Charles Dausch of Hagerstown, moderator of the conference, and the Crusaders were welcomed by Fr. O'Donnell, director of the Seminary.

Members of the Seminary Choir charmed the audience with several selections, including "Jesu Rex Admirabilis," "Veritas Mea," "Regina Coeli," and "O Sacrum Convivium."

A member from each of the five units was awarded the Paladin Jewel and another member from each of the units was awarded the Archbishop's Medal. Both medals are in recognition of faithful service for the Missions. For St. Joseph's High School, William Myers received the Paladin Jewel, and Robert Jordan, the Archbishop's Medal.

The topic for discussion was "Why I Would Like to Attend the 14th Annual Convention of the CSMC this Summer." The speaker was Robert Jordan.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Fr. Dausch. Immediately after this, refreshments were served.

Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given in the college church.

35 Catholic Students Make First Communion

Thirty-five young children of grade-school age, made their First Communion last Sunday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg. Father Francis Stauble, pastor, celebrated the mass, which was held at 8:30 a. m.

The young communicants, resplendent in their white attire, marched from St. Euphemia's School in a body to the church. Hundreds attended the mass and after the celebration, many of the parishioners took pictures of the children. A breakfast was served the kiddies in St. Joseph's High School auditorium.

Those who received were Rita Welty, Carol Wenschoff, Sally Miller, Martha Jane Randolph, Donaldine Gelwicks, Margaret Hobbs, Dorothy Shorb, Euphemia Hobbs, Rebecca Chrismer, Geraldine Little, Shirley Glacken, Patricia Van Brakle, Lois Williams, Elsie Stouter, Jeff Fitzgerald, Philip Topper, Raymond Topper, Eugene Miller, William Ott, Petie Tokar, William Topper, Larry Topper, Thomas White, Wayne Warthen, Arthur Elder, Roy Sanders, Raymond Cool, James and Robert Wormley, Paul Stouter, Vincent Brenner, John Troxell, Richard Yoemans, and Robert and Clyde Brewer.

Susan McLaughlin visited Sunday afternoon with "Becky" Naille of Bridgeport.

Fascinating Fashions By Judy Seaton

Summertime, with its informal activities and al fresco parties, is a season of fun and outdoor festivities. To look your best this summer in informal cottons and sheers calls for a trim, lithe figure; outdoor life also focuses attention on the oft-neglected portions of the female figure — elbows, feet and legs. Now is the time, a month before you start planning beach picnics, to take stock of these points after a winter's inactivity.

There are a number of simple home exercises which, conscientiously practiced, can do wonders for form and feet. A few minutes each day is all that's needed to tone up the system and put you in shape for the coming summer.

For fundamental beauty and health, the two feet you stand on cannot be overemphasized. Lucille Wall, lovely radio actress and heroine of the NBC daytime drama, "Portia Faces Life," spends much of her time standing in front of a microphone, during exacting rehearsals and radio programs and consequently is aware of the importance of healthy feet.

"I try to spend a few minutes each day on foot exercises," says Lucille. "One of the easiest is to roll an empty bottle under each foot for a few minutes; this exercise strengthens the arch and relaxes the innumerable muscles and nerves of the feet." Another foot-saver is the well-known exercise of picking up marbles with the toes, which involves rotating movements very good for the arch.

As for foot beauty, Lucille advocates special attention to the appearance of these important appendages. "I love the barefoot sandals and open slippers that are so in vogue now," she smiles, "but they mean that a lot of eyes will be noticing your feet. A good pedicure is essential."

An application of a good hand lotion or cream to your feet after your bath will help to soften the tough skin that sometimes appears on heels or soles. Then a quick going-over of toenails with emery board and a bright shade of polish should be enough to give you a pair of handsome and healthy feet, glamorous enough to display at the beach or on the dance floor.

Coach Deatherage's Penn-Md. Entry Continues Undeclared Pace

The Hanover Shoe Factory baseball team, member of the Penn-Maryland Baseball League, continued their winning way last Sunday, when they tripped Pen Mar by a lop-sided score of 33 to 6.

Don Joy went the distance for the locals and allowed seven hits, while his teammates garnered a grand total of 26 from two opposing pitchers.

Alex Deatherage's charges got off to a grand start in the first inning by gathering 13 runs. The sixth inning was also a big inning when seven more runs crossed the home plate.

The win was the third straight for the factory team and keeps them in first place in the league.

Last Friday's game with Harney was rained out. Sunday the locals engage Fairfield at Community Field here. Manager Deatherage has announced his intention of starting Allen Davis, young blond pitcher, whose last effort was a five-hitter. Game time will be 2:00 o'clock. The G-E electric iron and a radio the club has been chancing off will be awarded at Sunday's contest.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—When wallpapering, which part of a room should be papered first?
A—Do the ceiling first, then the walls. If the walls are done first, they might be spotted by wallpaper paste when the ceiling is being covered.

Q—How can thin cracks in a plaster wall be filled? The cracks are too small to be plugged with patching plaster.
A—Use a combination of white lead and turpentine, mixed to a creamy consistency. This should be applied with a cloth. It can be sanded smooth after it hardens.

Q—How can tarnish be removed from brass?
A—Wash the brass with vinegar in which as much salt as possible has been dissolved. Follow this treatment by washing the object with clear water. Copper can be cleaned in the same way.

Q—How is blended color roofing made?
A—Blended color asphalt shingles are made by mixing two or more colors of granules before they are bonded to the material. Colors are "fired" into the mineral granules by ceramic methods. This kind of roofing is available in solid colors, too.

Q—How can the glaze on leather-covered furniture be restored after the leather has been cleaned with saddle soap?
A—Rub the leather with the beaten white of an egg. For black leather, color the egg white with lampblack.

Q—How can oil stains be removed from a concrete floor?
A—Sprinkle dry portland cement or hydrated lime on top of the oil. If the oil has not penetrated deeply into the concrete, it will be absorbed after several days. Concrete basement floors should be cleaned before painting or resurfacing them.

Q—Lavender petals sprinkled in a closet have been recommended for killing moths. Will this method work?
A—No.
