MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

The Baltimore wheat market held firm last week. Yellow shelled corn declined about one cent per bushel while yellow ear corn lost about four cents per bushel on the Baltimore market. Western white oats were steady to firm. Soybean prices increased with quotations in a narrower range than a week previous. Harvesting of barley is in progress on Eastern Shore, but offerings of new crop barley from Maryland on the Baltimore market were light. Quantity is reported as poor.

National Grain Market
Grain markets were unsettled during last week, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Winter wheat and corn prices closed well above those a week ago, and soybeans made considerable gains. Markets for rye, oats, barley, and grain sorghums were not materially changed, but prices were unsettled at the close of the week. Winter wheat markets turned firmer as southwestern mills accumulated supplies and slackened when considerable quantities of new crops began to come into storage. Dept. of Agriculture announcements anticipate an increase of about 4% in the 1950 crop.

Maryland Feed Market

The Baltimore feed market weakened somewhat during the week ending June 23. Principal weakness was noted in 50% meat scrap which declined sharply over 5%—$5.52 per ton less than the previous week. Wheat millfeeds showed an upward trend on the Baltimore market with standard middlings increasing over 2%—$1.64 per ton higher.

Broiler prices averaged 25.4 cents per pound last week, while 20% broiler mash on lower Eastern Shore averaged $97.02 per ton. On this basis, one pound live weight of broilers would buy 5.2 pounds of feed.

National Feed Market

Feed markets were unsettled during last week, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Wheat millfeeds were independently firm and advanced $2 to $5 per ton, influenced by a fair demand from feed manufacturers and government buying for grasshopper bait. Other grain byproduct feeds and oilseed meals were in slow demand as a result of good pastures, and prices were mostly lower. Commercial mixed feeds were in less active request than in recent weeks. Dairy feeds declined $1-$2 lower. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices advanced about two points, to 229.5, with the gain in millfeeds outweighing declines in oilseed meals

Ban On Fireworks Is Statewide

State Insurance Commissioner Claude A. Hanley has called the attention of the public to the fact that all fireworks are forbidden, unless approval has been obtained from the insurance department.

Under the law, fireworks of every description are banned. The law further specifically bans the use of firecrackers, squibs, rockets, sparklers, roman candles, torpedoes, bombs, paper caps, grenades, fire-balloons, signal lights, and any combustible or explosive composition. No section of the State is exempt from operation of this law. Any person violating the law by possessing, discharging, or selling fireworks is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Permits for special displays of fireworks will only be authorized where the application has been made at least 10 days in advance, and only upon careful investigation that the display will not endanger the safety and health of persons in the locality or cause damage to property belonging to others. The law requires this approval and the filing of a bond with the insurance department so as to protect anyone who might be injured.

According to State Insurance Commissioner Claude A. Hanley, by reason of the enforcement of the Fireworks Act, loss of life has been eliminated, and there are practically no accidents as a result of burns and explosions incident to the use of firecrackers.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Representatives of various agricultural agencies and organizations in Maryland met with the Production and Marketing Administration State Committee Wednesday. The purpose of the meeting, which was called by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee, was to help make plans for the improvement of Maryland soils through the 1951 ACP soil building program. The meeting was held in the Agriculture Bldg. at the University of Maryland.

This technical committee reviewed the practices offered under the national soil building program and prepared appropriate changes to adapt those practices selected for use in Maryland. These changes were made in light of changing farming methods, changing needs for farm production, and changing economic conditions.

The final set of practices recommended for Maryland will be incorporated in a state PMA bulletin and will be submitted to PMA headquarters in Washington for review and approval. With that done, the 1951 bulletin is supplied county PMA committees. These in turn invite representatives of agencies and farmers to advise with them in choosing the practices most needed in the particular county.

The practices finally adopted in the county are those from which farmers may choose in planning their participation in the 1951 FMA program. Included are payments for strip cropping, pasture improvement, the application of lime and superphosphate, woodland improvement, and other soil protecting and improvement practices.

"Muddy Creek!"

"Perhaps the names of some of our Maryland streams and creeks should be changed to 'Muddy Creek' because of the way they appear much of the year." This suggestion was made this week by Mr. Blandford, as a means of emphasizing that the top soil from many farms is being carried away by streams throughout the State. He urged farmers to enroll in the PMA program and adopt practices designed to do away with muddy streams.

He calls attention to how a worker in another State summarized the situation:

"Muddy Creek, what does it mean to you? Is some of that mud from your farm? Did you tell it goodbye when you failed to terrace that hillside or when you failed to plant on the contour? Did you bid it a fond adieu when you failed to strip crop that big field or when you failed to place a cover crop on the land after you had finished gathering the corn? No, you probably didn't say farewell, but it's gone just the same. You will probably notice it next Fall when you make only 30 bushels of corn per acre on that good piece you had expected to make at least 50 on. Yes, lots of your fertilizer departed from the farm at the time your topsoil took leave! I wonder if next year you will be saying, 'Son, raise them plows a little. You are turning up too much clay.'"

Muddy Creek, what can you see in that mud? I can see many unpleasant things. I can see a whole year's labor wasted. I can see crop failure. I can see mortgages not being paid. I can see heartbreak and grief, because Pa didn't quite see his way (financially) to send that bright boy or girl on to school the way he had planned. I can see the older boys getting disgusted with farming and leaving the farm. But Pa hasn't seen any of these things! The whole picture has been muddied!

Muddy Creek, what does it mean to the businessman? He can see his city reservoir filling up which means that another bond issue will be floated to build a new city lake. He can see that the power company will have to build another dam and this may increase his electric bills. He can see the soil going down stream and realize that the farmer will have to use more fertilizer next year which will not lower the cost of the family grocery bill. Muddy Creek, means general trouble for all of us. Let's eliminate it. It can be done."

State Still Holds Third Place In Bond Drive

Maryland still hung on to third place in the nation in the percentage of quota achieved in the current Independence Savings Bond Drive, according to the latest figures received by Richard H. Dixon Jr., State Director for the Savings Bonds Division of Maryland. The report which covers the period ending June 17, shows Pennsylvania and South Dakota still in first and second places, though they have reversed their standing and Pennsylvania now leads. Maryland is only three-tenths of one per cent behind South Dakota which gave hope at the State headquarters that we still might climb into one of the higher spots before the drive closes July 4.

"It is too soon to do any cheering," Mr. Dixon said. "We are holding on to our previous gains—but just holding on, 3.2 percentage points above the beam. This last stretch of a drive is always a critical period and we would like to see us stay among the leaders."

"While the Drive ends formally on July 4," Mr. Dixon stated, "in order to realize the benefits of the general interest aroused during the campaign, a short accounting period is allowed. This means that Bonds purchased prior to July 15 will be credited to Maryland's standing in the final report of the campaign."

W. Clinton McSherry, Frederick County Chairman, urged all countians pay attention to the slogan for this Drive—"Save For Your Independence—Buy U. S. Savings Bonds"—and keep Maryland in her rightful place among the leaders of the country.

Charles Town Opens July 1

The Charles Town Jockey Club will stage its third meeting of the year from July 1 to 15, inclusive. Horsesmen who shipped here following the close of the Pimlico meeting and those coming here when the Hagerstown meeting closed, say the racing strip is in better condition than at any time in the past two years.

President-General Manager Albert J. Boyle announced that there will be no charge for parking automobiles on the track property, where there is room for 5,000 cars. The clubhouse will be air conditioned throughout for next month's racing.

Congress Pondering Effects of Taxes

The influence of taxes on the American family will be uppermost in the minds of members of Congress for the next few weeks. They are seeking the answer to this $64 question:

How can they satisfy increasing public demands for tax reduction and at the same time find other taxes to offset such a reduction? Their problem is made doubly hard by the fact that Uncle Sam wants to spend $5 1/2 billion above his income next year.

The Council of State Chambers of Commerce this week pointed up the problem in a special study by its Washington research staff. It found that the $40 1/2 billion in all taxes collected by the Federal Government last year came from these sources: 44 1/2 per cent from personal income taxes, 28 1/2 per cent from corporation income taxes, 6 per cent from Social Security taxes, and the balance of 21 per cent from a great variety of excise and miscellaneous taxes.

A tax study issued this month by the Brookings Institution, an impartial research organization, revealed that three-fifths of all manufacturing corporations take the corporate income tax into account in determining the prices of their products. This means that the consumer pays a large part of corporation taxes, too.

Ernest Breech, executive vice president of the Ford Motor Co., in reply to a question whether the price of cars would go down if his company's taxes were cut, said, "Certainly it would cut prices. In the long run, every corporation must price its products so as to make a reasonable return after taxes in order to survive and grow. In the final analysis, income taxes are just as much a cost of doing business as payroll."

A group of Congressmen, doing some rough figuring on their own recently, concluded that a family of 3 persons with an income of $3,000 pays $201.60 of that income in corporation income taxes which are included in the prices of the things they buy. A family of four with an income of $5,000 pays $316.80, and the same sized family with an income of $7,500 pays $414.

Speed Kills, Official Warns

Drivers, remember — speeders lose. The time you may gain is not worth the life or lives you may sacrifice. What is an unsafe speed? Arthur H. Brice, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, says it is any speed, even if it's below the posted limit, which is too high for you to take a sharp curve, or to stop suddenly to avoid a collision, or to miss a child darting into the street. Yes, any speed which may be too high for the conditions of the road, the weather, the traffic, the driver's car, or the driver's own ability, is an unsafe speed.

What will you gain? What will you lose? Caution or speed—which do you choose?

Dear Bill: You and your generation haven't a thing to worry about. We've done a great job for you. That glorious individual freedom our parents handed down to us—well, new freedom—the Freedom to Look to Washington! And that magnificent private enterprise system our dads and grandparents built—we've had it modernized in a Pennsylvania Avenue machine shop, fixed up good. Under Government supervision it has got the country bursting at the seams with greenback money worth at least 50c on the dollar!

Yep, we've fixed everything, so you kids will get what's coming to you—and good! We've done it all with a great discovery. Son, we've discovered Government — in a big way! When we get through with it—or vice versa—it's going to be all yours (or vice versa). The way we've got things fixed now you can grow cotton, wheat, corn, potatoes, hens or cows—anything!—and our wonderful government will pay you a handsome profit—and all you have to do is keep your mouth shut and be an obedient farmer when the Government exports tell you what to do. You can become a merchant or a manufacturer and the tariffs, Government contracts, subsidized loans and handouts to the Tom, Dick, and Harrys who buy your goods will make your bed as good as the farmer's. To qualify, you just grin and operate your business as directed by the Government and John L. You can become a wage earner and get a minimum or contract wage enforced by the Government, an old age pension and other benefits practically free, and a raise periodically. You can get all this by merely conducting yourself according to union, company, and Government regulations!

If you are a veteran, a doctor, lawyer, teacher or professor, co-op, state or local government, you benefit, directly or indirectly, from nice Government aids, grants, subsidies, general handouts or preferential treatment—and are not a bit more regimented, restricted, regulated and controlled than the farmer. By the time you kids are 21 your subsidy ought to be a cinch. Already 25 million fortunates get regular checks direct from Government agencies, and we're improving that every day.

You and your generation have a great adventure awaiting you, Bill—discovering new things that Government can do and new things you can do for the Government. It will be exciting, for instance, devising a way to pay off the national debt with which all these wonderful services we are getting have been bought. As of today, the debt is only $5,000 apiece for all you boys and girls 18 and under. It was $1.1 billion when we took over in 1915. We've done well. It's $256 billion now and we're increasing it by $5 billion a year.

Yep, you youngsters are going to be sitting in the driver's seat in a great age. Son, as for ourselves, we're going to be sitting (period), thanks to your generosity yet unspoken. But excuse me now—I see the postman coming. He's bringing my check.

I injured myself hastening to catch the bus nine weeks ago, was ill with exhaustion when I reached home. I've been recovering nicely. The postman is bringing my Tuckered-Out-

Boyle spent a week at College Park and fully explained to the members the theme of the course, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Seventeen members and two guests, who later were admitted as members, attended yesterday's session. New members admitted were Mrs. Edward Smith and Mrs. Frank Stoner. The next afternoon of games will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Boyle.

Before adjourning for the summer, the club decided to hold a picnic at its next meeting in September. A committee composed of Mesdames Raymond Baumgardner, Carrie Hartzell, Charles Sharer, Morris Moser, Morris A. Zentz and Miss Ann Codori, was appointed in charge of the arrangements.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Thurmont Speeder Jailed

Franklin E. Riffle, 21, of Thurmont, was sentenced to 30 days in the Frederick jail after he was found guilty on a charge of exceeding 70 miles per hour in a hearing before Magistrate Manuel M. Weinberg in Peoples Court Tuesday. His arrest was made June 11 about a mile west of Frederick on Rt. 40 by State Trooper James H. Rouzee Jr.

Troopers Rouzee and William A. Mutchner testified. They said that they paced the defendant at speeds up to 85 miles per hour before making the arrest.

Riffle said he did not think the car, a 1939 Chrysler, would go 85 miles per hour and maintained that he was not exceeding 60 miles per hour at the time of his arrest. The defendant testified he did not know the police cruiser was following him.

Demonstrator

Don't be alarmed, folks, that bright, shiny, lightning streaked car you have seen lately is not from Mars. It is just a new Ford demonstrator, acquired by Spery's Garage for advertising purposes.

The vehicle, a light gray color, is lettered in bright red paint and has a lightning streak on each side.
