It looks as though the Chamber to Commerce is going to be a gigantic success here, if one can judge by the amount of interest evidenced by persons desirous of joining the council. . . . Membership has risen to 70 at this writing, which, considering that the association is still in the diaper stage, is extremely encouraging; and, I might add, there are still quite a few overly cautious persons who are studying the situation very thoroughly before signing up.

It does this ageing heart of mine good to see that so many Emmitsburgians have come to the fore in an earnest effort to keep the old town on the map. Surely with so many citizens pulling together, we can extricate our little hamlet from its almost certain descent into the land of oblivion.

May I remind the rest of you dubious, potential members that for your own individual good, you should join. . . . It's really your own private little battle for survival, ya know. . . . This is particularly true if you conduct a business of any description.

A membership of 70 is a great compliment to the originators and instigators of our Chamber of Commerce in Emmitsburg. I know that they are vastly encouraged and extremely grateful for the unusual response and co-operation displayed thus far. Once again I exhort you business men and civic leaders, and especially the women folks, to join up. . . . NOW!

BEETLES GALORE!

According to the general consensus of property and landowners around Emmitsburg and vicinity, the Jap beetles are knocking themselves out trying to shatter all previous records made by them in previous summers. . . . They are all over the place! You may take me absolutely literally. I've been reliably informed that one person here in town has so far collected 20 lard cans full of them in his backyard. . . . Said collector has four beetle traps and as fast as they become filled with the pesky little varmints, he empties them into the cans. . . . Each can holds, at a rough guess, 90,000 beetles. . . . Now, brethren and sisters, them's a lot of beetles! Seriously though, these bugs are a deadly menace to vegetation and crops. . . . It does seem the situation gets increasingly bad from year to year.

Another example of how plentiful these pests are was given me by a farmer who lives nearby. . . . It seems he has collected several barrels full near his corn field. The figures are in the billions, probably more, if I just knew how to count any higher, but after that many, why man, I'm stumped! I'd go buggy myself trying to count beyond that. . . . (Just pretend you didn't see that awful, unintentional pun!)

TARZAN VANISHES

As for the wild man reported to be haunting our fair mountains, police seem to think it was just a figment of someone's imagination. Because they've turned the old hill upside down and inside out and can't find his hair 'o him. What a pity. . . . I've always had a weakness for the cave-man type and just when I got my hopes all up again that perhaps this was the dream man who would deliver me from the fate of dying an unmourned lady in waiting, they tell me that it's all a lot of malarkey. . . . I don't think it was a bit humorous for the person or persons who started the rumour there was a MAN on the loose!

Jack McClellan, USN, returned to Norfolk, Va., after spending a 15-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McClellan, W. Main St.

LOCAL BALL TEAM PLAYS THURMONT SUNDAY

McSherrystown last Sunday mathematically earned a tie for the pennant in the Pen-Mar Baseball League by hammering out a 7-3 victory over Emmitsburg at Community Field here.

The winners have won 15 and lost two and appear certain pennant winners with only four games to go. Hanover, runner-up, must win all four remaining games while the leaders drop four straight, to tie McSherrystown for a play off.

Errors Sunday were the main cause of the locals' defeat. "Bud" Warthen started on the mound for Emmitsburg and was relieved in the late innings by Vince Topper.

McSherrystown scored one run in the second, three in the fourth before Emmitsburg came up with its first rally in the bottom half of that frame. The league leaders were ahead 7-1 when Emmitsburg put over two tallies in the last of the eighth. McSherrystown had 10 hits, one error. Emmitsburg was charged with three errors.

The locals remain in fifth position in the circuit and from all indications, should take this Sunday's contest from Thurmont, holding secure the cellar.

As usual, a large local following is expected to journey to Thurmont to witness the contest. Emmitsburg has twice beaten the Thurmonters this season, but a tough battle is always in store when they engage their friendly neighbors.

Juniors Rematched With Shoe Team

Emmitsburg sports lovers will be treated to another of those hard-fought baseball games Tuesday night when Slim Deatherage's Hanover Shoe team engages the American Legion Juniors in a contest to be played at Community Field at 6:15 p. m.

In a recent match, the Shoe team barely defeated the Juniors, 7-5, and had to go nine full innings to do the trick, finally snatching victory in the last frame. A collection will be taken up and divided between the two participants.

The Juniors are managed by Jack Rosensteel and have just completed a very successful season, finishing in third place in their league.

Accounts Approved

The Orphans' Court on Tuesday approved two administration accounts. George L. Willhide, Emmitsburg, executor in the estate of Annie M. Landers, reported $6788.13 in his first and final account, distributing $3198.61, including $2148.61 to the Elias Ev. Lutheran Church of Emmitsburg.

Marshall H. Leatherman, near Thurmont, executor in the estate of Amanda E. Leatherman, accounted for $1037.03 in his first and final account, distributing $401.41 and $800 the latter received from real estate.

Dinner guests of the J. Harry Scott family on Sunday were Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Stinson and family of Emmitsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Smith of Baltimore, and Miss Sally Paxson of Arlington, Va.

Mrs. Guy E. Warren of Keyville, visited recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Scott.

FIREMEN TEST NEW PRESSURE EQUIPMENT

The regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co., Emmitsburg, was held Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in the Fire Hall. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Ralph S. Sperry gave a report on the work being done on the Fire Hall. The sand-blasting is now being done, but the painting will be delayed, since it is impossible to obtain painters at this time.

Fire Chief John J. Hollinger reported that hose has been ordered and that a nozzle had been received and taken out for practice. A CO2 extinguisher was sent for trial. It is for use in fires in which gasoline and oil are burning. Its contents are forced out of the nozzle at a temperature of 110 degrees below zero and at a pressure of 800 pounds. If the test is satisfactory, it will be purchased at a cost of $55.

The following applications were voted on: J. Norman Flax, J. E. Houck Jr., Charles R. Fuss, Maurice Koontz, and B. J. Eckenrode. All were passed.

A donation was received from Mr. and Mrs. William Shorb to the amount of $10. A check was also received from a studio who had used the hall, for $8.

The company decided to attend the parade in Cashtown on Sept. 4. The truck will leave at 3 p. m.

By order of the president, there will be no papers stored in the cellar of the hall at any time.

The date for the annual outing was set for Aug. 24. The treasurer's report revealed a bank balance of $2484.03. Financial matters were discussed, and it was decided that the directors write a letter to the town asking for financial assistance annually.

Letting Property Deteriorate Brings Local Suit

Charging that a life tenant permitted a St. Anthony's property to greatly depreciate in value before her death, the heir to the property has entered suit in Circuit Court claiming $2000 from the administratrix of the life tenant's estate.

The plaintiff is Mrs. Grace Lois Wagner McCathran, understood to be now residing in Virginia. She is suing Frances Kelley of Pittsburgh, Pa., the administratrix of the estate of Estelle M. Sweeney.

In the will of Elizabeth McMahon, the plaintiff says through her attorney, Byron W. Thompson, the St. Anthony's property was left to two trustees for the use of Estelle Sweeney for life and at death to go to Mrs. McCathran, wife of Rodney R. McCathran II.

Miss Sweeney took possession of the property in 1943, it is set forth, and kept it until her death July 16, 1949. It was her duty, it is alleged, to keep the premises in a state of repair, but the plaintiff says Miss Sweeney permitted the following to happen:

The interior water pipes froze and burst, the rear porch reached a state of disrepair and rotted away, gutters and downspouts became choked and rotted, there was great damage to interior walls from water dripping through unrepaired holes in the roof, the furnace and pipes deteriorated, there was destruction to grass, shrubbery and trees from overgrowth of weeds and honeysuckle.

These acts, which Mrs. McCathran claims were beyond normal depreciation and allegedly due to Miss Sweeney's negligence, depreciated the value of the plaintiff's inheritance, to her loss, she says.

Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner and Mrs. Jerry Haskins and daughter, Sharyn, spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Moser.

Mary Jane Scott is spending a week in Baltimore with her aunt and uncle.

Primary Ballots To Carry Host of Names

The Democratic primary ballot will contain 52 names and the Republican ballot will contain 29 names—a total of 81—on the basis of those who have filed for Federal, State and county office, a survey showed.

There may be some withdrawals before the Aug. 18 deadline that would reduce the number but contests for eight major offices in each party appeared certain.

The Democrats have five candidates for Governor, four for U. S. Senator, two for Sixth District Congressman, two for Sheriff, five for the three County Commissioner posts, two for State's Attorney, four for the three judges of the Orphans' Court, 12 for six House of Delegates jobs, eight for six State Central committee places and eight for the seven delegates to the State Convention.

The Republicans have two candidates for Governor, three for U. S. Senator, two for Attorney General, two for Sheriff, six for the three County Commissioners, two for State's Attorney, four for the three judges of the Orphans' Court, eight for the six members of the House of Delegates.

There will be no balloting at the Sept. 18 primaries for the Fair Grounds harness racing betting and street extension referendums. These referendums, with any constitutional amendments, will come before the voters in November.

Four years ago, when similar offices were before the electorate, the Democratic ballot contained 50 names and the Republican ballot had 24.

Mrs. Harry S. Boyle Elected Head Of Democratic Club

Mrs. Mildred S. Fisher, president of the Women's Democratic League of Frederick County, presided at the organizational meeting held by a group of women at the Fire Hall, Emmitsburg, last Thursday evening.

Election of officers was held and they include: Mrs. Harry S. Boyle, president; Mrs. Frank Shuff, vice president; Mrs. Roy Bollinger, secretary, and Mrs. William Rowe, treasurer.

It was voted upon to adopt the name of the Women's Democratic Club of Emmitsburg for the local organization.

Guests from Thurmont and Frederick were introduced at the meeting, including Mrs. Mary Hancock Gregory, candidate for Judge of the Orphans' Court, and Mrs. Hazel Lewis, candidate for the House of Delegates.

All interested Democratic women are invited to attend the next meeting on Aug. 17 at 8 p. m. in the Fire Hall.

A group of Democratic men of the community met last Thursday evening. Guests that were present were Lumen F. Norris, candidate for the House of Delegates; James L. Nester, candidate for the State Central Committee. They spoke on behalf of the newly organized Women's Club and outlined the work to be done in the district.

Edward D. Storm, of Frederick, concluded the meeting with compliments to the ladies and stressed the importance of registration and team-work.

Legion Sponsoring Crab Feast

The annual crab feast of the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, Emmitsburg, will be held this evening at Kump's Dam, committee chairman Francis Sanders stated this week.

Besides the feast, entertainment will be free to members and their guests. The affair will get under way at six o'clock.

Mrs. Joseph Martin and Mrs. David Sharretts of Baltimore, spent Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner. They were accompanied by Joseph Martin and David Sharretts, who had spent several weeks at the Baumgardner home.

Reader Decries Reelection Methods Of Some Legislators

Letter to Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Re-election has come to be more important than the good of the Nation.

We are constantly hearing in the news that certain pieces of legislation cannot possibly be passed by Congress "because this is an election (congressional) year." Only recently President Truman submitted a five-year plan to put our country out of debt, etc. Five years? Does this presuppose that our Presidents are now elected to office for life? The bill limiting their length of office to two terms, or eight years, is still waiting for ratification by thirteen states, I believe.

We have frequently heard of the plan to elect a President of the United States for one term only, six years, but I did not realize how far back this idea dated until I read a letter in The Lincoln papers, Vol. II, by David C. Mearns, a part of which I quote:

"Living Age Office
Boston, 7 Jan. 1861

To the Hon. Abraham Lincoln
Springfield, Illinois

Dear Sir:
I am so rooted in the habit of thinking affectionately about you—that perhaps I intrude upon you with too little ceremony—and will now fill up the measure of presumption by saying a few words to you.

Having been born in N. J. before the close of Washington's administration, & having been in the habit of looking at public affairs on all sides, for nearly 45 years, I have sometimes before ventured to give unsought opinions x x x x

About 20 years ago I prepared an Amendment to the Constitution, that the President should be elected for 7 years, not be eligible again, but be for life a member of the Senate. This was approved by the Albany Argus, Mr. Van Buren's paper, x x x x

May God guide and bless you is the prayer of E. LITTELL."

Apparently Mr. Littell's Amendment did not go very far, but it is interesting at this time.

SAMUEL A. COOL

Samuel Ambrose Cool, 60, Emmitsburg, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, on Sunday night at 11:50 o'clock, of a heart condition.

A son of the late John and Mary Curry Cool, he was predeceased by his wife, the former Mary Elizabeth Small, about four months ago. He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, this place, and of the Holy Name Society of that church.

Surviving are two sons, John F. Cool, Baltimore, and Guy Cool, at home; five daughters, Mrs. Carroll Wills, Mrs. George Wills and Mrs. William Ott, all of Emmitsburg; Mrs. George Pecher, Fairfield, and Miss Anna Catherine, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Weishaar, Fairfield, and Mrs. Hoffman, York; three brothers, William and Joseph Cool, Fairfield, and Frank Cool, Glyndon, Md., and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, followed by requiem mass, celebrated by Rev. Fr. Michael J. O'Brien, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery, Fairfield.

State Trooper Suffers From Poison Ivy

State Trooper James Poteet was taking sick-leave Tuesday for the first time of his police career at his home in Taneytown. Ten days ago he removed a fallen tree from the highway at Bridgeport but didn't notice that it was covered with poison oak. Later the infection became noticeable and he was under a doctor's care. He is reported recovering satisfactorily.

A true boa constrictor is found only in the new world.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 6

Frederick City and County public schools will open for the coming year on Wednesday, Sept. 6, two days after Labor Day, Supt. Eugene W. Pruitt announced this week.

On Tuesday, Sept. 5, children who will attend school for the first time the following day and their parents are being invited to come—so that they can be registered. Considerable information is required about each first-grader and it is desired that this information be given before school starts.

There will be no county-wide teachers' meeting prior to the school opening. A number of meetings were held after the end of school in June and no general meeting is deemed necessary.

However, all teachers will be expected to be at their schools on the Tuesday after Labor Day. No great increase in enrollment is indicated this year, Mr. Pruitt said.

The Superintendent said that school bus inspections would be held Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 in several garages. This inspection is required by law. Three are held yearly, one before the opening of school.

All county school bus drivers are required to take physical examinations before school opens. Dates are now being arranged with examining physicians for the check-ups.

Child, Struck By Automobile, Is Not Seriously Injured

Four-year-old Carolyn Ann Umbel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Umbel, N. Seton Ave., escaped without serious injury about 7:50 o'clock last Saturday night when struck by an automobile on U. S. Rt. 15 in front of her home.

State Trooper 1-c Kenneth Bond took the child to Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., where she was treated for concussion and multiple abrasions and cuts. She was discharged after treatment.

Trooper Bond said the car was driven by John W. Bream, 18, Rt. 1, Orttanna, Pa. He said he is continuing his investigation but indications are that the child ran into the path of the car. No charges had been placed against Bream.

Solon Wants New Expressway Expedited

Emphasis has been placed by Rep. Fallon, Baltimore, on the importance of construction of the new Frederick-Washington Expressway because of important national defense facilities, including Camp Ritchie. Rep. Fallon is chairman of the House subcommittee on Maryland roads.

The legislator also maintains that the new highway is of vital importance inasmuch as it carries much Washington traffic as well as traffic from W. Virginia and Pennsylvania and is the main highway into Washington from the West.

Completion of the Frederick-Washington and the Washington-Annapolis highways was urged by Rep. Fallon in a letter to Gov. Lane and Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission.

Gov. Lane has advised Mr. Fallon that he referred his suggestion to the State Roads Commission and requested that information pertaining to rights-of-way for these roads be forwarded to him.

Chairman Reindollar assured Rep. Fallon that the commission "is aware of the situation on the roads involved and will take all necessary action in connection to this matter."

Staff Sgt. James L. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, who was stationed in Tokyo for the past three years, has arrived in Korea. He is with the Eighth Air Force.

N. SETON AVE. HOMES SEWERED BY PROJECT

Residents of N. Seton Ave. will no longer be troubled with the sewer problem that has been a constant bone of contention between them and the Town Council, as the result of announcement of the Town Solons, meeting in regular session Tuesday night in the Fire Hall.

Announcement was made of the construction of a large septic tank, installed on the avenue this week, and that it will be put into operation as soon as possible.

Another source of agitation was removed to the satisfaction of the parties concerned, when this week, the sewer connection of the Alan Gelwicks' property on E. Main St., was altered. For some time now, this drainage problem has confronted the Corporation. It seemed that every time a heavy downpour occurred, the main sewer leading to that property backed up, flooding the premises and doing considerable damage to the Gelwicks property.

A bill of $5412.22, presented by L. Waesche, for the repaving of DePaul St., was ordered paid.

A communication from the Potomac-Edison Co. was read and stated that provided permission was received from the State Forestry Board and local property holders, those trees which have been shading the street lights, would be trimmed at company expense. Alleys adjacent the properties of Carson and Thomas J. Frailey, were ordered patched and tarred.

Samuel C. Hays was given the job of retrenching the large run running parallel to N. Seton Ave. on the north side. For years this stream has been overflowing on occasions, causing heavy damages to gardens and property on this street. Work on it will begin immediately.

Stagnated pools of water were ordered chlorinated near the playground and Flat Run in East End. Installation of drain pipe will be begun shortly on the recently graded addition to the Firemen's lot, which is used for picnic grounds. A request by the Veterans of Foreign Wars to rope off DePaul St. for a block party on Aug. 25 and 26, was granted.

Sanitarian Bruchey was in town this week and is co-operating with Town Officials in the removal of several outhouses in the corporation limits and also the possible installation of a public toilet in the local theater.

Mrs. T. J. Frailey Hostess To Ladies of Camelot

The Ladies of Camelot, of Washington, D. C., an auxiliary of the Knights of the Round Table, an organization based on Lord Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," inspired by the personality and achievement of the mythical King Arthur and the Loyal Knights of the Round Table, held their annual outdoor meeting, with luncheon, on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey on last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Frailey, the hostess on this occasion, joined the organization through the membership of her husband, a charter member of the Washington unit of the Round Table, which was instituted in the District of Columbia in 1922. The organization has Round Table groups throughout the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Ruth B. Roberts, president of the Washington Auxiliary unit, called the meeting to order, following the luncheon and announced the program of entertainment, which included contests, with Mrs. Jeanetta F. Peters in charge. Prizes were awarded to contest winners. Eighteen ladies and members of the Round Table were present for this annual event.

Richard Frock, Gene Toms, Harold Keilholtz, Jack McLaughlin and Clifford Meskill attended the State of Maryland FFA convention held at the University of Maryland recently.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Time to Shift the Spotlight

Existing Conditions Change

Markey's Mind

The political situation in Maryland has changed since I announced my candidacy for governor. It has changed radically since the Korean war and the exposure of communistic influence in the State Dept.

The citizens of Maryland, of the nation, are disturbed and confused over our tragic situation in the Far East. They generally believe that it is the result of the actions and policies world. The action of the Democratic administrations which have resulted in our being sold down the river in this part of the world. The action of the democratic administration in protecting un-Americans in our State Dept. has angered and disturbed the citizens of the United States. It is therefore clear that the No. 1 objective of our Republican Party in Maryland in 1950 is the election of a Republican senator. This would result in the control of the United States Senate, taking into account the seven seats in other states which the party expects to win. Our party could then inaugurate positive programs that would prevent the furtherance of the present socialistic trend in our Federal government by the Democratic administration.

My campaign will be a crusade to eradicate from public life all persons, elected or appointed, who have been responsible for the sell-out to Stalin in Asia. I will appeal to the patriotism and conscience of Maryland voters to have Maryland play its necessary part in securing the control of the United States Senate from the Democratic party. I hope to have by my side in this campaign the veterans, especially those of War II, who were offering their lives on the battlefields of the world while traitors in the State Dept., like Alger Hiss and Julian Wadleigh and others, were giving away our valuable secrets to the Communists. I will, in my first campaign speech, reveal heretofore unknown facts about the communistic influence in the State Dept. with respect to Korea where hundreds of American soldiers are dying daily to help correct the errors and mistaken policies of our Democratic administration. This campaign in Maryland will be watched by the entire nation, as the control of the United States Senate will be the issue.

I have had constant pressure on the National and State level to forego my interest in State issues and take on the hardest fight in this year's election. I have, therefore, decided to withdraw from the gubernatorial race and file my candidacy for the United States Senate. This action is taken without any deals or commitments of any character whatsoever.

It is absolutely imperative that the citizens of this State join in this crusade for the protection of our American way of life and the future welfare of their sons and grandsons.

Thurmont Driver Pays $557.25

Arrested on three charges resulting from an accident in the Thurmont vicinity last Thursday, Ralph S. Stull, of Rt. 1, Thurmont, pleaded guilty and paid fines and costs totalling $577.25 in a hearing before Justice William J. Stoner in Thurmont last Friday.

The defendant also received a mandatory year's sentence, suspended, in the House of Correction on one of the charges, that of drunken driving, State Trooper H. J. Brown, the investigating officer, said. It was Stull's second offense, Trooper Brown said.

Other charges were reckless driving and operating in violation of restriction. Fines were $500 on the drunken driving charge, $25 on reckless driving, and $50 on the restriction violation.

The car operated by Stull came out of the shoe factory road on to State Rt. 77, crossed the road to strike a dirt bank, returned to the opposite side of the highway, striking the car operated by Miss Madeline Buhrman, 23, of Graceham, and finally stopped after it struck another bank, the trooper said.

No one was injured. The car operated by Miss Buhrman was struck broadside by the Stull vehicle and damage was estimated at $250. Stull's car received damages estimated at $25.

POULTRY POINTERS

It happens quite often that the poultry man does not pay much attention to his yearlings when the young pullets begin laying. His last year's pullets, which started laying between May and July, and now are yearlings, are able to continue laying until late in the fall. Just the last few months of laying may be the difference between breaking even or earning profits.

What may cause a yearling to stop laying early? It may be inherited, in which case one ought to switch to better bred birds. However, if it is not inherited, it happens most frequently during very warm weather, because the heavy layer does not get enough water to cool off. Under average conditions, each 100 hens need five gallons of water per day, but when it is hot, this amount will not suffice. One should know that an egg contains more water than anything else. Chickens do not have sweat glands, but air sacks. Since only water intake will cool the bird, it will be necessary that water supply is protected from direct sunshine.

Weighing of a few yearlings—and reweighing the same ones every 10 days—furnishes information of whether they maintain their weight, gain, or lose. While those birds which may have increased considerably will probably show that they are not laying anymore—and should be culled at once—the ones which lost weight must be stimulated into regaining their lost weight in order to keep them laying.

A milk and a hen have two abilities in common, both possessing the uricency to manufacture their product whether they are fed well or not. While the cow with her large carcass can draw some lacking nutrients from her "hoarded reserves" for a longer while, the little hen can do this for only a very short time. When one intends to keep over some of the yearlings for a second year it is advisable to cull the early quitters and keep the most persistent layers. In other words, when one intends to keep 33 out of a hundred yearlings, cull the first 67 quitters and keep over the rest.

Mr. and Mrs. William Baker spent Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner.

Pastors Want Longer Vacation Period

This is the time when ministers take their annual vacations. Some people wonder why they usually take longer vacations than the average person. In the Presbyterian Church every pastor is allowed, by church law, at least one month. This is the general custom also in the United Lutheran Church, and a number of other religious bodies. Every church ought to give its pastor that much time at least.

In many of the larger city churches, it is not unusual for the pastor to take a two or three month's vacation. Why is this the case? Why is every official board of any church obligated to accord their pastor this leave of absence from his pulpit?

There are two reasons for it. The first is that the ministry is classed as one of the nervous occupations. It takes a great amount of nervous energy to be a pastor and carry on the work of a parish. He must carry constantly on his heart the problems of his work which often are very great. In addition he must carry the burdens and sorrows of his own people whom he serves. There is a constant drain upon his nervous energy.

Just because this is the case, more pastors break down prematurely than is found in other professions. In Taneytown there is the case of A. T. Sutcliffe, stricken down long before his normal years of services were reached. Similar examples can be given in almost any community. And those who do survive their normal years of service, usually have to keep in close check with the physician. The ministry is a profession that almost requires that the pastor "burn his candle at both ends." And many a pastor can truthfully say: "My candle burns at both ends, it will not last the night, but, O my friends, and ah, my foes, it gives a beautiful light."

For this reason the pastor owes it to himself to take a long vacation. And the church likewise owes it to the pastor, and should see that he gets it.

The second reason for long vacations, is this: A minister works day and night. He usually finds enough to do in his parish to keep two or three men busy. And he tries to do it all. Besides all this, outside interests are constantly calling upon his time and ability. If he should accept and fulfill every request of this kind, he would have little time left for his own work. Yet every conscientious pastor finds it difficult to say no to any request that comes to him.

If he begins his work at 8 a. m. and works til 11 at night, as the average pastor does, he puts in 15 hours per day. Even at meal times his mind is apt to be working on some church problem or sermon. But we will deduct three hours per day for meals. That leaves 12 hours per day. And he works seven days a week. That makes 84 hours a week for him. Compare that with the 40-hour-week in the labor world. And then consider that if the pastor should take a two month's vacation, he actually puts in more hours per year than the average person who takes no vacation at all.

A minister can never really lay his work aside if he is conscientious. It is the last thing on his mind at night when he goes to sleep, and the first thought in the morning. Sometimes he lays awake at night planning the work of his church, or dreaming about it in his sleep, or praying about it in constant intercession to God for the people whom he serves. Even when he takes a vacation, he is thinking about and planning next year's work. He is making observations and accumulating information needed for his year's work. If he is in a cottage by the lake, he is apt to be catching up on some of the reading for which he had so little time otherwise.

For those reasons the pastor owes it to himself to take a long vacation. And the church officials ought to see that he gets it. He needs to be away long enough to recharge his spiritual battery, to store up enough nervous energy, intellectual refreshment and spiritual renewal, to carry him through the next year's work.

Therefore, pastors, take your vacation without any apologies. And church officials, give your pastor the vacation he needs. He will do better work when he returns.

RABIES

Most people like dogs, which are usually friendly and useful companions to man.

The dog that bites, however, is far from popular. The majority of us know that rabies, an infectious and sometimes fatal disease, is most commonly transmitted to human beings by the bite of a "mad" dog. Every dog that bites isn't necessarily rabid, but no dog-bite victim should overlook the possibility that the offending animal is infected with the rabies virus.

Rabies is associated with the "dog days of August, but the disease may occur any time. However, dogs run about more freely in the summer, and during the humid days of August, dogs may become irritable, just like their masters, and thus be more likely to bite.

Rabies is caused by a virus which travels slowly along the nerves and spinal cord of the person infected. Once it reaches the brain, it is invariably fatal. The bite of a rabid dog on a person's face is more dangerous than if the victim were bitten on the leg, or even the arm, because the virus has a shorter

Survey of Driver Training Proves Instructions Big Help

In a major step to help reduce the tragic death toll among Maryland youthful drivers, the Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. this week announced that it would apply regular adult liability insurance rates to drivers under 25 who had satisfactorily completed a state-approved driver training course.

This will be the first time any insurance company has recognized the high school training as fully as that.

Drivers under 25—because of their high accident frequency—are generally charged rates far above those for other age groups.

In his announcement, C. W. Lettwich, vice president and secretary of the company, said:

"We are making this offer to impress upon students and parents that there is only one man who sets automobile insurance rates—the man behind the wheel!

"The accident record of the under-25 driver throughout the country is appalling," he stated.

"Nearly 7500 persons between the ages of 15 and 25 were killed in automobile accidents during 1948. This was 22 per cent of all persons killed on our streets and highways for that year. A death toll exceeding those of the Johnstown flood, the San Francisco fire, and the sinking of the Titanic—combined!

"In addition, 320,000 boys and girls in this age group were injured in traffic accidents."

Mr. Lettwich pointed out that of 100 youths in high school today, before they reach the age of 65, 12 will be killed or permanently injured in an automobile accident, and 63 will be injured or involved in such an accident. Only 25—one-fourth—will go through life without such a mishap, he said.

"The majority of these traffic deaths and injuries are the direct result of the immature or irresponsible attitudes of juvenile drivers—and could be prevented.

"Even in terms of money—much less important than the lives of our youth—drivers under 25 probably cost the nation almost as much as the annual $600 million cost of all fires.

"The pay-off is that scores of insurance companies have been forced to set an appreciably higher premium if a driver under 25 operates the car. More than a year ago, insurance premiums in 40 states were raised if anyone under 25 acted as a driver.

"At that time we did not—but now we are forced to raise rates," Mr. Lettwich pointed out. "New rates for youthful operators, or for families in which a driver under 25 operates the car, went up this week. The property damage and bodily injury coverages will be about 38 per cent higher for farm youths, and about 47 per cent higher for youths living in urban communities, than the rates charged in families without youthful drivers.

"This is not a mere whim—but a question of cold, deadly statistics, since a car in the hands of a teen-ager is, roughly, twice as dangerous as a car driven by a mature adult.

"Accident reports from 28 states in 1948 showed 31 per cent of the drivers involved in all fatal accidents, or nearly one out of three, were under 25 years of age," he explained.

"In the last 22 years the traffic death rate of young people between the ages of 15 and 24 increased 90 per cent."

The rate problem will be solved, he continued, as soon as youthful operators—with the example and guidance of their parents and teachers—fully realize their responsibility to others while enjoying the privilege of driving modern automobiles over our highways.

Mr. Lettwich stated that one answer to this "tragic problem is education of teen-age groups in driver training."

"Surveys in state after state show that, where high school driver training gets an early and systematic start, the accident rate is approximately 50 per cent lower than the crash rate for those who have 'just sort of picked up' the ability to drive.

"The trained youthful driver learns to operate an automobile correctly and what is far more important, he is impressed with the proper attitude and the need for consideration of others.

"Safe driving is a skill; it should be learned by thorough and organized instruction, plus actual behind-the-wheel experience under expert supervision."

Mr. Lettwich then cited Ohio studies which reported results of safe-driving training:

A Cleveland study examined the records of 3252 high school students, one-half with driver training, the other half without. The trained drivers' accident rate was only one-half of the untrained group.

Toledo studies show that among 16-to-24-year-old drivers, those untrained had 44 per cent of the total number of accidents. Yet, those who had had driver training and education had but four per cent of the accidents.

In Akron, during the 1948-49 years, 141 teen-agers were cited for traffic violations. Only two of these were trained drivers. From Sept. 1949 to Mar. 1, 1950, 106 teen-agers were cited for traffic violations. Only four of these had had driver education.

"The same results happen in state after state," Mr. Lettwich explained.

"One suggested deterrent to high school driver training education is the cost compared to costs of other high school courses.

"Yet—last year and for several years—the total cost of traffic accidents has been $21.5 billion annually. Assuming that there are about two million high school pupils annually and that the cost of teaching them to drive was $30 apiece, the total cost would be $60 million—only one-thirty-fifth the cost of the accidents!

"The question is not 'Can we afford this instruction?' but 'Can we afford NOT to provide this instruction?'"

Mr. Lettwich said that reports from 45 states show that only about one-fourth of the nearly two million students eligible for driver education and training received such training.

"That is not enough to solve the problem," he warned.

"Parents would never allow their sons and daughters to romp around the countryside armed with rifles and revolvers endangering the lives of others.

"When, then, should these same untrained sons and daughters be granted free use of high-powered and dangerous motor vehicles at all hours of the day and night, endangering many more lives and bringing serious and costly injuries to great numbers of innocent people?"

"The bad driving and accident record of youthful operators will improve only when they fully recognize their obligations to

Night Racing For Thoroughbreds Is Denied

The Maryland State Racing Commission last week refused to give approval for night racing for thoroughbred horses at Marlboro.

H. Courtney Jenifer, chairman of the commission, reported the decision. When asked to amplify it, he said:

"No, no other comment. That's sufficient."

The half-mile Southern Maryland track had applied recently for the night dates. Although the State's four harness racing plants have been operating under the arclights, Marlboro was the first of the flat running tracks to request permission to hold night competition.

The five half-mile tracks are allotted 10 days each year for racing by the commission.

Manager L. Ed O'Hara took the application before the commission. He contended harness racing's popularity at night has shown that the thoroughbred sport also could prosper under the lights.

The commission had taken the request under advisement, in the meantime asking operators of the other half-milers what they thought of the idea.

Only one track, Timonium, declared itself opposed, while Cumberland, Bel Air and Hagerstown—indicated they like the proposal.

Marlboro is operated by the Southern Maryland Agricultural Ass., which also operates Bowie, one of the State's "big four" of horse racing.

others on our highways, and when they exercise care, common sense, and reasonable consideration for others.

"When their accident record improves, the automobile liability rates for this class of operators will be reduced," he predicted.

"Crew Cut" For Lawn Is Harmful

A "crew cut" may be all right for your son, but it is not recommended for the lawn. A mower which cuts the grass at least 1 1/2 inches above the ground is better for the lawn than one which shears it off closer, reports agronomists of the University of Maryland. A lawn cut evenly at 1 1/2 inches is just as attractive as the one cut shorter, and has more chances of remaining so, they say.

Some of the benefits of high cutting are: enough leaf area is left exposed to sunlight to manufacture the necessary plant food; the roots go deeper, making the plants more draught-resistant; the taller growth shades out crabgrass and other weeds, reduces evaporation of soil mois-

A Church Speaks Out

Eighty-seven years ago Abraham Lincoln made the wise observation, "Let the people know the facts and the country will be saved." In any country whose pattern of life is created by the people themselves—as is our own—Lincoln's statement can be translated into action. In other words, a country endangered can be saved by the intelligent action of an informed people. But getting the facts to the people and having them accepted as a basis for action has become progressively more difficult through the years.

There are some notable reasons for this. The Communists' barrage of propaganda falsehoods hasn't converted many Americans to the hammer and sickle banner but it has served to confuse facts with falsehoods. The avowed American Socialists, with their frankly presented collectivist theory of government ownership and operation of production and distribution facilities, haven't got far in recruiting party members. But by using half-truths, emotional appeal and personal charm, their spell-binders have invaded many immature minds, especially among the young.

Materialism Is Powerful
A third collectivist movement which has been at work in the arena of American political thought for about 15 years has done the most damage. In some quarters it has succeeded in creating actual hostility toward facts, a militant refusal to accept the truth. Its leaders are the economic "planners," or more correctly described as "disguised Socialists. They are working for bit by bit transformation of our government and way of life. Their brand of disguised Socialism—like every other brand—requires a big, all-powerful government and regimentation of the people.

They are trying to persuade us that in exchange for various material benefits from the government—such as subsidies, money grants and special privilege (all at taxpayers expense)—we should not hesitate to give up a little bit of freedom here and there. This is the same materialism, basically, that motivates Communism and Socialism. Make no mistake, it is powerful! It clashes head-on with the spiritual values in Christianity, yet it has won enough naked physical force, in Russia and her satellites, to have already conquered and enslaved a third of the worlds population.

Historic Facts
One reason why it has been slowed down in America is the inescapable fact of our unmatched living standard, created not by government but by a free, self-reliant people. Another reason is the Christian origin of America: our founding fathers held spiritual freedom above material well-being; and General Washington's men at Valley Forge starved, bled and died, so that we, their beneficiaries would not be regimented by government.

The religious people of America form a powerful bulwark against the political materialism which promises benefits for votes and then creates a government that first regiments and ultimately enslaves the people. Church people generally are aware of the menace—when they stop to think—but public recognition of it by a large nation-wide denomination strikes a telling blow. It is heartening, therefore, to read the recent pronouncement of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (North) entitled "Collectivism in American Life." It states in part:

A Warning
"This Assembly opposes any form of government or any exercise of governmental power which regiments its citizens and robs them of their inalienable rights as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States." It charged its members to be "ever alert to the method by which proponents of such a philosophy of government or use of governmental power seek to attain their ends."

The Southern Presbyterian General Assembly also con-

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Details of the 1951 Soil-building Program operated in Maryland by the Production and Marketing Administration have been announced. The major change in the State program, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland FMA State Committee, concerns the use of lime. County committees will compile their programs from the practices approved in the State program.

Payment will be approved for only three uses of lime: (1) applied to a small grain crop in the fall, (2) applied to a close sown summer legume, and (3) applied to a soil conserving crop such as alfalfa, clover, or other legume hay crop.

The rate of payment for lime has been adjusted to give additional assistance for liming in areas far removed from a source of supply. This allows the government, in effect, to help pay part of the transportation cost.

Credit in the use of liming materials will still be based on the analysis of material used, but will be on a total oxide basis rather than on the calcium oxide equivalent as at present.

demned advocates of "policies tending toward political socialism . . . and contrary to our time-honored principles of free enterprise" and disassociated itself with any such advocates. These public pronouncements by a church with nation-wide prestige vastly aid the cause of freedom. They recognize facts and hold up those facts for all to see. Other religious bodies wishing to do something of this nature for their country and the freedom of their Faith might well find an example here.

Other changes—additional emphasis will be given to tile drainage by paying part of the cost of moving dirt as well as part of the cost of tile. Rock or colloidal phosphate will be recognized at a rate about equal to its acid neutralizing value. Planting of forest trees will be encouraged through a purchase order program similar to that on lime in many counties. Assistance will be offered for protective fencing of farm woodlands to prevent grazing of cattle and hogs.

It is expected that farmers will be given the opportunity to enter their farms in the 1951 program, in most counties, early in November.

The potatoes, which are in New Jersey, are priced at nine cents per cwt. in bulk and 18 1/2 cents per cwt. in used bags. The potatoes are loaded on cars or trucks and feeders are to pay the freight from point of origin; probably Hightstown, N. J., or some other point in that area.

The potatoes, according to Mr. Blandford, will be field-run, practically free from sticks, stones, dirt, and vines. They will not show more than two per cent soft rot.

He advised interested farmers to check with local truckers or railroad agent to estimate the freight charges to Hightstown.

SHORT STORY

Perplexing Riddle

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

LT. JEFF BOYNTON of the Union Army's Company E, second regiment, Massachusetts volunteers, wore a look of utter dejection as he entered headquarters tent, nodded wearily to Capt. Finn Lacey and slumped onto a stool. The captain stopped writing, leaned back in his chair.

"She wouldn't talk, eh?" "No, she wouldn't talk," Boynton answered. He stretched his long legs out in front of him and studied the worn toe of his boot. "Maybe she's not a spy after all," Lacey hazarded. Boynton's blue eyes flashed as he jerked up his head. "Yes, she is! I'm sure of it."

Lacey shrugged and gestured with his cigar. "If you're so sure, we'll hold a court-martial and—"

"No!" Boynton was on his feet. "Don't do that, sir. We haven't enough evidence to convict. It will mean she'll go free and we'll lose our one chance of stopping the leak. Information is getting through somehow. Alice Struthers is responsible. We must learn her methods."

"How?" "That was the question that had driven Lt. Boynton nearly to distraction, had caused him the loss of sleep and wearied his brain from thinking. A week ago, basing the act on the slimmest of reasons, he had had Alice Struthers arrested, to be held for questioning regarding the leakage of information to Confederate Gen. Johnson."

"You can't hold her forever without a trial, Eoynton," the older man pointed out after another week had passed in which the lieutenant had failed completely in his efforts to unearth some grain of evidence. "Miss Struthers is popular among the officers. Some swear they have known her for years and will vouch for her loyalty to the Union."

"Which makes it all the more likely she would succeed as a spy. I happen to know that all of Miss Struthers' maternal ancestors came from Georgia. She herself spent a good part of her girlhood in Savannah."

Idly he fingered a package of letters that he brought in with him. "I'm convinced that in these letters the girl is sending out the information. How, I don't know. Certainly she is using no code. I have checked every letter a dozen times. Purposely I have permitted each to be mailed. Events immediately following convince me that some how those letters are the means of conveying the information."

CAPT. LACEY picked up the letters and read them briefly. They contained nothing to excite suspicion—mere messages of love and devotion to friends in the South.

Lacey suddenly pounded the table. "By George, Boynton, I believe I have it! Obviously something has to be done, and I'm more than half convinced—though heaven knows why—that your suspicions are well founded."

"So?" "So we'll deport her. Turn her over to the Confederate army. If that stops the leakage we'll know she was the guilty party, and there will no longer be danger of its continuance."

"And it will mean Alice Struthers' complete freedom."

Two days later prisoner Alice Struthers was turned over to Confederate Gen. Johnson under a flag of truce.

But it wasn't until after the war had ended that he found the answer to the riddle. One day while going through his relics of long ago battles he came upon a letter. It was one that Alice Struthers had written to her friends in the South, and which he had kept for a souvenir.

The paper was yellow, the ink faded. The postage stamp had dried and was hanging by a mere thread. As he looked at it, Lt. Boynton's eyes grew wide. For beneath the stamp were some closely written, finely penned words, obviously the cipher employed by Alice Struthers which he had tried so hard to locate.

Advisable To Have Children Take Pre-School Physical

"Children are not really ready to enter school until they have had a complete physical examination," Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Dept. of Health, reminds parents. "All boys and girls enrolling in the kindergarten or first grade classes of Maryland schools should be taken to their physicians, or to a public health clinic, for an immediate physical check-up if they have not had such an examination in recent months."

"It is important to act as promptly as possible. This is recommended in order to allow time for medical treatments or corrections that may be necessary before school opens. No youngster should be permitted to begin a school career with less than the best possible physical equipment."

"As most parents know, vaccinating against smallpox is required by law before a child will be accepted for enrollment in Maryland schools. Those who received this immunization in infancy should be vaccinated again in order to assure a high degree of immunity and those who have never received this protection should be vaccinated without delay. It is desirable to have this done as soon as possible so that the scar will heal before September."

"Diphtheria immunization is also an important safeguard for all boys and girls about to enter school. Those who have never been immunized against this disease should receive toxoid shots now. Children who were inoculated against diphtheria when they were babies should now have a 'booster dose' in order to maintain their immunity at a sufficiently high level."

"Other immunizations that the individual physician may recommend are also desirable as further health protection. Whooping cough, typhoid fever, and tetanus are among the diseases against which the doctor may advise safeguards."

"Regardless of a child's apparent state of health parents should consider a trip to the physician's office essential preparation for school attendance. Assurance that the boy or girl is in good physical condition and able to withstand the added strains of school attendance is of real value. If unfavorable conditions are detected the check-up may be doubly important to the child's present and future well-being."

Racing At Bel Air Starts Wednesday

Featuring a remodeled center-field, which has been proclaimed the prettiest in Maryland, Bel Air racetrack is all dressed up for its annual 10-day meeting, which will open on Wednesday, Aug. 16.

The deadish-brown hedge jumps, which formerly pockmarked the infield, have been taken down. Thereby the old steeplechase course, which received little use in recent years, is transformed into a boxwood-lined greensward over which one flat race is planned for each program.

Managing Director G. Ray Bryson, who is back on the job following a recent illness, believes infield turf faces on the flat will prove just as popular with Maryland racegoers as they have with patrons as such fashionable racetracks as Hialeah, Monmouth and Atlantic City.

Opening-day turfgoers will also observe a new judges' stand, which protrudes out from the top of the grandstand to give the officials a better view of the races. Also, the grandstand and clubhouse, as well as the barns are adorned in a new coat of green and white paint.

Time for the first race each day has been set at 2 p. m. and the daily double windows will drop fifteen minutes prior to the first bugle call.

There has been no thoroughbred racing in Maryland for almost two months, but all of the leading stables of the minor-league circuit have been lured back to Bel Air by suitable purses and prospect of pleasant racing conditions. Also, a number of large stables have shipped colorbearers from the "big apples" of New Jersey.

The Bel Air racetrack is located on U. S. Rt. 1, a four-lane highway from Baltimore.

DOLLAR DAYS

VALUES • BARGAINS • SAVINGS

Gettysburg, Pa., Friday and Saturday, August 11 & 12

Merchants Offering Many Bargains

Today and tomorrow, Aug. 11 and 12, are Community Dollar Days in Gettysburg, Pa., when retail merchants will offer in the semi-annual event merchandise at greatly reduced prices. To their customers this means savings.

This great event and concerted effort by the businessmen is attracting special interest this year because of the generally rising prices of many types of merchandise.

As usual these two big days of savings will attract thousands of buyers who will want to save!

Vegetable Life Savers

Sweet potatoes and collars have been called "life savers" in the South. These vegetables not only rate high in both vitamin A and C, but are inexpensive and have long seasons.

An average serving of sweet potatoes offers more vitamin A than the recommended daily allowance and 60 per cent of the vitamin C needed every day. Storage and cooking losses of these vitamins in the sweet potato are comparatively small, especially if the potatoes are baked.

Collards, the popular "greens" of the South, rate high in both vitamins but do lose considerable vitamin C if cooked too long in too much water.

Soak vs. Sprinkle

Few things can improve the looks of a home more than a lush, well-kept lawn. Here are a few rules for watering the lawn that will bring you the best results.

Do soak the ground thoroughly but only occasionally, as the grass begins to suffer from dryness. Water only often enough to keep the plants alive.

Don't sprinkle lightly every day "to cool things off." Light sprinkling encourages shallow roots and helps crabgrass more than permanent grass.

High-speed photography has now revealed that the common house-fly apparently jumps with his legs before using his wings when he flies.

Carnival Man Held On Larceny Charge

A carnival stand operator is being held in the Adams County jail at Gettysburg, Pa., on a fugitive warrant (after allegedly absconding from the carnival of the Guardian Hose Co., of Thurmont.

State's Attorney Edwin F. Nickirk said the defendant, George Murphy Stegall, 26, of Arkansas, had refused to waive extradition to Maryland for trial on a charge of grand larceny.

State Trooper Kenneth Bond, who is making the investigation at the request of Thurmont Fire Co. officials, said Stegall admits he violated his parole in Arkansas, where he served some time for forgery.

Stegall operated what is known as a nail game at the Thurmont carnival last week. He was supposed to account for the money he received but, following the close of the carnival last Saturday night, he disappeared without making any accounting, it was reported. The amount of money he is supposed to have taken was not disclosed.

Trooper Bond was notified and the movements of the man were traced to Blue Ridge Summit and then to Fairfield, Pa., where he was arrested early Sunday by a Pennsylvania State Trooper and taken to the Adams County jail. It is understood Stegall had been making inquiries as to where carnivals were operating in this area this week, apparently with the idea of joining one of them.

Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle returned home after attending the National Chiropractic convention in Washington during the past week.

Guests last Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Glass were Mrs. Kenneth Robertson, Westminster, and Mrs. Ervin Wall and son, Roland, of Medford.

Week-end guests of Mrs. J. Lewis Topper were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. James Topper, all of Baltimore.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marsden of Washington, D. C., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son last Saturday at Georgetown Hospital. Miss Marsden is the former Catherine Ann Condon, niece of Miss Louise Sebold and Mrs. James M. Alvey. She is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Conlon and the late Dr. Conlon.

Visitors over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burdner were Mr. and Mrs. John Shryock and daughter of Taneytown; Miss Eva Heimner of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Bud Burdner of Ebensburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Favorite, of Washington, D. C., spent the week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Mullen and Mrs. Roderrick Shoemaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Montgomery of Pittsburgh, Pa., spent Friday night of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Seiss.

Miss Phyllis Bower of Hagerstown, spent the week-end with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Philip Bower. Miss Bower has accepted the position as technician at the Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown. She is a graduate of Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia and for the past year has received her technician training at the U. S. Marine Hospital at Staten Island, N. Y.

Mrs. Joseph Peddicord of Baltimore, spent the week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little.

Playground News

FLASHES

Folk dancing was held at the playground on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 9. Everyone participated in the singing, games and dances for the little ones as well as for the older group.

The program included: Set 1, "Farmer in the Dell," "Lolly Loo," and "Pinchello." Set 2, "London Bridge." Set 3, "Shoo Fly." Set 4, "Row, Row, Row Your Boat" and "Down by the Station." Set 5, "Turn Around Me." Set 6, "Three Blind Mice." Set 7, "Turn Around Me." champ was Virginia Topper.

Next week the playground closes for the summer and a big picnic will be held on Wednesday from 12 until 2 p. m. Everyone is to bring his lunch.

Special games and stunts will be included in the program. There will be prizes for all. This should be a big day as part of the closing activities. If the weather is bad, the picnic will be held on Thursday.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner and daughter, Martha, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner left Tuesday morning on a trip through the south. In Charleston, S. C. they will visit Lt. (jg) and Mrs. James Baumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner. They visited many places of interest including the naval base where they saw hundreds of ships being taken out of moth balls. On their return trip they came through the Shenandoah Valley and the Skyline Drive. The Baumgardners believe the crops look extremely well this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Haskins and daughter, Sharyn, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner. Mrs. Haskins and daughter remained for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoskins, Baltimore, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner of near town. Mrs. Hoskins and daughter, Sharyn, are spending a week with the Baumgardners.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner of Baltimore, spent several days last week visiting with Mr. Baumgardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner and family of Emmitsburg Rt. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilhide and children, Tommy, Steve and Elizabeth Kay, W. Main St., visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckenrode, College Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Overholzer, Philadelphia, are spending a week's vacation with Mrs. Overholzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Adams, DePaul St.

Mrs. F. J. Campbell, Baltimore, visited several days last week with Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Stinson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bower, New Windsor, visited Friday with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bower, East Main St.

Stevie Wilhide, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilhide, West Main St., celebrated his seventh birthday last Friday. A watermelon party was enjoyed by several of his little friends in celebration of the occasion.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Houser of W. Main St., returned home last week from a trip to Niagara Falls.

Always Use Signals

"A good driver knows the proper signals and uses them at all times," states Col. Carey Jarman, Supt. of the Maryland State Police. The current slogan appearing on State Police patrol cars is to remind drivers of this important duty:

ALWAYS USE SIGNALS

The State Motor Vehicle law provides that drivers must give signals either manually or with an approved mechanical device before turning, stopping or slowing. The average motorist, on many occasions, forgets this and as a result often finds himself in a dangerous situation that could have been avoided had he signalled his intentions.

Maryland's hand signals are as follows:

You Cause It
The world sugar crop this year is the greatest in history, I. H. Kempner Jr., president of the Imperial Sugar Co., has declared. He says nothing but "hysterical buying" could create a shortage and that this would be only temporary.

RIGHT TURN—Extend hand and arm upward, hold hand still several seconds.

STOP OR SLOW—Drop hand toward ground, with palm to rear, hold hand still several seconds.

Give your signal in plenty of time, so that the driver back of you will have ample warning of what you intend to do.

The drivers behind you as well as the drivers coming toward you are not mind readers. Give the proper signal before starting, turning, stopping or slowing; IT IS LAWFUL AS WELL AS THE COURTEOUS THING TO DO!

Theodore Smith, 35-year-old unemployed resident of Freehold, N. J., is serving a six-month jail sentence on a disorderly person charge. His wife testified he beat her because she wouldn't pay him baby-sitting fees while she went out to work.

Shoe Team Appears Certain Pennant Winners

With only three games remaining to be played in the Pennsylvania League, Slim Deatherage's Hanover Shoe team appears the certain flag winner.

The Shoe men won another contest last Sunday when they topped Pen-Mar to the tune of 10 to 4.

Gene Newcomer pitched his same stellar game of ball for the locals and allowed opponents seven scattered hits, while his mates backed him up with 19. Both sides were charged with three miscues apiece.

RAY R. TAYLOR

Ray R. (Har) Taylor, former Thurmont canning factory operator, died of a sudden heart attack at Thurmont Wednesday evening, according to word received here.

Mr. Taylor returned recently to Thurmont from Florida, where he had been engaged in business. He had been under treatment for a heart condition for some time.

Mr. Taylor was a former star pitcher in the old Blue Ridge League and at one time was one of the top golfers of the Catoctin Country Club.

Mrs. Edgar Stansbury, formerly of Emmitsburg, is a sister-in-law to Mr. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lantinelli and son, Emil, returned Monday to their home in Hempstead, Long Island, after spending three weeks with Mrs. Lantinelli's mother, Mrs. Flora Eyer.

Guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. Flora Eyer, were Mr. and Mrs. Kramer Eyer and daughter, Deanna, of York, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lantinelli and son, Emil, of Hempstead, N. Y.; Mrs. Margaret Tressler and son, Kermit, Gettysburg; and Mr. E. Lingg, also of Gettysburg.

Three-base hit—T. Saylor. Left on bases—Emmitsburg 8, Pen-Mar 8. Base on balls—Off Newcomer 3, Lohmen 1, Hess 1. Strikeouts—By Newcomer 11, Lohmen 2, Pentz 1. Hits—Off Newcomer, 7 for 4 runs; off Lohmen, 12 for 7 runs in 7 innings; off Pentz, 3 for 2 runs in 1-3 innings; off Hess, 3 for 1 run in 2-3 innings. Winning pitcher—Newcomer (5-1). Losing pitcher—Lohmen.
