Several of our local young ladies recently martialed at various college institutions to further their 'book larnin.' which makes me very happy. . . . Then, according to information gleaned, I am informed that only SIX young men of Emmitsburg are going on to college—said fact makes me most unhappy. What, I keep asking myself, are all the other male graduates going to do for the future? Surely in this town of ours there is more than SIX of the male gentry who are not content with the high school diplomas they received in June. This fact, is especially hard for me to comprehend when right here in our very midst, we have a college for young men. Aye, it's literally on our doorstep!

Is it for lack of funds? Perhaps, but I think not! Surely any young man who is determined to have a college education, can make the grade, considering (1) That he lives near enough to Mt. St. Mary's to go as a day student, this eliminating his board bill; (2) That he could board at home; (3) That his schedule would no doubt allow him enough time for his studies to take a part-time job, thus helping defray the expenses of his education and board.

What, then, is the reason for there being only six young men in Emmitsburg shooting for a university degree? Are they needed to work at home? On the farm? In a full-time capacity? . . . Certainly if they were allowed to finish high school (and still help Dad on the farm, part-time), they could manage to keep going on the same schedule for a couple of years longer. They can't suddenly become indispensable now, can they? 'Taint likely, at any rate . . .

Or could it be that our local swains have no initiative, no ambition? Perish the thought!

Regardless, I'm mystified — and I don't mind saying so . . . Usually it's the young ladies who say "College?—Silly! Why should I go to college when I want to make marriage my career?" Well, they've a point there, don't you agree?

Why, then, are the male aspirants to college very definitely in the minority here? It's a sad situation, I'll tell you, because mark my words, the time is not far off when a guy is gonna need a sheep skin to get a ditch-digger's job. . . . Laugh, if ya wanna, but a college education is becoming so commonplace, so much a necessity, that when a fella proudly boasts of having his degree, his listeners won't bat any more of an eyelash than they would had the gentleman in question said: "Look, I've just graduated from grammar school." And thassa fact!

Lest You Forget!

The big annual Horse Show this Sunday . . . Last year there were so many of us who missed this gigantic affair because we figured it didn't sound like it would be much fun . . . How wrong we were! Everyone we talked to who had attended the thrilling event, was astonished at the show and were thrilled to no end over it . . . So, friends, don't forget the affair this Sunday. Let's not make the same mistake twice . . . And this year it will be bigger and better than ever on accounts last year they were novices at the art of promoting a Horse Show.

No Vote, No Squawk!

Shame on you people who didn't show up at the polls Monday. All I can say is thank the good Lord above that everyone isn't as 'ax and negligent in their duty to their fellow Americans as you . . . Truly, you should be grateful that it's your God-given right to use the polls and vote for the men of your choice . . .

TOLL GATE HILL CURVE TO BE EASED SHORTLY

Toll Gate Hill curve, which for half a century has plagued motorists from far and wide with its vicious 90-degree swiftness, is slated to be eased, it was learned this week. The sharp curve has been the scene of several fatalities and thousands of dollars worth of property damage.

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, supported by State Senator Edward D. Storm and Lumen F. Norris, Emmitsburg, has led a concerted crusade for the removal of the curve for the past year.

State Roads Commission officials stated definitely this week that the curve would be eased. It was understood that a previous survey of the curve was in error and this week a resurvey was made. Work is to begin in the very near future with the understanding that completion of the project is expected before this winter.

Approximate cost of the relocation, or easement, is believed to be around $10,000.

The cooperation of St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, is making the relocation possible, it was said. College authorities have made available for the road work a right-of-way through land adjacent to the curve.

The relocation, it is understood, will start a short distance south of the curve and pass over a new location, reconnecting with Rt. 15 at the southern end of the bridge over Toms Creek on the south approach to Emmitsburg.

The relocation will provide no impediment to Rt. 15 traffic while the work progresses. It is understood a 24-foot wide macadam stretch will be built.

WALTER E. STULL

Walter E. Stull, well-known Lewistown garage owner and operator of a bus in Frederick County for many years, died on Monday at the Frederick Memorial Hospital, following an illness of several months.

LOCALS DROP FIRST PLAYOFF BASEBALL GAME

McSherrystown, Pen-Mar League champions, moved into the league's Shaughnessy finals last Sunday by defeating Blue Ridge Summit, 5-4, in 10 innings on the loser's diamond. Hen Noel's charges had won the first game of the best-in-three series, 2 to 0.

Emmitsburg At Hanover

While the McSherrystown Club was knocking Blue Ridge Summit from the running, the Hanover Moose team was working 10 innings to defeat Emmitsburg, 4-3, in the first game of their best-in-three semi-final series on the Community Field.

Second game of the Hanover-Emmitsburg series is scheduled for Sunday afternoon on the Moose diamond. Should Hanover win, the Moose will play McSherrystown in the best-in-three final series. If Emmitsburg wins Sunday, the teams will toss to determine the site of the third and deciding game of the semifinals.

Hanover's winning run Sunday was scored by Shortstop Mert Becker who singled in the 10th, stole second, went to third when the catcher threw wild and went home when the ball got away as a play was made for him in the hot corner.

Emmitsburg threw a scare into the Moose in the last half of the 10th, leading the bases with none out. On a squeeze play the runner was nailed at the plate. Pitcher Fuhrman then caused the next batter to pop up and fanned the final batter.

Candidates to File Expense Account

Clerk of the Circuit Court Ellis C. Wachter pointed out this week that the law requires candidates in Monday's Primary to report their receipts and expenditures within 30 days. Agents for political candidates are required to file their financial statements within 20 days.

Mr. Wachter said he has had several inquiries from candidates as to whether they are required to file such a statement.

Forms for filing the statements are available in his office. There is no fee for filing them.

Miss Paula Bowers has entered the School for the Blind at Overlea, Md.

Daylight Time Ends Sunday

The Mayor and Commissioners of the Corporation of Emmitsburg announced this week in a prepared news release, that the town of Emmitsburg will return to Eastern Standard Time as of 2 a. m. Sunday, Sept. 24.

Emmitsburg has been operating on Daylight Savings Time since the last week in April.

Local residents are advised to turn their clocks back one hour before retiring Saturday night.

Dead Negro Proved Escaped Murderer

Maryland State Police Monday announced that a Negro itinerant crop picker, shot and killed at Thurmont recently while trying to force an entry to the property of William C. Yingling, has been identified by the FBI as an escaped murderer, wanted in Tallahassee, Fla., since 1949.

Identification was made at the state police headquarters at Pikesville through the fingerprints of the Negro, which were later sent to the FBI.

MSP Lt. Walter K. May of the Frederick Barracks said a telegram from Pikesville identified the dead Negro as Eddie Lee Davidson, next of kin, Thelma Davidson, Pensacola, Fla.

While in Thurmont the man went under the alias of Willie Frank Thomas.

Davidson was instantly killed by a blast from a 20-gauge shotgun in the hands of the property owner, Yingling was exonerated after investigation by the county authorities, headed by the state's attorney.

GOV. LANE CARRIES COUNTY

Emmitsburgians went to the polls Monday and cast votes in record volume when a total of 820 marked ballots were counted.

Of special interest to citizens of this district was the race of its two candidates, Lumen F. Norris, running for the House of Delegates, and J. Lester Nester, candidate for the Democratic State Central Committee.

Both aspirants went down in defeat, even in polling a respectable number of votes.

Of the 820 votes cast by Republicans and Democrats, 296 were cast in the first precinct, 191 Democrats and 105 Republicans; 314 balloted in the second precinct, 255 Democrats and 79 Republicans, and 210 cast votes in the third precinct, 158 Democrats and 52 Republicans. The count was completed at eight o'clock Tuesday morning.

Back Lane

Emmitsburg area residents seemed to be in line with the remainder of the state when the Democrats cast 235 votes for Gov. Preston Lane Jr., and 212 for his opponent, Baltimore Contractor George P. Mahoney.

Delegate William E. Hauver of Myersville, seeking re-election to the General Assembly, and former Alderman William B. Burrell, erstwhile candidate for Mayor of Frederick, will have to wait to learn officially which is the sixth Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates.

Unofficial returns give the former Middletown High School teacher and athletic coach a 17-vote margin over the bicycle dealer in the six-man contest held Monday.

The Board of Election Supervisors will make an official canvass of the votes. The status of the Hauver-Burrell close decision will be determined then.

Errors in tallying and tabulating votes are frequently discovered during the canvass.

The initial tabulation of complete returns in the Democratic Primary for all of the 60 precincts put Mr. Burrell in front of Mr. Hauver for the sixth place on the Democratic ticket. A thorough check of the reports, however, shows that Mr. Hauver lead 3501 to 3484 for Burrell.

Positions of the other five nominations for the House of Delegates on the basis of unofficial reports from Monday's primary were little unchanged. Delegate C. Clifton Virts, who ran well in all precincts, topped the 12 aspirants with 5866.

Former Delegate Gary L. Uterback, Frederick, moved into the runner-up spot with 4372, dropping Malcolm R. Baer, Frederick attorney to third place with 4232. Mrs. Hazel W. Lewis, near Frederick, was fourth with 3825, followed by James McSherry of Frederick, with 3785.

Lumen F. Norris Emmitsburg war veteran, remained eighth with 3032, followed by James Decker with 2659; George Hamilton, 2386; Robert P. Bailey, 1550 and George C. Bothe, 795.

The close race was for the Orphans' Court where Roy I. Hyndman, Frederick, was apparently the loser. Frank C. Shook, also of Frederick, was in the No. 1 spot with 3549 and Samuel Q. Ausherman, Burkittsville, ran second with 3501. Walter C. Jones, Frederick, had apparently beaten Mr. Hyndman for the third judgeship nomination, 2748 to 2510 in the 57 precincts, a lead of 238.

Three incumbents in the House of Delegates were renominated for another term. Melvin H. Derr, Frederick, headed the ticket with 3921 and former Sheriff Horace M. Alexander, Frederick, piled up 3617. Both are completing their first terms.

Proceeds Go To Child Welfare

Horse exhibitors from at least five states will vie for honors at Emmitsburg's second annual Horse Show to be held this Sunday at Community Field. The event is sponsored annually by the Emmitsburg Lions Club and the proceeds go to the medically indigent children of this district.

FROCK—BARRON

Miss Barbara Jean Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Karlquist of Fairfield, Pa., became the bride of Carroll E. Frock Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Frock, near Emmitsburg, last Saturday afternoon, Sept. 16, at three o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg. The double ring ceremony was performed by the assistant pastor of the bride, Rev. Michael O'Brien, in the presence of a very large number of relatives and friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her stepfather, was attired in a gown of Swiss organdy over taffeta. It featured a scalloped neckline and long sleeves, ending in a point over the hand. The tiered skirt ended in a short train. The fingertip veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of hand rolled organdy petals entwined with mother of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white flowers, from which hung multiple tiny white ribbons caught with baby mums.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Wachter, a classmate of the bride, wore a gown of blue dotted Swiss with a tiered skirt and puff sleeves. Her headdress was a halo of hand rolled matching material made into petals and she carried a bouquet of mixed mums and asters. The bridesmaids were Miss Hazel Glacken, cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Romaine Feeser and Miss Patricia Fitzgerald, classmates of the bride. They wore pink dotted Swiss gowns made like that of the maid of honor and also headpieces of matching material made into petals and carried bouquets of mixed fall flowers. The flower girls were Peggy and Pat Groft, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Groft of Littlestown, Pa., cousins of the bridegroom. They wore yellow dotted Swiss gowns made identical to the other attendants and wore head bands of real flowers.

The bridegroom chose for his best man John Warthen and the ushers were Richard Frock, brother of the bridegroom, James Sanders and William Sterbinsky. The bride's mother wore a copen blue taffeta dress with black accessories and a corsage of American Beauty rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore a grey crepe dress and also a corsage of red rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents and was attended by approximately 125 relatives and guests, after which the young couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Canada and New York City.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at their newly furnished apartment at the home of bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glacken.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, class of 1950, and the bridegroom graduated from the Emmitsburg High School with the class of '46 and attended Gettysburg College. He is employed as a Frederick County DHIA supervisor and is also engaged in farming.

The church was decorated with white and pink gladioli. The traditional wedding marches were played by the church organist, Mrs. Euphemia Rotering, and the soloist, Mrs. Reginald Zepp of Harney, sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Capt. H. C. Woodring, general chairman of the show, announced that entries this year supersede those of last season by at least 100 per cent.

Many of the favorites which thrilled local sports lovers last year will again be present at Sunday's activities.

Of special interest to fans here will be the Local Pleasure Class, which has widened from a 10-mile radius to that of 25, making eligible many more district exhibitors familiar to Emmitsburgians. Competition is expected to be keen in this classification.

The number of classes has been enlarged this year, Capt. Woodring explained, and the starting time has been moved back one hour to 12 noon (EST) to enable all classes to be shown before darkness.

The show is expected to last about six hours. Food will be available all day at the concession stand on the field so that hungry spectators do not have to miss a single minute of this great show, rapidly becoming one of the best in the state.

Plans for a buffet supper for the horse exhibitors have been completed. After the show, the horsemen will retire to the Fire Hall, where they will be served suppers.

Preston Howard, Hagerstown sportsman, who guided the show as ring marshal last year, will again take charge. Mr. Howard demonstrated his skill in that capacity expertly last year and is expected to keep things moving rapidly again this year. Another feature of the affair will be a paddock for the next classes to be shown, thus eliminating any delay in changing from one class to another.

Robert Daugherty, admission chairman, said late this week that the ticket sale was unusually heavy this year, and indications are that about 600 spectators will attend the exhibition. Ringside parking and reserved seating will again be available for those desiring these facilities.

The committee in charge was greatly augmented this year by the addition of Miss Iris M. Shank, Waynesboro sportswoman, who has been of invaluable help in putting the show over.

Harvey E. Smith, the popular announcer of last year's show, will again take over the announcing duties Sunday. Mr. Smith's work at the mike was roundly applauded by spectators last year. His smooth chatter and expert knowledge of the workings of the show, kept the fans well informed of all events and happenings and made the time pass fast that cold, blustering day last November.

Mr. Richard Bircher of Philadelphia, Pa., was secured to act as saddle horse judge, while Mr. Henry A. Dentry of Towson and Paul R. Gable of Harrisburg Pa. will be the hunter and jumper judges.

Committee in charge this season are: H. C. Woodring, general chairman, Iris M. Shank, Preston Howard, John J. Holinger, Dr. J. J. Dillon, Ralph McDonnell, Morris A. Zentz, Robert E. Daugherty, Herbert W. Roger, Charles Fuss, C. A. Elder, Clarence Hahn, William Kelz; admission, Robert E. Daugherty, chairman, George L. Wilhide, Ralph S. Sperry, Charles Fuss, C. A. Elder, Edward G. Stull, Charles Spriggs, William S. Sterbinsky, Dr. D. L. Beagle, George W. Gingell; entries, Dr. John J. Dillon and William Kelz; refreshments, Mrs. Robert (Continued on Page 8)

YES, THE ELECTION'S OVER—BUT?

Once again the state-wide primaries have passed and once again Emmitsburg has taken a back seat as far as county politics is concerned. This primary again brings to mind the fact that there never will be any party harmony in this county until the powers that be, the Democratic Central Committee, realizes that Frederick City is not Frederick County.

A perfect example of this theme of thinking was demonstrated in the elections this week when out of a total of 12 aspirants to the House of Delegates, nine were Fredericktonians. Frederick County has an estimated population of 65,000, while Frederick City boasts of approximately 25,000—leaving a representation of three candidates to serve 40,000, while six candidates represent the minority 25,000. This is an excellent case of a small minority bossing a majority and is also the reason for so much disunity in party circles.

Time and again, candidates from remote sections of Frederick County have risked the deluge of Frederick votes, only to go down in constant defeat and despair as the "favorite sons" piled up commanding majorities. Is it any wonder then, that aspirants for elective offices, hailing parts other than Frederick City, are reluctant to "stick their necks" out by filing on the ticket?

Emmitsburg placed two favorite sons in the field in Monday's primary election, and even though we are rated as the third largest in Democratic registration in the county, neither of these aspirants were accorded a chance. Especially light was the vote they received from Frederick while in contrast Frederick candidates did very well here. Is this reciprocity? Never will there be party unison as long as this condition exists. There can be only one solution to the problem, viz, an equitable representation from all sections of the county—not just one. This can be accomplished by the County Central Committee limiting the number of candidates from Frederick, thereby making room for others to represent 40,000 citizens who want a chance to elect representatives from their home districts.

Party workers worked hard and diligently in this district and effected what is perhaps the largest new registration of first-time voters ever to materialize in this district. However, the results were the same as in the past—defeated by too many Frederick candidates.

Emmitsburg has been hurt, the wound is deep, it will take much healing salve to ease the pain—there is only one doctor—the County Central Committees.

As a final stop-gap measure to check this inequity of distributing the political "plumbs," perhaps the coalition system (combining two parties) can be used by the outlying sections to effect an election. It's up to the County Central Committees.

Insurance Co. Shows Gain Of 29 Per Cent

The Farm Bureau Insurance Co. during the first six months of 1950 had a gain in net premiums written of nearly 29 per cent, W. E. West, vice president and treasurer, announced this week.

Net premiums written in the six months of this year totaled $34.8 million compared with $27 million in the similar period for 1949, a gain of 28.8 per cent, he said.

Of the three companies, the Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. had the largest gain—an increase of 32 per cent this year over last. Net written premiums for the auto company totaled $26.8 million for the six months of 1950 compared with a six-month total of $20.3 million in the first half of 1949, Mr. West stated.

Policies in force in the companies increased a third—from 1.2 million at the end of June, 1949, to 1.6 million on June 30, 1950.

The Farm Bureau Life Insurance Co. during the first six months of this year wrote $58.6 million worth of insurance, a gain of 24.6 per cent over last year's half-year total of $47 million, Mr. West said.

Losses paid by the auto company, he stated, increased 22.1 per cent to reach $11.6 million at the end of June this year, compared with $9.5 million for the six months of 1949.

Federal income taxes paid in 1950 will total $479,600. Additional state and municipal taxes, Mr. West pointed out, will bring the companies' total tax bill for the year to more than a million and a half dollars.

While the number of salaried personnel increased 20.6 per cent for the six months of this year (to 3500) over the similar period for 1949 (2900), total salaries were increased 38.2 per cent, he said. Payroll for the salaried personnel in the six months of 1950 was $4.7 million compared with $3.4 million in 1949.

Town Council Meets

Emmitsburg Town Council held its September meeting Tuesday evening in the town office in the Fire Hall. Burgess Thornton Rodgers presided with Commissioners Lloyd Ohler and Wales Righthour in attendance.

The Burgess reported the sewer connections on N. Seton Ave. completed. A number of projects are being conducted but not completed. One of these is the opening up and widening of the small stream that runs parallel to N. Seton Ave. This stream is on the Fitzgerald property and is being cleaned and widened by permission of Mr. Fitzgerald in order to eliminate the overflow of this stream by Flat Run.

HEALTH COLUMN

Three nutritious and well balanced meals every day are essential to the health and well being of every school child, is the opinion of Dr. R. H. Riley, director of health. Stressing the fact that the school lunch should provide one third of the daily food requirement, Dr. Riley called attention to the following statement prepared by the nutritionists of the State Dept. of Health.

"Food eaten at school," the nutritionists point out, "should perform an important role in the general food plan for the day. This is true whether the meal is selected at a school cafeteria or carried from home.

"During the year most children eat more than 150 lunches at school, possibly as many as 180. This meal can be both nutritious and appetizing or it can be so uninteresting that it will remain uneaten.

"Mothers who pack lunches for their children to carry to school can simplify the task of providing varied and attractive noon-day meals by planning them at least a week in advance and by including lunch-packing in their day's work schedule so as to avoid last minute rush. It is advisable to have a definite work place for packing the lunch and to reserve a special shelf or drawer, as close to this place as possible, for storing school lunch supplies.

"In order to provide its share of the day's nutritional needs the packed lunch should include a sandwich or other main dish that supplies two ounces of protein food—fish, meat, poultry, eggs, cheese, peas, beans or peanut butter. Enriched or whole-wheat bread should be used in sandwiches or otherwise provided, and two teaspoons of butter or fortified margarine are desirable. Green or yellow vegetables and fresh, frozen, canned or dried fruits included in lunch should total 3/4 cup. Half a pint of milk should be present in some form. Simple desserts suitable for the school lunch include fresh fruit in season, baked custards, dried fruits, cookies and gingerbread.

"Careful packing can add considerably to the appetite appeal of a box lunch. Sandwiches should be wrapped separately and raw fruits or vegetables should be cleaned thoroughly and then wrapped. Thermos bottles or clean jars with tight lids are necessary for liquids and soft foods. Paper napkins and disposable place mats should be carried in the box if they are not available at school. Unusual items and occasional surprise treats add interest to children's lunches."

'Maryland Land Week' Proclaimed

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 20—Gov. Lane issued a proclamation officially designating the week of Oct. 8-14 as "Maryland Land Week."

In his statement, Maryland's chief executive urged all citizens of the Free State to participate in the activities which are being planned for that week in their respective counties. Emphasizing the importance of productive land in the economy of the State, the Governor declared that "a condition of reasonable prosperity and health for all our citizens, both rural and urban, is largely dependent upon the land and its resources."

This state-wide observance is being sponsored by various agricultural, business, civic, educational, and religious organizations. It is designed to encourage the use of soil and water conservation practices by those who till the land, and to impress all citizens of Maryland with their dependence upon the land and . . . the effects of erosion, improper drainage, and soil deficiencies upon their health and welfare.

Committees are being formed in every county of the State to plan and conduct appropriate activities during this week. These activities are being coordinated by a state "Land Week" committee of which Edward F. Holter, Master of the Maryland State Grange, is chairman. Various other farmers' and homemakers' organizations are represented on this committee.

Homemakers Will Set Up Book Wagon

Home makers of Frederick County will provide, equip, service and maintain a book wagon at the Frederick Memorial Hospital it was decided this week at the first fall meeting of the directors of the County Council of Homemakers Clubs.

The board, meeting in the extension service conference room, E. Church St., Frederick, heard the report of Mrs. Edgar Hawker, Adamstown, on the book wagon project and voted to begin work immediately. Each of the county's Homemakers Club will donate funds for the initial purchase of a wagon, Mrs. Hawker explained.

The reading chairman of each club then will ask her own group to provide five books to be chosen for suitability and interest by the club as a whole.

Mrs. Hawker, who is county reading chairman, said that local leaders will be responsible for having volunteer workers at the hospital two days a week, at hours convenient to the institution's routine, who will take the book wagon through wards and private rooms and assist patients in choosing reading material.

Popular Pears

September means sweet, juicy pears, a welcome dessert at picnic suppers and in lunchboxes. According to the Maryland Extension Service, pears have a finer texture if they ripen after pickling, provided that they are well-formed, but hard and green when gathered.

They ripen best if kept at room temperature in a reasonably tight container. A dew is satisfactory for this. Be sure to inspect them daily as all pears won't ripen at the same time. Some may take a day or two, some longer.

Lighter Loads For Cleaner Clothes

Loading a family washing machine to the maximum may save time on a busy day, but clothes and linens come out cleaner if the machine is given a lighter load.

Nineteen machines, including automatic, semi-automatic and non-automatic types, had their efficiency tested with different sized loads by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Results proved that in general, a load of six or seven pounds will result in a cleaner and more even washing than the nine or 10 pounds maximum load guaranteed by most manufacturers.

Luncheon Scoops

Today, I interviewed mothers! That is, actresses who play mother roles on various programs, with an eye to finding just how domestic such a role makes one feel.

Marion Barney, who is the hero's mother on NBC's "When A Girl Marries," and then turns around and plays the hero's mother on CBS's "Rosemary," said she didn't know just how much the power of suggestion had contributed, but she was a pretty domestic person.

"Seriously, though," she laughed, "I think I'd still be, — even if I played nothing but the menace — for one thing, I live in a suburban community, love to knit and sew for my family and friends — and for another, I'm a person who really enjoy her own cooking!"

Though NBC's domestic comedy, "Father Knows Best" is broadcast from Hollywood, star Bob Young, who plays "Father Anderson," was in town the other day — and I tackled him on the domesticity of "Mother Anderson."

"Well," Bob said, with a smile,

"The role, fortunately, is portrayed by June Whitley—who once studied to be a home economist! Every so often she takes pity on us, and comes to rehearsal with a batch of homemade cookies, or a big cake."

That girl was domestic first — and a radio "mother" second. So, in fact, was famous actress, Peggy

Dickie Van Patten, Peggy Wood.

Wood, who plays the title role in CBS's television drama, "Mama." She, too, loves to sew, has raised a family—and is very fond of her "Mama" role.

"However," and her blue eyes twinkled at this, "The whole cast has supper on the set just before show time every Friday night—and that's one meal "Mama" doesn't have to get. It's sent up from a restaurant, all piping hot and ready to eat!"

What Is Molt?

As this Pointer explains why and when birds molt, the next Pointer will deal with early molt of pullets and its prevention.

The molt, which means the shedding of feathers and replacing them by a new plumage is a necessary procedure of all kind of birds. They wear out their old plumage, and nature provides them with a new "outfit."

Wild birds, which do not lay eggs in winter time, molt in the early fall or summer. When we hatch chicks without mother hen in January, for example, which is much earlier than the natural setting time of wild birds in the spring, we do not want the pullets to molt in the fall. It would be just the time when pullet eggs start qualifying for hen size. It is most dangerous for unprotected birds to molt when it is cold. They usually shed their feathers more rapidly and by being "undressed" until the new plumage grows back, the birds are likely to catch colds.

Molting does not only renew the birds' plumage, it also gives them a rest from laying. The average time to molt is 90 days. However, some birds molt much faster and others may take as long as six months; the latter probably lack proper nourishment. Feathers contain, mainly, protein, and when birds do not get enough of this ingredient in feed, they are molting very slowly. A good hen loses weight from heavy laying and the molt or "rest period," is her natural protection from man's exploitation to save her health and regain her strength.

Traffic Fatalities In State Increase

There were 38 traffic fatalities on the highways of Maryland in August—up nine per cent over the same month last year; there were 708 reported injured in accidents—up 11% and there were 1,540 reported property damage figures just issued by the Statistics Division of the Maryland State Police.

Maryland's 298 highway fatalities so far this year is 4% above last year's record. However, this is slightly under the nationwide increase of 12%.

In commenting on this deplorable record, Captain W. H. Weber, field force commander of the state police, pointed out:

"Highway safety is everybody's business and until this is thoroughly understood by all individual users of the highways—men, women, children, operators, passengers and pedestrians — and their actions reflect a willingness and a desire to co-operate in promoting highway safety, you will continue to see and to read about thousands of unnecessary highway fatalities and crippling injuries, to say nothing of the millions of dollars in property losses."

SHORT STORY

Gase Of Forgery

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

"THERE'S A CURIOUS TWIST to this case, Inspector," George Jackson, president of the Medville National Bank was saying. "Anthony Page, who deposited $25,000 with us on Monday, decided to use his right name at the last moment."

"His right name? What do you mean?"

"Anthony Page is a fiction writer. His real name is Edward Thurston. Recently a distant uncle died and left him a small fortune — $25,000 to be exact. Page consulted me about investments. I advised him not to invest in anything while the market was in its present unstable condition. He agreed, and decided to deposit the money in our bank until things looked better."

"He came in early Monday morning and made the deposit, decided to use his real name of Edward Thurston at the last moment. On Wednesday, a check for $5,000, signed by Edward Thurston, was presented and cashed by one of our tellers."

"I have questioned Thurston. He says he left for Chicago directly after depositing the money, and swears he told no one about his decision to use his real name. He had signed no checks against his account!"

Inspector Kent Clifford reflectively lighted a cigar.

"You say that Thurston made his deposit early on Monday morning?"

"As far as I can find out," the president offered, "there were only two men in the bank while Thurston was here." He handed the officer a slip of paper. "Here are their names and addresses. Both are well known to all of us, men of high repute."

Inspector Clifford studied the names. "Now tell me what your clerks were up to."

"Nothing unusual. Getting things ready to start the day. Making sure deposit blanks, pens, blotters, ink, etc. were on the lobby counters. Arranging their cash . . ."

Inspector Clifford snapped his fingers. "That's it. Come on, we're going to call on these two men."

THE FIRST CALL was on a man named Simons in the suburban town of Sharonfield. Mrs. Simons answered their knock.

"Harry is away. Is there anything I can do?"

Following previous instructions from Clifford, Jackson said: "We made a mistake in his monthly statement last week. Do you happen to know whether he has it handy?"

"It may be on his desk. Will you come inside?"

They followed her into the house. There was a small den off the living room containing a desk. Mrs. Simons began opening drawers and peering into them. For a moment Inspector Clifford stood idly by. Then suddenly he stepped forward and snatched something from one of the drawers.

Before the startled eyes of Mrs. Simons and the astonished gaze of President Jackson, he strode over to a window, studied the thing.

"Simon's our man," he said. "This proves it. Now—" He broke off as the front door opened and closed.

As Clifford finished speaking, Simons, a tall spare man, appeared in the doorway, stopped and looked about in bewilderment.

"I'm Inspector Clifford of police headquarters," the officer said, stepping forward. "Simons, I arrest you for forging Edward Thurston's name to a check for $5,000."

Simons' eyes grew wide. The color drained from his cheeks. For a moment he stared as though struck, then impulsively turned and bolted.

Anticipating the move, Inspector Clifford leaped forward. His fingers caught hold of the tall man's collar, and yanked him backward.

"Quite simple when explained," Clifford was saying later. "Simons probably needed money. He was in the bank when Page was making his deposit, and picked up the blotter Page had used when signing his name. It was a new blotter, and the imprint therefore was definitely easy to copy for forgery purposes."

Mr. and Mrs. Milburn M. Glass of near town, celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary last Thursday, September 14.

Partridge Likes Railroading

THE inherent fear that game birds, especially the ruffed grouse ("partridge" to most out-of-doorsmen) have for humans, is just a lot of hokum as one member of the species who lives in the woods adjoining the Canadian National Railways' tracks near St. Remi, Que., is concerned.

This cocky little fellow has actually become a fast friend of the Canadian National trackmen. Attracted by the sound of their track motor car or by the ring of their hammers on the steel rails, the little partridge seldom fails to join the crew for a visit.

This partridge has a mind of his own, too, because he absolutely will not allow any of the trackmen to handle him. They can look, but that's all. If they try to touch him, he uses his sharp little beak to good advantage.

In the picture above left, the young partridge sits on a rail to be admired by a sectionman. The bird will not fly on to the track speeder, but if the men place a stick or a branch so as to form a ramp, he will walk up the improvised ramp (upper right) and actually settle himself down (lower right) for a ride over the Canadian National near his forest home.

Wise Purchasing of Shoes and Socks Is Boon to Healthy Feet

When Feet Hurt The successful, self-confident man and woman usually boast a graceful walk with a brisk, but easy pace. Conversely, poor posture and an awkward, shuffling gait are often characteristic of a person who has allowed discouragement or an inferiority complex to get the upper hand. But many people whose manner of walking is clumsy or graceless simply suffer from "feet that hurt." Their "bad walk" has become characteristic because they have neglected or postponed measures to have their foot trouble corrected. While some people are born with foot troubles or deformities, most of us court foot ills by buying ill-fitting shoes and hose, ignoring simple rules of cleanliness and hygiene, and generally neglecting care of the feet. Care of the feet should begin early in babyhood—not in adult life when painful feet drive the sufferer to the doctor. Parents should be aware that the slightest foot deformities, even in early infancy, demand medical attention and treatment. Doctors report that most unusual foot conditions of babyhood, when treated promptly, can be corrected, so that painful foot deformities are avoided.

The fit of no article of apparel is as important as shoes. Ill-fitting suits or hats, for instance, might cause temporary discomfort, but shoes that are wrong will be painful and, perhaps, cause permanent foot injury. Every pair of shoes should be bought with great care. After all, the feet literally carry the entire weight of the body and they deserve and need the best possible support.

Around the Studios

Just prior to the show's summer hiatus, eleven-year-old Norma Jean Nilsson, who is "Kathy" on NBC's "Father Knows Best," was observed spending all of her spare time at an ice cream parlor adjacent to the studio. Seems foresighted Norma Jean was due for a tonsillectomy and had been told that during the operation she would have difficulty eating for a while. . . . She was prudently filling up.

Ralph Locke, who plays "Papa David" on NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful," likes to go boating alone in his spare time, and, when he is on the water, often slips over the side of his small sailboat for a cool dip in the water. He did this the other day, and was swimming lazily about near the boat, when something landed squarely in the water with a loud plunk. When he could get the resultant spray out of his eyes, Ralph, a powerful swimmer, discovered he had just missed being conked by a life preserver, thrown by a stranger who had been cruising by in a motorboat and had jumped to an erroneous conclusion!

A recent script of CBS' highly dramatic "Rosemary," called for a picture to go crashing to the floor, which it did on schedule. Betty Winkler, the show's star, was playing in that particular sequence, and when she got home that night happened to accidentally brush a small picture off a table.

Betty Winkler

"There," she heard herself say in a tone of satisfaction. "It's broken, and I'm glad!" Then Betty started to laugh—the words were exactly those which had followed the crash in the script!

Dickie Orlan, nine-year-old member of CBS' small fry quiz show, "Juvenile Jury," was visiting relatives with his parents recently, when a neighbor dropped in and began describing an unhappy event that had recently taken place in his family. After the neighbor left, Dickie, who is a member of a panel which deals with the problems of small children, said, "Isn't he sort of old to have a problem?"

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Farmers and representatives of agricultural agencies have completed planning of the 1951 ACP soil building program, according to information released this week by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee.

State planning groups have developed numerous soil building measures for adoption on Maryland farms next year. These include such recognized and approved measures as strip cropping, drainage, terracing, applying lime phosphate and potash to protective crops, and such new measures as controlling perennial noxious weeds with chemical sprays and fencing of farm woodlots, Mr. Blandford revealed.

Farmers who secure prior approval of the farmer-elected PMA committee in their county will receive partial payment for carrying out such measures on their farms provided they can show a need for the particular practice to be adopted. It was pointed out that changes from former programs include approval of the use of lime only on protective crops; the use of chemical sprays to control weeds, and the fencing of farm woodlots to protect the trees and undergrowth from the ravages of livestock.

Meetings with farmer-elected county committeemen and county agricultural agencies will now be held to draw up a county program. Mr. Blandford pointed out, in emphasizing the democratic planning and administration of the PMA programs. The meeting for Frederick County will be held in the PMA office in Frederick beginning at 10 a. m. on Wednesday, Sept. 27. Farmers, businessmen and others interested in improving the agriculture of Frederick County are invited to attend.

Soybean Support Announced A national average support price on soybeans of the 1950 crop has been approved at $2.06 per bushel, Mr. Blandford announced this week in calling attention of Maryland bean growers to the price situation expected this fall. Mr. Blandford pointed out that if markets follow their usual pattern prices paid for beans at harvest time will be below this figure. Support will be in the form of loans and purchase agreements. Farmers were urged to provide storage for loans on the farm as no terminal storage for beans is expected. Storage to be

Our Hidden Enemy—Inflation

Some readers may have wondered from time to time why this column has so persistently warned of the danger of a prolonged practice of deficit financing (operating on borrowed money) by our Federal government. The reason is that runaway inflation is disastrous, and if there is a single economic law on which virtually all economists can agree it is the one that says government deficit spending inevitably brings on and feeds inflation.

In Asia, in the Orient, and in Europe I have had personal contact with the havoc wrought by inflation. For a number of years I've carried a $10,000 currency bill in my wallet. In 1936, when we left Hong Kong to return to America, this Chinese money would have bought a very nice home anywhere in the Orient. Today the $10,000 bill would be just enough to pay for one slice of bread.

It's Destructive

Inflation can be as destructive as defeat in war. Lenin, the father of international Communism, said: "We must force the United States to spend itself into destruction." In opening the nationwide Crusade for Freedom with a radio address early this month, Gen. Eisenhower pondered the possibility that present Russian strategy may be calculated to force us into ruinous financial practices. Earl Browder, the Communist, says in his new book that Socialism is inevitable in the United States. He gives as the foremost reason "Government deficit financing."

In its full, runaway stage, inflation creates panic and sometimes anarchy results; but in its first, insidious stages it is not likely to generate alarm among the people. That's another reason this column has frequently pointed out the danger. Conditions which led to the French Revolution were set into motion by the Finance Ministry's resultant runaway inflation. Hitler's National Socialism took root in a post war Germany prostrated by currency inflation.

Loss: 50 Per Cent

The higher our national debt goes due to government borrowing and deficit spending, the less value our dollars will have. The debt has been increased during 18 of the past 20 years. Today it amounts to $258 billion. The dollars in my billfold haven't shrunk in value like the $10,000 Chinese currency has, but just since 1940 they have lost nearly 50 per cent of their purchasing power. And the future income of our 1.5 million citizens, young and old, is already mortgaged to the extent of $1800 each by the national debt.

Besides being a danger to our national security, inflation is a hidden parasite feeding on the bank account, the savings, the insurance policy, the annuity, the pension. It hits everybody's earnings, everybody's savings, everybody's future plans. For instance, about $5 billion worth of Defense Bonds were bought by citizens in 1940 and this year they are redeemable. The bond bought for $75 in 1940 and now redeemable for $100 is now worth actually only $63, in 1940 dollars. Inflation has robbed the purchaser of $25 interest and has eaten up $12 of the principal he invested 10 years ago. "The Greatest Danger"

The 80 million Americans who own insurance policies are being highjacked by inflation every year the government spends more than it receives. More than $50 billion in savings bonds are owned by citizens and every day inflation continues their value is sapped. The average industrial wage was $23.86 in 1939. By May of this year it was $57.50, or an increase of $33.64. But inflation already has taken $23.40 worth of purchasing power from this increase.

People working to change our American way of life to Socialism or any other form of regimenting government gain headway by encouraging deficit spending, inflation, constantly mounting national debt. Thomas Jefferson viewed public debts

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

Maryland Grain Markets
Baltimore grain markets weakened somewhat during the past week. Wheat, corn, and barley lost about one cent per bushel. Western white oats gained about one cent per bushel on the Baltimore market.

National Grain Market
The grain markets continued unsettled during last week, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Wheat prices held fairly steady, with the strengthening influences of frost damage in Canada and lack of cars to move the domestic spring wheat crop offset by slow demand and continued plentiful offerings. Corn prices held firm and gains of recent weeks as a result of a good inquiry for current market receipts and fear of frost damage to the crop which is later than usual and is ripening slowly. Oat markets were individually firm under an active demand. Barley and grain sorghums were also steady, but soybeans continued to weaken influenced by favorable crop prospects and a slower demand for oil and meal.

Maryland Feed Market
The Baltimore feed market weakened somewhat during last week. Soybean oil meal showed predominant weakness with a sharp decline of almost 5% — $4.34 per ton lower than the previous week. Linseed oil meal declined over 2% — $2.03 per ton lower.

During last week, Maryland broiler producers received an average of 28.9 cents per pound for broilers and paid an average of $97.96 per ton for 20% broiler mash on Lower Eastern Shore. On this basis, one pound of live weight of broilers would buy 5.9 pounds of feed.

National Feed Market
Feed markets lost some of the previous week's gain last week, reflecting a slow demand resulting, in part, from the excellent fall pastures, reports to the Dept. of Agriculture indicate. Wheat feed and soybean and linseed meals declined materially. Cottonseed meal was independently firm influenced by the prospective short supply this season. Animal protein feeds made substantial gains while most other feeds held about unchanged. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices dropped about two points to 216.9, or about the same as a year ago and was only about four points above the feed-grain index which stood at 212.6 compared with 186.1 a year ago.

Pasture conditions were unusually favorable at the first of September and for the country as a whole averaged 85% of normal. This was nine points higher than the 1939-48 average and has been exceeded only three times since the records began in 1915. Despite the good pastures, however, dairymen were feeding considerable quantities of concentrates. Milk production during August was the highest since '46 and totaled 10.6 billion pounds. The output per cow in herds kept by crop reporters averaged 16.58 pounds Sept. 1, and established a new high record. Egg production in August averaged 13.9 eggs per layer which also established a new record for that month and compares with the average of 12.5 eggs per layer. Farm flocks laid 10% more eggs in August than last year and 18% more than the 1939-48 average. There were 6% more layers in farm flocks in August than a year ago but the number of potential layers on farms Sept. 1 was down 2% from a year ago and 1% from the average and totaled 548 million.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Retailers depending on middle and lower income groups should brace themselves; prepare for the shock when proposed new income tax rates go into effect this fall. The burden falls on their customers.

Income tax increase on a married man with two children and an income of $3000 to $5000 will be 20.5%, but on a $40,000 income only 14%. The increase is lower as incomes go up.

Retailers should bear this in mind in planning fall inventories. If you sell yachts you probably won't see much change. If you sell beef, you will.

Even if prices go no higher, most families will have less to spend for essentials; little, if any, for luxuries.

The public statements of politicians are to the effect that excess purchasing power will be siphoned off.

Washington statisticians who follow the mounting cost of living say "What excess?" Proposed tax increases on business are just as unrealistic.

And still politics go on as usual. Congress plans to spend $44 million—$28 million for re-packaging, $18 million for transportation to give away food stocks already bought and stored to keep prices up. This stock includes: butter 192,000,000 pounds; cheese 80,000,000 pounds; dried milk 332,000,000 pounds; dried eggs 107 million pounds.

Put it this way. If you have a wife and two children, an income of $5,000, all the income taxes paid by you this year, and by 96,915 other families in your same circumstances, will just pay for giving lifts food away to relief agencies.

One cynical observer in Washington last week remarked "We've advanced a long way from the old-fashioned socialist theories of taking from the 'haves' to give to the 'have-nots'."

"Now we take from the 'have-nots' to give to the 'have-nots'."

In fact, new business taxes will bear down heavy on small business—will not be too far away from World War II peak. On huge outfits, such as a motor company heading for an unprecedented billion dollar profit this year, the new taxes will be just slightly more than half World War II peak.

The most plausible reason given for this discrepancy in Washington is that with November just around the corner, no politician wants to offend the few big campaign fund contributors.

As predicted in this column, there is a concerted drive in Washington to amend the proposed Defense Production Act of 1950 to suspend all anti-trust laws.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer is for this move. Attorney General Howard McGrath says the purposes of the act can be accomplished without this. Next week this column will go into detail on this development.

Stripped Bass Return To Bay Area

The largest brood of stripped bass in 40 years has helped to boom sport fishing in the Chesapeake Bay this year, according to David H. Wallace, chairman of the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission. Mr. Wallace also reported blue fish and large mouth black bass in near record quantities.

The blues, or "snapper" as this species is called, have appeared in record runs this season after an absence of nearly 15 years. It is one of the gamest species in the bay and affords real sport for the angler using light line and tackle.

The fisheries head said that the large mouth black bass, which abounds in the less salty northern area of the Bay are in particularly good supply. "But for some reason," Mr. Wallace added, "anglers will ignore these bass in the Bay and drive hundreds of miles to 'try their luck' in fresh water."

The good stock of fish in the Chesapeake Bay is attributed chiefly to the Fisheries Management program being carried out by the Commission. This conservation program limits the number of commercial fishing nets and thus tends to lower the commercial catch and boost the supply of fish available to sport fishermen.

Maryland's Tidewater Fisheries Commission has published, for free distribution, a booklet on fishing in the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean. The booklet contains helpful hints on where and when to fish, as well as the type of bait that is proving most successful in luring the finny tribes of the various areas. With the booklet is included a fishing information kit giving a list of fishing guides at popular fishing points on the Bay and Ocean.

The entire kit may be obtained from the Dept. of Information, Box 706, Annapolis.

Approves New Clause

The State insurance department has given tentative approval to a restrictive clause which some life insurance companies want to use in value of the policy "in the event of new policies covering men who might be called into military service. The clause would return only the premiums paid, or the reserve death while in active military or naval service abroad or within six months following return to this country.

To date more than four times as many white marlin have been landed by fishermen trolling the Atlantic off Ocean City, this season, than in any previous year.

VOTING

was third with 3535 and Delegate Joseph B. Payne, Brunswick, fourth, with 3324. Richard B. Baumgardner, Urbana, was fifth with 3245, and M. Holmes Fout, Frederick attorney, sixth, 3151.

Evidently defeated were Roger G. Harley, Frederick, whose 2717 total was 424 behind Fout, and Harry C. E. Wolfe, 1744.

Unofficial returns from 57 out of 60 precincts in Monday's Republican primary were so conclusive that it did not appear the missing precincts could change any nominations.

The victors in almost all cases won with somewhat to spare, with the closest race turning out to be for the Orphans' Court judge nominations.

Gen. D. John Markey of Walkersville, carried the county decisively over John M. Butler of Baltimore, for the Senatorial nomination, 3714 to 839.

William A. Gunter of Alleghany County, won the county over Helen E. Brown of Baltimore, by 2867 to 1337 for the nomination for Attorney-General.

In a race that had pre-primary possibilities to being close, according to forecasts, Charles U. Price, Frederick lawyer, ran away with the Republican nomination for State's Attorney, downing Wilbur F. Sheffield Jr. by 1600.

With three precinct votes missing, Price had 3155 to 1532 for Sheffield.

Sheriff Guy Anders won the nomination for another term by overwhelming County Constable Paul B. Rhoads by around 3000. The vote was 6893 for Anders and 848 for Rhoads.

The old Board of County Commissioners were renominated by goodly margins. President U. Grant Hooper, Frederick, was in front with 3723 and Samuel H. Young, also of Frederick, second, with 3016. Robert R. Rhoderick of Mt. Pleasant, had 2788, followed by Joseph R. Harp of Myersville, 2006; John W. Wachter, Lewistown, 1422, and George H. Wilt, Buckeystown, 750.

On the Democratic side of the ledger in the gubernatorial race, Preston W. Lane Jr. easily led George P. Mahoney in the county, 4664 to 2974. In the U. S. Senator contest, incumbent Millard E. Tydings ran far ahead of any of his two opponents with 5448 to the next highest for Hugh J. Monaghan, who polled 931.

W. Prescott Allen, Bethesda publisher, ran well ahead of other contestants in the Sixth District Congressional race, compiling a commanding lead of 3439 to 2963 over his opposition, Russell P. Hartle.

Incumbent Edwin F. Nirkirk, Frederick, soundly whipped his opponent, W. Jerome Offutt for that office by gathering 4550 votes to Mr. Offutt's 2972.

For sheriff, Denver J. Shook outdistanced his opponent, Alfred C. Denn, 4836 to 1856. The county commissioner vote ran this way: James V. Shaff, 4604; William T. Staley, 3848; Maurice C. Smith, 3773; Claude R. Crum, 3737, and Daniel J. Thomas, 3538.

In the heated contest for Democratic State Central Committee, the list read this way: Alton Y. Bennett, Joseph E. Chew, Joseph F. Eisenhauer III, J. Tyson Lee, James L. Nester, Arthur Potts and Robert H. Rutzahn with 5240, 4224, 5028, 3787, 3655, 4568 and 4760 respectively.

'Old Timers' To Schedule Ball Game

The suggestion of a post-season baseball game between the 'Old Timers' and one of the town teams was made at the close of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night and was received with enthusiasm.

Rev. Philip Bower and Guy McLaughlin, from whom the idea came for a post-season game came from, reports the contacts they have made. They feel confident that a great many of the 'Old Timers' having been away from here as well as those who still reside here, will return and take part. They say they are enthusiastic about the game and some have made strong requests that it be held.

J. Norman Flax, manager of the Pen-Mar League team here and Dee Saylor of the Hanover Shoe team, are being asked to consult these respective teams and arrange to schedule a game with the 'Old Timers.' Tentatively, the dates are Oct. 7 and 8, at the Community Field. The first tilt will be the 'Old Timers' vs. Emmitsburg and a second game with the Hanover Shoe.

More complete details will be announced next week, Rev. Bower said. Anyone interested is requested to see Guy McLaughlin at his barber shop on Center Square or Rev. Philip Bower, 100 W. Main St., phone 103.

Boss: How is it that you are carrying only one sack? All other workmen are carrying two.
Laborer: I suppose they're just too lazy to make two trips as I do.

There are some countries of which you and I have both heard, where folks can't go to the polls and use their own free will about such matters. . . . Not by a long shot. To those of you who did not have a good reason for your refusal to vote, I have only this to say: Don't ever come to me and complain about the way our country is run, because you had your chance to help "run" it and if you didn't take advantage of that opportunity well, it's just too bad. "As you sow, so shall ye reap," if I may quote a well-known passage.

Mr. and Mrs. John Daugherty of Washington, D. C., called at the home of Mrs. Guy Topper and family Sunday on their way home from Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Adell Mae Adelsberger has returned from a trip to New York City and Yonkers, N. Y.

Biggest State Capital

Boston has the biggest population of any of the 48 State capitals; Carson City, Nev., the smallest. The Massachusetts capital's population is 788,552, according to 1950 census figures. Carson City is listed at 3069.

Lower a kerosene lantern inside a silo before you crawl in to clean it out. If the flame goes out it's likely there's not enough oxygen in the pit.

Out of each food dollar, a city family spends nine cents for vegetables, fresh, canned or frozen.

Dairy calves between four and six months of age should have a concentrate mixture and hay in addition to pasture.

Chevrolet this year has built more cars in a single day than were produced in any of the first three years of the company's existence.

To The People of Emmitsburg and Frederick County

I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the splendid support accorded me in my recent candidacy for the House of Delegates.

It is extremely gratifying to know that these people were so cooperative on such an occasion.

I am, sincerely,
