Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Route 15 seems destined to be in the limelight for some time to come, as complaints are registered from far and wide. It seems that travelers from both the North and South complain about the highway. Recently several letters were received and published by a county newspaper concerning this roadway. Daily some 4500 cars traverse this road and it is any wonder the complaints continue rolling in? Statements to the effect that if there was any other way to reach their destinations they would never again come through Frederick County. While it is planned, we believe, to do some remodeling next spring, elimination or easing of a few curves doesn't quite fill the bill. The entire road from Emmitsburg to Frederick is badly in need of a resurfacing. Between shoulders and the main road bed there are depressions several inches in depth, giving each car a real rolling and shaking around so that by the time you have gone a few miles you feel like a human milkshake. And think of the untold wear and tear on tires that is caused by this lopsided highway. Several people who work in and near Frederick and who have to make the trip daily, claim that a set of tires lasts only half its life, not counting any other wear to their cars. It is indeed time for the State Roads Commission to seriously consider this project and take some concrete steps to make something out of this main traffic artery leading to the Nation's Capital. We have been promised that something in the nature of a new road would be forthcoming for so long that it has hair on it. In fact some 40 odd years have elapsed since the roads commission began having dreams of a super highway through this district to Washington. Well we'll settle for a remodeling job, as I feel this old "frame" will never see the day when this new road is finally, if ever, completed or begun.

Bouquets to the local fire ladies who are working so tirelessly in their efforts to bring Emmitsburg a first-class fire fighting outfit. The membership of that progressive organization is studded with youngsters full of vim and vigor and their efforts are about to bear fruit, in the nature of better fire protection and reductions in fire insurance premiums to property holders of this district. It was announced last week that a reduction in rates was in the offing just as soon as the smoke-eaters complete a 20-weeks' training school. They now have all the necessary equipment to do the job and with a little supervised schooling will be ready to tackle anything that might come their way. The Town, too, has realized its responsibility in helping to maintain this volunteer outfit and is now prepared to make a substantial annual contribution to keep the company in "ship-shape." It will be a glad day for all concerned when these volunteer firefighters can secure enough contributions from the county, state and town to make unnecessary their begging every year from house to house for their finances. The officers of this fine organization are to be commended for their foresight and endeavor in making this company what it is today. . . . it is really something to be proud of.

That excellent little service club, the Lions, are about to begin tackling their annual Christmas Club party for the district's children. No sooner than the accounting for the Horse Show had been made when the club rolled up its sleeves and pitched in with preparations for the annual party. Assisting the club again this year will be the business men of Emmitsburg who bear most of the financial problem in putting the party over, by taking advertisements on the program. Without their valuable assistance the party would be impossible. While on the Christmas theme, it won't be long now before you will see those attractive Xmas decorations which the Corporation of Emmitsburg bought last year and just about the half of Emmitsburg was adorned with them. Now if the other half

Lions Planning Annual Kiddies' Xmas Party

Emmitsburg's annual Christmas Party for the district's children virtually became assured Monday night when action was taken by the Lions Club to again make preparations for promoting this annual event. President C. A. Elder presided at the regular session of the club and appointed committees to handle the business of readying for the kiddie party. George L. Wilhide was appointed general chairman of the committee with the following assistants: Quinn F. Topper, Charles Spriggs, John J. Hollinger, J. Ralph McDonnell, Charles F. Troxell, E. R. Shriver, Dr. J. J. Dillon, Jr., and Wilbur T. Umbel.

An advertising committee was also appointed with Clarence E. Hahn as chairman, aided by Charles R. Fuss, Edward G. Stull, Herbert Roger and Cloyd W. Seiss.

An incomplete report on the recent horse show was presented by Secretary-Treasurer J. J. Dillon. The report indicated that about $250 will be netted.

Dr. D. L. Beegle, chairman of the sight conservation committee, announced that two pairs of glasses had been presented recently and that a request for another pair had been received.

The committee in charge of the annual Charter and Ladies' Night, to be held Nov. 26, reported that plans were now completed. Fr. Michael O'Brien will be master of ceremonies for the affair which gets under way at 7 p. m. in the Lutheran Parish Hall. A local orchestra will provide the music for dining and dancing. District Governor William G. Heagy, Westminster, has accepted an invitation to attend the affair and will give a short talk. Other amusements are planned for the occasion.

It is expected that the annual Christmas Party will generally follow the pattern of other years with a free movie at the Gem Theater, plus the regular treat at the Fire Hall and the presentation of gifts on the Square. Christmas music is planned for the event which will be held on Monday, Dec. 24.

Dr. Stoner, Woodsboro, Lions Club zone chairman, has called a zone meeting in conjunction with the regular meeting of the local club to be held here Dec. 10.

"Homer" Wins Football Contest

"Homer" Boland and Betty Ridge correctly named eight winners last week in the Chronicle's Football Contest. However, "Homer" came up with a 27-13 probable score in the Illinois-Iowa contest which Illinois won 40-13. Mrs. Ridge chose a 21-7 score for the game. Turn to Page Seven for this week's contest which lists 11 games.

Demos Will Meet In Thurmont

Democrats from three Frederick County towns will meet in Thurmont Tuesday, Nov. 27, at the home of Mrs. William McPherson McGill. Democratic women from Frederick, Emmitsburg, and Thurmont will meet at Mrs. McGill's home at eight o'clock to hear the guest speaker, Dr. Lewis of Hood College, who will speak on "Parliamentary Procedure." An open period of questions and answers will be held.

OFFICE TO CLOSE

Announcement was made this week that Dr. Hubert E. Slocum, local optometrist, will close his offices here Wednesday and Friday of next week. The regular schedule will prevail the following week.

Italy Recognizes Ethiopia

Italy has now formally resumed diplomatic relations with Ethiopia for the first time since Mussolini marched his troops into the African kingdom 16 years ago.

More than 50 kinds of vegetables are grown in the U. S. on a commercial basis.

Firemen Begin Training School With 27 Enrolled

The regular meeting of the Vigilant Fire Co. was held Tuesday night at the Fire Hall with the president, Herbert W. Roger, presiding over the 27 members present.

George F. Rosensteel was appointed as second assistant fire chief in place of John S. Hollinger, who was called to the army. Mr. Rosensteel will complete the unexpired term of Mr. Hollinger until the next election.

Votes of thanks were extended to Oscar Wolfe, for his contribution of installing the stoker in the Fire Hall, and Lester Wastler for donating his services of remodeling the organization's meeting room.

As has been the custom in the past, the Hose Company will again send cigars to its members in the armed forces. William J. Rowe was appointed to take care of this matter.

Chief Hollinger spoke briefly on the new training school and urged some of the older members to enroll in the 20 weeks' course to fill in any vacancies that may arise from members being inducted into the armed services.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to discontinue the annual turkey raffle held every year around Thanksgiving. Fear of prosecution by the state's attorney brought about this decision as Mr. Price announced that all raffle violators would be prosecuted. Instead, the firemen will hold a shooting match on Sunday, Dec. 16, at Emmitt Gardens, opposite Ohler's Cafe on the Emmitsburg-Taneytown Rd., in an effort to raise funds for some needed improvements and to reduce the mortgage acquired by the purchase of the new engine.

One new application for membership was received and will be acted on at the next meeting.

President Roger appealed to the members for volunteers as blood donors and several responded.

Death Notices

GEORGE V. LINGG

George Vincent Lingg, 87-year-old mason who was a native of New Oxford, Pa., but has lived in Emmitsburg for the past 34 years, died at his home on East Main St. here Monday morning at 4 o'clock. He had been ill for two years.

He was the husband of the late Ida C. Zurgable Lingg and was a son of the late Henry and Virginia Rider Lingg. He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church here and of the Holy Name Society.

Surviving are four children: G. Ernest Lingg, Gettysburg; C. Elmer Lingg and Mrs. Mary G. Payne, both of Emmitsburg; and W. Guy Lingg, Hanover, Pa. Fifteen grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren also survive. A sister, Mrs. Frank Kane, Baltimore, also survives.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with a requiem mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Emmitsburg with the pastor, the Rev. Fr. John D. Sullivan, officiating. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

CHARLES H. SHRINER

Charles H. Shriner, a prominent resident and retired business man of Taneytown, died at the age of 89 years at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., at 4:15 p. m., Saturday, after being a patient there for one month. Mr. Shriner, a life-long member of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, Taneytown, resided on E. Baltimore St., Taneytown. He retired as a clothing manufacturer in 1928 and at one time owned the sewing factory located in Emmitsburg, which is now the American Legion Home. He was a son of the late J. L. and Sarah Hahn Shriner. His wife, the former Gertrude Smith, predeceased him in death in May, 1928.

Surviving are three children: Miss Alma R. Shriner, at home; George W. Shriner, Taneytown, and Marlin L. Shriner, Woodsboro, Md. Additional survivors include two grandchildren; two great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Ida Landis, Hagerstown. A brother of Mr. Shriner died last Thursday in Kansas.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m., from Little's Funeral Home in Littlestown, with the pastor of the deceased, Rev. Morgan Andrews, officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Carmel Cemetery in Littlestown, Pa.

Make plans to breed heifers for fall production.

Scrap Drive To Benefit Memorial Hall

Emmitsburg's scrap drive gained momentum this week when three members of the local Grange took charge and announced they will accept all types of scrap iron, brass, lead, old farm machinery, etc. Appointed to spearhead the drive, which is nationwide and is being sponsored by the Government, were Charles R. Fuss, Edgar G. Emrich, and Morris A. Zentz.

Old farm machinery is an excellent form of scrap iron and the leaders request farmers in this district to search their premises for this type of metal. There is much scrap available around the homes in town, it also was pointed out, and a plea has been issued for citizens to cooperate wholeheartedly in the drive.

Mr. Emrich, president of the Memorial Hall Assn., announced the Grange will turn all monies received from the drive over to the building fund of the Hall Assn.

Anyone having any scrap metal for this purpose is asked to contact any of the three mentioned captains of the drive and they will call for same and haul it away.

This is a wonderful way, officials pointed out, to help your country in these threatening times and also to do your part in helping build Emmitsburg's Memorial Hall, which is sorely needed here.

Famous Diplomat Visits Here

Sidney E. O'Donoghue, one of Emmitsburg's most noted sons, spent last Saturday at "Bella Vista" en route from New York City to Ashville, N. C.

Mr. O'Donoghue recently retired from the Foreign Service of the United States, after spending nearly 32 years in representing our government in Singapore, Straits Settlement, Salonika and Athens, Greece; Prague, Czechoslovakia; Berlin, Germany; Guatemala, Central America; Havana, Cuba; Mexico City, Mexico; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Sofia, Bulgaria, and The Hague, Holland.

Upon his departure from Holland on the S. S. Nieuw Amsterdam, he was decorated with the Cross and made a Knight Commander, Order of Orange Nassau, by Queen Juliana, the highest award in his class, for his efforts in the mutual assistance program under the North Atlantic Pact.

Mr. O'Donoghue was accompanied by Mrs. O'Donoghue, and visited with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John A. O'Donoghue.

Third Fatality At 'Tunnel' Takes Father of Three

A Littlestown R. D. 1 man, 41-year-old father of three small children, who was employed on a temporary schedule at the Government's alternate Pentagon now under construction west of here, died early Saturday in the Waynesboro Hospital of injuries suffered when run over by a bulldozer blade in the main tunnel of the army project.

The victim, Charles S. Stanley, lived with his family on a small farm at the edge of Littlestown and died of a crushed chest and abdomen, fractured right leg and possible broken back.

Stanley was in a semi-conscious condition from the time of the accident. His wife, an expectant mother, was at his bedside when death occurred. It was the third fatality in as many weeks at the project.

Stanley, a former insurance salesman, was employed by the S. A. Healy construction firm as a truck spotter, Ben Metros, company safety engineer said.

According to Metros, Stanley was standing in front of a large bulldozer, directing traffic inside the mountain passageway. The operator of the heavy machine, Metros said, started the vehicle up and moved forward, unaware that Stanley was in the way.

The blade of the bulldozer, Metros said, passed over Stanley's body on rough ground before the vehicle could be halted.

War Officially Ends

President Truman just recently signed a congressional resolution ending the state of war with Germany. The action means that Germans no longer are enemy aliens in the eyes of this country.

Rain, Fog Hamper First-Day Hunters In County

At least several thousand hunters took to the fields yesterday for the opening of the county's upland game season, reports indicated Thursday.

They found more land posted against hunting than probably in any other season. Thousands of acres have been placed off limits to huntsmen by the owners.

But otherwise, the prospects for the season were fairly good. Rabbits were reported "spotty" as far as numbers are concerned, plentiful in certain sections, depending upon the cover and food situation. Many hunters got their bag limit of four early.

A number of pheasants were reported in this section and parts of Carroll County. Quail was not seen in abundance, but some grouse were reported in the mountains.

The rabbit population, some sources think, was helped by the dry weather. The bunnies grow rapidly, it is claimed, and the propagation of the young was also boosted.

The season continues through Dec. 31 for all the game mentioned.

The raccoon and opossum season has been on since Nov. 1, continues through Jan. 31. 'Coons have been particularly plentiful this year, according to reports, and the hunters of this type of game have increased in number. Few 'possums have been reported.

The squirrel season is on for a week starting Dec. 3.

Hunting equipment stores have had above average business both in guns and shells. There is some question, it is understood, about the future availability in quantity of shells using lead since this metal is reportedly on the scarce list.

Mother Seton Biographer Is Honored By College

Annabelle M. Melville, Ph.D., associate professor of history at St. Joseph College and author of the most recent biography of Mother Seton, was guest of honor at a "Meet the Author" party held last evening in the Green Room of the school. Faculty and students of St. Joseph College met to have coffee after dinner with the author of "Elizabeth Bayley Seton, 1774-1821," and to secure personal autographs. Editors of the Valley Echo were hostesses at the party.

Mrs. Melville's book released by Charles Scribner and Sons last Monday, is the first unsentimentalized definitive biography of Mother Seton to be written by a historian based purely on historical research. His Excellency, the Most Rev. John M. McNamara, D.D., auxiliary bishop of Washington, D. C., comments in the foreword: ". . . a storehouse of helpful and reliable information which no future historian of Mother Seton can afford to bypass in his quest for knowledge of the foundress of the Sisters of Charity . . . an outstanding biography of a great servant of God."

The writing of the book took place at Saint Joseph College, the scene of Mother Seton's great triumphs. The familiar surroundings which influenced her book were also the surroundings for her autograph party last evening. Sister Margaret Mary, vice president of Saint Joseph's extended congratulations to Mrs. Melville in behalf of the administration and faculty, and Loretta Teller, editor-in-chief of the college publication, speaking for the student body, congratulated the new author. An informal social followed.

BUYS RACERS

Wee Minnie, three-year-old pacing horse and Meadow Lib, a yearling, were purchased last week at the annual race horse sale at Harrisburg, by Joe Eyer, Thurmont sportsman and race horse owner.

Purchase price was announced as $3,000 or Wee Minnie and $1200 or the yearling.

DENIES ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Charles E. Lingg, Emmitsburg has stated the announcement of the engagement of her daughter, Susanna, to John F. Riley, Gettysburg R. 2, published recently, was not true.

688,673 Visit Grand Canyon

A total of 688,673 persons visited the Grand Canyon National Park, in Arizona, during the '50-'51 travel year, which began on Oct. 1, 1950. This was an increase of 34,225 over the previous year.

Bloodmobile Quota Believed Reached

Emmitsburg's quota of 185 pints of blood for the armed forces appears to have been realized, it was announced, after a final meeting of recruiters here Monday night. Chairman C. A. Elder, assisted by Mrs. Harry S. Boyle, Mrs. Herbert Roger, Edgar G. Emrich, and Gerard Donoghue, stated this week the goal was in sight and that several more donors were necessary to fill in any absentees that might occur.

The drive, sponsored by the Red Cross, began two weeks ago and volunteers have been pledging freely. Both Mt. St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Colleges have cooperated splendidly and have come through with an excellent number of donors.

The Bloodmobile will be stationed at Mt. St. Mary's Flynn Hall on Monday from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Doctors and nurses and nurses' aides will be in charge of the unit. Two local nurses, Miss Elizabeth Rowe and Mrs. W. R. Cadie, have volunteered to assist the mobile unit.

Mrs. Harry Boyle, assisted by several volunteer workers, will be in charge of a canteen in the hall where coffee, milk, sandwiches, etc., will be given to those wanting them.

During World War II over 13 million pints of blood were contributed voluntarily. All donors will receive a pin, signifying their deed, a certificate noting the blood group and the RH factor, and a pamphlet expressing thanks.

The Red Cross, at the request of the Defense Dept. has sponsored the drive for blood and is meeting with spontaneous success everywhere it travels. Donors are given a shot of novacaine to deaden any pain that may be incurred in the process.

The mobile unit is equipped to handle as high as 32 donors in an hour, in other words, about one every two minutes. This method has met with popular acclaim, as it takes but very little of the donor's time.

Local officials of the drive are quick to explain though, that regardless when the quota has been reached, more are needed to replace absentees, rejections, etc., and urge anyone interested in offering his blood in this life-saving project, to contact them immediately. Pledge cards are still available and will be accepted up until Monday.

Car Crash at Zora Takes Life Of North Dakotan

A workman employed on the Government's "Little Pentagon" project near Emmitsburg, was killed in an automobile accident on the Emmitsburg-Waynesboro Road near Zora at 10:10 o'clock Sunday night, when the car in which he was a passenger skidded on a curve and struck a guard rail. He was Armin Christopher Knecht, 27, of Hazen, N. D. He died of a fractured skull and internal injuries, according to Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner. Dr. Crist said an inquest will be held. The body was taken in the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance to the Allison Funeral Home in Fairfield.

State police said the automobile was being operated by William Rahn, 24, of Blue Ridge Summit, Pa. Rahn was committed to the Adams County jail on an involuntary manslaughter charge.

According to police, the car operated by Rahn was traveling north. It started to round a sharp curve and Rahn applied the brake. The right side of the car struck a guard rail. Police said Knecht either fell or was thrown from the machine. Rahn was not injured. Damage to the car was estimated at $225.

Knecht leaves his father and mother in Hazen, N. D., and several brothers and sisters, according to information.

HOLIDAY POSTOFFICE HOURS

There will be no rural delivery of mail on Thanksgiving Day. The Postoffice lobby will be open one hour from 8:30 a. m., to 9:30 a. m., at which time the Postoffice closes for the day. One dispatch of out-going mail will be made at 7:30 a. m. There will be no window service and no regular business is transacted.

A son was born this week to Mr. and Mrs. James Winebrenner of Emmitsburg.

County Is Designated As Defense Area

Under Public Law 139, Frederick City and County were classified by the Federal Government as a "critical defense housing area" last week.

The information came as a surprise to Frederick City and Camp Detrick officials who had been told that the classification wasn't likely, at least not for some time.

Ivan Carson, chairman of the Critical Area Commission of the Defense Production Administration confirmed the announcement, which was first reported as a release over the AP wire. According to him, the final decision came from Charles E. Wilson, director of Defense Mobilization.

There are many results of this move on the part of the Government. According to the American Municipal News, a monthly publication, there are about eight immediately noticeable results. It can serve as a deterrent to the placing of further defense contracts in the area. It will result in a relaxation on housing credit control. Such a relaxation may boomerang on housing under construction at this time since upon completion, the sale or rental will be in competition with other houses built under more liberal mortgage terms.

Under Federal Rent Control

According to this publication, upon being designated as a critical area, all housing becomes automatically, by presidential order, under Federal rent control. The Defense Housing and Community Facilities bill which was passed recently, authorizes the H.H.F.A. to provide assistance to affected communities to increase the community facilities and services. It provides for permanent housing units to be built with Government funds and such facilities as: Water works, sewers, sewage, garbage and refuse disposal, police and fire protection, public sanitation, work for the purification and treatment of water, libraries, hospital and phases of medical care, recreation, streets and roads and day care centers to be aided by Government funds.

Specific Federal assistance may be granted to critical areas for school construction required as the result of the expansion of defense production or military installations in the community. The resources and personnel of State and Federal public health agencies may be shifted to assist in the solution of public health problems in the designated areas. Federal and State officials will provide full consultation and information to local officials in making the maximum utilization of the local labor supply such to extend aid to the establishment of day care centers, plants training of new employees and the training of women.

Effective in September

Public Law 139 became effective around the first of Sept., according to officials and terminates on June 30, 1953. One title of the law provides $1,500,000,000 for special mortgage insurance aids to private industry for housing needed to serve families engaged in defense activities. The number of units in a critical defense housing area to be aided by the mortgage program will be decided by the H.H.F.A.

It is understood that no request to be designated a critical area was ever made by officials of the county or Camp Detrick, according to information. The Critical Area Commission headed by Mr. Carson, and formerly headed by Mr. Kaull, had told officials that such a request must come from a senator or congressman. Although they conferred with Congressman J. Glenn Beall, officials stated they never advised him to make the request nor has he ever done so.

FRACTURES ANKLE

Mrs. Addie Bruce Patterson, who has been spending the winter with her granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Flowers, Birmingham, Mich., recently fractured her ankle in an accident, it has been learned. In a letter to Emmitsburg friends, Mrs. Walter Peppier, Mrs. Patterson's daughter, who is also visiting Mrs. Flowers, said her mother was injured when she slipped off the last step of a stairway. Mrs. Patterson is the widow of Albert M. Patterson, a former sheriff and register of wills for Frederick County.

Did You Beat the Deadline?

On Oct. 24, the OPS removed price controls on wigs, toupees, pin cushions, bird cages and custom-built pipe organs.

Protect Pedestrians

"One hundred and seventy-three people were killed by automobiles last year who had one thing in common—they were all walking on our streets or roads. The majority of these deaths occurred during the bad weather months beginning with November," said Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the Maryland State Police. Eight-five per cent of these deaths were caused by the carelessness of the persons walking and many were drunk."

In time of rain, fog, sleet, and snow the average walker is less likely to be careful about traffic. He, or she, darts across the street or pays little attention at intersections — thinking more about getting wet or slipping than about the danger of getting run over. The mental attitude usually is: "Let the cars wait for me."

The attitude is foolish. Persons on foot, who don't drive cars, aren't fully aware of the fact that rain, sleet, fog, and snow make it more difficult, or in some cases impossible, for drivers to see them in time to stop. The visibility from within a car is lowered tremendously when it's raining, or atmospheric conditions have caused the windows to steam up. The safest thing for any person walking on the road to do—especially in time of bad weather—is to assume at all times the driver of an oncoming car doesn't see him or her. Because, very often, that will be the actual case.

It is with this thought in mind that the Maryland State Police are stressing pedestrian safety during the month of November. We are asking you to remember when you're walking — always look both ways before crossing and be certain that you have time enough to get to the other side of the street or road before approaching automobiles reach you. Never depend upon drivers to stop for you. On the open road always walk to the left facing traffic.

there will be a solo by Kathleen Wantz.

Tuesday, Children's Choir at 7 p. m. Chapel Choir, 7:30 p. m. Friday night social with square dancing for young and adult people at 8 o'clock in the Parish House.

The Christmas Bazaar will be held Saturday, Dec. 8, with choice Maryland roast chicken and turkey and oyster suppers served from 4 o'clock on. The pastor and bazaar committee are appealing to the members and the friends of the congregation for generous contributions, asking them to please bring dressed chickens to Mrs. Roy Maxell or Mrs. Roy Bollinger and live chickens to Dick Harner.

Jobs Aplenty Provided By State's Growers

Growers of Maryland's major canning vegetables provided some 9,266,540 hours of work for farm hands this year, an analysis of 1951 crop data shows.

The analysis, made for the American Can Co., on the basis of U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reports, points out that cultivation and harvesting of the 93,920 acres of Maryland's seven leading vegetables for canning was one of the most important sources of farm employment in the state.

An average of 102 hours of work per acre is required for the production of Maryland's leading vegetables for canning—tomatoes, snap beans, green peas, lima beans, sweet corn, spinach and asparagus. Only 25 hours of work

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Up in Alaska the term "varmints" is still used. Sometimes it denotes predatory wolves; sometimes bureaucrats.

But regardless of how used, the fiercely independent, individualistic businessmen serving the territory believe there is only one remedy for any varmints . . . extermination.

One of the leading exponents of free enterprise in the ranks of Alaska's independent businessmen is Amos Heacock, president of Air Transport Associates, Inc., an independent Alaskan airline.

As reported in this column some weeks ago, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the American Gestapo of the air, has classified independent airlines who serve the public without benefit of fat mail subsidies, as irregular.

Over the protests of the Senate Small Business Committee, headed by Sen. John Sparkman, (D. Ala.) the CAB arbitrarily ruled out of existence independent airlines found scheduling too frequent flights.

A death order was handed to Heacock's Air Transport Associates, to take effect in 30 days.

What CAB bureaucrats failed to realize, however, was that old Alaskan sourdoughs don't relish the idea of being told to drop dead.

So Heacock did not wait for thirty days; he immediately suspended operations.

A serious backlog of fresh food intended for Alaska piled up.

In addition, Alaska Airlines, who has CAB blessings, plus rich government subsidies, discontinued daily DC-4 service to Fairbanks and Anchorage and substituted C-46 service three times a week.

Paralysis attacked the Alaskan economy. The Senate Small Business Committee re-opened the issue, with the result that suspension of Air Transport Associates, Inc. has been cancelled.

But Chairman Nyrop of the CAB has complained to the Senate Small Business Committee staff that Heacock acted unfairly in going out of business before he was supposed to. This marks one of the few times in history when the hangman has criticized his intended victim for dying before the trap was sprung.

However, the Senate Small Business Committee will probably make this a cause celebre in establishing how personal bureaucratic whims are exercised to wreck small business.

Heacock heads independent airlines association, and strongly opposed Senate confirmation of Nyrop to his exalted position.

In addition, Heacock made an offer of the type which horrifies any bureaucrat.

He offered to fly the mail to Alaska with no subsidy from the government, and to a bureaucrat any individual who spurns the public purse is guilty of promoting an idea akin to treason.

It is a long way, both in time and geography from the Minute Men of Lexington to Amos Heacock of Alaska. But both have one thing in common.

Neither hesitated to employ the methods at hand to strike a blow for freedom from the tyranny of bureaucracy.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 15—A friend of the Babson Institute recently presented it a beautiful indoor heated swimming pool costing $235,000. When he was thanked he replied: "Don't thank me. Thank those who taught me patience. This gift of $235,000 cost me nothing."

Roger W. Babson

No Fairy Story!

The explanation of the above is that many years ago he bought stock around $2.50 a share in the American Investment Securities Co. which controlled the Columbian National Life Insurance Co. of Boston. For years, the stock didn't act well, and no profit was in sight, but all at once the American Investment Securities Co. was liquidated.

For each 100 shares of this AIS stock costing $2.50 a share, he received Columbian Life Insurance stock which today is worth $3600. In addition, he received other securities which more than repaid his original investment. Hence, his insurance company stock, used to pay for the swimming pool, cost him absolutely nothing. But this took 24 years and required patience.

Texas and Pacific Land

When I was ill many years ago with tuberculosis, I was sent to New Mexico. With time holding heavily, I became interested in the stocks of two companies. These were the New Mexico & Arizona Land Co., and the Texas & Pacific Land Trust. I bought the former in 1916 at $1.75 a share and finally became a director of the company. This stock recently sold for 35 times what I paid for it.

I bought Texas & Pacific Land Trust another time when I was sick at $5.25 a share and urged others to buy it likewise, telling them that some day it would sell for $1000 a share. They laughed at me, but it recently sold at $150 a share, or at 30 times cost. Holding these stock many years required tremendous patience. Few persons have such patience. I believe that there are now similar opportunities for those who have the patience to hold them for 20 years.

Thirty years ago, I bought land in Wellesley for $300 an acre, which is now selling for $10,000 an acre. When I bought this, I urged my readers to buy suburban acreage adjacent to their communities. These opportunities likewise exist today. In fact, last week I bought for less than $300 an acre, over 300 acres of high land within two minutes of the Wellesley Hills postoffice. Some day my children will get $5000 an acre for this land, but this will require patience. We live in a marvelous country; it is growing at a rapid rate; its people are becoming the healthiest, the most intelligent, and are making the greatest scientific discoveries. If we will grow spiritually as we are growing materially, and have patience, nothing can stop us.

I am especially anxious that the banks holding trust funds insist upon flexible trust agreements so as to take advantage of this great growth ahead. This should enable banks handling the pension funds—at the request of the employees' committees—to purchase stocks in American industry—not mere Government bonds—which stocks will pay both a fair rate of interest and with patience some day become very valuable. I know no method to help readers to get rich quickly. One must take time to create a fortune as to mature a baby into a 21-year-old boy. Everything worth while takes time and patience, especially investing money successfully. Incidentally, let me add that when people ask my grandchildren about my business and what I sell, they reply: "Grandpa sells patience."

What About Jobs?

Finally, let me say a closing word to graduates of colleges and high schools. I beg of you to be patient for promotions. Don't let anyone beat you in waiting. Forget salary, but take the job which you are best fitted and in which you can render the most service for mankind, and have patience.

Financial independence comes from having a praying life-partner and good children, who will help you save a little money each month for insurance, for a home, and certain growth stocks. But you must have patience. Being in too much of a hurry will prevent

Proper Designing Important Factor In Selecting Your New Home

Good Proportion—Good Balance—Definite Center of Interest

Our house has become exciting! The architect's skill has done things to snap the eye to attention. Trellis work, modern window treatment and planing wall at the right of the doorway become the central point of a composition. From this point the eye is led naturally to the balancing secondary point of interest left of the doorway, then to contemplation of the whole. Over-all balance of the design is improved further by breaking up roof lines and by moving the window at the right around to the end wall.

Poor Proportion—Poor Balance—No Center of Interest

House without a personality. The first blow to the eye is the ugly front "stoop" and expanse of foundation wall. The large window at the left, and the complicated garage door paneling give an out-of-balance appearance. The inadequate door canopy and the outdated, over-ornate front door make the house suffer still more.

Good Proportion—Fair Balance—Still No Center of Interest

Same house, but better. Roof lines are evened up and brought down to give a longer, lower, better-proportioned look. Balance is improved immensely by bringing the house down to ground level, by enlarging windows, by accenting horizontal lines. The heavier chimney helps too. But something still is lacking. We might say here is a good house, but there is nothing exciting about it.

England's Sorry Plight

There is an irony in the results of the British elections that should not be overlooked in America. Before the world, England has tried out Socialism for six years and now has stamped it a failure by electing a Conservative Party government. But England hasn't voted out Socialism. The irony is that England cannot rid herself of Socialism by the ballot. In six short years the decay has spread too far. And this is a fact upon which many nations—especially our own U. S. A.—should think long and seriously.

Once Socialism has been well established and permitted for a few years to take its toll in production and progress, once it has been allowed to eat away at the heart and body and moral fiber of a nation, it cannot then be suddenly replaced with private capitalism. You can't press a button or mark a ballot and transform a bankrupt Socialist nation into something better.

Like Quicksand

But there is more than irony in England's present predicament. The nation has come face to face with the truth about Socialism: it is like quicksand; once you put both feet in you are caught fast. Evidently, the reason the English didn't vote the Conservatives in by a larger margin was that not even Churchill, who had opposed every step of the Socialist program, could promise to reverse it. Realizing this, England still registered a condemnation of Socialism as a mode of government and way of life.

England's Conservative Party now falls heir to a nation strategically and critically weak. There is serious doubt that England's once fine spirit can ever again be aroused—even by such a heroic figure as Winston Churchill. In a recent "Reader's Digest" article, an Englishman is quoted as preferring to knuckle under to Communism rather than stand up against it. "I'll stand a better chance of surviving in a Siberian labor camp than in an atomic raid on London," this Englishman said. This kind of submissive attitude, created under Socialism, bodes no good, if widespread.

Hungry People

Never in Britain's history have the people had to submit to rationing for six years in peace time as they have had to do under Socialism. At the end of the six years they find themselves everlastingly hungry; there isn't enough to eat, nor enough money to buy what foodstuff there is available. The government planners have bungled everywhere.

Churchill is pledged to return to private ownership the steel industry which was actually just in the process of being socialized. That may be possible. But he says government ownership will have to continue in the industries, long socialized, such as railways, coal, utilities, banks, the professions, and in fact through the whole commerce. And the costly "Welfare State" handout programs are to continue. The socialized industries couldn't be returned to private ownership now. Socialism has taxed out of existence the once considerable private wealth of Great Britain. There isn't sufficient private capital to buy back and put into operation these huge and expensive enterprises. And certainly private investors here in America would think a long time before making an investment in a bankrupt Socialist nation.

There are also grave questions concerning England's political future. Clement Atlee's Labor-Socialist Party, as such, was defeated. But Aneurin Bevan, radical, anti-American Left-wing Socialist, gained political strength. Some observers expect the political struggle in the years immediately ahead to be dominated by a fading Churchill and a rising strongman Bevan. Bevan's brand of Socialism is very much like that of Marx, Lenin, and Stalin. In a chaotic Britain he might develop into a spellbinder with magnetic appeal to a weary weakened people. That's one way despots have come to power.

If England's 50 million people would pitch in and go to work, forgetting work-weeks, full employment, fair shares, free medicine, their doles and their phony "security," the nation could in time become strong again, master of its own destiny. But it is doubtful that the Conservative Party could survive such an exacting demand upon the people. Instead, the report is that Churchill soon will be journeying to America. His purpose: To ob-

Prescott Allen, Publisher, Interested In Congressional Seat

W. Prescott Allen, Montgomery County newspaper publisher, who made a strong bid for the Democratic nomination for Congress, in the 1950 election has again tossed his hat in the ring for Maryland's Sixth District seat now held by Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Mr. Allen, an underdog in the 1950 Democratic primary whose showing amazed political analysts, said he had decided to make another try for Congress because of strong assurances of support he has received recently from all five counties of the district, and especially in his home county of Montgomery, which failed to give him a majority in the 1950 primary.

Mr. Allen's bid in the 1950 primary was against Gen. Russell P. Harte of Hagerstown, who had the backing of Governor Lane and other Democratic leaders in the district. Nevertheless, Mr. Allen succeeded in carrying three of the District's five counties, Allegany, Garrett, and Frederick. Gen. Harte's majorities in Washington and Montgomery counties, however, were heavy enough to give him the nomination.

Carolyn, a senior at Immaculate Seminary in Washington, and Linda Lou, who is 3½ years. He also has a married daughter, Mrs. Paul Mather Jr. of Chevy Chase.

Mr. Allen said he would campaign in every county of the district, meet as many voters as he possibly could, and discuss the campaign issues with them.

"I definitely feel," he said, "that every candidate for public office should let the voters know where he stands and I intend to do so. My office will be open at all times to every voter in the district. I want the voters to know if elected I won't be hard to find. I will be open to constructive suggestions at all times in the interest of our country and our district."

Mr. Allen spoke favorably of the administration's foreign policy and its efforts to curb Communism, especially in Europe.

"I firmly believe," he declared, "that the administration's program of economic aid to the Democratic countries of Europe saved them from being swallowed up by the Russian Communism of by Russian Imperialism, whatever you want to call it. It's the same thing."

"The cost of putting the Western European nations back on their feet has been high," he said, "but it would have been much more costly to have let Communism take over Western Europe with its vast potential in men, materials, productive capacity and the will to fight in the cause of freedom."

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

A preliminary statistical summary of Agricultural Conservation program accomplishments shows that in 1950 cooperating farmers and ranchers did the following, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

Seeded, or reseeded, more than six million acres of pasture and rangeland; grew and plowed under nearly 18 1/2 million acres of protective cover and green manure crops; spread more than 23 million tons of lime and three million tons of phosphate fertilizers; built more than 33 million feet of standard terraces, and farmed on the contour more than 2 1/2 million acres of row and intertilled crops, and a little over two million acres of close-sown crops; leveled nearly 400 thousand acres of land for irrigation; built 59,600 stock water dams; planted 118,294 acres to forest trees.

Compared to 1949, forestry planting increased 24 per cent; pasture and rangeland seeding, 21 per cent; and protective cover and green manure crops five per cent, according to Mr. Blandford.

Farmers Look to '52
Already farmers of Maryland are looking ahead and planning their farming operations to make the best possible use of assistance provided under the 1952 ACP, says Mr. Blandford.

Benefitting from past experience and the continuous improvement of the ACP itself, farmers can be expected to get more and better conservation for each dollar of public funds spent.

Through the ACP, the individual farmer and the Nation are cooperating in a program of protecting and building the soil and water resources so that current defense needs can be met without reducing the land's productivity. In most instances, says Mr. Blandford, the program results in improving and increasing the productivity of the land.

Mr. Blandford points out that farmers can make better use of the materials and services provided under ACP by looking ahead and making plans well in advance of actual operations. Where scarce materials are needed, orders can be placed early enough to assure delivery. Arrangements should be made early for needed services such as those requiring dirt-moving equipment.

Beginning now to plan for the coming year's conservation activities gives time for a complete, better balanced, and more effective use of ACP, says Mr. Blandford.

Price Supports A Stabilizer
A study of "Farm Price Supports and the Retail Price of Food Since World War II" appearing in the August '51 issue of the Journal of Farm Economics brings out the following conclusions, according to Mr. Blandford.

1. The substantial stocks of feed grains and other agricultural commodities acquired and held by the CCC under its price support operations have been an important stabilizing influence on retail food prices in recent months, and will continue to have this effect in the months ahead.

Mr. Blandford says, "The existence of government food and feed grain stocks in excess of $2 billion has of itself been a 'decisive factor in stabilizing the price of these products,' and 'the release of these stocks as prices reached the loan or resale level increased the total quantity of these products available.'"

2. Production of dairy products, eggs, and several other farm commodities is higher today and prices are lower than they would be if there had been no price support programs for these products following World War II.

The post-war price support programs "encouraged producers to maintain their normal breeding herds and flocks, when unsupported prices would have caused substantial liquidations." The larger herds and flocks mean more dairy and poultry products, and lower prices to consumers today.

3. The price support programs for grains, and other storable products are continuing to stabilize prices and supplies.

"Price support operations carried out by CCC loans... have the effect of strengthening prices when the loans are first made." The release of stocks acquired in liquidation of loans, on the other hand, has "an equal effect in keeping prices from going above the loan or authorized resale level when current supplies become short, or inflationary pressures develop, as in recent months." From the consumer's point of view, increases in prices in some months or years are "offset by decreases in subsequent periods when the stocks removed from regular market channels are returned to them."

Know Your Social Security Better

By ED. R. YOUNG

"I will bring in my social security card tomorrow." "I have lost my social security card but I know my number." "I have my number copied down on this piece of paper."

Reliance on such statements by employers causes more trouble than anything else connected with the keeping of correct social security records for their employees, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown social security office. Mr. King added that this week his office received from the central accounting office of social security several letters requesting correct information on employees who had made one or more of these statements.

Wages reported by employers on their quarterly social security tax returns are posted to the employee's individual wage record by machines. If the name and the social security number do not agree then it becomes necessary to recontact the employer for the correct account number before the worker's wages can be posted to his credit. This extra work, Mr. King stated, adds materially to the cost of keeping these records for the employer who makes an incorrect or incomplete tax return.

Mr. King emphasized that employers could save time and money not only for themselves but also for the government by reporting each worker's name and social security account number exactly as they show their employers their social security cards when they go to work and not guess at their account numbers. If an employee changes the spelling of his name or a woman worker marries, the social security office will issue another card bearing the same number but the new name. These changes can be made by contacting the Hagerstown social security field office, 74 W. Washington St., and filling an application for the change.

Needle in a haystack

A customer writes: "We asked the Long Distance operator to locate a man at some point between a Newark terminal warehouse and Pier 3 in Hoboken. It was a difficult job to find this man and required 24 hours. We want to congratulate you on the courteous and thorough manner in which the call was handled."

That's a good example of the kind of service you get on the Long Distance lines. And today those lines are performing an even bigger job in helping to speed production and guard the nation's security.

There's been a big change — all round

Farms today are producing more than ever. And that didn't just happen. There's a reason for it, a reason that gets more done faster—and better. That reason is modern methods and machinery. Take the farm telephone—it's ready to save time and money in a hundred different ways. It buys. It sells. It's there for business. There for pleasure. And the service is growing daily with modern equipment, and new-type instruments. There's been a big change, a change for the better—for you.

Interesting Activities Of St. Joseph's Catholic Church

The annual Thanksgiving drive for clothing will start at St. Joseph's the first of the coming week. An appeal was made at all the Masses last Sunday and will be repeated this Sunday for clothing and blankets for the needy people of Korea and Europe. The past drives have been exceptionally successful, with the parish far surpassing the quota set by those in charge of the drive. The parish has given almost three times the average contributed throughout the country.

High school boys and girls will take care of the clothing and other supplies that are brought to the rectory. The boys will do the heavier work of packing after the girls have sorted the clothing according to the several classifications. Millions of displaced persons as well as millions of victims of the war in Europe and Asia have been aided by the generous donations of the past few years.

Preparations are being made in the grade school for the regular Thanksgiving festivities. Entertainments will be held in the classrooms and baskets of food will be prepared for needy families.

Athletic Activities

Considerable athletic activity marked the past week at St. Euphemia's Parochial School. A generous supply of athletic equipment was recently purchased by the parish for the boys and girls of the grade school. This equipment included basketballs, footballs, volleyballs, softballs and the necessary auxiliary equipment to go with this fine assortment. The equipment already has been put to good use by the various classes. The playground has been crowded with enthusiastic youngsters during the recess periods and also after school hours.

Sunday, Nov. 11, the seventh and eighth grade girls of St. Euphemia's held practice in the high school auditorium as a try-out for the grade school basketball team which is in the process of formation. Suzanne Law and Marie Topper were the coaches and so delighted were they with the skill and enthusiasm of their charges that they freely predicted successful competition with girls in junior high school classes.

The boys' basketball team will be organized during the coming week under the leadership of Michael Joy. It is hoped that a schedule of games will soon be arranged with local and out-of-town teams. Several very promising youngsters have expressed their enthusiasm for the team.

The following girls make up the squad which reported for practice and try-out last Sunday: Miss Arlene Lingg has been elected manager and captain; Ann Adelsberger, Victoria Brenner, Rosemary Boland, Gay Elder, Octavia Troxell, Theresa Wenschoff, Elizabeth White, Joan Hobbs, Agnes and Alice Scott, Mary Wetzel, Bonnie Topper, Louis Miller, Geraldine Topper, Arlene Lingg, Virginia Topper, Shirley Topper, Barbara Tegler, Louise Cool, Linda Humerick, Patricia Ott, Virginia Wormley, Alice Bowers and Dorothy Eiker.

Class to Visit Battlefield

The classes studying the history of the Civil War period will make a trip to the battlefield at Gettysburg, where they will be the special guest of Mr. Rosensteel who has constructed a cleverly arranged electrical map showing graphically the various stages of the battle. Other parts of the battlefield will be visited as a feature of this educational project which should bring the events of the battle before the minds of the pupils in a very graphic manner.

The meetings of the school patrol and the Children of Mary which were held during the week, were very spirited. Directions were given the school patrol so that members could carry out their duties most efficiently. The Children of Mary considered plans to visit the sick of the town and bring a measure of cheer to the shut-ins.

Star in the Kitchen

JEANNE CRAIN

Most young hopefuls are discovered by Hollywood scouts while either singing, dancing or acting, but such was not the case with Jeanne Crain. She was discovered—sitting! And not just one, but three scouts noticed her in the audience of a theatre with the 20th Century-Fox man emerging victorious. Born in Barstow, California, Jeanne has eyes that are changeably grey and hazel and has light brown hair. She stands five feet, four and three-quarter inches, and weighs 114 pounds—almost perfect according to moviedom's standards. Miss Crain is married to Paul Brinkman, a radio manufacturer and they have three sons. Currently starred opposite Cary Grant in the movie "People Will Talk," charming Jeanne makes her bid for culinary fame with the following recipe:

ROLLED "CHEESIES"
Blend together:
1 (5-ounce) glass sharp cheese spread
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon Ac'cent
(pure monosodium glutamate)
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
Cut 24-2 inch squares thin-sliced fresh bread; spread each square with cheese mixture and roll up pinwheel fashion. Brush each roll with melted butter or margarine. Toast in hot oven (400° F.) or under broiler until nicely browned. Makes 2 dozen rolls.

EMPLOYEES SHARE IN SCHENLEY PLAN

Schenley Industries, Inc., of Cincinnati has paid an average of over $720 each to 245 eligible employees in the armed forces since its adoption of a military benefits plan last spring.

Under the plan service men and women who were continuously on the payroll from June 25, 1950, until induction, draw full pay during their first three months in uniform and one-fourth pay each month thereafter. Inductees with unbroken service but hired after June 25, 1950, get a lump sum equivalent to one-fourth pay for each month they were with the company.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clingan of Baltimore; Jacob Claybaugh of Thurmont; Mr. and Mrs. William Baker and son, Bill, of Emmitsburg.

D. O'Connor, C.M., pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church in Baltimore, spoke inspiringly of the duties of the Holy Name man in modern society. Father O'Connor came to the rally as the guest of St. Joseph's Holy Name, through the good offices of Father Sullivan, the pastor. Father O'Connor has addressed numerous religious and educational gatherings in various parts of the Eastern U. S. and Canada. Stationed at Niagara University for many years he was professor, prefect and president of the university. The choir rehearsals—every Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock—give promise of a masterful rendition of the Christmas music. The large number of volunteers and the quality of the voices surpasses all expectations. Thanksgiving Day there will be a High Mass of thanksgiving at 8 o'clock, followed by a special prayer of thanksgiving.

Father Stauble, C.M., former pastor of St. Joseph's Church—and Father Cloonan, C.M., former chaplain and professor of philosophy at St. Joseph's College, will be the guests of Father Sullivan at St. Vincent's House during the Thanksgiving holidays. *Treasurer at Mary Immaculate Seminary, Northampton, Pa. †Professor of theology at Mary Immaculate Seminary, Northampton, Pa.

Your Personal Health

Bed rest in a tuberculous hospital and a balanced diet of good, nourishing foods, plus any special treatment which may be necessary, are all part of the tuberculous patient's regimen. But it is in combination that these factors are effective. No single one of them alone could be expected to effect a patient's cure.

Several decades ago, attempts had been made to arrest tuberculosis by means of special diets, with heavy concentration on such foods as milk and eggs. We know today, while food is important to the tuberculous patient, it is only one of several factors in his treatment.

There is no special "tuberculous diet," although the part played by nutrition in fighting TB has received increased recognition in recent years. The patient in a tuberculous hospital has his diet carefully planned to include sufficient amounts of protein, fats, carbohydrates, minerals, and vitamins—food elements which are part of any well-balanced diet.

Some people believe that because tuberculosis frequently causes severe weight loss, the patient's diet is exclusively made up of "fattening foods." But weight-producing foods like carbohydrates and fats are included on the patient's menu in just the right amounts and in proper balance with other foods his body needs to build its resistance.

If any type of food were to be emphasized, it would be the kind containing proteins or "body-building" elements. A patient's diet is planned to build his strength and vitality as well as his weight. A gain in weight during the patient's hospital stay may be considered a sign of progress. On the other hand, excessive weight could put an extra strain on the patient, so his meals are planned to help him reach and maintain the normal weight for his age and build.

There are times when a patient may complain about the fare in a tuberculous hospital. This happens sometimes because meals take on added importance to a hospitalized patient and he may be disappointed when his favorite foods do not turn up on the tray. It may be, too, that the patient is not accustomed to the wholesome and nutritious fare prepared at the hospital.

Bed rest remains the basic day-to-day part of the patient's treatment. But he also has to eat well to get back his health and strength. The patient in a tuberculous hospital can develop and keep a good appetite, once he understands that a nutritious diet is part of the ammunition necessary to help him to fight his illness.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gartrell, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom. The bride and attendant wore corsages of pink and white and red and white carnations. After a short wedding trip they will reside at the home of the bridegroom for the present. The bridegroom is employed by his father as a truck driver.

PAYROLL HIGH

Employees of Schenley's Jos. S. Finch distillery in Cedarhurst, Md., received pay totalling $376,472 during the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1951. It was disclosed recently. The figure was included in the $49,000,000 national payroll of Schenley Industries, Inc., the largest in the parent organization's history.

Established originally as a distilling business, the Schenley corporation has greatly diversified in recent years. Today its products include pharmaceuticals, cooperage and farm animal feeds as well as an extensive line of alcoholic beverages.

In a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Arthur Garvin, pastor of the E. U. B. Church in Taneytown in the church parsonage.

The bride wore a robin egg blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Charles Glass, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and wore a black dress with matching accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

Charles Glass served as his brother's best man.

The bride is employed by the Cambridge Rubber Co., Taneytown and the bridegroom is stationed at Fort Meade and has previously returned from active duty in Korea. The couple will reside at present at the home of the bride.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Glass, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass and son, left on a trip through the Smoky Mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee. They also visited relatives in Tennessee.

Canning Is Major State Industry

Maryland's farmers have received over $205 million in income during the past 30 years from the sale of seven major vegetable crops to canneries, according to Dr. H. E. Michl, American Can Co. economist.

The Free State's vegetables, which are canned and shipped to consumers the nation over include asparagus, lima beans, snap beans, spinach, sweet corn, green peas, and tomatoes.

During the 30-year period farm workers were paid an estimated $120.7 million in wages for their work in cultivating and harvesting these vegetables for processing, according to Dr. Michl whose firm has assisted in creating new markets and additional income for growers through the development of modern containers and canning methods over the past 50 years.

Last year about 91 per cent of all the principal vegetables grown in the State were processed. At no time during the past 30 years has acreage devoted to vegetables for processing been less than 72 per cent of all the Maryland acreage planted to these crops.

Christmas Seal Sale Begins

Over 500,000 Christmas Seal letters will be mailed today to the residents of Maryland asking their support for the year-round anti-tuberculosis work of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. and Although the campaign officially opens Monday, letters will be its affiliated county associations. mailed today so that all Marylanders will have the new Christmas Seals when the campaign opens.

According to William H. Staub, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn., nearly one hundred million Seals will be mailed in the letters. Emphasizing the need for continuing and expanding the tuberculosis work in Maryland, Mr. Staub said, "Great progress has been made against tuberculosis during the past 50 years, but Maryland has a record of which none of us can be proud. Our state has the fifth highest death rate from tuberculosis. While this is alarming, it can be corrected."

"The tuberculosis associations throughout Maryland are making every effort to conduct anti-tuberculosis programs which will lead to the control and eventual eradication of TB in our state." These associations assist the State Department of Health in the operation of chest clinics in the counties and in conducting mass chest X-ray surveys in the industries, communities and the schools of the state. Over 150,000 persons were X-rayed this year during these surveys.

Each association conducts programs of health education and information in an effort to teach the public facts about tuberculosis, how it can be prevented, discovered and treated.

A nation-wide program of medical research is supported by the funds raised each year during the Christmas Seal Sale.

Tuberculosis patients benefit from the seals by a state-wide program of rehabilitation, social and personal services to patients in the state tuberculosis hospitals. In conclusion Mr. Staub said, "Of funds raised during the Seal Sale 96% remains in Maryland, for the benefit of our citizens. This work must continue if we are to rid our state of this disease. We are confident that Marylanders will again support our program by their purchase of the Christmas Seals."

REV. R. S. POFFENBARGER
The Rev. Reese S. Poffenbarger, D. D., pastor of the Union Bridge, Rocky Ridge and Keysville Lutheran churches, died at the home of his son, Reese S. Poffenbarger, Jr., near Woodsboro on Wednesday, Nov. 14. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage after a four weeks' illness. He had returned from the Frederick Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient since his first attack four weeks ago, to the home of his son, Reese, on Monday.

Rev. Poffenbarger, who made his home at the Union Bridge Lutheran parsonage, was a graduate of Gettysburg College and Seminary and was ordained to the Gospel Ministry in 1905. During his ministry he filled charges in Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania. He was affiliated with the Acadia Lodge, AF&AM 155, Thurmont. Born in Washington County, Md., March 6, 1880, the son of the late William and Matian Barnes Poffenbarger, he was twice married. His first wife was the late Minnie McCoy. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Maude Dutrow Albaugh Poffenbarger and these children: A. Ridgley, Paul E., Hypatia, Helen, Hannah, Wilhelm, Nancy, Reese, Jr., and Jeannette. Twenty-one grand and two great-grandchildren also survive. In addition, one brother, J. G. Poffenbarger, Bethesda, Md., and one sister, Mrs. Katheline Dugenhart, Rohrsville, Md., survive.

The body rests at the Union Bridge funeral home of D. D. Hartzler and Sons, where friends may call this evening. He will be removed to the Keysville Lutheran Church Saturday at 11 a. m., when services will be conducted at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, president of the Maryland Synod, officiating. Interment will be in the Mount Hope Cemetery, Woodsboro, Md.

Interesting Activities of Students At St. Joseph's High School

Yesterday, the De Paul Unit of St. Joseph's High School was the host to the Blue Ridge Conference of the CSMC. The meeting was conducted by President Michael Boyle. A skit entitled: "Book to Book" was presented to the visiting units after the business meeting was concluded. The skit depicted what would have happened to us had we not been influenced by missionaries. Those participating were William Kincaid, Michael Boyle, Margaret Rocks, Shirley Willhide, Geraldine White, Lillian Bowers, Joan Walter, Margaret Kane, and Saranna Miller. The narrator was George V. Arnold.

Approximately 40 parents attended the regular meeting of the P-TA Tuesday evening, Nov. 13. The special feature of the evening was a skit entitled: "It's An Ill Wind," presented by members of the Home Economics class. This skit depicted the advantages of a home economics course for boys, as well as girls. Fourth year members of the glee club sang "Short'ning Bread," "Old Woman," and "John Peel," accompanied by Joanne Benschoff.

During this week—Book Week—jackets of new books recently obtained, now on display in the library have aroused so much attention among students that these books are in constant demand. Among the new books just accessioned are seven reference books for the home economics department, and two copies of "Government Is Your Business," a gift from the author, Rev. James Keller, M.M.

Flavored with the seasonal pumpkins, tickets for the Thanksgiving dance, which the third-year students are sponsoring, are now available. The dance will be held in the auditorium Nov. 21 from 8 to 11 p. m. Music will be furnished by the juke box, and refreshments will be served.

Chemistry students recently prepared chlorine gas in the laboratory and are now quite familiar with its characteristic odor, color, and uses in the industrial world.

All-School Play to Be Staged Tonight at Emmitsburg High School

Don't miss Mumbo-Jumbo, the all-school play, which will be presented at Emmitsburg High School tonight at 8:00 p. m.

This gay, modern, mystery farce is crammed with action and loaded with laughter. Dick and Pee-wee, two college boys, arrive at Dick's uncle's house in the country. They are there on a mysterious mission and are not at all dismayed when they learn that Uncle John has been called away to a funeral and they have the place to themselves. Not at all dismayed, that is, until they realize that their money has disappeared. At wit's end, needing cash in a hurry, they decided upon the desperate plan of turning the place into a country hotel. They hang out a sign on the state highway and as the night is dark and stormy, they soon have a houseful of ill-assorted guests. That night one of the guests is slain. Two sheriffs arrive to take charge of the investigation. It becomes quite involved until the murder is solved.

Lois Keilholtz and Donald Herring take the part of the aunt and uncle; Jack Wantz and Geo. Springer are the two college boys; Kenneth Glass, a gangster and his mother, Harriet Fitez, spend the night there. Other guests include a West Indian mystic, Richard Frock; his ward, Jean Troxell; a native witch-woman, Barbara Hays and George Tyler, a blind man. The ex-chorus girl, Shirley Troxell, provides the plot action. Beulah Glass, as a bumpkinish country girl, adds the humor along with Thelma Green, the sheriff's niece, Thelma Bollinger; Robert Hays as a state policeman and Fred Grimes as the county sheriff, take care of the law angle of the affair.

The play is being produced by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York, under the direction of Mrs. Alma Jones.

Homemakers' PRICE FACTS

OPS has announced an extension of the deadline for posting under CPR 83, the order covering retail and wholesale sales of new automobiles. The regulation requires every automobile dealer to post, within 20 days after the effective date of the regulation, certain information pertaining to several elements based on special orders to be issued by OPS. Due to changes in the price of extra, special, or optional equipment, caused by increases in Federal excise tax rates, the special orders will not be issued in time to comply with the posting requirements of the regulation. Accordingly, OPS says that the posting and invoicing requirements are being extended until Dec. 10.

Admission charges for specified public and private school athletic and entertainment activities have been exempted from price stabilization control. The OPS declares, however, the exemption is limited to such activities as athletic events and school fairs when held in facilities—building and grounds—owned or controlled by the school. Privately promoted events, OPS emphasized, such as bowl football games and school or college events held in Madison Square Garden, remain under price ceilings when sales of tickets are conducted by private promoters.

OPS has revised retail ceiling prices for fresh and cured beef briskets to encourage retailers to continue to sell boneless brisket. Boneless brisket accounts for about two per cent of the meat in a beef carcass and is popularly sold in the form of corned beef. OPS said new cutting tests have established that ceiling prices for brisket cuts, which went into effect on Oct. 1, did not permit retailers to realize as much on the sale of boneless brisket as they did on unboned brisket. The revised cuts are higher than the Oct. 1 ceilings, but are lower than the ceilings in effect before that date by about 17 cents, deekle on, and four cents, deekle off.

of town could be decorated this year everything would be just ducky. Competition is expected to be keener than ever this year in the Chamber of Commerce's annual window and house decorating contest. I personally know several parties that are planning elaborate creations.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel, 210 E. Main St., were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown, Lantz, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hewitt and daughter, Frederick; Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel and son, Jerry, Baltimore, Mrs. Mary Claudia Rosensteel, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rodgers, Mr. Vincent Topper, Mr. Richard Ripka and Mr. LeRoy Baker.

OPS announced two new orders affecting the price of veal, calf meat, lamb, yearling lamb, and mutton. The first sets dollars-and-cents ceilings at the wholesale level; and the second, effective Nov. 13, requires a weekly adjustment in the ceiling prices for retail sales. The second order (SR 79 to GPCR), calls for the use of a formula in computing ceilings on these cuts of meat and the calculation of prices by the retailer each Monday. The price may go up or down according to the amount of increase or decrease passed along by the wholesaler. OPS says that the meat dealer may sell below these adjusted ceiling prices, but that they may not sell in excess of them.

Rabbit Hunting Most Popular

According to the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, more people hunt rabbits in Maryland than any other game species, although squirrel hunters are a close second and the followers of the bird dogs pursuing bobwhite quail, ring-necked pheasants and ruffed grouse will rank third in numbers. All are interested in the laws governing their favorite sport.

The season opened yesterday on quail, rabbits, ruffed grouse, and pheasants. It is the same as it has been for many years, namely Nov. 15 to Dec. 31.

By regulation effective Nov. 1 there will be no open season on wild turkeys in Maryland excepting in Allegany and Washington Counties where the open season is Nov. 15 to Nov. 30.

The regular open season on deer with legal firearms or bow and arrow in the counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Cecil, Kent, Worcester, Wilcomico, Somerset, and Dorchester will be Dec. 3 to Dec. 8.

The special open season for bow and arrow hunters in Baltimore and Harford Counties only was Nov. 5 to 10. No open season on deer in balance of state.

Each hunter will be allowed to kill daily four rabbits, six quail, two cock pheasants, two ruffed grouse. The hunter will be allowed but one wild turkey per season, one deer, six cock pheasants, and six grouse.
