Once more I am asked to appeal to the generosity of the good people of Emmitsburg District. The local band, which has a membership of about 21 is very much interested in organizing a beginners' class of young musicians. Appeals for musical instruments have been made, but to date not a single one has been contributed.

Truly, this is a sad state of affairs. Many of you who formerly were interested in music still have the instruments lying around the house and undoubtedly, never will take them up again. These are the items in which the band is interested. At least 10 youngsters want to avail themselves of the teaching ability of Mr. Walter Simpson, the conductor, who is willing to give his time to the effort, but the youngsters have no horns. Instruments run from $100 to $300 these days and the parents of the would-be musicians simply cannot afford to buy this paraphernalia. Officials of the band have stated that the condition of the instrument, bad or good, is no item. The band will have them repaired. It is pointed out, that if Emmitsburg really wants a permanent band, these youngsters must be trained to eventually supplant the older members of the unit. It is hoped that some organization also will come to the assistance of the band and they have formally been asked to do so. Second-hand instruments are available in Hanover and Frederick, and do not cost too much and we feel it would be a fine gesture for some civic-minded group to perhaps buy one or several of these. It has been noted also, that there are a good many students in the schools who are taking up the profession of music but have not as yet become members of the band. Won't you parents please see to it that they look into this fine organization? In closing this paragraph, I implore any of you who have instruments to donate, to get in contact with the president, Mr. Samuel Hays or Mr. Simpson, the conductor. They will gladly pick them up. Let's go Emmitsburg!

Incidentally, the beginners' class begins Monday night at 7:33 p. m. in the Fire Hall.

Keen interest was displayed in the showing of the new Ford car that went on exhibition last Friday at Sperry's Garage. A spokesman for the concern stated that several hundred people passed through the showroom to view the new model.

Reserve these dates, ladies and gents! Thursday and Friday, Feb. 21-22 are the nights set for the big Home Town Minstrel. Committees in charge announced that the cast is complete now and rehearsals are whipping the production into top condition. Interest is rising in the affair, especially since it is known that it is a community affair and that practically every organization in town is active in making it a success. All revenue netted will be placed in the building fund for the new Memorial Hall. Interest in the building is constantly growing and a good many organizations are planning affairs this summer and fall for the benefit of the hall. Even such small groups as the Boy Scouts are putting their shoulders to the wheel in an effort to get others interested. Tomorrow morning the Scouts will hold a food sale in the Fire Hall and plan to donate the receipts to the building fund. So even if you don't like cake or pie, go up to the Fire Hall tomorrow and buy something. There'll be plenty to go around and what more worthy cause is there than to spend your money for the building fund? Are you sure your organization is going to do its part? YOU can see to it that it does. Incidentally, I understand that the Grange has raised another $70 by the scrap drive. This brings up their total scrap drive efforts to over $116 and all for Memorial Hall. Keep that scrap rolling citizens!

Town Receives $6,500 From State Funds

A number of Frederick County incorporated towns received substantial sums for municipal purposes through the allocation of State revenues during the fiscal year 1951, according to a recent report of the comptroller.

The county and the incorporated towns were listed as receiving a grand total of $2,021,832.58 from both State and Federal sources which included public school and public assistance monies.

The towns didn't share in the school and welfare plums. Their money came from the income, admissions, franchise, horse racing, and gasoline taxes, motor vehicle revenue and license funds from the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

The sums the individual towns received may influence communities which thus far have not incorporated and which would come in for a share of such State funds to jump on the bandwagon.

Most of the major county towns are incorporated. They are Emmitsburg, Brunswick, Thurmont, Middletown, Walkersville, Woodsboro, Myersville, New Market, Burkittsville, and that part of Mt. Airy within Frederick County, in addition to Frederick.

The comptroller's records show that in the fiscal year 1951 Brunswick received $16,408 from the State tax revenues. That didn't include the horse racing revenue, which ran the total over $20,000.

Thurmont got $8,503 with enough from the horse racing revenue to send the total to around $10,000. Emmitsburg received $5,228 and with other revenue, a total of about $6500. Middletown's total figure was around $6000.

Walkersville total was close to $4,000 and Woodsboro's, $3,000. Even New Market got around $1,500, and Burkittsville close to $1,200. Around $100 came to Mt. Airy from the Frederick County allocation and about $5300 from Carroll County. Myersville received over $900.

Frederick City received over $100,000. The total was $88,015 exclusive of the horse racing revenues which it is estimated were around $18,000. The racing revenue is distributed in lump sum to the counties by the State and distributed to the incorporated towns by the County Commissioners in accordance with the ratio which the population of each town bears to the total county population.

Largest sources of revenue come from the income, horse racing and gasoline taxes. Some of the towns also receive a considerable revenue from the license funds distributed by the Clerk of the Circuit Court. Last year, for instance, Frederick got back $32,508 of the sum its residents paid in income taxes and Brunswick received $3905. The county outside of the incorporated towns received $77,598.

The incorporated towns use the State funds for various civic improvements which they otherwise would not or could not make under their existing corporation taxes.

The county itself received $1.8 million of the grand total of $2 million. That included $935,704 for public schools and $253,831 for public assistance from both State and Federal sources, along with $373,058 from the gasoline tax, which was used for county road work.

Figures in the comptroller's report also show the distribution of income tax to incorporated towns and counties for the taxable years 1939 to 1950 inclusive. They disclose, for instance, that during this period the county received $495,264.99, of which $315,350 came to the county government. Frederick City got $137,221, Brunswick $17,054, Middletown $6927, Thurmont $5900, Walkersville $5305, and Emmitsburg $3798.

Mrs. Martin Stouter returned home Sunday afternoon from a Baltimore Hospital after undergoing a recent serious brain operation. At present she is confined to the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Boyle, E. Legion Pledges Sum To Hall Building Fund

The regular meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post No. 121, American Legion, was held Tuesday night at the post home, Commander T. Eugene Rodgers presiding. About 60 members were present.

The post agreed to continue sponsoring a junior baseball team and named Richard Yeomans manager, assisted by Jack and George Rosensteel.

A communication from C. A. Elder, secretary of the Emmitsburg Band, was read and appealed to the organization for assistance in the way of instruments or contributions. This appeal was tabled until the next meeting when more information as to the band's exact needs will be investigated.

A letter also was received from the public library asking for financial assistance. A $25 contribution was authorized. A rising vote of thanks was given by the post members to Louis F. Rosensteel for getting the most new members in a certain period of time.

Commander Rodgers appealed to the members to donate as much blood as possible for the wounded veterans in Korea. The need is urgent, Mr. Rodgers stressed.

Edgar G. Emrich, president of the Memorial Hall Assn., appealed to the group to pledge an amount of money to the erection of the new Memorial Hall. A motion was made by Philip Sharpe to set aside a substantial sum to be used for this purpose when it is needed. The motion was accepted by the group.

Two new members, Frank Topper, Emmitsburg and James R. Boittinger, Chambersburg, were installed. A dance will be held tonight from 9 to 12 in the post home. Music will be furnished by the "Busy Five."

HAS EYE SURGERY
Joseph Wormley, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Wormley, W. Main St., who recently lost the sight of one of his eyes when an ice pick accidentally pierced the pupil while he was trying to untie a knot in his shoe string, was removed this week to the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore for an operation which is hoped will save the vision of the other eye which has become impaired through the accident.

Legion Junior Ball Team to Meet

Richard Yeomans, the newly-appointed manager of the American Legion Junior baseball team, has called a meeting of all boys interested in playing on this year's team.

Mr. Yeomans has scheduled a meeting which will be held in the basement of the Legion Home on Tues., Feb. 12, at 7:00 p. m. All players on last year's team and any new players are cordially invited to attend. Last year's members are asked to bring their uniforms with them. Refreshments will be served.

BEGINNERS

Mr. Walter A. Simpson, conductor of the Emmitsburg Band, announced that the organization will start a beginners' class this Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Fire Hall. Parents interested in having their children instructed free and later to be members of the band, are asked to have their children there promptly.

TWO ENLIST

Two local youths have enlisted in the Air Corps and will leave for training on February 19. They are Albert Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller and Richard Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Myers.

ATTEND ANNUAL AUXILIARY MEETING

The following auxiliary members of Emmitsburg attended the annual meeting and tea of the Annie Warner Hospital Auxiliary recently held in the American Legion Home, Gettysburg: Mrs. B. P. Ogle, Mrs. A. Keilholtz, Mrs. A. A. Martin, Mrs. E. R. Shriver, Mrs. M. A. Zentz, Mrs. Ada Sperry, Miss Ruth Gillelan and Mrs. Harry S. Boyle.

Mrs. Daniel Blocker, president of the Auxiliary and Mrs. Harry Boyle, presided at the tea table.

Weekend guests at the home of Mrs. Ray Topper were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Topper and son and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Topper, all of Baltimore.

JOSEPH WILLIAM WETZEL
Joseph William Wetzel, 56, of Wash., D. C., died Friday evening at 6:45 o'clock at the Mt. Alto Veterans Hospital, Wash., D. C., from complications after an illness of seven months.

A native of Emmitsburg, the deceased was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Wetzel of Emmitsburg. He attended Mt. St. Mary's College and the George Washington University school of engineering in Wash., D. C.

A resident of the District of Columbia for about 30 years, Mr. Wetzel was at first associated with the Maryland Highway Dept. Later he was appointed construction engineer in the District where he supervised such well known projects as Scott Circle and the Fourteenth St. underpass.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Wetzel was overseas for a year and a half. He taught school in France for some time after the Armistice.

He was a member of the K. of C. with the rank of fourth degree and also a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Anthony's Church, Washington.

The deceased is survived by his widow, the former Miss Alma Warthen, Emmitsburg, to whom he was married in June, 1936, a brother, Russell, Emmitsburg; and two sisters, Mrs. George Lingg and Mrs. Ernest Seltzer, both of Emmitsburg; also a number of nephews and nieces.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anthony's Shrine, Rev. Stanley Scarff officiating with interment in St. Anthony's Cemetery.

A military funeral was held by members of the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion.

Harney Bridge Is Opened to Traffic

The Harney bridge over the Monocacy River, a section of which collapsed in mid-January, has been repaired and opened to traffic, County Engineer Roger H. Willard said this week.

The bridge is on the Harney-Emmitsburg road. About 30 feet of the structure dropped 15 feet, carrying a heavily-loaded stone truck with its driver down to the dry run along the Carroll County side of the river.

Some floor beams were replaced, along with all damaged stringers, Mr. Willard said. Some other stringers were salvaged. One abutment of the bridge was raised four or five inches. A new three-inch oak timber floor has been placed on the structure.

Shower Tendered Miss Beegle

A surprise bridal shower was tendered Miss Nancy Beegle, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle, Saturday evening at the home of Dolores Miller, by Miss Miller and Sue Stinson. The color scheme for decorations was green and pink. Those attending were:

Betty Ann Hollinger, Ruth Neighbours, Mrs. Donald Smith, Hazel Glacken, Mrs. Ward Kerrigan, Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, Mrs. A. W. McCleaf, Mrs. Thomas Norris, Mrs. John D. White, Mrs. Andrew Eyster, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Guy Baker, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Mrs. Luther D. Beegle, Mrs. F. C. Miller, Saranna Miller, Dolores Miller, Sue Stinson, all from Emmitsburg; Marian Moyer, Washington; Maebelle Carson, Mrs. Howard Gillelan, Baltimore; Mrs. Leonard Gillespie, Taneytown; Mrs. John Acker, Gettysburg; Barbara Johnston, Philadelphia. The guest of honor was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

Camp Detrick Begins Drive For Funds

Camp Detrick, Frederick, this week launched its 1952 American Red Cross fund-raising drive on the Post with a "kickoff" meeting of more than 50 unit collectors from all Camp Detrick divisions.

Mr. Leonard J. Meyers, Second Army Red Cross field director, outlined Red Cross needs and aims for 1952, and handed out literature to all collectors. He was introduced by Capt. William Camp Detrick's combined charity committee.

Charles Mathias Jr. and State Police Sgt. Charles V. Main also spoke to the representatives. They are in charge of this year's drive in Frederick County.

Last year, Camp Detrick contributed more than $1200 to the Red Cross.

Maryland County chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are carrying on the almost 100% medical care program of all polio cases in the state.

George Mahoney Enters Race For U. S. Senate

In a prepared press release this week, George P. Mahoney, former gubernatorial candidate, announced his intention of running for the U. S. Senate. In his news release, Mr. Mahoney said:

"After much deliberation and extended discussions with the voters in all sections of Maryland, I have decided to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate.

"These are times of serious trouble at home and abroad. These are times that call for courage and for action. These are times that require clear level headed thinking.

"I am opposed to crime and corruption. The unholy alliance between criminals and some men in politics must be broken. My record as chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission proves that I fought an uphill battle to drive gangsters and dopsters from the race tracks. I shall continue to fight crime and corruption at all levels and where ever it is found.

"I am opposed to communism and all groups which advocate the violent overthrow of our government, which give allegiance to an outside government rather than our own, which teaches people to hate and which justifies lying as a means of accomplishing its end.

"I am for economy in government and for the elimination of waste and extravagance. As a business man, I have a keen appreciation of the necessity for sound business policies. I shall urge the adoption of these policies in government.

"In presenting myself to the people of Maryland as the Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, I am fully cognizant of the responsibilities and obligations that are demanded from this high and honorable office. I intend to devote my full time, my full energies and all the knowledge at my command to protect and improve our democratic way of life — through the institution and support of sound legislation in the Senate of the United States.

"Before long, I will embark on a shoe leather campaign which will take in every city, town and hamlet in Maryland and give me another opportunity for a face to face and man to man talk with the voters of the Free State of Maryland.

"I welcome the support of all members of the Democratic party and of all the people in the state."

Government Confiscates More Land Near Here

The United States Government has taken another farm at Raven Rock Communications Center Military Reservation, according to papers filed with the Adams County clerk of courts this week.

The "decree of taking No. 2," was handed down by the U. S. Middle District Court January 30, and provides for the Government to take the 20.72 acre farm owned by William E. Orner, Hazel Hull Orner and Flora Hull, partly in Hamiltonban and partly in Liberty Townships, Pa., for a price of $725. The papers state the money was deposited with the Middle District Court for payment to the owners and directs the registrar and recorder to register the land in the U. S. Government's name.

No state sales tax was paid on the transfer of the property, with an accompanying letter noting that no state tax can be levied against the U. S. Government."

Veterans Give Military Funeral

The Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, in conjunction with the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658, held military funeral services Tuesday morning for Mr. Joseph William Wetzel, 56, of Washington, D. C., and former local World War I veteran, who died Friday at the Mt. Alto Veterans Hospital, Wash., D. C.

The color guard consisted of William Rodgers, Louis F. Rosensteel, Vincent Topper and T. Eugene Rodgers. Firing squad members were Allen Bouey, Wayne McCleaf, Thomas Norris, Paul Humerick and Philip B. Sharpe.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Mary Claudia Rosensteel, 207 E. Main St., were Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel and son, Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sprankle and daughter, all of Baltimore, Miss Mary Teresa Houck, Prof. Richard Leonard and Herb Sprankle, Jr., Baltimore.

J. Norman Flax Heads Baseball Association

The annual public meeting of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. was held Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m., in the Fire Hall, about 25 attending.

The bylaws of the organization were changed, cutting the number of directors from 12 to seven.

The local club again voted to enter the Pen-Mar Baseball League this year and the annual financial statement was read and approved for publication.

President Edward Lingg presided during the regular session and John D. White was appointed temporary chairman during the balloting. Officers elected into office for one year were: President, J. Norman Flax; vice president, Edward Lingg; secretary, Dr. D. L. Beegle, and treasurer, Bernard H. Boyle. Directors, aside from the officers who are automatically directors, are Jack Rosensteel, George F. Rosensteel and Richard Yeomans.

Because of an extra heavy season, the club wound up the 1951 season with a deficit of $185.00.

President Flax also will act as business manager, a position that went vacant most of last year.

The managership was discussed but no action was taken on the appointment, pending further screening of the candidates for the job.

It is planned to again offer for sale the usual season tickets or booster passes, as they are popularly known.

President D. L. Beegle of the Pen-Mar Baseball League has scheduled a meeting of that organization for Tuesday night at 8:00 p. m. in the VFW home in Littlestown, Pa. The annual election of officers of the circuit will be held then and several of the bylaws are likely to be altered.

Large Trout To Be Placed In Streams

Between 170 and 180 unusually large trout will be stocked during the coming season in Frederick County streams, it was announced this week by Albert M. Powell of Lewistown, state fish culturist.

The fish, rainbows and browns, weigh between five and 10 pounds and are now being held at the Lewistown hatchery until their release. The trout, up to five years old, will be distributed throughout the entire season so as to be an incentive for anglers, who generally lose interest late in May and June, Mr. Powell said. The season this year runs from April 15 to Sept. 15.

The trout, both males and females, have served their purpose as brood fish, Mr. Powell explained. Three to four years is the average life of a brood trout.

Under the selective breeding program of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, the old fish are retired to provide vigorous trout for Maryland streams. About the same number of trout as stocked in previous years will be released in Maryland streams this season. Frederick County usually receives between 9000 and 10,000.

State officials believe reduction of the daily creel limit from 10 to 5 on all streams will ease the stocking problem and give all anglers a better chance at the fish. Trout stocked last season were generally conceded by fishermen to be the best yet turned out by the State.

Dipping becomes legal in Frederick County on Feb. 15 but a lot of hook and line fishermen have been in action during the moderate weather until streams got out of bank over the weekend. It is legal to take up to 15 suckers a day now. It is also legal to take carp, sunfish, eels, fall fish and other unprotected species now.

It is unlawful to take catfish until Feb. 15.

WORK CREW REMOVING TELEPHONE POLE

A crew of workmen from the C. & P. Phone Co. this week began removing an "eye sore" on N. Seton Ave. The leaning telephone pole is situated almost directly in front of the Legion's new Honor Roll and leans out considerably over the road. The fire siren which had been attached to the pole has been moved one block up the street. When the work is completed it is planned to erect a flagpole behind the Honor Roll.

V.F.W. Pledges Thousand Dollars To Hall Fund

The regular meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Post 6658 was held Wednesday evening at the post home, Commander Harold M. Hoke, presiding.

The club went on record as pledging $1,000 to the Memorial Hall Association building fund, the money to be raised by holding a block party some time in May.

Adjutant Lumen F. Norris said yesterday that if the receipts of the proposed party did not amount to the pledged sum the club will donate the balance needed.

The Public Library also was appropriated a $25 contribution by the post.

After several weeks of deliberating and figuring, the veterans authorized the erection of a new playground for Emmitsburg. A committee consisting of Everett Chrismer, Wales E. Rignour, Robert E. Daugherty and Roger Zurgable has been studying the project for some time and presented its findings before the session Wednesday which was readily accepted. The Lions Club had released the project to take up Little League Baseball. Officials of the post stated that the site of the playground will be moved to the left field section of Community Field, where tennis courts formerly were. New equipment for the children is contemplated and possible enclosure of the site by a wire fence. It is the hope of those in charge to have the project in operation late this summer.

The post also took into consideration a plea by the Emmitsburg Band for financial assistance or musical instruments. Action on the matter was tabled pending consultation with band officials as to their exact requirements.

A Block Party for the benefit of the ambulance fund has been scheduled for May 30 and 31, it has been revealed.

Grange Meets; Will Continue Scrap Drive

The Emmitsburg Grange met on Wednesday night in the Emmitsburg High School with about 40 members present. Master Edgar G. Emrich presided. Third and Fourth Degrees were conferred upon Mr. and Mrs. George Gartrell by Mrs. Martin of McKnightstown, Pa.

Two applications for membership were received. Master Emrich called for more activity by all members in the drive for new members which is currently underway. The group took action to hold a picnic at Rocky Ridge sometime this summer. A resolution seeking more deferments from military duty for dairy farmers was discussed.

The scrap drive committee reported collections from the Vigilant Hose Company, Roger Liquor Store, East End Garage, Sanders Bros. Garage, William Wivell and Grier Keilholtz which brought the total to date to $116.00 which will go to the Memorial Hall Assn. building fund. It was stated that at least one more load will be sought before the drive ends as there already is a half load available. Mrs. Morris Zentz was put in charge of refreshments for the next three months. Clifford Meskill was presented with a gift of pajamas. Clifford is still confined to a Baltimore hospital.

Organization of a juvenile Grange was discussed but was tabled for further consideration at a later date.

The inadequate equipment of the Agriculture Room was generally discussed by Prof. William Baker and George Martin, a member of the County School Board. It was stated that Frederick Co. is one of the greatest agriculture areas in the state and the high school's facilities were not up to standard. It was decided to take this matter to the County Grange and ask for better equipment for the local school.

Two FFA students, one from Thurmont and the other local, told of their trip to Kansas City where they attended the FFA national convention the past summer. The students were George Springer and Howard Miller.

COVERED DISH SUPPER

The Women's Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church will hold its February meeting in the form of a covered dish supper meeting Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Lutheran Parish Hall, Miss Beulah Martin, a Moravian missionary, will be guest speaker.

INVESTIGATION OF MILITARY FUNDS WISE

Back in September, Senator Paul Douglas, the very able Democrat from Illinois, had the audacity to imply on the floor of Congress that there might be some fat in the then $61-billion defense appropriation. The Senator suggested certain economies—such as cutting off flight pay for Air officers who don't fly—that would, in total, have saved nearly a billion dollars. But about all the Senator got for his pains was a slur on his patriotism by the ostensibly shocked chairman of the Senate Appropriation Committee.

What brought this episode to mind was the speech this week by Senator Douglas, in which he proposed a $4-billion cut in the new military budget. The Senator says that there is "more waste proportionately" in the military, which is slated to account for 60 per cent of all Government spending in the coming fiscal year, than in civilian agencies. Fortunately, this year considerable data should be available to help support the Senator's position and to protect him, one of the most internationally-minded men in Congress, from any ridiculous imputation of giving comfort to the Kremlin when he questions the military budget.

Several Congressional groups have been looking or are about to look into spending in the services. As detailed in a recent article in The Wall Street Journal, plenty of facts have already been brought to light to indicate great waste throughout the military establishment. There are, to begin with, a large number of odd price differences that bear investigation. For example, the Army pays $24.65 for insulated combat boots while the Marine Corps, buying from the same company and in lesser quantity, pays only $16.75; the same nails that cost the Navy 6½ cents a pound cost the Army eight cents and the Air Force twelve cents; and so on.

There are many different catalogues between and within the services that list the code numbers and specifications of items bought and used in one part or other of the military establishment. Code numbers for the same item differ from one service to another. Specifications for the same item may often differ in trivial, but nevertheless cost-increasing, detail. Sometimes the very name of the same item differs between the services, thus making it difficult for one branch to draw on the other's stores. For example, what the Army calls an extension light the Navy calls a trouble light.

Furthermore, specifications can be tediously, and expensively, complete. For example, it takes the Army four pages and two pictures to set forth specifications for dog toe-nail clippers, of which it has bought only 19 in the past four years.

Literally vast economies could be effected throughout the Defense Department by no more than a unified catalogue system—economies in buying, specifying, storing, issuing, bookkeeping.

No one knows what the sum total of waste comes to in present military spending. But a staff member of the House Armed Services Committee says: "I've seen someone use a figure of $5 billion of waste a year just from this lack of common buying habits. That's as good a guess as anyone can make. If it's wrong, it's probably wrong on the low side."

Given further probing of Defense Department spending methods, and, first thing you know, men like Senator Douglas might not appear so impious for wanting to wring the waste out of the military dollar.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Proposal

The detective story, as a literary form, celebrated its 110th anniversary in April, 1951.

The LONG ROAD OF RESEARCH

THE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL CONTRIBUTIONS IN THE LENGTHENING LIFE-SPAN OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE THE FRUITS OF THE PATIENT AND EVEN LABORIOUS PROCESSES OF FUNDAMENTAL RESEARCH. SUCH RESEARCH IS THE MEANS BY WHICH SCIENCE HAS FOUND THE SPECIFIC FOR MANY SERIOUS ILLS—BUT MANY PROBLEMS OF HEART DISEASE ARE STILL TO BE SOLVED.

AS PART OF THE FIGHT AGAINST THIS GREATEST OF KILLERS, THE LIFE INSURANCE MEDICAL RESEARCH FUND HAS CONTRIBUTED NEARLY FOUR MILLION DOLLARS TO THIS FUNDAMENTAL RESEARCH. THIS IS A LONG-RANGE PROJECT WHICH EXPECTS NO SUDDEN WONDERS—BUT ONLY THE GAINING OF KNOWLEDGE THAT WILL EVENTUALLY HELP TO CONQUER.

"VALENTINE" LOAF

Make this Valentine meat loaf for gay dining on St. Valentine's Day. Arrange the loaf on a large platter, design a heart on top of it and outline the loaf with mashed potatoes put through your decorating tube.

At the Majestic Theater in Gettysburg, Pa.

Dana Andrews and Dorothy McGuire (left) represent an average American couple; Farley Granger and Peggy Dow portray two youngsters, much in love and wanting to get married. All are confronted with problems facing many Americans today, arising from the call to arms of both former servicemen and the younger generation subject to the draft. These four are starred in Samuel Goldwyn's "I Want You, which plays at the Majestic Theatre, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Feb. 14, 15, 16.

Homemakers' Corner

Have you ever tried curried lamb? It's a slightly different but extremely tasty dish. Here is a specially recommended way to use those last bits of left-over lamb.

Curried Lamb
One cup diced celery with tops; one medium-sized onion, diced; two tablespoons drippings; two cups diced cooked lean lamb; two-thirds cup brown gravy; ½ teaspoon curry powder; two drops tabasco sauce, if desired; and salt.

First brown the celery and onion slowly in the drippings. Next add meat, gravy, and the seasonings. If you're a lover of curry dishes you may use more curry powder than called for in the recipe.

Stir the ingredients over a low heat until they are hot and well mixed. If the mixture becomes too dry, add boiling water. You'll find that this recipe gives four savory servings of lamb left-overs.

Ironing Reminders

Since your electric iron is a friend and a time-saver, it should be given good treatment. Before using your iron, make sure it's clean and ready for the chore ahead. The sole plate should be wiped, when cold, with a damp cloth. If a more thorough cleaning is necessary, use suds or a mild, fine scouring powder or paste on a cloth. Then it should be wiped with a clean damp cloth and dried. Never immerse your iron in water.

To prevent scratching the sole plate, you should avoid ironing buttons, hooks, slide fasteners, and other hard, sharp surfaces. Above all, be careful not to drop your iron, for more irons are ruined by this one mishap than by another way. Also, the cord should not touch the hot iron—the iron should be cooled before coiling the cord around it and putting it away.

Service Bulls' Daughters High Producers

Production figures released recently by USDA show that the 26 dairy bulls used by the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative, Inc., at College Park, have 242 daughters with 406 DHIA records that average 10,985 pounds of milk and 47 pounds of butterfat.

This is a 10 per cent rise in production over last year, and is almost twice the production of the average U. S. dairy cows. The average production of cows on DHIA test in Maryland was 8220 pounds of milk and 346 pounds of fat.

Here are the production records of ABC bulls' daughters in each of the five major dairy breeds.

There were 39 DHIA daughters of the six Jersey bulls in service, with 49 records that average 9871 pounds of milk and 506 pounds of fat, with a 5.1 per cent test. This is a large increase over last year's report of 7961 pounds of milk and 418 pounds of fat.

The average production of 57 daughters of eight Guernsey bulls in the cooperative is 9295 pounds of 54 per cent milk, with 500 pounds of fat.

The 106 daughters of eight Holstein-Friesian sires recorded an average of 12,768 pounds of milk and 474 pounds of butter fat, a 3.8 per cent butterfat test. This is a slight increase from last year when an average of 12,649 pounds of milk and 477 pounds of fat was reported.

A big improvement in the production of Ayrshires was recorded this year. Thirty-eight tested daughters of the three Ayrshire bulls in service averaged 10,070 pounds of milk and 420 pounds of fat this year compared with 8844 pounds of milk and 367 pounds of fat last year.

Only one of the two Brown Swiss sires that were recently added to the service has any DHIA daughters. Two daughters average 14,369 pounds of milk and 578 pounds of butterfat.

All these records are for twice-a-day milking, 305 days or less, computed on a mature equivalent basis.

Lutheran Synod Plans to Convene Here May 15

The program committee of the Lutheran Sunday School Assn. of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland met recently at the local Lutheran Church, to begin the work of planning the program and making arrangements for the twenty-eighth annual convention of the association which will be held here on May 15, with an alternative date of May 22.

Mr. Charles W. Mumma, Rocky Ridge, president of the association, presided at the meeting which was attended by Rev. Howard F. Reisz, Baltimore; Dr. Roger L. Fiery, Hagerstown; Mrs. Roy B. Biser, Taneytown; Mr. Philip Bower, Emmitsburg; Mr. Carroll E. Frock, Emmitsburg; Vernon Zimmerman, Westminster; Claude B. Ahalt, Burkittsville and Miss Lulu V. Birley, Keymar.

CATECHISE CLASS

The Senior Catechise Class of Elias Ev. Lutheran Church will meet for instruction Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the Parish Hall instead of tonight, as had been announced. The Junior Class will meet tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the Parish Hall. The Children's, Youth and Chapel Choirs will meet for rehearsal Tuesday evening at 7:00 and 7:30 p. m.

LOYAL GROUP TO MEET

The LOYAL group of Emmitsburg Lutheran Church will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock and will sponsor a Valentine party in the Parish House beginning at 8:30, following the choir rehearsals. They have invited the choir and the young people of the congregation and others, to be their party guests.

Before and after school all is buzzing—Mission Bazaar! Groups here and there happily working to make the CSMC bazaar a success! In one corner, a group of Second Year girls meet to make umbrellas out of handkerchiefs and wash cloth cats and dogs atop bars of soap. Peep through the one clear square of glass in the First Year homeroom door and there, neatly arranged in the corner, you will see several boxes out of which grabs are bulging. The Third and Fourth years are busy about many things—but after all, we must have some "surprises." Be sure to be with us from 3:00 to 4:30 on the afternoon of February 15.

The students and faculty cordially invite all their friends and neighbors to visit the High School Library during Catholic Press Month, where a fine variety of books are displayed. This special exhibit has been made possible through the courtesy of the Newman Book Shop, Westminster. Tastes and aces have been kept in mind in selecting these books. "The Greatest Story Ever Told and the Greatest Book Ever Written" both by Fulton Oursler, The Founding by Francis Cardinal Spellman, God Goes to Murderer's Row by Rev. M. Raymond, O.S.C.O., Three Generations by Katherine Burton, Hot Rod by Henry G. Felsen and My Three Years in Moscow by Walter B. Smith are only a few of the books on display. Never a dull moment for the librarian at St. Joseph's High School.

The Fourth and Third Year pupils taking second and first year shorthand respectively, have entered the Gregg shorthand contest. This contest is nationwide and the students are hoping to win recognition.

St. Joseph's sextet towered over St. Mary's of Hagerstown by a score of 37 to 31 on Monday afternoon, Feb. 4, at 4:30 at the Hagerstown Armory. High-scorer of the hoopsters was Suzanne Law with 17 points.

FARE FOR ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

You'll serve heart shaped cookies, of course, this February fourteenth. They're traditional. Our cookies are rich, spicy, paper thin and delicately ornamented with pink sugar and white frosting. This is an old world recipe adapted and streamlined in the research kitchens of Blue Bonnet Margarine.

Nobody knows exactly how many Saints Valentine there were. Rumor says five. We'll settle for one. Here is our special, and delicious cookie recipe for greeting St. Valentine's Day

- ST. VALENTINE'S COOKIES
- | | |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 cup Blue Bonnet Margarine | 1 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 1 cup sugar | 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg |
| 1 cup molasses | 1/2 teaspoon powdered cloves |
| 1 egg | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1 tablespoon vinegar | 4 cups sifted enriched flour |
| 2 teaspoons baking soda | 1/4 cup sugar |
| | 3-4 drops red food coloring |

Cream margarine. Add sugar gradually and blend well. Stir in molasses. Beat in egg. Add vinegar and blend. Sift baking soda and spices with flour and add to molasses mixture. Mix until smooth. Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill overnight in refrigerator. Remove from refrigerator and roll out at once on lightly floured board to a thickness of 1/8 inch. Cut into heart shapes with cookie cutter. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup granulated sugar which has been colored red with food coloring. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) approximately 5 minutes. Cool. Decorate around edges with white frosting using paper cornucopia or pastry tube. Makes about 8 dozen cookies. (ANS Features)

Barkley Plans To Address Young Dems

Vice President Alben W. Barkley will be the principal speaker at the Jackson Day Dinner sponsored by the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland. The dinner will be held March 14 at 8:00 p. m., at the Hotel Emerson in Baltimore.

National Committeeman Joseph D. Tydings, dinner chairman, announced 800 tickets would be available and a meeting of the dinner committee was held Monday to complete final arrangements.

Requests for tickets should be made to the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland, P. O. Box 902, Annapolis, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams have moved from the Rose Rowe property to the house on W. Main St., owned by Mrs. Charlotte Eyster, formerly occupied by Miss Maude Fry.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hampson and children, Baltimore, spent Friday at their farm along the Taneytown road near here.

Table Your Valentine Plans

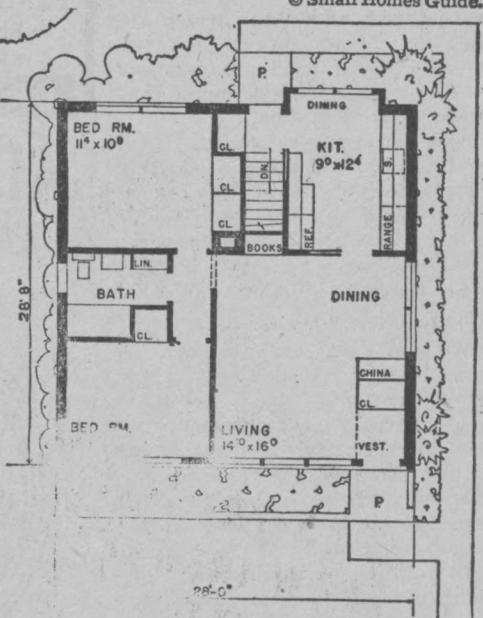

Valentine's Day might be just the time when you feel a very small celebration to be in order, rather than a large scale party. Why not just a "table reserved for two," right in your own home, with gala decorations and your loveliest dining accessories—to show your husband that he is still your most special "guest." Lenox has created a pattern in fine china which might be your choice for this very pretty table—Ming-Temple, featuring a ming tree motif in pink, green, and yellow tones on a fluted plate. All Ming-Temple pieces, from dinner plates to coffee cups, are rimmed in 24-k. gold. Add beautiful glassware and silver, and a final delightful touch of decoration in a tiny centerpiece of clustered tea roses surrounding a red paper heart. It is almost as though you had made a Valentine out of the table itself!

Compact Ranch Home For Budget Minded From Small Homes Guide

Square Plan 2-Bedroom Home

This is a small two-bedroom home for the small family with a limited budget. Floor area is only 800 sq. ft. The plan is virtually square and includes a basement, a combination that assures the family of the most for its money. Fireplaces have been omitted for further savings in cost. Even though the house is small, it has a maximum architectural appeal, with its large front picture window and wide roof overhang. Combination living and dining area gives a wide-open spacious feeling to this part of the house. A space-saving sliding door separates the kitchen from the living area. The plan is the creation of Richard B. Pollman. Information on blueprints and the Small Homes Guide, 82 W. Washington St., Chicago, Ill.

Snap Bean Crop Swells Farmers' Income

The aggregate income of Maryland growers from the sale of snap beans to canners and freezers jumped 70 per cent last year—thanks in large part to a sharp increase in production, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture figures reveal.

The USDA reported that Free State farmers raising snap beans for processing received $2.4 million for their 23,800-ton crop in 1951 compared with $1.4 million for a much smaller crop in 1950. The rise in production by the state's approximately 1200 farms growing snap beans for processing is in line with increased demand, which has pushed U. S.

consumption of the canned product to an all-time high of 3.4 pounds per person a year, pointed out Dr. H. E. Michl, economist for American Can Co. which supplies millions of the containers used by Free State canners.

The can-making firm's economist noted that more than three-quarters of the income from the sale of Maryland snap beans comes from processors, whose shipments of the canned vegetable to consumers all over the country brings millions of dollars back to Maryland to bolster its economy. The fresh market bought only $780,000 worth of snap beans in the state last year.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 7—Last week you read that 85 people have been killed in airplane accidents during the preceding 38 days in Elizabeth, N. J., and yet nothing is being done about it. I believe it is a crime against the American people for the airplane companies not to do more to prevent such accidents. It is true that they can insure their planes so as to get a new one when a plane is destroyed, but no insurance can replace lives which they destroy. In my humble judgment, their attitude is all wrong.

Cause Of Accidents

A few airplane accidents occur from running into mountains during fog or storm. These are being eliminated by the latest modern altitude instruments and by radar. With good working instruments and bright-eyed pilots these accidents should no longer occur.

The major cause of airplane accidents is their engine trouble or wing failure or some other breakdown which causes the airplane to drop to the ground and the gas tanks to explode. This throws the gasoline all over the occupants. Some electric spark starts the fire and the passengers are all smothered or burned to death. In short, "Old Man Gravity" is responsible.

Your Home May Be Destroyed

This means that these fatal accidents will continue and increase in number and severity as more planes fly and the size of the planes increases. When the airplane companies advertise they have the biggest planes, they do not tell you that the bigger the plane the more dangerous it will be for all concerned when it falls. Moreover, many believe that the bigger planes are more liable to fall.

It is not only those who travel in planes who are running the increasing risk as bigger planes are built. Every reader of this column, including those who never use air travel, is likewise subject to great danger as was evidenced in Elizabeth, N. J. An airplane going over your house tonight may fall on your house and cover it with gasoline, causing your entire family to be burned up.

The Needed Remedy

There is only one means of preventing these accidents. This is to discover some partial insulator of gravity, although helicopters may also help in solving the problem. Insulators exist for light, noise, fire, air, heat, cold magnetism, electricity and even atomic energy. The work of the Gravity Research Foundation at New Boston, N. H., is helping to discover a partial insulator for gravity. This Foundation believes that the airplane companies could discover an alloy which would partially insulate gravity if they would only combine and spend the money to do so. When a partial insulator is discovered the exterior of all planes would be covered with this alloy. The weight of the plane would then be so reduced that a fall need not cause a fatal disaster. Besides, the plane and contents would be so much lighter it would be much less liable to engine and other difficulties and hence less liable to fall. How Airplane Companies Reply

The airplane companies claim that scientists say it is impossible to discover a partial insulator for gravity. My answer is that when I was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology I was taught that it would be impossible to use commercially heavier-than-air machines. Professors taught us that only balloons and dirigibles would be practical.

Scientists have discouraged many great inventions in use today claiming that they were impossible. The Babson Institute has the third largest collection in the world of Sir Isaac Newton's writings and we believe that if he were here today he would agree that gravity could be partially overcome. I ask every reader to take an interest in this problem because some airplane may fall on your house tonight and burn up you and your family.

Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, the team of top writers responsible for the adaptations of musical romances on "The Railroad Hour" every Monday evening, have just celebrated their tenth anniversary as creative partners. The fact that they have worked together ten years in all the intensely competitive major fields of entertainment is a tribute to their ability to complement each other's talents.

Robert E. Lee is the professional musician, is the secret of a successful approach to popular music. "After all," says Bob and Jerry, "the millions who hear 'The Railroad Hour' every Monday night are not professional musicians for the most part, but we expect that they love music much the same as we do, so we try to build our shows for the laymen in the audience."

Harry Lubin, talented musical director of NBC's "Those Two," which stars Vivian Blaine and Pinky Lee, has had twenty-five years of show-business experience as a composer, conductor and arranger. Harry made his professional debut at the age of 19, when he was accompanist for Feodor Chaliapin, the famous basso — and a year later he was musical director at the Irving Place theatre in New York. He has since worked with most of the great names in music, composed and scored for movies, for radio, for the stage — with "Those Two" signalling his television debut.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

In days of yore, when a king died, the official word was "The King is dead, long live the king" thus complimenting both the expired ruler and the new wearer of the crown. A paraphrase of this was enacted in Washington recently.

On December 31, Marshall Plan press agents announced the Plan had expired. But in the same breath it was announced that in its place would be the Mutual Security Agency, or the MSA. The announcement further stated that although the name was changed, the policies, staff, commitments, and even the stationery forms, would be the same.

However, judged by subsequent actions, MSA shows promise of giving away even more billions than the Marshall Plan ever did.

MSA, however, is attempting to prove itself as really fast with the taxpayers' buck. Bulletins Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 announce approvals that total over 100 millions of dollars in 5 days, or an average of more than 20 million per day, which exceeds the Marshall Plan daily average.

This fact points up a curious coincidence.

Continued MSA spending at this rate will equal in six months the amount of new taxes asked.

It is also interesting to note the allocations of MSA grants.

A fair share of the first grants, ©National Federation of Independent Business almost 4 million dollars goes to Tito's Yugoslavia principally in the form of steel, aluminum, and office machines.

As is well known, Tito is a Communist, operating a Communist government.

But the mere fact that he is not on speaking terms with fellow Communist Stalin somehow seems to change the situation in regard to Communism. Cynics say any day now, the State Dept. will issue a "white paper" defining the differences between a "benevolent communist", and a "malignant communist".

Of equal significance is the heavy shipment being made to European foreign possessions.

In the first five days of operation under a new name, $4 million dollars worth of supplies, principally coal from the U. S. and oil, was approved for French colonies in Africa.

This presents two interesting questions which will no doubt be investigated in Congress.

One is the morality of taxing small American businessmen who must pay for their own expansion, as well as taxes, out of their own business development, to give to nations to develop their colonies for their own monopoly controlled profit.

The second question is the national morality involved in this nation helping finance the exploitation of other nation's colonies where the people are deprived of a voice in their own economic and political destiny.

You will hear more of this thinking when Congress considers the proposed $5 billion dollar budget, and tax increase.

Citizens Are Waking Up

The population of the U. S. may be on the verge of becoming politically active in a big way. Such a development is forecast in the flood of mail that has come in as a result of my suggestion in a recent column that on all election days in 1952—local, state, and national—each eligible voter who actually votes be given a little red-white-and-blue tag to wear in his lapel. The idea received nationwide publicity, and people in every section of the country are writing me.

The League of Women Voters, of Yardley-Morrisville, Pa., report that they have tried out the "Tag Day" idea and have found it to be excellent stimulation for potential voters. The tags were used three weeks ago in a local election in Mountain Home, Ark.; and in two parishes when Louisiana Democrats held a primary a few days later; and letters on my desk report that in both instances the tags, and attendant publicity, helped boost the percentage of eligible voters who went to the polls. The little tags bear the challenge: "I Have Voted! Have You?"

All Joining Hands The mail expressing interest in the tag-for-voters idea comes from all kinds of organizations, groups and individuals — and they all express a determination to work for anything that will stir up the population to the importance of each individual citizen becoming an intelligent and regular voter. Already, a great many people in states from coast to coast are using the Harding College flannel-board presentation "The Power of Your Vote" in which the "Tag Day" project is proposed.

An official of Labor's League for Political Education (American Federation of Labor) writes that "This is a valuable work in which Labor's League for Political Education is also greatly interested." An official of the Boy Scouts of America writes: "For the Presidential elections this fall, we will organize a Get-Out-the-Vote campaign. Every Boy Scout in America will work on this organized plan to get all voters out. The plans for this great drive are now under way."

The Press Enlists Paul Harvey, one of the nation's top radio and television commentators, is giving the "Tag Day" idea wide publicity on his American Broadcasting System coast-to-coast broadcasts. "Normally, I detest tag days," he says on his broadcasts, "But Harding College has come up with a tag day idea which I wholeheartedly approve. They would hand out a small red-white-and-blue shield at the voting place on election day. I hope the idea spreads fast. I hope there is never another election in the U. S. in which half of all those eligible to vote, fail to do so."

The Americanism Committee of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce has adopted "The Power of Your Vote" presentation as part of the nationwide "Freedom Flame" project in which 1,800 local Jaycee groups are eligible to participate. The general manager of Everbody's Daily, largest Polish newspaper in America, published in Buffalo, writes: "As a publisher interested in seeing that 100 per cent of our readers vote in all political campaigns, would be interested in material... for promoting this program in new papers."

In Our Hands T. E. Johnson, managing editor, the Amarillo Globe-Times, reports: "I wore the tag Tuesday during a local election and it drew much comment. It would be our idea to sponsor 'Tag Day' on the various election days coming up this year." Orville Revelle, editor, Fort Lauderdale Daily News, writes: "We plan to sponsor your plan in this area." Mrs. Lucille U. Deetz, principal, Moffitt Heights Elementary School, Massillon, O., says she desires "to use 'The Power of Your Vote' before P-TA groups."

Altogether the mail indicates an awakening. With corruption weakening the character of our government (and our nation), with the U. S. armies at war in Korea and girding for even a bigger conflict, with a soaring national debt, and with inflation and high taxes sapping the earning power of all citizens, perhaps the American people are ready to accept the old adage, "We get the kind of government we deserve. Alert citizenship an informed voting citizenry deserves—and gets—good government. A do-nothing citizenry does not. The problem is in our hands—as individual Americans. "I Have Voted! Have You?"

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Maryland farmers are getting set to tackle one of the biggest jobs they have ever faced—to help the farmers of this nation produce the largest quantity of food and fiber ever produced in our history. Their jobs will be a difficult one to achieve because they are confronted with an increasingly small labor force and a shortage in some of the most important farm production facilities. Says Mr. Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland State Mobilization Committee, "Maryland farmers are accepting that challenge and are ready to do the job."

Mr. Blandford says that many farm workers in Maryland have left for jobs in industry or the armed forces, which of course makes the job even more difficult. All current signs point to a continuation of this trend. Farmers can help assure themselves of adequate labor by (1) cooperating closely with their local employment service by reporting labor needs accurately, placing orders for labor early, and encouraging farm workers to register at the local office; (2) making full use of available labor-saving machinery and electrical equipment, efficient management methods, custom work, and exchanging work with neighbors, and (3) helping in community efforts to mobilize local people for farm work.

The outlook for farm machinery and equipment is not as good as it was last year. Military requirements have cut deeply into the allotments of materials going to farm machinery manufacturers. However, it will probably be about mid-year before farmers notice the effect of this reduction. Mr. Blandford suggests that farmers investigate the tremendous savings that can be made by increased use of electricity around the farm. Electric power is used to the best advantage when applied to farm chores. A one-horse motor, if used properly can do the work of eight men. That is worth investigation.

Alert, progressive farmers will capitalize on all these production factors to help meet this emergency effort and keep our people at home and the armed services well fed.

Some Farm Production Supplies Short

With six per cent increase in agricultural production being asked, and with very few additional acres from which to get this increase, farmers are going to have to increase their production per acre, per animal, and per hour of labor, according to Mr. Blandford.

In addition to making more efficient use of current labor supplies and making more use of machinery and electric power, farmers will have to use more fertilizer to increase per acre production, and more pesticides to protect the crop being produced. That is why farmers have been urged for several months to buy their supplies early to be sure of getting all they need when they need them.

According to Mr. Blandford, the current supply situation is as follows: nitrogen, the supply will be tight, even though it is expected to be about five per cent higher than last year. More and more farmers are using nitrogen. Potash, the supply will be about five per cent higher than in 1951, and should satisfy the 1952 demand. Phosphate, the supply is expected to be very tight, about six per cent less than last year. The reason for this is a severe shortage of sulfur and sulfuric acid which are used in the production of the phosphates.

Except for pesticides containing sulfur, copper or lead, the supply

Girl Scouts Skate

An evening of roller skating was enjoyed by the Girl Scouts on Feb. 1 at the Rainbow Skating Rink, Taneytown. The Scouts were chaperoned by Mrs. Franklin Wastler and left by George Rosentsteel's bus at 7:15 from the Square. They returned home at about 11:30. All thoroughly enjoyed the occasion and plan to repeat the event in the near future. There were 17 Scouts and five guests making the trip.

Valentine Tips on Hearts and Flowers

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY is the year's biggest challenge to a man to use imagination and ingenuity to show his affection. And to help him, it's a challenge to every florist to bring a new flair to his year-round role as interpreter in the language of romance. Alyn Wayne, the flower stylist of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, provides a sophisticated touch in a Valentine corsage for Broadway actress Ludie Claire. Gorgeous red roses, historically the floral declaration of love, are combined with delicate hyacinths arranged in the shape of two hearts. FOR A FLORAL VALENTINE that's guaranteed to go to her head, the FTD stylist suggests a purple heart of forget-me-nots framed against the pink of a heart-shaped anthurium as the above at right. Or, for the girl who craves the unusual, the FTD expert prescribes a striking wristlet (at lower right) of maroon anthurium, red roses and a heart of white hyacinths—and have the florist mount it on a puff of lace. Boy Scouts Observe 42nd Birthday

Official Boy Scout Week Poster

President Truman will greet 12 outstanding Boy Scouts in the White House during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6 to 12, marking the 42nd anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America...

Report From Washington

By Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor Senator Herbert R. O'Connor this week declared that the 1953 budget submitted by President Truman "emphasizes the threat of national insolvency" now facing the country.

In a prepared statement he ranked the "threat of national insolvency" as ranking with the threat of Communist aggression as the "two challenges that must be met and overcome if we are to survive as a nation."

"When I broke into public life, back in the early 20's," the Maryland Senator said, "the annual Maryland state budget, for all purposes, was $14.1 million. Perhaps you can get a better idea of the 1953 $85 billion Federal budget when I tell you that the government will be spending, during 1953, as much in one hour and a half as the State of Maryland spent during the entire year, for all purposes, in 1922."

"It is amazing how statisticians nowadays can prove, or at least attempt to justify, whatever they are doing or want to do. Following the tremendous increase in the national debt there has developed the rather curious theory that there is no reason for worry about a large public indebtedness. In fact, some argue, it is helpful to the country to have a large debt. It renders money more plentiful. And after all, these new-style economists aver, the debt is owed to the people themselves and therefore it isn't as if it were an ordinary debt. And the further along we go, such theories become, to borrow the words of Alice in Wonderland, 'curiouser and curiouser.'"

"One of the inescapable facts of the President's new budget, though, is the item of $6.2 billion for interest on the Federal debt. The latest census computations indicate a population of 155 million people in this country. It is a simple matter of mathematics, therefore, to figure out that each one of us in this country, every man, woman and child, those who are earning their own livelihood and those who are the subject of government gratuities in one form or another—will be assessed an average of $40 this year just to pay the interest on the national debt."

"A most interesting aspect of the proposed budget is that the increase of $14.5 billion which is projected in spending for the year, is just about $100 million more than the deficit which is estimated to result from that spending."

"Instead of levying $5 billion additional taxes, the Congress must cut the budget to the bone, to the end that there be no further deficits added to the already dangerously high debt level. For instance, Congressional approval is being sought for new domestic spending programs, totaling more than $2.5 billion. Half of this would be spent in 1953. That $1.4 billion should be and I hope will be eliminated from the budget."

"With our taxpayers burdened to the limit as they are, and with the Federal debt at an all-time high, it would appear to be only the soundest of reasoning to expect that every single project or government service, no matter how desirable it might be in itself, should be eliminated from consideration, for the present, at least."

"I am convinced that the closest possible supervision of all spending and activities of the military would save billions of dollars, without impairing in any way the defense preparations which admittedly are so vastly important."

"It must be realized that we are approaching a desperate situation financially, in which herculean efforts must be made to avoid the waste of public money through inefficiency or through approval of unneeded projects and services. If this can be done there need not be a budget deficit. Rather, this country, in this time of extraordinary national income, should be able to reduce the debt which now hangs as a mile stone around its neck, rather than keep adding to it on the reckless basis now current."

Veneers Increase Rare Wood Supply

Most kinds of wood with handsomely figured grain are rare and can be economically used in quantity only when they are cut into wood veneer instead of being used as solid lumber.

A single tree might yield 500 square feet of lumber 1 inch thick, but if the same tree were cut into thin face veneers for fine furniture, wall paneling, or flush doors the yield would be 10,000 square feet or more.

When wood veneers are made into hardwood plywood, only the face veneers need be beautiful in grain figure and color. The inner plies of the plywood are less costly wood, selected for strength and shrinkage-resistance instead of appearance.

Tuberculosis Not Inherited

Whether we refer to tuberculosis as "communicable," or "catching," or "contagious," it all amounts to about the same thing. The fact is that TB is spread from person to person—it is not inherited, nor does it flare up suddenly without source or cause.

Germ which cause tuberculosis, known as tubercle bacilli, are spread primarily by people. There was a time when a great deal of tuberculosis in this country had its source in infected cows, whose milk infected those who drank it with TB. Although tuberculosis in cows has not entirely disappeared in the U. S., the danger of human infection by contaminated milk has been reduced by two disease-fighting programs: the testing of cattle for tuberculosis and the pasteurization of milk.

Although we have made great strides against TB since the turn of the century, we have no cause to relax our guard against the disease. Tuberculosis kills more people in this country annually than all other infectious diseases combined, and it leads the causes of death from disease among young people between 15 and 35. One of the reasons why tuberculosis continues to be a serious public health problem is the fact that it is communicable—that people who have the disease can pass it on to well people. Moreover, a person can be in contact with tuberculosis without realizing it because TB has no obvious symptoms in an early stage. There are an estimated 500,000 people in this country with active TB, only half of whom are known to health authorities.

The overcrowded living conditions, especially since World War II, are also well known to us. Individual homes are largely disappearing in the larger cities, to be replaced by huge apartment houses, many of which have become more and more overcrowded due to our increased population. Overcrowded living quarters make fertile ground for the spread of TB.

The individual has, of course, little control over crowded living, working, and traveling conditions

Shingles Help Free Car

The motorist who carries a few asphalt shingles in the trunk of his car won't have much trouble working the car free when it gets stuck in snow or ice. An asphalt shingle slipped under an automobile tire will keep the wheel from spinning.

The top side of the shingle should be up when it is placed under the tire. The mineral granules on the top supply a rough surface for the tire tread to grip.

The granules are little bits of stone, which are embedded in asphalt roof shingles for several reasons. They add to the wearing qualities of the material. Because stone don't burn, they increase the natural fire-resistance. They provide the means by which the roofing is colored.

Willing Workers Meet

The Willing Workers of Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church met in the church on Jan. 29 at 7:30. The meeting opened with a hymn and Scripture lesson by the new president, Mrs. Robert Ogle, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was answered by naming a gift received for Christmas. Two new members, Mrs. E. F. Keilholtz and Mrs. Charles Mumma joined. It was decided to donate $25 to the March of Dimes. The president appointed Mrs. E. F. Keilholtz and Mrs. Charles Stone-sifer as the Sunshine Committee, and Mrs. James Sixx, Mrs. Graydon Clem and Mrs. Charles Mumma to select a play to be presented some time in the spring. The guessbox prepared by Mrs. Bruce Late, was won by Mrs. Kathryn Valentine. Mrs. Charles Stonesifer gave three readings. A committee of Mrs. Charles Stonesifer, Mabel Sharrer and Mrs. Kenneth Mathias was appointed to arrange to have a patriotic program for the next meeting on Feb. 26. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. D. S. Sharrer.

Magazine Honors Local Citizen

High tribute was paid an Emmitsburg resident recently in the form of a biography of Mr. William A. Frailey which appeared in the monthly publication of the Peoples Drug Store chain. We are happy to reprint the article here with in the belief that it will create local interest.

"Anyone seeing Bill Frailey, the debonaire Johnson & Johnson representative in Washington, might assume that here is a gentleman born to riches.

But that assumption, like so many impressions that turn out to be contrary to the real truth, is not the correct picture of William A. Frailey.

Bill came up the hard way. He had a comfortable home and plenty to eat, but Bill had to work, and work he did.

Bill was born on his father's farm on June 22, 1892 at Emmitsburg, where his father and two uncles operated an iron foundry for making plows, break shoes for railroad wheels or anything anyone might desire made from iron.

Bill and his three brothers carried ladies filled with white hot melted iron to the molds and in between this job and going to school the four brothers helped on the farm.

Bill has an older sister who became a school teacher and it was Bill's job to hitch up the horse and drive his sister three miles to her school, then return to attend his own school. Three miles doesn't seem like much these days, but you older folks will recall that driving a total of six miles in a buggy was quite different from our present mode of fast transportation. To do this in the mornings, then get to school by 8:15 o'clock required early rising. That was Bill Frailey's schedule as a youth.

In the summer, following his graduation from Emmitsburg High School, Bill worked for a contractor laying cement pavements and all of the cement was mixed by hand. In the fall, he started to work in Emmitsburg's only drug store at 50 cents a week. The hours were from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., six days per week. His duties consisted of making the ice cream, looking after the proprietor's horse, cleaning the store, which included the windows inside and outside and shining the copper plate around the fountain. All of this had to be done each day along with the regular fountain and drug store duties.

After two years of this and no vacation, no raise in pay, no time off for anything, Bill went to Washington and secured a job in the drug store at 14th and Thomas Circle at $7 per week.

In the back of his head was a determination to become a registered pharmacist. In time he enrolled in The National College of Pharmacy, Wash., D. C., and after three years he was graduated, passed the D. C. pharmacy board examinations and had his salary raised to $15 a week. He also is registered in Maryland.

A year of this and Bill became a salesman for a pharmaceutical concern. Then came 1917, World War I, and Bill's enlistment as a private in the Army Medical Corps. He was discharged some two years later as a second lieutenant. He then returned to his old job. In 1928 Bill was employed by the Johnson & Johnson Co.

Bill Frailey, in our opinion, has done a tremendously fine job for J. & J. in Washington. He is highly admired and respected by the merchants and wholesalers in this area. He is always on the job; always accommodating and nothing is too much trouble for him to do in cooperating with his many customers.

The fine attitude has gone far to enhance the goodwill of his employer. Bill now is completing his 23rd year with this concern and he is proud to be a representative of such an enterprising and respected organization.

Bill and his charming wife are the parents of three children and the grandparents of five healthy youngsters of whom they are very proud. They also are proud of their beautiful farm, "Balmarea," with its comfortable house near Emmitsburg. They live in an apartment on Columbia Road in Washington, but they never miss an opportunity to get away from the city and relax or perhaps work a little on the farm.

Bill's hobby is collecting old buggies and fixing them up real fancy. He does the painting, the repairing and even the upholstering himself. Sometimes he'll sell one upon the insistence of a prospective buyer, but he would rather keep them all. He now has 12.

Bill also has a couple of horses, snow sleighs of all kinds, harnesses and last, but by no means least, 33 head of the "finest sheep in the East." Incidentally, raising sheep is another strong hobby of Bill's. He says that the sheep is the most profitable animal any farmer can raise.

To Bill Frailey, his lovely wife, and the entire Frailey family, we extend the sincere wish that the future will always be bright and joyful. We think they are mighty fine folks."

BUDGET — In analyzing the President's budget message we find that the total of military and foreign aid spending will amount to 73 per cent of the 1953 fiscal expenditures. Military, foreign and other security expenditures have risen 266 per cent between fiscal 1950 and 1953. This is the price of losing the peace after we had won the war. This budget of $85 1/2 billion which the President is asking Congress to approve is nearly $6 billion more than the total outlay of 10 years ago in 1943 when the U. S. was in the midst of a world war and it approaches the peak war expenditures of $95 billion in 1944 and 1945.

We are allotting, according to the budget this year in military and economic aid to foreign countries $10 1/2 billion. However, although our highways are inadequate, the budget calls for only $400 million in Federal aid to highways only $30 million for access roads; $21 million for forest roads and $1 million for inter-American roads. In spite of disastrous floods in this country, the budget calls for only $608 million for flood control.

TAXES—Nowhere in his 81-page budget message did the President mention the possibility of cutting taxes. In fact, he renewed his request for another tax increase of $5 billion. The average individual paid about 17 per cent more in income tax in 1951 than he did in 1950 and in 1952 the head of every American family will have an extra debt or tax burden of $226 if the new budget is not rimmed. Direct taxes on individuals this year comprise 36 per cent of the revenue while excise taxes make up 17 per cent. This makes 53 per cent of the Federal income coming directly out of the pocket-book of every taxpayer. However, all taxes are paid by the people since they are contained in the price of everything that is bought.

FOREIGN TAXES—The House Armed Services Committee reported that France is taxing American military construction aimed at preserving French freedom. About one in five dollars is going into the French treasury in the form of taxes, which is more than France's total outlay toward support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The State and Defense Depts. have been requested to look into this matter and put a stop to it.

LEGISLATION — Legislation barring secret agreements between the President and other governments, unless approved by Congress, was introduced in both Houses of Congress by Chairman McCarran (D.) of Nevada of the Senate Judiciary Committee and Rep. Rankin (D.) of Mississippi.

INVESTIGATIONS . . . The Senate Rules Committee voted nearly 700 thousand dollars to finance investigations into mobilization, subversive activities, elections and Government-owned grain amounting to three million eight hundred thousand dollars. Secretary Brannan who apologized for calling the investigation "politically inspired" estimated that the shortages will run to more than seven billion dollars.

UNDER THE DOME . . . I am introducing legislation to provide for the acquisition, restoration and maintenance of the burial ground of 256,000 Maryland heroes of the American Revolution. These men are buried in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the cemetery is completely overgrown and unkept. This matter was brought to my attention by Frederick Post No. 78 of the 23rd Division.

Veterans attending a trade school in my district requested my aid in securing the necessary tools to use in learning their trade. I am going into the matter with officials of the Veterans Administration.

With a group of representative citizens of Thurmont, I went over the situation in that community with officials of the Public Health Service—the Surgeon General's office and other related agencies. Thurmont is in a critical defense housing area and will possibly come under certain provisions of Public Law 139 of the 82nd Congress in connection with sanitary facilities projects, etc.

DRY CLEANING HEDGES DRY CLEANING Laundry & Shoe Repair Acro's from BOYLE'S STORE Open daily 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Boyle, Jr., and daughter, of Baltimore, spent Sunday with Mrs. Harry S. Boyle.

The Over the Tea Cups Club was entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Boyle.

My three-year-old goes to play with the three-year-old neighbor girl (always asking my permission) and when I call her home for lunch or dinner she doesn't come. I usually call her once, go to the home and take her by the hand and try to get her home without tears. However, she will pull away from me, stand, and pout. Almost always it ends up with a spanking. I have explained and talked to her so much about it, and she will always say, "I'll try." What more could we do to ease this situation?

A three-year-old is not especially time-conscious and if she is having a good time at play, it is not at all surprising that she should not even hear you when you call, or, having heard, forget very quickly that you have done so. You will want to be patient with her, therefore, as you are helping her to develop the habit of coming when called.

I am not sure from your question whether you give her a warning call. It is important that you do so, letting her know, for example, that in a few minutes she will be expected to come for dinner. This gives her and her playmate a chance to get ready for the breakup of their play if lunch is ready. Even then, she may not come immediately. You will not want to be too lenient at this point, but it would be well to give her a little extra time. After all, a little girl can move quite slowly at times!

I am wondering how you approach her when you go to get her. If you approach her as if she has done something wrong and you get hold of her hand and begin to yank her along, it is not surprising that she should try to pull away and create more or less of a scene that, as you say, usually ends in a spanking. Your very attitude, you see, creates a feeling of antagonism on her part; even a three-year-old doesn't want to be bossed around.

On the other hand, if you should go over, show an interest in what the children are doing, perhaps play with them yourself for a few minutes, and then make a sort of "game" of walking home for lunch, you might have better success.

What should I do to help my child meet situations more positively? She is five years old, only child and grandchild. I try to appeal to her to want to go places without pressure, but she doesn't want to pull away from her own neighborhood group. I would like for her to approach situations more enthusiastically.

Children differ markedly in the enthusiasm and positiveness with which they face situations, such differences being due frequently to temperament or physical energy. It is quite possible, therefore, that your daughter's temperament is different from your own and that she never will enter into situations with the enthusiasm and energy that you think she should manifest.

If this is the case, you will need to guard both against trying to fit her into your own particular pattern of behavior and against giving her the impression that you are disappointed in her because of her lack of enthusiasm. At the same time, you will want to show real approval when she is enthusiastic and positive. If you have not already done so, you may be interested in reading the comments in my booklet, Your Child Today, about individual differences in children.

On the other hand, your daughter's reticence may be due largely to lack of experience with playmates of her own age. An only child is likely either to try to dominate her playmates, or to be shy in their presence. Your daughter evidently does not feel quite secure in the presence of strange children. She prefers, therefore, to remain with the neighborhood group rather than to go to the vacation church school. This is to be expected and although there is no harm in urging her to attend, you should not force her against her will to go.

This does not mean, however, that you should not attempt to get her to want to go to the school. Perhaps this can be done by getting some of the children in the neighborhood to attend it. Visits in the home by those who are in charge of the school and an interesting description by them of what is going to be done at the school may be of help in developing in her an interest in it and a willingness to go.

Hardwood Plywood Unique In Cross-Grain Construction

"Plywood" and "laminated wood" are not the same. To use the two terms interchangeably is an error.

Both plywood and laminated wood are made of several wood layers firmly glued together. In laminated wood, the grain of all layers runs in the same direction. But in plywood, the grain of each layer runs at a right angle to the grain of each adjacent layer.

Laminated wood isn't seen very often. Its main uses are in wooden trusses and arches and in the manufacture of some sporting goods, such as skis and tennis rackets.

Hardwood plywood, on the other hand, is a widely used material. There probably is some hardwood plywood in nearly every living room in America.

Hardwood plywood with choice wood veneer as its outside layer is a mainstay in the manufacture of furniture, television and radio cabinets, wall paneling, and flush doors. It also is used extensively for pianos, harps, boats, airplanes, luggage, railway cars, truck bodies, and store fixtures.

The cross-grain construction of hardwood plywood gives it exceptional serviceability. It is characterized by great resistance to splitting, warping, and swelling.

Your Personal Health "WINTER" COLDS The so-called "common cold" strikes at any time of the year, but it is most prevalent during January and February, and it can be most serious in its effects when it strikes during those months.

ance and give the cold germs a chance to set up infection. As far as we know, the cold virus can exist in the nose or throat for some time without producing symptoms until a sudden chilling or wetting of the skin, or exhaustion, causes a change in the tissues surrounding the virus. We have heard a great deal recently about experiments with vaccines, drugs, or "vitamin treatment" to avoid or cure colds. But these studies are still in the experimental stage and specific preventives or cures are yet to be proved. Meanwhile, a person can and should take measures to avoid colds, particularly during the winter months. The most obvious precaution is avoiding close contact with those who have colds. But this is not always possible. So it is wise for all of us to guard against excessive chilling and undue exposure to rain and snow and try to keep resistance against illness high with sufficient rest and sleep and a balanced diet. If a cold takes hold, the best treatment is still complete rest in bed during the acute stage. Besides taking care of his own health, the cold sufferer who stays home in bed shows thoughtfulness toward those whom he would otherwise infect with his easily caught illness.

Hagerstown Mayor Enters Senate Race

Mayor Herman L. Mills of Hagerstown, this week tossed his hat into the race for U. S. Senator from Maryland with an announcement to the Chronicle. In a prepared statement the mayor declared:

"My decision to enter the race for the U. S. Senate has not been a hasty one. I have talked to many, many people from all parts of the State of Maryland and all parts of the U. S.

"It is clear that the great majority of our people are tired of voting people out of office, only to find they have voted someone else into office, who does not better when he gets to Washington. " * * * If the voters of the State of Maryland choose to trust me to represent them in the U. S. Senate, I promise to fight, with all of my strength, the senseless policy of giving away our money to other nations all over the world. This insane policy has frightened me, as I believe it has frightened you. This ridiculous policy of 'give away and throw away' must stop, I say it must stop. Entirely too much money is being taken away from us in taxes. Stop the giving away, throwing away and waste, and these terrible taxes will not be necessary."

NEOMYCIN WUNDER DRUG FOR SKIN DISEASES WAS DISCOVERED IN 1943

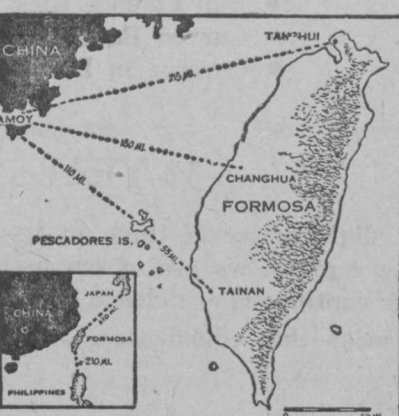

SKIN DISEASE—ONE OF THE MOST COMMON OCCUPATIONAL HAZARDS—
NEOMYCIN KILLS MORE DIFFERENT KINDS OF BACTERIA THAN ANY OTHER ANTI-BIOTIC!

Wonder Drug for Skin Disease

Scientific doggedness has given modern medicine another weapon in its fight on disease—neomycin, a new wide-range antibiotic. Neomycin has created a stir in medical circles. Laboratory tests marked it as the most potent of all the wonder drugs, though unsuitable for injection into the human body. Scientists at the Upjohn Company in Kalamazoo, Mich., continued to work on the drug. They refined it further, stepping up its potency so that much smaller doses might be used. Finally, they tried it in both an ointment and a wet compress to treat pus-forming skin infections. Now, first reports on the clinical use of neomycin show that medicine has another powerful ally. A recent report by Dr. Clarence S. Livingood of the University of Texas, and Dr. Roy L. Kile of the University of Cincinnati, told of their use of neomycin on over 1,000 patients. They concluded that "neomycin was far more effective for most skin infections than other topical agents we have used." Impetigo, infectious eczema and related skin infections were promptly cleared up in three to six days.

Knowledge is Power

1. CAN CHIANG KAI-SHEK INVADE CHINA?
2. WHY DID JOE LOUIS STAY IN THE RING?
3. WHAT FIRM PAID A RETIRED EMPLOYEE $208,000?

(1) "Certainly not," writes James A. Michener in "The Voice of Asia," his new book. Chiang has about 250,000 effective troops, but he has no ships to take them over the 110 miles of ocean which separate Formosa from China. Michener says we should use our ships, supplies and officers to put Chiang's men ashore in China when global war comes, but not now.

(2) The Bomber kept on fighting even though he knew he had passed his prime because he wanted to raise the money to pay his back taxes. Whoever had helped Joe with his income tax had done a poor job, according to Raymond Moley of "Newsweek." Joe had managed his money badly, but he continued fighting despite risks of permanent physical injury because he is an honest man.

(3) Sears Roebuck has a profit-sharing fund through which 104,000 employees now own more than 23 per cent of Sears' capital stock. Employees contribute five per cent of their wages, says John Coogan in "America" magazine, and the company contributes from five to nine per cent of its net profit. Thus one employee invested $7,900 during his service with Sears and retired with $208,000. Several others received more than $100,000.

Self-Employed Persons Must Report Net Earnings

Self-employed persons were reminded this week by W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown office of the Social Security Administration, that coverage under the new law is mandatory and not voluntary.

"We believe," he said, "that the belief that coverage is elective has gained currency here. While it is true that certain professionals are excluded from coverage, the exclusion is by law and not by choice."

Self-employed men and women who are not excluded by law, will have to report their 1951 "net earnings" for social security purposes on their income tax returns this March. The social security tax will be paid at the same time.

In the meantime, those businessmen and women who are now covered for the first time under social security should get social security numbers if they have never done so.

Anyone whose net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more in a taxable year is "covered" under the new law, unless the earnings are derived from the operation of a farm or the practice of an excluded profession. Among those excluded are doctors, dentists, veterinarians, full-time practicing public accountants, and professional engineers. Booklets listing all of the excluded professions can be obtained without cost from the Hagerstown social security office.

Montgomery County Man Seeks Seat In Senate

George M. Moore of Montgomery County this week filed official papers with the Secretary of State as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Sixth Maryland Congressional District. Mr. Moore is resigning his Congressional post as attorney for the postoffice-civil service committee, House of Representatives.

Answering Government economists who blame the farmer for the high cost of living, Mr. Moore stated: "While the cost of living has increased substantially during the past several years, prices farmers receive for most farm products have steadily declined. During the same period the farmer has been forced to pay higher prices for farm machinery, fertilizer, and other manufactured or processed goods."

Mr. Moore stated that it was his earnest hope that every Republican will exercise his right to vote in the primary on May 5.

HOLDING SPECIAL SERVICES

The Elias Ev. Lutheran Church of Emmitsburg, Rev. Philip Bower, pastor, has begun a series of pre-Lenten and Lenten vespers Sunday evenings at 7:00 p. m.

Arrangements have been made for a number of prominent laymen to be guest speakers at these services, the first of which was Past Master Claude O. Meckely of Hanover, as speaker. The pastor will speak this Sunday on "A Final Settlement." President Judge W. Clarence Sheely, Gettysburg, will be the speaker for February 17. Others invited to speak include Mr. Charles H. Grundersdorff of Baltimore, Mr. Merwyn C. Fuss, Taneytown, and Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, Emmitsburg.

The services will be held every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock until Easter, April 13. The Chapel Choir will sing regularly for these services with the Youth Choir singing occasionally and there will be a festival of music by the choirs on Palm Sunday night, April 6.

Obituary

MRS. MURRAY MOTTER
Mrs. Murray Galt Motter, 81, former resident of Washington, D. C., who was long active in civic work there, died in New York Wednesday and private services were held there.

Born in Lawrence, Kans., she was the daughter of the first Episcopal bishop of Kansas, the Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Vail. Mrs. Motter was the widow of Dr. Murray Galt Motter, librarian of the U. S. Public Health Office.

Coming to Washington shortly after their marriage in 1897, Mrs. Motter helped obtain congressional support for District park projects. She also was one of the founders of the National Library for the Blind, now part of the Library of Congress. She was long a member of the Board of Lady Managers of Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital and of the Friday-Morning Music Club. Mrs. Motter was author of a volume of poems and a number of magazine articles.

The deceased is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edgar Grim Miller, Jr., with whom she lived in New York after leaving Washington in 1936; a son, Thomas H. Vail Motter of Princeton, N. J.; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

DOGS DESTROYED

Bailey Goss Picked As Baltimore's Best

Bailey Goss, star of Baltimore's "National Revue" television show, was chosen Baltimore's leading citizen in a Sunday Sun "Curious Camera" interview.

The interviewee was Mr. John Strauch of Catonsville. When asked whom he'd pick as Baltimore's leading citizen, he answered: "Bailey Goss would be my selection. He affords me more pleasure than any of the so-called civic leaders. They are professional leading citizens, and if Bailey wanted to he could probably get the full woman vote if he decided to run for office. I think he's a pretty swell guy, even though I've never met him."

The "National Revue" is sponsored on WMAR-TV by the National Brewing Co. of Baltimore, daily from 5 to 6 p. m., and from 4 to 6 p. m. on Saturdays. The account is placed through Owen & Chappell, Inc.

Guests over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Rosensteel, E. Main St., were Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel and son, Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sprinkle and daughter, all of Baltimore; Mrs. Mary Claudia Rosensteel, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosensteel, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rosensteel, Miss Mary Teresa Houck and Prof. Richard Leonard. The occasion marked the birthday of Mr. Rosensteel.

30 YEARS WITH YOU

Some folks give only slight notice of their anniversaries, but we feel that the folks of this area are entitled to know how very proud we are of our associations with you . . . of our three decades in which we have enjoyed your continuous confidence . . .

May we continue to enjoy that confidence . . . we shall certainly endeavor to deserve it:
