Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Once again I am happy to relinquish space to an old friend of this column, and I'm afraid that I'll have to admit that I concur somewhat in the remarks made herewith. The letter runs:

Dear Mr., Mrs., and Miss Emmitsburg:

We all will have to admit that these are the days of a continuous parade of "drives" for financial assistance to almost everything. They are all important. Yet, right now we have a drive going on—the annual March of Dimes—for financing the continuous fight against Polio.

Outside of a few drives for our local ambulance fund, or for local fire protection, it is very doubtful if any drive can be as close to home as the current March of Dimes. For many local people, polio is not a distant myth—it is a very real nightmare—IT HAS HAPPENED TO THEM. In 1952 polio struck Emmitsburg—hard—and it can strike again—today or tomorrow. When polio hits, it never asks if you can afford it. And few people can. Right there is only part of the job of the National Foundation. Polio is expensive. If caught in time, a life can be saved with proper and very expensive treatment.

An iron lung costs a great deal of money. The hospital charge for living in one is $25 per day—plus other hospital expenses. In one week the charges for the care of one Emmitsburg youngster stricken with this dreaded disease ran $383. Right here is where the National Foundation steps in. Every stricken individual is rushed to the nearest hospital equipped to handle the case. That individual gets the best possible treatment and the National organization takes over the bills. If you can afford to pay some of it, you may do so. If not, the Foundation pays.

During 1952, the National organization spent over $10,000 on Emmitsburg cases alone. Surely, nothing can get much closer to you than this. Polio usually hits youngsters, but there are many records of attacks on adults.

Despite millions of dollars annually spent on research, the finest brains in the medical profession are still compelled to admit that they do not know the CAUSE of polio, or how it is transmitted. The year 1952 did achieve one important goal—a temporary vaccine. Eventually this disease will be licked, just as the now-rare small-pox and typhoid fever have been beaten into near oblivion, but it will cost money, and it can only be achieved through the dimes and dollars of the people.

Your local chairman for the March of Dimes is popular, young Lumen Norris. He has worked hard, organizing this annual campaign. He rightfully felt that the Emmitsburg population would contribute heavily this year due to our own cases of polio. Many gave generously. But . . .

The March of Dimes was originated at the request of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, himself permanently crippled by polio. He was hit as an adult. The national semi-political presidential "Birthdays" was turned into a charity drive to stamp out polio at his request. They became nationwide—not political. And since they raised thousands of dollars elsewhere, Chairman Norris rightfully thought that they might work here, and raise about $1000 in the local drive.

Last Friday a carefully planned, well-publicized dance was arranged here in Emmitsburg. The facilities of White House Inn were cheerfully donated to the cause. A local orchestra was hired, and cut their normal charges considerably. And what happened? A total of only 27 people turned up, although tickets were only $1.50 per person. Those who were there, greatly enjoyed themselves, but WHERE WERE YOU?

Have you given too much? Or can you help a little more. The committee is holding. The drive open a few days more. If you feel just a little bit ashamed for failing to support your community at this very excellent charity dance, you can still contribute. Your check may be mailed to Mr. Norris, or I

J. Norman Flax Again Heads Baseball Assn.

J. Norman Flax, for the second successive year, was named to head the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. at an election held in the Fire Hall last Sunday afternoon.

Other officers elected to office, most of them for the second time, were: Edward Lingg, vice president; Dr. D. L. Beegle, secretary, and Bernard H. Boyle, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are: J. Norman Flax, Bernard H. Boyle, Edward Lingg, Richard Yeomans, Jack Rosensteel, Alex Deatherage, and Dr. D. L. Beegle.

President Flax said that the organization was now seeking playing prospects for the coming season which opens in early May. Anyone interested in making the team should contact him immediately. He stated that prospects appear "good" despite the heavy draft by the armed forces of local talent.

It was announced that a manager will be engaged in the near future. It is understood that one excellent local man has been approached for the managerial position and it is believed highly probable that he will accept it. The organization voted Sunday to affiliate itself with the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Health Department Answers Middletown Officials on Sewerage

The State Board of Health, in an answer filed in Circuit Court, Frederick, asked dismissal of a petition entered in late December by the Burgess and Commissioners of Middletown requesting that an order of the Health Board requiring the town officials to construct a sewage system be set aside.

The answer denies that the order which was served upon the Burgess and Commissioners, directing the installation of the sewer system, is unlawful and unreasonable or is not necessary for the protection of the public health.

The board says an investigation conducted by the employees of the State Dept. of Health has revealed that the waters of Tanner's Branch, its tributaries and other waters in the vicinity of Middletown are polluted by sewage from Middletown "in a way dangerous to health."

Denying that the Burgess and Commissioners are unable to finance construction of the sewer system and sewage system plant, the Board of Health says that under provision of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Middletown officials are authorized to issue bonds, stocks or notes not to exceed two per cent of the total value of all property within the limits of Middletown, as listed and assessed for taxation, in order to finance such improvements: that under provisions in the same article in the code, the Burgess and Commissioners may issue bonds not in excess of five per cent of the aggregate assessed valuation of all property listed and assessed for taxation in Middletown to construct a sewage, drainage or refuse disposal system; that under other sections of the same article the town officials are authorized to create an Authority with powers to construct a sewage system and with powers to issue revenue bonds to finance such construction.

The Board of Health also denies that compliance with the order will place an intolerable financial burden on the taxpayers of Middletown or that the order presents an economic impossibility.

Norris Estimates Polio Drive Returns

Lumen F. Norris, local chairman of the March of Dimes drive, announced this week that the drive is being brought to an outstanding successful conclusion.

Almost doubling last year's effort of $325, Mr. Norris gave an approximate of $600 or better. He attributed the success to funds derived from a dance, door-to-door canvassing, canisters placed in business establishments, contributions by individuals and organizations. He said he did not plan an immediate extension of the drive, but indicated that any late-coming contributions will be mailed to the proper authorities.

When you buy dry beans, you can figure that a pound will provide seven to nine servings.

VFW Hears Results Of Polio Drive It Sponsored

Veterans of Foreign Wars members were informed by Adjutant Lumen F. Norris that the March of Dimes, sponsored by the post, would be a most successful event this year. He said that although complete returns are not yet available that the drive for the dimes and dollars will exceed that of last year.

New members accepted into the post at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night included: Charles A. Karas, David A. Muselman, Ralph V. Knox and Rodrick L. Montgomery. W. Bierly, a former member, was reinstated.

Two letters of thanks were read by Junior Vice Commander William Topper, who presided in place of Commander Fern R. Ohler, absent because of his father's demise. One communication was received from the Sisters of St. Euphemia's School, thanking the post for its part in furnishing Christmas toys and candies to the pupils; the other was from the Vigilant Hose Co., expressing gratitude for its donation toward the purchase of the portable lighting system.

A donation of $25 was made to the Cub Scouts, after an appeal was received by county representatives.

Eugene Kraemer, chairman of the ambulance committee, read the operational report for the past year. In the near future, a new television set will be installed, replacing the one now in use in the clubroom.

Nomination of officers for the coming year will take place at the next meeting of the post, on March 4.

Legion Again Will Sponsor Junior Baseball Team

The Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, will again this year sponsor a junior baseball team for local youths, it was decided at the regular meeting of the Post held Tuesday night. The Juniors expect to secure a berth in the Penn-Maryland League in which they were a member last season.

A donation of $10 was made. It will be given to the Frederick County Cub Scouts. The local Post also sponsors the Emmitsburg Cub Scouts, which is Scoutmastered by Kenneth D. Bond.

The Legion membership was increased this week with the following members voted into the Post: Francis C. Blair, Thurmont; Richard E. Wagonman, Emmitsburg; Donald McGahn, Atlantic City, N. J.; David F. Myerly, Taneytown; James F. O'Hara Jr., Mt. St. Mary's College, and John R. Willard, Thurmont Rt. 2.

The door prize was won by Clarence Shorb.

Commander Eugene Rodgers presided at the meeting at which 55 members were present. Following the business session, refreshments were served by the ladies' auxiliary of the Post.

Father O'Brien Is Transferred

Rev. Michael J. O'Brien, popular assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church for the past four years, was last Saturday transferred by the Baltimore diocese to the Immaculate Conception Church in Baltimore.

Fr. O'Brien came to Emmitsburg from St. Vincent's Seminary, Germantown, Pa., in 1949, and during his stay here acquired a host of friends, both Catholic and non-Catholic.

Rev. John D. Sullivan, pastor of the church, stated that to date no successor to Fr. O'Brien had been appointed. Rev. O'Brien was extremely active in parish activities and his friends wish him every success and happiness in his new duties. His address is 532 Mosher St., Immaculate Conception Church, Baltimore (17).

SURPRISE PARTY HELD

A surprise birthday party was held last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Claudia Rosensteel in honor of Louis Rosensteel. Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosensteel, James Umbel, Philip B. Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Rosensteel and son, Jerry, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sprinkle of Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Rosensteel.

Heads League For Third Consecutive Year

For the third consecutive year Dr. D. L. Beegle Tuesday night was elected to the presidency of the Pen-Mar Baseball League at a meeting held Tuesday evening in the local VFW Home. All clubs with the exception of Westminster and Littlestown were in attendance. Westminster was expelled by default last season and the team disbanded, it was reported. Present was Blue Ridge Summit, a former member of the circuit, who was voted in to replace Westminster.

Other officers of the league elected were George Millen of Union Bridge, vice president, and C. A. Elder, Emmitsburg, secretary-treasurer. It is believed that the same members of the board of arbitration will again serve in that capacity this year. They were Maynard Stuckey of Cash-town, "Cap" Grenier, Hanover, and Henry Hersh of New Oxford, Pa.

The treasurer presented the annual financial statement which revealed that each club will receive an approximate $40 refund from league operations of the past campaign.

Clubs represented Tuesday night were Emmitsburg, Thurmont, Union Bridge, Fairfield, Cash-town, New Oxford, and Blue Ridge Summit. While not present, Littlestown phoned the session that it was willing to remain a member of the circuit.

Another meeting of the group will be held at the local VFW on Monday, Feb. 16, at which time all clubs will be required to post the $50 entrance fee.

GLENN R. LINN

Annual Banquet Of Local Grange Wednesday

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held on Wednesday evening at the Emmitsburg High School with 30 members present and Master Edgar G. Emrich presiding.

The Leaders' Conference was held at the University of Maryland Saturday, Jan. 24. This meeting was attended by the following officers of the local Grange: Master Edgar Emrich, Lecturer Norman Shriver, Secretary Clara Harner, Home Economics Chairman Margaret Gartrell, Ethel Baumgardner and Betty Smith representing the Juvenile Grange. A report was given by each officer attending.

The local Grange voted to go on record as supporting the resolution presented to Pomona by the Ballenger Grange, whereas they go on record as being in favor of deducting from the purchase price of all farm machinery the value of any trade-in purchase; with the computation of the sales tax to be made on the net figure after such computation.

The Pomona quarterly meeting will be held Saturday at Thurmont High School. All committee chairmen are asked to attend, as a special meeting will be held for them.

The annual banquet will be held Wednesday, Feb. 11, at the Lutheran Parish Hall, Emmitsburg, at which time an oyster and turkey supper will be enjoyed by all augmented by entertainment and a speaker for the evening.

Those interested in attending the banquet are asked to contact Edward J. Smith, Sr., committee chairman.

A committee of Richard Florence, Clarence E. Hahn and Chas. R. Fuss will meet with other chapters soon to discuss garbage disposal with the Thurmont Grange.

Lecturer Norman Shriver presented a most interesting program of group singing and general discussion of coming projects for 1953.

A canvas of the membership will be made to determine what type of program should be presented at the meetings.

The Juvenile Grange joined the parent body for refreshments served by the hostesses, Mrs. Edward Smith, Sr., and Mrs. Estelle Zentz.

JESSE R. OHLER

Jesse R. Ohler, 63, Pikesville, died at 10 p. m. Saturday at the University Hospital, Baltimore, as a result of injuries suffered when he was struck by two automobiles while crossing the street near his home Dec. 27. He had been confined to the hospital since that time.

Mr. Ohler was the husband of the late Mrs. Myrtle Ohler, Littlestown, Pa., and a son of the late Hezekiah and Laura Moser Ohler. He is survived by a son, Fern R. Ohler, Emmitsburg; a daughter, Mrs. Terese A. Bollinger, Taneytown; four grandchildren, and a brother, Frank H. Ohler, Taneytown R. D. Mr. Ohler was in charge of the Parks department of Baltimore City. He was a member of the City Employees Union.

Funeral services were held at the C. O. Fuss and Son Funeral Home, Taneytown, Tuesday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Morgan Andreas, pastor of Grace Evangelical Reformed, officiated. Burial in the Lutheran Church Cemetery, Taneytown.

Truck Damaged In Wreck

A truck, belonging to Zurgable Bros., was slightly damaged last Saturday afternoon when it stopped suddenly to avoid hitting a flock of chickens on the Mothers Station-Keysville Rd. The driver of the vehicle, Clarence Wivell, said that when he applied the brakes, the front wheel locked and threw the truck off the highway into a large tree. Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars. No charges were preferred.

HONORED AT PARTY

Miss Mamie Kelly was guest of honor at a party given her last Thursday afternoon by her co-workers at St. Joseph's College. Miss Kelly has accepted a position at Houck's Clothing Store.

The hostesses were: Mrs. Thornton W. Rodgers, Mrs. Paul Keppeler, Mrs. Francis Matthews, Mrs. Donald Stoner, Otto Ulrich, and Donald Cool, who presented her with a chenille bedspread.

Mountaineers Resume Play Here Tonight

Coach Bill Clarke's Mountaineers swing back into action at the Mt. St. Mary's gym tonight against Gallaudet College and then on Feb. 7 meet Washington College also on the Mount floor.

Fresh from their fine victory over Gettysburg when the dopsters had them pegged to lose by 28 points, the Mountaineers should really begin to move in the Mason-Dixon Conference. With a fine 9-5 record overall and a 6-2 conference record, the Blue and White should prove extremely rough now that all but three of the remaining games will be played at home.

Against Gettysburg the team had an incredible first half shooting record of 72 per cent. They cooled off to 40 per cent in the second half but posted a 52 per cent game total with an astonishing 36 goals in 70 tries. Sal Angelo who is rewriting the Mountaineer record books has 244 points for 17.4 per game. He also has 287 rebounds for 20.5 per game. He holds gym records for both points by a Mountaineer with 34 against Gettysburg and rebounds with 34 against Western Maryland. This is an exciting team to watch. It has size to sweep the boards and it also has a couple of short youngsters who can set and drive like mad, and give beautiful exhibitions of control dribbling.

The Mountaineers should be stronger in the home stretch now that Co-captain Ted Kachowski's bad leg has had a chance to heal. Ted was just coming into his own when a split thigh cost him 15 stitches early in the American U. game and stripped the team of his savvy and shooting for both American U. and Loyola.

Ted insisted on playing against Gettysburg and was the main inspiration for the 87-82 margin the Mountaineers posted that evening.

The game with Wilson College, originally scheduled for Feb. 4, has been moved back to Feb. 18.

New Jaundice Cases Reported

Two new cases of infectious hepatitis were reported Monday to Dr. Forbes Burgess, county health officer. Both patients are children, living in Thurmont, and both were inoculated with gamma globulin a few days before they became ill.

Such outbreaks were expected when the county health department with epidemiologists from the U. S. Public Health Service gave immunizing doses of the blood derivatives to nearly 1000 students and adult personnel at the Thurmont school.

Gamma globulin is not effective in preventing the disease if administered late in the incubation period and physicians said some persons included in the mass inoculation inevitably would develop the disease.

The number of new cases of jaundice has dropped markedly in the Thurmont area, where the epidemic started early in January, and there has been no recent appearance of the disease elsewhere in the county, says Dr. Burgess. Health authorities are convinced administration of gamma globulin has succeeded in halting spread of the infectious illness. The blood derivative was sent without charge to the county by the American Red Cross.

Special Service At Methodist Church

A special Worship Service will be conducted Sunday, Feb. 8, at 7:30 p. m. at the Emmitsburg Trinity Methodist Church. Members of the Tom's Creek Methodist Church also will attend this union service.

The pastor, Rev. Byron Keesecker, will conduct the usual morning service at 9:00 o'clock. At the evening service the guest minister, the Rev. J. H. Hartley, of Walkersville Methodist Church, will deliver the sermon. Everyone is welcome to attend this special service at 7:30, Feb. 8.

DEED RECORDED

A deed was recorded this week in the county courthouse for the sale of a property near here, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin S. Long have sold to Mr. and Mrs. Jephtha E. Harwood, tracts aggregating about 191 acres and improvements partly in Emmitsburg and Thurmont districts, consideration being in the neighborhood of $29,000, according to revenue stamps.

Town Council Orders Three More Streetlights

About 1,200 feet of new curbing will be laid in certain sections of the town as a test to further curbing in the future, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Town Council Monday night in the Fire Hall, Chairman of the Board Thomas J. Frailey presiding.

Town Clerk Louise Sebald read the minutes of the previous meeting, presented the treasurer's and tax collector's reports, which were approved as presented.

A letter of appreciation from the Vigilant Hose Co. was read, expressing thanks for the $250 donation toward a portable lighting system which was recently purchased and now in use. A letter of commendation from the Lions Club was read, expressing appreciation of the efforts of the Town Fathers in decorating the town during the Christmas period. Commissioner Charles R. Fuss was highly commended for the excellent work he negotiated for on the town's alleys. It was explained that through his efforts about $3,000 of the taxpayers' money was saved. Chief Robert L. Koontz reported parking meter revenue for January at $272.46.

Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers and Commissioners Charles R. Fuss and Wales E. Rightmire were appointed delegates to the Tuesday night meeting of the Maryland League of Municipalities held in Frederick.

The Council agreed to have three more street lights placed in the corporate limits. It was decided to place these lights at the following locations: St. Euphemia's School, in the rear of the Ora Motter property on E. Main St. and at the steps beside the Rhodes' property on N. Seton Ave. In answer to the many inquiries of local citizens as to why the streetlights had been burning day and night recently, Mayor Rodgers explained that it was costing the taxpayers nothing as the current is purchased on a flat rate basis. Utility officials have been notified.

Council has taken steps to have an ordinance drawn up regulating the speed of motor vehicles in the alleys and specifying a fine to be levied for violations. Under this ordinance, all fines received for infractions occurring in the alleys will go into the town treasury. A priming pump for the town disposal plant was authorized and several tanks of chlorine were ordered. According to plans, most of the new curbing will be installed on and near the Square.

Seeks New Trial

A motion for a new trial has been filed in Frederick County Circuit Court after a decision was recently rendered.

THE EUROPEAN DISASTER

When a crushing disaster of nature strikes Western Europe, as it has done this week, Americans are no longer concerned merely as good neighbors. In recent years, and particularly since World War II, the welfare and the economic condition of nations on the eastern Atlantic have become so intimately connected with our own that anything which affects them is bound to affect us.

Thus the news of the devastating floods that swept over the shores of Britain, Holland, Belgium and France on Sunday will have to be examined in Washington as well as in the capitals of Europe. The raging waters, which, on the basis of incomplete reports, has already claimed nearly 2,000 lives and caused inestimable damage to homes and farm lands, will leave a mark that will have to be considered in the planning of the Atlantic community.

Only last week the Dutch government announced that The Netherlands could do without the $15,000,000,000 in American economic aid which had been tentatively assigned to it for the year ending next June. Now that country has been hit by its worst flood in five centuries, and much time will be needed to recondition the agricultural land that has been inundated by salt water. In London, a correspondent of The New York Times, called the hurricane-driven invasion of the North Sea the "worst natural disaster in recorded British history."

The fact that Americans and Europeans are sharing what amounts to a common calamity is symbolized by the appearance of U. S. service personnel on the casualty lists and the immediate participation of American military units in rescue and relief operations. As tragic as the great tidal invasion is, the joint battle against it by Americans, Britons, Frenchmen, Belgians and Dutchmen will remind them of their kinship in peace as well as war.

Personal Health

Most of us don't think of kidney disease as a childhood illness. Yet it does attack children, most often between the ages of two and four. It is not, of course, one of the more common children's diseases, but it is always serious and sometimes fatal.

Nephrosis is the general name for the kinds of kidney disease found among children. If discovered early, it can be successfully treated.

Its early symptoms, however, are not always easy to recognize and its exact cause is not fully understood. Nephrosis results usually when for some reason the child's body is not able to absorb protein and fat in the normal way. It is known that, if a child has nephrosis, tests show a lack of protein in the blood and an abnormal amount of protein in the urine. If this condition is not treated promptly, malnutrition and anemia may follow. If unchecked, the disease results in edema, or swelling, in certain parts of the body, caused by failure of the kidneys to dispose of accumulated liquids properly. In severe cases, blood pressure goes up and the heart is affected. In these cases, the disease can be fatal.

By lowering the patient's resistance, nephrosis also leaves him open to attack by other diseases, such as pneumonia or influenza.

Early treatment can check nephrosis, usually with the assistance of modern drugs, and sometimes surgery. The disease may last from six months to two years, or longer.

Its earliest symptoms may be nothing more than loss of appetite, irritability, and lassitude. If these signs, not serious in themselves, continue for several days, the best course is to ask your doctor to make a thorough examination of your child, including blood and urine tests.

Other symptoms of early nephrosis include irregularity in your child's urinary habits, blood in the urine, puffy eyelids, swollen abdomen, feet, or ankles. If you spot any of these symptoms, do not hesitate in calling the doctor. Then follow his instructions.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

The first week after inauguration, legislative work in Congress is still not in high gear. I introduced a bill for relief to areas suffering from industrial unemployment which was different from other bills provided that defense contracts should be channeled to industries in such areas in that it provides that all government contracts, not merely defense contracts, shall be channeled to these areas where possible. We had the first meeting of the Judiciary Committee of the House and while nothing official other than the organization of sub-committees was done, there was an interesting discussion on televising committee hearings.

In my opinion the practice of televising and broadcasting Congressional Committee hearings conducted for the investigation of crime or acts which might lead to criminal prosecutions is a dangerous and unwise practice. One of the fundamental principles of our form of government is that the individual is, in the last analysis, more important than the state and that the state is created to protect the individual as well as to punish him. It is also one of our principles that a person is innocent until proven guilty. It has always been our practice to conduct grand jury sessions in secret so that persons accused of crimes will not be harmed by an investigation of the crime. I hold no belief for criminals nor for persons seeking to overthrow our form of government through force and violence but unless we want to sacrifice our own personal freedom and throw ourselves at the mercy of a master state, we had better guard carefully the basic protections thrown around the individual citizens by the fundamental principles of our form of government.

It is my opinion that most of the politicians who want to see television for this purpose, want it for their own personal publicity and promotion and not because they think it will aid in the administration of justice.

The house agriculture sub-committee this week recommended removal of price ceilings on beef and cattle stating that ceilings on beef and slaughtering controls on cattle are contributing to distorted price relationships.

In view of the many speeches made on the floor of the House this week it seems at the moment that price controls soon will be dropped, although there is some question about continuing rent control in critical areas and retaining authority to allocate scarce materials.

St. Joseph's High School News

St. Joseph's High School annual Mission Bazaar will be held in the school auditorium on Friday, Feb. 13. Last year the bazaar was a great success, but let us remember that it would not have been such a success if it were not for the generous help and co-operation of the parents and friends of the students.

The purpose? It is to better the humble adobe of Bolivia, feed starving orphans and establish schools. You, each and everyone, can share in the benefits that we obtain by helping these Bolivians. Come to the bazaar on Friday, make a cake, some candy or anything for the fancy table. Be sure to come early! Share in the happiness that comes from giving! A wonderful time for all!

St. Joseph's High School Library has received a set of the 1953 edition of the World Book Encyclopedia. It is the gift of St. Joseph's High School Alumni Assn and the Jack Loring Enterprise of Frederick. Five volumes of the Guide and Supplementary material were also donated by the Jack Loring Enterprise and Mr. William E. Hardy, district manager of the World Book Encyclopedia. Of particular note in the 1953 edition are the new articles on aviation, automobiles, and petroleum. These show vividly the color principle used by the publishers. There is a complete article on Dwight D. Eisenhower together with all related subjects to the recent election. The faculty and students deeply appreciate these valuable gifts.

"At last the big event of our class has taken place," say the first-year students. Class elections were held Monday afternoon, Feb. 2, with results as follows: president, John Roddy III; vice president, Nancy Capuano; secretary, Arthur Blanchard; treasurer, Joan Watkins; leader and follower, Michael Joy and Arlene Lingg. Upper classmen have expressed the hope that the officers will lead the class to a happy and successful year.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Maryland tobacco growers may have their fields measured before planting time to make sure they can plant their full acreage allotment and at the same time avoid overplanting.

George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Production and the end of his taxable year.

Q.—What items are deductible if I itemize my deductions?

A.—Church contributions, Red Cross, Community Fund, T. B. Seals, March of Dimes; interest paid on mortgages, and other borrowed funds; real estate taxes; gasoline tax of State of Maryland; State of Maryland income taxes; retail sales taxes; medical and dental expenses over five per cent adjusted gross income. If either taxpayer or wife over 65, five per cent limitation does not apply; funeral expenses not deductible; safety equipment; union dues.

Q.—My husband died last year and I received payment from life insurance policies. Is such payment taxable income?

A.—No. Such payment made on life insurance because of the death of the insured is not taxable income.

Q.—How much exemption do I get for my wife and children?

A.—The taxpayer is entitled to a $600 exemption for himself, $600 for his wife and $600 for each person qualifying as a dependent.

Q.—Are tips taxable income?
A.—Tips or other gratuities received for services rendered are taxable income.

Q.—I have a savings account on which I received $23 interest. Am I required to include this interest on my return?

A.—Yes. This interest is a part of your taxable gross income and should be included as such.

Q.—How may I get a refund on Social Security taxes withheld on earnings in excess of $3600?

A.—Such amount may be taken as a credit together with amounts withheld for income taxes.

Q.—May I deduct Federal excise taxes on cosmetics, jewelry, furs?

A.—No. Such Federal excise taxes are not deductible.

Marketing State Committee, said that letters notifying growers of this opportunity were mailed last week.

Measurement before planting is not required and will not take place of the measurement required after planting. The measurement is intended to give growers an accurate measurement of their fields so that they can plant their full acreage allotment under the tobacco price support program, Mr. Martin said.

The service will be charged to the growers requesting it, according to the state chairman. The charge covers the expense of hiring the checker and paying for the additional clerical work.

A minimum charge of $5 will be made for farms having up to three acres of tobacco allotment. For each additional acre, there will be another $1 charged. Charges for fractions of acres will be rounded to the nearest whole acre. For example, an allotment of eight acres represents a change of $10; 8.5 acres is also $10; 8.6 acres will be $11.

Growers wishing to have their acreage checked should make application to their county PMA committee before Feb. 15.

Silver-Gray Roof Draws Eye

Silver-gray asphalt roof shingles are typical of the modern look in building materials. Light-colored roofing draws the eye upward, making a low house seem taller than it actually is.

nance and Improvement says. These reasons are given:

"1.—The roof is the largest continuous area of the exterior. When you look at a home the roof is normally the first thing you see. The roof color must be right if your color concept is going to be right.

"2.—The ranch house brings the roof down closer to the eye—closer to the line of vision—and enhances the importance of the roof color.

"3.—Roof colors are lasting colors. The colors on the sidewalls and the trim may need repainting every four or five years, but re-roofing won't be necessary for many, many years. The roof color needs to be selected with the greatest care."

The magazine says roofing is available today in "many patterns and textures, and in a wide array of colors—in solid colors or in blends, in colors that are gay and cheerful, in colors that are soft and subtle, in familiar deep tones and in exciting new pastels."

The Key to Longer Wearing Hosiery

By KATHERINE FRANK—Cannon Hosiery Stylist—

DO YOU SPEND HOURS of time plus a fortune in money on your clothes and simply take your stockings for granted? Don't let incorrect stockings ruin the effectiveness of your wardrobe. Buy them in correct colors, styles, sizes and lengths for your legs.

Plan a hosiery wardrobe to insure correct stockings for all occasions . . . you'll eliminate that last minute hunt for a perfect pair.

First, jot down your activities and special occasions. Select the right denier and gauge for each one. 45 gauge 30 denier is correct for shopping and business. For dates and evening wear, choose 51/15 or a fine but stronger 60/15. Second, include colors that blend attractively with both your wardrobe. Wear beige tones for warm shades . . . gold, copper, red brown; and the more sophisticated taupes for blues and dark dramatic colors. Third, keep your stockings in a protective case and identify them as to style and color. This way your stockings will always be at your fingertips.

Remember, by choosing a hosiery wardrobe carefully you'll have lovelier, longer lasting stockings . . . stocking you'll be proud to wear. (ANS)

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Q.—My neighbors all seem to start chickens with Ren-O-Sal—why?

A.—Because of the fine start they get with Dr. Salsbury's Ren-O-Sal! Yes, chicks grow faster, feather up better, and mature earlier when they get Ren-O-Sal in the water right from the start! Those benefits mean better birds, more profits. Ren-O-Sal prevents the spread of cecal coecidiosis, too. Better do like your neighbors -- use Ren-O-Sal!

Wettest Year Proves Value Of Soil Conservation

Maryland had one of its wettest years in recent times in 1952 and at the same time narrowly missed drought conditions, according to a review of U. S. Weather data by the state's Committee for Conservation Now.

Rainfall in many sections of the state was 10 or more inches above normal for the year, and there were more than the usual number of "gully washer" rains. Despite the above normal precipitation, however, a severe dry spell occurred during the critical growing period of July 11 to Aug. 2 and another from late September to the end of October.

The unevenly distributed rainfall represented the kind of weather which makes conservation farming especially advisable and profitable, the committee pointed out. Erosion control pays off during hard rains, and stored water in dry periods is just as good as rainfall.

Such practices as strip cropping, contours, terraces and grass waterways hold soil and fertilizer, the committee added. Along with other practices which build up organic matter, they also enable the soil to store water from wet to dry periods and thus maintain plant growth. Good drainage system, particularly in the Eastern Shore, prevent flooding in wet weather and make wet land more drought-resistant during dry seasons.

Last year's hard rains caused an above normal loss of soil and fertility, and the dry spells caused varying degrees of damage to crops. Tomatoes, cantaloupes, and potatoes suffered the most from drought, while second and third cuttings of hay also were affected.

Because of the autumn dry period, pastures and fall grains went into the winter in below normal condition. Other crops were not hurt, and corn yields hit a new high of 46 bushels per acre.

Lack of moisture was most noticeable on the Eastern Shore. The summer dry spell was generally more severe there, and the area produces crops which were more seriously affected. Its sandy type soil also does not retain moisture as well as other soils.

Unofficial tabulations made by the Committee of precipitation at 23 out of 98 stations showed an average of 51.28 inches last year, compared with normal annual precipitation for the state of 41.91 inches. Exceptionally heavy rains of more than three and four inches in a 24-hour period were recorded in April, July, August and September.

Heaviest rainfalls of the year were 5.85 inches at Baltimore on July 8, 5.55 inches at Conowingo Dam on July 8, 4.76 inches at Huntingtown on Aug. 8, and 4.76 inches at Frederick Airport on Aug. 20. Another heavy "gully washer" fell on Sept. 1, when more than four inches in a 24-hour period were reported at four, and more than three inches reported at three more of the 23 stations.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Topper, of Reading, Pa., announce the birth of a nine-pound boy Friday, Jan. 23, in a Reading Hospital. This is the couple's third child and second boy. Mr. Topper is the son of Mrs. Guy Topper of W. Main St. Miss Helen Topper, his sister, is spending several weeks in Reading with her brother and sister-in-law.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 5 — There appears to be the making of another real estate boom here in Florida, although I cannot believe it will run into any such proportions as did the one which started 28 years ago.

Canadian money is coming here — also money from Texas and California. Boom Due Every Generation The bankers here say that a Florida boom, differing in "size," has come every generation. They say that those who lost money in the last Florida boom will not get caught again; but younger ones, who are now around 40, were then too young to know what happened in the last boom. This younger generation, however, is now getting ready to try its luck at investing in Florida.

Already middle-aged people from the North are asking me what to buy. My first answer is to buy for cash only — not on mortgage — and to use the same common sense as they would use when buying land in their own home state. Second — buy something which they could use themselves or rent in case they cannot sell it. Third — buy something which they have first seen; then wait until they get back North again before making the actual purchase; that is, take time to think things over.

Florida Has A Good Future With the exception of the Pacific Coast and the Southwest, very few states can equal Florida for a winter climate. There is also a possibility of discovering oil in any part of Florida — this possibility, however, applies also to many other states. Therefore, in view of this comparable closeness to the big industrial centers of New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and certain other states, Florida is especially well located for those retiring on pensions. Furthermore, the good roads, low living costs and tax advantages make Florida attractive. Hence, I believe there will be much activity here in the building of small homes.

This, however, does not mean that small homes in Florida or elsewhere are a good "speculation." As to agricultural land, I am not an expert judge; but I believe that every state has its advantages and disadvantages for farming. An experienced and hard-working farmer with capital could do well anywhere; while a novice at farming will lose money anywhere. This also applies to raising fruit, or raising cattle, or raising chickens. I have seen more money lost in farming than even in the stock market — and this is saying much! If you buy land for farming be sure it is near a U. S. experiment station.

What I Would Buy My first purchase would be a small home in an average, growing community, with as much land as I could afford. My building would depreciate from the day I bought it; but the land should appreciate. Such a home should lengthen my life, be a good hedge against inflation, and be easy to sell. The demands for such well-located, small homes should increase. It, however, should be within a mile of a grocery store, church and post office, and in a good neighborhood.

"But what next should I buy?" you ask. Well, would you no acreage just because it seems "cheap" at $10 an acre, compared with a $100 per acre in your own state? There is an awful lot of Florida land good only for holding the world together! You are probably not experienced enough to speculate in groves, pasture or farm land. But here is a suggestion. Florida is growing fast. When motoring about, if you see vacant land adjoining a chain store, or factory, or filling station, or even a church, which land can be bought cheap, buy it. It will be needed sometime for parking or for a motel. Native Floridians are blind to this future demand for parking space. Furthermore, this applies to the old-timers of every state in the Union, including the community where you are reading this column. Hence, I say that the "best buy" in every community anywhere, in my humble opinion, is vacant land located so it will some day be needed for parking space.

In ancient times and during the Middle Ages, even reputable authorities often confused Ethiopia with India.

327 Fillies Eligible For Big Laurel Race

The popularity of Laurel Race Course's famed Selima Stakes continues to grow with the years. A check by Frank J. Brady, track treasurer, reveals that 327 two-year-old fillies have been kept eligible for the $25,000 added mile and a sixteenth fall fixture

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Trying to foresee the future is a hobby in Washington today. The soothsayers are unsure. For one thing, the nature of some appointees to high administrative offices is puzzling. Therefore, for the first time in two decades, the platform of the incoming party is being read and re-read doubly to seek clues to the future.

Many see in this platform a return of consumer credit regulations, such as were known in the past as Regulation W.

Several months ago, Congress took away from the Federal Reserve Board the power to control consumer credit. But in the GOP platform, it is stated that one project will be "a Federal reserve system exercising its functions in the money and credit system without pressure for political purposes."

The restoration of the power to control credit will be backed by some of the bigger financiers of the nation. Many of these people claim consumer credit produces inflation, does not encourage personal savings.

On the other hand, those opposed to credit controls take this stand. There is nothing wrong with people buying out of income, the produce of American factories. It is probably an expensive system of distribution due to interest charged the buyer, but this is overcome by the movement of merchandise.

There is no precedent for the American system of installment buying, at any time in the world. However, in no other country in the world has it been possible for so many people to enjoy, and eventually own, so much goods.

Many of the financiers who deplore easy consumer credit in the U. S. are deeply involved in government guaranteed Marshall Plan and Mutual Security financing of European plans.

For example, Communist Tito's Yugoslavia has a commitment of $132,990,620, and almost all of this commitment is held by the Chase National Bank of New York.

Communists are not considered good credit risks.

Credit extended Yugoslavia merely goes to build the state controlled industry of a Communist regime.

But Joe American has a reputation for meeting his obligations. Credit losses on installment buying are less than one-half of one per cent. And both American industry and business gains by this credit system.

Then comes the argument that credit to Joe American builds up inflationary forces.

But just the other day, in just one minor transaction of the MSA, $600,000 in U. S. dollars was allocated to buy copper in Canada to send to Denmark.

Many Washington observers feel the biggest single defect of the Federal government in approaching problems of credit and inflation, is the neglect of government to consult with those who know the subjects.

The nation's independent bankers and the nation's independent businessmen, who work closely with the people of America, have a "grass roots" picture unlike those engaged in international financing. These are the people who must live by, for, and with the American economy.

through the forwarding of the second payment of $40.

This is a new record for the annual January ante, surpassing last season's high of 314. Brookmeade Stable's Tritium went on to win the filly classic last October and earn $42,330 out of a gross purse of $55,180.

With 327 now in the Selima, next fall's running should gross even more. A total of 572 then yearlings were originally named for the Selima last May when the initial payment of $10 was due. Since the 327 came in at $40 each, a total of $13,800 in nomination and eligibility fees already has accrued.

One of the most fashionably bred nominees for next fall's revival is a bay filly by Bull Lea-Miss Grillo, named by the Claiborne Farm of Arthur B. Hancock. This is the first foal of Miss Grillo, a popular distance-running mare who scored numerous stakes victories in Maryland a few years back.

The Selima for years has been one of the highlights of Laurel fall meets. It shares the spotlight with the world-famous Washington D. C. International

Compact House L-Shaped

A rectangular house is generally less expensive to build, but an irregularly shaped dwelling is often considered more attractive. A way to resolve these conflicting desires is found in this Plan No. 208 of architect Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest, Ann Arbor, Mich.

The main body of the house is a 24- by 38-foot rectangle, complete in itself. The garage and a screened porch, under the same roof, are connected to the house proper, giving the whole structure an L-shape.

Vertical siding is used, except on the gable ends. The up-and-down lines help to make the building seem taller. The architect recommends a fire-resistant asphalt shingle roof. If light-colored asphalt shingles are chosen from among the variety of solid and blended colors available, they also will draw the eye upward and increase apparent size.

The interior is oriented toward the rear for privacy's sake. The living room opens onto a large terrace. The screened porch would serve admirably as a children's play area in rainy weather. It is open to view from the kitchen, enabling the mother to keep her children under observation.

The house has a basement, and a stairway leads up to second floor space. First floor area of the house is 860 square feet, a figure useful in estimating building cost. (Detailed building plans are available from Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest, Ann Arbor, Mich. Refer to Plan No. 208.)

YOU and YOUR CONGRESS

Sponsored by the Local Chamber of Commerce
WASHINGTON — Congress is reasserting itself.

It is insisting anew that the three branches of the Federal government shall in fact comprise a tripartite body. And it is demanding that in this governmental tripod its own leg, which sometimes in the past has tended to shrink, shall measure up to the others to the last inch.

Clear evidence of that is found in the close scrutiny by the Senate of Mr. Eisenhower's Cabinet and sub-Cabinet nominees, the officials who will direct the administration of laws made by Congress. This careful examination of Republican Administration nominees it should be noted, was bipartisan.

Regarding the nominees for top civilian posts in the military establishment, there was bipartisan Congressional insistence that the executive branch comply with a law covering executive appointments. It forbids Federal officials to do business with firms in which they have any direct or indirect interest.

There was no serious move in Congress to change or set aside that law to accommodate certain nominees—none of whose personal integrity was questioned. Congress firmly insisted that the Executive Branch abide by the rule that Congress had made for it.

The new self-reassertion of Congress is even more evident in extension of the President's authority, due to expire April 1, to reorganize the executive departments, subject to House or Senate veto.

There was no question among most members of Congress but what it should be renewed and identical two-year extension bills were duly introduced in the House and Senate. The Government Operators Committees, however, quite unexpectedly approved identical amendments giving Congress more control over Mr. Eisenhower's reorganization efforts than it had over Mr. Truman's.

The change would be effected by requiring only a simple majority vote rather than a Constitutional majority vote in the House or Senate to veto an Eisenhower plan.

A Constitutional majority, which was required to veto a Truman plan, is a majority of all members—thus, 49 Senators, 218 House members. A simple majority is a majority if a quorum (the required number of members that must be present when any official action is to be taken). A Senate quorum is 49, of which 25 would be a majority; a House quorum is 218, of which 110 would be a majority.

All Republican members present and three Democrats on the Senate committee voted for the change in the veto requirement. It was approved by all Republican members of the House committee, except Rep. Church (Ill.), who abstained, and opposed by all Democratic members.

Before Mr. Eisenhower asked that his plans be vetoable only by a two-thirds vote of both the House and Senate.

stituting the first "break" between the new Republican President and the Republican majority leadership on Capitol Hill.

What that appraisal overlooked, however, was that in the Democrat-controlled Congress of 1949, when Mr. Truman's reorganization power was being considered, it was only after a 30-day deadlock with the House that the Senate finally backed down reluctantly and agreed to requiring veto by a Constitutional rather than simple majority.

Moreover, Mr. Truman had asked that his plans be vetoable only by a two-thirds vote of both the House and Senate.

Congress denied Mr. Truman that latitude, which Franklin D. Roosevelt had enjoyed. Mr. Roosevelt, after his sweeping 1936 victory which carried many members of Congress into office, asked for blanket authority to revise the executive departments to his liking and was denied it by a bipartisan Congressional coalition in 1937.

Prior to 1937, only a simple House or Senate majority vote was needed to veto a Presidential reorganization plan.

Thus, Congress now is heading back toward the position of relative authority in this matter which it held nearly 20 years ago

It's a Man's World, Too!

IT'S ALWAYS NICE to have "a man in the house"—especially when he occasionally likes to experiment in the kitchen and test his culinary skills on an unusual meal. More and more modern men have stopped thinking of the kitchen as a woman's world exclusively and have stepped in to see what talents they have for fixing a hot and hearty meal. A wonderful weekend treat for any fortunate wife—or maybe an anniversary or birthday surprise—is a good, substantial breakfast prepared by her husband, a breakfast that's different from weekday morning menus.

If you're such a husband, why not serve a breakfast that starts off with a ready-to-eat cereal such as Grape-Nuts Flakes, topped with a generous variety of fruits and served with milk. No trick to that at all. But then watch your wife's delight when you stride in with a big platter of fried apple slices and savory Fried Wheat Meal! The wheat meal will have to be cooked the day or night before so it will slice easily. Fried to a golden brown and topped with an ample amount of maple-blended syrup, no more satisfying breakfast could be devised. Of course, you'll make good, strong, man's coffee and plenty of it. After a meal like that, any wife would claim she had an extraordinarily fine husband, and we'd be inclined to agree!

FRIED WHEAT MEAL
½ teaspoon salt 2½ cups boiling water
¾ cup Post's Wheat Meal

Add salt to boiling water in saucepan. Add cereal slowly, stirring constantly. Bring again to a boil and cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour into cold wet mold. Let stand overnight, or until cold and firm.

Turn from mold. Slice in ¾-inch slices and saute in small amount of fat, turning to brown both sides. Serve with maple-blended syrup. Makes 6 servings. Left-over cooked wheat meal may be used in this way. (ANS Features)

A Labor Leader Speaks

The greatest need in the realm of management-labor relations is for mutual understanding and trust. When management understands what is in the minds and hearts of the employees, when the employees understand the problems confronting the "boss" in our competitive enterprise system, and when each appreciates the viewpoint of the other, then we have a foundation upon which to build labor-management trust and achieve greater productivity and a better living standard for all.

Freedom Forum XIII at Harding College went a long way toward getting at the problem of mutual misunderstanding and distrust between these vital groups who hold the future progress of America in their hands. Among our conferees were representatives of organized labor, the church, education, big business and little business from 26 states. Since every American citizen has a stake in the management-labor problem, I'm devoting the next few columns to the lessons we studied at the Forum.

Good Citizen

Keith Claxton is a labor leader. He's 30, a native of Boone County, Mo., a high school graduate. In December, 1942, he began work at the A. B. Chance Co. plant at Centralia, Mo. But a month later he was in the U. S. Army. Keith saw combat service on three fronts. Twice he was wounded. At war's end, he returned to A. B. Chance and, in time, became an apprentice machinist. He is now a journeyman machinist in the plant. Keith is president of Local 821 IUE-CIO. He's a member of the local VFW post, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Baptist Church, and is chairman of the local scout committee of the Boy Scouts of America. He has three youngsters—two boys and a girl.

Speaking to the cross-section Forum audience, containing preachers, teachers, management and labor representatives, he said: "You probably wonder what are the ambitions of a man like me. I suppose I'm not much different from you. Usually we fellows in the plant want to better ourselves, make more money, have a higher standard of living for ourselves and our families.

No. 1—Job Security

"The first thing the average employee wants is job security. When a man feels his job is secure, not subject to someone else's whim, he's going to be a more loyal employee and take more interest in his job, the quality of the work he does. Most of the men I know who work in factory jobs today naturally want a good standard of living; they want a job which enables them to make payments on a home, to have an automobile, to lay aside a little for vacations, recreations, and the education of their children. After security in importance are good living wages and opportunities for advancement. Progress or promotion, or recognition of a job well done, usually helps a man's morale. All of us like to feel that what we're doing is worth while.

"Retirement security is another important consideration in every worker's mind. None of us can go on working forever. We like to think that while our youth is slipping away we are helping to build financial security for our old age. People want to be financially independent of worry in their old age, and actually most of them would like to be building that security while they are able to work, so they can be independent in their old age, through their own efforts, and not have to depend on some government agency or some other form of government aid.

Responsibilities, Too

"Likewise it would be difficult for me to rest easy if I had to worry about my hospital bills, medical bills and medicine, plus the fact that, with such bills, I might not have the money to pay for groceries and the other necessities of living. I honestly feel that industry today could make a worthy contribution by taking the lead in this field of insurance coverage, helping to find and establish an insurance program that is good for themselves and their employees.

Keith Claxton's presentation was broad. Besides stating the working man's desires, he described the working man's and the union's responsibilities to the company. Harding College is printing his full presentation, together with that of his boss, F. Gano Chance, president of A. B. Chance Co., on the sub-

LITTLE THINGS about the Stars
TELEVISION - RADIO - HOLLYWOOD
By GEORGE LILLEY

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Three years ago, shaggy, bulking actor Charles Laughton tried something different in the way of entertaining. He walked out on a stage practically bare of props carrying an armful of books. Then he began to read, standing up, sitting down, sitting mood hit him, smiling in his cherubic way, maybe stopping in the middle of a story to crack a few jokes or recite some limericks. The book was the Bible, or sometimes it was Dickens, Twain or Thomas Wolfe or Thurber. You know of the act's success; we simply wish to tell you that now it is on television. "This Is Charles Laughton" is the title, 15-minutes weekly. Check your local logs for the day and time.

Charles Laughton

Radio's long-time favorite, "The Guiding Light," is, to date, the only daytime serial to make a successful transition to television. The story of "Meta Roberts," a woman who brings tragedy into the lives of those she loves, is seen and heard via CBS-TV these afternoons; the radio show continues afternoons on the kilocycles of the same network. Jone Allison, long a busy queen of the daytime stories, moved over to TV to play the involved role of "Meta." Jone, when attending a Friend's seminary, made a pact with her dad saying she would quit acting should she not find success in two years and go to college. She's never gone to college, this girl.

One of the most successful comedy-situation shows has resumed on television. The situation: a well-meaning blunderer, working as a riveter in an airplane factory, and a wife who understands him. The show, of course: William Bendix' "The Life of Riley" (Fri. nights, NBC-TV). This one, a long-time radio hit, has made Bendix and the name "Riley" virtually synonymous. But Bendix has a habit of looking like a "natural" in almost any role—cook, copper, fighter or crook. Yet it didn't come easy. New York born, 47, he dabbled in scores of jobs without luck, including bat boy (N. Y. Giants) and groceryman. When he got his first Hollywood part he was 35.

William Bendix

ROTATING STARS

The rotating star system has been one successful answer to a worry of television program makers—that the same personality, repeated week after week on the TV screen, could become tiring to viewers. One of the most popular of big star rotators: NBC's Saturday night "All Star Revue." This one alternates Tallulah Bankhead, Martha Raye, George Jessel and Jimmy Durante, brings in as guests such names as Milton Berle, Phil Harris and the Ritz Brothers. With the addition of an important new sponsor, Band-Aid Plastic Strips, "All Star Revue," supposedly will become even starrier in 1953.

1. HOW CAN BACHELOR GIRLS FIND HUSBANDS?

2. WHY DO EUROPEANS DISLIKE AMERICANS?

3. WHICH BOXER HAS NEVER BEEN KNOCKED OUT?

(1) In his book, "The Single Woman," John Laurence suggests some solutions for the spinster. He advises single girls to worry less about getting married and concentrate more on the good things life offers them as single girls. Then they can behave more naturally in company, and men will become interested in them. Sometimes shyness makes girls avoid men. Others are afraid of men, or hold jobs which keep them away from men.

Some fall in love with men who are married and, therefore, unavailable. The law of supply and demand has something to do with finding a mate. Single girls can find out where men are more plentiful than women and move to that part of the country.

(2) A Frenchman answers the question in a letter to the editor of the Atlantic Monthly. "Our prejudices spring from a very base motive: we are sordidly jealous of your material wealth. That's all, and it accounts for everything."

(3) Rocky Marciano, the world's heavyweight boxing champion, has never been knocked out. On the other hand, he has knocked out 38 opponents in his 43 professional fights, reports a Catholic Digest picture story. Before the championship bout with Jersey Joe Walcott September 23 at Philadelphia, Rocky had never even been knocked down in the ring.

There are nine players of French descent in the National Hockey League. Four of the nine play for the Montreal Canadians.

Treating the poles with fungi-resisting preservatives means longer uninterrupted service to telephone subscribers, at lower cost.

How many times each day do we "pass by on the other side" of those about us who would be comforted by just a smile or a pleasant word from our lips! How can we who profess to love the Saviour neglect to show compassion and mercy ourselves?

There's nothing like a good old-fashioned square dance for relaxation and fun. It's most enjoyable when everyone knows the steps and co-operates by following the caller. Sharing a party line is pretty much the same thing. Keeping calls reasonably brief and spaced is one good step to neighborly co-operation for the benefit of all.

Fungi luncheon

You'd think that by the time a tree got to be a telephone pole it would have escaped its natural enemies. It wouldn't be so if the fungi had their way. At the Bell Laboratories, telephone scientists study the eating habits of these fungi in bottles to learn the best way to defeat them. Treating the poles with fungi-resisting preservatives means longer uninterrupted service to telephone subscribers, at lower cost.

New Dairy Stall Receives Patent

The U. S. Patent Office has issued notice of allowance of claims for a new type dairy stall which is a radical departure from the conventional stall or tie stall usually found in dairy barns. The new design combines greater comfort for the cow with increased convenience for the dairyman, without sacrificing stable sanitation. The stall also is designed to prevent stabling injuries, thereby reducing the incidence of mastitis. Dairymen who have observed this equipment in use consider it a significant improvement over current stabling methods. The inventor is Howard J. Merrill, of State College, Pa.

feel certain that any member of the Chronicle staff will accept your cash in any amount and see that it is properly turned in. Polio may hit you, next.

In closing, I'd like to say a few words about our beloved Mayor, Thornton W. Rodgers—a man so well liked that he can't get out of the job of running the town—he gets re-elected without having his name on the ballot. At the last meeting of the Lions Club here, the Mayor was a guest and spoke briefly in support of the March of Dimes drive. Since he said it in public, I do not think he would object to being quoted:

"I am heartily in favor of this move to stamp out polio," he stated. "Probably of all of you present, I have a better reason than anyone to desire to live to see it eliminated. Why do you think I walk the way I do?"

It couldn't happen to you—or could it? Give until it hurts.

Sincerely,
PHIL SHARPE

Thurmont Man Faces Manslaughter Charge After Deaths

Paul Freshman, Thurmont, was charged this week with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the automobile deaths of two persons.

The victims, James Kelly and Delmar Delphay, both of Thurmont, died last Thanksgiving while riding with Freshman when his car struck a concrete bridge on U. S. Route 15, about five miles north of Emmitsburg.

A Gettysburg coroner's jury attributed the accident to excessive speed.

Mrs. Lottie Gall Blood Recruiting Chairman

Official appointment of Mrs. Lottie Gall as recruitment chairman for the Red Cross blood program, was announced yesterday by Mrs. Herbert Heston, in charge of recruitment for Frederick County.

In making the appointment, Mrs. Heston said that it was in recognition of the tireless efforts of Mrs. Gall in cooperating not only with the blood program, but all other Red Cross activities in the Thurmont area.

In accepting the appointment, Mrs. Gall said that she hopes to double the enlistment of people in her jurisdiction who are willing to participate in saving lives on the battlefield and in preventing the spread of disease here at home.

"In recognition of the service just performed for the people of this part of the county by the Red Cross, in donating enough gamma globulin to immunize more than 1,000 of our people, and thereby checking the spread of hepatitis, I believe that everyone who has ever given blood before, will do so again and I am hoping that each one will get a friend to come along to do likewise," Mrs. Gall said.

"This is one case in which the blood program has come home to us, and directly or indirectly, has affected the lives of everyone in the Thurmont area and has prevented the spread of a disease throughout the county and the entire state. It takes a thousand pints of blood to provide 1,000 anti-hepatitis injections, so we should try to give that back that others too, may be helped. Of course, in addition to the gamma globulin, these same pints of blood provided a supply of red cells to cure amnesia, fibrinogen to clot and heal wounds, albumin serum to overcome shock and save the lives of the battle-wounded as well as the other medicinals that make each pint which is not used for direct transfusion of service in some 30 life-saving ways."

Value Of Blood On Home Front Proves Worth

The Red Cross blood collection program for Frederick County civilians will make its first test of local patriotism on February 19 and 20 of this month when the Bloodmobile visits Frederick. Other collection dates in the county will be announced, but those who can give blood to save American lives, whether on the first visit or at some later date, should register now, according to Mrs. Herbert Heston, who is in charge of recruitment.

The campaign to have Frederick County double its production in order to meet the extra demand projected for 1953, was given impetus last Monday when the Camp Detrick personnel made the largest number of donations ever given at the camp in one day. Because of limitations on equipment and the fact that the Bloodmobile could be on hand for one day only, enrollment of volunteers was closed after 325 had enlisted, Captain Joseph Schwimer, the camp personnel officer said.

"Certainly this should be an inspiration to the civil population of the county, said Mrs. Paul Willard, chairman of the Red Cross blood program. "Veterans of the two world wars and of the Korean conflict as well as representatives of all groups and ranks at the camp, including scientists from other parts of the world who are helping in the research at Detrick, rolled up their sleeves and joined the line. Among them was a Marine sergeant who owed his own life to the fact that he had been given 40 transfusions in Korea, an army medical corps captain who had received 14 transfusions after having been wounded in the same battle area, and a lieutenant who had been saved by injections of the shock treatment known as albumin serum obtained from human blood. Another man, whose brain was repaired after receiving a coating of another human blood product, fibrinogen film, also was on hand to give his life-saving fluid so that another such as he, might be saved.

"When we see men like that giving their testimonial and doing their share as well, we cannot help feeling that every one of us who can do so, should register immediately, in order to contribute to the miracle of preserving life on the battlefield and fighting disease and epidemics on the home front," Mrs. Willard said.

Already people have registered with the Red Cross from every part of the county. Early action was spurred, according to Red Cross officials, by the fact that through use of the serum, gamma globulin, the spread of hepatitis in the county was checked. This serum was provided by the Red Cross and was obtained from that portion of blood which was left over when plasma was separated to obtain material to fight shock and for certain other purposes necessary to the resuscitation of the wounded.

In this connection it was pointed out by Mrs. Willard that only those who have had that form of yellow jaundice known as infectious hepatitis, are ineligible to give blood. Other varieties of jaundice do not create material in the blood stream which would bar them from participating in the privilege of donating. However, the number of donors in the Thurmont, Creagerstown and Walkersville areas, may have to be curtailed temporarily, because the people who have had anti-hepatitis injections cannot give their blood until 10 months have expired after the immunization.

O God, Thou knowest my foolishness; and my sins are not hid from Thee.—(Psalm LXIX, 5.)

Sometimes we are able to fool other people; maybe we can even fool ourselves for a moment. We can put up a righteous front for others and for ourselves. But God is not fooled, and our conscience knows it.

How much stronger, happier, more useful we are when we live fully and openly in the Lord, instead of vainly trying to hide from Him!

My Neighbors

By BILL PAULSON

"A small town is a place where the neighbors watch your wife for you. The same principle makes local government the best and least costly."

Pert, vivacious Pat Carroll, who appears on CBS-TV's lively comedy program, the "Red Buttons Show," wears her hair in a short, graceful bob — and she finds the many brief, head-hugging hat styles this year especially suited to a short haircut. . . . However, the small hat is good with almost any style of coiffure — and always, no matter how it is designed in a current mode — has the advantage over large brimmed or high crowned hats of contributing a great deal to the neatness of one's grooming.

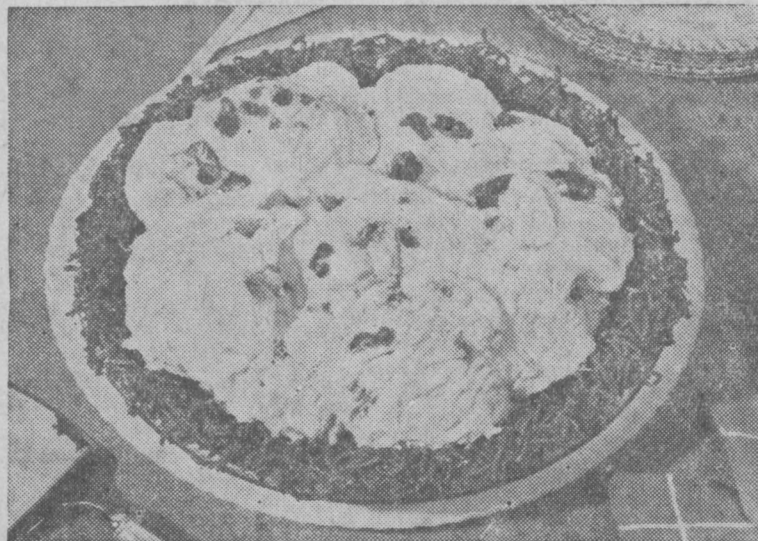

The cloche hat this year is gracefully designed for a small face and delicate features—the wide, fitted band with a single wing of feather along one side is wonderful for a sophisticated looking girl with bolder, stronger features. . . . The soft cloth hat with drawing at the back to snug it in around the base of the head is perfect for a page boy bob, or a chignon.

Pat Carroll feels that no girl's daytime costume is really complete if it is not finished off with a hat. It's lots simpler, often, she admits, to go without a hat, but for a chic, finished look to one's general grooming—a hat is a must, and the tiny hat is always correct.

Frederick Merchants Retain Friday Opening

The Retail Merchants Division of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon passed a resolution continuing Saturday night closing at least through Easter and calling for greater unity among the merchants.

About 50 merchants were present for the meeting called by Chairman William H. Bartgis at the Francis Scott Key Hotel. After an opening statement that he had received a number of calls pro and con, the original decision to open on Friday night and close on Saturday, the chairman called for discussion in an attempt to achieve unity among the merchants.

After considerable discussion Girard W. Gallup, past chairman presented the motion suggesting also a promotion program. He was seconded by Harry P. Phillips. A majority passed the motion. A number of those present entered the discussion stating that they had taken customer polls or had figures on business increase or decline.

Penny's manager, Arthur Marshall, said he thought the closing was originally passed without thought of the customer. He stated that he was primarily concerned with the rural consumer and was opposed to continuing Saturday closing.

Sam Maples Jr., Kemp's Store, was among those who revealed that business has kept up and that Kemp's show an increase for the month of January as compared with January 1952. He asked for further time and an effort to promote the idea.

After the vote a request was made that all dissenters go along with the decision and make an effort to promote Friday night for shopping.
