BY ABIGAIL

Our town was tragically shocked this week when it learned of the accidental shooting of a former businessman. In the past two weeks we have lost about half a dozen of our most respected citizens. It appears as though sorrow and tragedy comes in cycles. We were fortunate, indeed, these past few months with practically no deaths in our community. But then death struck with force these last two weeks wiping out half a dozen, to bring up the average to normal, I suppose, for a community this size. My profound sympathies to the bereaved families.

Another shock which we received this week was the report of a polio case here which fortunately didn't materialize as such. Just the word polio, seems to strike like a knife at your heart. After last year's epidemic the community is sensitive about the word, with the pitiful victim's just now returning to their homes after being hospitalized almost a full year. We await these hot summer months with abated breath just hoping that the word isn't mentioned, and when it does come out it is like an electric charge as it spreads like wildfire throughout the community. After six cases, one fatal, last year, we just can't seem able to forget the dreaded occurrence. We hope to God that we have seen the last of polio in this district, and as far as that goes, in the whole universe.

It is now official! After several months of negotiations we finally have landed a factory here. Yes, most of us knew that the deal was hanging fire for some time, but we had been disappointed and disillusioned so many times in the past that we were fearful as to the outcome of this one. Well in the near future a great many of us won't have to get up an hour earlier and return home an hour later and we'll have more time to spend in the garden or with our families, because we'll be working right here at home, where we can walk home to lunch. Just when operations will begin is hard to say, but it is believed to be in the near future. I am of the opinion that we shouldn't stop our activities here. We must keep right on trying to induce others to locate here if we are ever going to be able to keep our youth here at home. There must be more diversified industry where a field for college and high school graduates is available and a higher standard of living can be realized and maintained. We have the natural facilities here for such industry and should promote them to the utmost.

Must have been a real thrill for those members of a Thurmont church to be able to sit during services with the President. By now most of you know that "Ike" attended services last Sunday at Thurmont. It is rumored that another nearby town had out the plush carpet with the expectation of having Ike as a visitor, but much to their chagrin Ike attended the Thurmont services. Wouldn't be at all surprised myself to have him (Ike) drop in some Sunday morning for a little religion at one of our local temples, but then I understand that he was invited to come to Thurmont and I doubt seriously, although I could be very much wrong, if ever an invitation from Emmitsburg has ever been extended him. Perhaps it is just as well. I don't want to infer that he wouldn't be welcome here, but then when too many communities and organizations get to pestering the Chief Executive he might make up his mind to a point where he won't show up at any of our nearby towns. After all, a gal gets tired of too many "So-and-So Slept Here" signs.

Breeze Up, a grand old gal, a great pacer-racer, has finally earned her reward . . . a retirement to green grass and oats and also to raising a family, I am told. The great money-earner, owned by an old friend, Joe Eyer, Thurmont sportsman, went into retirement this week and is now resting at leisure in the lush green meadows of the Eyer estate in

Baseball Team Splits Two; Tie For Second

Frank Apichella's Pen - Mar Baseball League team lost an opportunity to gain ground in the pennant race of that circuit Saturday when it bowed to the league-leaders, Union Bridge, by a 10-5 score, which temporarily dropped the local club into third place. However, Sunday Emmitsburg climbed into a tie for second place by virtue of its win over Blue Ridge Summit by a score of 4 to 3.

Union Bridge ran its unbeaten winning streak to 10 straight by capturing a pair of holiday contests. Saturday the Bridgers routed the locals 10-5 at the former's field and Sunday defeated New Oxford 6 to 3 at Union Bridge. Cashtown divided two games. Blue Ridge Summit smothered the enemy with a 17-hit attack, 12-8 Saturday at Blue Ridge. A new league season record for the league was set by Cashtown Sunday when it buried Thurmont 22 to 7 at Cashtown. Thirteen Thurmont errors played a big role in the top-heavy scoring. Thurmont won Saturday's game at Littlestown, 8-3. The New Windsor-Littlestown tilt, scheduled for Sunday, was postponed until Wednesday night.

Local Man Not Afflicted With Polio

Physicians at the Baltimore City Hospitals said early this week that Lewis Orndorff, 29-year-old Emmitsburg father, is not a polio victim. A diagnosis of meningitis, far less serious than infantile paralysis, was made after a series of laboratory tests, it was announced by Dr. Forbes Burgess, county health officer, who received the reports.

Baltimore physicians have found Orndorff to be suffering from benign lymphochorio - meningitis. He has no paralysis, his general condition has improved markedly since being hospitalized last Friday, and City Hospitals staff expects he will be able to return home soon. Recovery from this type meningitis usually is rapid and without residual symptoms.

The disease is believed non-communicable. It appears infrequently and physicians attribute it to a virus infection. It is probable that many cases go undiagnosed, says Dr. Burgess.

In the early stages it presents symptoms similar to those of non-paralytic polio and for that reason Orndorff's illness for a time was considered possibly to be infantile paralysis.

His progress in the hospital has been very satisfactory and his complete recovery is expected, physicians say.

For good flavor, milk should go into the refrigerator promptly after delivery.

Traffic Light Installed On Square

The Town Council of Emmitsburg met in regular session Monday night in the Fire Hall, President of the Board Thomas J. Frailey, presiding over a full council. Town Clerk Louise Sebald presented the reports of the tax collector, treasurer and secretary and all were approved as presented.

A $50 donation to the ambulance maintenance fund was authorized. A delegation of property-owner of N. Seton Ave., appeared before the Council, registering a complaint about conditions resulting from the recent resurfacing project done by the State Roads Commission. The objection is being taken under advisement.

It is planned to engage a sanitary engineer to study the present and future sewerage needs of the town and to try and arrive at some estimate as to the approximate cost of extending the present sewerage lines to the disposal plant on Creamery Road.

The Council disclosed that engineers from the State Roads Commission and the Potomac Edison Co., had agreed to install the traffic light on the Square which was completed yesterday.

The Town Solons ask the co-operation of all those owners of vacant lots to have them cleared immediately of weeds and rubbish. It is pointed out that the town lot on S. Seton Ave. and the alleys all have been recently cleared and that annually many complaints from hay-fever sufferers are received. An ordinance makes the action mandatory for those owners to keep their lots cleared of weeds.

Three Motorists Pay Fines

Three motorists, two local and one a Hagerstown man, paid fines for motor vehicle code violations before Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan this week after the charges were preferred by Chief Robert L. Koontz.

Harry E. Naile, Hagerstown, paid $11.45 for exceeding the 25-mile-an-hour speed limit through town. Sherman R. Anderson, Emmitsburg, paid two fines on two charges, the first of which, was operating a vehicle without a driver's license, for which he paid $10.75. On the second count, a hit-and-run charge, he was assessed $25.75 by the magistrate.

Eugene M. Lingg, Emmitsburg, was arrested and charged on three counts and paid fines on all counts. Operating a motorcycle with speed greater than reasonable and proper, $11.45; speed too great for existing conditions, $11.45 and failing to obey a written legal summons, $11.45.

Poisonous Snake Bites Helper

John Firor, 16, of Thurmont, an employe of the Snake Farm located south of Thurmont on Rt. 15, was treated at Frederick Memorial Hospital Tuesday evening for a poisonous snake bite on the finger.

Firor, it was reported, was bitten by a cotton mouth water moccasin at his place of employment about five o'clock and was rushed to the hospital in the State Police ambulance driven by Trooper Donald Tucker.

He was given snake venom and was held overnight for observation, and his condition was reported as good.

President 'Ike' Attends Church At Thurmont

President Eisenhower attended church services in Thurmont last Sunday and joined in a prayer for "new faith, new strength, and new courage that we may win the battle for peace."

The President, spending the Fourth of July week-end at his Camp David cabin in the Catoctin Mountains, motored about six miles to the Trinity Ev. and Reformed Church.

Mrs. Eisenhower did not attend and remained at the cabin with a group of house guests. Navy Lieut. Hugh L. Culbreath accompanied the President.

Eisenhower's attendance was not made known, but a small group of churchgoers was on hand to welcome him at the door.

The President joined with the congregation in reciting "Uncle Sam's Prayer," which was written by Conrad N. Hilton, president of the Hilton Hotels Corp.

Brothers In Germany

Pfc. J. Kenneth Joy and Pfc. Joseph C. Joy, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Joy, S. Seton Ave., are stationed in Berlin, Germany. The two brothers have been together in Germany since December with the Sixth Infantry Regiment.

Kenneth has just recently returned from a two-weeks' furlough touring Italy and Switzerland. In Italy, he visited points of interest in the cities of Florence, Rome, Capri, Naples, Assisi, Genoa, Pisa, and Milan. In Switzerland, he went up Mt. Pilatus, 7000 feet in a climbing car and he also attended a colorful festival in Lucerne.

Financial Aid Now Available For Polio Victims

Financial assistance for Frederick County polio patients and their families was assured this week by Judge Alton Y. Bennett, chairman of the Frederick County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. "If and when our funds should be exhausted by an epidemic, which we do not expect, the National Foundation will forward to us as much as is needed to care for county polio patients.

"The money thus forwarded would be from funds contributed to the March of Dimes in other localities, just as we in Frederick County contribute to the Foundation so that aid may be sent elsewhere if needed."

The address in Frederick County is 102 W. Church St. Frederick and telephone number is Frederick 1210.

SUMMONED FOR HEARING

A ten-day notice has been issued by Justice of the Peace Snyder of Gettysburg, to Donald E. Flax, 201 E. Main St., on a charge of driving too fast for road conditions. A car operated by Flax skidded during a rainstorm Monday afternoon and struck a pole about four miles north of town of Route 15.

M. G. Keilholtz Fatally Injured By Shotgun Blast

Maurice Keilholtz, 57, well-known Emmitsburg native and until very recently operator of the White House Inn, died Tuesday evening at 9:30 o'clock at Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, of accidental gunshot wounds in the chest and abdomen.

Mr. Keilholtz had almost miraculously survived the gaping wound for several hours and retained consciousness until found, transported to and admitted in the hospital.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County, Pa., coroner, rendered a verdict of accidental death due to gunshot wounds in the chest and abdomen.

The accident with his own shotgun occurred in a field about a half-mile south of Emmitsburg adjoining the property of the Sisters of Charity.

Mr. Keilholtz went fishing in Tom's Creek near the site of the accident in the afternoon. He took along a shotgun in case he saw any groundhogs on his way to and from the creek.

His family were not too alarmed when he did not appear punctually at 5:30 o'clock for his supper and waited more than an hour for his return. His wife and Greta Keilholtz, a son, strolled to the creek to find him. Unable to locate him there they crossed the field where they discovered him fatally wounded but conscious along the fence where he met with the accident while sealing the barricade.

The Emmitsburg VFW ambulance was called and took Mr. Keilholtz to the hospital. His family physician was called but said nothing could be done to save the man. Mr. Keilholtz told his family and nurses at the hospital how the accident occurred, before he died.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Beulah Long; three sons, Greta and Clifford O., Emmitsburg and Kenneth W., in the Navy, stationed in Florida; also one grandchild. Also the following brothers and sisters: Benjamin K., Middletown, Md.; Murray K., Augusta, Ga.; Mrs. Edith Havenor, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Carrie Diller, Detour; Mrs. Beulah Dorsey, Detour and Mrs. Maude Snook, Philadelphia, Pa.

The deceased was a member of the Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg from where funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Philip Bower, pastor, officiating. Friends may view the body tonight at 7 o'clock and tomorrow from one o'clock until the time of the services. Interment in Creagerstown Cemetery.

Trooper First Class Kenneth D. Bond this week announced his resignation from the Maryland State Police effective as of July 23.

A veteran of 10 years' service on the force, Trooper and Mrs. Bond and young sons, made their home here several years ago after previously living in Thurmont.

Trooper Bond has patrolled the Emmitsburg - Thurmont districts since coming to this area in 1946. He plans to enter the insurance business in the near future and will continue to make his home here.

The state trooper, who enjoys a wide circle of friends here, is a veteran of World War II and served for 25 months, part of which was overseas in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater and Guam. During his stay with the police force he did investigative work. The popular trooper, in his spare time, acts as Cub Scout master.

Josephine M. Doyle, Lynchburg, Va., president of the Alumnae of St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, recently appointed Mrs. Landon B. Edwards Jr., the former Catherine Overman of Emmitsburg, who now resides in Richmond, Va., as first vice president of the association.

Before the appointment, Mrs. Edwards served as public relations chairman of the Alumnae Assn. In the present office she will be in charge of class organization; however, she will terminate the current public relations projects which she initiated.

Miss Doyle, who was elected first vice president in May, assumed the presidency upon the recent resignation of Mrs. Bartholomew W. Hogan of Washington, who has moved to Hawaii where her husband, Rear Admiral Hogan is serving a current tour of duty with the U. S. Navy. A wedding reception was held at the home of Leonard Baker, brother of the bride. Following a wedding trip in Virginia, the couple will reside in Emmitsburg.

The bride is employed at Moore Business Forms, Inc., and the bridegroom is employed by Cambridge Rubber Co.

William Adams returned to his home after spending a week in Philadelphia, Pa.

Factory Sold; New Owners To Operate Here

Announcement was made this week of the sale of the local Hanover Shoe Co. factory building located adjacent Community Field, to the Jackson Shoe Co., of Hanover, Pa.

It was widely known that negotiations had been in process for some time and the sale had been expected momentarily, however it was not officially announced until late Wednesday evening.

The Emmitsburg Lions Club has been negotiating with several firms interested in locating here the past several months and took an active part in the actual transactions. The Chamber of Commerce also had several likely prospects but for various reasons could not cause a deal to be consummated.

The factory, idle for over the past year, can accommodate well over 100 employes, but just what the requirements of the new owners will be is not yet known, but it is believed that the number employed will be near that figure, if not surpass it in a short time.

Company officials were reticent about announcing a probable opening date, but it is felt that operations will commence in the very near future, just as soon as equipment can be set up and a few alterations made.

New members accepted into the Post were John D. Ohler, Francis J. Ruth, Raymond W. Shauf and Richard L. Shorb.

The membership decided to hold their annual crab feast the last Friday in July.

The door prize was won by William Baker.

Power Poles Damaged By Blaze

A dangerous fire gave Thurmont firemen a hot Fourth of July thrill last Saturday morning when about 50 large power poles of the Potomac Edison Co. blazed under a high voltage line to Taneytown.

Firemen succeeded in subduing the fire without serious damage to the power lines, which it was feared might fall on the firemen.

The new 60-foot poles, soaked in creosote, caught fire when a brush fire spread along the H. & F. trolley tracks in Thurmont.

The poles were in two piles and ignited very rapidly. The flames leaped high in the air, creating excessive heat under the 42,000 volt power lines.

Both Thurmont engines pumped thousands of gallons of water for some time before bringing the blaze under control.

Some of the poles can probably be salvaged, company officials said. The poles are valued in excess of $1000.

Disturbing Your Sleep

At a university in the Southwest recently I addressed the student-body and faculty on the subject of our basic American principles and how they have worked to the advantage of everybody. In the address I emphasized the general lack of understanding of the infiltration tactics of Communists and their fellow travelers in all phases of our national life. The reaction of the student-body and faculty was exceptionally fine. We had a stimulating question and answer period. An unusually keen awareness of the Communist threat was evidenced.

On other occasions, however, I have listened to people who sought to minimize the importance of Communists and their work in our educational institutions. In fact, some declare there is no real evidence of such infiltration. The present investigations by the Internal Security committees of Congress are, they contend, wholly unnecessary. This is because not enough people are reading the reports of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee investigating "Subversive Influence in the Educational Processes." They are available to any citizen.

School Head Testifies

Here are some excerpts of testimony given under oath: Senator (James O.) Eastland: What is your judgment about the number of Communist teachers in the city schools in New York?

William Jansen (Supt. of the New York City schools): We fired 73 (after investigations were made) and have eight under suspension. We have 180 more that we have under investigation (in elementary and high schools) . . . a few can exert an influence far beyond their numbers.

Senator Eastland: Doctor, does the Communist carry out his activities solely in the classroom?

Dr. Jansen: The Communist teacher can continually find things wrong with the United States and never find anything wrong with the Communist countries. Things of that kind can go on and unless you are present you can't detect it . . .

They extend their activities far beyond the classroom. Fired Seven Reds

Senator (William E.) Jenner: (Do) the schools and colleges of the United States play a vital part in the worldwide struggle against communism and totalitarianism?

Dr. H. D. Gideonse (President, Brooklyn College): (After testifying he had fired seven professors who had refused to tell the Senate Subcommittee whether they were Communists) I think the role of the schools and colleges is probably more important even in this cold war state on the verge of hot war than the Armed Forces themselves. The colleges, concerned as they are with the top-drawer of talent for the country—2.5 million in college right now—are obviously either consciously or unconsciously a very important part in clarifying national will and purpose. If this is a struggle, in the end, about ideas, then clarifying national ideas of self and what our purpose is, is vital. Then the Communists are right in making so much of trying to confuse the . . . clarity of national thinking by their infiltration (into the schools and colleges).

A National Service

Senator (Willis) Smith: Doctor is it your feeling that the work of this committee has been worthwhile?

Dr. Gideonse: Your committee has been . . . very helpful to us at Brooklyn College because you have helped us to remove some (Communist professors) whom we couldn't do anything about under the law. Now you have supplied the evidence that made it possible to do it. I think one of the reasons why there is such a flurry in some circles about the operation of this committee is that there is so little understanding of the nature of the job done. (End of Judiciary Subcommittee excerpts.)

The fellow travelers, who never join the Party but eagerly carry on its work, are 10 times more numerous than actual card-carrying Reds, according to J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director. The congressional records show that approximately 3000 professors from 600 colleges have been affiliated more than 26,000 times with Communist fronts.

Not all these professors are fellow travelers, nor is the great body of American education contaminated with communism. However, a reading of the first seven transcripts of the Judiciary Subcommittee testimony will disturb the sleep of almost any American citizen. The committee is rendering a national service.

YOU and YOUR CONGRESS

Sponsored by Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce

WASHINGTON — Your household electric bill may be lower a few years from now as a result of atomic energy development.

This is but one of the possibilities that arises as Congress turns for the moment from the destructive to the constructive aspects of nuclear energy.

Gordon Dean, retiring chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), told the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy the other day that economic industrial power would be produced by nuclear energy "in a very few years—certainly less than 10."

Several weeks of hearings on the subject of industrial use of atomic power have been opened by the Committee, which was established under the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 to keep an eye on the atomic energy program.

These hearings open the door on what may prove to be the most important industrial story of the present century.

Purpose of the hearings is to determine in what respects, if any, the Atomic Energy Act should be revised to permit greater participation of private industry in atomic energy development, subject to adequate public safety and security.

The Congressional inquiry is directed mainly at the subject of development of atomic energy for industrial power.

Rep. Sterling Cole (R-N, Y.), chairman of the Committee, says the hearings "aim at giving the Joint Committee, the Congress and the American people a more comprehensive and accurate understanding of the problems which our nation faces in developing atomic energy for peacetime power."

"All the Committee members agree that such an understanding must precede any examination of possible changes in the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 . . ."

"Every member of the Committee trusts that partisan considerations will not enter into the framing of national policy toward the development of atomic power."

"Our nation's atomic enterprise represents a $12 billion investment. In developing atomic power, we must not risk the loss of the momentum which has been so dearly bought with Federal funds. At the same time, we must guard against overly-hasty formulation of national policy. The implications of atomic power for the future well-being of our country are simply too far-reaching to permit ill-considered action."

Some private companies have participated in atomic power studies under Atomic Energy Commission security clearance.

The Detroit Edison Co. and Dow Chemical Co. have told the Committee they are prepared to construct an atomic power plant without substantial Federal subsidy or guarantee.

The Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago reported that two of the three experimental reactor power plants it has designed "are close enough to economic feasibility to warrant going ahead with construction of a full-scale plant."

A reactor—also known variously as a furnace, stove or machine—is the mechanism that controls the release of nuclear energy. It releases heat which could be used to generate steam that would drive electric power generators.

Commonwealth Edison suggested some sort of partnership between industry and the Federal government in the development of an atomic-electric program. The AEC says the government must remain in the research portion of the program.

The AEC's contact point with industry is its Office of Industrial Development, established May 1, 1952. In its first year, that office was approached by 365 industrial groups, according to W. L. Davidson, its director.

"American industry is keenly and actively interested in exploring possible commercial applications of nuclear science," Davidson says.

"American industry feels that atomic science and technology constitute a field it simply cannot afford to ignore."

It has been this same enterprise of industry in other new

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

Your government has just ended another year of spending more money than it took in — the deficit was a whopping $9 billion.

During 20 of the last 23 years the national government's expenditures have exceeded revenues. Beginning in 1931 when the deficit was just a half billion the debt has increased year by year, until the total deficit adds up to over $250 billion.

The Eisenhower Administration is doing everything it can to get the Federal budget back in line—and it is not an easy job.

The problem of ending the annual deficits is one to which no one has a clear and simple solution. The taxpayers are paying more taxes than ever before, but government spending has increased just as rapidly and the gap between what is paid in and what is paid out has continued to widen.

For the fiscal year which began last week the Administration estimates that we will have a deficit—this time only a little over $5 billion—and they have set their sights for a balanced budget in 1955.

The three things which contribute most to the Treasury's use of red ink are defense spending, foreign aid, and farm price supports—three places where it is extremely difficult to stop Federal spending.

The Senate action to end the Mutual Security program in June 30, 1955, would help some in making ends meet, and the $5 billion appropriated for next year could be just the difference between a balanced and an unbalanced budget.

The Administration is faced with the problem of either balancing the budget or requesting Congress to increase the legal limit of the Federal debt—now set at $275 billion.

That is a request which the economy minded Administration would be most hesitant to make—and a request that I am confident Congress would be very reluctant to grant.

One way the Administration might avoid using red ink at the end of each year is to revise its bookkeeping system. The present system is to include all government expenditures — capital and current — together. No business and, no state government that I know of, operates this way. Included along with current expenditures are such things as buildings constructed, public improvements, loans, etc. — items that in a business would be considered capital improvements, not to be wholly charged to one fiscal year.

Revisions of the accounting system can put the budget in a more favorable light, but the only way to balance it is to spend no more than is received in taxes. To that end the Administration is committed and perhaps by the 1955 fiscal year the Treasury can start using black ink again.

Your Personal Health Column
 A Good Neighbor
 The neighborhood gossip has it that Mr. Jones who just moved into the white house up the block is a former tuberculosis patient. There's a lot of talk. People are wondering if it's safe to have him around. Is it all right for our children to play with his? Can we have him over for dinner, sit next to him in church, or work with him at the factory?
 It is safe to be around an X-TB patient if his doctor has recommended his discharge from the TB hospital. Give Mr. Jones a chance and he will be one of the best neighbors we have. In fact, he's one of the few people you can be sure won't be passing on TB germs. He has had the disease and been cured. You can know for sure that he is non-infectious. The most serious danger of infection comes from the person who has TB but doesn't know it and from the person who knows he has TB but won't follow doctor's orders.
 One of the most important things Mr. Jones learned in the TB hospital while he was getting well was how to live so that he would never again break down with TB, never again be a danger to those around him. When you have him over for dinner, you may find that he'll go home earlier than the rest of the crowd.
 He has to be extra careful about getting enough rest and sleep. He has to stick to his "training rules" as carefully as an athlete preparing for a big game. He sees his doctor frequently and has regular X-rays to make sure that he is in good health. The kind of work he does and the kind of recreation he takes have been carefully chosen so that they will not overtax his strength.
 As an ex-patient, Mr. Jones has some real problems that we can help him solve. Some people may be afraid of him. There may be some prejudice against him due to ignorance. It isn't easy to adjust to normal living after a long period of illness. He wants more than anything to be a good neighbor, a self-supporting, useful member of the community. We can help by showing people that we welcome him to the neighborhood. We can help by encouraging his efforts to live as he must to prevent a recurrence of the disease.

BABSON
 Writes . . .

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 9—Readers have already seen in the newspapers that the Federal Reserve Board has reduced the reserve requirements which banks must carry. This, directly or indirectly, should help every reader of this column, I wish to explain what it means.

New Federal Reserve Ruling
 For the past few years every member bank has been required to keep on hand a reserve of various percentages, up to 24 per cent. In other words, when you deposited $100 the bank heretofore has been able to loan only about $80 of this money. This amount varies with different banks and I merely use this figure as a variable illustration. The large city banks have one percentage for reserves; those of the smaller cities have another percentage; but every member of the Federal Reserve System has a required percentage.

During the Eisenhower Administration, when so much less government money has been freely passed out by government bureaucrats, there has been a tightening up all along the line. Farmers have found it more difficult to borrow on crops; builders have found it harder to get mortgages; and every loan by local banks has been scrutinized more carefully. This is all a part of an honest attempt by the new Administration to prevent inflation. In most cases, it has not been due to any change of laws, but to a more careful handling of the government funds.

Eisenhower Does Not Want A Depression
 The above more businesslike program has caused congressmen to get thousands of letters from readers complaining that applications for loans were being turned down. For fear that this, combined with the droughts from which some sections are suffering and the unsettled foreign situation, might bring about a depression, these Congressmen have been pestering the White House. Probably your Congressman was one of these. Ike in effect replies to them that he will not resort to former carelessness and will continue to handle the government's money as if it were his own; but if they want to change the rules in a fair and honest manner he will abide by them.

As a result, the Federal Reserve Board, by changing the Reserve requirements, has made it possible for banks to loan more money. Congress has also changed the law enabling veterans to buy more expensive homes with a down payment which could be as low as five per cent. Congress is in the process of also loosening up restrictions along other lines.

As a result, any farmer, builder or businessman who now has an honest need for funds can—with reasonable security—get a loan. There, however, must be no politics connected with the loan.

What About Money Rates?
 Some months ago, I forecast in this column that interest rates would be higher. All the large city banks have since then raised their rate of interest. So have banks of many smaller cities. Whether your own local bank has raised its interest rate since President Eisenhower was inaugurated, I do not know. If, however, it has not already done so, it should "count 10" before it does so now. One thing is certain, when you now attempt to borrow money from your local bank and are refused, the bank can no longer blame it onto the new Administration. I hear this is a popular excuse for turning down loans or raising interest rates by banks in Democratic communities!

When the new Administration came into power you were obliged to put up a margin of 75 per cent when you bought listed stocks, in case you did not pay in full. Soon this percentage was reduced to 50 per cent, which should have made stocks go up in price, but they did not rise. This is a good illustration of how prices are really controlled by fundamental conditions and not by legislation. The old Law of Action and Reaction still continues. "You can lead the horse to water, but you can't make him drink." As to the general business outlook, I am still cautious; but if your local bank doesn't now loan money more freely to good citizens it cannot blame the Federal Reserve or bureaucrats. The reason will be that businessmen have decided to depend more on honest

Baltimore Raceway Set For 20-Night Meet Next Week

Baltimore Raceway, the next stop on the Maryland circuit of 80 nights of pari-mutuel harness racing, is ready and waiting for the opening of its fourth 20-night trotting session Monday night.

Drawings for Monday's inaugural card will be held Friday morning, Racing Secretary Pres Jenuine said. He stated that the most outstanding opening night program in the history of the Pulaski Highway and Martin Blvd. oval is in prospect. The important $3000 Cockeysville Pacing Stake will hold the spotlight.

Track President C. William Hetzer reports that the finishing touches have been made on improvement projects at Baltimore—76 new stalls, repainting of clubhouse and grandstand; beautification of the infield, improvement of parking areas, and resurfacing of the racing strip.

Until this year Baltimore was rated the second fastest of Maryland tracks on the basis of the 2:02 established by Guinea Gold. The oval has been geared by engineers for faster performances, in the hope that Guinea Gold's return in this year $10,000 President's Cup Pace on July 21.

Baltimore officials are expecting record betting this year, especially on the daily double. Post time has been moved to 8:30, and a new daily double closing of 8:20 give fan 20 minutes more than previously.

S.S. Card Is Valuable Asset

"If you have lost your Social Security card and have not applied for a duplicate, you may be doing a grave injustice to your family," W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown Social Security office said this week. "In the event of a worker's death, his family should know his Social Security number, or in the event a worker changes jobs, his new employer will need a record of his name and Social Security number as shown on his card."

"In the event that a worker fails to show his employer his Social Security card, his family may suffer both a loss and a delay of benefits. Wages reported without a Social Security number may not be credited to the worker's account. Thus, by seeing to it that his employer is reporting his wages under his correct name and Social Security number, the worker renders a considerable service to himself and his family."

"The true value of a deceased worker's Social Security account to his family is, of course, the amount of insurance benefits that may be paid. How soon the payment of these benefits can be made is also important, as most families, upon the death of the 'breadwinner,' find themselves in immediate need of funds. The amount that is payable to the worker's family is based on the record of wages earned by the worker. If all wages are reported under the correct name and Social Security number of the worker, his family may expect to receive prompt payment of all Social Security insurance benefits to which they are entitled," Mr. King said.

They wouldn't treat a dog like that!
 A family owned a dog who learned to bark when the telephone rang for that household. If the family was in the yard, the dog would run to the porch and bark. Then the ring was changed. A few days later, the owner of the dog reported that his dog was developing a case of nerves over the fact that the family had another ring. It wasn't an easy problem to solve, but the telephone people did it. They found a way to restore three rings to that number and now the dog's as happy as, well, a dog!

"Certainly makes things easier!"
 That's what one customer says about courtesy on the party line. She's perfectly right, of course. People respond to courtesy and consideration. And on the party line, you know what that means. Better service for everyone. So remember to space out your calls so that others may use the line in the intervals . . . keep them reasonably brief . . . surrender the line to others in case of emergency . . . and hang up properly when you're finished calling. Before long everybody on the line gets the idea—and returns courtesy for courtesy.

Fairfield Soldier Stationed in Japan
Pvt. Stanley E. McIntire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. McIntire of Fairfield, Pa., recently arrived in the Far East for duty at the Army's 2nd Transportation Major Port in Yokohama, Japan.
Pvt. McIntire is an administrative clerk in the adjutant general's division of the port.
Through the port flow thousands of UN troops and millions of tons of war cargo. It is commonly called the Army's "Gateway to the Orient."
The Fairfield private entered the Army last November and was stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., until he received overseas orders.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Prospect of a record supply of wheat—about 48 per cent higher than normal—has forced Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to invoke marketing quotas on the 1954 wheat crop, according to announcement received by George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.
Farm law makes marketing quotas mandatory when the supply of wheat exceeds 30 per cent of normal. Prospects of a 1.13 billion bushel crop, plus a carry-over of 580 million bushels, put the total supply about 48 per cent above normal. This is the first time in 10 years that marketing quotas have been called for.
Before acreage controls can be placed in effect, a national referendum of wheat growers must be held. Under the present law the deadline for the voting is July 24, but legislation is now pending to extend the date to Aug. 15.

In Maryland, the PMA has conducted much of the preliminary work necessary to determine quotas for the State's wheat growers. The Extension Service of the University of Maryland will work with PMA to present facts on the effect of marketing quotas to farmers before they hold the referendum. Farmers will then weigh the advantages or disadvantages as they see them, and vote accordingly.
Under the present law, total national wheat acreage would be reduced to 55 million acres—22 million acres less than grown this year. However, the minimum quota proposed by a House bill last week provided for a minimum quota of 66 million acres. A pending Senate bill prescribes a 62 million acre quota.
If two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum approve quotas, farmers who plant within their acreage allotments will be eligible for government price supports on their wheat at 90 per cent of parity.
Farmers who grow less than 15 acres or 200 bushels of wheat will be exempt from restrictions according to the present law. A proposal now in Congress would raise the minimum to 25 acres or 400 bushels. In this case many Maryland growers would be free of the acreage restrictions.

The Alert Poultryman ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Q. Does Ren-O-Sal benefit older birds as well as chicks?

A. Yes, since birds keep on developing up till and after laying, it's a good idea to continue Dr. Salsbury's Ren-O-Sal in the water. You know that Ren-O-Sal provides faster growth and feathering for chicks -- it keeps stimulating development through the growing period. Helps earlier laying, too. For more profit, keep up Ren-O-Sal treatment.

Almost always in the money, a gal a guy could depend on when things were tough, she had just recently won her one hundredth race only to learn that there would be no more days of hard work and disappointment, but deep down in her iron heart I know she relishes the thought of retirement... the goal of all of us. A really and truly great campaigner, she just can't miss being a great mother.
