You can say what you think about the youth of our community, but this female typewriter jockey is of the opinion that if given half a chance to help themselves the youths will make the best of the opportunity. I think we all are aware that there isn't too much for youths to do in the way of entertainment or recreation during the summer months. It's almost too hot to bowl; those without cars can't even take in a movie and good swimming spots are distances away, so you can expect a little unrest among a small percent of them.

But there is a much larger element which if given the opportunity, will make substantial citizens of themselves. I have in mind a small group, at the present time, which is trying to help itself, but needs your assistance badly. The Junior Police Club, which was just recently organized, is really an organization that can and will help your boy. It was formed primarily for the welfare of the boys who have to make their own recreation, there being just about nothing for them to do, and who are learning the traits of good citizenship and fellowship very rapidly.

To prove their interest in their community the boys have taken the task of manning the place spotting tower atop the local VFW building. Last Friday evening a state alert came through requesting immediate manning of the tower. Hardly anyone was available for the quick alert which caught the town napping. In 40 minutes the Junior Police had organized a crew and were on duty 24 hours a day from that time on. Really folks, this is a lot more interest than most of the adults can display, so why not give the boys a helping hand?

On the other hand, I am sad to write, there is an element which needs helping also, but won't accept any type of advice, and sooner or later they will run afoul of the law. These are the vehicular cowboys who keep sick and elderly persons awake these hot nights by sliding tires, speeding up and down the streets and alleys at breakneck speed one minute and then ganging up the next to blockade the narrow alleys. Reports have it that at least seven of these cowboys formed a chain of seven cars the other morning, driving as slow as was mechanically possible without stalling their engines and touring the streets and alleys. How'd you like to meet seven cars in a row poking along slowly in what really should be a one-way alley? It's aggravating to say the least. They are of the opinion that they are breaking no law but they are due for a rude awakening one of these mornings. A bit of advice to the parents of these boys who have cars and who already have been issued warning tickets. Be sure they are not driving the streets from one to four a. m. There's no good can come of it!

Seems as though the weather is the chief topic these days and I might just as well finish this column on this favorite topic. To say the least, it is highly unfavorable at this writing. Two straight days of 100-degree weather, Tuesday and Wednesday, just about knocked the props from under your correspondent and I know most of you suffered equally. Well anyway I see those poor people in Kansas endured a temperature of 121 Wednesday and that sort of makes me feel ashamed of myself for complaining. Electric utilities claim the highest current consumption in history as every conceivable device that could cool is being put into action. Several companies report their circuits heavily overloaded as the result of so many people putting into use extra refrigeration, fans and air-conditioners. Just wait 'til you get your light bill this month, oh brother!

I see where Frederick has put into force restrictions on the use of water in that city. I was told the other day by a person who should know, that the water table or level in this district has dropped four feet in the past three years. This is a serious drop-and can be construed as some sort of indication that if things don't change, in a climatic way, that some day shortly we'll be known as

Lions Sponsor Community Chorus Concert

It was voted unanimously Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club to sponsor an early fall concert by the Teen-Age Community Chorus, the affair to be held on the steps of the Emmitsburg Public School. The Lions obligated themselves to stand the expenses of all music needed for the occasion, which will be held the latter part of August. Proceeds from the affair will be donated to the Memorial Hall Assn.

President J. Ralph McDonnell presided at the meeting and Secretary-treasurer Robert E. Daugherty presented the annual financial report. The president is expected to announce the standing committees at the next meeting.

Secretary Daugherty announced that the annual horse show will be held on Sunday, Sept. 26 and said he will appoint the various committees in the near future.

Guests at the meeting were Charles B. Harner, Commander of the local American Legion Post, and two boys which the Legion and Lions Club sponsored at the recent Boys' State Congress held at Annapolis. Both boys, Michael Miller and Stanley Hartle, representing St. Joseph's and Emmitsburg High Schools, respectively, gave enlightening reports on the Congress which the Lions thoroughly enjoyed.

A communication from St. Joseph College Alumnae Assn., inviting members to attend the exhibition of one of four road signs advertising the two local colleges and Emmitsburg, was read, and the six Lions agreed to attend the display on Saturday, July 31, at St. Joseph College at 3 p. m.

Air Raid Alert Due This Month

Sometime this month aircraft of the Strategic Air Command will appear in the sky over Maryland to give the radar and observer posts a workout, according to Shirley Ewing, State Civil Defense Director.

"This will be one of a series of 'controlled training exercises' designed to test the effectiveness of all Air Defense Command units. Emmitsburg has two air plane spotting centers, one atop the VFW building on the Square and another at Neighbours Esso Station.

It is understood that the Ground Observer Corps will be alerted and urged to have all its posts manned.

Maryland has 165 posts in operation, although some are not manned round-the-clock, Mr. Ewing related.

The Strategic Air Command is under the leadership of General Curtis Le May and will be responsible for counter-attacking any aggressor with atomic and hydrogen bombs.

"It is a combined test in all phases of air defense—the first that's been held to my knowledge in the country," Ewing said.

Paper Lauds Drill Team

The local Francis X. Elder Post, No. 121, American Legion drill team and color guard and the Taneytown Drum and Bugle Corps traveled to Baltimore by chartered bus last Friday evening, July 9, where they participated in the American Legion convention parade. The local drill team and the Taneytown Drum and Bugle Corps have been operating as a unit recently.

The two outfits were given special recognition by the Baltimore Morning Sun, dated Saturday, July 10, which stated "that the two units, the Taneytown Legion Drum and Bugle Corps and the Western Maryland Honor Guard (Emmitsburg Drill Team) marched through each other with endless precision and a markedly Latin accent in the band music." In the reviewing stand were Governor McKeldin and acting mayor, Arthur B. Price, and high dignitaries of the American Legion.

Those who participated in the parade from Emmitsburg were George Ashbaugh Jr., Charles B. Harner, Thomas C. Harbaugh, William Izer, Paul McLaughlin, Joseph Rodgers, Louis F. Rosensteel (secretary), Andrew T. Shorb, Everett C. Chrismer, T. Eugene Rodgers (drillmaster), Leo Topper, Donald Topper, Carol C. Topper, Curtis D. Topper, Edgar Wastler, Eugene Sprankle, William Weidner, Edward Houck, John Sites and Robert Miller.

No prizes were awarded.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hahn, Emmitsburg Rt. 3, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carrie Marie, to William David Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Boyd, Gettysburg Rt. 1.

Miss Hahn will be a senior student at the Lutheran Hospital of Maryland School of Nursing, Baltimore, this year.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Vigilant Hose Adds Members

Thirty members were present at the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, President Herbert W. Roger presiding.

President Roger reported on a directors' meeting of the group and announced that the current mortgage has been satisfied and that the organization was now free of debt.

A committee consisting of Eugene Kraemer and Guy R. McLaughlin was authorized to purchase an American flag and a Maryland State flag for the meeting room.

George Danner and Howard F. Carty were appointed to obtain the names of all firemen who served and is serving in the armed forces for an honor roll.

Chief John J. Hollinger reported one fire recently and that was at the George Gartrell farm, east of town, where a wheat field had become ignited. No damage was reported.

The firemen announced they will participate in two parades, one in Reisterstown on July 28, and one in Thurmont on Aug. 5.

Two new members, Donald A. Tucker and Charles Olinger, were admitted to the organization. Fire Chief Hollinger placed a request for additional new hose in the near future.

Old-Time Burgess Described As "Frisky"; Was Also Plasterer And Jailbird

It may be of some interest to the readers of the Emmitsburg Chronicle to give here a few incidents in the life of a certain Bill Otter, one-time resident and Burgess of Emmitsburg, as given by him in his book entitled: "A History Of My Own Times," and published in Emmitsburg, Md., in 1935. The late Mr. Bertram Motter Kershner went to Baltimore some years ago, and there in a library of the Maryland Historical Society, saw a copy of this book and made some notes from the same which he gave to me, and it is from these notes that the following bits of information have been gleaned:

Bill Otter, who on account of his great height of six feet and four inches, and his weight of 250 pounds, was known as "Big Bill" Otter, was born at Hull in England in 1789. At the age of 11 he ran away to sea on a whaling vessel bound for Greenland; but the ship sank in a collision with an ice floe. The crew was rescued a little later; then we find Bill impressed into the royal navy from which he deserted as soon as the ship reached London, after four years of what he termed "hell afloat."

Attempting to get to his family, he found that they had emigrated to the United States, and so, following them there, he located them three days after his arrival in New York. He drifted to Philadelphia and then on to Lancaster, Pa., in which latter city he says he "annexed" a Pennsylvania Dutch wife. Later he moved on to Hanover. He had become an expert plasterer and about 1817 walked to Emmitsburg and plastered "The White House" at St. Joseph's; around 1832 he plastered a big house near Emmitsburg for Mr. John Grabill and also one for Dr. Andrew Annan.

Just when Otter moved to Emmitsburg is uncertain, and on the last page of his book he says that the citizens of Emmitsburg had elected him Burgess and that in 25 years of plastering he had done 203 houses; 32 churches, five colleges, three academies and two markets, and for this had received $15,600, of which none remained; he states he was a poor man with a large family.

According to his book Bill appears to have been a pretty "frisky" character, to use his own words, and at times got into scrapes which landed him in jail from time to time. He is said to have had a tavern on the site now occupied by the Postoffice. This burned down one night and after that Bill moved on into Virginia. His book is said to be ungrammatical, but highly amusing.

According to the late Mr. Hellman, in his "History of Emmitsburg," destruction by fire of the tavern, known as The Otter House, occurred in 1845. About that time my wife's father, then a lad of 15 years, recalled having seen Bill Otter on the streets of Emmitsburg, and that he was known as "Old Bill Otter." Referring once more to Hellman's history we find that Otter was a resident of Emmitsburg in 1840 and also a member of the fire company.

Applications For Air Academy Are Sought

Sen. John Marshall Butler issued an invitation this week for qualified young men to file applications with his office for appointment to the newly-constituted U. S. Air Force Academy which will be located in Colorado Springs, Colo.

He stated that the Air Force plans to activate the Academy as soon as practicable and that the first class of 300 cadets will be enrolled in July, 1955.

Senator Butler pointed out that the number of vacancies allocated to each State is proportionate to the representation in Congress, and that Maryland will, therefore, be allotted four vacancies for the first class. Each member of the Maryland Congressional Delegation is authorized to nominate not to exceed 10 persons who shall be eligible to compete for these vacancies. Based on competitive examinations, authorized by the Dept. of the Air Force, appointments will be made from among qualified candidates in order of merit.

According to Senator Butler, applicants for admission to the Air Force Academy must possess the following qualifications: must be citizen of the U. S.; must be of good moral character; must have attained the age of 17 years and must not have reached the age of 22 years as of July 1 of the year admitted to the Academy; must never have been married. A cadet who marries prior to graduation or who is discovered to have married prior to admission will be immediately separated from the Academy; must be domiciled in the State, Territory or Congressional District from which nominated; must be medically qualified for flying training.

All qualified candidates will also be required to compete for appointment by taking a scholastic aptitude test, achievement tests in English, mathematics, and U. S. History, and a pilot aptitude test.

MRS. MARY C. PAYNE

Mrs. Mary C. Payne, 89, widow of Joseph E. Payne, died at her home in Emmitsburg last Sunday morning at 5:30 o'clock following an illness of seven months. She was a lifelong resident of Emmitsburg.

The deceased was a daughter of the late George and Mary (Myers) Gingell and was the last of their family. The only survivors are two grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, and was a member of the Sodality and the Altar Society.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning from the Allison Funeral Home in Emmitsburg at 8:30 o'clock with services at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church with Fr. John Sullivan, rector, officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

MRS. MILLER BURIED

Funeral services for Mrs. M. Manzell Miller, wife of Charles P. Miller, who died at her home in Emmitsburg Rt. 1, last Wednesday afternoon, were held Saturday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, with Fr. John Sullivan, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the new St. Joseph's Cemetery. Pallbearers were Edgar Eyer, Charles R. Miller, Herbert Adams, and Irvin Tokar.

Social Security Agent Coming

A social security representative will be in Emmitsburg on the last Thursday of each month instead of the fourth Monday, according to information received from Mr. W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown Social Security office. He also advised that the time will be 3:00 P. M., instead of 11:00 A. M., as in the past. King says that anyone who wished to see him regarding a claim for benefit payments or to ask questions about the program, may do so in the VFW Hall on the date shown above.

A son was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eyer, of Rocky Ridge.

Heat Records Established Here

New five-year heat records were established in Emmitsburg this week, according to a report from the Philip B. Sharpe Research Laboratories, just outside of town.

On Tuesday at 3 p. m. the temperature recorded on official thermometers touched 101 degrees F. to set a five-year high. Three years ago the thermometer reached 100 degrees, but for the past two years the highest recorded at the Laboratories was 99 degrees. The 101 degree temperature was recorded with a southwest wind at 15 miles per hour. The record lasted only 24 hours. On Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., with a five-mile SW wind, a new record of 102 degrees was established, but while the 101 degree mark held for two hours, the Wednesday temperature dropped to 99 degrees by 3 p. m.

Unofficial readings of 116 were reported about town, most of them taken in the sun. You had a right to feel hot under the collar this week.

Junior Police Increases Roster

Thirty-eight members of the Emmitsburg Junior Police Club were present at the regular monthly meeting of that group held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, Thurmont presiding.

New members taken in the new organization were John Randolph, James Brown, William Van Brackle, William Brawner and Morris A. Zientz Jr.

It was announced that one member, Fred Bower, will be inducted into the armed services Monday. President Damuth urged the group to make an effort to obtain a higher percentage of members in attendance at future meetings.

Several individual contributions by members of the Vigilant Hose Co. were received and permission was granted the group to sponsor a bake sale in the Fire Hall, the date to be announced later.

The Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, favored the group by offering the use of its baseball paraphernalia for the remainder of the season.

The Junior Police recently announced the intention of organizing a drill team and the first practice was held this week under the supervision of State Trooper Donald A. Tucker. Also in process of formation is a rifle team which will be instructed by Howard F. Carty.

The group welcomes any donations from groups or individuals and needs monetary assistance for the purchase of badges, uniforms, hats and other equipment. It also extends its thanks to all who have contributed to the cause.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall at 7:30 p. m.

STONER-CLABAUGH

Miss Laura Lydia Clabaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Clabaugh, Thurmont, became the bride of Patrick Allen Stoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Stoner, Emmitsburg, last Saturday morning at 8 o'clock at a nuptial mass in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg. The pastor, Rev. John D. Sullivan, C.M., officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

White carnations, ferns and lighted tapers decorated the altar. Mrs. Euphemia Rotering, organist, accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Marie Rosensteel of Emmitsburg, who sang "Bless Thou These Souls," "Jesus, My Lord, My God, My All," Gounod's "Ave Maria," "O, Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "Thou For Whom I've Long Been Sighing." She sang "Mother at Your Feet We're Kneeling" as the bride presented her bouquet to the Blessed Mother.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Clifford Clabaugh, wore a street-length dress of white waffle taffeta with an off-shoulder neckline, short sleeves and full skirt. Her accessories were white and she carried a bouquet of red rosebuds, white carnations and baby breath.

Miss Lottie Clabaugh, Thurmont, the maid of honor, wore a powder blue street-length dress of silk broadcloth with white accessories and carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

Charles Baker, Emmitsburg, served as best man. A breakfast for the wedding party was served at the Plaza Restaurant in Gettysburg. After a wedding trip to Atlantic City the couple will make their home at 401 Baltimore St., Gettysburg.

Locals Split Over Weekend; Still Third

Bouncing right back from its Saturday defeat at the hands of Blue Ridge Summit, the Emmitsburg baseball team outdistanced the Fairfield aggregation Sunday in a 10-inning contest to retain its hold on third position in the Pen-Mar League standings.

Manager Dee Saylor's charges came to life at the bat over the week-end slamming out a total of 21 hits in two contests. Saturday's contest was the playoff of a rained out game earlier in the month.

Johnny McMahon led his mates in the hitting category Sunday when he slammed out three singles in five attempts. He was closely followed by Wastler, Rosensteel, and Clarke who each had two for five.

Improved playing, was noted all around as the error column registered four in the two contests. Coach Slim Deatherage has injected hustle and alertness into the base-running business and the result was four stolen bases in the two games.

The locals make a home stand Sunday when they engage Thurmont on the Community Field.

Blue Ridge Summit hiked its lead in the league to two full games by winning a pair over the week-end. They trounced New Windsor 16-4 for the losers' 13th loss.

In the best game played this season Cashtown nipped the invading New Oxford outfit 1-0 in 11 innings.

Union Bridge blanked Thurmont 7-0 in a game on the winner's field.

NOSTALGIA

It is summer in the city, and I long for the hills of home,
It is July in the city,
Heat clings to the pavements and streets,
A bus goes snorting by, throwing off a stench,
Foul excrement of modern machine, without the dignity of usefulness,
Still, with the window open, the moonlight through my city tree makes the same patterns on the wallpaper,
I can travel the long avenues of my life, backwards in my mind, to the days of my youth,
I am at Hartman's Creek, above the bridge where the pebbles under the swift shallow water were a magic blue green,
My child had eyes that color when she was new, and I saw those pebbles every time she looked at me, miles and years away,
I am swimming at Kump's. Come with me up the creek and around the bend and I will show you our camp,
I am hiking to Indian Lookout where the treasure is not only the view, but the perfection of pine cones and velvet moss,
I am picking bluebells in the Sisters' field—the whole earth is carpeted with blue,
Or golden buttercups and Queen Anne's Lace, with such beauty as would make the heart tremble,
I am carrying my lunch in a brown paper bag to the Willows, to make dams in the quiet water, to catch crawfish under stones, to cross the swinging bridge in thrilling terror,
This has been a journey of love, made bittersweet because of its fantasy,
Home is where the heart is—tonight my home is Emmitsburg, so many years ago.

Two $3000 Purses At Baltimore Raceway Tonight

Baltimore Raceway tonight will move into the second big week-end of harness racing in its current 20-night meet. Two $3,000 stakes will headline tonight's card while a colorful "Miss Maryland Pageant Night" will be staged with Saturday's program.

The great Trustful Hanover, world's champion and two-minute star, will be out to avenge her last week's defeat at the hands of Ichabod Crain in tonight's $3,000 Sparrows Point Pace, the sixth race. After winning three straight victories at Laurel, Trustful Hanover invaded Baltimore Raceway last week only to meet her nemesis in Ichabod Crain. The latter won in 2:05 with Johnny Amoto driving.

Owned by Marlin and George Shriner of Taneytown and Woodsboro, Md., Ichabod Crain turned in one of the fastest performances of the Laurel meet when he clicked there in 2:03 1-5.

The two rivals probably will be co-favorites tonight. Hugh Bell will drive Trustful Hanover from the No. 1 post which will make her more dangerous than ever. Ichabod Crain has the No. 5 slot in the field of six. Probable third choice will be the entry of Mighty Gwen and Madge Hy from the Wendell Wathen barn. Mighty Gwen, to be driven by Wendell Wathen Jr., has a mark of 2:06 1-5. Madge Hy, which will start on the outside with the elder Wathen driving, won at Laurel in 2:07 2-5 and 2:05.

Completing the lineup will be Lucky Fingo, 2:01 2-5, driven by George Rediker and Bermuda, 2:05 2-5, which Olin Davis brought home second to Billy's Lady in her late victory here.

Post time at the favorite night track is 8:30 p. m., with the daily double closing at 8:20 p. m.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The great debate over diplomatic recognition of Red China which followed Churchill's conference with President Eisenhower could have easily been anticipated.

Last December I stated that recognition of Red China would be "the second great mistake of this century," the first having been recognition of the Communist government in Russia.

Opinion in the Congress and in the U. S. is overwhelmingly against the establishment of relations between the present Chinese government because that nation is an aggressor which fought the U. S. and the UN in Korea, and is aiding and abetting the Communists in Indo-China.

We are insisting that the Chinese first demonstrate their peaceful intent by deeds before entering into formal diplomatic relations.

However, in such a discussion there are several things we should bear in mind and I believe they were ably pointed out by President Eisenhower in his news conference last week.

The President stated that he is "completely and unalterably" opposed to China's admission to the UN at the present time, and then elaborated on his statement by saying that there was a moral issue involved.

The UN was organized for a number of purposes, he explained, and among them was "an attempt to marshal the moral strength of the world in order to preserve peace, to make certain that quarrels were composed through a decent respect for justice and fairness and right, and to see whether we couldn't avoid resort to force."

Red China, he declared, has been named an aggressor by the UN, and has excoriated the UN.

In regard to continued participation in the UN in the event other nations successfully obtain a seat for China—which the President did not appear to believe possible—he very wisely said that the question as to "whether we would accomplish more good in the world, whether we could advance the cause of peace and decency better by going out than by staying in, that is something that would have to be decided."

Critical periods such as this understandably discourage people, may make them doubt the leadership of their nation, and despair as to the progress which the free nations of the world are making in establishing peace.

as England and the U. S.—may arise but we should always realize that none of the differences between allies are as insurmountable as the differences between the free world and Communist Russia.

The leaders of the free nations have a complicated task in countering the maneuvers of Russia and her satellites—while they have the purposeful aim of conquest, we are neither aggressive nor seek territorial concessions.

Until Russia and her satellites stop acting as aggressors, the free world must expect many disappointments, but an enlightened realistic attitude toward our problems in international relations will give the President the public support he needs if he is to lead this nation successfully.

President Eisenhower and I are in perfect agreement on our opposition to recognition of Red China—a view which I expressed in December, 1953.

Roads Program Moves Into High Gear

Dirt is really flying this summer as Maryland's 12-year roads program climbs into high gear.

As of July 1, 145 projects had been advertised at an authorized cost in excess of $41 million.

$18 million of this figure represents contracts advertised during the past 60 days. The State's program of road construction and reconstruction was officially begun on Jan. 1 of this year.

The results of the first six months show activity in every county in the State and covers 359 miles of highway construction.

This means that on an average one mile out of every 13 in the State's highway system has been advertised for improvement since the first of the year.

Of the contracts advertised, 122 projects totaling $27.6 million and covering 307 miles of highway actually have been awarded and work is under way or about to start, according to records of the State Roads Commission.

The 12-year program authorized by the 1953 Legislature calls for an over-all expenditure of $568 million, or an average of some $47 million per year. The results to date, partly due to the fact that a head-start on the program was made in the closing months of 1953, are in my opinion highly satisfactory and reflect great credit upon the State Roads Commission and its staff of engineers.

An interesting comparison may be made between road contracts advertised this year and last. During the first six months of 1953, 35 projects were advertised by the Roads Commission totaling $6 million. Not counting the head-start on the 12-year program made last year, in the first six months of 1954, 96 projects of all types were advertised at an estimated cost of $30 million.

To make Maryland's highway system the safest and most modern in the country in the shortest possible time, our State is today spending $5 for every one spent this time last year on highway improvement.

Of the $27 million in contracts thus far awarded under the 12-year program $18 million, covering 117 miles of roads, will be spent in the State's primary road system. The remaining $9 million will be used for the improvement of 190 miles of secondary roads. Primary roads are in general the principal arterial highways of the State. The secondary system embraces the remainder of the roads connecting local communities.

Thus, it is apparent that the bulk of the mileage of highway improvement already launched is on the smaller local roads. This work in the main will consist of widening, reduction of summits, modification of curves and resurfacing.

It's not the H-bomb that worries me!

As a growing chick, I'm more concerned about disease No. 1—coccidiosis. It has bothered my parents and grandparents. In fact all my ancestors were troubled with "coxy." I wish the Boss would keep Sulquin on hand as a control when coccidiosis strikes. Used off and on in the feed, Sulquin prevents "coxy" breaks. It comes in either liquid or soluble form. It would ease my mind if the boss would buy Sulquin where he sees the sign...

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 15—Just recently the 7th Annual Conference of Businessmen and Educators was held on the campus of Babson Institute in Wellesley, Mass. The theme was "Education for Survival." It was a conference on business educational standards. Nine out of every 10 business executives invited to participate in the conference declined invitations on the ground that the issues are too controversial! What Manner Of Men Are Businessmen?

Since the war, businessmen have made a number of sharp attacks on our schools, our teachers, and the graduates. Yet, with but a few notable exceptions, businessmen and companies have not given education the kind of support it wants and needs. One well-known Eastern superintendent of schools recently stated that every time he tries to approach a group of businessmen for some help on a problem, almost automatically they query in chorus, "All right, how much do you want?"

With their dollars businessmen are generous, but with their recommendations and their time they are miserly. They do not seem to understand the educator when he asks them to sit down to discuss problems of curriculum, problems of delinquency, or even part-time employment for students.

Yet, full-page advertisements appear in newspapers urging us all to support the schools. One such full page which recently made its appearance was headed this way, "The present of education." The copy went on to ask why businessmen "are so blind, when it comes to the needs of our educational system."

Are Businessmen Fair?

This advertisement further discussed three shortages that need to be remedied: (1) the shortage of classroom space; (2) the shortage of financial reward to attract capable individuals into teaching; and (3) the shortage of top-caliber teachers. Bravo! Now what I want to know is: What kind of run-around will a worthy educational project get by this same advertiser when he is approached to speak on these issues at the grass-roots level.

If businessmen mean anything beyond a gesture by such advertising, then they will see to it that someone within the company is designated to handle educational - business relations.

Another Failure of Businessmen

I can tell you about the apparent failure of a project for this summer involving educators and businessmen. Someone got the idea that business might be better understood if teachers were given the opportunity to get work experience in various businesses, at various levels, during summer vacations. Such a program would indeed benefit a co-operating company; but it would also help supplement the earnings of the underpaid teacher.

The idea was started by a national trade association. Meetings were held with representatives of the schools, colleges, and businesses. Business again talked optimistically how it wanted to support this program. But, when the chips were down, you could count on your fingers the number of such summer jobs that business offered in New England. Does business always really mean what it says?

Education Is Your Business

I can tell you another story, with a happier ending. A very small company with about two dozen employees sent its sales manager, a young chap, to a high school 50 miles away to participate in a career-day program. The young sales manager felt that while the boss had let him off for the day to do a community job, he should also be productive for his company. Hence, he decided to make a few cold calls.

The purchasing agent of one large company he called on was so impressed by the community relations to this mere infant in business, as opposed to his own corporation's wretched record, that he gave the young sales manager a good deal of his time. One thing led to another and the sales manager returned from his educational jaunt with one of the largest orders his company had ever received for one of its products. What's happening in the schools today surely will affect the future of your business. What are you really doing to help the schools and colleges in your community?

Your Personal Health

Hang Your Clothes On A Hickory Limb!

As summer moves along, and the temperature shows a tendency to climb beyond the comfortable point, a cool swim can be a most refreshing break in the day. Then the beach or the old swimming hole has great attractions.

What a disappointment it is to arrive at a favorite bathing spot, only to find a sign that says firmly, "No swimming!" On a hot day, that makes us cross, and our irritation is likely to be directed at the sign rather than at the condition that makes it necessary.

All too often, swimming is unsafe because the water is not clean. And the problem is of clean water not just for swimming, but for drinking, washing, and all the other personal and industrial uses to which we put this indispensable material.

Water cleans itself, up to a certain point. But today as our cities and towns and industries grow, vast amounts of waste material are poured into rivers and lakes. If more waste is being dumped into it than the water can purify by its natural processes, it becomes polluted and unsafe. In that case, the waste must be purified before it is drained into the water. Otherwise water, which we must have for life itself, becomes a danger to us. It becomes a disease carrier. And the "No Swimming!" sign that goes up may be the least of our problems. It may be a life-saver.

CORRECTION

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, July 14—The Commerce and Labor Depts. have issued heartening figures: employment has increased a record 1 million for the May-June period, and unemployment startled forecasters by not showing the customary June drop.

The reason? Our economy expanded enough to take up most of the school graduates into the work force and absorb a good many other unemployed people as well.

Unemployment is still 3.4 million, but the list of relatively long-term unemployed—those out of work 15 weeks or more—took an encouraging drop of 200,000 from the one million of a month ago. Factory employment is holding its own. This is a sure sign that big inventories of consumer goods are being used up. Everyone expects a rise in factory employment in the months ahead.

Percentage wise, two other years since World War II have seen worse unemployment. Today 6.1 per cent of the working force is jobless; in 1950 5.2 per cent had no jobs; in 1949 it was much worse—6 per cent.

Regardless of statistics, however, it's a man's own situation that counts most with him—whether he has a job or hasn't a job. In our Congressional District the number of unemployed may run higher than the national average, and it is these persons the House had in mind last week in passing a bill to extend unemployment compensation to another 4 million persons.

By nearly a 10 to 1 majority the House voted this first major revision in the unemployment insurance program since its enactment 20 years ago. It lowers the minimum number of employes for a firm to have to participate in the program from eight to four, thus bringing nearly 1.5 million more people into the program. It also provides insurance to the nearly 2.5 million people on the Federal payroll.

Government workers who receive reduction-in-force notices will be eligible for unemployment insurance in the state where their Federal jobs were located. The state will pay it, and the Federal treasury will reimburse the state. This will mean a lot to Maryland with its many government installations.

A Congressional minority wanted to pass a law forcing the states to raise the amount of compensation, and the length of time a person could draw it. This was defeated by a vote of 241 to 110, because we felt that it is a matter of states' right to decide

Plans Conservation Of Wetlands

A concentrated plan to make Maryland the first state to save its wetland resources as vital duck and geese habitats was announced recently by Glenn L. Martin, president of the League of Maryland Sportsmen.

Mr. Martin said efforts will be made within the next 12 months to save wetland resources — Maryland's wetland resources is urgently needed as wintering and feeding grounds for ducks and geese.

He explained that these marginal lands are totally unsuited for farming, but are ideal for the preservation of waterfowl life. He pointed out that Maryland is geographically located on one of the most important eastern duck and geese flyways and that a great amount of work must be done shortly in order to prevent any future depletion.

In addition to creating and restoring feeding areas, the campaign calls for the clearing of fireguards, erecting barbed wire fences, making aquatic plantings and destroying the natural enemies of these birds.

LOOKING AHEAD

By Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
CAMP, ADDRESS

Our mail has been unusually heavy as a result of the series of columns on Herbert Philbrick, who served nine years as an FBI counterspy deep within the U. S. Communist underground. We condensed the series and used it in our June National Program Letter. Great volumes of mail came in from the estimated 100,000 readers of the Letter. The recurring question in these letters has been: "What can I do?" A young mother and homemaker on the Pacific Coast asks the question, then answers it. She writes:

"I most certainly have been guilty of the apathy of which you speak. And I'm sure this is also true of the majority of all my friends. The Velde Un-American Activities Committee recently completed a short hearing on Communism here in the Northwest, which was televised, and this was a jolting eye-opener. If the Committee accomplished nothing else, the public enlightenment obtained would justify their time and effort.

Vague Understanding

"My circle of friends are in the 30 to 40 age group, busy establishing themselves in their jobs, buying homes, rearing their children, and trying to keep halfway informed. 'Communism' is not a new word to us. I have some sort of vague idea of what Communism is, but could not possibly put that idea in words. Heretofore we have all felt that as long as we were not Communists and didn't associate with any, that was all that was necessary.

"We are guilty of more than apathy—we have a downright reluctance to believe that the Communists are a serious threat, and that they could ever gain any substantial foothold in our country. In the light of our lack of information, and our unwillingness to believe, we have felt that the situation was being taken care of by the Velde, the Jenners and the McCarthys. And even when thinking that all might not be well, comes the inevitable question: 'Well, after all, what can I do?'

Her Answer

"I've been pondering that question for a few weeks now, in direct relation to myself. What CAN I do. Your Letter gave the first answer of any kind that I have run across. Here is the answer I came up with:

1. "Make my way to the public library and get one of the only two books that I know of, either 'I Led Three Lives' (Herbert Philbrick) or 'Witness' (Whittaker Chambers) and start reading.
2. "Order more copies of your Letter, which I am doing now, and give them to my friends to read, in an attempt to get them interested in doing what they can do.
3. "Ask for a list of books on Communism mentioned in Herbert Philbrick's comment; and, after getting the list, give copies of it to my friends.
4. "Not believe everything I see in print, with no thought as to the author, or as to my own common sense.
5. "Try to get my friends to prevail upon their friends to embark on a self-education program."

We Can Win

"It seems that each city could have some sort of organized effort or program to acquaint its citizens with 'What You Can Do.' Most cities have many media through which most of its residents can be reached — but particularly the newspaper, the radio and television. It seems to me that a series of articles in the local paper informing the public as to what they as citizens can do might have some effect.

"At any rate I'm going to see what I can do. This is my first step (please send 10 copies of your June Letter, I'm going to give these to 10 friends and prevail upon them to read one book. If the Communists have traveled so far with their unholy lie, who knows how far 10 people might go with the truth;"

Ten people can go a long way with the truth. One person, inspired with a love of freedom and moved into action by an understanding of Communism's terrible threat against it, can go far. Herbert Philbrick says the forces of freedom still are losing to the forces of slavery. Will enough of us awaken out of apathy in time? Letters like the above strengthen my belief that we will.

What's New with Cows?

Catching up on my reading, I noticed three news items you might like to know about.

First, a farmer whose milk had a trace of garlic flavor is feeding his cows chlorophyll to sweeten their breaths.

Next, a college agricultural station has trained a herd to get milked when they are called by number. Seems 75 out of 80 cows learned their numbers in a few days. Guess the "dumb" five couldn't count that high. Final item — cows are getting "nose-printed" for identification.

From where I sit, I hope there is as much progress being made with humans... especially in regard to tolerance. Whether it's a choice of a political party, a basketball team, or a favorite beverage, let's learn to live and let live more. You may ask for a soft drink after a hard day's work—I'll choose a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not try to "cow" the other fellow into our way of thinking!

Field Demonstration Scheduled For August 20

Herman Stockslager, president of the Four-State Farmers Committee, has announced that the field demonstration day, which is the new name for the annual farm tour sponsored by that organization will be held Aug. 20 on the farms of Earl Remsburg, Buckeystown. The Remsburg farms are located on Rt. 15 about five miles east of Frederick.

The name has been changed, Mr. Stockslager said, because we had to stop going from farm to farm due to the tremendous number of farmers attending these demonstrations. The first tour eight years ago was attended by about 80 persons, the last tour drew approximately 3000.

The program will be conducted with the assistance of the Extension Service of the Agricultural Engineering Dept., College of Agriculture, University of Maryland, and the Farm Dept., Potomac Edison System.

The equipment to be demonstrated will be that used in grassland farming. This equipment will include not only machines completely new to many farmers, but those which have been redesigned to increase their efficiency and economy. President Stockslager stressed the point that this is not a display or parade of farm equipment, but a demonstration which provides all farmers with a chance to see the equipment in operation, and to determine which machines meet their individual requirements most completely.

At The Majestic Theatre, Gettysburg, Pa.

Michael Rennie, as the Apostle Peter, stoically accepts the contempt of Susan Hayward, as Messalina, a power behind the Roman throne, in "Demetrius and the Gladiators" in CinemaScope, color by Technicolor, starts Thurs., July 15 for three days at the Majestic Theater.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Maryland's wheat acreage allotment for the 1955 crop has been set at 203,953 acres, according to George J. Martin, State Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The ASC chairman pointed out that the 1955 allotment is a decrease of 14.6 per cent from the 1954 allotment of 238,768 acres.

State allotments are based on wheat acreages for the past 10 years with adjustment for planting trends, weather and other factors. This formula provides for the establishment of State allotments in line with their recent wheat production pattern.

"For this reason," Mr. Martin explains, "State allotments do not reflect a flat decrease from last year's figure and vary from the comparable percent decrease in the overall national allotment. For the same reason, county and individual farm allotment decreases will vary percentage-wise from the national and State figures."

County allotments are determined on the same basis as the State allotments, but individual farm allotments will be determined on the basis of wheat production during the most recent years. In addition, tillage acres, crop rotation plans, type of soil and general topography are all considered in determining individual farm allotments.

On the basis of the State allotment, the ASC State Committee will determine allotments for individual counties which in turn will be broken down to individual farm allotments by ASC county committees.

"Each wheat grower will be advised of the acreage allotment for his farm prior to the wheat marketing quota referendum on July 23," Mr. Martin says.

If wheat quotas are approved by producers in the July 23 referendum, acreage allotments will form the basis for determining individual farm marketing quotas on the 1955 crop. In addition, compliance with acreage allotments will be one of the eligibility requirements for participation in the 1955 price support program for wheat and all other crops.

In view of the huge supplies of wheat now on hand and in prospect for this year, the national allotment would, according to the formula contained in the law, be only about 19 million acres. However, the legislation includes a 55-million acre "floor" below which the national acreage allotment cannot be established. The national allotment for the 1955 crop compares with a 1954 allotment of 62 million acres.

Seaman Damuth To Return From Sea Duty

The USS Saipan is scheduled to return to Norfolk, Va., July 20, completing a round the world cruise and a tour of duty off Korea.

Serving aboard the light aircraft carrier is George J. Damuth, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. Reaba Damuth of Emmitsburg, and husband of the former Miss Barbara Turner of Taneytown.

Before arriving at Norfolk, the Saipan stopped at Mayport, Fla., to transfer Marine Attack Squadron 324 to its home station at Marine Corps Air Base, Miami.

The Saipan left Norfolk last September and transited the Panama Canal to arrive at Yokosuka, Japan on Dec. 1.

Since that date, the Saipan has been alternating as the active carrier of the UN forces in the Yellow Sea. Besides carrying out her regular patrol duties, the carrier took part in the prisoner-of-war release from Korea, delivered aircraft to French forces in Indo-China and participated in Marine landing exercises at Iwo Jima.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Right now is a good time to do some target shooting in preparation for fall hunting. Get your gun all sighted-in now and while you're doing this you'll spot any necessary repairs or alterations. Use the same ammunition you intend to hunt with. Then just before you go hunting all you need do is take a few confirming shots for final adjustment.

When you're sighting-in your rifle, try to get a steady position as possible to lessen the human error. This is an absolute necessity in establishing a good sight setting. If you are sighting-in for long-range shooting where you intend to make use of a sling in the prone position, you'll be wise to use a sling when sighting-in.

To help steady your hold, it won't hurt to rest the fore-end on a sand or sawdust bag. Pete Brown reported in Sports Afield magazine he had found that after sighting-in over a sandbag he shot to the same center of impact in his normal shooting position in the field.

He writes "It is generally conceded that the center of impact will change with the way a rifle is supported when it's fired. I have often heard and read that you shouldn't hold your rifle against the side of a tree or rest it on a log when you're shooting at game. I have never hesitated to rest my rifle against a tree or over a log if it helped me get off a well-aimed shot at game within about 200 yards.

"To check my idea, I made a little test with a light-barreled 7 1/4-pound .270 and a Model 336 lever-action chambered for the .30-30 cartridge. First, I sighted both guns over a sandbag rest with the fore-end resting on the sandbag. I then fired two 10-shot groups for center of impact while resting the rifles snugly alongside of a tree, and while resting the fore-end over a log. These different methods of holding the rifle made very little difference in the center of impact and would not have prevented me from placing a well-aimed bullet.

"To top off the test I also rested not the fore-end, but the barrel itself, over a log and fired a group. To my surprise this moved the center of impact only 1 1/4 inches above the center of impact previously determined over the sandbag rest. At 200 yards this would have boosted the center of impact only 2 1/2 inches.

"Nevertheless, it is a good practice to refrain from resting the barrel on a log for a steady influence if you can avoid it. The results will not always be the same because individual rifles may prove to be more sensitive to the method of holding or type of steady rest."

Helpful Hints For Homemakers

Ice cream takes top place on the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture's plentiful foods list for July.

That fact should be good news for Maryland families, comments Janet Coblentz, Extension Nutritionist of the University of Maryland.

In addition to ice cream, milk and all other dairy products are expected to be in abundant supply as milk production continues at a record breaking level.

Broilers and fryers also share top spot on the plentiful list, Miss Coblentz reports. Total supplies of young chickens during July are expected to be some five per cent larger than a year ago.

New-crop turkeys will also be coming to market, with small birds available throughout the month in all parts of the country. Some areas will have liberal supplies of heavier birds.

Beef will continue to be plentiful, including an abundance of higher-grade meat from grain-fed cattle. In addition, grass-fed cattle will be marketed in seasonally large numbers to provide more of the intermediate and lower grades of beef.

Abundant supplies of a wide variety of locally grown vegetables including tomatoes and sweet corn, will give homemakers plenty of choice for meal planning.

Watermelons are the only fruit listed among the plentiful for July.

Also on the July abundant foods list are fresh fish, peanuts and peanut butter, vegetable fats and oils.

W. CLINTON McSHERRY

William Clinton McSherry, a prominent Frederick attorney and president of the Western Maryland Trust Co., died at 10:15 p. m. Wednesday night at his residence, 19 E. Second St., Frederick, aged 66 years.

Long active in the legal profession in the county, Mr. McSherry was also prominently identified with county banks for more than 30 years.

The deceased was the son of the late Judge James McSherry who served with distinction on the Maryland Court of Appeals, and Mrs. Clara L. McSherry. He was a graduate of Mount St. Mary's College and received his law degree from the University of Md., beginning practice in 1910.

He was a member of the Frederick Rotary Club, the Cotillion Club and the former Catoctin Country Club. He was a devout member of St. John's Catholic Church and of St. John's Council, Knights of Columbus.

His wife, the former Mary Natalie McCarthy of Shamokin, Pa., predeceased him two years ago.

He is survived by two sons, W. Clinton McSherry, Jr., at home and James McSherry, also of Frederick; five grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. William K. Wimsatt, Washington.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this time.

Weekend visitors at the home of Prof. and Mrs. William S. Sterbinsky, were Mrs. Catherine Hjord of Holtville, L. I.; Mrs. Mae Fink and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tregressor of Baltimore. Mrs. Blanche Dukehart accompanied Mrs. Fink on her return trip.

Researchers at the University of Florida report they have tested a chemical which, when fed to cows, causes them to produce milk with better keeping qualities. In preliminary tests cows fed menadione produced milk which stayed fresh for up to 24 hours at a temperature of 98.6 degrees F. At 50 degrees milk from treated cows stayed fresh for 20 days—four times as long as milk from untreated cows.

LULA VRAHIOTES POWELL, on Petition.

No 17884 Equity in the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, in Equity.

The object of the Petition in this cause is to change the name of Lula Vrahiotes Powell, an adult, to that of Louellen Vrahiotes Powell.

The Petitioner states that the Petitioner is an adult, being 28 years of age.

That the Petitioner is a resident of the State of Maryland, in Frederick County.

That the Petitioner has always used and has gone by the name of Louellen instead of Lula.

That the Petitioner, now married to Albert Milton Powell, Jr., wishes to change her name from Lula Vrahiotes Powell to Louellen Vrahiotes Powell, for the reason that her birth certificate may be changed to comply with the name she has generally used.

Upon the foregoing Petition and Affidavit, it is thereupon this 8th day of July, 1954, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, in Equity, and by the authority thereof, ORDERED that on the 3rd day of August, 1954, this Court will proceed to pass a final order and decree, changing the name of said Petitioner from that of Lula Vrahiotes Powell to that of Louellen Vrahiotes Powell, unless cause to the contrary be shown on or before said date, provided, however, that the Petitioner herein cause a copy of this Order, together with the substance and object of said Petition, to be published in some newspaper printed in Frederick County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks before the 2nd day of August, 1954, warning all persons to show cause to the contrary prior to said date, if any they have, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted. PATRICK M. SCHNAUFFER, Judge of the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland. SAMUEL W. BARRICK, Solicitor for Petitioner. Filed July 10, 1954. True Copy Test: ELLIS C. WACHTER, Clerk 7/16/54

Teachers To Attend Institute

One hundred and twenty teachers and school administrators will attend an Institute on Maryland Public Affairs to be held at Towson State Teachers College, July 12-23. The Institute is sponsored by the Maryland State Teachers' Assn.

Representatives from teachers' associations in every county and Baltimore City will attend the Institute to receive training as leaders for local workshops which will be conducted as in-service training programs during the school year, 1954-55. Public affairs programs were initiated in 12 counties and Baltimore City, following a similar Institute which was held at Towson State Teacher College last summer. These local programs will be offered to additional teachers next year, and Institutes will be established in the remaining counties.

The public affairs program is being developed to give every teacher in Maryland a greater opportunity to become "a fully-informed and participating citizen."

Mrs. Kenneth Keilholtz left recently to join her husband at the Key West, Fla. naval base. She was accompanied by Mrs. Maurice Keilholtz and son Greta, who are spending some time there.

the dust bowl area. I believe it would be wise to construct more fire ponds for irrigation and erect many more dams in our streams to offset this annual dryness which appears to be getting worse each year. Crops have stood the drought fairly well but production undoubtedly will suffer as a result. While our own water company hasn't yet placed restrictions on the use of water, you can look for it most any time now. Many districts throughout the nation already are under such restrictions and it is only because we have such excellent facilities for conserving our water resources here that we are free to enjoy unlimited use of this precious life-sustaining fluid—at the present time. Let's use it wisely folks... while we still have it.

While on the subject of hot weather, our good friend Fire Chief Hollinger would like to get his hands on the culprit that stole his grandson's little rubber bathing pool this week. Just when the little tot needed the equipment most, some sneak-thief made off with it. Here's hoping it'll find its way home right soon.
