

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

A friend of mine advises me that interest in baseball here is at its lowest ebb in many years. To me this is an alarming situation and as I begin to wonder what I will do tomorrow or the day after tomorrow, I begin to wonder what I will do Sunday afternoons when the boys are "at home" it is all the more disconcerting. Baseball has afforded me and numerous others our summer entertainment and we'd hate like the dickens to lose our source of entertainment.

The idea of telecasting major league games has often puzzled me to no end. How the majors can expect to retain high attendance figures and telecast, is beyond me. Just take a sunny summer afternoon when our own team is scheduled to play. Why our local attendance has been cut in half and we attribute it to the fact that many former local patrons of the national pass-time are sitting in easy chairs watching the major league contests over their TV sets. You mean to tell me that it isn't hurting the turnstile gross receipts? I for one, do not believe that the few thousand dollars the club moguls receive from the beer companies comes close to offsetting the loss in patronage. But to get back to our local scene, the picture, as I said before, is dismal. How can the spirit be revived? Well, first of all the club needs the support of a large number of businessmen and civic-minded individuals who are interested in the game. The club has little or no support as of now. This was evidenced by the fact that a meeting was called last Sunday and not enough individuals were present to even elect a group of officers. I can remember back when a public meeting was called to organize the club each year, why the old Fire Hall was packed and persons fought to become officers of the club. Just what has caused this turnabout? If any of you have any ideas let me know by letter and I will gladly pass them on to the general public.

Just can't let baseball die in Emmitsburg, it has been with us for almost a century and a good many of us really want to see it continued. I believe we have enough local talent to field a team and with just a few outsiders I feel we could present a formidable team. However, as I said before, the organization needs your moral support, so when you are called upon to boost the team and take an active part in running the organization, don't hesitate to do your duty. We must have baseball!

Now that I am out of practice and have hocked my ice skates, along comes a lengthy period of suitable weather for ice skating, almost a lost sport these days. Why I remember when, as a lassie, we could almost skate the winter around. Farmers used to cut enough ice from the creeks to last from one year to another by storing it in ice houses and packing it in sawdust. I can also remember when we built bonfires and skated through most of the night, undoubtedly our youths of today have been missing the sport of a lifetime. At any rate, the past three weeks have been ideal for the sport and I haven't been at all surprised to witness skating parties in process and warming themselves about fires in the late evening hours. It's a real winter sport fellows and gals and you had better enjoy it while it lasts. I really envy you.

It appears as though Maryland car owners will get another break in keeping the cost of living down. As most of you know the State Senate voted this week against raising the fee of license tags in Maryland. This subject had been hotly debated and contested for some time and whether the increase was as badly needed as it was purported to be, we're glad for any respite that will help us keep the sheriff from our door. Perhaps a little economy in our state government could be effected and make up for the so-called necessary increase of license plates? At any rate, we'll still be able to drive the old gas hog about and it will only cost us $15 for the "privilege."

Self-confidence is a good trait, but be sure you are in a position to back it up.

VFW Commander Resents AMA Statement

Commander Philip B. Sharpe, of Veterans of Foreign Wars Emmitsburg Memorial Post, No. 6658, this week placed a "phony" label on the charge of spokesmen for the American Medical Assn. that 85 per cent of the patients in Veterans Administration hospitals are being treated for non-service-connected disabilities and are able to pay for private treatment.

The statement was issued by Cmdr. Sharpe appropriate to the far-flung observance of the period Jan. 23 to 29 as "National VFW Week"

Proof that the charge is without basis in truth, he said, is found in reports on bed-by-bed surveys made by the VFW and other major veteran organizations as well as by the VA itself. Actually, despite what AMA leaders say to the contrary, Cmdr. Sharpe asserted, the question of ability to pay might be raised in less than 10 per cent of the cases of all persons being treated.

He stressed that VFW's targets were the leaders and spokesmen for the association, not the rank and file of members "since we have found but few doctors who agree with the position taken by AMA spokesmen whose baseless charges have been repeatedly exploded."

He went on to quote the following facts on figures which, he said, were extracted from the last survey report of the VA, made at a time when there were 109,964 patients in all VA hospitals:

Veterans receiving care for proven service-connected disabilities, 41,400, or 37.6 per cent.

Veterans without known service-connected disabilities and receiving treatment for disabilities of a chronic nature, including tuberculosis, neuropsychiatric and cancer cases, requiring treatment for 90 days or more, 37,458, or 34.1 per cent.

These two groups, comprising 78,858 patients, or 71.7 per cent of the total, Cmdr. Sharpe said, are conceded by the AMA, on the basis of official testimony on behalf of the association, to be entitled to VA care.

He then went into the 31,106 remaining cases, or 28.3 per cent of the 109,964 total load, these being of so-called non-service-connected nature, to which AMA strongly objects:

Veterans with service-connected disabilities rated 10 per cent or more disabling but receiving treatment for other conditions not service-connected, 8,558, or 7.8 per cent.

Veterans who had filed claims for compensations for service-connected disabilities, 1452, or 1.3 per cent.

Veterans in receipt of, or who have filed claims for pensions for non-service-connected disabilities, 9776 or 8.9 per cent.

Cmdr. Sharpe pointed out that to be eligible for such a pension one must be rated permanently and totally disabled, be unemployable, and with income of no more than $1400 a year if without dependents, or $2700 a year with dependents. "Obviously," he said, "these veterans receiving or claiming pensions of only $63 or $75 a month were not able to pay for private hospital treatment."

Veterans with unknown status, 58, or 0.1 per cent.

Non-veterans being given emergency treatment, 882, or 0.8 per cent.

Veterans with no claim for compensation or pension and in hospital for less than 90 days, 10,890, or 9.4 per cent.

"It is in this last group (of 10,390 cases, or 9.4 per cent of total) about which anyone reasonably can raise a question of ability to pay," Cmdr. Sharpe said. "And even then, no one knows how many of them were indigent and could not obtain hospital treatment elsewhere."

Church Sodality Holds Meeting

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Joseph's Catholic Church held its meeting Monday evening after Novena devotions in the church. Mrs. Loretta Adelsberger, newly elected president, presided with 24 members in attendance. It was decided that all bands remain the same as the past year with no changes of members. It was also decided to hold a covered dish social at the next meeting Feb. 21. Mrs. Jane Orndorff was appointed chairman of the social. Refreshments were served and the members joined in group singing with Mrs. Ada Myers at the piano.

FAIRFIELD PHYSICIAN IS INJURED

Dr. Ira M. Henderson, 67, of Fairfield, was seriously injured at 3:45 p. m. Monday when his automobile crashed into the rear of a steamroller a mile west of Fairfield on the Emmitsburg road, Pennsylvania State Police report.

The physician was admitted to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg and suffered a fractured right hip, contusions of the chest and lacerations of the face. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

Police said the roller was owned by L. R. Waesche and Sons of Thurmont and was operated by Edward Eyer, 39, Thurmont. Both vehicles were moving east. Damage to the doctor's car was estimated at $400.

Cooking Demonstration

Mr. and Mrs. James Kime, representing a cooking ware company, served a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Valentine Saturday evening, with Mrs. Valentine as hostess.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Phillips, Taneytown; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Valentine, Seven Valleys, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. C. William Eyer, Thurmont, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eyer, Clifford Eyer, Maurice Koontz, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rohrbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Valentine, Mrs. Lawrence Kepner, Kathryn Abell, Judy Ann, Jimmy and Maryann Valentine and Roy and Cheryl Rohrbaugh.

Garden Club Meeting Held

The Silver Fancy Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. E. L. Annan Jr., W. Main St., last Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. Frank Butler and Mrs. Hewitt McPherson as co-hostesses. Mrs. Charles B. Shaughnessy presided. The secretary, Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey, read a card to the club from Mrs. Marie G. Rial, Bradenton Beach, Fla.

Mrs. MacPherson, program chairman, outlined the future activities of the club for the next four months, which were approved by the members. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. MacPherson in Taneytown.

GROUP WILL PRESENT VARIETY SHOW

A local talent variety show will be presented Thursday evening, Feb. 17 in the Lutheran parish house. The evening will consist of entertainment featuring two short plays "The Grass Is Always Greener" and "In Behalf of a Calf" and will star the Emmitt Wayne Quartet.

Other added attractions will be a skit, "Old Time Folk Songs"; impersonations of popular TV piano and vocal soloists. There will be a square dancing exhibition and the public is most cordially invited. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken.

Sharpe—Sharpe

Philip B. Sharpe, firearms specialist of near Emmitsburg, and Marguerite Sharpe, South Portland, Maine, were re-married last Friday afternoon in the Calvary Methodist Church parsonage in Frederick. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Edward Godsey, pastor.

The bride was Mr. Sharpe's first wife and they were divorced in 1936. Now they are residing at his home between Fairfield and Emmitsburg where he conducts a firearms testing laboratory.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Tate, Fairfield. Mr. Sharpe's divorce from his second wife was affirmed last week after the state Superior Court upheld a decision of Judge W. C. Sheeley granting Sharpe the divorce.

Jurors Drawn

Jurors selected for the February term of the Circuit Court for Frederick County from Emmitsburg are Charles L. Sharrer and Vernon G. Keilholz. Jurors to serve from Thurmont will be Roger J. Bowers and Charles H. Stitely, Jr.

PROMOTED

Donald Rogers, son of Burgess and Mrs. Thornton Rodgers, stationed in Germany with the U. S. Army, has been promoted to sergeant, it was learned this week.

Public School Will Be Enlarged

The regular monthly meeting of the local Public School PTA was held Wednesday night in the school cafeteria, President Norman Shriver, presiding.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $425.16. Miss Betty Ann Hollinger was appointed representative and Mrs. Mary Hoke, alternate, to the Emmitsburg Community Fund.

The association approved the purchase of a record player for the elementary school. The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Scott's class for having the largest number of parents present. George J. Martin, local member of the school board, introduced Superintendent Eugene W. Pruitt, who was guest speaker for the evening.

Mr. Pruitt discussed the growing school population and the increasing needs in the county. He compared the situation with the nation, as a whole and it was pointed out that our school had an increase in enrollment figures in the past five years, of 100 pupils and only two additional teachers had been appointed to handle this increase; however, two new classrooms are included in future plans for the local school which should help alleviate the congested conditions now prevalent.

Mr. Pruitt explained that present methods of financing a building program will enable us to have more adequate classroom space to meet the increasing number of students.

Refreshments were enjoyed following adjournment of the meeting.

FOOD SALE

A food sale will be held at the Fire Hall Saturday morning at 10 a. m. All proceeds will go to the choir fund of the Lutheran Church.

Governor Proclaims VFW Week

The State of Maryland Executive Department Governor's Proclamation "VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS WEEK" January 23-29, 1955

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is an organization of men who have experienced the scourge of armed conflict.

Their first-hand knowledge of war in foreign lands has strengthened their love for the United States and their determination that the freedoms and the human dignity which this nation represents shall never dwindle, but that others in less fortunate lands shall be encouraged to continue and enlarge man's unending struggle for the liberty which God ordained.

This state is proud of the Department of Maryland of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and grateful for its constant vigil and activities in the interest of good government and sovereignty of the people.

Nationally, this great and devoted organization of outstanding Americans and its patriotic Ladies' Auxiliary has set aside a week of special observance and for concentration on their high and worthy objectives.

In support of the VFW goals and in recognition of the organization's value to the State, I, Theodore R. McKeldin, Governor, do proclaim the selected week—January 23rd through January 29, 1955—to be "Veterans of Foreign Wars Week" in Maryland and I call upon our citizens to join with me in a general expression of appreciation.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, at the City of Annapolis, this 18th day of January, in the Year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-Five.

OBITUARIES

MRS. CLOYD W. SEISS

Mrs. Leona M. Seiss, 50, wife of Cloyd W. Seiss, Emmitsburg building supplies merchant, died Saturday evening at about 4:45 p. m., in the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., after being ill about a year and had been hospitalized about the past six weeks.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Henry and Mary Henderson Murray of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church; the Sodality and Altar Society of that church. She is survived by her husband, four sisters, Mrs. Catherine O'Malley, Mrs. Edward Montgomery, Mrs. Agnes Clarke and Mrs. Alvin Lamberson, all of Pittsburgh, and several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services were held in St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with a requiem mass celebrated by Rev. Joseph Casl. The pastor, Rev. Fr. John D. Sullivan, delivered a short sermon. Interment was made in St. Joseph's new cemetery.

Pallbearers were Louis, Francis and Benjamin Seiss, Arthur Elder, Karl Orndorff, Frank Topper and Bernard Boyle.

M. L. Creager and Son, funeral director.

MRS. MELVIN L. BEARD

Mrs. Gertrude Kline Beard, 58, wife of Melvin L. Beard, near Woodsboro, died at Frederick Memorial Hospital last Friday at 7:15 p. m. after an illness of a week.

She was a daughter of the late Silas and Elma Misner Kline and was born in Frederick County on July 6, 1896. She was a lifelong member of Rocky Hill Lutheran Church.

Besides her husband she is survived by three children, Mrs. Earl T. Myerly, Detour; Richard L. Beard, Woodsboro; Mrs. Helen G. Danner, Frederick; six grandchildren and the following sisters and brothers: Miss Flora Kline, Emmitsburg; Mrs. William Engle, Woodsboro; Mrs. Russell Strevig, Hampstead; Roy D. Kline, Monkton.

Also surviving are 10 half brothers and sisters, Marvin Kline, New Midway; Mrs. George Caples, Westminster; Ray Kline, Woodsboro; Silas Kline, Ira Kline, New Midway; Mrs. John Bidinger, Woodsboro; Mrs. Melvin Baker, Walkersville; Mrs. Paul Baker, Ladiesburg; William Kline, New Midway, and Richard Kline, Woodsboro.

Funeral services were held at Rocky Hill Church Wednesday at 1 p. m. Rev. Raymond C. Myers, her pastor, officiated. Burial in church cemetery.

THERESA LANSINGER

Word was received here this week of the death of Miss Theresa Lansinger, Baltimore, formerly of Emmitsburg. Miss Lansinger was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Rose Lansinger, W. Main St., and an aunt of Mrs. Rudolph Warthen, Gettysburg, Md.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning with a requiem high Mass at 9:30 in St. Agnes Catholic Church, Catonsville with interment being made in St. Joseph's Catholic Cemetery, Emmitsburg.

DAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Harner are the proud parents of a baby daughter, born Monday at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

Joe Eyer Promoting Big Race Horse Sale

Arrangements for what may become one of the outstanding spring sales of standardbred horses and equipment in the east at the Frederick Fair Grounds have been announced by Joseph H. Eyer, well-known harness horse owner, trainer and driver of Thurmont.

About 200 head of harness horses and equipment are expected to be consigned to the first sale on Mar. 21 and 22, Eyer said this week after returning from Bucyrus, Ohio.

The Thurmont horseman explained that the sale is scheduled just prior to the opening of Roosevelt Raceway on Apr. 1, giving owners and trainers a chance to market and buy as they "bed down" for the season of racing.

Most of the big standardbred sales are held in the fall. Many changes develop before the start of the season, it was explained.

Mr. Eyer plans to offer his L. T. Eden at the sale. The big horse was a consistent winner for the Thurmont stable and is expected to be strongly sought at the sale, also at which he expects to offer four or five other horses.

Consignments already listed for the two-day sale from the Hope Worthy Farms of Mrs. H. Harges, Oskaloosa, Iowa, and Max Hemp, Mechanicsburg, Pa. Both are breeding farms, from which some outstanding pacers and trotters have come to Del Miller, noted trainer and driver of Orlando, Florida, and Stanley Dancer, New Egypt, N. J., another top trainer and driver, have also promised consignments.

Auctioneer John W. Null will start selling each day at 10:30 a. m. A list of most consignments is expected to be available by mid-February although the promoters are certain there will be a lot of late consignments as the stables move northward and from the west.

Mounts Lose To Loyola; Lose Conference Lead

Falling apart in the last half after holding a 16-point lead at half time, the Mt. St. Mary's College basketball team lost an 82-76 decision to Loyola at Baltimore last Saturday evening in a Mason-Dixon Conference battle for first place.

Loyola replaced the Mountaineers as the leaders of the circuit with a 5-0 mark, while the Mount dropped to second place with an 8-1 record.

The defeat snapped a seven-game winning streak for the Emmitsburg outfit who now have an over-all season log of 13-3.

Jim Phelan's charges got off to a brilliant start, leading about midway in the first half by a 29-12 score. Loyola spurred to cut the figure to 33-22, but the Mount rallied on the shooting of Jack Sullivan to lead 47-31 at the half.

The Mountaineers began to cool off in the third period as Loyola started to hit from all angles. Paced by Jerry Komin, the Baltimore quint cut the lead to 55-45. Dick Fitzgerald and Jim Allenbaugh led Loyola to a 64-64 deadlock with 7:10 minutes remaining.

Goals by Bill Brown and Allenbaugh sent Loyola to the front for the first time and the lead rocketed to 75-65 as the Mount attack completely bogged down. With but about two minutes remaining Loyola led 80-67.

The Mountaineers were weakened in the last half when Eddie Bals, Charley O'Donnell, and John McNamara were lost via fouls.

Jack Sullivan took the scoring honors for the game with 28 points. Charley McCullough, Loyola ace, grabbed 17 points, only one of which came in the last half. Allenbaugh was high scorer for the winners with 20 points.

The Mount will have a two-week recess due to midyear examinations. They next meet Washington College at Emmitsburg on Monday, Feb. 7.

DAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gelwicks are receiving felicitations on the birth of a baby daughter born at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Thursday morning.

Miss Constance Kershner remains in serious condition at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

Lions Club Will Sponsor Little League

The organization of a Little League baseball team was discussed at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran parish hall, President J. Luther McDonnell presiding. After a lengthy discussion the club voted to sponsor at least one team of boys and if possible to try and interest other local groups to sponsor several other teams. Actually the teams would not be members of the official National Little League, but would operate on an independent basis, scheduling games with nearby towns. Paul Claypool announced that as general chairman of the project, he had enlisted the aid of several individuals who would be willing to coach, manage and direct the clubs. Among those who volunteered their services, Mr. Claypool said, were James McKeon, Carlos Englar, Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., and Prof. Paul Conway of Mt. St. Mary's College. Messrs. McKeon and Englar were present at the meeting and discussed the project. Heading the committee to make organizational arrangements for the formation of a team are, in addition to Mr. Claypool, are Herbert W. Roger, George L. Wilhide and John J. Hollinger.

A request for the purchase of eyeglasses for a local indigent girl was received by Dr. Beegle, sight conservation committee chairman and the request was honored.

Secretary Robert E. Daugherty presented a letter from Brad Wolfe of the Frederick Lions Club, requesting support for the March of Dimes drive. A $10 donation was authorized. One new member, George R. Sanders, co-proprietor of Sanders Bros. Garage, was admitted. The president announced that flowers had been sent to Mrs. Seiss, deceased, wife of Cloyd W. Seiss, a member.

Secretary Daugherty read an announcement that the annual national convention of Lions International will be held in Atlantic City during May 25-28 and urged that delegates be elected at an early date.

Secretary Daugherty read an announcement that the annual national convention of Lions International will be held in Atlantic City during May 25-28 and urged that delegates be elected at an early date.

Community Fund To Elect

The regular monthly meeting of the Community Fund of Emmitsburg will be held Monday night at 8 p. m. in the VFW annex.

The annual election of officers will be held at this meeting and all organizations are requested to make certain their new delegates to the board of directors of the Fund are present to participate in the election and the transaction of important business.

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, JR.

No one likes to talk about it, but serious thought is being given in Administration circles to what authority the President should have if one or more major cities should be seriously damaged by an atom bomb.

As of the present, about the only step that the Chief Executive could take would be to declare martial law. The Administration thinking is to the effect that martial law is not the way any part of this nation should be governed, even in the event of a disaster. It is for this reason that the matter is being discussed.

The fact that such unpleasant conversations are taking place in Administration circles should not cause any alarm whatsoever. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that the discussions are simply precautionary planning and are not prompted by any inside information.

The reason for the conversations at the present time is that the "Defense Production Act" expires June 30 and before long Congress will consider Administration recommendations that the Act be extended for two years. If emergency authority is to be given the President to deal with disasters, the logical legislation in which to embody such authority would be the Defense Production Act.

This specific new authority under discussion would be to enable the President to empower the Civilian Defense Administration and such other agencies, both private and governmental, as he might deem advisable, to try to bring order out of chaos in the domestic economy. In an atomic emergency it undoubtedly would be necessary to commandeer transportation, medical supplies, hospital facilities, food, water, power, and all of the services needed to keep a community operating.

Present thinking in top Administration circles is definitely along these lines, but some of the planners in the Administration are trying very hard to use this situation to revive stand-by authority to control prices, wages and rents.

Reports of this effort by the planner have spread rather widely, and more emphasis has been placed upon the emergency authority to control prices, wages and rents than upon the real objective of Administration thinking—to keep the economy running in the event of atomic attack.

THE BUDGET. Its submission to Congress created little surprise as the details were reasonably well known in advance. A number of Southern Democrats were much disturbed that it was necessary for the President to again submit a budget that did not balance. This group is fearful that the budget probably never will be balanced if it is not balanced while Mr. Humphrey is Secretary of the Treasury.

The argument is that Mr. Humphrey is one of the ablest men ever to hold this office and that if the New Deal-Fair Deal returns to power it will hold that it is not necessary to balance the budget inasmuch as one of the leading financial men of the nation, Mr. Humphrey, did not balance it. The conservative thought is that the Fair Dealers would be able to convince the public that an unbalanced budget is desirable or, otherwise, Mr. Humphrey would have opposed the $7.4 billion tax cut last year by Congress in favor of balancing the budget. In the last quarter century the budget has been in balance for only three years—in 1947 and 1948 when the Republicans controlled the 80th Congress in the Truman administration, and in 1951, when the Post-Korean tax increases boosted revenue faster than it could be spent.

market, price is above the loan plus carrying charges, growers are urged to redeem their grain since it will be to their financial advantage to do so.

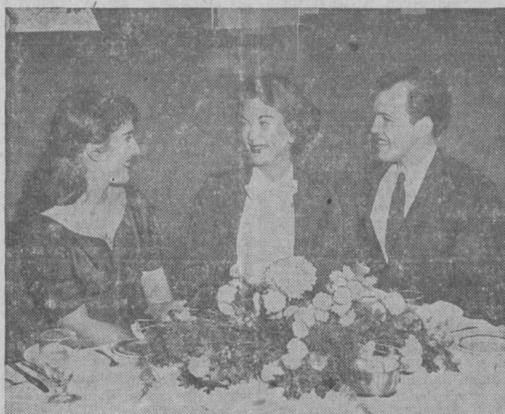

In cases where growers do not redeem their grain the warehouse receipts will be turned over to Commodity Credit Corp. If the market value of the grain has gone above the value of the loan plus interest and charges, the difference will be paid to the producer by CCC.

Chairman Reeves makes it clear that the above applies only to grain under CCC loan and stored in public warehouses. It does not apply to grain stored on the farm or to grain under purchase agreement. He explains that growers of grain stored on the farm usually have time after maturity of the loan in which to redeem their grain. This is the period when arrangements are being made for the necessary storage space for the grain taken over and for getting delivery instructions to the grower.

In the case of grain under purchase agreement the grower may elect to deliver or not when the final delivery instructions are issued, provided the grain has been offered to CCC by a designated time prior to the loan maturity date.

Both youngsters are currently in New York making the rounds of Broadway and TV producers offices and both stated that they will use their Maggie Marlowe prize money to further their dramatic training. The contest attracted over 300 young actors and actresses from all parts of the country.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Maryland farmers who have 1954 crop grain under loan and stored in commercial warehouses are being notified of the dates by which the loan must be repaid if they wish to retain possession of the grain. The repayment and loan maturity dates for wheat and barley is Feb. 28, 1955, according to George B. Reeves, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

LOOKING AHEAD

By Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
George, Arkansas

Thanks To The FBI
The great value of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to our nation's security never was more dramatically demonstrated than in the trial last month in Louisville, Ky., of Carl Braden, self-styled "liberal" on the editorial staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal. He was indicted on the charge of advocating sedition as an outgrowth of a serious racial disturbance in Louisville. Had it not been for the FBI he probably would have gone free and a strong force of Communists in Louisville would have continued their poisonous work of thought-shaping.

The admitted facts were these: Carl Braden bought a house in an all-white section of Louisville and immediately transferred ownership to a Negro, Andrew Wade IV. Wade's family moved in and trouble erupted. Shots were fired into the house and finally a bomb tore away a section of the wall. Racial tension in Louisville became explosive. Braden organized a "Wade Defense Committee"; and, in the newspapers, on radio and at mass meetings Wade's occupation of the house was defended and the bombing was passionately deplored.

Witness Helps Braden
Commonwealth Attorney A. Scott Hamilton investigated. Then he announced the theory that Communists had planned the entire Wade house-bombing and even the House-bombing incident to agitate racial trouble. A hue and cry arose against Hamilton. Some labeled him a victim of "hysteria." He took considerable abuse when he brought Braden to trial on a charge of advocating sedition. Braden was given a leave of absence with pay by the Courier-Journal, until the trial ended.

Even when Prosecutor Hamilton presented damaging evidence against the newspaperman, a great many people were unconvinced. Braden himself testified convincingly that he had never been a Communist. Then an impressive array of witnesses came forward to bolster his defense. They included John Briney, Courier-Journal writer; William Stuckey, Courier-Journal reporter; John F. Bennett, English instructor, Indiana University; Dr. Louis C. Kesselman, influential chairman of the Political Science Dept., University of Louisville; Henry Goodman and Philip Foisie, colleagues of Braden on the Courier-Journal copy-desk staff; and Schuyler C. Witten, former president of the Ford Local, UAW-CIO.

A Telephone Call
On Friday afternoon, December 10, as the trial drew to a close, a messenger stepped into the courtroom with a note for Prosecutor Hamilton. Someone was calling him on the telephone. Hamilton went outside, to a telephone booth. His caller was Edward F. Boyle, chief of the FBI office in Louisville. Boyle spoke to Hamilton at length and then the prosecutor hurried into the courtroom and obtained permission of the judge to introduce a rebuttal witness the next day.

In view of subsequent events it may be assumed that the FBI had watched the Braden trial closely, hoping that Prosecutor Hamilton would be able to build such a strong circumstantial case against Braden that the jury would convict him. But as the trial drew to a close, FBI Agent Boyle, it may be assumed, felt there was a good chance Braden would get a "not guilty" verdict. In such case, the newspaperman might become a "hero" to a considerable number of people and his influence as a thought-shaper and opinion-maker expanded.

The Clincher
And so FBI Agent Boyle's message to Prosecutor Hamilton was that the FBI had decided to end the splendid service of one of its vitally important counterespies by making this person available as a witness against Braden. On Saturday a 44-year-old brunet seamstress, Mrs. Alberta Ahearn gave testimony in the Braden trial that shocked Louisville. Braden, she said, was an active Communist leader in Louisville. He had recruited her into the Red conspiracy. He collected dues for the Red cell to which they both belonged. She had been with him, and his wife, in the Red underground in Louisville since 1951—and all the while she was an FBI counterspy! Braden was convicted, sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment.

Prosecutor Hamilton has secured indictments against wife Anne Braden and four other persons, all connected with the

The 28 cows in the herd were milked twice daily, yielding 18 quarts with butterfat averaging 4.08.

"Wade Defense Committee."
Mrs. Ahearn identified the ring-leaders as Communists. And in addition she further shocked Louisville by identifying as a Communist Mrs. Beatrice Pearson, chief statistician of the Louisville City-County Health Dept. The FBI has lost a courageous undercover agent; but Louisville is wiser, and a clever, influential Communist propagandist in a strategic position as a newspaperman has been silenced for a time.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Current drive to raise postal rates illustrates fallacy of government engaging in business.

While obviously postal service cannot be turned over to private enterprise, a review of many pages of testimony before Congress on subject of reducing postal losses to falling almost $400 million per year, clearly shows difference in thinking between private enterprise and government enterprise.

Presenting C. W. Harder well documented audited testimony, Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield has shown how first class mail makes annual profit of $105 million. But this profit and much more is absorbed in losses incurred on second, third and fourth class mail. Yet it is proposed to raise rates on first class, as well as money losing second, third class mail.

Yet, without raising already profitable first class rates, a major part of deficit could be wiped out by simple means.

An example is third class mail accounting for over $190 million annual loss. It was never intended government should get into business of distributing advertising. Yet any big national combine seeking to drive out regional manufacturers or packers can flood any area with coupons addressed to "Householder" and government is obliged to deliver them at cheap rates. A simple law adjustment requiring all mail to carry the specific name of an addressee would go a long way toward damping this leak.

© National Federation of Independent Business

In order to encourage dissemination of news Congress provided for low cost second class mail. But interpretations of this Congressional intent have so expanded, any publication, even if devoted to fiction, "true" confession, Hollywood gossip, or similar content can go second class mail. The result is more than 500 magazines flood second class mail which shows a deficit of almost $250 million per year.

Congressional testimony shows only four magazines account for $20 million yearly loss, thus total for all the more than 500 magazines reaches staggering total.

But simple solution to this problem was worked out years ago by most cities, counties and states in regulating where legal advertising should be placed. Legal advertising can only be placed in newspapers of general circulation in the area. Thus legal advertising by government subdivisions must be placed in newspapers which are published to serve all the public, and not just special groups such as "true" confession fans.

Thus, by using same yardstick used by local government to determine eligibility of publications to carry legal advertising, post office could, if permitted by law, restrict use of second class mail to bona fide newspapers of general circulation, and thus wipe out major portion, or all, of present operating deficit.

However, these are the simple, business like solutions that businessmen would apply to problems of similar nature. There is no doubt that the very practical minded and efficient career postal authorities could wipe out their losses in a fair manner without increase in rates, if permitted to do so by law. But the business like way, and the government way, is often far apart.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

The Republican administration continues to make progress toward balancing the national budget.

President Eisenhower last week submitted his budget message to Congress and it reflects the conservative attitude of the Republican Party and the President toward the finances of the U.S. plus consideration and understanding of the individual taxpayer's problems.

The budget for the 1956 fiscal year, beginning July 1, would have been balanced had not the Administration and Congress determined last year that the people should enjoy a reduction in taxes.

Total tax reductions enacted by Congress, and sponsored by President Eisenhower last year totaled 7.4 billion, the largest reduction in any single year in the country's history. The budget would have been balanced for the next year if there had been no tax cuts. However, the President's message said, "It was desirable to share the benefits from the large expenditure reductions."

The result is, the President has determined, there can be no tax reductions this year, and he said, "Any other course of action would result in either (1) inadequate expenditures for national security, or (2) inflationary borrowing."

The entire budget story centers around the fact that this country has moved from a wartime to a peace-time type of economy, but since it is an insecure peace the expenditures for defense are still exceedingly large.

Of the $62.4 billion recommended, $40.5 billion is allocated for national defense, or 65 per cent of the total budget expenditures. Simple arithmetic shows that all other Federal activities, which includes all services the people receive, will cost only $21.9 billion.

The 1950 fiscal year budget of $62.4 billion is $1.1 billion less than for the 1955 year, and under a Republican administration the Federal budget has annually been reduced. The goal of a balanced budget yearly comes closer.

Despite tax and spending reductions, no necessary services to the American people have been cut and the nation has an adequate defense system. The reductions in taxes and spending were possible primarily because the Administration in Washington has been careful in handling the money you pay in taxes.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—With the new budget submitted to Congress last week, the President has taken another big step closer to his four-year goal—a balanced budget.

The new estimate of government income and expenses for the year beginning next July projects an imbalance of $2.4 billion. If Congress shaves any amount off the spending estimates (which it usually does) or if business activity rises above the expected rate, with consequent greater tax collections, the increase in the government's debt will be even less.

There is growing demand for a balance on the government's books. Since we are at peace, and are enjoying prosperity in most areas, it is time that the Federal government put itself on a pay-as-we-go basis. Assuming the nation would be at peace, President Eisenhower pledged every effort toward this goal in the '52 campaign.

Series E Savings Bonds are only about 14 years old, yet they have already become a national institution. They are owned today by 45 million Americans who don't believe in taking a chance with their future.

Two-thirds of next year's expenses involve protection of our country — from more hydrogen bombs to aid in building a defense highway in Thailand. Many more expenses are involved in what the President calls "the things that individuals cannot do, or cannot so well do."

In this category, he has recommended two needed and important expenditures for Western Maryland. He requested $1.4 million for flood control in the Cumberland area, and $110,000 for the long-awaited Hancock-to-Cumberland C and O Canal Parkway.

There are many similar projects all over the country not included in the budget. Strangely enough, some of the people most disappointed over their omission are the same ones who variously call for lower taxes or an end to deficit financing.

This points up the responsibility of our voters. They should send to Congress or to their state legislatures representatives who are pledged to vote for what their constituents want. But if voters want greater Federal expenditures, they should not object to high taxes. And if they ask for lower taxes, they should not object to a greater Federal debt.

But they will certainly recognize her as Linda Porter, hostess of the new daytime dramatic series, "Way of the World," which started out the New Year in the 10:30 a.m. Monday through Friday time slot on NBC-TV.

Gloria will preside over a kitchen in which she will present the sponsor's commercials... a sight that should be familiar to the three young, and always hungry, Louises.

Cinemascoop!!! Don't be surprised to see more and more television half-hour episodes put together to form full-length feature motion pictures.

Recently a major studio asked to see two chapters of "The Life of Riley," starring Bill Bendix. They were "Destination Brooklyn" and "The Rileys in Brooklyn," Bill Bendix stanzas of the popular series which could be combined into an hour of good movie fare simply by adding a few minutes to the reels.

ribbing everyone who delayed the shooting in any way. Jim Backus, who plays "Judge Stevens" to Joan Davis' "Mrs. Stevens," finally had to make a costume change. In his dressing room he didn't hear the usual sounds coming from the stage. He rushed out, thinking he was late for his scene. "Sorry I couldn't get dressed any faster," he explained. The silence was deafening. No one answered him. "What's the matter with everyone," said Backus. "You'd think I'd mentioned an opposition show on stage." Then he realized he was being kidded. Joan had given the word to everyone to give him the silent treatment.

RAY MILLAND had all the McNulty helpers helpless from laughing on "The Ray Milland Show" filming the other day when he came up with this psychiatrist story: Dressed in artist's smock, beret, and a Van Dyke beard, a man walked into the doctor's office. "Lie down," said the psy. Ray Milland psychiatrist. "I take it from your garb that you are an artist."

"No, I'm a plumber," said the visitor. "Then, why the artist's get-up?" asked the doctor. "That's just what I want to see you about," was the response.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 27—An article in Reader's Digest for January by J. Ratcliff causes me to write on a subject which has tempted me for some time.

After forty years, during which I have studied company earnings, I am convinced that a definite relationship exists between the earnings of a corporation and the health of its officials. Most cases which I have studied to ascertain the reason for a company's declining business in a growing industry have shown the answer to be in the failing health of the president or of the sales manager or of some other top official.

A man may be able to go to the office each day and put in his eight hours; he may answer his mail and preside at all required meetings; but he may have no pep or zest for doing any extra work. Companies which do not go ahead by extending their lines or their territories are going backward. This is very likely to be true of a company whose top official is not in A-1 health.

Cause Of Poor Health
According to the above-mentioned article, the basic cause of most illness is stress and strain. The doctors talk about bacteria, viruses, high blood pressure, weak hearts, etc.; but the real cause is worry. The average businessman must drive himself all day and go out with his wife or associates every night. The result is that without sleeping pills and aspirin many concerns would be

Most Farmers Under Social Security This Year

Most farm workers will be under Social Security Act in 1955 as a result of the 1954 Amendments. A worker who is paid cash wages of at least $100 by one farmer during the year will be earning social security credits, regardless of the length of time he works during that year.

Almost all farmers, during a part of each year, hire someone to help them in some way with their farm work. It may be that the work is done in the planting, cultivating, harvesting and selling of grains, orchard products, cotton and tobacco or it may be in the raising of poultry and livestock. An example of how the new provision effective Jan. 1, 1955 works is shown below:

Suppose Joe Brown worked for Tom Smith for two different periods in 1955. The first work was done in February, March and April and Tom was paid $75 in cash plus room and board. He went to work again during August, September and October and was paid $200 in cash plus room and board. Joe is considered a covered farm employee of Mr. Smith under the new amendments to the Social Security Act.

It is the responsibility of Mr. Smith, as the farm employer, to get the social security number and name from Joe's social security card. Mr. Smith will also be required to deduct two per cent of the cash wages paid to Joe for the entire year ($275) and Mr. Brown will contribute an equal amount. The four per cent of the $275 will be reported to the Director of Internal Revenue together with Joe's name and social security number. The value of the room and board is not reported since payments to agricultural workers other than cash do not count for social security purposes.

In this way Joe will be earning social security credits in order that he and his family may be entitled to benefits when he retires at or after age 65. He will also be earning credits for the protection of his survivors who may be entitled to receive benefits should he die at any age. These benefits are payable as a matter of right and are based on obliged to close up.

Investors ask me how is it that the stock of one concern listed on the Big Board has been constantly climbing each month the past year, while that of another in the same industry has not moved a point. The answer could probably be found by any doctor permitted to diagnose the head men. Some day, company directors who now spend so freely for financial audits will be willing to submit to their stockholders annual health reports on all their officials. I forecast that this will be the day when the stocks of many so-called "sleeping companies" will zoom upward.

What About Accountants.

Of course, I believe in the work of accountants; but has not much of this work become so routine and late that neither directors nor stockholders give much thought to audits? As a result, accountants are coming to be classed as "morticians." Formal audits can become mere "autopsies." I forecast that a great change is coming in this connection.

I believe in the importance of studying figures; but I am sure that the condition of the "two-legged" figures of a management are far more important to the stockholders than the "mathematical" figures. Some day there will be a great awakening along these lines. Men will be retired and pensioned according to their physical condition, rather than simply according to their age. Incidentally, I believe President Eisenhower's interest in better health could result in greater earnings for most companies and better wages for many employees.

Profits vs. Worries

But the President should not be content to talk about health. Why not go to the root of the difficulty and talk about "stress," as does the author of this Reader's Digest article? Instead of spending billions of dollars opening new hospitals, the President could solve the problem by closing scores of useless bureaus and commissions. These are primarily the cause of the stress and worry which are bringing about the breakdown of executives, foremen, and especially employees being paid by "piece work."

Did you ever think why Jesus has been called "The Great Physician?" Have you noticed how very little is written in the Bible about illnesses? Very few accounts of Jesus' followers indicate that they died of any disease. Certainly—if they were not martyred—they lived to a very old age. The answer may be that they followed Jesus' constant teaching not to be too anxious for the things which the world seeks. Jesus taught that stress and worry are futile. Even 1500 years before that, Moses gave some good health advice in the Tenth Commandment. See Exodus, Chapter 20, Verse 17.

Scholarship Open

Scholarship examinations will be conducted at McDonogh School on Saturday, Mar. 26, for applicants for appointments as John McDonogh Foundation students, according to announcement by Dr. Robert L. Lamborn, headmaster.

The tests, consisting of achievement (studies) and mental ability, will begin at 9 a. m.

Correct your own mistakes by avoiding those of others.

To be eligible for the examinations, a boy must be a resident of the State of Maryland he must have completed at least the sixth grade in June, 1955. He must not have reached his 16th birthday prior to Sept. 1, 1955.

Candidates will be ranked in order of their scholastic achievement as established by the tests, and final selection will be made on the basis of financial need and personal qualifications. An applicant's need for financial assistance must be established and no inflexible maximum amount of family income will be the basis for determining acceptability. It is not necessary that an applicant be an orphan or semi-orphan.

The position of Foundation students in the school is the same as that of any other students. Requests for applications should be addressed to John C. Bentz, director of admissions, McDonogh School, McDonogh, Md.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

GREAT HORNED OWL
(Bubo virginianus)

Sometimes called Hoot Owl, Big Owl and Cat Owl.

RANGE: Found in wooded areas of most of North America south from the Arctic; moves southward in winter; more common in western part of Maryland.

DESCRIPTION: Length about 23 inches; more bulky than the red shouldered and other similar hawks, and longer wing spread; distinguished by conspicuous ear tufts from whence it derives its name; large yellow eyes, powerful beak; formidable in appearance. Color mostly brown with white patches on throat; has a rather dark appearance and loose feathers.

BREEDING: Nests in old crow's or hawk's nests in dense forests and in caves; rarely builds its own nest; lays from 2 to 5 dull white almost round eggs; incubation by both sexes, about 25 to 30 days.

HABITS: Probably our worst feathered predator but fortunately not sufficiently plentiful in Maryland to seriously injure any species; however, it does destroy poultry, ruffed grouse, rabbits and other game. Most active at dusk and on moonlight nights; however it can see perfectly in daylight; its attack is swift and silent. It destroys many rats and mice, some crows and hawks, and there is an instance where one killed a cat.

MANAGEMENT: Probably its numbers should be kept in check; some individuals take heavy toll of poultry and game in some localities and should be destroyed—no bird or mammal should be exterminated. The great horned owl should be "controlled" rather than managed.

VALUE: Of 127 stomachs examined by Dr. A. K. Fisher, 31 contained poultry or game birds; eight contained other birds; 13 mice and 65 other mammals, probably mostly rabbits, perhaps some squirrels. More injurious than beneficial.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

After going over the January issue of Sports Afield, one sentence stuck in my mind: A trained nose should be standard equipment for woodland trips. This was a brand new idea. As Ewart Autry, author of the article commented, "I had always thought of my beak as something stuck on my face to breathe through and to get a bad cold in. The odors it picked up were merely incidental."

You expect your eyes to note the difference between a bird and a squirrel and with your ears you can sort the cry of a goose from the bark of a dog. The sense of smell isn't as highly developed as the sense of sight or hearing, but it can be pretty effective when you're in the woods. Did you know it is possible to smell a snake?

One day afield a friend of Autry's stopped dead in the path and announced he smelled a snake—a moment's search and there it was, coiled behind a nearby log. This man had "trained his nose." He explained that when he was in the woods and caught a special scent, he always took time to try and locate its source. If he found it, he'd sniff at it for several minutes and try to file it away in his mind. After doing this for several years, he found that the odors of the woods were no longer just jumbled mixtures but separate and distinct things that he could usually pin down.

After the snake experience, Autry decided it might be a good idea to give his sniffer a little education. The first lesson was hard. Down in a creek valley he caught a faint but very pleasant scent.

"I started to crisscross and sniff the air like a hound searching for a lost trail. It took me 15 minutes to pinpoint the scent to a vine of wild grapes. I pulled down a bunch and sniffed it carefully, then stuck it in my pocket and gave it an occasional sniff during the rest of the day. From then on I could easily identify the scent of wild grapes the moment my nose caught it. From grapes I progressed to other things and was soon able to sort many odors of the woods that formerly meant nothing."

Here's an even better example of what "the nose that knows" means to sportsmen: One day I came across a friend who had just shot a 10-point buck. To my question, "How did you get him?" he answered "Caught his scent first." A buck gives off a lot of scent when he's alive and moving; with a little practice you can smell a buck a good distance, especially if the wind is right. Of course, it's different with a doe. Her scent is a lot weaker than a buck's.

The part of the body some people talk with is generally too big for the part they think with.

Everyone's days may be numbered—but some people live as if they were endless.

SJHS NEWS

Preparations for the Mission Bazaar are in full swing and final details will be finished when the bazaar opens at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Feb. 4. Freshman will start the bazaar rolling by selling box lunches at noon. Each class will decorate its booths in a competitive spirit for the best booth is always keen at the Mission Bazaar. This year the booths are divided into the refreshment table, fancy table, religious articles, fun house, grab bags, bingo and various other games.

Highlighting the bazaar will be the Valentine dance that evening during which time the King and Queen will be selected by votes of the students. Those nominated for King and Queen are Virginia Joy, Nancy Capuano, Anne Breth, Barbara Ringer, Floyd Miller, James Dukehart, Francis Lingg, and Richard Little.

The success of the bazaar is determined by the donations, patronage of friends and parents, and we wish to thank in advance all those who have made our past efforts for the poor in foreign lands so successful and also those who have aided us thus far this year.

"What — No Chemistry!" was the title of the play chemistry students presented at an assembly Jan. 27. Floyd Miller played the role of Dick, a high school student who did not want to take chemistry. Supporting roles were held by Dolores Topper, his mother, and by Theresa Rybikowsky, Theodora Rybikowsky, M. Walter, J. Keefe, E. Rocks, M. Scott, W. Greco, and R. Gelwicks portraying spirits of chemistry. Before the program, Dolores Topper spoke to the students on the importance of chemistry in our lives.

The Mother Seton Club of SJHS is sponsoring a literature and art contest among the parochial schools in the surrounding vicinity. The contest will begin Jan. 31 and is being held for the purpose of furthering interest in the cause of Mother Seton.

Donald Tracey was elected president of the class of '58 Monday afternoon. Other members elected to offices in the class were John Randolph, vice president; Barbara Ringer, secretary; Patricia Sprankle, treasurer; John Adelsberger, leader, and Joyce Peters, follower.

Mr. George L. Bennett from the Dept. of Employment Security, tested the seniors Monday with a general aptitude test given by the state. The tests are shown in what occupational pattern students are best suited after graduation.

The eliminations for the annual CSMC oratorical contest will be held Feb. 1 in the auditorium. Juniors and seniors who will be competing for top honors are Ellen Locks, T. Rybikowsky, M. Scott, J. Keefe, Theresa Rybikowsky, M. Foster, M. Sanders, and John Roddy. The winner will then compete against contestants from the other units of the Blue Ridge Conference of the CSMC.

St. Joseph's squeezed out St. John's of Frederick in a thrilling basketball game Monday night at Emmitsburg. This was St. Joe's ninth win in 11 attempts.

St. Joe's took the opening tap, scored, and held a slight lead for the remainder of the evening. St. John's trailed at the quarter, 5-10, and this was the only period in which they were outscored. St. John's came back hard in the second period and narrowed the ratio somewhat. Trailing 20-15 going into the second half, the visitors gained momentum and narrowed the lead to 30-33 at the far turn. After an action-packed 4th quarter in which both teams scored 22 points, the final tally stood 55 for St. Joe's, and 32 for St. John's.

High scorer for the evening was captain William Greco, with 18 points. Following close behind was Robert Gelwicks with 16 points to his credit.

St. Joe's girls defeated the Johnettes from St. John's 33-28. In two other contests played the past week St. Joe's defeated Frederick High, 58-53, and St. Mary's of Hagerstown, 61-52.

St. Joe's quinet meets the men of St. Francis Prep Feb. 1 in a home game which should be an excellent exhibition game.

Roads Commission Condemns Land

Condemnation proceedings have been entered in Frederick County Circuit Court by the State Roads Commission for a small amount of land needed for improvements to Maryland Route 32 from Emmitsburg to the Pennsylvania State line, west of Emmitsburg. The defendants are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin B. Brawner, Route 3, and The Farmers State Bank of Emmitsburg, as mortgagee.

The commission, according to the petition, is condemning .06 of an acre in fee simple and .007 of an acre in slope and drainage easements along with any right of the defendants to the existing bed of Route 32. The commission deposited a check in the amount of $100 with the clerk of the Circuit Court as its estimate of the fair value of the land sought to be condemned.

Your Personal Health

No Shawl For Grandma

A little old lady in a shawl and lace cap sitting with her hands folded in her lap—that's the way Grandma's picture has been painted for generations. It's high time for the grandmothers of the world to stand up and fight this unfair picture. In doing so, they will be fighting for their lives.

Doctors say that "babying" elderly people until they feel useless only hurries them to the grave. It is just as foolish to overprotect our aged parents as to overindulge our children. Overprotection can turn a happy, useful person into a cranky dependent, dragging miserably through the last years of life. Grandma would rather get a big dinner for the family than be taken out to the finest restaurant. Whistler's Mother would have looked happier rolling out a pie.

The trend a few decades ago was to put people over 60 on the shelf. Fortunately many refused to stay there. Now doctors tell us how important useful work is in keeping them healthy and contented. Even those with heart trouble often do much better if they have light work. Sitting around and complaining is more strain on the heart muscle.

Industries that used to have arbitrary retirement ages are beginning to take a new look at their policies. Retirement at 60 may hinder rather than help a person to begin to live in quiet contentment. It may make him feel unwanted and inferior. Gradual slowing down of activity, switching to lighter or less time-consuming work, and preparation for new interests that can be followed when full retirement comes—this is industry's progressive plan.

Sons and daughters may well go along with the findings of both industry and the medical profession. The whole family, as well as its older members will benefit. Grandma may have to struggle against well-meant efforts to wrap her in a shawl, but the results in better health and real contentment will be worth it.

The Women's Auxiliary of the fire company held its meeting in the Fire Hall Monday night to discuss plans for a chicken and oyster supper to be held at the hall on Saturday, Feb. 5.

The Fire Co. will hold a penny bingo party in the hall Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Welty, Middletown, visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Hahn.

The first meeting of the Rocky Ridge 4-H Club for the new year was held in the fire hall recently, with the president, Robert Mumma, presiding. New officers were elected for the coming year with the following results: President, Vernon Clem; secretary, William Kaas; treasurer, Eugene Fisher; reporter, Bob Cass, and leader, Richard Saylor. The members discussed the possibilities of having a dance in the near future with no definite plans as yet. The meetings will be held the second Monday night of every month at eight o'clock. All boys between the age of 10 and 21 are eligible to join the club.
