That letter last week by E. G. E. really had a lot of good sense incorporated in it. The letter I am referring to of course, is the one concerning a Memorial Hall. While the spirit to build such a hall has bogged down considerably the past two years, it is still not too late to set about and get things moving once more.

As I gather from the letter, the main gripe of opponents of the idea to build such a hall, is the amount of upkeep or maintenance such a large building would require.

Well the letter very sensibly brings forth the information that at present it is costing organizations considerable money to maintain their present buildings, so why not incorporate all the maintenance expenses into one package? This would undoubtedly result in a big saving to all organizations concerned and would adequately maintain a Memorial Hall if all participants paid their rightful share.

Here's an angle: If the Civic Assn. can raise $3000 for the purchase of a field for entertainment purposes and benefit affairs, and the town itself can raise $5000 for the hospital drive and the Corporation of Emmitsburg can spare money for a municipal building, why then can't enough money be raised for a Memorial Hall when already $5000 has been collected to date?

Now then, don't get me wrong. I am not knocking or trying to put the "skids" under any of the above mentioned projects. They are all noble ideas and deserve backing. But what I am trying to put across is the idea that the cause is not nearly so hopeless as it sometimes appears. After all, other towns already have had their buildings for several years and I'm not talking through my hat. Walkersville and Fairfield are just a few that have erected town halls in the past decade. Interest in the project certainly is dormant, as E. G. E. pointed out in his letter . . . meetings which are held, and which incidentally are open to the general public, are usually attended by just a few of the officers of the association.

Now then, this is just a woman's suggestion: Why not have the association appoint a subscription committee, one that would take charge of an annual canvass of the entire community; appoint a finance chairman who could appoint crews to make arrangements with the various organizations and induce them each to hold at least one annual fund-raising event? You'd really be surprised how fast money could be realized by this method. At any rate a revival of spirit is badly needed and the longer inactivity continues the deeper the issue will become. Let's get started once more folks, it's not as hopeless as it appears.

I wish the cancer experts could make up their minds so I could make up mine. Every so often a publicity release is issued that cigaret smokers can look forward to the unpleasant thought of dying of lung or throat cancer. Sometime ago they were working on the heart angle too, but this seems to sort of vanished as the cancer forces are throwing in reams of publicity. However, just as soon as a claim is issued, it is promptly, and understandably so, denied by cigaret manufacturers. Maybe some day soon we will have the answer and then we can all make up our minds to our best advantage.

A word of encouragement for those parents who are concerned about the welfare and safety of their children who must travel the highways a short distance from town. It is hoped that speeding cars will be slowed down to a safe speed by the erection of speed limit signs at the outskirts of town. The Town Council, I understand, plans to ask the State Roads Commission to erect 35-mile-an-hour signs in those areas in the near future. This will unquestionably relieve the worries of those parents who live on the outskirts and who see every day, cars zooming by their children at speeds of 50 miles an hour and up.

Mr. and Mrs. William Garner, Alexandria, Va., spent the weekend here at the home of Mrs. Garner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald.

Two Victims Of Recent Wreck Succumb

A New York state woman died in Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, Pa., last Saturday night from a May 28 accident four miles south of Emmitsburg, another traffic fatality on the Memorial Day holiday weekend.

It was the only fatal accident in Frederick County to occur during the three-day holiday.

The dead woman is Mrs. Muriel Bears, 50, of Kenmore, N. Y. She sustained a severe fracture of the pelvis, a fracture of the rib on the left side and cuts and bruises.

Dr. C. G. Crist, the Adams County, Pa., coroner, said the cause of death was the fractured pelvis.

Maryland State Police said the two-car collision occurred about 2:15 a. m. on May 28 on Rt. 15.

Two persons are still in the Warner Hospital as a result of the crash. Mrs. Bears' husband, Henry, 50, has a fractured jaw and cuts and bruises.

Melvin Cauliflower, who gave an E. Church St. address in Frederick, was the driver of the other car. He sustained a concussion, fractured skull, cuts and bruises and was unconscious for several days. His condition was still critical Monday morning and he died Tuesday at 10:25 a. m. at Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa.

Adams County Coroner C. G. Crist fixed cause of death as a fractured skull. Cauliflower had been semi-conscious since the accident shortly after midnight on May 28.

Late Tuesday morning, hospital officials had been unable to contact Cauliflower's mother at her Taneytown residence. Neighbors reported her to be visiting with a sister in Union Bridge.

Pass The Peacepipe

In Canada, a two-century Indian curse on the bridge between Halifax and Dartmouth predicted, "three times the bridge would fall." By last year the bridge had collapsed twice, once during a storm and once to its own accord.

A truce has been called and when the $11 million suspension bridge was opened a member of the Indian tribe was on hand to promise that the curse had been lifted.

STATE-WIDE AIR RAID ALARM WEDNESDAY

"Stick to your radio on June 15" is the advice being given out by Civil Defense officials.

All of Maryland's Civil Defense organizations will participate in the nation-wide exercise, Operation Alert '55, by "manning control centers, sounding attack warning devices, and testing the various communications systems," according to Sherley Ewing, State Director.

"We believe that the most important thing we can accomplish is to educate the public to the meaning of the new public action signals," Mr. Ewing said.

At the sounding of the two signals the general public will be asked to follow different specific instructions in different areas of the State, just exactly as might be necessary in a real attack. Mr. Ewing pointed out that the public must learn to follow the directions and plans of their local Civil Defense Directors in emergencies.

ALERT SIGNAL, a steady blast of the siren from 3 to 5 minutes at 12:05 p. m., (DST).

TAKE COVER SIGNAL, a wail-sound for 3 minutes at 2:05 p. m., (DST).

That is all, for, the all-clear will be given by radio.

There will be no public participation or action. The purpose of the test is to acquaint people with the new signals.

The timing of this test will be uniform throughout this entire area. The nationwide alert begins at 12:05 p. m. (DST) with the sounding of the "Alert Signal," a steady blast on the sirens, horns, and other local warning devices. The public should tune to their local radio station at that time.

The next sounding of the sirens will be at 2:05 p. m. This will be the "Take-Cover" Signal (a warbling sound). The public should again listen to their radio to learn about the meaning of this particular signal in the event of a real attack.

The exercise will completely terminate for all except Civil Defense staffs at 3:48 p. m. with the "all clear" being announced over the radio, just as would be necessary after a real warning or attack.

Memorial Hall Group Meets

A meeting of the Memorial Hall Assn. was held Wednesday night in the Fire Hall, President Edgar J. Emrich presiding.

The status of the organization was reviewed and it was decided that it should continue on as it has in the past, that is to hold periodic meetings and to continue raising funds for a building fund.

The president disclosed that a local individual pledges $100 if 99 other contributors each will donate $1 apiece. Pledges of material which were made several years ago still hold true, it was reported.

Council Seeks More Speed Regulating Signs

A full board was present at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners held Monday night in the Fire Hall.

Wales E. Rightnour was chosen as the chairman of the Board of Commissioners, replacing Col. Thomas J. Frailey, who did not seek re-election. Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers, by authority of the Board, reappointed Miss Louise Sebald as the town clerk, and Daniel J. Kaas as chief of police. The appointments are for a one-year term.

A delegation from the Federal Ave. section was present at the meeting and asked Council about the possibilities of installing sewerage in a portion of that section. Two new homes are to be constructed there in the near future and two other houses also are interested in the project. The sewerage, if installed, would accommodate at least four homes there. The Board took the request and promised early action, one way or another.

Town Clerk Louise Sebald presented the reports of the treasurer, secretary and tax collector, all of which were approved as read.

Parking meter revenue for the month of May totaled $216.18. There was a total of 51 parking meter violations during the month and $19.35 in traffic fines for an over-all total of $286.53.

Mayor Rodgers gave a brief report on the proposed municipal building to be located on S. Seton Ave. He said that he had several plans in mind at the present time, but nothing definite to date.

Council voted to try something new in the line of sewerage disposal and a trial test of several months' duration will be made. A new sewerage catalyzer will be employed at the disposal plant during the summer months in an effort to keep sewerage odors at a minimum.

The members of the Council discussed the past growth of the town limits and agreed that it poses as a dangerous menace to pedestrians inasmuch as no speed regulating signs have been installed on the outskirts of town. It was agreed to ask the State Roads Commission to erect 35-mile-an-hour signs on all four approaches to town extending anywhere from one-quarter to a half a mile.

Topper, and Allen Kreitz; first vice commander, George Danner, J. Edward Houck, Leo Sanders, and T. SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

There has been a great deal of controversy over the polio vaccine situation. Reams of publicity, both favorable and unfavorable, have filled the newspapers and magazines.

But lest we be too hasty in our judgment of this vaccine, let us first remember that, as President Eisenhower has pointed out, we are dealing in this field with the lives of our children and grandchildren.

There has been a delay in the vaccine program, but scientific work done during this period has developed new information as to how viruses behave in large scale manufacture and about the way we make vaccine. Testing techniques of greater sensitivity and production techniques, which have built up a greater factor of safety, have been devised during this delay.

The President urges us to consider two things in considering the vaccine program:

1—No vaccination program can prevent all cases of the disease against which it is directed. Polio vaccine as used in the 1954 field trials was found to be 60 to 90 per cent—not 100 per cent—effective.

2—Although the manufacturers are now moving toward full scale production and distribution of this vaccine, it will take them varying periods of time to "retool" to meet the revised production standards. During the months immediately ahead we must be patient while our limited supply of vaccine is used first to help protect those who need it most.

Every parent and every child should be grateful to those scientists who have been working without rest and without relief during recent weeks to find an-

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

To be eligible for cost-sharing aid under the Agricultural Conservation Program, farmers are no longer required to comply with acreage allotments on basic crops issued for their farms, George B. Reeves, chairman, Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reported this week.

"A provision in the Agricultural Act of 1954 requiring compliance with crop allotments as a condition for ACP aid has been repealed by Congress, and the bill has been signed into law by President Eisenhower," Mr. Reeves said.

The ACP, a plan by which the government shares with farmers the cost of carrying out certain approved agricultural practices or improvements which are effective in conserving soil and water, is administered locally by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committees. To obtain cost-sharing aid, which covers only a part of the cost of any conservation project, application should be made to the local ASC Committee. Technical advice about such projects can also be obtained through the committee.

Mr. Reeves cautions Maryland farmers that while the recent action removes from ACP cost-sharing payments all restrictions due to crop allotments, acreage allotment compliance is still required fair price support on basic crops.

Mountain Theater

Will Open June 21

Tuesday, June 21, the Mountain Theatre, Inc., opens its 10-week season of Broadway hits with a comedy of the past season in New York, "The Little Hut," featuring a top-flight Equity company.

Co-producers of the theatre this year, Walter E. Stillely and James Dyas, bring to the summer theatre audience extensive backgrounds in the professional theatre. Mr. Stillely worked with the Komische Theatre, Berlin, Germany, and also with the Little Theatre of Berlin. In this country he has been with a number of widely known summer stock organizations, including theatres at Madison, Ohio, and Allenberry Playhouse, Boiling Springs, Pa.; Nantucket, Mass. His work with winter stock companies is quite extensive, including the Bahama Playhouse, Nassau, British West Indies; the former Ring T Theatre at Harrisburg, Pa.; the Rochester Arena Stage, New York, and the Community Playhouse, Des Moines, Iowa, where he has been engaged this past winter. In 1953 and '54 he worked with the outstanding Arena Stage, Washington, D. C., a year-round theatre, and last summer here at the Mountain Theatre. Thus he not only brings intensive theatre knowledge but is familiar with the Frederick area and its people.

Mr. Dyas, who will also direct the plays, has directed some 135 productions and, like Mr. Stillely, holds an enviable background in summer and winter stock. In New York City he worked with Cargill productions as director and also produced musicals in New York which later toured this country and Canada. In 1950 he won the award in New York for the best off-Broadway director. He has appeared on the Broadway stage as an actor, with such famous personalities as Jose Ferrer and David Burnes.

As an added attraction, Marionette shows will be performed each Saturday afternoon for adults as well as children. The first marionette production will be "Jack and the Beanstalk," on Saturday, June 25.

The producers have had the theatre grounds improved and the concessions is to be expanded. Mr. Stillely again urges all those interested in securing season tickets to do so now. The drive for these reduced rate admissions officially closes next week.

Your Personal Health

With the advent of warm weather people are once more heading for the beaches and resort areas for a little hard earned relaxation and fun in the form of swimming and boating.

Each year, according to National Safety Council figures, between 6,500 and 7,000 persons throughout the nation lose their lives by drowning.

As might be expected, the bulk of these accidents occur during the summer months, small boat accidents accounting for over a third of the total.

To help avert further unnecessary loss of life in this manner, the Home Accident Prevention Unit of the Maryland State Department of Health, which is spearheading a special state-wide vacation safety campaign, urges

Msgr. J. L. Sheridan Reappointed As Head Of Mt. St. Mary's

At the annual meeting of the corporation of Mount St. Mary's College presided over by the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, archbishop of Baltimore and president ex officio of the College, the following corporation officers were re-elected: president, Monsignor John L. Sheridan, LL.D.; vice-president, Monsignor William F. Culhane; treasurer, Rev. Carl J. Fives; secretary, Rev. Hugh J. Phillips.

Monsignor Sheridan thus begins his seventh term as president of the nation's second oldest Catholic College. He was first elected to the presidency to succeed the late Monsignor Bernard J. Bradley in 1937.

Other officers returned to their present posts were Rev. Francis Kearney, J.C.D., dean of studies, and Rev. William D. McGonigle, dean of men.

Ginger Rogers won a Charleston contest in Ft. Worth, Texas, and thereby entered upon the career that led to movie stardom.

all persons planning to go out in small craft to heed the following suggestions:

1—Check the boat for leaks and other defects, before leaving shore, and make sure life preservers are aboard for all passengers. Providing an extra oar and a bailing can is an added safeguard.

2—If a motor is used, have it checked before the first trip of the season, and always carry a fire extinguisher. Be sure the motor is the proper size for the boat or vice versa.

3—Always reduce the speed of power-driven boats when passing bathing beaches, canoes or other small craft.

4—Do not go out in a small boat unless you are thoroughly acquainted with the craft and can handle it in a sudden squall or storm. Better to check the weather forecasts and postpone your trip than take a chance.

5—Someone aboard every boat should be familiar with first-aid treatment and approved methods of artificial respiration.

6—Do not overload your boat with passengers or equipment. And if your boat capsizes or swamps, keep calm and stay with it. Most small craft will stay afloat and support several persons even though filled with water.

7—In the event the water becomes rough, fasten your life belts or floating cushions. Should your boat become swamped remain in it if possible. Paddle or row it to shore rather than attempting to swim.

Death Rate High on Outmoded Roads

In 1940, traffic officials labeled this typical rural road as unsafe. Today it is a much more serious killer. Built in 1920 when few drivers even ventured on highways at night, it is one of hundreds of rural highways desperately in need of widening, less dangerous curves, resurfacing and better use of traffic signs that are visible 24 hours a day, for both day and night safety.

The great majority of the 3,343,170 miles of existing roads are not part of the interstate network that is receiving most attention in discussions of vast new highway building, traffic officials report. According to the Automobile Manufacturers' Association accidents and time lost on these roads costs the nation billions of dollars each year.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

BROWN BULLHEAD Sometimes called Horned Pout (Ameiurus nebulosus)

RANGE: This small, popular member of the catfish family, is common throughout Maryland; a native from the southern part of Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, east of the Mississippi River. It is easily transported and now is found in almost every State; fish have been successfully transplanted after being out of water for several hours.

DESCRIPTION: It varies in color from a light yellowish brown to a very dark brown, almost black; mottled, lighter on under parts. Like other catfish, it has no scales; sensitive barbels or whiskers on mouth; the fins are very sharp, making it necessary to handle the fish carefully; bullheads average around one pound, but many are caught up to two pounds; more plentiful in Maryland than the yellow bullhead and black bullhead, both of which species occur in Maryland in limited numbers; average length about 10 inches.

BREEDING: Spawn in late spring and early summer in a nest well prepared by both sexes; sometimes in a hollow log, a depression in the bank or on the bottom of lake, pond or stream; the eggs are laid in masses like frog's eggs; the young are guarded by both parents who keep them herded together for safety; period of incubation about 6 to 8 days.

HABITS: Bullheads can live in waters where other species of fish would perish, they like shallow, muddy waters; feed on bottom mostly at night; feed readily on worms, minnows, crawfish, in fact will feed on most any food that will get into their large mouths; gregarious.

MANAGEMENT: Little if any management of this species needed to cause an increase, on other hand it is often necessary to thin out large populations in order to make room for other species considered more valuable.

VALUE: Bullheads provide a large amount of food and sport; there are no closed seasons, or limits on the species, and they may be sold for food or other purposes; an angler's license, however, is required to fish for bullheads in all nontidal waters and there is a size limit of 8 inches in 6 of our western Counties.

If Disabled Social Security Earnings Should Be 'Frozen'

Seriously disabled people who used to work in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law should get in touch with the social security office and find out about having their earnings record "frozen."

It is believed that many people in this area will be helped by the disability freeze provision in the 1954 social security amendment. This part of the law is designed to aid workers who become totally disabled after having worked for a certain number of years in employment or self-employment covered by social security. It provides that their social security rights will not decrease during the period of disability.

Many disabled people now getting retirement payments can qualify under this provision for a larger benefit amount as of July. If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability can protect his family's right to survivors payments, but only if he had applied for it before his death.

Active military service in the World War II and post-war periods and employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work.

Although the law does not provide for the payment of cash social security retirement benefits before the worker reaches 65, it is nevertheless important that a disabled individual get in touch promptly with the Social Security Administration and establish the fact of his disability.

The law provides that the worker's earnings record may be "frozen" during the period of his disability. When this is done, his social security rights are protected in two ways:

His rights to benefits will not expire as time goes by, and the amount of the payments he and his family will get when he is 65, and the amount his family will get in case of his death, will not be reduced.

Before the wage record of a disabled worker can be protected under this law, it is necessary for him to make an application, establish that he is disabled, and to meet the other requirements of the law. We are glad to give full information to disabled workers who believe that they may be qualified, and to help them make application to have their social security records frozen.

The law permits freezing the wage records of workers who worked in employment or self-employment covered by social security for five years out of the 10 years before their disability started and for one and one-half years out of the three years before the disability started, and have been totally disabled for at least six months with a disability so severe that they are unable to do any substantial gainful work and will be disabled for a long and indefinite period.

Active military service after Sept. 15, 1940 and before July 1, 1955, and work in the railroad industry can be counted toward the required period of work. The law applies to people who were disabled before reaching 65, no matter how old they are now.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

If anyone needed further proof freedom of press now rests in hands of nation's independent weekly and daily newspapers, long hassle before Federal Communications Commission on 'pay-as-you-see' television furnishes it.

FCC has control over use of nation's airwaves. Both radio and TV are considered mass communication mediums. But in many instances FCC has permitted airwaves to be captured by huge magazine publishing corporations, by chain newspaper enterprises.

When radio started, custom began of sponsors paying to get advertising message on air. This carried over into television.

But in Chicago E. F. McDonald Jr., head of Zenith, radio and TV makers, developed a device which installed on sets, would permit public on payment of a fee, to view non-sponsored programs uninterrupted by commercials.

This system was tested in various sections, success was sufficient to convince Zenith it wanted to go ahead with idea.

Then storm broke. Idea of letting people pay for program they want to see has been assailed as un-American.

Principal objections to letting people see programs they want by paying a fee centered with networks who largely control broadcasting industries. They seem to feel programs of merit, even though costing viewer money, would detract from audiences of sponsored programs.

But in addition, they also advanced argument Zenith would go broke with this plan. Seldom has such touching solicitude been expressed by competing manufacturers, Zenith makes TV sets. RCA does also, but it also owns National Broadcasting Company. CBS makes sets, but it also owns Columbia Broadcasting Company. Westinghouse also makes sets, but it also owns a TV chain.

But on basis of such arguments FCC has dragged its heels for many months. Naturally, there is no guarantee Zenith might not fall in promoting 'pay as you see TV.' On other hand, free enterprise carries with it a freedom to go broke as well as make a million.

However, freedom and bureaucracy oft sleep in separate beds, and shilly shally tactics by FCC in this matter indicates no clear concept of free enterprise has penetrated their collective bureaucratic hides, either.

It is also important to bear in mind that broadcasting stations, as a condition for commercial use of the air, are supposed to devote some time to 'public service' programs. FCC alone, decides what constitutes public service, but it has long been noted a great deal of 'public service' program time on television has been devoted to propaganda for tax-devouring foreign giveaway programs.

What FCC finally does about letting public pay for what it wants is a matter of conjecture. At any time a decision may be announced, suddenly, without advance notice, such are ways of the autocratic bureaucracy. But regardless of their decision, long drawn out withholding of permission to try this plan suffices to recall that although German Nazi Party was built on the air waves, before Nazi bureaucrats could make control of air waves effective, they found they had to stamp out the free press.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

Colonel Townsend Whelen, camping editor of Sports Afield magazine, remarked recently that in years past old-timers such as he did not have much use for the dried and condensed foods. They were not appetizing, and they did not give energy or staying power. But there has been a tremendous development and improvement in dehydrated foods since the last war.

Particularly, they offer a greater variety of tasty dishes than the average camp cook is able to produce, and this means a lot to outdoor appetites. They are extremely easy to prepare, in most cases requiring only the addition of water and heating. Few need presoaking, and most of them take not more than 10 to 20 minutes to cook. Above all, there is the greatest economy in weight and bulk.

The variety of these foods is amazing: powdered eggs, dehydrated potatoes, Spanish rice, pre-cooked beans, cereals with milk and sugar added, griddle cakes, ginger cookies, concentrated maple syrup, beef gravy, beef broth, vegetable and meat stews, biscuits, many thick and creamy soups, beef or chicken pot pie, lemonade, fruit punches, macaroni and cheese, chili and beans, tinned bacon, butter, and countless others.

Col. Whelen has been unable to sample all of these himself, but those he has tried have invariably been excellent, even for a city appetite. However, it's a good idea to try out at home everything you might use on your camping trip.

The price of these foods is right, too. For example, foods cartoned in four different packs, each containing different meals sufficient for the needs of four men for a day, cost $9, or for eight men, $13.50. The eight man pack, of course, would contain enough food for two men for four days. This is cheaper than you can live at home. Also, envelopes containing various foods may be obtained separately from 30 cents to about $1.75 each, enabling you to make your own menus.

These dehydrated foods are not so easy to get. I would suggest you send 50 cents in coin to the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club, 1916 Sunderland P., N.W., Washington, D. C., for its booklet, "Hiking, Camping, Mountaineering and Trail Clearing Equipment," which gives the names and addresses of some makers of these dehydrated foods, as well as where many other kinds of camp equipment may be purchased.

House Colors Coordinated At Factory

"There used to be two main ways of color-styling a house, and they're both on the way out," says color consultant Frederic H. Rahr. "The first approach was to paint the whole house white, except the shutters, which were usually green. The alternate method was to buy six or eight vivid colors and turn the house into a rainbow."

"Color selection today is color coordination. It beats the old ways because it allows the homeowner to express his individuality without being afraid he's violating any rules of good taste."

Pick Roof Color First
Color coordination, Rahr explains, means picking an attractive roof color, then selecting colors for siding and trim to harmonize with the roofing.

"And to make coordination simpler," he adds, "more and more manufacturers of paints, asphalt roofing, asbestos siding, and other building materials are coloring their products in related tones."

Thus, Rahr says, the homeowner has a virtually unlimited choice of colorful building materials with which to style his house.

For example, the householder who plans to build or remodel with a roof of blue-green asphalt shingles may select powder blue for the siding, charcoal for the eaves and window trim, and coral for the accent.

"Accent" Is Contrast
"Accent" refers to a vivid contrast color applied to a limited area, usually to the front door and sometimes to window boxes or other details. The accent color acts as a focal point for the observer's eye.

If the roof is to be pastel green asphalt shingles, related combinations include pale green siding, dark green trim, and bright yellow accent, or cream siding, pastel green trim, and yellow-green accent.

"Today," Rahr concludes, "many building materials are being made with 'built-in,' long-lasting colors that satisfy the fussiest appetite."

ducted the tour. Club members were invited to inspect the health department offices and laboratories. County personnel explained the functioning of the various departments and gladly answered questions. A brief talk on food values for the family was given by state nutritionist, Miss Zigafoose, who illustrated with exhibits on comparative values of cereals, of milks, and of juices.

carpet edges, crevices beneath cushions and along the frames and seams of upholstered furniture. See if you can detect any visible damage, moth life, traces of webbing, cocoons, or the shed skins of carpet beetle larvae.

If you see any indications at all that damage has developed, immediately call in a professional moth-proofer. Many professionals consider "moth inspections" a public service with no charge.

Hand spraying may provide temporary or limited protection. However, deep-suction and high power sprayers are required for solutions to penetrate down where the moths and carpet beetles live and eat. The best way to keep your furnishings free from damage is to call a professional "moth proofing" such as the local Dura-clean dealer. A little attention to rugs and furniture now can ward off costly damage later.

Now is the time to make sure that your home furnishings are not harboring destructive moths and carpet beetles. These pests increase their activity in warm weather and play havoc with rugs, carpets, upholstered furniture and clothing.

Medical Progress and Your Health

Psoriasis Now Treated With Internal Medication

Psoriasis, a disease which, until the year 1801, was erroneously thought to be leprosy, has baffled medical science until the present time. Nothing was known of its cause. It could sometimes be eradicated by external preparations made up of coal tar, mercury and other irritants, as well as exposure to sunlight, ultraviolet lights and X-rays—but its return to plague the sufferer could not be controlled. Appearing on all areas of the skin in sizes ranging from a pin head to large patches which could cover as much as 98% of the skin area, its disfiguring lesions brought untold agony and embarrassment to hundreds of thousands of people.

The first clue to its cause came to light during World War 2 in Germany. The disease became so scarce in Germany during those war years, that it was difficult to find enough people with psoriasis for demonstration to medical students. Coincidental with the scarcity of edible fats in the diets of the German people. This clue, together with experimental work of Dr. Lester Dragsted of the University of Chicago in 1938 when he isolated a pancreatic hormone which had beneficial effect upon the disease, led others to carry on this experimental work. Research started in the city of Waterbury, Conn., and progressed from there to further experiments by Army and Navy physicians during World War 2. Doctors at the Boston Dispensary, in Boston, Mass., continued the studies which culminated in a medical report published in a New York state Medical Journal on July 1, 1954.

This report was authored by a world famous skin specialist connected with a leading New York City hospital and Professor of Dermatology in one of New York's leading medical schools.

He reported on a product called Lipan, which is taken internally in capsule form. Lipan supplies the pancreatic hormones and enzymes which are necessary to assist one suffering from psoriasis to properly digest and assimilate all foods consumed, but principally fats. For this reason, diet is not restricted. In fact, the report states fats should be consumed because they are necessary to properly lubricate the skin. Not only was the doctor successful in clearing the skin with Lipan but, having once cleared the skin, Lipan should be continued since the necessity for complete digestion of all foods and fats is a continuing one. A copy of that medical journal reprint for your physician can be obtained by writing to: Spirt & Co., Inc., of Waterbury, Conn.

LOOKING AHEAD

By Dr. George S. Bennett
DIRECTOR - MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
SPECIAL PROGRAMS
Searcy, Arkansas

Communist Target: Young Intellectuals

In every country in the world which the Communists have conquered, their first step has been the conquest of the student mind with books. This statement comes from one of the world's outstanding scholars on the subject, Dr. Fred Schwartz, the Australian surgeon-psychiatrist who left his profession several years ago to crusade against Communism throughout the free world. He spoke recently at the 16th Freedom Forum, conducted by The National Education Program at Searcy, Arkansas.

In the Communist technique of conquering, the colleges and universities are the first target — faculty and students. "Throughout the world today," Dr. Schwartz said, "the fundamental battle is for the minds of the young intellectuals. They are the elite. They must plant the seeds and lead the revolution, capturing the masses to be used as the pawns of Communism. And yet few people understand and recognize this fact. We've misdiagnosed Communism as a disease of the poor, originating in bad economic conditions, originating in poverty, with a natural corollary that to treat it we've got to improve economic conditions.

Intellectual Fountainhead

"Now don't misunderstand me; God bless every improvement in economic conditions! But if we think we're going to stop Communism in that way we're fantastically deluded. And yet, that idea underlies probably 90 per cent of what is being done. A highly educated man said to me: 'No man ever became a Communist on a full stomach!' I said I could mention one or two: Karl Marx, Frederick Engels, Nikolay Lenin, Josef Stalin, Malenkov, Molotov, Bulganin, Kruschev, Mao Tse-tung, Ho Chi Minh, Alger Hiss, Frederick Vanderbilt Field, Whittaker Chambers — in fact every major world Communist figure that's ever been!"

"Everyone of them, without a single known exception, who became a Communist in a non-Communist country, became one, not as a poor man, not as a working man, not as a son of toil, but as a student intellectual, materialistic in philosophy and atheist in faith. Communism emerges not out of the ranks of the workers and the poor but out of the ranks of the Godless and the educated. And while we misdiagnose it, we're bound to mistreat it as a disease."

Floor of Literature

The Communists, working from their Moscow citadel, are distributing great masses of literature throughout the world, to the public and particularly to the colleges and universities. It is designed carefully, emphasized Dr. Schwartz, to shape the minds of young intellectuals. And Communist Fifth Columnists have subtly infiltrated the literature published outside Russia, in every other nation. "They have control," he said, "over the beliefs of 75 per cent of the people of the world outside their own limits."

He presented documentary evidence of Communist-manufactured literature. He showed, for instance, that "Problems of Leninism," a beautifully-bound, expensive 803-page Communist classic printed in English in Moscow, is being sold for 10 cents per copy in Japan; 70 cents, in the U. S. A. He said that in the universities of Japan such books were provided free and were being used to "teach young Japanese intellectuals how to read and speak English! Their minds become moulded into the Communist pattern, and they are excited to the revolution." This same Communist scheme is active in India, Indonesia—and in every country toward which the Communists, at the moment, are moving, Dr. Schwarz said.

Proof In India
This recalled to my mind the excellent series of articles on India written last winter by Carl T. Rowan, Minneapolis Tribune reporter. Rowan, a Negro, spent four months in India. He found Communism deeply embedded in the universities. He found few Reds among India's poor. After touring India, he wrote that he had "seen the hammer and sickle waving in only a few villages." "It was the disgruntled, unhappy among the educated," he said, "whom I had heard singing the praise of Communism."

"Some important Indian army people told me," wrote Rowan, "that the Communists can paralyze the heart of India in an invasion, just by using college students . . . The officers pointed out that in recent months the Communists had shown that they pretty well control certain key colleges in India." I recall also the recent tragic slaying of Gene Symonds, the United Press Southeast Asia manager, as he sought to cover a Communist-led political riot in Singapore. Leaders of the riot, according to press dispatches, were university students. Symonds was beaten to death.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, June 7—Legislation authorizing construction of proposed dams in the Upper Colorado Basin is pending in the House of Representatives. The bill falls clearly in the controversial class. Its provisions have raised questions concerning long-range Federal policies and it is deeply involved in politics. The pending measure provides for just one phase of the overall program for the basin—the construction of dams for storage of water. Other bills to come will authorize the power and irrigation features of the project.

Some aspects of the measure have created considerable interest in the Sixth District. I have been most impressed with the sincerity of the protests over the possible effects of Echo Park Dam on the Dinosaur National Monument and the Glen Canyon Dam on the Rainbow National Bridge. To me the most important potential of the measure is one that has been over shadowed by the conflict over some of the "how-to-do-it" issues. I refer to the conservation feature implied in the title of the bill—the Colorado River Storage Project. The storage of water in order to conserve it is a natural resource problem that has been too long neglected.

We in the Sixth Maryland District have seen the effects of a summer with less than usual rainfall. We know of the shortages which have plagued our growing communities. Some of us have seen our wells go dry. We need not travel to the West to know of the value of water.

I am glad that the people of the Sixth District have taken an interest in the Upper Colorado project for that interest serves as a spring board to our own problems in Maryland and the nation as a whole. There is real and immediate need for water conservation policies and a new program of dam construction for the preservation of water.

The danger of water shortages along the Potomac was pointed up at the recent meeting in Winchester, Va. We need to be planning now for adequate storage dams in the Potomac Basin. Ade-

How To Install Wood Wall Panels

Rich, wood-paneled walls are the latest trend in home decoration. They give warmth and luxurious beauty to every room, traditional or modern. Now, anyone who can handle an ordinary hammer can install Savannah Oak panels, easily and quickly, with professional-looking results.

First, measure height and width of your walls to make sure you get the right amount of Savannah Oak paneling. This all-oak paneling now is available in do-it-yourself kit form. Each kit includes specially grooved furring strips, a supply of patented metal application clips, and enough easy-to-handle, 8-foot-plywood planks, in random widths, to panel 96 square feet of wall. Here are simple, do-it-yourself steps suggested by Georgia-Pacific Plywood engineers to install your own paneling.

Nail special furring strips horizontally to wall studs.

Insert patented clip in groove of each furring strip.

Lock panels firmly to row of clips placed between each two planks.

Finish your paneling with moldings and trim of matching Savannah Oak.

Here is your finished room with wood paneling you can install yourself. Savannah Oak Panels do not need staining or painting. They are factory prefinished and waxed to protect their beautiful grain pattern.

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Look At Yourself

Take a look at what has happened to you. As little as 10 years ago did you expect to own a home such as you probably have today? Did you ever expect to have the kind of car that is yours, to go to the places and do the things you've been doing lately? To own the household appliances that are yours? To be able to send your children to college?

A young Babson Institute senior who graduates this June has had a number of job interviews and several offers. One company offered him an especially good opportunity and we supposed he had accepted their job offer. Upon inquiry, he hedged and said he had not because they were not paying enough. He wanted more than their $300 per month to start because some of his classmates were getting offers of from $325 up. It is nothing short of fantastic the number of technical and business administration college men who will start out this June not with just a diploma, but with a wife, perhaps a child, car, and a $4000-a-year job!

Who Is Benefiting Today?
Since 1947 there has been a 70 per cent increase in the number of families with incomes over $4000. Back in 1944 the average family earned $4027. Today, the average for the American family, including both farmers and those living in the cities, is $5330. And the average city family today earns over $6000 annually! But most startling of all is the fact that a whopping 44 per cent of all non-farm families earn between $5000 and $10,000 a year. At the other end of the scale, only 30 per cent of all families, including the traditionally low farm-income group, earn less than $3000. Only 15 per cent of the city families are today found in this group. But keep in mind that these figures apply to families living under the same roof, not necessarily to individuals.

But this is not all of the story. The real eye opener is found in the great economic leveling process that has been at work these past dozen years. Fewer and fewer families are making over $10,000. Only 9.8 per cent of our city families make over $10,000.

In short, we have broadened our market base with a greatly increased number of potential buyers of goods and services. This expanded market base in itself should help to keep us prosperous. This, then is a revolution in earning power. It has already increased the middle-class group of wage earners so that we today have nearly achieved a one-class, middle-class society, with little poverty and few extremely wealthy persons.

Importance of Advertising

Certainly I would be one of the first to admit that pent-up war demand was responsible for the spurt in business right after the war. But, that was over by 1950. What keeps our rolling, now in 1955? Consumer confidence! How people feel about their local, state and national governments, how they feel about the future, whether they have confidence in Washington — these psychological factors have had a great deal to do with our good business. Newspaper advertising has created a climate of confidence in which it has been possible for us to consume our way to prosperity.

Businessmen and manufacturers are optimistic, too. When they spend money for new stores, new plants, and new machinery, we know times are good. And, business plans to spend about 5 per cent more on these things in 1955 than it spent in 1954. When projecting plans into the future, most manufacturers feel that business will be sufficiently good to necessitate a further 10-12

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, JR.

WASHINGTON—Hardly a week passes without new evidence coming to light at the Capitol of an ever-increasing participation by Big Union Bosses in politics. This is in line with a recent promise to a CIO convention by the President of the AFL, Mr. George Meany, that the merger of the two unions would be used politically.

The latest instance was an insertion in the Congressional Record by Senator Barry Goldwater (R.-Ariz.) of a letter sent out by per cent addition to their productive capacity between 1956 and 1958. Yes, it is a tremendous revolution that we are part of, a revolution that makes our standard of living almost unbelievable to most other parts of the world. Character, education and advertising are the basic forces needed to have prosperity continue.

the California Industrial Union Council, a CIO affiliate. The letter in part reads:

"Dear Friend: We are inviting you, as a member of the articulate liberal community in your area, to take advantage of our Legislative Secretarial Service. This is how it works:
"You fill out the enclosed authorization card and drop it in the mail. From time to time, during legislative sessions, you will receive from our office an individually typed letter to your Congressman, Senators (United States or state), or assemblyman. Your return address will be on the letter; all you need to do is sign it and place it in the envelope which will be enclosed. The envelope will be already stamped and addressed, ready for you to mail. You will also receive a carbon copy of the letter to keep.

"This secretarial service will mean more letters on important issues to your legislators. It can be your way of letting your legislators know that you, as an individual, are keeping abreast of the most important issues arising in Congress and in Sacramento. The only way your legislator can know how you, the voter, feel about a proposed law is through your telling him."

The postal card authorizing such action has this statement:
"I hereby authorize the CIO State Council to act as my legislative secretary on any state and national legislation endorsed or opposed by CIO. I understand I will receive an original and carbon copy of any correspondence typed for me by the council. I will mail my original copy to my legislator."

Another instance of labor activity in the political field occurred recently in Tucson, Ariz. While it attracted little national attention, it is significant, it was an attack on an AFL meeting on Sen. Goldwater, who described it to the Senate in part in these words:

"The convention of the Arizona State Federation of Labor heard Mrs. Margaret Thornburg, of Washington, D. C., a director of the Women's Division of the Labor League on Political Education, label me as 'one of the most hated men in the United States'; and I understand that the convention itself is reported to have adopted a resolution calling for the end of my political career. . . ."

"What transpired in Tucson should be of great concern to all Americans. There, a representative of the labor bosses from Washington used the word 'hate.' Hatred is the weapon of revolutionists, and I don't believe that she spoke for the majority of people of Arizona or the U. S.

"The meeting was interesting, too, because the political implications of what transpired in Tucson are pretty self-evident. It was just another clear indication that the professional labor bosses have taken over the Democratic Party and are calling all the plays . . ."

"My sole objective in the field of labor legislation has been to preserve the freedom of the individual working man and woman and to protect them against abuse and coercion by either management or labor. To that end I favor and have favored what is commonly called 'right-to-work' legislation.

"Right-to-work' legislation is simply a prohibition against compulsory unionism. It prohibits employers and unions from entering into contracts which make union membership a condition of em-

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sad Note From The Bugle

All of us on the Clarion were alarmed to learn that our principal rival in the newspaper field—the Balesville Bugle—might have to shut down.

Crops were bad in Balesville last year and one of their factories moved out of town. Just temporary hard times, of course—but the Bugle needs help now if it's to survive.

So, this paper is going to scrape up a little money to help tide them over, and we hope other local concerns will do the same. We've seldom agreed with them editorially over the years—but we want their competition to keep us on our toes.

From where I sit, this country needs papers with different points of view—just as it needs people with different ideas and tastes. You may prefer iced tea as a hot-weather cooler . . . I generally choose a cold glass of beer. But if either of us couldn't express his opinion, and act on it, that would be "bad news" for the whole community.

FEMME FACTS

Feminine Charm Stressed
In New Summer's Styling

By Fran Carlon

"AS YOU ARE WOMAN, SO BE LOVELY." So spoke Pygmalion to Galatea and the mandate is echoed by Dame Fashion this Spring. Knife-sharp man-tailoring is disappearing and designers seem to be making a concentrated effort to replace the stark H-line and straight-line with more gracefully feminine styling. Suits are softly rounded over and neatly nipped-in at the waist for the accent that is strictly feminine. In summer attire the softness of pastels, the fragility of lace, the demureness of gingham checks, and the daintiness of Irish handkerchief linen all forecast a season of the most consciously feminine attire in decades.

And Now Flowers

Crown your crowning glory with flowers for a change. Department stores are now showing attractive blossoms (artificial but pretty) fastened to a headband for just a wisp of a hat that's artfully feminine and just a bit flirtatious.

Hispanic Motif

Saffron yellow and torero pink are borrowed from the exotic Caribbean islands and will appear in dramatic new cotton prints this summer. You'll see prints adapted from old Spanish shawls, accessories in the brilliant torero pink, and blouses which are authentic copies of those worn by bull fighters.

March Winds

Face the new season with glowing hair and skin. As you refurbish your wardrobe be sure and take stock of the condition of your hair and skin. Careful as you may have been, the March winds are always harsh.

Erase That Frown!

Remember, it takes 64 muscles of the face to make a frown, and only 13 to make a smile. Why work overtime?

Homemakers' Corner

Accessories Important Finishing Touches To Room

"Those little accessories such as lamps, candleholders, ash trays, here and there in a room are so very important," says Vivian L. Curnutt, Extension home furnishings specialist with the University of Maryland. "Their contribution to the personality of your home is tremendous and tells a bigger story to guests than most homemakers realize," she continues.

The story may speak well for you or against you, according to choice of accessories and their placing in the room.

Well-chosen and well-arranged, these decorative objects add personality, color and interest. They stimulate conversation in the right direction, and do that certain something which causes everyone who enters the room to have a happy, relaxed, restful and "at-home" feeling. What more can you ask of inanimate objects, Miss Curnutt queries?

If thoughtlessly chosen and arranged with no purpose in view, all decorative accessories whether collections or not, become a haphazard accumulation of "stuff." They destroy something vital and badly needed in today's home.

Miss Curnutt says—take stock of what you have—is each accessory doing the most for you and your home?

(1) Use a few accessories—simple in line and beautiful in shape. This is better than many over-ornate ones.

(2) Experiment—arrange in groups, balance in bulk and color. Each group should be a picture in itself.

(3) Vary sizes and shapes so no group will look too flat or too tall—oversized or over-scaled.

(4) Let solid-colored accessories highlight a patterned background; while patterned accessories must have a plain background to show them off.

(5) Be practical—place them for handy use, easy upkeep.

(6) Have only a few in evidence at one time. Fortunate is the homemaker who can change arrangements often, Miss Curnutt comments.

Two Stakes On Laurel Card Tonight

LAUREL, MD., June 10 — A double feature will spark tonight's harness card at Laurel Raceway, as the thriving trotting oval moves into another big weekend of racing activity.

The $3,000 Sykesville Stake will furnish the feature trotting excitement. Eight sophomores of the diagonal gait, including two candidates for the $100,000 Hambletonian, "Kentucky Derby of harness racing," will clash for the attractive purse.

The two Hambletonian hopefuls in the Sykesville lineup are Colbymite and Citan. Colbymite will form the likelier half of the famed Two Gaits Farm stable entry. The other half is Lovely Colby.

Colbymite, a son of Colby Hanover and owned by Leo C. McNamara of Indianapolis, is fresh off a victory here in 2:08 flat. He had 5 wins and 4 seconds in 24 starts last year, earning a mark of 2:07 2/5 on a half-mile track and $12,072. He'll be driven by Ralph Baldwin. The entry of him and Lovely Colby should go off at 2-1.

Sturdy Song, piloted by Al Thomas and the Del Miller stable's Sword's Point, are the top contenders. Citan is not to be overlooked despite the fact that he starts on the outside.

Sword's Point, a son of the great Nibble Hanover, won his last race here in 2:08 1/5. Jimmy Arthur will drive him.

Citan, a Titan Hanover colt, owned by Marlin and George Shriner of Taneytown, and driven by Johnny Amato, has not been out of the money in his four starts this year. His one win, clocked in 2:07, was one of the fastest of the season for his age and gait.

The field includes Claret Hanover, Safety First and Dandy Song.

The pacing feature will be the seventh race, a BB contest which finds The Boss tabbed as the 2-1 favorite. The 5-year-old gelding from the Spa was second to Snipe's Reward in his last venture, but clicked in 2:07 2/5 in his previous start. He is driven by 23-year-old Johnny Belote, last year's driving champion of the Laurel meet. He has a mark of 2:05 on the two-lappers.

May Cardinal, owned by J. M. Davis of Clayton, Del., and driven by his nephew, Olin, is rated second choice. Third is Dusty Direct, making his first start of the year for reinsman Bill Fleming.

Post time is 8:30 p. m., with the daily double closing at 8:15.

William Frailey Heads Alumni Assn.

The Emmitsburg High School Alumni Association held its annual banquet and dance Saturday evening in the high school auditorium. A delicious turkey dinner was served to the 190 guests present by the school PTA and ably served by the high school girls.

The banquet program and the business meeting were presided over by the president, William A. Frailey. The Class of '55 was welcomed by Mr. Frailey and as a reply to the welcome the group sang several vocal selections. Rev. Paul McCauley gave an interesting account of one of his hobbies, one of which is collecting unusual letters. He read several of the letters to the group. The president introduced several guests of the classes of 1900 to 1905.

The Class of 1922 donated a public address system to the association. The alumni has decided to have the principal of the high school and the executive board select the annual date for the banquet and dance.

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: William A. Frailey, president; Mrs. Rebecca Hoke Gingell, vice president; Betty Ann Hollinger, secretary; Mary Fiery, assistant secretary and Mrs. Doris Olinger Houck, treasurer. Following the banquet a most enjoyable dance was held.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel were Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel, Baltimore, and Mr. J. Ward Kerrigan, Mr. Charles B. Harner, and Mr. Francis Sanders. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and family, Washington, spent the weekend visiting Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shorb.

COUNTY WILL ORDER VOTING MACHINES

The new Board of Election Supervisors of Frederick County met with the Board of County Commissioners this week and discussed the purchase of voting machines, which have been made mandatory in the State by action of the last session of the legislature.

The supervisors organized by electing Howard R. Damuth, Thurmont, president; George F. Grove, Frederick, vice president, and Charles U. Price, Frederick, secretary - treasurer. Charles McC. Mathias Sr. was named attorney. After a general discussion on the subject of voting machines, it was informally decided that the supervisors and the commissioners would visit various sections of the State to look over machines now in operation in some of the counties. This tour is expected to take place around the middle of the month.

The law provides that the supervisors and the commissioners—apparently as a joint endeavor—shall make arrangements for the purchase of voting machines which shall be in use by the 1956 elections.

It is probable that sealed bids will be asked when the time comes to purchase machines.

There are reported to be several ways in which the purchase of the machines could be financed.

The county, since the legislative act was passed along after the 1955 budget was adopted, has no funds set aside for the purchase, and it could be that the cost will be financed over a period of years.

At the discussions, it was indicated that 78 to 80 machines would likely be required, including several spare machines to be held in reserve for emergencies. At some precincts, it was believed, one machine would suffice while others would need two machines.

LILLIE C. WOLLARD
Lillie Catherine Wollard, 79, died at her home in Thurmont early Sunday morning.

Born near Thurmont, she was the daughter of the late Emmanuel and May Ellen (O'Connor) Carbaugh.

She had lived her entire life in the Thurmont community, where she was a member of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church. Surviving are these children, Mrs. Bertha Myers, Thurmont; Emmanuel, Thurmont; Mrs. Viola Armstrong, Frederick; William, Frederick. Mrs. Leona Schildt, Mrs. Kathleen Staub, Mrs. Elizabeth Staub, Charles, Ernest and Leo; 13 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; sisters, Mrs. Julia Brawner, Emmitsburg; Mrs. William Sweeney, Thurmont; brothers, John Carbaugh, Thurmont, and Ernest Carbaugh, Thurmont.

Funeral services were held at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church on Wednesday at 10 a. m., conducted by Rev. Dr. John Hart who intoned requiem mass.

Locals Retain Cellar Hold

Emmitsburg remained firmly entrenched in the cellar of the Pen-Mar Baseball League as the result of a setback at the hands of Fairfield last Sunday on the local community field.

Fairfield collected 15 hits, including a pair of home runs by Dale Sites, to crush Emmitsburg 13-7. Emmitsburg was charged with an even dozen miscues. Sites, who had a perfect day at bat with five hits, also rapped a double and two singles. One of his homers came with the bases loaded. Dolly homered for Emmitsburg.

New Oxford went on a hitting rampage to wallop New Windsor 16-3 on the latter's field.

Cashtown and Blue Ridge Summit remain in a tie for first place as the result of one-run victories. Cashtown nipped Union Bridge 3-2 at Cashtown while Blue Ridge Summit edged the invading Thurmont outfit 8-7.

The Channel Islands were the only British possession occupied by Germany during World War II.

HOSPITAL DRIVE IS NOW OVER $5,000 MARK

The local financial drive for the benefit of the Warner Hospital building fund is progressing very nicely, Dr. J. W. Houser, chairman, reported this week.

The chairman reports that solicitation in the rural areas is on in full force and that to date the actual cash of $5,072.86 has been collected and banked.

Pledges in the amount of $2500 have been received and are to be paid over a period of two years. It is pointed out that those individuals who were solicited and that at that time were unable to make a contribution, can do so now if they so desire. Several excellent donations have been received, one or two believed to be in the neighborhood of $500.

The over-all drive to date has reached over the half way mark of the goal of $250,000.

Alaska Is Growing

Alaska is still the fastest growing area under the U. S. flag, according to an article in the 1955 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia. Its civilian population has increased over 57 per cent since the 1950 census, totaling about 171,000 civilians. Military population last year was nearly 50,000 making the total estimated population about 221,000.

Bulb Anniversary

The first bulbs were brought into Europe from Turkey 400 years ago, according to an article in the 1955 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia. This first importation was the beginning of Holland's bulb industry.

Balloons and Ballyhoo

The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955 tells of a man in New York with a yen for adventure above the clouds. This travel-happy gent took off in a home-made rig suspended from 60 gas balloons and floated six miles in an hour and a half, drifting down to the arms of the law who arrested him on charges of flying without a license.
