Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

And the sun keeps pouring it on, with greater intensity every day, it seems. Heat records are being established in most sections of the nation every week and there is no sign of a let-up at this writing. Heard this week of a family that went to Canada on their vacation in an effort to cool off a bit. Well, they were gone only a few days when they decided to come to Emmitsburg where it was fit to live and where a person could expect to outlast or survive the present heat wave. They still say it's cooler than in Canada. . . . at this writing.

Gardens are about scorched in this district and if rain doesn't happen in the very near future to alleviate this dry and torrid spell, most all summer crops will have been planted in vain. Even lawns have been badly damaged by the blistering 100-degree heat.

Boy oh boy, if we only had a swimming pool where a tried businesswoman or woman, and the kiddies too, could cool off a bit in the afternoon or early evening, what a relief it would be and what an investment for anyone with the courage to tackle it, especially with the hot summers we have been enduring these past few years. It seems that a lady who in Pittsburgh, showed a copy of my column to a friend (apparently in the business) and he in turn saw a good opportunity to do a bit of good for himself and this community.

Anyway he wrote this week and informed the Boss, the Editor, of course, that he would be only too willing to quote prices, design and build a pool for Emmitsburg. Seems as though there is something new in the pool business, sort of a pre-fab type or assemble it yourself deal that has proven most satisfactory and economical in a lot of small towns and also big cities throughout the country. It's supposed to save a lot of labor and expense, cheaper by far than most of the ordinary type of pool construction and the latest thing. It's priced right, too! Anyone interested can let me know and I'll be more than happy to show them the letter received.

I can't for the life of me understand how Emmitsburg can be so indifferent about such a necessary recreational facility, one that would, I'm certain, be a good investment for a few thousand bucks. Seems as though the Town itself, some service club or an ordinary businessman would be interested in such a project. Season or family tickets could be sold like hot cakes at at least $5 or $10 a throw right now, and in one year, (a season of three or four months), several thousand dollars could be raised, more than enough to start such a project and to show a little profit the very first year.

It was bound to happen, as it usually does here. Everytime something beneficial to the community is begun someone tries to offset it. Now you take the Little League, for instance. A lot of work was proffered and accomplished by public-spirited citizens to get the League started here this year. While all the equipment could not be paid for by the League itself, many parents, some who really couldn't afford it, offered and bought the player's paraphernalia. I have been hearing complaints that older boys and non-members of the teams have been stealing the gloves of some of the participating players. Just when the opportunity to "swipe" these gloves comes I don't know, but several have complained about their gloves being stolen. How to rectify or offset this represents a problem, one we all should be interested in. Some of you might possibly be aware of these deprecations on the Little League field, so in the interest of justice and fairness don't hesitate to tell the proper sources. A lot of the parents were hard-pressed to buy gloves for the kids and it represents a distinct hardship on them to have to replace this rather expensive equipment.

Cameras have been lowered to a depth of 20,400 feet in the ocean for underwater photography.

Town Council Okays New Sewer Line

Definite plans were made for the installation of a sewer line on Federal Ave. at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners of Emmitsburg held Monday night in the Fire Hall. Chairman of the Board of Commissioners Wales Rightmire presided over the meeting. Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers was absent on vacation.

The reports of the secretary, treasurer and tax collector were presented by Town Clerk Louise Sebald and were approved as presented.

Council has been studying the installation of the sewer line on Federal Ave. for some time and the project would accommodate some half dozen homes there at present and in the future. Prices have been checked and the work was ordered to begin in the near future. Parking meter revenue for the month of June amounted to $300.80. One traffic violation fine of $5.75 was turned over to the clerk by the Police Dept. Parking meter overtime violations totaled $43.00.

The Town Fathers reaffirmed their position on the abolition of wedding serenaders touring the town with tin cans and other noise-makers attached to their cars, either by themselves or friends and the Police Dept. was ordered to enforce the ordinance in the future. Council attributed its decision on the matter in the interest of welfare and safety of the community.

The Solons met, as a body, recently on DePaul St., to study proposed improvements there. They have been studying the situation there for some time and plan some future action to improve the street by setting up curbing standards so that the street and curbs will be in complete alignment when the improvements are completed.

THURMONT LAD PERISHES IN HOUSE FIRE

Jimmy Knott, 2, perished in a fire that destroyed the home of his parents and grandparents on the Blue Mountain Road near Thurmont last Friday night at approximately 10:30 o'clock.

Firemen said the child, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Knott, apparently suffocated and burned as flames swept madly over the two-story frame and shingled residence.

The parents and Mrs. William R. Sweeney aroused from their sleep to find the house enveloped in flames and filled with smoke, barely managed to escape themselves.

By radio communication the Thurmont firemen called Dr. J. K. Gray to the scene to treat Mrs. Sweeney for shock. Firemen said the house was almost completely in flames before it was discovered and the parents could barely manage to escape and couldn't get to the child. Members of the Guardian Hose Co. said that when they arrived the fire was so hot they couldn't get close enough to throw water from the engine tanks. A small stream nearby did not have sufficient water to permit the use of heavy hose.

Daniel Weybright, a member of the fire company, maintained communication with the fire fighters from the Thurmont Fire Hall and said they reported the fire apparently started in the kitchen and spread rapidly. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

Reports indicate all contents of the house, including the clothing of the Sweeneys and Knotts were lost. State Trooper 1/c H. J. Brown was on the scene and assisted firemen and local police.

Funeral services for the child were held Monday at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church, Thurmont. Rev. Fr. John Hart said the Mass of the Angels at 9 a. m. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. Pallbearers were James Fuss, Robert Sweeney, Larry Glass and Gary Glass. M. L. Creager and Son, funeral directors.

Scouts End Exciting Week Of Camping Near Town

Home from camp.

Well, the week of camping at Weishaar's was filled with much activity. Every boy passed his Tenderfoot requirements and 8 boys passed the 2nd class requirements and are now awaiting the review board later this month. Twenty-three Scouts of a possible 27 were able to be present for the week's camping.

Swimming, tracking, nature study, knot tying, hiking, evening campfire, KP, and the trip to the Indian exhibit of Mr. Eiker, which was only two miles from camp, were the highlights of the week.

But everything was topped with the Parents and Visitors Night being held last Thursday evening from 6 'til 9:45 o'clock when over 100 were present. At 6:30 p. m. a knot tying contest was won by John Adelsberger. Formal lowering of the flag then took place, followed by a water polo game. Refreshments then were served.

Then the campfire was lighted with an elaborate ceremony as the lighting of the candles represent the Scout Oath and The Twelve Scout Laws, with the Scouts in unison reciting them. Patrol leaders, James Sanders, Thomas Bollinger, Lee Knipple, and Edward Wolfe then lighted the logs of the campfire. Ashes of the previous night's campfire were placed on each Scout's shoulder symbolizing their induction into the Order of Good Campers. This was followed by Scoutmaster Franklin Wastler presenting the following Scouts with membership cards: James Diller, Edward Wolfe, James Sanders, Thomas Bollinger, Lee Knipple, Frederick Gebhart, Mike Humerick, Thomas Van Brakle, Clyde Knipple, Robert Troxell, Robert Wagerman, Kenneth Wagerman, Robert A. Rosensteel, Robert T. Rosensteel, James Umbel, Clarence Umbel, Phil Topper, John Adelsberger, John Randolph, Dick Little, James Brown, James Fitzgerald, and Robert Eiker.

Advancements were also made. James Diller, who was Senior Patrol Leader, was raised to Junior Assistant Scoutmaster. Edward Wolfe, a former Patrol Leader, was made Senior Patrol Leader, and Robert Troxell was raised to Patrol Leader of the Wolf Patrol.

Contest awards were presented as follows: an ax was presented to John Adelsberger for knot tying; a knife was given to James Brown for first place in tracking; an ax was presented to Clyde Knipple for second place in tracking, and the Handicraft Honor Patrol Flag was given to the Panther Patrol, with Patrol Leader Lee Knipple receiving it.

for the building of the large patrol table.

Then the Scouts showed the parents around the area pointing out all the handicraft and achievements made during the week.

The campfire was closed with the gathering of the ashes to be preserved until the same time next year when they will be spread out over the first campfire symbolizing all that was good and the happy times we had this year. Then Bugler Phil Topper sounded Taps, followed by benediction by the Scoutmaster, closing the ceremony.

The whole week of camping was put on a merit basis. Each boy starting with 1000 points—untidy bunk, two points off; late for formation, two points off; disobedience, 25 points off; up after 10 p. m., 25 points off, etc. Only three of the 23 boys present returned with the full 1000 points. They were James Fitzgerald, Kenneth Wagerman, and Phil Topper. These boys will be awarded the Good Campers Award of hunting knives on Thursday evening.

The Boy Scouts wish to thank all those who were so generous in lending assistance, materials, and support of any description in making the camping trip a success.

Phone Company Increasing Local Facilities

The demand for telephone service in the Emmitsburg District has risen to such an extent that already the new phone exchange cannot accommodate patrons, it has been revealed. Erected just a few short years ago, the demand for service had cramped the facilities of the exchange, and Manager Roger P. Heck announced this week that additional equipment is in the process of being installed here to give the continued uninterrupted service which Emmitsburg has enjoyed the past two years.

The increased facilities include 19 new switches and 100 new lines. It is expected that the work will be completed by Aug. 12.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. officials say that demand for service here has far exceeded their expectations and that two additional toll circuits are being installed too.

The president appointed the following to serve on the refreshment committee for September: Melva Hardman, Madeleine Harner and Viola Eyer.

The door prize was won by Margie Sharpe.

Members of the Beall family were watching young Knox trying to fly his new model plane which he had recently constructed. When the plane took off, they said, it went straight up into the power line rather than glide off horizontally.

As the plane hit the power lines, they said, Knox dropped to the ground and quickly jumped up to exclaim:

"That was an awful shock!" He then fell to the ground unconscious, they said. An ambulance was quickly summoned and the victim rushed to the hospital.

The Bealls said the model plane was leashed on a light wire to keep it captive. The wire carried the electric charge to the youth.

Knox lived with his parents, Charles W. and Dorothy Baumgardner Knox, at 280 S. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg. He was a lifelong resident of this community and has been employed by the Cambridge Rubber Co. at Taneytown. He was a member of Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg.

Model Plane Electrocutes Local Youth

James E. Knox, 22, who was discharged from the Army in March after 18 months' service in Germany, was electrocuted on a farm near Woodsboro about 6 o'clock last Saturday afternoon when a guide wire on a model airplane came in contact with a 7200 volt power line.

He was dead on arrival at Frederick Memorial Hospital where he was taken by ambulance. One of the first to see the victim in the hospital emergency room was his sister, Miss Polly Ann Knox, a nurse.

The accident happened on the Henry Huffman farm tenanted by Scott Beall, whose son, Herman Beall, was a close friend of the deceased.

State Trooper R. C. Dishon said members of the Beall family were watching young Knox trying to fly his new model plane which he had recently constructed. When the plane took off, they said, it went straight up into the power line rather than glide off horizontally.

As the plane hit the power lines, they said, Knox dropped to the ground and quickly jumped up to exclaim:

"That was an awful shock!" He then fell to the ground unconscious, they said. An ambulance was quickly summoned and the victim rushed to the hospital.

The Bealls said the model plane was leashed on a light wire to keep it captive. The wire carried the electric charge to the youth.

Reports On Jehovah Convention

"There is every good reason why God himself should conquer the world and rule the earth by his kingdom." Eleven delegates from Taneytown heard Nathan H. Knorr, Watchtower president, make this startling statement during a final session of the five-day "Triumphant Kingdom" assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Yankee Stadium, New York, July 20-24. The convention, one of a series of 11 in the U. S., Canada and Europe, was attended by 55,464 persons from 17 countries.

The Taneytown group witnessed graduation of the 25th Class of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead. A total of 102 students were graduated and assigned as missionaries to 22 countries. Mr. George F. BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 4—I am here for a short vacation at my birthplace—a small city which is now noted as a fishing port and summer resort, but is gradually becoming a thriving suburb of Greater Boston.

With its high land, "air-conditioned" streets, and island location, it has a wonderful all-year climate, a beautiful harbor, and a bright future. My father had a dry goods and novelty store here 50 years ago. This little store my family has built up to some 450 stores located in 38 states, under the corporate ownership of the United Stores Corp. In fact, its stock is now listed on the big New York Stock Exchange.

In those days all industries here were locally owned. Then an ambitious and industrious young man could buy or start a fishing business or granite quarry or small factory of his own. Today the situation is very different. Nearly all the industries require much capital and are owned by large corporations outside Gloucester. This is true of most cities; it is not a healthy situation. It is especially noticeable when I am helping Babson Institute graduates to a position. They can easily get a position starting at $300 per month; but it will be with a large company. The smaller and younger business concerns cannot afford to pay such salaries to beginners. Dewitt M. Emery

One reason for writing this column today is the death at Evanston, Ill., of the founder of the National Small Business Men's Assn., DeWitt M. Emery. He died at the young age of 59, having given his life to the unselfish work of encouraging young persons to start a business for themselves. He claimed that cities are now making a great mistake in depending only upon large manufacturing corporations owned in New York or some other large city. He believed it is like a church expecting to prosper without a Sunday School—or even like a family expecting to prosper without children. Also much is owed to Ernest Gaunt.

Yet things are happening today which could benefit the "small businessman." First, the Federal tax laws have been amended to give him a break. The Labor Unions—as a rule—do not bother the small "independent operator," hoping that their members themselves may some day be one. Increasing the minimum national wage to $1 will probably exempt a small operator or storekeeper. This could be an advantage to the small manufacturer with lower overhead and fewer employees. Importance of Personal Service

I forecast that some people will always want personal attention from specialists whom they know and trust. I believe in pensions, modern factories, and air conditioning, but these things will not take the place of personal attention by interested employees. People like attention; they want to deal with owners of a business whom they know and trust. Most employees are today missing a great opportunity to become truly interested in the success of the business in which they are employed.

The increasing congestion of automobiles, (due to the dumbness of local city governments in not providing employers with sufficient off-street parking lots), is causing many families to move to other areas to get work. The parking nuisance, however, will give young businessmen an opportunity to call at homes and take orders for goods. More business will be done in the evenings. "Wagon-peddlers" will increase in number and usefulness. I forecast that the cycle of the past 100 years from family-owned little businesses to big corporations will gradually reverse and return to small specialty factories.

Women Buying More Insurance

Women are making a record-high use of life insurance, according to a life insurance institute. A report furnished by the institute further states that at the end of last year, women owned more life insurance in their own right than in any previous year. The grand total they own exceeds $50 billion, which is no small amount for the protection of their families.

Today between 15 and 20 per cent of all life insurance is owned by women. Not long ago this percentage would have been unthought-of.

According to Joanne W. Reitz, home management specialist with the University of Maryland Extension Service, the report points to three changes that have taken place in our society in the last generation.

First, the growing realization that women make a considerable economic contribution to their families, along with their other contributions.

Second, more women have jobs and many are supporting young children. Life insurance helps to protect these children financially.

Finally, more women are using life insurance to build their own retirement income, or to supplement family income after their husbands retirement.

Barometers were invented in 1626; wheel barometers in 1668, phosphoric in 1675, pendant in 1695 and marine in 1700.

I am impressed by the number of families who live on their business and are thus able to give "24-hour" service. Were I a young man and had a good wife, this is the way I would start, instead of working for a big company. Or, better still, I should try working for, and some day own a small-town newspaper! I surely would go into some form of merchandising or advertising where I could use new ideas and be an individual, and not get into a labor-union rut. A small manufacturer or shopkeeper, however, willing to work and having a good turnover, need not fear sudden changes and new methods. Many of them can work to his advantage if he will attend to his trade.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The Geneva Conference has been appraised by pundits and politicians as well as statesmen and plain citizens. Each has expressed his concept of its meaning and influence on present world problems. But regardless of the nature of the political commentary all are agreed that President Eisenhower emerged as the man of the hour.

I was particularly struck by a comment in the London News Chronicle, a liberal English journal. The London paper said: "Twice Eisenhower hoisted the meeting to the true summit. Not a thousand speeches in Congress or the House of Commons, not a hundred intergovernmental notes, could have done what one man did who could be seen and heard as he spoke." The impact of the Eisenhower personality on the future course of the world is unmistakable.

It is refreshing, and I may add a unique experience for this generation, to witness a meeting of the heads of the world's major governments characterized by "openness." There were no secret agreements. Nor, as some charged, no secret understandings. I have personally assured myself on this point.

The legislative record of the 84th Congress' First Session will be reviewed next week. I am certain that the most severe critics of both the Administration and the Congress are agreed that this has been a session of accomplishment. Politics have played a role, an important one and at times a disruptive one, but there has been little to mar the sessions of both the House and the Senate.

Shortly after Labor Day I plan to begin an intensive tour of the District. I shall be happy to meet with those interested and discuss the various measures which have become law and those which have been left for consideration next session. I am particularly anxious to discuss measures which concern the 6th Maryland District.

Marylanders, either individuals or companies, who have lost bank accounts or other credits through sequestration by the Japanese in the Philippines during World War II, are entitled to be compensated for their losses. Applications for this benefit must be made prior

Calling All Taxpayers

If the Hoover Commission's specific recommendations for saving money were to be adopted tomorrow the Federal government's budget could be balanced, the towering $280 billion national debt could be reduced, and taxes could be trimmed substantially. And the action would be the healthiest thing that has happened to the American economy in a long, long time. It would strengthen the foundation of our prosperity at home and strengthen our hand in international affairs.

There are 350 specific recommendations in the Hoover Commission final report which former President Herbert Hoover formally presented to the Congress and the President on June 30. One hundred and forty-five of the recommendations could be adopted tomorrow without legislative or presidential action. The heads of the government agencies and departments have all the necessary authority to put them into force. Only about 166 of the recommendations would require legislation. A number of bills covering these already have been introduced.

Up To Citizens

A grass-roots demand for the adoption of the Hoover Commission recommendations is necessary if the department heads are to be moved to action and if Congress is to act favorably on the legislation which will be forthcoming. Therefore every taxpayer ought to adequately inform himself on the Hoover Commission findings and recommendations. Information can be obtained from the Senate Committee on Government Operations which is headed by Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas. The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report was set up with a view of stimulating and directing grass-roots action on the recommendations. Its headquarters is in Washington.

The studies and recommendations were made by 20 Task Forces of from six to 30 men, each with research and clerical staffs. The Task Forces comprised more than 350 professional men and executives, most of whom had had previous experience in government activities. They were from both political parties.

Savings

In his final formal report to the nation, Chairman Hoover noted that the various Task Forces had reported that the following savings were possible (annually): if Task Force recommendations were adopted: Budget and Accounting activities, $4 billion; Depot Utilization, $253 million; Federal Medical Services, $290 million; Lending, Guaranteeing and Insurance activities, $200 million; Overseas Economic Operations, $360 million; Paperwork management, $288 million; Personnel and Civil Service, $48 million; Real Property management, $185 million; Special Personnel Problems (Dept. of Defense), $388 million; Subsistence (food and clothing), $400 million; Transportation, $151 million; and Use and Disposal of Federal Surplus Property, $2 billion. Seven of the Task Forces did not make estimates of possible savings.

Mr. Hoover emphasized that adding up these sums would produce a misleading figure because some of the estimates are partially overlapping. "In any event," he said, "with all such discounts, there are enough possible savings left to enable the balancing of the budget and reduction of taxes—without impairing services."

In The Pocketbook

Another source of substantial savings dealt with by the Commission was the Federal enterprises now producing goods and services in competition with private enterprises. "The Task Forces," said Mr. Hoover, "roughly estimate proceeds (from the sale of the real estate alone in enterprises which should be closed down) at $10 billion—to be returned over a number of years."

"Altogether," he said, "a strong drive to recover investment, unnecessary liabilities, liquidations, and the realization of property assets should expedite benefits to the Treasury of about $15 billion." It is the feeling of the Commission that this huge investment of tax money could be recovered and the efficiency and effectiveness of government improved thereby. Fifteen billion dollars in tax money means $300 to each of our nation's 50 million families. And that's just one item

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

This time of year dogs require special care. Bodily cleanliness and sanitation around the kennel house and yard are absolutely essential to a dog's health. Parasites of all kinds thrive during the hot summer months, and particular care must be taken during this period if the dog's comfort and well-being are to be insured.

The development of DDT has about solved the flea problem, but care should be exercised in its use. Sprays of five per cent strength are highly recommended. Derris powder is especially effective in the control of external parasites, according to Henry P. Davis, dog editor for Sports Afield magazine.

Clipping your dog will make him feel cooler but it will also make him more vulnerable to insects—and he may get badly sunburned. Mr. Davis never recommends clipping long-haired dogs. He prefers to "strip" them with a stripping or plucking knife. This removes the dead hair, thins out the underpinning, but leaves an adequate coat for protection.

Be sure your dog has a fresh supply of water at all times, and plenty of shade. If you have no natural shade, plant sunflowers in the kennel yard. They are fast-growing plants and make excellent shade.

There is no real need to keep your hunting dog idle during the summer. It is neither pleasing to him, nor to his advantage. His muscles become soft, his keen ambition fades, and he is prone to forget some of the lessons he has learned in game-handling manners. This period offers the hunting dog owner wonderful opportunities for training and conditioning, in preparation for the open season ahead.

The pointing dog and spaniel fanciers can devote the late afternoons to yard-training lessons and to brushing up on the recommendations. In the Hoover Commission's recommendations. Our pocket-books have a big stake in what happens now with these recommendations.

der which the apparatus is used. To date, approximately 150 small-mouth bass have been taken, 600 sunfish, 300 suckers, and 700 miscellaneous species such as rock bass, carp, catfish, etc., in the Potomac River Basin of Maryland which extends from Little Falls to Orleans, a distance of 180 miles in the counties of Montgomery, Frederick, Washington, and Allegany. The May and June operations, according to Albert Sanderson, biologist, secured a sufficient sample of bass for examination of spawning conditions, which will be determined later by scientists of the University of Maryland and the Dept. of Research and Education.

The electrofishing project will continue for the next three years for the purpose of securing information for Commission regulations. Fish shocked during the summer, fall and winter period will be captured, tagged and returned to the water for the purpose of studying age, weight, growth, and migration. According to Ernest A. Vaughn, director, this is just one more method in the rapidly expanding field of

Montgomery County Fair Dates Set

It's getting near "fair time" at the Fair Grounds in Gaithersburg site of the Montgomery County Fair, the largest county fair in Maryland. Feverish activity marks the daily preparation for the big, five-day event to be held Aug. 23-27.

R. W. Farmer of Gaithersburg, chairman of this year's fair, optimistically predicts that it's going to be the biggest yet. "The Montgomery County Fair is growing every year," he said, "with more buildings, more exhibitors and more prize money for the winners."

"There will be entertainment galore at this year's Fair," Mr. Farmer said. "Fireworks will open the Fair's first evening and an antique show, military drills by the Army and Navy drill teams, and a light horse show featuring jumpers, hunters and saddle horses will highlight other evening programs. There will be a full entertainment program each night."

Fish in Potomac River Basin Being Studied

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission has recently placed in operation an electric shocker which has been successful in examining and collecting smallmouth bass and related species. The "shocker" uses either an AC or DC generator of 1000 or 2000 watts attached to electrodes of varying sizes and shapes depending on the conditions under which the apparatus is used. To date, approximately 150 small-mouth bass have been taken, 600 sunfish, 300 suckers, and 700 miscellaneous species such as rock bass, carp, catfish, etc., in the Potomac River Basin of Maryland which extends from Little Falls to Orleans, a distance of 180 miles in the counties of Montgomery, Frederick, Washington, and Allegany. Vaughn, director, this is just one more method in the rapidly expanding field of fishery science in securing a large volume of information without injury to fish.

The Flying Dutchman
"The Flying Dutchman" is a name given by sailors to a phantom ship said to cruise in storms off the Cape of Good Hope. According to legend, a Dutch sea captain, bound homeward from the East Indies, met with heavy headwinds and storms as he attempted to round the Cape. Beggled by his men to turn back he stubbornly refused to do so, swearing an oath that he would "beat round the Cape if he had to beat there till the Day of Judgment." He was taken at his word and doomed to forever beat against foul winds in storms off the Cape.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Wheat allotments for 1956 are different from allotments for 1955 and many farmers are wondering why since the total national allotment for the two years remains the same—55 million acres.

George B. Reeves, chairman for the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, says in explaining that state and county allotments primarily are based on the average wheat acreage in the most recent 10-year period. The 1955 allotments for states and counties were based on the wheat acreage for the period 1944-1953 inclusive. "The 1956 allotment," he said, "is based on the period 1945-54. If the trend in wheat acreage has been up or down, state and county allotments will move up or down correspond-ly since one year is dropped and a more recent year is added in arriving at the 10-year average."

"Allotments for individual farms are affected by the state and county trends," Mr. Reeves said. "However, the allotment for a particular farm is mainly based on the farm's average wheat acreage in the most recent 10-year period with allowance for unfavorable weather. If in that 3-year period the farmer has increased or decreased his wheat acreage, his farm allotment will reflect this shift."

"This means that the wheat acreage trend in the state and county, and the trend on the individual farm, are factors in the determination of the individual farm allotment. Because of this," Mr. Reeves continued, "it is probable that, even though the wheat acreage on an individual farm has remained the same through the 3-year base period, the allotment in 1956 may be higher or lower than in 1955."

Mr. Reeves said that if it were not for this moving base period which reflects trends, farm allotments would tend to remain "fixed" and an undesirable "rigidity" would be incorporated in the program.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

The news is nothing but good. President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers now has reported that during the April-May-June quarter of this year Americans made more money, spent more money, produced more goods, and held more jobs than ever before in the country's history.

The Council estimated that national production in the second quarter of 1955 reached an all-time record rate of $383 billion a year. This compares with the $364.5 billion rate achieved in 1953, the previous most prosperous year. The new production rate also is $7.7 billion above the previous record rate, set in the first three months of this year.

Personal income, the Council said, exceeded "the $300 billion level for the first time in history" as industry rehired laid-off workers, added new help and yielded large pay increases to major unions. This was $6.7 billion more than in the first three months of this year.

Of the estimated $300 billion personal income rate, some $267 billion was classed as "disposable," meaning available for spending after taxes.

Consumer spending, usually interpreted as a reflection of public confidence in the economic outlook, also reached a peak in the second quarter of this year. Spending gained $3.7 billion to an annual rate of $249.5 billion. The Council said it might have gone higher, except for an evidence of consumer desire to save a part of income. Some 6.6 per cent of the disposable income was placed in savings or investments.

The new production rate represents the Council's preliminary

More coffee for 1955-56. Latest estimates by the Foreign Agricultural Service indicate a world coffee crop of 37 million bags for the marketing season of 1955-56. This would exceed last year's crop by about 10 per cent, and the pre-war average of 35 million bags by about six per cent.

estimate of the value of all goods and services produced. The estimate may be low.

Officials have had difficulty in keeping statistics abreast of the increasing prosperity. Until 10 days before final figures were to be tabulated the Council estimated the production rate was $370 billion annually, but a rush of last minute tabulations forced a higher estimate.

This is the kind of news we are glad to hear — and we're sure there is more to come.

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, JR.

WASHINGTON — A $60,000 Mistake—Used to smear a businessman servicing government—That's the experience of Howard I. Young, president of the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co. of St. Louis, Mo., and also president of the American Mining Congress, who served government as a "without compensation" employe during the Korean crisis.

Mr. Young was deputy administrator of the Defense Procurement Agency. This division was charged with the expansion and procurement of some 40 different minerals and metals for the defense program. One of the metals was zinc. Mr. Young's company is interested in zinc production—and it was in this connection that the bureaucrats raised the question of possible "conflict of interest" between Mr. Young and the Federal government.

Bureaucrats Carefully Time Charge—The General Accounting Office brought the charge just at the time the Senate Banking and Currency Committee was considering the extension of the Defense Production Act which authorizes the use by government of "without compensation" businessmen, who are known in Washington as WOC men. As a result of the charge being raised at this particular time, the Senate Committee adopted an amendment materially restricting the use of WOC men—in fact, virtually making them nothing but mere advisors to full-time government employes.

Capehart Defends — Senator Capehart of Indiana, ranking Republican on the Banking and Currency Committee, took the fight to the Senate floor. He attacked the accuracy of a General Accounting Office charge which was that Mr. Young's company sold $60,000 worth of machinery to another company which had been loaned money by the government to buy it. Sen. Capehart said that, upon investigation, the GAO now admitted the mistake and that the sale did not take place. The Senator told the GAO, "You had better be careful in the future whom you attack, and whose reputation you smear, without knowing the facts." He also suggested that the Senate investigate the GAO to ascertain the reason for the attack on Mr. Young.

Senate Sustains Capehart—The Senate then adopted an amendment by Senator Capehart, by a margin of one vote, 46 to 45, to permit businessmen to still serve government on a WOC status. But, despite the Senate action, the attack on businessmen continues.

House Committee Hostile—The House Banking Committee had approved an amendment which would further restrict WOC men, and, among other things, require them to file a complete financial statement upon accepting government appointment. Friends of business in Congress protested this House amendment on the grounds that few businessmen would aid in developing mobilization plans under such a restriction. But that is not all—

Another Business Inquiry—The House Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee has taken up the fight over the WOC issue. It has launched an investigation into WOC men in various government agencies, especially in the Office of Defense Mobilization and the Business and Defense Services Administration in the Dept. of Com-

Watermelon For Dessert

Penny wise and pound wise. That's the way to think of watermelon!

And to those very few persons who don't care for this popular, red melon, Janet L. Coblenz, foods and nutrition specialist, University of Maryland Extension Service, says — "You don't know what you're missing! Low calorie, too!"

She explains this further by saying that one-half slice (3/4"x10") contains only 45 calories—a satisfying serving. A two-pound serving gives 115 calories.

As to supply, this is a season of plenty for watermelons. A crop report from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture says this year's early summer production of watermelons is expected to reach over 79 million melons. The late summer crop is expected to produce another 10 million.

This favorite of summertime treats usually comes to market in a more orderly manner. Starting in the early spring from Florida, the harvest of watermelons gradually works its way up north. But this year the out-size fruits are piling up almost at one time. Because of the cold weather this spring, much of Florida's crop had to be replanted. Florida offerings are still moving to market, while the early summer crop is reaching its peak.

"Businessman Guinea Pig" — The Young controversy is of interest to all business. The facts so far would indicate that Mr. Young was singled out as a "businessman guinea pig." Because of his business connections and his government connections it would appear that the bureaucrats thought they had picked a vulnerable target. Fortunately, for businessmen, the charges proved groundless and also fortunate for businessmen is the fact that Mr. Young is courageous and a fighter. Mr. Young has informed friends that he has nothing to retract — that he is demanding vindication — and he is willing and intends to make a fight for all businessmen in this situation.

Medical Faculty Names New Executive Director

The appointment of Jesse Marden IV, as Executive Director of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland was announced recently in the Maryland State Medical Journal. Mr. Marden succeeds Walter N. Kirkman, who will remain with the Faculty on a part-time basis as Administrative Consultant.

The new Faculty Director, a native Marylander, graduated from Baltimore City College in 1923, attended the Johns Hopkins University, completed a course in accounting at the Baltimore College of Commerce in 1937 and graduated in law at the University of Baltimore in 1942. Prior to taking over his present duties at the Faculty's headquarters at 1211 Cathedral Street, Baltimore, Mr. Marden was Secretary and Assistant Treasurer of the Pennsylvania Water & Power Company, which prior to its merger into Pennsylvania Power and Light Company of Allentown, Pa., was located in the Lexington Building in Baltimore. Mr. Marden lives at the Hopkins Apartments, Baltimore.

The Medical and Chirurgical Faculty, which is the State Medical Society representing the physicians of Maryland, was incorporated in January 1799 and was the seventh society of its kind to be founded in the United States.

The Faculty is composed of the members of its Component Medical Societies located in each of the Counties and Baltimore City and, in turn, it is a component society of the American Medical Association.

One of the finest Medical Libraries in the Country, consisting of approximately 78,000 volumes, is maintained at the Faculty Headquarters for the use of its members and mail service is provided for those members who cannot conveniently visit the Library.

When the homemaker goes to market and selects her melon, Miss Coblenz suggests a melon that is: Firm to the touch, velvety bloom on surface of rind, dull looking, not shiny green when ripe, deep solid green to gray color (depending on variety), yellowish color on underside of melon, thumping the ripe melon will bring a dull, muffled sound.

Vehicle Accidents In State Increasing

Motor vehicle accidents in Maryland are increasing at a high rate, claim costs for motor vehicle accidents are increasing faster than premiums are received and farmers have fewer accidents per capita than do non-farmers.

These are some of the conclusions drawn from a recent study made by the Dept. of Agricultural Economics and Marketing at the University of Maryland.

The study points out that the increase in the use of autos and the increasing network of highways in the U. S. have led to more motor vehicle accidents. This increase in the accident rate, the study says, has led to higher insurance rates which in turn means higher operating costs for farmers.

One section of the study gives an analysis of motor vehicle accidents in Maryland over a 10-year period. Mechanical conditions of motor vehicles, road conditions, time of day, weather and age, sex and occupation of the driver are among some of the accident factors covered.

The authors have also included in the study data on the accident experiences of farm drivers compared to non-farm drivers. In addition to the many pages of data made available through this study, there are also listed the different types of insurance plans available in Maryland.

The opium conference of the United Nations in 1953 was joined by representatives of 34 nations, with seven others sending observers. The Soviet Union did not participate. The conference adopted a protocol for limiting and regulating the cultivation and export of opium, and providing for regular reports to a permanent central opium board. Native to Siberia and Mongolia, the argali is among the largest sheep in the world. Its great wrinkled horns have been known to measure more than a yard long the curve and the skull, with horns attached, to weigh in excess of one hundred pounds.

Clippers To Clip!

Starting Monday the price of getting "clipped" will take a hike to 75c in the Emmitsburg District, it was announced by local tonsorial parlors this week.

The increase was long overdue, the barbers thought and they believed that a 15-cent increase is justifiable due to increased operating costs. Shaving will be 50c and hair cutting 75c beginning Monday.
