I want to thank the thoughtful friend who sent me the flood supplement of the recent California floods. The supplement was a 16-page section of pictures, published by the Sac-"Bee." It depicted ramento the highlights (if you could call them that) of the catastrophe which recently struck the West Coast. The pictures graphically showed you and the cutlines gave a vivid account of the tragedy. I don't know who the sender was, but the supplement made interesting reading. Many thanks!

Mid-winter is bringing about the usual conditions which we more or less look for during this period. The cold spell has been a prolonged one, as well as being dry with it. The ground needs precipitation badly and wells and other sources of water supply are dwindling gradually. It is similar to conditions existing here about three years ago when the drought carried on through the winter. We have had little snow to alleviate the condition. Iceskaters have had a lot more fun so far this year than last, I believe, although there were excellent conditions last winter for the sport which is gradually being revived, after almost becoming extinct the past decade. Really, the winters are nothing compared to those of 20 or 30 years ago. At that time, we the youngsters, (now middle-aged), could look forward to weeks of excellent skating conditions, fires, hot dogs, etc. Snow would lay the winter around-well almost. I remember plenty of times, the farmers cutting ice, feet thick, and hauling it to their storage houses. They used this ice until late summer to cool milk and meat. Now I doubt if the ice is thick enough to hold a heavy person. Icicles a foot long used to hang from the window sashes most of the winter, but you seldom, if ever, see this anymore. The winters are much milder, by far. I might not live to see it, but I wouldn't doubt that in the next 25 or 50 years our climate here will be similar to Florida or California.

Somebody's face was red and somebody caught h--- I bet this week when a predated release of a wedding slipped through in a nearby daily paper. The writeup was an advanced account, by about a week and even carried a photo of the bride, which was intended for use this Saturday instead of last. Being a veteran of the newspaper world and a member of the fourth estate, I can see how this thing could happen, but I imagine the parties concerned were a bit chagrined and considered it an unpardonable error. Oh well, we all make 'em and I don't think any harm was done, although it must have been quite a surprise.

Keep a close eye on Ted Elliott's activities at Emmitsburg High. In the few short months he has been here he has worked wonders with the dearth of material he has available. He has created a new enthusiasm in sports at the local school and appears to have instituted a new era in athletics there. Why in the first three months of service here he produced the runner-up team in the soccer division in county high school athletics. At present he has a steadily-improving basketball squad which is currently resting in second place in the school league and I predict that come spring, he'll be right in there with his consistent winning ways, with a pretty fair baseball club. This just might provide the necessary material we need for the town team. Not too much talent has been forthcoming the past five years from high schools and if Ted can mold a successful combination together in the short time he has, it will be to our benefit almost immediately, and certainly in the next two or three years. Incidentally, a little support from local basketball fans might boost the morale of the boys. How about it folks? Thanks for an excellent coaching job, Ted. And while on the subject of sports, are you aware that Mt. St. Mary's appears to be headed for another basketball championship. It's a little early yet but Jim Phelan's boys are right (Continued on Page Eight)

Increase Of Phones Here Is Rapid

Next Friday will be the second anniversary of dial telephone conversion for Emmitsburg and the increase of service here has been phenomenal, considering the size of the town, Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. officials announced this week.

Local manager Roger B. Heck, delving into history records, discloses the first phone installed in Emmitsburg was back in 1882. The first exchange was installed here in the residence of W. G. Homer, just two years later, in 1884, and the first long distance line here was to Frederick, back in 1883.

It is interesting to note that the first exchange here was discontinued here just nine years after its installation, because the town was too small and the company could not justify the existence of the exchange due to the small profits. The toll line also was discontinued to Frederick in 1895, but a line was kept in service between Mt. St. Mary's College and the Western Union office here in town.

The phone utility decided to try the enterprise here once more and the first exchange had 23 main stations. In 1910 this number better than doubled with 55 stations. The rapid demand and growth of service is revealed in these figures for following years In 1920, 204 stations; 1930, 301 stations; 1940, 350; 1945, 413, and in 1954, the year of dial conversion, 690 stations.

In November of 1921 the exhome on W. Main St. and conment in 1954. At the time of the discontinuance of the local manual exchange, seven operators were employed to maintain the two-position switchboard, and the number of calls averaged 1400, including 170 long distance calls.

The 1954 conversion and new exchange, located at the intersection of Chesapeake Ave. and Potomac St., cost the telephone company $113,116.00. Since the erection of the new exchange an addition, costing $5000, has been added to the service.

Manager Heck reports the number of telephones here has doubled in the last decade. In 1945 figures show that Emmitsburg had a total of 413 phones at the time. Today the total is almost 900. It is interesting to note the average number of calls handled every day is 3200, including 350 long distance calls.

SATURDAY DRAWINGS DISCONTINUED

Emmitsburg merchants gave away over $2500 to lucky ticket holders during the past two years through the operation of the National Trades Assn. plan.

The final figures of the amount given away were compiled and released this week by Ralph F. Irelan, general chairman of the drawing, sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and which was recently discontinued when it was felt that interest had waned.

According to the statistics, 1954 the first year of operation, was the most lucrative to local participants in the weekly drawings. In that year $1490.70 was distributed between 52 winners. In 1955, the final year of operation, $1044.85 was issued in trade certificates. In all some $2535.55 was was won by patrons of the local business establishments.

Over 300 Receive Polio Shots Here

Emmitsburg parents responded in sizeable numbers for the second free inoculations of polio vaccine, given under the supervision of the Frederick County Health Dept. at the local clinic in the American Legion Home, Emmitsburg, Tuesday morning. Dr. Charles A. Williams, supervising physician, reported the first inoculation group last week numbered 81. The second group, given shots Tuesday morning, almost trebled and some 200 were given the serum.

It is announced by Mrs. Leonard J. Sanders, local appointment assistant, that those who received their first shot Jan. 10 and 12, will be scheduled for their second inoculation Feb. 7 and 9. respectively. The group which was administered the serum on Jan. 17 will receive the second shot on Feb. 14, and those who will receive the vaccine next week on Jan. 24 and 26, will also get the second injection on Feb. 21 and 23, respectively.

Officials in charge wish to announce that those wanting their children to receive first shots must make an appointment by inoculation.

Well over 300 local children have had the serum injections administered free at the local health clinic. All residents of the northern section of the county are eligible to have their children, between the ages of one and 16, inoculated free, providing they make the necessary appointment. If it is inconvenient to receive the injection in Emmitsburg it will be administered in Frederick at

Children are coming out in large numbers to take advantage of the free polio shots at the county health office at Winchester Hall, Frederick.

On Monday 234 children were inoculated with the Salk polio vaccine. There is a large list of appointments for this coming Friday and for as long as the clinic is needed, according to Dr. Forbes Burgess, county health officer.

1955 FINANCIAL STATEMENT

EMMITSBURG, MD.

We are presenting herewith for your approval, our 1955 Financial Statement. We are also listing for your informa-tion the number of fire calls our company responded to dur-ing the past 12 months. There were a total of 26 calls of ing the past 12 months. There was a total of 36 calls, of these only 6 were in the town limits with the remaining 30 in the country. There were 31 fire calls during the day and 5 calls at night. To these calls our company had an average of over 27 men per fire, this we are very proud of. A total of 684 man-hours were given to the fighting of fires, another great number of hours were given in cleaning equipment, practice, and class work. The amount of property involved was $155,043.75 with damage or loss amounting to $16,378.75. One hundred and eighty-five miles were covered in the answering of these alarms.

I would like to bring to the attention of the public that during the past year we became equipped to fight any type fire which would occur in this area. The company purchased FOAM and WET WATER which is carried on our truck at all times. Foam is extra good on oil and gas fires for its smothering effect while wet water is used where you want deep penetration of water. A RESCUE and SERVICE TRUCK was also put into use during the past year, fully equipped to use in many types of emergencies.

I am proud to represent the Vigilant Hose Company and am certain your generosity in past Fund Drives expresses your appreciation of the efforts of our members to serve the Community in times of need.

Very sincerely, HERBERT W. ROGER. President

A. The vaccine used during the 1954 field trials was 60 per cent to 90 per cent effective against paralytic polio. There is reason to believe that the vaccine being used today is even more effective.

Q. What assurance do we have that the Salk vaccine is safe?

A. Every possible assurance. The vaccine used in the field trials caused neither polio nor any other major reactions. Stringent tests for safety are polio to incubate? A. From three to 35 days, but most often in the neighborhood of two weeks. If a person is vaccinated after he has been infected with the polio virus, the vaccine cannot prevent the disease.

Q. Is one shot enough for full, long-term protection?

A. No. Three are needed. The first shot begins to take effect in from seven to 10 days. The second shot, two to four weeks after the first, brings a sharper rise in antibodies. With these two injections, a child should protected from paralytic or booster shot should be administered seven months later. Yes. According to Dr. Salk, the effect of the first shot is not lost even if the second shot cannot be given for many months afterwards. Q. How long does the protec tion given by the vaccine last? A. There hasn't been enough time since the vaccine was developed to answer this question. On a March of Dimes grant, Dr. Salk is continuing studies that will provide this knowledge.

Q. Does the vaccine prevent non-paralytic polio?

A. No. But polio infection without paralysis does not give an individual a permanent handicap and so is not important as a health problem. Although some cases of non-paralytic polio cause extreme temporary discomfort, most are not diagnosed or reported, being so mild as to be passed off as a cold or the grippe.

Q. Should people who have had polio be vaccinated?

A. Yes. There are three types fo polio virus and a person who has recovered from infection by one type is not necessarily immune to the other

Q. Is the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in charge of manufacturing and testing the vaccine?

A. No. The vaccine is made by pharmaceutical manufacturers under standards drawn up by the National Institutes of Health of the U.S. Public Health Service. Such government standards also govern the manufacture of other biological products.

Q. What research still is needed in the vaccine field?

A. March of Dimes research is continuing to improve the Salk vaccine: to determine the best time intervals and size of doses for long-lasting protection: to find out if occasional booster shots of the vaccine are needed over the years: and to discover more suitable strains of virus for the vaccine. Other research is devoted to improving production methods and finding other types of vaccines. Q. How much did it cost to develop a polio vaccine?

Records of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis indicate that $25.5 million was used between 1938 and spring, 1955 to support virus research and the vaccine field trials. Dr. Salk's work has been supported by nearly $2 million and his laboratory is receiving March of Dimes funds for his present research on improvement of the vaccine.

Q. Is polio conquered yet? A. No. But we now know that its control is feasible and, when vaccine supplies allow vaccination of all those in the most susceptible groups, we should see a diminishing rate paralytic polio. However, there still may be thousands of cases in 1956 as there were in 1955. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is continuing its research and professional education programs and must also provide care for the thousands of patients for whom the vaccine comes too

Scientists have discovered that one of the most effective barriers against the spread of deadly germs are other microorganisms For while some of these minute agents seem bent on destroying human, plant and animal life, others protect and help us.

We now know, for instance, there are germs that actually prey on a variety of disease-causing agents. Such "cannibal" germs are called bacteriophages, which means "devourers of bacteria.

Other microorganisms have a more subtle but equally effective means of disposing of dangerous bacteria: they "manufacture" chemicals called antibiotics which are effective against a variety of deadly germs. The antibiotic tetracycline, for instance, is produced by Streptomyces, which are tiny mold microorganisms. Tests have shown that this drug, which is also known as Polycycline, repels germs responsible for scores of diseases which range from pneumonia to

The A-B-C's Of America

A year after Plymouth Colony was founded in December, 1620, many of the pilgrims had begun to loaf. They had found that they didn't have to work as diligently and produce as much as their neighbors in order to eat as well as their neighbors. They were getting equal shares of food from the common storehouse regardless of their own production, regardless of how much they loafed. So they loafed more and more. For a time the industrious settlers tried to make up the deficiency of food, but as they saw the tendency to loaf growing among the colonists, they slowed down too. When starvation threatened to wipe out the colony, the pilgrims were called together by the leaders. The proposal was made that each family take over the ownership of a parcel of land and keep what it produced. Every family then would have to be self-reliant. The lazy ones did not like the idea but there were enough industrious people to Tennyson was wrong. And so were all the rest of the poets who refer to tears as fruitless, vain, foolish, childish, waster, etc., etc. There's nothing idle or useless about tears. Just try to get along without them.

According to the dictionary, tears are the watery secretion of the lacrimal glands, "diffused between the eye and the eyelids to moisten the parts and facilitate their motion." Obviously, they are intended to serve a useful purpose. We all know that weeping is the most effective way of getting rid of a particle out of the eye. But it isn't only physically that tears are useful. Doctors tell us we must cry in order to be mentally and emotionally pure happiness. There is always an element of sadness. In the course of everyday living we are bound to gather minor wounds and sadnesses which we bottle up for the time being. A happy event, music, or a beautiful view can uncap the bottle and the accumulated tears of mingled joys and sadness spill out.

Anger, fear, or the shock of sorrow brings psysical changes in our bodies. The digestion shuts down, blood pressure goes up, the heart beats faster, and the skin becomes cold. This is an emergency condition, and should not be allowed to go on too long. Unless the feelings that caused it can be released in tears, serious physical illness can result. Doctors find that suppressed tears can trigger such ailments as asthma, migraine headaches, and ulcers. Some people who have suffered for years from sinusitis and chronic colds have found these troubles disappear when they learn to vent their feelings in tears.

Philosophers in the old days thought our emotions interfered with our ability to think, and that we had to eliminate our emotions before we could attain wishealthy. And "we" means both dom. Modern medical science finds that repressing the emotions may be most damaging to our ability to think clearly. Certainly, in allowing ourselves to weep instead of manfully suppressing the impulse, we help ourselves to both mental and physical health.

Whether or not his decision is overruled, William L. Pack, examiner for Federal Trade Commission may go down in history as rare example of an employee of rampant bureaucracy who showed common sense.

Acting in case of Pioneers, Inc., Oakland. California, Examiner Pack rolled back previous actions taken by FTC, Com-merce Dept., and its sub division, the Bureau of Standards, plus Post Office C. W. Harder Dept. Background is interesting.

For many years Pioneers, Inc., headed by Jesse Ritchie, has marketed a compound said to lengthen life of an automobile

This product is used by many big firms as well as Federal agencies. Despite this, early in 1954, A. V. Astin, head of the Bureau of Standards, decided the product has no merit. FTC told Ritchie to quit advertising. Ritchie protested on basis of his many satisfied customers. The Post Office then issued fraud charges, going so far as to confiscate the firms incoming mail.

The Senate Small Business Committee took notice of the situation. Cleve Schaeffer, head of highly respected Schaeffer Pen Company, then serving as assistant Commerce Secretary, weighed all facts, decided Astin had acted in high-handed manner, dismissed him.

* * * *

A vociferous clicque of scientists raised a fuss with result Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks reinstated Astin, accepted Schaeffer's resignation.

Business Committee had Massachussetts Institute of Technology, recognized as nation's, if not world's, leading scientific school, test the product. MIT found merit in product.

So situation was at loggerhead. Post Office did withdraw fraud charges, but Commerce Dept., Bureau of Standards, FTC, refused to back down an inch.

However, FTC did authorize Pack to hold a recent hearing. Some 45 prominent users of the product testified it was of value. No one testified it was harmful.

It is interesting that Pack reached in principle same conclusion as the ousted Schaeffer. In principle, Schaeffer held that when scientists disagree, as they did in this matter, there is no sound premise in establishing the opinion of a scientist as infalliable merely because he was a bureaucrat, nor in marshalling all the forces of government to enforce that opinion, any more than using government to en-force the opinions of the eminent scientists of MIT. In addition, he held that disagreeing scientific opinions regardless, if an important segment of consumers of a product believed in its merit, and if the product were not harmful,

That basically was decision reached by Pack . . . a refresh-ing whiff of commonsense blowing through musty corridors of stalemated bureducracy. It will be interesting to see if FTC backs up Pack, or if he will walk plank as did Schaeffer.

government should not interfere.

As for Ritchie, he is now hopefull of increasing customers to help offset an estimated half million dollar loss incurred fighting bureaucracy. But it is fortunate Congress has set up committees to protect independent business from bureaucratic dep-

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 19-My father used to say to me: "Roger, avoid the words NEVER and ALWAYS; also do not put dates on your Forecasts." In discussing this unpopular subhis advice.

ject of Prohibition, I will now observe

Prohibition Could Return First, let me say I am not forecasting the success of the Prohibition Party as a political factor. Rather, I am forecasting that one, or both, of the major parties will put some form of Prohibition in their platforms. The curse of the liquor traffic may be no different now than 25 years ago; but there is one great difference. In 1933 when Prohibition was overwhelmingly defeated, there were no great industries to put up the funds to continue Prohibition, while the great brewers, distillers, and other liquor interests supplied the funds to kill it. Then, however, there were only 201/2 million automobiles. Today-with 50 million automobiles - the situation is very different. In the next fight over Prohibition, the automobile industry (now the second largest) which includes manufacturers, sales agencies, the great gasoline industry, as well as the owners of property rented by these interests, should heavily support the Prohibition cause. And this group is increasing every year as more cars go on the roads. There are now over 225,000 filling stations earning a a billion dollars annually.

Methods of Preventing Accidents

Safety belts, compulsory car inspections, canceling of licenses, and even jailing offenders should help prevent accidents or make them less serious. However, none of these things seem to be effective. The main cause of accidents is with the brain of the driver. Hence, the great importance of insisting upon drivers keeping in line and not passing except where specifically permitted.

The basic reason why drivers disobey traffic rules, crossing lines, driving fast, ignorintersections and signs, is lack of mental control. People are all too willing to take chances. But civilization has progrssed by a constant tempering of this instinct to risk, by education, religion, and laws working toward the development of self -control. This is a very important fact which parents and teachers should recognize.

Liquor and Self-Control

There are three biological effects of drinking. (1) Drinks "pep" one up. Liquor, even in very small amounts, give people temporary courage to do and say things they otherwise would not; (2) drinks enable people to forget - but this means forgetting driving rules as well as troubles; (3) drinks are habit-forming. No one ever expected to become a slave to drink when he started simple social drinking.

Not only are automobiles increasing every year by several million and the population by about 3 million, but the age when young people start to drink has lowered. The cocktail party, along with the abovementioned factors, has made liquor a national problem which must be conquered. It may get worse before Prohibition, in some form, returns; but it is a sure forecast that it will return. Perhaps one plan would be to prohibit sales to those holding drivers' licenses. Even the new four-lane turnpikes do not solve the difficulty, as they develop a "sleepitis."

New Prohibition Will Be Different

How the liquor curse will be handled, I do not know. As my friend, Delcevare King says, it is a problem of the three E's: -Education, Engineering, and Enforcement. The most common suggestion is that we all have a license either to buy liquor or to drive a car. This, however, will not alone solve the cocktail-party danger and the fact that the self-control and judgment of many individuals are not affected by a little liquor-while others are affected almost by the smell of it!

I hope readers will not take this column as propaganda for Prohibition, as I believe the person who does not drive a car has a right to drink. However, with 99 being killed each day and one seriously injured every 25 seconds, and these figures constantly increasing something radical must be done. Also, unless the brewers and distillers themselves "see the handwriting on the wall" and help solve the problem, the securities of such companies face a terrific decline, as happened when Prohibition went into effect in 1919.
