Regardless of whether or not Mr. Groundhog did his stuff yesterday, we're in for some more foul weather, if the past record is any indicator. Do you realize this is the roughest winter in 45 years? That is temperature-wise. Weather records disclose that the prolonged cold spell takes us back to 1910, when the last record for average daily temperature low was established. We haven't been plagued with any great amount of precipitation in the form of snow so far this winter, but it has been below freezing since Christmas, almost every day in fact. I don't know how many of you believe in the legend of the groundhog, but you can bank on at least six to eight more weeks of this 1955-56 winter. Let's hope the tail-end of the season is a bit more gentle than the first half was. Here's one I never heard before: An old-timer recently enlightened me to the fact that as long as the snow clings to the trees there will be that much more winter. Well I don't put much faith in that adage because in some places yet there remains a trace of the six-inch snow we had two weeks ago, still clinging to the trees. If the old-timer was right we'd have only two or three more weeks of winter. I won't buy that one, not this early in the season, and certainly, not after yesterday's five inches of snow, rain and sleet.

Winter is playing havoc with roads in this area. Have you noticed the Old Frederick Road recently? There are numerous treacherous spots where a motorist could break a spring or burst a tire, due to the deep holes caused by frost bubbles the result of the prolonged freeze. So until the County Roads Board can get around to remedial measures, better take it easy when traveling this route. And while on the subject of roads, have you noticed how gradual the disintegration is taking place on the Motters - Rocky Ridge road? Residents of the area claim the road is shrinking in width year after year and nothing is being done to prevent it. This road was turned over to the State Roads Commission years ago and it presently is in bad state of disrepair, having no shoulders whatsoever, and diminishing in width every year. This highway is used considerably, being the main connecting link between Emmitsburg and Rocky Ridge and it is of primary importance that it be kept in good condition. I'll not bring up Route 15 at this time because plans are mapped out for a new road sometime within the next few years, but I'll go this far and say it is deteriorating rapidly. Winter has taken its toll and the highway is in worse condition than ever before. So much for roads.

The Sage of Baltimore has died and his brain has been removed and placed in a container for observation and research by medical students and doctors at Johns Hopkins University. You know of course who the Sage of Baltimore was? None other than H. L. Mencken, renowned writer and critic of American literature. He lived an atheist and died one. That's okay by me if that is the way he wanted it. He requested no religious services at his funeral, just wanted a couple of his buddies around to speed him off on his last journey into eternity. He willed his brain to science or posterity, as they say, and his remains have been cremated. It seems to me an unorthodox way of being disposed of, but I guess if that's the way he wanted it, that's the way it was. It just puzzles me that a learned man such as Mr. Mencken, would choose such an ending. You can say this for him, though, he left us more than one thing to remember him by.

Imagine, 700 children already have been inoculated here with the polio serum. Where in the sam hill do they all come from? It is readily ascertained that by far, the majority of them are from local families and I imagine the minority came from around Thurmont. It's hard to believe there are that many children around, but then if you check the school enrollments you will see there are still many more. It just sort of startles you at first. Who says Em-

More Than 700 Receive Polio Shots Here

Over 700 children from Emmitsburg and Thurmont Districts have received polio vaccine inoculations, according to officials at the local Health Clinic. The clinic is operated under the supervision of the Frederick County Health Dept., and the "shots" were administered by Dr. Charles R. Williams, local physician, assisted by volunteer workers from this area. The program is in conjunction with the national project with the serum being supplied by Federal Health Service funds.

The first injections were given children here last month between the ages of one to 16. Mrs. Leonard J. Sanders, local assistant in charge of appointments, announces that those who received the first shots are due back for the second of a series of three, sometime this month, approximately two weeks after the first inoculation. The first group will be processed on February 9, the second on Feb. 14 and the balance on February 21, 23 and 28. Parents are informed that appointments are not necessary for any of those who have received their first shots to obtain the second inoculation. All injections are being administered at the local Health Center in the American Legion basement.

Mount Resumes Basketball Activity Here Tomorrow Nite

Coach Jim Phelan's Mountaineers, 9-6 on the season, and 5-1 in the Mason-Dixon Conference, get back into action following semester exams on Feb. 4 when they tangle with Ed Athey's Washington College quintet at Emmitsburg. The visitors are 5-2 in conference play and 5-4 over the entire campaign.

Disappointed with the poor showing of his squad in the Loyola game, Phelan expects to tinker with the offense to get better scoring and board work. Tito Nanni, regular forward who missed the last three Mountaineer games due to an eye injury is expected to be ready for action against Washington and he should improve the team rebounding. Ed Bals, senior set-shot artist, is still sidelined with a bad leg and may not see any more action.

Following Washington the Mountaineers meet Georgetown in Washington on Feb. 8, Roanoke at home on the 10th, and Baltimore, away, on the 11th. Top scorer in the state is Mountaineer ace Jack Sullivan, who, despite an ankle injury, has been scoring at a 23.5 clip. The Blue and White bomber has dropped in 212 points in nine games and is shooting with 51 per cent effectiveness from the floor. Burt Sheing, freshman backcourt surprise, is the team's second high man with a 12-point average in 13 games.

Phelan is hopeful that the examination layoff will enable his squad to lick its wounds and get back in action physically sound. In only three games all year have the Mountaineers been at top strength.

The feeling on the Mt. St. Mary's campus is that the former LaSalle ace has done an even better job this year than last when his club wound up with a 23-4 record. Before the season opened Phelan lost two starters and a top reserve in O'Donnell, McNamara, and Wachtel. Since then Sullivan missed five games as a result of a chipped ankle; Nanni, three; Bals, five, and Williams, two. Yet the Mounties have lost only to Quantico by more than six points.

MISSION BAZAAR NEXT FRIDAY

The annual Mission Bazaar of St. Joseph's High School will be held in the school auditorium Feb. 10, from 1 to 5 p. m.

The day will be climaxed by the "King and Queen of Hearts" dance in the evening 8 to 11 o'clock, at which time the boy and girl receiving the most votes will be crowned King and Queen of Hearts.

Some of the many features of this year's bazaar will be guessing games, games of skill, selling of religious and fancy articles, bingo party, and a variety of refreshments.

FOOD SALE

The Chapel Choir will conduct a food sale at the Fire Hall Saturday, Feb. 4, at 10 a. m.

The altar committee for February will be Mrs. Roy Maxwell, Mrs. Clarence Valentine, and Mrs. Clarence Hahn.

Bridal Shower

A surprise bridal shower was given Miss Ruth Umbel last Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Franklin Wastler by her and Miss Beatrice Umbel. Those attending were Mrs. Roland Sanders, Mrs. Grace Wilhide, Mrs. Janet Eton, Misses Doris Flax, Pat Ling, Jean Troxell, Jane Bollinger, Mrs. Hilda Hemingway, Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, Mrs. Robert Daugherty, Jane Hess, Mrs. Robert Rohrbach, Mrs. William Baker and son, Bill; Mrs. Clifton Liller, Mrs. Wilbur Umbel and Carolyn.

Miss Umbel will wed Vincent P. Clark of Thurmont on Tuesday, Feb. 14. Mr. Clark is now serving with the U. S. Navy and is stationed in Pensacola, Fla.

Jurors Drawn

The names of 48 jurors for the February term of Circuit Court were drawn last week in the courtroom in the presence of Associate Judge Patrick M. Schnauf-fer.

The term will open Monday, Feb. 20. It is both a grand jury and petit jury term. From the names of all the jurors, the Court will draw the grand jury on the opening day of the term. The remainder of the jurors will comprise the petit jury.

The jurors drawn from Emmitsburg were Maurice A. Orndorff and Clarence E. Hahn, and from Thurmont, Mildred L. Gall and Edgar D. Boller.

Hospital Report

DISCHARGED Charles Lingg, Rt. 1. ADMITTED Mrs. Carrie Fior.

Tours With Choir

Miss Sarah B. Hays, W. Main St., presently is on tour with the famed Gettysburg College Choir. Miss Hays, a biology major, is a freshman at Gettysburg.

The 60-voice choir, under the direction of Prof. Parker B. Wag-nild, considered by critics to be one of the nation's foremost directors of sacred music, began its annual tour Sunday in Arlington, Va. Before it returns to the campus on Feb. 9, the choir will have sung concerts in 13 different cities in Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

In addition to the annual tour, the choir, following its return from the South, will sing concerts in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Washington, D. C. The 1956 concert season ends Apr. 8.

SMITH-BOWERS

Miss Loretta M. Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowers, Emmitsburg, became the bride of John H. Smith, Forestville, in St. Cecelia Catholic Church, Baltimore, Jan. 21. Rev. George E. Altman performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a dress of pale blue brocade with matching hat. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Paula Bowers, who wore a dress of spring pink, with white hat and accessories. Howard G. Plumb of Baltimore, was the best man.

After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shandean.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are employed at the Maryland Workshop for the Blind. They are residing at their newly furnished apartment at 2129 W. Baltimore St., Baltimore.

Mite Society Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Mite Society of Trinity Methodist Church was held at the home of Miss Edythe Nunemaker last Friday evening with 12 members in attendance. Rev. Paul H. McCauley gave the invocation and the devotional service was presented by Mrs. William A. Frailey.

During the business session with Mrs. Charles R. Fuss, society president in charge, the usual reports were received, including a financial statement by the treasurer.

The pastor gave an interesting report of the three-day ministerial retreat which he attended at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., last week.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the society, delicious refreshments were served by the local group will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Fuss on Feb. 24.

Wrong Address . . .

No Plates

The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Frank Small Jr., said this week the department is printing applications for the new license plates, and requests that you immediately notify the department in writing if you have moved, or your address on your registration card is incorrect. Your name, correct address, title number, and license plate number should be given, and the number of your driving license, if that also bears correct address.

Church Group To Meet

The Elias Lutheran Church Women (formerly the W.M.S.) will hold the February meeting at the regular time, Tuesday, Feb. 14, at 7:30 p. m. at the parsonage. Mrs. Hazel Caldwell will be the leader and will show slides on her trip in Denmark.

Grange Banquet Scheduled For Tuesday Night

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange will be held in the Emmitsburg High School on Wednesday evening, Master Richard Florence presiding. One new member, Bernard Welty, was admitted to the group. Members were reminded that the annual banquet will be held in the Lutheran parish hall, Tuesday evening at 7:00 p. m. The committee in charge of the banquet consists of Clara Harner, Raymond Baumgardner and Margaret Gartrell. Those planning on attending the affair on Feb. 7 are asked to contact the committee for reservations. Children under 12 will be served at a nominal fee of $1. Deadline for reservations is today.

Richard Florence will act as chairman of the Red Cross drive for this district and the Grange will again sponsor the drive here. It was announced the Pomona meeting will be held tomorrow at Thurmont.

The Grange will operate a food stand at the B. D. Martin sale on Saturday, Feb. 25 and the home economics committee will be in charge. Mrs. George J. Martin is chairman of this committee.

Following a short business session the meeting adjourned and an open program in the form of a panel discussion on milk shipping was held.

Representing the tank milk shippers on the panel were Raymond Keilholz, Ed Meadows and Harry Swomley of Emmitsburg, and Samuel Royer, Jr., of Thurmont. Representatives for the can shippers were Claude DeBerry, George J. Martin, John Baumgardner and Glenn Springer. Mr. William G. Baker, local agriculture teacher, acted as moderator. Harry Hahn represented the can milk hauler. The tank milk hauler, Carroll Haugh, was unable to be present. A lively and interesting discussion ensued and many questions were elicited from the 50 members and shippers present.

Visiting Grange officers present were Carroll County Pomona Master Maurice Meunier of Harney, and Master Harry Zentz of the Thurmont Grange. The next regular meeting of the group will be held Wednesday, February 15.

Ivan Ray Baker, 38, died in his sleep and was found last Thursday morning at 5 o'clock by his wife, at their home in South Mountain. Cause of death was a heart attack.

He was born at South Mountain, the son of Howard E. and Emma Gertrude (Floyd) Baker.

He had been an employe of the Gettysburg Shoe Factory, but had been unable to work for the last three months.

He served in World War II, the 688 Field Artillery, and had also served an enlistment in the National Guard.

Surviving are his wife, Evelyn L. (Nagle) Baker; three daughters, Emma, Hilda and Eileen, all at home; his father, South Mountain; three sisters and five brothers: Mrs. Pearl Shaffer, Mrs. Violet Gossert, both of Waynesboro Rt. 1; Mrs. Verna Wagaman, Fayetteville Rt. 2; Ernest Baker, Emmitsburg R.D.; Herman Baker, Cletus Baker and Harold Baker, all of Fayetteville Rt. 2.

Funeral services were held last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with brief services at the home, with further services at the Second Church of God at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. Paul W. Moore. Interment in Strang's Cemetery.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Topper of Emmitsburg, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rita Ann, to Mr. William I. Keene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Keene of Trenton, N. J.

Miss Topper is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School and is employed at Camp Detrick, Frederick.

Mr. Keene attended Mt. St. Mary's College and is now attending the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Dance Successful

Lumen F. Norris, local chairman of the March of Dimes drive, announced this week that the benefit dance held last Saturday proved to be a financial success, as in former years. Mr. Norris stated it is expected that about $40 will be netted from the affair. No estimates as to the over-all total of the local drive can be given at this time, Mr. Norris reported, because returns are still incomplete. He said, however, that he believed the drive would do as well here as in previous years.

Guy A. Baker, Jr. Is Community Fund President

Emmitsburg's Community Fund spent one of its busiest years since organizing in 1950, it was revealed at the regular meeting of the group held Monday evening in the VFW home. Mrs. O. H. Stinson, president, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Leonard Sanders, treasurer, gave a resume of the year's activities and expenditures. The report showed the Fund spent $347.16 during the past year. The money went to numerous families who were destitute. Help was given the sick, unemployed and indigent families and assistance was rendered several times when sudden death inflicted hardships on some families. Aid also was given several times when families were burned out of their homes.

Fifteen delegates and officers were present at the meeting and the annual election of officers was held with the following being installed in office: Guy A. Baker, Jr., president; George Gartrell, vice president; Mrs. Leonard J. Sanders, secretary and Floyd W. Seiss, treasurer.

Thank-you notes were received and read from the Emory Barnhouse and Earle Gelwicks families.

Mrs. Stinson, retiring president, expressed appreciation for the excellent cooperation accorded her and the group by the committees and expressed the hope this fine spirit would be extended the newly-installed officers. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $356.25. The Fund is entirely dependent on operating funds from generous donors and once or twice a year promotes a fund-raising affair. Those desiring to make a contribution for the ensuing year are asked to mail their checks to the treasurer.

Several delegates were absent from the meeting, due presumably, to the failure of their organization to appoint them for another year. Those organizations or groups which have not as yet appointed new delegates, are asked to do so immediately.

The following is a list of the present delegates and the organization which they represent on the board of directors of the Fund: Presbyterian Church, Miss Rhoda Gillean; Home-makers' Club, Mrs. Charles R. Fuss; Emmitsburg High School PTA, Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Jr.; Chamber of Commerce, Floyd W. Seiss; VFW, Guy A. Baker, Jr.; Methodist Church, Col. Thomas J. Frailey; Indian Lookout Conservation Club, William Widener; Vigilant Hose Co., J. William Rowe; Reformed Church, Harry Swomley; Grange, George Gartrell. All officers were elected by acclamation and the retiring officers were highly commended for the fine work done in behalf of the community during the past year.

Primitive Art On Exhibition Here

Curtis Bucher announced this week that he has agreed to provide the expansive wall space for the showing of paintings by Galen Gough, Award of Merit winner of the International Art Exhibition held in Florida State College in 1952. Acclaimed as "worthy of the best of Rousseau" by Dr. Michael M. Engel, famous art critic and director of the exhibition, Colonel Gough has been widely publicized in many art gallery showings. His paintings have been reviewed by many newspaper art critics and some have dubbed him as "The veritable Modern Van Gogh." Many stars in Hollywood have his work, including Mae West, Ed Sullivan of New York, Chief Justice Earl Warren, etc.

Already done in less than one month nine paintings on masonite and with printer's oils, are presently exhibited as an example of work done without benefit of canvas or professional material. These paintings show a number of landscapes and water scenes including a couple of semi-abstract and surrealism. The colors are vividly expressed.

Col. Gough is the creator of primitive expressionism and breathed into art a new form of third dimensional usually painted in two dimensional form. These paintings are unusually interesting and are an introduction to a showing which will be held within the next 60 days.

The Glee Club of St. Joseph's High School has selected "Marianne," an operetta, for its Spring Concert this year. The operetta, slated for Apr. 22 and 23, will have colorful staging and catchy melodies, while the scene is laid in South America.

Tryouts for leading parts in "Marianne" will take place in the near future.

The Art Class has started a unit on "Crafts" which will help the members in making articles such as Rosary cases, lanyards, knitted and crocheted articles that will be sold at the annual Mission bazaar to be held on Feb. 10. For this bazaar, students have already begun to solicit donations from their friends and neighbors, thus giving everyone a splendid opportunity to participate in this mission activity. Report cards were distributed to the students on Jan. 27, as the previous Friday marked the closing of the first semester.

John Roddy, president of the Student Council, presided over the meeting held Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 24, in the auditorium. The main business was the installation of the Freshmen officers by Sister Mary. After the business session, the Student Council presented the movie, "Mutiny on the Bounty," to the student body.

St. Joseph's Cagers Win 55-44

Tentative plans are being made by the English classes to promote different projects in accordance with Book Week and Catholic Press Month.

On Tuesday the annual CSMC oratorical contest was held with 16 participants from the Third and Fourth Year students. ART: In art we find beauty, pleasure; and the educational value of art can not be denied. There is no greater authority on art than Dr. Michael M. Engel, director of Arts at the International Arts Exhibition, Chancellor of Arts at the Southern Florida State College and director of Grumbacher's, Inc., arts. In Who's Who of America book he is listed with the greats and acclaim is justly given him for his many attainments, titles and standings in the top ranks of great Americans. Dr. Engel has traveled the world at large and he is a frequent visitor of the largest cities, where he is called to lecture and serve as an art critic on famous pieces of art work. He has discovered masterpieces of famous works of art often thought lost. His authority is unquestioned for he knows art from the beginning of its origin as he is an unexcelled authority on the subject. He is in great demand by many organizations and artists from all over the country seek his managership. He represents some of the very best.

He is the founder of the Audubon Artists, Inc. and anyone in art with any knowledge of arts whatsoever, knows who Audubon was. He was the famed painter of birds and wild life and monuments; parks and huge public estates have been named after him all over the world. Dr. Engel is the greatest supporter of his work. Museums have used Dr. Engel and his invaluable professional services and anyone fortunate enough to get his slightest recognition is indeed lucky. I have been one of those fortunate persons.

First, as a matter of explanation. I did not personally know Dr. Engel when my first lucky contact came. I submitted an inquiry about my work to a national art magazine back in 1954. He also wrote features for the magazine and he wrote me. He encouraged me to submit a showing of my oil paintings. I did so. I sent him several oils personally as I shipped them from California to New York. He gave an immediate acclaim, "Your work is worthy of the best of Rousseau, the great French Primitive." Later he said that the work was patterned in technique and defied the rules of art by putting a third dimension into an usually second dimension form and acclaimed them "A veritable Modern Van Gogh technique." I was indeed very surprised and a fortunate painter.

After a couple of years Dr. Engel had considered that I should go to New York and appear on a TV program and he tried to make contacts for me. He also contacted art galleries and had a showing arranged in New York. Instead of cooperating, I had other dreams. I returned home to Kentucky on invitation of the Governor to do a painting for the State Capitol. As every home town boy has done I had visioned the time when I could return to my home town. Acclaimed in art I hit the press with a terrific bang, thanks to Dr. Engel.

His interest and cooperation followed me. A dinner was given in which the Governor presented me with the Kentucky Colonel commission. Dr. Engel came from New York, sponsored by Grumbacher's to give me an additional Award of Merit and he spoke as principal speaker, giving testimonial acclaim of my art. Numerous oil paintings were exhibited and he valued each one in order as the press wrote reviews and feature stories were syndicated. All this I owe to Dr. Engel, America's foremost organizer of art societies and the most outstanding art authority ever recognized in Who's Who in America. These facts have been certified as a matter of record. Documents of proof are available.

CONCLUSION: Following two years of art exploitation in Kentucky, I met disappointment due to the fact that art is rarely recognized and accepted as a valuable product in interior communities. However, art is often discovered in an old farm house and in the remotest places, only to bring fame to the community from which it came. No one should underestimate art, regardless of its technique or form, lest they reveal ignorance of its value and I for one, will not attempt to appraise a jewel, for I am no authority on them, nor am I on art for I have given away most everything I ever did. Someday I hope they will make someone happy for I have enjoyed trying to be a good neighbor. As Dr. Engel said, "Kindness never hurt anyone." He is truly, an example of the kindest man I ever knew.

teeth, the teeth should be brushed immediately after eating. The brush, he said, should be firm and small enough to get to all surfaces of the teeth easily. For best results, he suggested that the upper teeth be brushed down and the lower teeth brushed up.

Scientific studies have shown that fluoridation has reduced tooth decay as much as 65 per cent," he said. "No ill effects have been discovered from the measure which is currently in effect in more than 1100 communities in the U. S.

In communities that have no public water supply, Dr. Preis suggested that children receive

Expert Care Needed For TB Patients

"This experience has been very direct applications of a fluoride solution from their dentists. These treatments, he said, have been found to reduce decay up to 40 per cent.

Dr. Preis concluded by urging parents not to neglect periodic dental visits for their children in order that small cavities and other irregularities can be detected before they become serious. He also advised that early visits tend to eliminate any fears in the child, since little or no discomfort is involved.

rewarding." Those were the words, believe it or not, of a young woman leaving a tuberculosis hospital after seven months of treatment. A victim of one of the most serious diseases known to man, she was nevertheless able to say she had gained by it.

A career girl with a good job and a fine future ahead of her, her first reaction when the doctor told her she had TB was to try to forget the whole thing—make believe it never happened. But let her tell it in her own words. "I didn't feel sick. I was lucky. The disease had not progressed very far. This was my life and I could do with it as I pleased. No one was going to make me go into a hospital."

She recalled the patient efforts of her doctor to explain why the hospital was a must. The deciding factor was the terrible knowledge that as a person with active TB she was a source of infection to others. So, "I left my job, phoned my friends, packed my bag and took off," she says. Once in the hospital, she decided to make the most of it. Books were available, a record player, a TV, an opportunity out of an experience which might have been a tragedy.

"How astonished I was to discover I was unable to get to all the things I wanted to do. Some people tried things they had never done before, others had time to continue along lines they had begun. Some learned a foreign language," she recalls. "Most of all, there is time for some pretty straight thinking. time to face oneself, to try to discover just where you are, how you got there, where you are going, how you are going to get there, just what you are anyway." Of course, there were bad times, dark hours when the outside world looked most attractive and when time seemed to stretch endlessly. She was tempted several times to leave the hospital. But she knew she would not be able to keep to the proper routine when surrounded with family and friends. She stuck it out.

Seven months in the hospital, and then five more before she goes back to her job. But she goes back with firmer knowledge of herself and what she wants to do with her life. She has made an opportunity out of an experience which might have been a tragedy.

Over 95 per cent of the population of the United States is afflicted with some sort of dental disorder, Dr. Kyrle Preis, president of the Maryland State Dental Assn., said this week.

Dr. Preis, calling attention to the forthcoming observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 5, thru 11, declared that if parents took advantage of all the preventive measures available, their children would grow up relatively free from dental disorders.

He added that since these dental disorders start in childhood, early attention to proper dental health procedures helps the child avoid the dental disease that plagues his parents.

"Tooth decay," Dr. Preis said, "is probably the most widespread dental disorder among children. Improper diet can be blamed for the large incidence of the disease. Sugar, one of the main factors in decay, is consumed in 10 times larger quantities today than it was 100 years ago."

He urged parents to substitute fresh fruits such as apples and oranges and uncooked vegetables such as carrots and celery for sweets as between-meal snacks for their children.

The toothbrush, Dr. Preis pointed out, is one of the best weapons against decay. Timing and method of toothbrushing are vitally important, he added.

He explained that since toothbrushing removes bits of food which have become lodged in the

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

During the week of Feb. 12, while the Congress slips into low gear for its annual Lincoln Day "recess," I'll be doing some out-of-State politicking at the request of my party's national committee.

Like most veteran campaigners, I consider such political labors a privilege. Politicking is an essential and respectable element in our two-party system. In effect it is salesmanship—the selling of ideas on government—and the political drummer with the best product usually gets the order. Full Value for Votes That's why campaign work is so important. It gives the various parties an opportunity to present their wares, and it gives the public a chance to inspect the merchandise to see how it can get full value for its votes. Unfortunately, some politicians misrepresent their offerings. But that is certainly no reason to condemn the entire system. Comparison Proves The best argument in support of our present arrangement is a comparison between it and the one-party doctrine which forbids rival ideas or competing political salesmanship. We might fight among ourselves in this country, but the exercise has kept us strong and the bruises have made us wiser. Into Rival Stronghold My own forthcoming assignment will take me to Florida, where Republicans are outnumbered about 10 to 1. I felt honored when I was invited to make speeches in Tampa, Pensacola, Clearwater and Zephyrhills, especially since the usually Democratic state in which they are located will figure so prominently in this year's Presidential campaigns. As usual, I'll undoubtedly get homesick for my own constituency, but that's to be expected. I can assure you that I'll take every possible opportunity to do a little bragging about our Free State. Incidentally, my absence will not leave me away from the Senate during a time when any major legislation will be considered. Each year, recognizing the importance of swapping ideas with voters on a face-to-face basis, members of the Congress agree to go into semi-recess for the periods surrounding the Lincoln Day and Jackson Day dinners.

Indian 'Potion' Rates Wonder Drugs In Aid to Intestinal Disorders

Modern wonder drugs may have dispelled the medicine man era when it comes to treating most diseases, but in the case of intestinal disorders of the liver and bowels—man's most common ailments—a centuries-old formulae used by Indians proved superior to all the newest scientific medications. The medication is a tiny Olive Tablet derived from vegetables and plant herbs, crude extracts of which have been used for centuries by medicine men. Physicians at the Brush Medical Center in Cambridge, Massachusetts, making a long-time study of gastrointestinal disorders, said the "Olive Tablet concentrate was the only medication under evaluation that successfully regulated the intestines and controlled the liver and bowels, thereby preventing some intestinal disorders." The effect of the Olive Tablet is to increase the flow of bile from the liver and to stimulate the bowels into normal function in the same manner as the eating of grasses and plants prevents intestinal disorders among animals. After studying 261 cases of acute and chronic intestinal disorders over a long-time period at the Brush Medical Center, in an attempt to find a better drug to control and regulate the liver and bowels, stomach specialists went through the archives of medical antiquity to find the successful and safe treatment. All the latest drugs had failed during the test to safely and effectively regulate the liver and bowels when they were not functioning properly. The "new" treatment which proved 87 per cent effective in the clinical test, or better than 32 per cent more successful than any modern medication, is a simple Olive Tablet concentrate of pure vegetable and plant herbs. Frank M. Edwards, M.D., a gastroenterologist of Columbus, Ohio, discovered the Olive Tablet formulae after delving into the medical history of American Indian medicine men of the 17th Century.

According to Dr. Brush, under whose direction the research was conducted, "Constipation has become our number one ailment and frequently leads to serious gastrointestinal disorders mainly because our modern society has made it a 'hush-hush' subject. Too few people seek competent medical diagnosis for constipation. "Laxatives, despite honest warnings of the manufacturers, are taken more promiscuously than any other form of self-medication," he continued, stating that the study indicated that most laxatives are comparatively safe if the instructions on the label are carefully followed. "Harsh laxatives, however, are responsible for more than 58 per cent of all disturbances of the digestive system. The exception, according to the results of our study, were the Olive Tablets made of pure vegetables and herbs."

Who Gets How Much?

Basically an economic system must fulfill two social needs of the population it serves; (1) it must produce adequate goods and services; and (2) it must bring about an equitable distribution of goods and services. The Communists and Socialists, who seek to undermine and ultimately destroy our American system, can't get far trying to attack it on the basis of production, for it has an unmatched record; so they concentrate on trying to persuade the people that capitalism doesn't spread the wealth, that a few rich people get most of it while the poor get poorer.

They have had some notable success with this false propaganda. In the 8th film of "The American Adventure" educational series, just completed by the National Education Program for use on television, in schools, industries and the armed services, the students in the "American Adventure" classroom are asked the question: "Who gets most of the national income in America?"

Many Uninformed

A student speaks up quickly. "Doesn't most of the national income go to a small percentage of the population?" he asks. "Aren't the majority of our families in the lower income brackets—below $3000 a year?" Other students nod in agreement, indicating they are either uninformed or misinformed. The answer to this question constitutes a crushing blow to the Communist and Socialist propaganda. It is a tribute to the American system. Awareness of the true facts prepares anyone to block and stamp out the effectiveness of the Left Wing propaganda.

The film on wealth distribution in America shows that the documentary graphs that 40 per cent of America's 50-million families have incomes of from three to six thousand dollars; another 30 per cent have incomes above six thousand. Only three per cent have incomes above $15,000, and if all the money they receive were to be divided equally among the population it would mean only a few cents a day extra for all of us. Only 5.7 per cent received $1000 or less; and many of these are elderly people and small farm families. In other words America's wealth is widely distributed. The old propaganda slogan—"the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer"—is actually the opposite of the facts.

Opportunities Dramatized

Another fallacy of the Socialists which "The American Adventure" series knocks down is their claim that the frontiers of opportunities in America have dried up, that our economy has "matured" and will not continue to grow; and therefore the government ought to take over the economic responsibilities for the citizens. The 9th film in the series is entitled, "The Spirit of Enterprise." It tells the true story of a young couple selling frozen custard at a carnival—the opportunity they found, their ambitions, their enterprise, their hardships, and their heart-warming success.

Not enough Americans, in school and out of school, know the secret of our great production, how the mechanism of our system actually works. The 10th film of the series answers the question, "What Makes America Tick?" The answer lies in five freedoms: (1) freedom to work; (2) freedom to dream; (3) freedom to compete; (4) freedom to advance, and (5) freedom to invest. Each of these freedoms is shown in action in the everyday life of our nation.

Benefits of Profit

One entire film, No. 11, is devoted to an examination of profit—how much is being made, who gets it, and what it does to accelerate the progress which brings benefits to all Americans. Quite surprising to many people is the fact that corporate profits are only about five per cent of the national income, that corporations make on an average only 3 1/2 cents profit on each dollar in sales, and that the profit pennies and dollars make life better for everyone.

The subject of security-and-freedom is explored in the 12th film. Through discussion and the weighing of facts it is found that genuine security can't be bought or accepted as a gift, but must come from inner development and good citizenship practices. The 13th film sets forth a challenging list of American citizenship obligations, after reviewing the lessons contained in the first 12 of the series. A discussion leader's guide has been prepared for each film.

Each film runs 12 1/2 minutes. The National Education Program is a public-service institution, non-profit making. The films are being made available at the lowest possible cost.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 — I would like to take this opportunity to pay a well deserved tribute to the civic organizations, the water conservation and recreational groups, and all those in the 6th Maryland District who are working so hard to disseminate accurate information on the conservation problems of the Potomac River Valley. Although the goals for each may seem to be limited, they all are in fact working toward wise and restrained use of all our natural resources.

It seems to me that we have reached a point in our efforts to restore the Potomac to its rightful place as one of America's great rivers where an integrated and unified policy will speed the completion of our goals. I am fully aware of the specific interest of each group in working out plans for the Potomac, and at times these interests may seem to be in conflict. But I think that as a people the residents of the Potomac Valley are mature enough to recognize that each must give a little in his demands so that all may receive the benefits which can flow from the river and its valley. The interests of each group—the farmer, the industrialist, the urbanite, the conservationist — are all interwoven.

This past week I co-sponsored a Joint Resolution asking the House Public Works Committee to review past reports and recommendations for the Potomac River and its tributaries. My request was made with a view to the preparation of a comprehensive plan for control of floods and the development and conservation of the water and related resources of the basin, with particular emphasis on present and future needs for water supply and pollution abatement.

HOGAN'S ALLEY BY PAT HOGAN

THE WIT THAT all men treasure Is sharp but it reveals That, tho' swift to take our measure, It just as quickly heals.

ON THE "I LOVE LUCY" set the other day, the production crew was applauded instead of the actors, and the applause came, not from the audience, but from the actors.

Lucille Ball from the flying windmill to the ship, from the closeups Lucille was lowered 40 feet from the rafters of the sound stage. A harness and an aerial wire were rigged for the stunt.

The audience gasped as Lucille came out of the rafters. It was a tense moment until she touched deck. After the applause died down, "Lucy" kissed the two crewmen who had rigged the apparatus. The entire cast, led by Desi, then applauded the men.

THE UNEXPECTED can always be expected on "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" (Sundays on CBS-TV).

Hitchcock's own suspenseful life and the lives of those around him are just as filled with the unexpected. For example, he planned a quick trip to Europe, including visits to France, Germany and England. His Hollywood office, accustomed to his peregrinations, took it right in stride when messages started coming from him datelined Rangoon, Singapore, Bombay and Honolulu.

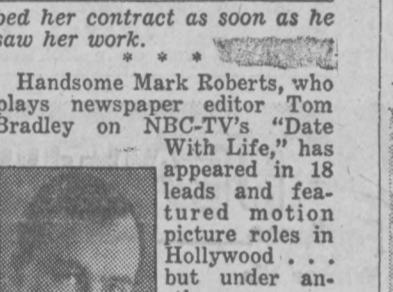

Noted for his coups d'etat in talent spotting, Hitchcock also surprised no one when he signed to a three-year contract, Vera Miles, Hollywood's hottest article in TV and movies, just before he took off for his European jaunt that turned into a round-the-world trip. Vera had done his first TV show and he grabbed her contract as soon as he saw her work.

Handsome Mark Roberts, who plays newspaper editor Tom Bradley on NBC-TV's "Date With Life," has appeared in 18 leads and featured motion picture roles in Hollywood... but under another name.

Using his real name, Robert Scott, he appeared in such pictures as "Gilda" with Mark Roberts Rita Hayworth, "Dead Reckoning" with Humphrey Bogart and "Shadowed" with Anita Louise.

Why did he change his name to Mark Roberts when "Robert Scott" was a well established personality?

"Well," explained Mark, "when I came East to appear on TV and the Broadway stage, I joined the Actor's Studio, which is a sort of actors union. An actor named Robert Scott was already a member of the group and since 'The Studio' protects all members' names, I had to change mine."

REMEMBER "SKIPPY" Jackie Cooper, the little boy who used to steal so many scenes from the top actors of Hollywood? Cooper now has his own television series and is a star all over again in a new medium. Of course, with adult stardom comes the realization of what other actors thought when, as a child, he sometimes "upstaged" them. Jackie now has a little scene stealer in his series, "The People's Choice." It's not a little boy, but little Cleo, a basset hound which can get a guffaw just by looking into the camera.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

New Future For Your Present

How many ties did you get for Christmas? For once I didn't come up with any—could have used a couple this year, too. Instead I got three wool mufflers. Never wear a muffler.

Some people are determined to do something about the Useless Gift Problem—they're holding a "White Elephant Party" Saturday at the Community Hall.

Handy Peterson's the chairman. "Bring any presents you'd rather give than receive," he says. "Chances are you'll swap them off for something even worse—but it ought to be fun."

From where I sit, it's sometimes pretty hard to give a man exactly the present he wants. Other people so often have tastes and preferences that differ from our own—for example, think of all the people you know who claim coffee's the beverage, and all the others (like me) who'd rather have a glass of beer. Being able to make your own choice is the greatest "gift" of all.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 3 Don't Pay Tax on Wrong Income

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Maryland Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

You may think that listing your income is the easiest part of tax filing. Actually, according to the Internal Revenue Service, this is where taxpayers make the greatest number of errors.

Not all the money that may have come to you during 1955 needs to be reported on your tax form.

For example you may have received "dividends" on an insurance policy. Don't list them as dividends, because they are considered merely a refund of part of the premium you paid.

Don't include Social Security benefits, Railroad Retirement Act benefits, or payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.

Don't list gifts you received, although the giver may have to pay a gift tax. However, tips and other compensation for services must be reported.

Do not report inheritances and bequests. The estate may be taxed but not the recipient.

Personal Damages Not Taxed

Damages received for personal injuries are not considered taxable income, whether awarded by a court or settled out of court.

When listing your income you can also forget about government benefits to veterans and their families, except non-disability retirement pay and the interest on terminal leave bonds.

The interest on state and municipal bonds is also tax exempt.

Although compensation for services is generally taxable, whether paid in money or otherwise, the law specifically exempts the rental value of a parsonage furnished to a minister or the rental allowance expended by him for this purpose.

The official tax instructions contain a list of the types of income which should or should not be included in your tax return. It is important to check this carefully.

Prizes and Awards

There is an interesting rule on prizes — they are only taxable if you worked for them. Even the slightest action on your part to earn the prize — such as appearing on a quiz program or writing a slogan — makes it taxable income. But prizes awarded for scientific, literary or other achievements without any action by you to bring about your selection would be regarded as gifts to you rather than taxable income.

Some income, such as limited amounts of "sick pay" and the first $50 of certain dividends, must be explained in the tax return but are not taxed.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 2—Since my recent weekly column which favored the nomination of President Eisenhower, I have received letters from publishers stating that my column is supposed to discuss Business and the Stock Market, and not politics. History of My Column This column started over 30 years ago after I retired from my position as financial staff writer for the Saturday Evening Post. I began with only 10 newspapers, but with the help of the magazine's wonderful editor, George Horace Lor-mer, the column became popular and is now published weekly in over 400 papers.

During the early years of my writing, this column was taken almost exclusively by Northern publishers. As the years advanced, the column began to be used by Southern papers, which are mostly Democratic. I therefore am having the same difficulty that David Lawrence, Robert Ruark, and Drew Pearson are having, as my column spreads to all sections of the country.

Good Business Under Democrats From the time of the Civil War up to 1932 our country was on the Gold Standard. This gave both a certain "ceiling" and a certain "floor," which it was difficult for business or the stock market to break through. Furthermore, this made it fairly easy for any impartial statistician and economist to make reasonable forecasts, irrespective of party politics. My forecast of the 1929 break was made during the Hoover Republican Administration when his managers were forecasting "two chickens in every pot and two cars in every garage."

Since 1932, however, the country has been on a Political Standard, and the Gold Standard has been discarded. This is no criticism of the Roosevelt Administration, because I feel that the Gold Standard has outlived its usefulness. We will probably continue on a Political Standard, whether in a Republican or a Democratic era. I have not the figures here in Florida which show just what business and the stock market have done in Presidential years; but anyone sending to my Babson Park, Mass., office will be welcome to them.

Stock Markets Do Not Follow Business It is generally assumed that one can forecast business by watching the stock market, but this is not true. In the long run, there is of course a correlation, but it cannot always be depended upon. In other words, we may have a Democratic victory in November and yet have fairly good business through 1957. I go even further and say that if the tide should shift naturally—due to the Law of Action and Reaction—during a Republican administration, the result could be worse than if the Democrats were in power. This is because the Republicans stand for less interference with business and would not so freely use artificial stimulants.

President Eisenhower, for instance, is determined to have a balanced budget. It would be very hard for him to agree to any inflationary projects, even for the sake of helping business. On the other hand, the Democrats believe the government is entitled to issue more bonds and create greater indebtedness as the country grows in population and assets, just as any large corporation is entitled to do. Therefore, although the Republican party may be more friendly to "Big Business," the Democratic party may try to be more friendly to all business; but please note my use of the word "try."

Remember the old saying, "There is an exception to every rule." Notwithstanding the fundamental principles stated above, I still believe there is today a very close relationship between the re-nomination of President Eisenhower and the stock market. I perhaps should not have included in my Forecast for 1956 the re-election of President Eisenhower in November; but—due to reasons which I cannot disclose—I did then believe he would be re-nominated and re-elected. I may be absolutely wrong; but I am still of this opinion.

This one thing I am certain of: As soon as President Eisenhower assures his intimate friends and party managers of his intentions, readers should see an abrupt stock market movement, either downward or upward, depending on whether he will not run or will run. I shall now try not to discuss politics any more until October, but rather will "stick to my knitting" as my publishing friends request. At any rate, with this column, my conscience is clear, whatever happens in 1956.

Opposition To Gas Tax To Finance Port Grows In State

Plans to finance the Maryland Port Authority thru a gasoline tax increase were labeled "a double-edged threat to the motorist" this week by the State Order of United Commercial Travelers.

Walter A. Cox Jr., Past Grand Counselor of the group, termed the proposal a $2 million slap in the face to Maryland car owners and a stab in the back to the state's long-range highway program.

He said state and Federal gasoline taxes have been increased three times in the past nine years, adding "this year the motorists are apparently slated to get it with both barrels"—a reference to reports that Congress is considering an increase in the two-cent per gallon Federal gasoline tax to help finance a national road program.

"Gasoline is already taxed at about 4 per cent of the price," he pointed out. "This is four times as high as the levy on outright luxuries and, for traveling men, gasoline is far from a luxury. It is a basic means of earning a livelihood. Increases in the tax come right out of the pockets of most salesmen, because no provision is made for them in fixed travel allowances."

"Car owners have a special reason to howl about this latest proposal," he continued, "because it undermines the basic tax source of our 12-year state highway program which is just getting underway. The use of gasoline taxes for the Port Authority would open the door wide for further encroachments, until the whole road program collapses."

Mr. Cox said his organization "holds no brief for or against the Port Authority plan as such, but we believe firmly that it is both unsound and discriminatory for the state to turn to an already over-taxed commodity like gasoline as a source of support for a project that has no connection whatsoever with our road program."

Help For Winter Ills

With old man winter's treasured family holidays, winter sports and general fun for young and old, comes also a sharp increase in disabling illnesses.

Common colds, infections of the digestive tract, and peptic ulcer, all hit a peak between October and April. Fatalities from heart disease are higher than at any other time of year.

One recent report based on a two-year study of 1,000 people stated that almost 200 were confined to bed for eight days or longer in January, February and March, as against 110 in July or August.

Leading causes of their disability, accounting for 30 per cent of all illnesses were respiratory diseases—of the throat, nose, lungs and bronchi. The second most frequent ailments, constituting 15 per cent of the total, were digestive disorders.

There are a number of reasons for the wintertime increase in illness. For example, exposure—without suitable protective clothing—to sudden temperature changes may contribute heavily to respiratory problems. Then there is the tendency to overindulge at winter's family festivities and other social functions. The penalty may be digestive upsets.

The wintertime rise in mortality from heart conditions can be attributed to the physical strains of winter living. These may be such simple chores as clearing snow out of the driveway, or the extra exertion necessary to walk against a strong icy wind.

There is also the fact that cold temperatures tend to constrict the arteries. This action elevates the blood pressure and increases the workload of the heart.

Much can be done to avoid winter ills. Basic common sense rules are: keep dry, dress warm, eat carefully, side-step exertion. For medical care many helpful drugs have been developed by scientific research. The antibiotics can knock out most of the bacterial respiratory and digestive diseases. And now encouraging experiments by the United States Public Health Service with vaccines against the respiratory virus diseases give promise that these conditions too may soon be overcome.

Several drugs are available today to combat stomach ulcers. Among these the antacids, such as gelusil, are probably most widely used. A drug has also been developed for the excruciatingly painful heart condition called angina pectoris. Winter exertions increase the frequency of attacks of angina. They may be prevented by a drug called peritrate that exerts a protective action which lasts from four to six hours.

A fundamental protective measure is an adequate intake of vitamins to help the body build resistance against infectious winter diseases. Important vitamins absorbed normally through sunshine, fresh fruits and vegetables are scarce during winter. Many doctors therefore recommend daily supplements such as the multiple vitamin preparations.

Missionary Society Meets

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Tom's Creek Methodist Church met in the social room of the church Jan. 30. Pauline Seabrooks was in charge of the devotional program and the theme was "The Changeless Gospel in A Revolutionary Age." Scripture was read by Ethel Baumgardner, followed by prayer by Mrs. Edith Ohler.

A mediation on Missionary was read by Irma Glass. Carrie Keilholtz and Maud Baumgardner spoke on the changes in a missionary's life. Dorothy Valentine told of the readjustment of the missionaries to the modern age.

The roll call found 14 members present. A receipt from the World Service Center at New Windsor showed that Tom's Creek had donated 356 pounds of clothing for overseas relief.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 27 with a covered-dish supper for all members and friends of the church.

The official church board held its meeting at the same time. Refreshments were enjoyed by the combined groups, served by Janice Valentine and Goldie Liller.

Emmitsburg isn't growing? The project is part of the national health program and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. This sort of thing does your heart good when at last you can see where some of your tax-dollars and dimes are going and doing something concrete right here at home. By the way, have you contributed to the March of Dimes yet? The last call is out and more money is needed, so if you haven't donated yet, do so today!

No one was injured and no charges were entered.

Baseball Club To Sponsor Dance

The Emmitsburg Baseball Association announced this week that a benefit dance will be held here on February 11 in the VFW annex and will feature the music of the Three Sollys, of Baltimore.

The club is in need of finances to get operations for the coming season under way and it is therefore hoped the affair will provide a portion of the necessary operating revenue to sustain the local baseball team. The Three Sollys have appeared here on several previous occasions and always have proven a big hit with local dancers and entertainment lovers. Admission to the affair will be $1 per person and dancing will be held from nine in the evening until one in the
