The weather is no indication of it, but our baseball season isn't too far away and that reminds me to remind you that the annual sale of booster tickets for the benefit of our local club is now under way and you can obtain these season tickets from any of the club officials. The sale of these passes greatly helps the club get started each year as there are many initial expenses incurred before the season begins. The plan does merely this: If you buy a ticket you are entitled to see all home games at a reduced price and at the same time you give the club initial operating capital to get started. Get yours early!

I just can't figure out what motivates a lot of our representatives in the State Legislature. Our state has been sadly lacking in a program to induce industry to locate in Maryland. Until just two or three years ago we hardly had a plan at all. Then Gov. McKeldin set up a commission to study a program and make recommendations and try to increase our industrial wealth. Okay, that was swell. Now then, along comes one of the largest brewing concerns in the world and wants to locate in Maryland . . . and what happens? Some of our so-called intelligentsia in the Legislature decide we don't need this additional business and pass a law that it can't locate and operate here. From what I have read the concern is one of the largest and is located in Canada and a lot of American money is invested in stock in the company. It planned to erect a $12 million building and hire 600 people. Its annual state taxes were estimated at a quarter of a million bucks a year . . . and our State Legislature says no, we have to protect the Baltimore breweries! Lord knows what a payroll we have lost but an estimated 600 workers making an average of $75 per week to a rough calculation comes to $45,000 per week. That is what we have lost to protect some state concerns so they can regulate the price of their commodity to any profitable degree they desire. We profess to be friends with Canada, yet we deny them the right to operate here. Suppose they reciprocated and barred American industry from Canada? Our state is in the red financially, and yet we turn down hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of taxable assets! Is this good business practice? All of us should take action right now. The Governor can veto this bill the Legislature has enacted, and rightfully should do so. Why not write him a letter, send a wire or call by phone and strenuously urge him to veto this ridiculous piece of legislation? Because if he doesn't the brewing company will locate either in Pennsylvania or Virginia and it can give the same amount of competition it could do right here at home and our state would lose from all angles then. The Legislature's action in my opinion, is undemocratic and is a distinct attempt to stifle private enterprise and regulate competition. Send a wire today!

It will be interesting to see just what type of a design will turn up in the big Bi-centennial poster contest begun this week. The idea is to come up with some sort of a drawing that could be used for posters to advertise the affair and also which will undoubtedly be used in miniature form, on stationery and a specially printed cachet. We have actually, seven schools, or learning institutions going to work on the project and I don't doubt for a minute that some excellent drawings and ideas will be elicited. Worthwhile monetary prizes are being offered the first three winners and there are some consolation prizes. I am told, just as soon as the winner is announced the drawing will be printed on Page One of the Chronicle!

Basketball Game Set For Thursday Night

Local basketball enthusiasts are in for a thrilling evening on Thurs., March 15 when the basketball teams of Emmitsburg High and St. Joseph's High Schools will tackle the Mt. St. Mary's College freshmen team in a contest to be played at Memorial Gym on the Mount campus. The frosh just completed one of the most successful seasons in years, under the tutelage of Coach James McKeon. Three of the members of the varsity team which just won the Mason-Dixon Conference, will add color to the game by playing a few minutes. They are also members of the senior class and are Bill Stanley, Frank Smith and George Donohue.

The game is a benefit affair being promoted by the Emmitsburg Bi-centennial Committee to help defray initial expenses incurred in getting the affair publicized.

General chairman of the affair is Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty and she announces no admission fee will be charged but that a good-will offering will be taken up.

Game time will be 8:15 p. m.

The plans call for one of the high schools to play one quarter and the other the next so that the younger boys will be able to keep rested and at the same time exert as much pressure as possible on the Mount frosh. During the contest stirring music will be provided by the Mount Band.

The following cheer leaders of Emmitsburg High will be on hand to root for the town boys: Dorothy Eyer, Myra Hess, Frances DeBerry, Nancy Keilholz, Sue Eyster, Sandra Keilholz, Audrey Springer, Rebecca Nail and Margaret Neighbours.

Prominent Personalities

LEADERSHIP • CHARACTER (Interviews by Col. Galen Gough)

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH —of— LOUIS H. STONER, SR.

For conscientious service as postmaster of the Emmitsburg Postoffice, together with faithful and friendly service as a loyal Government employe, we find no stancher personality than Louis H. Stoner.

The affable postmaster was born July 23, 1899 near Fairfield and moved here in 1901 where he attended St. Euphemia's School. He started his career in a most honorable and humble work with a willingness to start at the bottom and work upwards. Finding the job that he could do justice to, his first job was an elevator boy in Philadelphia. His ups and downs were many from 1913 until 1914. He moved back to Emmitsburg in 1914 and worked at the printing trade for about two and a half years at St. Joseph College and the Chronicle. Louie, as he is familiarly re-

WINDY MARCH KEEPS FIREMEN BUSY HERE

While March hasn't been as windy as tradition calls for, still the month appears to be one of the busiest for local firemen.

The first day of the month the Vigilant Hose Co. responded to an alarm when a brush fire was started in the St. Joseph's new cemetery area. The same day a call for assistance led the firemen to Ohler's Tavern east of town on Rt. 97, where a faulty connection to a gas stove had caused a fire. No damage was reported from either of the fires. Sunday an overheated stovepipe at the Maurice Fitz home, Irish Town Rd. area, resulted in setting fire to a section of the building. The firemen quickly doused the conflagration and practically no damage resulted.

The Fire Company's new rescue truck proved its value to the community Sunday evening at 9 o'clock when it rushed three victims of an automobile accident to the Warner Hospital in Gettysburg. The crash occurred at the Middle Creek bridge about four miles north of town and the rescue truck, driven by Sterling White and Roger Adams, rushed to the scene of the wreck and rushed the victims to the hospital. The local ambulance is out of town for repairs and the usefulness of the firemen's apparatus was manifested and proved it an asset to the community. The main highway was blocked by the three cars involved in the wreck and the rescue truck was forced to take a circuitous route to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beabandt, Blue Ridge Summit, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel on Tuesday evening.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

A birthday dinner was held on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Redding, Gettysburg, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Romanus B. Florence, Emmitsburg. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Romanus Florence and daughter, Loretta, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Florence and family, all of Emmitsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Frick and Mr. Edward J. Dillon, Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Redding and family, Gettysburg.

Mt. St. Mary's Is Conference Champion

The stellar performance of Jack Sullivan, 6-4 junior, set two new tournament records and tied another of his own when he poured 44 points through the hoops to lead Mount St. Mary's College basketball team to a smashing 107-86 victory over Loyola College Saturday night before 3,000 fans at the Catholic University court in Wash., D. C. It was the third straight year the Mounties took the Mason-Dixon Conference playoff championship.

Sully's total matched his previous record against Baltimore U last year. His three-game total of 100 broke the old record of 94 he set last year and his 27 tallies in the first half established a new mark. It was a particularly sweet victory for the Blue and White which had been ousted as regular season champs in losing a pair of contests to Loyola.

The Mount, as a team, also set a new record by totaling 339 points during the three wins. The previous mark was set last year by Jim Phelan's outfit with 297.

The Mountaineers took a 4-0 lead in the first minute and were never headed. At half-time the lead had soared to 58-29 which rose to 62-29 after the first minute of the second half. Sullivan was pulled with 1:30 minutes left and was given another huge ovation by the thrilled crowd. Bill Stanley and Frank Smith came in for honors in the lop-sided victory. Stanley held the high-scoring Paul Dodd to one goal while Smith smothered Tony Pistorio, blanking him from the field in the first half.

Three of the Mountmen were selected for the all-tournament teams. Sullivan was named to the first team along with Pistorio and Dodd of Loyola; Weiss, American U, and Poltz, Roanoke.

Smith and Stanley gained second team berths along with Allenbaugh, Loyola; Talbot, Catholic U, and Sievoid, Washington College.

The victory enabled the Phelan men to wind up another successful season with a record of 20-8, despite a season filled with injuries to such stalwarts as Sullivan, Ed Bals and Tito Nanni.

TRUCK DRIVER BURNED ALIVE NEAR HERE

A Baltimore truck driver burned to death in the cab of his tractor about 12:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when his tractor and empty trailer crashed into the Monocacy bridge at Bridgeport, east of Emmitsburg on the Taneytown Rd., and burned. Victim of the accident was Arthur Gordon Cooper, 27, Baltimore. His remains were moved to the C. O. Fuss and Son Funeral Home in Taneytown.

Taneytown firemen said they were unable to save the tractor and trailer, belonging to the Southern Motors Transport Co., 20 Catoen St., Baltimore.

State Trooper 1/c H. J. Brown said Cooper was driving east on the highway, apparently at rapid speed. He is thought to have tried to slow down for the approach to the bridge and the trailer jackknifed when he applied the brakes on the wet highway. The officer said the trailer swung around with the rear end on the western span of the bridge, headed in the opposite direction from what it was originally traveling. The tractor crashed into the concrete bridge wall and the entire vehicle burst into flames. Trooper Brown said the bridge was not seriously damaged by the crash or fire. State Trooper Richard Dishong and the Deputy Medical Examiner assisted in the investigation. The bridge separates Frederick and Carroll Counties at Bridgeport. The accident happened in Frederick County.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Owens and family, Crownsville, visited last Sunday with her father, George H. Sanders and with Mr. and Mrs. James Adelsberger.

Richard Topper, U. S. Army, stationed in Japan for the past year, has been discharged from the service and returned home last week. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Topper and the husband of Hazel Glacken Topper.

Local VFW Post Nominates For Coming Election

The regular meeting of the local VFW Post 6658 was held on Wednesday evening in the post home, Commander Thomas C. Harbaugh presiding over the 45 members in attendance.

Perhaps the most essential business transacted at the session was the nomination for post officers. The following names were placed in nomination: Commander, T. C. Harbaugh, William L. Topper, Roger Zurgable and W. E. Rightnour; first vice commander, Wayne McCleef and Paul W. Claypool; second vice commander, Guy A. Baker, Jr., and William Sanders; finance officer, Lumen Norris and Everett Christmer; chaplain, Louis F. Rosensteel; post advocate, Louis Stoner, Sr. and Thomas F. Saylor; post surgeon, Dr. George Green; trustee for three years, W. E. Rightnour and Donald Byard.

Nominations for the board of directors were Roger Zurgable, Harold M. Hoke, Clyde J. Eyer, William Sanders, Paul Claypool, Fern R. Ohler, Charles B. Harner, Sterling Goulden, Allen Knott, Paul F. Conway and Thomas F. Saylor.

New members voted into the group were Roger Burkholder of Frederick, and John F. Kolb of St. Anthony's.

Harold Hoke announced an Easter egg hunt will be held on Easter Sunday at 1 p. m., for the local children. The site of the hunt has not yet been designated.

Capt. Philip B. Sharpe announced that a cachet will be designed to advertise the coming local Bi-centennial to be held on June 22-28 in 1957. His assistant will be Paul L. Roy, editor of the Gettysburg Times. The post voted a donation of $15 to help defray the expenses of the cachet project.

Charles B. Harner, commander of the American Legion Post, thanked Thomas C. Harbaugh and Everett Christmer for their help in raising money for the Heart Fund. Lumen F. Norris, adjutant, announced the annual birthday party commemorating the 10th anniversary of the founding of the post, will be held on April 14. T. C. Harbaugh, commander, received thanks for signing up 42 members during his term of office.

Special guests at the meeting were Roy Gambler, Dept. Quartermaster adjutant; John Marsh, commander of Dist. No. 7, and Benjamin Warner, chief of staff. The door prize was won by Robert Henke. Following adjournment refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Council Asks For Additional Fire Hydrant

The Corporation of Emmitsburg will ask the Emmitsburg Water Co. for an additional fire hydrant as the result of a decision made at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners held Monday night in the Fire Hall, the full board being present.

The decision came after a request had been made by the Vigilant Hose Co. which was represented at the meeting by Fire Chief John S. Hollinger. It is the opinion of the firemen that an additional hydrant is necessary for the protection of the southern section of the town. The Fire Chief reported the hydrant at the B. D. Martin property, connected to a four-inch line, could only be pumped at the rate of 260 gallons to the minute. A similar test was made on the fire hydrant in front of the Fire Hall. This hydrant is connected to a six-inch main and can pump 300 gallons a minute. If the additional hydrant is installed, it is recommended by the firemen that it be placed in the area in the rear of the Gem Theater where a main line passes through and which would greatly augment the facilities of the Water Company, as to local fire protection.

Reports of the tax collector, secretary and clerk were given by Town Clerk Louise Sebald and all were approved as presented. It was noted that one delinquent local taxpayer's indebtedness was turned over to county authorities for collection.

Parking meter revenue for February was $316.59 and overtime parking meter fines totaled $29, the clerk reported.

A request for emergency parking during fires was placed before Council by a representative of the Vigilant Hose Co., and the request was granted. The request came after a near collision last Sunday when one of the members of the company almost collided with the fire truck at the spotlight on the Square. In the future the firemen answering calls will be permitted to use the alley beside the Fire Hall and also that one beside the Lutheran parsonage for emergency parking. Firemen rushing into town for duty from the north are asked to turn in at the Legion alley and those coming from the south will cut off at the alley south of the Roger Lignor Store, thus giving the fire engine complete freedom while crossing the Square.

A thank-you note for a recent donation by the Town Fathers was received from the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. Requests for donations were received from the Municipal Band and the Public Library. Each was given a $100 grant by Council. An advertisement in the State Firemen's journal was authorized. The books will be on sale at the annual convention to be held in Frederick this coming June.

The Council heard two complaints from individuals concerning parking violation tickets and a request that the two-hour parking signs on the west side of Federal Ave. be removed and the parking restriction there be removed, was denied.

Gene Bouey, Mt. Airy, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bouey.

St. Joseph's High School News

Students who will enter the 30th United Nations Contest on Mar. 13 are studying intensely these last remaining days. Those participating in the contest are eligible for Maryland state prizes and if successful, will automatically be entered as contestants for the national prizes. Mary Edith Bailey, Nancy Capuano, Lois Raab, and John Roddy Jr. will represent SJHS in this contest.

The annual oratorical contest for the Blue Ridge Conference CSMC will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in De Paul Auditorium, St. Joseph College. The two students representing St. Joseph's High School in this contest will be Catherine Bailey and John Roddy Jr., junior and senior students respectively.

The chemistry lab finds the senior academic class very busy as they are deeply engrossed in a unit on identifying unknown substances.

The members of the Mother Seton Club journeyed to St. Joseph Central House last Thursday for their annual pilgrimage to Mother Seton's Shrines.

Sister Miriam conducted the group from the Chapel to the Stone House, then to the White House, and finally to the tomb of Mother Seton. On route, the Rosary was recited by all.

At the Stone House and the White House, Sister Miriam explained the main highlights of Mother Seton's life, and then gave a colorful explanation of the different rooms of the two houses in which she lived and in which she taught the first children of the Emmitsburg area who presented themselves to her.

Tuesday afternoon, after the regular monthly meeting of the Mother Seton Club, president Mary Edith Bailey presided over a quiz on the events of the life of Mother Seton. For answering the most questions, the senior and sophomore classes tied for first place and shared the monetary award.

The regular P-TA meeting of St. Joseph's High School will be held Tuesday, Mar. 13.

Cagers Lose Two, Win One

The SJHS cagers suffered two losses against one win the past week, lowering their records to eight wins and as many losses. On Friday, the quintet bowed 49-39 to St. John's, Westminster at Westminster, concluding the final scheduled away appearance for the season. On Sunday, they met the alumni, grabbing the victory, 70-68, after going into overtime, the game having been tied 64-64 at the end of the fourth quarter. Although the alumni lost, it showed they could still give the younger set a rough battle.

On Monday, they were defeated by Emmitsburg High School at the latter's court in a very close, but decisive game. With only a minute remaining in the tilt, St. Joe's dropped one through the hoop, tying the score, 56-56, after being 15 points behind at the beginning of the quarter. However, Emmitsburg came back in the overtime period scoring seven points against two for SJHS. The final score was 65-58. Woody Stoner was high scorer with 25 points to his credit.

Mrs. Rosensteel Celebrates 80th Birthday

One of Emmitsburg's oldest residents, Mrs. Mary Claudia Rosensteel, celebrated her 80th birthday Monday. The occasion was observed at an informal family gathering at her home here on East Main Street Sunday afternoon.

The octogenarian was born at St. Anthony's and spent her entire life in the immediate vicinity where she reared eight children, seven of whom survive.

Mrs. Rosensteel has watched with more than a passing interest, the transition from the horse and buggy days, through the early "horseless carriages" and jet planes, the telephone, radio and television. She enjoys a number of popular telecasts.

The matronly resident is a daughter of the late John and Nena (Kreitz) Peters. She was born 13 years after the Battle of Gettysburg. In addition to her regular household duties and rearing a large family, she was employed in the laundry and as a seamstress at St. Joseph College. During her lifetime, and while basking in the glory of being a grandmother 16 times and a great-grandmother seven times, she enjoys life and the few pleasures afforded her. She has retained, through her four score years, a keen sense of humor.

Mrs. Rosensteel was married to Charles O. Rosensteel, a carpenter, by Father Manley in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, the first couple to be married in that church. This union resulted in the birth of the following children: William C. Rosensteel, Baltimore; Mrs. Edward (Agnes) Houck, Emmitsburg, deceased; Mrs. George C. Constantine, Silver Spring; Mrs. Herbert Sprankle, Baltimore; Louis F., Richard H. and Ernest E., all of Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Glenn Polly of Fairfield.

In her early days she was well acquainted with the late Prof. Henry Casper Diehman, noted musician and composer, and his son, Larry about whom a mountain legend still prevails in the Mt. St. Mary's area. An active church worker until infirmities compelled a cessation of activities, Mrs. Rosensteel enjoys a wide circle of friends as is attested to the receipt of 180 Christmas cards last year. Two of the celebrant's sons, Louis and Richard, saw service in World War II. Louis served in the field artillery in the South Pacific and carries a small piece of shrapnel in his left leg. Richard saw action in France and Germany and was wounded three times, reported missing in action once, has a Purple Heart, two oak leafs and three battle stars. Mrs. Rosensteel resides with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Rosensteel.

BIG UNION SUPPORTS "50-50" DEAL

It is significant that at its First Constitutional Convention the AFL-CIO union endorsed the "50-50" law which provides that half of Government-financed cargos going overseas must be carried on merchant ships flying our flag—if those ships are available, and if the rates they offer are fair.

The Union's resolution said that maintenance of the law "is a basic necessity to U. S. shipping . . . Without the law . . . hundreds of ships would have to be idled and thousands of seamen laid off . . . We, therefore, urge that the '50-50' law be made permanent and irrevocable, and diligently enforced."

The reasons why this huge union should be interested in the law are obvious enough. The wages and working conditions enjoyed by American seamen on American ships are infinitely superior to those of other maritime powers—and the law is a major factor in maintaining that employment. Additionally, union officials and members must know that armies of industrial workers owe their good jobs to foreign trade (as do great numbers of people engaged in farming) and that a big, progressive and vital U. S. merchant marine is vital to keeping that trade going. World affairs being what they are, we simply cannot afford to depend on foreign-flag merchant ships whose services could be lost to us overnight in another world emergency.

The "50-50" law, in sum, is a measure that can be unequivocally supported by labor, by employers and by farmers—whatever the other disagreements between these groups.

Spotlight on HEALTH

Science Features

New Advances Against Unconquered Infections

In less than a half century, science has produced new drugs that can be used to prevent, treat, or cure most of the killing and crippling infectious diseases of mankind. Pneumonia, syphilis, and typhoid—to name but three that have taken millions of lives—can now be controlled.

The infectious diseases produced by the viral and fungal organisms, however, remain a challenge despite the increasing rate at which new and more effective drugs are being developed by the pharmaceutical industry. But even these hitherto invincible germs now appear to be losing ground in the face of science's intensive search for new therapeutic weapons.

The promising aspect of this search was disclosed at the Third Annual Antibiotic Symposium, recently held in Washington, D.C. The symposium, sponsored by the government and attended by scientists from many foreign countries as well as the United States, heard descriptions of more than a dozen new antibiotics scheduled to be tested in hospitals against a variety of human diseases. Some of these diseases are presently regarded as incurable.

Several of the antibiotics were reported to have shown promise against infections caused by fungi, which are plantlike organisms that afflict both the skin and internal organs. One antibiotic, derived from the Streptomyces family of molds, has produced good results against internal as well as external fungal diseases, the symposium was told. The drug was tested in mice infected with monilia, yeast-like fungi that cause many different human diseases ranging from mild skin conditions to fatal infections of the heart, lungs, and other organs. The results warrant considering the drug a potentially valuable agent in human therapy, the experimenters reported.

Preliminary results obtained in test-tube and animal experiments involving other new antibiotics also indicated that notable advances are being made against viruses, tiny germs responsible for such baffling diseases as polio, the common cold, and influenza.

But while the announcements of new antibiotics to be used against fungal and viral diseases received considerable attention at the Washington meeting, scientists gave prime consideration to drugs that are already being utilized against human infections. A large number of papers read at the symposium highlighted achievements currently being made against scores of diseases with the potent new antibiotic, tetracycline. This drug, also known as Polycycline and Steclin, has proven particularly effective against wintertime diseases such as pneumonia and bronchitis.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

Seldom have I seen such unanimity as that which was shown by Maryland farmers concerning the proposed '90 per cent of parity' provision in the 1956 farm bill.

Without exception, the dozens of communications I received on the subject all contained strong objections to high, rigid price supports.

Typical of the letters was one from a Boonsboro constituent, who wrote: "We farmers feel that the rigid price supports of the 'past are the cause of the mess we are in today."

Free State Spirit
In addition to such expressions of individual opinion, I also received numerous telegrams and letters from such organizations as the Maryland Farm Bureau, the Maryland State Grange, county Farm Bureaus and the Frederick Chamber of Commerce.

"We hope you will vote against rigid price support at 90 per cent of parity," chorused the various men's groups, and the women's auxiliaries echoed, "We want flexible supports."

The spirit reflected in the various communications was typical of that which is traditional in "the Free State," and I was glad to add my voice to the opposition to the proposed high-support program.

Long Fight Ended
Turning from the agricultural bill, I would like to give you a capsule report on an agreement which provided a happy ending to my nine-year fight for a parkway along the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

The agreement, which ensures that the historic canal will be preserved and that the parkway will be constructed along the nearby bluffs, was reached at a meeting attended by Rep. DeWitt Hyde; Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay; Conrad L. Wirth, Director of the National Park Service, and myself.

"Happy Solution"
Commenting editorially on our get-together, the Washington Post and Times Herald said:

"It is excellent news that the National Park Service has agreed with Senator Beall on construction of a parkway from Cumberland to Hancock along the bluffs overlooking the Potomac.

"The plan to preserve the old C&O Canal intact and provide a parkway too is indeed a 'happy solution,'" as Secretary McKay described it.

"Both the canal improvement and the parkway are important steps in opening the resources of the Potomac Valley, and we hope that the Park Service will not marketing year, under the new incentive program, starts Apr. 1 Bradley said.

Bradley explains the program this way. The payment will not be determined until all the 1955-clip sales records are in. The payment to the grower will be based on the percentage needed to bring the national average return to wool growers up to 62 cents a pound. If a 15 per cent payment is needed to bring the national average return to 62c a pound, the grower will get a payment based on 15 per cent of what he received when he sold his wool.

Bradley said it may pay Maryland wool growers to shop around a little and not take the first price offered when it is time to sell their 1956 wool crop. He also said the new program should make farmers more conscious of producing a better wool crop so it will bring a better price, and a higher incentive payment.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 8.—Last December there were published in this newspaper 50 forecasts by me for 1956. The first stated, "President Eisenhower will be re-nominated and re-elected in '56." The last of these 50 forecasts stated, "I now see no depression ahead for 1956, but, of course, stock prices will not 'grow to the skies' and there must be a sad readjustment some day." three months, are as follows: 2. The President will be relieved of much speech making, entertainment, and detail work. 3. Competition will be very severe. 4. Higher wages may be expected. 5. Increased advertising appropriations will be seen. 6. Recent policies of the money managers will be shifted to more "ease." 7. Liberal credits to the purchasers of houses, automobiles, televisions, etc. will continue to be strong support to business. 8. Great sums will continue to be spent on research and new plant expansion. 9. The baby boom will roll merrily on, resulting in more sales. 10. Predicted declines will come in auto and residential building, but will largely be offset by expenditures for roads, sewers, and schools. 11. Retail business will be handicapped in some cities by the parking nuisance. 12. No appreciable price improvement in city business property is likely. 13. Building costs will continue high. 14. Speculative builders will have to watch their step more closely. 15. The limiting of rents will be practically abolished. 16. Owners of costly apartment buildings will find their profit margins squeezed harder. 17. Commercial farms need not suffer. 18. Owners of small scattered farms will suffer. 19. More well-located "close-in" farms will become subdivisions and shopping centers. 20. Those who have been holding real estate for speculative profits might well consider selling. 21. Russia will keep out of war with us during 1956. 22. There will be one or more small wars during 1956. 23. The "cold war" now existing between Russia and the United States will continue. 24. The threat of the hydrogen bomb and guided missile will be the greatest international factor for diplomatic trading. 25. The Republicans will turn slightly "New Dealish." 26. Some "dark horse" may run off with the Democratic nomination. 27. Some taxes will be reduced. 28. The farm problem will be the center of most political fights. 29. The cost of living will increase only slightly. 30. There need be no further inflation during 1956. 31. Expanding farm subsidies will mildly bolster farm income. 32. Wheat and corn prices will also depend upon shifting weather and foreign conditions.

LOOKING AHEAD By Dr. George S. Brant - Author - "THE COMMUNIST STRATEGY" George Adams

The Overpowering Fact The one overpowering fact that today demands the urgent attention of the free people of the world is this: If Communism continues to expand its control at its present rate of growth, all the world's two-and-a-quarter billion people will be at the mercy of a Red dictatorship within 10 years. This should be a shattering fact to Americans. But the tragedy is that only a comparatively few will accept it as fact. It is too unpleasant to think about. And yet it is a fact indisputable as night and day. The rise of Communism to power in Greece and the showing of its dominant power in France within recent weeks should ring a bell in the mind of every free person in the world—a bell crying out a terrible danger. No wonder the Red bosses—Bulgarian, Khrushchev, Molotov and Mikoyan—daily try new methods to null the free nations into a still deeper sleep . . . such as speeches questioning the actions of the dead Stalin who served the brutal conspiracy so well. Growing Constantly Every intelligent, serious student of Communism knows that the Red plan for taking over the world is proceeding with astounding speed. If they can just keep things moving as they have moved in the last 10 years—and cultivate the apathy of the dwindling nations of free people—their goal will be achieved. This is the plain fact. It is written in the record for every human being to see. Ten years ago the international Communist conspiracy which has its headquarters in Moscow's Kremlin had absolute control over 190 million people—and that's all. The Reds had not taken over Poland. They hadn't engineered their coup in Czechoslovakia. They did not hold Manchuria. Stalin and his henchmen were shaking hands and smiling graciously with Chiang Kai-Shek (then a member of "The Big Five") and China's nearly 500 million people were free. The Reds had not seized Hungary, or Bulgaria, or Rumania. And the Communist Fifth Column throughout the world had not begun to be recognized as a menace by Western political leaders. The free world, including the USA, was accepting the Soviet Union as a good neighbor—one of the family in the newly organized United Nations. In 10 Years In the 10 years since World War II ended (Sept. 2, 1945) and the U.S. and Communist Russia sat down together in the UN (Oct. 24, 1945), Communism has closed the Iron Curtain around 900 million people. Poland has gone . . . Manchuria . . . Hungary . . . Bulgaria . . . Albania . . . Rumania . . . China with its vast resources and nearly a half-billion people . . . Czechoslovakia . . . Tibet . . . half of Germany . . . North Korea (and 20,000 American lives) . . . the Baltic States, etc. In total, the free world has given up 693 million people and six million square miles of territory in 23 countries! In addition, the Red International Fifth Column, belatedly scrutinized by the U. S. Congress, today has more than five million conspirators in the nations outside the Curtain, working for their downfall. In some of these the Communists have already become the dominant power. In France, where for too long the infiltrating Communists were not taken seriously, the Reds now hold the dominant political and governmental power. Whoever serves as Premier of France does so by permission of the Communists. In Greece, the Reds have been amazingly successful; working quietly they have now become a threatening political power. In Italy, the Communists are in such strategic positions (with nearly two million Party voters) they can probably take over when they choose to concentrate on that nation. Closing In Dictator Tito in Communist Yugoslavia has made his peace with the Kremlin bosses. The Arab countries have opened themselves to heavy infiltration. Socialist Israel has heavy Red concentration in its dominating Left Wing parties. Objective observers who have been in India say the Communists are strong enough to sabotage any effort that nation might put up if invaded. England, with her vital strength weakened under Socialism, could be brought to her knees internally by Communist controlled labor unions. When we go further and closely examine the inroads made by the Communists in Central America and South America, and note the rising political voice of the Canadian Reds, we begin to get the whole shocking picture of Communist expansion. The fact then is apparent: If the Reds' rate of growth continues for another 10 years, America—and America alone—might possibly still be free. But it would be a tipy speck overshadowed by the most monstrous force in world history. Next Week: Can Communism be stopped?

KEEP MARYLAND BEAUTIFUL by keeping Maryland Clean

of the tail, on the top of the body), and spotted markings. In general outline they look much alike although the brown trout is inclined to be chunkier than the other two. In other respects they differ. A flash of red or ruddy orange and white-tipped fins mark the strike of a brook trout. A brown trout's general color is brownish golden. A rainbow trout is silvery, with a streak of red that runs from gill covers to tail. However, colors vary in different waters. A more positive means of identification, we are told by Bill Wolf in an article in Sports Afield magazine, is in their tails: the brook trout's is nearly square, with little or no fork to it, and there are pronounced irregular markings on it—not spots. The brown trout's tail has no markings of any kind. The rainbow's trout's tail is very definitely spotted, and has a slight fork. Both the brook and brown trout have more or less brilliant pink spots on their bodies; the rainbow's spots are dark without color—the only color on the rainbow is the characteristic lateral streak of red, and sometimes a touch of yellow to its fins. All three differ widely in personality. The brook trout is willing to plunge blindly into a fight and wage a good battle without being spectacular. He is the most beloved of American trout. The brown trout is another matter. Here is a crafty fish, and a moody one. He is the ideal fish for dry-fly angler since he feeds heavily on the surface when the big fly catches are on. There are times when he turns sulky and nothing will tempt him. He fights hard, without flashiness. The rainbow trout is a brash Westerner now pretty much at home in all trout water. I believe he has the most vicious strike, and once hooked, comes to the top where he puts up a fight that compares favorably with that of the smallmouth bass. He is a spectacular leaper. There is nothing gentle about the rainbow trout.

SPORTS AFIELD By Ted Kesting

Although there are possibly 60 different kinds of trout on this continent, only three are of major importance to the fly fisherman: the brook, the brown, and the rainbow. These three have in common such details as sleek bodies, scales so small that they are almost nonexistent, a decided preference for insects as food, a soft and rayless adipose fin (just ahead of the tail, on the top of the body), and spotted markings. In general outline they look much alike although the brown trout is inclined to be chunkier than the other two. In other respects they differ. A flash of red or ruddy orange and white-tipped fins mark the strike of a brook trout. A brown trout's general color is brownish golden. A rainbow trout is silvery, with a streak of red that runs from gill covers to tail. However, colors vary in different waters. A more positive means of identification, we are told by Bill Wolf in an article in Sports Afield magazine, is in their tails: the brook trout's is nearly square, with little or no fork to it, and there are pronounced irregular markings on it—not spots. The brown trout's tail has no markings of any kind. The rainbow's trout's tail is very definitely spotted, and has a slight fork. Both the brook and brown trout have more or less brilliant pink spots on their bodies; the rainbow's spots are dark without color—the only color on the rainbow is the characteristic lateral streak of red, and sometimes a touch of yellow to its fins. All three differ widely in personality. The brook trout is willing to plunge blindly into a fight and wage a good battle without being spectacular. He is the most beloved of American trout. The brown trout is another matter. Here is a crafty fish, and a moody one. He is the ideal fish for dry-fly angler since he feeds heavily on the surface when the big fly catches are on. INCOME TAX FACTS No. 7 Pensions and Investments

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Maryland Society of Certified Public Accountants.) This article deals with investors in general—and retired people in particular. Many people can stop filing income tax returns when they have retired, because no return is required from a person who is 65 or over and had less than $1,200 income, not including Social Security or Railroad Retirement Act benefits, which don't count. But when retired persons are required to file, their returns can be quite complicated. First, let's look at some provisions that affect people with investments, whether they are retired or not. Retirement Income There is a provision for "retirement income credit" which may reduce your tax on pensions and investment income in some circumstances. You may be entitled to this credit if you are able to answer "yes" to all three of these questions: 1. Did you (or your deceased husband or wife) earn more than $600 in each of any ten calendar years before 1955? 2. Did you receive less than $1,200 in tax exempt pensions or annuities in 1955? 3. If you are under 75, did you earn less than $2,100 in 1955? The space for computing your retirement income credit takes up most of the last page of the tax form. It is not too difficult to work out if you read the instructions carefully. The most any individual taxpayer can save from this provision is $240, but husband and wife can each save this amount if they are both eligible. The retirement income credit is more liberal this year in regard to retirement benefits from the armed forces. Be sure to take advantage of this credit if you are eligible. If you have an annuity from life insurance, pension plan, or other source, the portion which you may receive tax-free depends on your life expectancy. The Internal Revenue Service will furnish actuarial tables upon request to help you figure this out. The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance. Next article: Plan Now for Next Year's Tax.

JOHN EDGAR HOOVER SAYS:

Juvenile Delinquency Unconquered Frontier

(Reprinted by permission from "The Educational Forum," November, 1955).

Americans have always enjoyed the inspiration of challenge—the opportunity to conquer the unknown, to solve the unsolved, to tame the untamed. This was the spirit of Daniel Boone, Sam Houston, and Kit Carson. These were the men who, with burning energy, pressed forward to new experiences. They found self-satisfaction in blazing new trails and conquering new frontiers.

Today the American frontier is no longer measured in terms of geography or distance. Across the forests once trod by Daniel Boone now run broad highways. In the fertile river valleys of the 1820's now stand thriving cities. Twentieth century America has conquered the problems of physical space which once seemed so formidable to the early pioneers. Vast new frontiers, however, still loom before the Nation.

They are frontiers which hold the same challenge as the wilderness of the early 19th century or the western plains of 1849. They are frontiers which must be conquered, thereby giving the people of this Nation greater freedom, security and well-being.

One of the most challenging of the still unconquered frontiers is that of crime and juvenile delinquency. Last year, for example, over two and one-quarter million major crimes—or one every 13.9 seconds—were committed in the United States. This represents a tragic commentary on American society. Every day in 1954 it is estimated that 34 people were feloniously slain, 49 rapes occurred and 592 cars were stolen. In addition, each day there were an estimated 185 robberies, 1422 burglaries, and 3674 larcenies.

Even more tragic is the realization that crime is today doing such tremendous damage to young people. In 1389 cities last year juveniles (under) represented almost 10 per cent of the arrests. In 1005 cities over 2500—representing a combined population of over 32 million—arrests of juveniles increased 2.3 per cent while arrests of adults decreased 1.9 per cent! This trend reflects an increasing juvenile participation in crime.

These are the boys and girls—many only in their early teens—who should be training to be the leaders of tomorrow. Instead, they are stealing automobiles, robbing the corner grocery store or snatching purses from pedestrians. Reports from the 1389 cities reflect that in 1954 juveniles represented 57.6 per cent of all arrests for auto theft; 49 per cent, burglary, and 43.6 per cent, larceny. Juvenile delinquency is indeed a serious problem.

The time has come for all Americans to work harder to conquer this frontier of shame. Much today is being done by many groups—law enforcement agencies, civic organizations, schools, churches—but their work represents only a start through the jungle of misery, terror and ruin which is juvenile delinquency. Their trails must be broadened into highways, until crime and juvenile delinquency are conquered. I am confident, knowing what has been accomplished to date, that this objective can be achieved.

There are many factors to be considered in any discussion of juvenile delinquency. First and foremost is that of the influence of the home. All too often, unfortunately, the lack of wholesome influences at home are contributing factors to youthful misbehavior.

In a midwestern state, a 17-year-old youth, whom we will call Lance, was charged with murder. One morning two young friends, aged 11 and 15, came by Lance's house. They were carrying a rifle and the three went to the woods to do some shooting. Two hours later Lance contacted a local police officer and said that he had shot one boy and probably killed the other. Investigating officers found the two boys—both dead. One had been shot four times: in the left arm, neck, twice above the heart. The other had been shot seven times.

This was murder—cold-blooded murder. Officers ascertained that Lance, after the shooting, had calmly walked up to a nearby store and bought a cold drink. At no time, even later, did he show signs of emotion or regret. In these two fateful hours—between nine and 11 o'clock that morning—a youthful career had been shattered. Lance had committed the most serious of all crimes.

The signs of misbehavior, however, had appeared earlier—signs which a good home environment might have done much to correct. Some years earlier, for example, Lance had come to the attention of local authorities in connection with the theft of a bicycle. His mother reportedly observed Lance hide the bicycle in the woods near his home. When officers called at the home, the mother denied knowing anything about her son having a bicycle or having stolen one. It was determined that neighbors had observed the mother talking to Lance at the time he had the bicycle.

Just how can a young boy or girl be expected to become a good citizen when a parent sets such an example? The child learns from observing the father and mother. If he finds in a parent a disregard for the law, a lack of respect for decency and a failure to lead a wholesome life, he too may adopt such attitudes.

Lance, in addition, had been involved in other misbehavior. He received virtually no guidance at home. His father for some time resided in another community. Lance was frequently a truant at school. The mother advised that she would not make her son attend school as he did not want to get out of bed in the mornings. Why? He would often hang around downtown until one or two o'clock in the morning. No wonder he wanted to sleep!

The problem of juvenile delinquency takes on even more tragic aspects when it is realized that many offenders are intelligent boys and girls—young people who, with proper guidance, could contribute greatly to the Nation's welfare.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman

DeWitt S. Hyde
WASHINGTON, Mar. 7—Residents of Allegany and Garrett Counties, I am certain, received welcome news in the announcement that the Interior Dept. and the National Park Service is proceeding with plans for a parkway from Hancock to North Branch, together with proposals for better recreational use of the C&O Canal.

House committee approval of new funds for construction at Fort Detrick reminds me I have neglected calling attention to the Dept. of Defense's designation of Camp Detrick as a permanent military installation with the new designation as "Fort."

I have introduced a bill to transfer the Washington public employment service to the District of Columbia government. The office at present is the only one of the nation-wide system of public employment offices not under state direction. My bill would integrate the employment service with the presently locally administered unemployment office and place responsibility where it belongs.

During the past two or three weeks my mail has been unusually heavy. Most of this mail has dealt with my constituents' views on the farm program and the highway construction bill. I am in accord with those in the 6th Maryland District who feel that high, rigid price supports are not the answer to our farm problem. I also believe that a more equitable distribution of costs of highway construction among highway users is desirable.

I am greatly concerned with the merger-trend in this country and with monopoly tendencies, especially as they affect small business enterprises. My office staff is at work on materials which I can use in committee and on the Floor of the House in furthering the interests of small firms and in offering greater protection against merger and monopoly trends.

Church Group To Sponsor Spring Musicale

There will be a spring musicale Mar. 11 at 7:30 p. m. in the Lutheran Church of Taneytown sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the church.

The following program is listed: prelude, Mr. Philip Royer, supervisor of music for Carroll County, professor of violin and director of the Little Symphony Orchestra, Western Maryland College; invocation by the Rev. Stanley Jennings, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown; hymn, en-arranging and contacting various churches, choirs, organizations, etc., is composed of Elwood Harnher, chairman; James Fair, Henry Reindollar, and George Naylor, Jr., president of the Brotherhood. There will be a short Fellowship period immediately following the program for those participating in the program in the church school auditorium. The committee in charge of this is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Putman, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert, Crum.

Living Today
by Colonel Coler Couper

FACTUAL: Let's face it! Come what may we are stuck with it. Often we gripe about this or that and frequently we ridicule, intimidate and involve others in our conversation. I am just as guilty as the next fellow and have many times felt somewhat ashamed of my weaknesses and trivial squawks. Find a person who has not at some time or other thrown a bombshell toward his neighbor and I'll show you an angel ready for the pearly gates. Human all, we find an escape in complaining about the other fellow to lighten our own burdens. At least we think we are doing so. Actually we are trying to shove beneath us the other person in order to inflate our own ego.

COMMENDATION: As a matter of reference to the good neighbor policy when we visit another town and enter a store we are quick to observe the kindness and politeness of the merchants, the clerks and especially a manager. Just let a manager of a store step out of line and he'll get it with the hottest flames of reproach. Again, just as I would like to call the attention of others to the consideration shown me by a manager of a store in Gettysburg, I would just as quickly condemn him for a breach of courteous services. True, a neighborhood store in another state couldn't, as a rule, mean a great deal when they show their disposition to seek friendly relations with their neighbors, one would think, but the fact remains that this store has attracted many new customers because of their politeness and consideration shown to others. Yes, friendly relationship with each other pays whether it be at home or across the state line.

FOUNDATION: The foundation of any enterprise is the important thing. The background of an individual is important, too! When past performances are acknowledged there are many things to consider. The principle thing is sincerity of purpose. Nothing worth doing at all is worth quitting if there is anything to gain by continuing toward its ultimate achievement.

RECOGNITION: Success is measured by accomplishment rather than reputation, however, and a peculiar thing arises out of man's monetary possessions. If he is rich he commands respect and even his enemies admire his progressive policies and accomplishments. Many a prosperous businessman is debased to his back and greeted with a smile when met face to face. Money does strange things.

FAILURES: The great poets, as a general rule, died in poverty. Great song writers have long since been an object of much scorn during their life time. Stephen Foster, who wrote "My Old Kentucky Home" and many other famous songs, died in poverty and his hall-like bedroom served as an example of his miserable end. Yet in Kentucky the very home which is called "My Old Kentucky Home," and one which I did an oil painting of too long ago when there on location, the pretentious old mansion which served as his paradise with his memories of Jennie," he wrote the song containing "Jennie With the Light Brown Hair," and it has never been forgotten. Yet Stephen Foster's name was disregarded and forgotten until he died. He now lives as his songs continue to carve his name into immortality. Yet, he was a failure! Or was he?

SUCCESS: The greatest success comes when man is alive. The great painters who died in obscurity and as an unknown, such as the example of Vincent Van-Gogh, now lives as though their souls influence their masterpieces of art. The greatest of names today, however, live in actuality and basically impress others little. After they die and 10 years hence, they will be held up on a pedestal and regarded as legends of this area, if not workers of miracles. Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Edison, Marconi, Dr. DeForest and the little known Nathan Stubblefield, (World Almanac) the true inventor of radio, all have earned their rights to great acclaim in name, but spiritually they are but dust. Their right to success has been earned but not immortalized. They, too, were but human.

LOCAL: There are great spiritual leaders today in our very midst, some whom are very humble and modest. Their greatness is clothed in their meekness and quiet mannerism and especially in their goodness which is known, but rarely realized excepting when in the presence of them, and least appreciated until the need arises for their services. Yes, in God's omnipotence He associates among us the greatest of all—men of wisdom and love. Seek a closer understanding of your spiritual leader should you wish to find greater wisdom.

Demos Plan Dinner

George P. Mahoney and Millard E. Tydings will be among the many leading Democratic figures from the state expected to attend the annual Jackson Day Dinner of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland Mar. 10.

Mr. Mahoney and Mr. Tydings are leading contenders for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate from the State of Maryland. Addressing the group at the dinner will be Senator Estes Kefauver (Tenn.-Dem.), Democratic candidate for the Presidential nomination.

The dinner will be held at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore.

Pink-Eye And Pilfered Profits

Some diseases kill farm animals outright; others—like pink-eye in cattle—are more insidious than deadly. For though pink-eye rarely kills, it is a continuous drain on cattle profits. When the disease strikes, cattlemen are liable to heavy losses from poor condition of afflicted animals and falling off in body weight. In dairy cows, pink-eye often cuts milk flow in half.

Scientists believe that this eye inflammation, called infectious keratitis, is caused by a mixture of germs. It often is spread by flies, gnats, dust and pollen. The disease is widespread among range and feed-lot cattle throughout the U.S. and other parts of North America, and has also been reported in India and Africa.

At the onset of infection, the eye becomes bloodshot, eyelids puff up, and in severe cases, a heavy outflow of pus-filled tears keeps the animal's face soiled and moist. Left unchecked, the infection clouds the eye, dimming sight. In advanced stages, ulcers may form and lead to permanent eye damage or blindness.

Pink-eye flares up most often during warm-weather months. An infected animal quickly spreads the disease, and half the herd may be affected. Cattle of all ages are hit by pink-eye although the disease is most severe and prevalent among those under two years.

Fortunately, in recent years veterinary researchers have discovered that antibiotics are highly effective in treating pink-eye in cattle. The broad-range antibiotic Terramycin rapidly clears up the infection, gets the animal back on normal feeding routine, and thus prevents loss of poundage.

In addition to sapping cattlemen's profits, diseases like pink-eye have a more sinister foreboding. Agricultural economists point out that the U.S. will have to produce enough meat for an expected population of 225 million 20 years from now. Every pound lost through disease is a setback to this goal.

Thus modern veterinary scientists, fighting livestock diseases with potent antibiotics like Terramycin, are helping to meet the challenge of greater meat productivity for the years ahead.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Sometimes European governments are more honest in their terms than U. S. bureaucrats. They often refer to government information as propaganda; some nations even have a Minister of propaganda.

U. S. bureaucrats shy away from term propaganda, preferring "press releases" and "public information officers." A case in point is Federal Trade Commission.

Recently House Small Business Committee, headed by Rep. Wright-Patman, took long look at FTC press releases.

Edward Howrey recently resigned as FTC chairman. He is currently member of a law firm appearing before FTC for large food company cited by FTC during Howrey's reign.

Before his FTC appointment, Howrey was attorney for a huge firm fighting FTC on a still pending case. His appointment was opposed by National Federation of Independent Business because of this fact.

Although he told Senate committee during hearings he would serve full term, Howrey resigned at end of 33 months.

But judging from FTC press releases during this period, those 33 months were as momentous to the Republic as the Founding Convention.

Numerous releases stated such things as "FTC reaching 20 year high," "investigations increase almost 50%," "marked increase in effective action against illegal" monopoly as contrasted to previous 10 year period." House Committee got curious.

Now committee reports this. In 33 Howrey months, FTC issued 59 anti-trust law violation complaints. In 33 months prior 56 complaints were filed.

In Howrey's 33 month blitz 60 companies were charged with violations; in previous 33 months 66 companies were so charged.

Committee found during 33 Howrey months, no charges were filed against huge concerns in the $5 to $10 billion asset class, as compared to one such firm charged in preceding 33 months. In 33 Howrey months no charges were levied at firms in the $1 to $5 billion class either, although in preceding 33 months three such charges were made.

But report states in 33 Howrey months FTC was more active against small firms than it had ever been. While being puffed up as a valiant St. George, it appears that while Howrey was no great shucks as a dragon slayer, he did make things pretty tough on grasshoppers.

Committee reports at least in one instance Howrey performed yeoman service.

This was a company selling citrus fruits. Investigation revealed firm's entire assets totaled $16,000; its total income during 1954 was only $460.

But intrepid Howrey determined to give them their "comeuppance."

So perhaps Howrey did nation great service making it clear no little cheap John $460 company should attempt to flout nation's anti-trust laws. This a prerogative reserved for the boys in the billion dollar, or better, class.

Dairyman's Delight Or Downfall . . . ?

→ When Pastures "green up" in the Spring, it's a delight long awaited by the Dairyman, as well as his Cows! But it could mean the downfall of the dairyman's profits before the year is out!

→ New Spring Grass has a stimulating influence on Cows, and up goes Production. High-producing Cows cannot consume enough nutrients, from grass alone, for proper balance, so down goes body reserves and production slumps.

→ Nutrients deficient in Lush Spring Pastures can be supplied by feeding adequate amounts of properly-balanced protein and grain supplement.

Here's a modern farmer Who cuts and chops His handling of hay Would be rated tops

No pitchforks for him But a blower high When the tunnel's covered His fan will dry

If cows could vote They'd choose this way Of storing and drying This high-protein hay

They push the mangers While getting their feed And increase the shelter They're going to need

And after they eat There's space to rest They think this Quonset System's the best

The farmer's convinced His cows are right When he sees profits Coming to light

Sportsmen To Clean Reservoir Area

The Indian Lookout Conservation Club held its regular meeting recently at the Fire Hall with Franklin Wastler, president, presiding.

The club announced it intends beautifying the area around Rainbow Lake in the near future. Rubbish, brush and other eye-sores have made their way during the winter and an effort will be made to clear this unsightly mess from the area. Members are urged to contact the president for the time the group will meet for this work.

The club voted to improve the hunting conditions for sportsmen by having the season open on Saturday. It was pointed out that on this day more hunters have an opportunity to take to the fields on opening day than any other day. A petition is now being circulated to secure the sufficient number of signers and will be presented at a public hearing before members of the Game and Inland Fish Commission who establish the game laws for Maryland.

The next regular meeting of the organization will be held Mar. 27.

FOUR INJURED IN CRASH

Four men were hurt and two cars demolished in a three-auto crash three miles north of Emmitsburg at the Middle Creek Bridge on the Gettysburg Rd. at 9:20 o'clock last Sunday night.

Pennsylvania state police said Thomas J. Eroh, 17, Pottsville, Pa., was driving south. At the approach to the bridge, according to police, he swerved to the left and collided with a north-bound car operated by Robert J. Cortes, 21, Treswick, Pa., and then, glancing off that vehicle, crashed into another north-bound car operated by Floyd McDannell, 18, Gettysburg, Pa.

Damage was estimated at $550 to Eroh's car, $1000 to Cortes' car, and $250 to McDannell's vehicle. The first two cars were demolished.

Eroh suffered lacerations of the forehead, chin and left knee; Gerald M. Palmer, Addison, N. Y., a passenger in Eroh's car, had lacerations of the face, neck and jaw, and Cortes has a laceration of the right arm and fracture of the left knee. James Poland, 21, Bendersville, had a laceration of the scalp.

All were removed to the Warner Hospital in the Vigilant Hose Co. rescue ambulance.

Auxiliary

Meeting Held

The regular meeting of Francis X. Elder Post Auxiliary was held Tuesday evening with 35 members present. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were approved as read.

A communication was received from the department president announcing the month of March as being community service month.

Two guests were present, Mrs. Needy, district vice president, and Mrs. Mark, who is chairman of the child welfare program. Mrs. Needy explained the child welfare program which the Western Maryland District has pledged $600. Each unit has been asked to raise $35 or more. The money will be used to benefit retarded children and each county will have a school for these children. Locations of these schools are in Westminster, and Hagerstown. The Frederick County institution will be located in Frederick and a September opening is planned. Plans are now under way by the auxiliary to raise its quota for the county's school.

A communication was received from the Children's aid Society thanking the Auxiliary for its donation.

The organization voted to donate $5 to the Red Cross campaign, which is now in progress.

The flower garden was discussed and the following members were appointed on the committee: Ann Shorb, Virginia Sanders, Theresa Stinson, and Ruth Gillelan.

The draw prize was won by Mary Theresa Miller. The refreshment committee appointed for the month of April consists of Ruth Martins, Marty Rosensteel, and Madeleine Harner.

Government Seeks To Locate Weather Station Here

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: For about 60 years the Weather Bureau has maintained a program of cooperative weather reporting stations all over the country. The purpose of these stations is to provide a network which will indicate the relatively small variations in climate which exist among local areas. The maintenance of these observations provides a large amount of information which is useful to civic, agricultural, and commercial interests.

One of these stations is to be established in or near Emmitsburg in the near future. We are looking for someone who is interested in weather who would be interested in becoming the observer for the station. To assist us in locating this person, we would like to have the following item published:

"In order to provide a complete study of weather conditions for local areas, the U. S. Weather Bureau establishes and maintains a network of unpaid cooperative weather reporting stations. Reports from these stations aid in developing programs toward soil conservation and commercial, civic and agricultural enterprises. The Weather Bureau installs and maintains the equipment necessary for this work. The observer makes one reading each day and mails reports weekly. At the present time, an observer is needed to make a series of observations in or near Emmitsburg. Anyone interested in this and desiring further information is requested to write to the Weather Bureau Office, Friendship International Airport at Baltimore, Md.
