What seems to me as a unique idea in the prevention of traffic violations came to my attention this week via a postcard from a reader in Los Angeles, Calif. The gentleman correspondent states his idea as follows: "Fines have not solved traffic violations. Better results might be obtained by impounding a violator's car for a few days. If he had to go without his car a few days he might begin to understand what the rights and privileges of the road are all about." Yes, imagine this system would cut heavily into the number of traffic violators without a doubt.

Shortly after Christmas I wrote a few paragraphs about the flute playing of one Larry Diehlman over the grave of his father, Prof. Casper Diehlman, music instructor at Mt. Saint Mary's College over a cenutry ago-1843. Legend has it that the son, Larry, every Christmas Eve, journeyed to the college graveyard and played divine music on his flute, over his father's grave. For many years this was considered a myth by many, but data in later years enfirm the fact that Larry did by music at that particular spot. To add authenticity to this claim, George W. Wilhide, the Potato Man, sends in a clipping of the Chronicle of about 60. years ago which tells about the Editor asking Larry to play a special audition so that friends might enjoy the music.

Says George in his correspondence: I saw in the paper recently where it was doubted that Larry Diehlman played the flute over his father's grave. My wife cut this clipping from a Chronicle of about 60 years ago. I happened to get acquainted with Larry in 1895. He kept a little tone or Loute 15 at St. Anthony's. My wife and I would go there every night and the store was crowded. John Little and Eddie Moser also would be there playing music with Larry. We seldom if ever missed a night. Larry died

I felt the clipping George forwarded was rather interesting and I am reprinting it because of its local interest; Larry And His Flute

Owing to the fact that there will be no 5 o'clock mass at St. Anthony's this Christmas morning, arrangements have been made with our old friend, Mr. Larry Diehlman, to make an extra journey to his father's grave and play the ancient air, The Adeste. This extra journey will be at 11:45 p. m. Christmas Eve. This trip will not, however, prevent him from going at his regular hour, 4 o'clock Christmas morning.

To those who reside in this locality, it certainly would seem strange not to hear the flute at this time. To those who have never heard this music on Christmas morning, we would ask that they make an effort to hear it, as we are sure their Christmas will be much merrier than ever before.

To Larry we extend our heartiest congratulations and ask him to favor us as long as possible with this music. Wishing him also a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, we bid

The high cost of living seems about to affect almost everyone. Those care-free and tax-free citizens who have been residing in trailers, with little expense, are about to feel the sting of urban life's strife. It seems almost apparent that Frederick County will levy a tax on such vehicles regardless of where they are parked. In fact a bill is in the State Legislature at this very moment which would levy a one dollar per week tax on such means of residence. This would average $52 a year and would almost put the taxpayer on a par with those who own real estate. And speaking of taxes I see where the County is about to shear the same old sheep, the taxpayer, once more. I knew it was getting nearer spring but I didn't think it was clipping time yet. Pardon the digression. Anyway it is proposed to raise the salaries of county officials, the sheriff, the state's attorney, judges, Board of Education members, etc. This will without question necessitate an increase in taxes next year. It just seems there's no end to this vicious cycle.

Newspaperwoman Dies Suddenly; Was Born Here

Miss Mary Louise Callahan, 40, Gettysburg newspaperwoman and a native of Emmitsburg, died suddenly Tuesday morning at 8:20 o'clock at her home, 227 Highland Ave., Gettysburg. She had been ill with hypertension since February 17 when she was stricken suddenly while attending church and has been confined to her home ever since. Shortly after arising Tuesday morning she suffered a rupture of a blood vessel in the brain, causing death.

Miss Callahan, society editor of the Gettysburg Times, was a daughter of Mrs. Mary E. (Warthen) Callahan, with whom she resided and the late Daniel Edward Callahan and was born in Emmitsburg, Nov. 6, 1916. She attended St. Anthony's Parochial School near Emmitsburg, St. Joseph College High School and received her Bachelor of Arts Degree from St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, in 1940.

The deceased received a certificate in journalism from St. Joseph College and studied typing at a business college in Washington prior to accepting a position as clerk for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, where she also served as assistant editor of the "FBI Weekly."

Modern architecture at last has turned its talents and skills to the two-family house. The result is a home that looks like a home, and not like a small apartment building.

An example is this compact, nine-room house designed for two-family living by architect Rudolph A. Matern, of Jamaica, N.Y. It is plan No. SR9518.

From the viewpoint of a pas-serby the house could be a modern, one-family Cape Cod, with its steeply sloping asphalt-shin-gle roof and its inviting panel entrance door of ponderosa pine, painted to harmonize with the roof color.

This particular style of house lends itself to colorful exterior treatment, since the wide expanse of roof is readily visible from the ground. The home-owner can take advantage of this opportunity in his selection of asphalt shingles in one of the many deep color tones and light pastels available.
The middle door in the draw-ment, which has three bedrooms, a 19-foot living room with fireplace, a dining room, kitchen with breakfast nook, and two

The second-floor quarters are reached through the door at the right. The apartment has one bedroom, a 20-foot living room, dining room with provision for a folding bed, and a kitchen with breakfast bar.

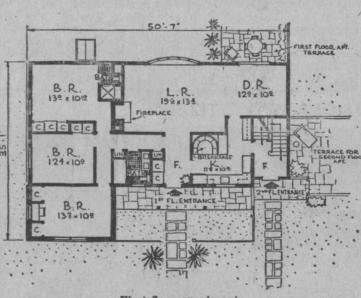

One of the most important features of the house, which utilizes the "attic" area for living space, is complete insulation. Architect Matern specifies the use of thick batts or blankets of mineral wool in all exterior walls and in the ceiling of the second floor.

Two unusual features of the design are outdoor patios for both families and an entrance to the basement from both apart-

Local Taxes. State Taxes | amount to about $90 an individual. They range from a low of about $50 in New Jersey (where city taxes are relatively high) to a top of around $135 in the State of Washington (where city taxes are especially low). State Tax Revenue Sources

More than thirty states have income taxes or sales taxes, or both. The states also get a big amount from automobile taxes, with cuts on alcohol and tobacco taxes. Unfortunately, most states are careless in their expenditures because their money comes so easily. As a result, total state debts have increased almost fivefold during the last ten years,-from about $21/2 billion to over $11 billion. Now there is a row on as to who should pay for the new schools. School costs are really the responsibility of the cities and counties, but they are being passed on to the states, which in turn are trying to hand them over to the Federal Government.

What About Teachers' Salaries? It is generally agreed that cities, towns, and counties should pay teachers' salaries. It is unfair to believe that pressure for higher teachers' salaries is coming from the teachers themselves. Almost all good school teachers could get more money in industry, department stores, or offices, but they are sticking by their teaching from loyalty and because they have shorter

This means that the cut in school costs must come from a change in the curriculum or in school building maintenance, and especially in the high interest on building costs. This latter is particularly important now, when it is so difficult for municipalities to sell their bonds. The Fundamental Question hours and longer vacations.

When discussing taxes for schools, we should avoid talking only about saving money. We must remember the old adage, penny wise - pound foolish." If I felt that luxurious schools produced better students, I would be the last to criticize the present craze for "bigger and better" school buildings. From my careful observation, however, I am sure such school buildings do not produce better and more efficient students. Schools were so crowded in my youth that we were obliged to have three grades in each classroom. Furthermore, we had two sessions - morning and afternoon-and no bus to take us to school! I really believe these rough conditions were a good part of our education.

Talking with students, I do not find much objection to having the schools used more or the curriculum made more practical. They welcome the use of television and radio. It is the teachers who complain about longer hours a day and working eleven months. The State Legislatures are also responsible for passing various laws regulating teachers' professional requirements and sanitary conditions in schools. These laws are actively promoted by P.T.A.'s, as well as by professional men and tradesmen who have interests at stake. Increased State Taxes are due not only to the cost of luxury buildings, but also to all these laws supposed to benefit the "health and comfort" of the children. The facts are that the graduates today need to be made tougher rather than softer. This is the way to cut costs, reduce taxes, and graduate better students. What About Parking?

Although the automobile has | Income Tax given the state and counties more income, yet it has vastly increased their expenses for roads, police protection, and parking facilities. This last is becoming a most important question. Good downtown parkto enable retailers to continue prosperous. However, parents not only believe that the city should provide parking facilities for their automobiles but also parking facilities for their child-

I believe the present school system is luxurious and expensive because of the desire of parents for places to park their children while they are at club meetings or out working. I therefore forecast a complete revolution in school construction, in school maintenance. in the number of teachers required and in the school curriculum.

The same exemptions are allowed for your wife (or husband) if a joint return is filed. You get only one $600 exemption for each dependent, regardless of their age or other circumstances. You may claim an exemption for each child, stepchild, or legally adopted child who received more than half of his or her support from you and who had not reached the age of 19. For dependents other than children, five requirements must be met to claim an exemption. The dependent must: (1) Have received less than $600 gross income; (2) have received more than half of his support from you; (3) not have filed a joint return with his wife (or her husband); (4) be a citizen of the United States or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone; and (5) must either have been a member of your household for the entire taxable year, or must be related to you (or to your wife or husband if a joint return is filed).

If several persons together contributed more than half alone, the group may designate one of their number to claim the exemption.

If a dependent was born or died during the year, you can claim a full exemption if the dependent met the above tests for the part of the year they were alive

The Trillion Dollar Question

In measuring the efficiency of an economic system for a nation's people there are two basic questions we should ask: (1) Does it provide adequate goods and services? And (2) Does it equitably distribute its goods and services? Because of the spread of economic education during recent years many people today are aware of the fact that our American private ownership, free enterprise system produces 42 per cent of the wealth of the world although we have only seven per cent of the world's population, only six per cent of the land area, and only a proportionate share of the world's natural resources.

While many Americans are aware af these facts, a far greater number are not; and comparatively few can properly answer our second basic question-does our system equitably distribute its production of wealth? The answer, of course, is: Yes, it does. Its distribution is based on the contribution each citizen makes so the production of goods and services. Cultivating Distrust

The facts to prove that this is a satisfactory as well as an equitable system are not generally known, however; and this lack of understanding permits the Socialist and Communist propagandists and their dupes to sow doubt and in some cases distrust in the minds of millions of Americans. Doubt and distrust, if cultivated by the sly schemers, can be converted into hostility, even among otherwise good citizens.

Those who want to uproot our American system seek first to turn our own people against it. It is easier then to get socialistic measures adopted and centralized governmental power so that a few can rule and shape the destiny of our 170 million people. Therefore, let's examine some facts which every citizen should know about the American economic system's widespread distribution of wealthdocumented facts from the Department of Commerce. Who Got What?

In the 25 years ending with 1955, the national income in America was $3 trillion, 780 billion. Who got all this money? The wage earners and salaried people got 65 per cent. The selfemployed, professional people and small business operators, got the next biggest share, 91/2 per cent. Corporations received 7½ per cent (before taxes). The farmers and dairymen who supplied food markets and processing plants with raw foodstuffs received 61/2 per cent. Stockholders got 4 per cent. People owning rental property got 4 per cent, and bondholders received 31/2 per cent.

But. you may ask, what about dollar income to families? In the last year for which we have official figures, there were 50 million families in the U.S., and these families received an income of $272 billion — before taxes. Forty per cent, or nearly 21 million families, had incomes of from $3,000 to $6,000. Fifteen million or 30 per cent received $6,000 or more. These And The Remainder Of the remaining 30 per cent of the families, approximately 14 per cent received from $2,000 to $3,000; 11 per cent from $1,000 to $2,000; and about 5 per cent under $1,000. Many farm families, retired persons and pensioners, whose cash income does not truly reflect their living standard, are in these lower income categories. The big fact is: 85 per cent of all income went to 93 per cent of our families. In other words, the great bulk of income goes to the majority of families, in the middle income range.

It is well to more closely examine the upper income bracket. Seven per cent of the families in America receive incomes of $10,000 or more. And only 3 per cent are in the $15,000-andabove bracket. If all of the income in the $15,000-and-above bracket, after taxes are paid, were divided evenly among the people of America, each would receive less than 50 cents a day from that source. If all the net income in the $25,000-and-over category were to be evenly distributed, each of us would get only 15 cents a day. And without these upper categories our own present income would soon start to crumble for it is from these brackets that come a big portion of adventure capital or investment money to build new manufacturing plants and start new businesses, creating new jobs, and making good times. These are important facts. Do your children understand them?
