BY ABIGAIL

The end had to come, but still it came with a large measure of disappointment. The end I have reference to is the climax of the greatest basketball season in the history of Mount St. Mary's College. Fans listened with abated breath as the radio description came over the air last week from Evansville, Ind. Our team had topped all the honors there were in the East and were shooting for higher laurels and national recognition when it flew to Indiana. We anticipated a setback but still clung to a thin thread of hope that the almost impossible could be accomplished. We moved within a final game of taking top honors out there, but that's sports and we still are extremely proud of the fact that we went up as high as we did in the basketball world, and proud of the behavior of the team during the entire season. They were exponents of good sportsmanship wherever they played. The Mount was the smallest college in the tourney and almost went the distance. That's certainly something Emmitsburg can brag about for years to come. It certainly is no disgrace for a college of 600 to get bumped off by those with enrollments of up as high as 30,000. My heartiest congrats to Coach Jim Phelan and his Mountaineers for a job more than well done!

All along I have stated that Emmitsburg is missing out on something by not exploiting its history and antiquity and I'll bet my boots that other towns will seize the opportunity and capitalize on it. I read recently where the County Roads Board had decided to restore and preserve several of the county's ancient bridges. I agree and I heartily concur with their idea. Such antiquities entice tourists to travel through the countryside to see these relics of an era gone by. Many of these bridges have disappeared in the trend to modernism and there are but half a dozen remaining in Frederick County, so I don't think we are acting too soon by preserving these last half dozen relics.

In Gettysburg this week the Chamber of Commerce advocated that the town exploit its antiquity by remodeling the Civil War days or era as much as possible to attract countless numbers of tourists there. The Chamber urges all propertyowners who plan remodeling to do so with the 100-year-old theme in mind and in a few years the whole town will have a picturesque setting reverting back to the Civil War. It's really interesting I think, to tour the countryside and witness the old-time dinner bells on the farms, the covered bridges, cone-topped wells, wagon wheels at the entrances to the farms, and other reminders of times long ago. It doesn't take much time, trouble or expense to fix up some of the items of long ago and place them in decorative positions on your property and it really is becoming to your places of residence. The town itself, especially with the Bicentennial on its way, would be more effective if a few ancient lamps were erected on lawns or driveway entrances or old-time door knockers shined up a bit. There are oodles of ways you can obtain the effect of antiquity if you just stop and think about it. Look about the premises and sooner or later you'll find an idea and an item.

As has been expected interest in the Bicentennial is beginning to generate and already the local gentry is straining at the leash to get started in the beard contest. Businessmen, professional men and many others are awaiting the kick-off. Well, they didn't have to wait any longer because Monday night a big rally will be held and all the gents are cordially invited to learn the facts about the big contest by attending this rally which will kick-off the contest. I suppose a lot of them will cheat over the weekend since they've heard the news. You can't win though unless you are properly registered—that's the catch. To find out how you register be at (Continued on Page Eight)

Mount Ends Best Season With Win

The mightiest basketball team in Mount St. Mary's College's history ground to a halt and was eliminated from the small college NCAA tourney at Evansville, Ind., by Kentucky Wesleyan by a score of 99-81 after leading the Kentuckians 43-39 in the first half, last Thursday night.

Coach Jim Phelan's squad which had a 21-game win streak snapped, led throughout the first half but "ran out of gas" as Kentucky took the lead early in the second half to win.

Jack Sullivan, the greatest ace in Mount history, was limited to 19 points before fouling out with 7:30 minutes of play remaining. The Kentucky Panthers halted the blond bomber by assigning two players to "sew him up," which they did successfully. It appeared the Mountaineers from Emmitsburg were well on their way to another triumph when they rushed off to a 31-19 advantage mid-way in the opening half, but then the Panthers came to life and chopped away at the Blue and White lead, trailing only 43-39 at intermission.

The Panthers really got rolling and poured 28 points through in the first nine minutes of the second half to take a 67-57 lead. Trailing Sullivan in point production for the locals was Burt Sheing, with 17, Jack Marshall with 13 and Big Big Williams with 12.

Down Los Angeles In Final

The Mounts rang down the curtain on its best season in history by defeating Los Angeles State, 82-72 Friday evening to top third place in the NCAA small college tournament, as Jack Sullivan, senior, closed his collegiate career in a blaze of glory by ripping the cords for 43 points. Sullivan shattered his own tourney and Municipal Stadium record of 39 points established against Rider College last week with his 14 goals and 15 of 18 free throws. His output for the three games is 101 points.

The 6'4 ace wound up his brilliant career with a total of 1,070 points in 32 games this season and a four-year production record of 2,617 in 102 contests.

Wheaton Champions

Wheaton, Ill., won the tourney championship by drubbing Kentucky Wesleyan 89-65. The triumph was a fitting climax to a sensational season for the Mount, the smallest school to gain admittance to the tournament.

Phelan Record Stands Out

Under Jim Phelan the Mountaineers swept to an unprecedented fourth straight Mason-Dixon Conference title and concluded with an over-all log of 27-5. They had a 21-game winning streak, the longest in the college's history, until upset Thursday by Kentucky Wesleyan.

During his three years as head coach at the Mount, Jim Phelan's teams have compiled an enviable record of 70-17. With the exception of Sullivan, Coach Phelan will have his squad intact for next season.

Many Receive Polio Shots At Clinic Here

Free polio shots were given to 135 children and adults on Tuesday morning at the Polio Clinic in the American Legion Post Home, Emmitsburg. The clinics will be held each third Tuesday of the month until further notice.

The quota for the April clinic has been reached, but appointments for May and later months may be made by contacting Mrs. Charles B. Shorb on Wednesday afternoons only, from 1 to 5 p. m.

Thurmont residents may contact Miss Miriam Deitz on Mondays through Thursday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Only adults between the ages of 20 and 40 years, who wish the free shots, are required to have a medical care card. These cards must be obtained from the Health Dept. in Frederick.

Works With Air Force

Mr. Robert W. Miller, Federal Avenue, reported for duty with the Air Force on March 11 at the Dover Air Force Base. Mr. Miller will act as general repairman on all types of planes at the base. He was assigned to the 1607 Field Squadron and will move to Seaford, Delaware in the near future.

ATTENTION

All persons are urged to send the names and addresses of their out-of-town relatives and friends, who may wish to attend the Emmitsburg Bicentennial Celebration, to Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, chairman of the Invitations Committee, so that an invitation with a list of events may be sent to them.

READER OPPOSES CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I have been following with interest and concern the arguments in your pages concerning the proposed school consolidation. Like Mrs. Walker, I have no vested interest in the outcome rather than in being an alumnus of Emmitsburg High School, which, for sentimental reasons, I would rather not see become extinct. But sentimental reasons are not those I wish to propose in favor of Emmitsburg keeping its own high school.

First, I believe that a school should be a part of the community which it serves. If our schools are second-rate, then we can improve them if we have the will to do so, but I seriously doubt that the answer is consolidation with a school in another community. I do not think that the arguments for mass production and accommodation are valid when applied to the school situation. True, a larger number of students can be processed through an efficient, well-equipped plant, but is this what schools are for? I don't believe so. A school is not a factory for processing the most students at the least tangible cost. A school is an institution for the education and development of the individual. Individual attention is essential to this development. People do not come in standard models, with standard talents to be developed. If we are fortunate enough to give our students attention in the Emmitsburg High School, let's keep this advantage, which is rapidly disappearing from the American educational scene.

Second, if Emmitsburg wishes to obtain new industry and to expand, it must keep in mind that local school facilities are an important factor to a management when it is looking for a new plant location. Since both Emmitsburg and Thurmont have approximately equal populations, labor supply, tax structure, etc., a comparison between the two towns by a business seeking a location in this area might result in Thurmont being chosen, if Emmitsburg had no high school. Thus, in the long run, Emmitsburg tax dollars might contribute to the expansion of Thurmont at the expense of Emmitsburg.

Third, let's remember that the "experts" are not always right, as Mr. Paul Beale would have us believe. The fact is that the school superintendents do not "know more than us (sic) farmers and businessmen what is best for our children and our community." It is not the American way for to have experts tell us what to do; it is the American way for the people of the community to consider the facts and to reach their own decision.

The people of Emmitsburg must decide what they want! I hope they will make up their own minds and not have "experts" decide for them what is the best thing to do.

J. W. KERRIGAN, JR.

Town Growing Slightly

The population of Emmitsburg is unofficially 1275, an increase of 14 over the last government census taken in 1950.

Burgess C. G. Frailey, who has been in charge of a door-to-door census, announced these figures recently. It is understood that only persons living within the small corporate limits were counted.

The figures indicate there has been little change in the total population of the town in the last 25 years. The 1930 government census gave 1255. This figure went up to 1413 in 1940, but dropped to 1261 10 years later.

The Emmitsburg Election District No. 5 population is more than 4500.

An epizootic of hog cholera was controlled in Germany by mass vaccination with crystal violet vaccine, U. S. veterinary authorities report.

OBITUARIES

MRS. F. H. ORNDORFF

Mrs. Mary Ellen Kaas Orndorff, 84, wife of the late Francis H. Orndorff, died at her home near Rocky Ridge last Sunday evening at 8:45 o'clock. She was the daughter of the late John and Ellen Keefer Kaas. She was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, and the Sodality and Altar Society of the church.

Nine children survive: Miss Ruth Orndorff, Baltimore; Maurice Orndorff, Emmitsburg; Charles Orndorff, Altoona; Mrs. Viola Hemler, Thurmont; Mrs. Alice McGlaughlin, Emmitsburg; Miss Catherine Orndorff, Lancaster; Mrs. Bernadette Kaas, Thurmont; Mrs. Evelyn Hartdagen, Emmitsburg, and John Orndorff, Rocky Ridge. Thirty-two grandchildren, 40 great grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anthony's Church, Emmitsburg, with the Rev. Vincent Tomalski officiating. Interment in St. Anthony's Shrine Cemetery. S. L. Allison, Emmitsburg, funeral director.

GEORGE H. MILLER

George H. Miller, 66, E. Main St., a retired farmer, died at the Warner Hospital Tuesday evening at 8:25 o'clock.

A native of Frederick County, he was a son of the late George W. and Emma Jane (Harbaugh) Miller and was a member of the Emmitsburg Reformed Church. He was unmarried.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Chester Ohler, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Edward Fleagle, Rocky Ridge, and Miss Ora Miller, Emmitsburg. Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon (Friday) at 2 o'clock at the Allison Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, with his pastor, the Rev. Edmund Welker, officiating. Interment in Mountview Cemetery, Emmitsburg.

MRS. MARK E. TRONE

Mrs. Ethel Glenn Trone, 66, widow of Mark E. Trone, was found dead at 9:40 a. m. Tuesday seated at her desk in the jewelry store she operated at 44 Baltimore Street, Hanover, Pa., the past nine years.

Mrs. Trone, a native of North Carolina, was believed to have left her second-floor apartment in the building earlier in the morning to do some work in the store as had been a custom in recent years. She had been ill the past four months.

Upon the death of her husband May 9, 1948, Mrs. Trone took over full operation of the store. Prior to that she was associated with her husband in the business.

The importance of bovine leptospirosis (Well's disease in man) is exceeded only by mastitis, tuberculosis and brucellosis, veterinary authorities report.

NOTICE—FOR MEN ONLY!

Rise ye men of Emmitsburg: You have nothing to lose but your razors; nothing to lose but your every morning shaving blues. Ah, and think of the gain! Months of gilette-free, brushless pleasure with nothing to do but daily nurse a growth of fine whiskers into the beauty of a full-grown beard. And the ladies—they will love you the more for it. In the days of wooden ships and iron men, a man was a real man, only when he had a beard!

MEN OF EMMITSBURG: Attend the mass meeting at the VFW on Monday evening, March 25 and learn the joys of no longer being "a little shaver." Time, 8:30 p. m. Speakers and no-shaving advice all FREE! Come and learn how to give your shaving career the brush!

And incidentally, we can all plan to join the fun of the forthcoming Bicentennial celebration. How many towns do you suppose there are in this broad land of ours having 200 years of history? Don't miss this exciting kick-off of the Bicentennial Beard Contest!

INTEGRATION IN COUNTY SCHOOLS THIS FALL

Elementary and secondary public schools of Frederick City and County at which there will be integration on all grade levels starting with the new school year in September were announced Monday by the Frederick County Board of Education.

At the same time, the board listed some schools which will be integrated at certain grade levels and other schools which will continue as schools for Negro children during the 1957-58 school year.

The board announced that the Frederick Community College will be open to students of all races upon its establishment in September.

The announcement said physical facilities for the city and county public schools in the future will be planned with the purpose of establishing racially non-discriminatory schools throughout the county.

The action was taken at a special meeting of the board last Friday night to determine the policy on racial non-discrimination for the 1957-58 school year.

These schools, the announcement said, will be integrated at all grade levels with all children, regardless of race, residing in the prescribed attendance area of the appropriate schools, to be enrolled in that school.

Elementary: Catocin Furnace, Emmitsburg, Foxville, Jefferson, Levistown, Liberty, Middletown, Myersville, New Midway, New Thurmont, North Frederick, Parkway, Point of Rocks, Sabillasville, Thurmont, Walkersville, Woodsboro, Wolfsville, and Yellow Springs.

Secondary (junior and senior high schools): Emmitsburg, Liberty, Thurmont, and Walkersville.

Grange Witnesses Interesting Farm Program

Twenty-two members and eight guests were present at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange held Wednesday night in the Public School.

Applications for membership were received from Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gillespie, Bernard Welty, Edward Meadows and Edward Smith were appointed to a committee to approve the new members. Richard Florence a former master of the Grange, is leaving Emmitsburg to become district manager of the Jamestown, New York office of the National Grange Insurance Co., around the first of April. The Grange wished Mr. Florence success on his new assignment and thanked him for his splendid work while with the local Grange.

Mr. Eugene Long has taken the duties of Mr. Florence in the local 4-H Club and will assist Norman Shriver with the project.

Master Harry Swomley asked all members to return their applications for new members as soon as possible. He asked as many as possible to attend the Youth meeting Thursday night in Walkersville and to remember Friendship Night at Linganore on April 1.

Mr. Mehrle Remsburg, County Commissioner, gave a short talk and invited all members to drop in at the Commissioners' office in Frederick for a visit. He said they are always ready to lend assistance and have open minds to the suggestions of the people of Frederick County. Mr. Remsburg stressed the need for schools in Frederick County and said that new type schools can be built at a faster pace and more economically than the conventional brick type building. The Commissioners think well of the type of school building the Mother Seton School is.

A very interesting program was in charge of the Thurmont Cooperative, and was sincerely appreciated by all present. Robert A. Richter, Harvey Wonder, and P. C. Blower of the Ultra Life Laboratories, gave an interesting talk on internal culling, protein amounts for chicken feed and stressed the need of keeping daily records on poultry. Mr. W. F. Cramer emphasized the importance of protein content in dairy feeding. He recommended 14% or 15% protein with good silage and roughage. Refreshments were enjoyed by all and were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Carrie Hess and Mrs. Helen Swomley.

Mr. Albert Halbur, Wisconsin, and recently discharged from the Army at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., visited this week with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Hahn who were formerly stationed at the same base.

Commissioners Back C. of C. On School Stand

The Frederick County Commissioners expressed their feelings that the local Public School should remain in Emmitsburg and its curricula be expanded in a letter written to the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce this week.

The letter was read at the regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce held Monday night in the Fire Hall, President Curtis R. Bucher presiding. The letter further stated that the Commissioners would act as a liaison between the people of Emmitsburg, the Chamber of Commerce and the County Board of Education should the Chamber desire their services.

The Commissioners' letter was in answer to a plea the Chamber of Commerce made to that group recently seeking their help in preventing any consolidation plans with Thurmont High School.

The Chamber discussed several means of raising revenue for its community work but decided that all effort at this time should be expended in behalf of the Bicentennial. Col. Thomas J. Frailey reported he had been appointed chairman of the Bicentennial Invitation Committee and asked all members who had friends and relatives living away from Emmitsburg, to submit their names and addresses to him as he is compiling an invitation list and will mail out letters inviting these former Emmitsburgians to attend the Bicentennial, in the near future. President Bucher and Mayor C. G. Frailey will act as a committee to have the welcome sign on the Waynesboro Road relocated. Arthur Elder was appointed acting secretary to fill the unexpired term of the present officer who resigned.

All members of the Chamber are urged to be present at the next meeting in April when the annual nomination of officers will take place.

A letter from the Glen Burnie Chamber of Commerce urging support of a bill now in the State Legislature, was read. The bill would compel the State Roads Commission to name all of its future bypasses as alternate routes which would result in retaining some of the flow of traffic through the bypassed towns, thereby cushioning the blow to local merchants' business. The $5 draw prize was won by Ralph D. Lindsey. A thank-you note from Ed Smith, Sr. was received expressing appreciation as the recipient of one of the Christmas decorating contest winners.

FIELD FIRE
The Vigilant Hose Co. quickly extinguished a large field fire on the Sewell property about a mile and a half south of town early Sunday afternoon. The fire had gained considerable headway before being discovered and burned approximately 10 acres of grass before it was extinguished.

SULLIVAN IS MAN OF RECORDS

Current NCAA records reveal that Jack Sullivan, of Mt. St. Mary's College, now ranks third in all-time collegiate scoring with a total of 2617 points. Hopkins, of Grambling, is the leader with 3759 set in 1956, while Hartman, Alderson-Broadus, wound up with 2959 in 1955.

It is believed that Sullivan's four-year total, his 25.6 per game average over the same period, and 1070 points during the recent campaign, place him third, sixth, and fourth, respectively, among the all-time greats.

Sullivan established two NCAA post season marks. His 185 tallies in five games erased Hal Lear's mark of 160 in 1956 and his average of 37 per game wiped out the former mark of Clyde Lovellette, 35.3, set with Kansas in 1952. In scoring 43 points against Los Angeles State last week, he fell five points short of Lear's output for Temple against Southern Methodist last year.

Among Maryland state records rewritten by Sullivan are: Career, 2617; three-year total, 2186 career average per game, 25.6; single season average (1957), 33.4; Mason - Dixon Conference, 417 points and 32.1 average.

Builders' Show Now Underway In Gettysburg

The Gettysburg Exchange Club's 4th annual builders' show got underway yesterday with a new high in opening-day attendance. The show will continue today and tomorrow (Friday and Saturday) in the Hotel Gettysburg Press Room, next to the Majestic Theatre.

President of the Exchange Club, Richard Shaffer, said it is the biggest show in the history of the event with 38 booths displaying the wares of some 30 firms.

Every phase of the building trade is represented, and there are extensive displays of home improvements and appliances.

The show is open Friday from 7:30 to 11 p. m. and on Saturday from 2 to 11 p. m. Admission is free.

The big drawing for prizes will be held Saturday night but hourly during each evening of the show there will be drawings for special prizes that are being donated by participating merchants.

Last year's attendance record of more than 5000 show visitors is expected to be broken by this year's attractions.

The principal prizes this year are a $150 gift certificate, a $100 gift certificate, a $75 and a $50 gift certificate. Any of the gift certificates are redeemable at the business place of any of the show exhibitors.

The purpose of the builders' show is to raise funds for the Exchange Club to continue its community service projects. Since the club was chartered seven years ago—March, 1950—it has contributed to many community undertakings in addition to annual fund

Weekly Newspapers Show Growth

Weekly newspapers today are the fastest-growing publications in the U. S., Time Magazine said recently in a special report.

"Metropolitan newsmen who daydream of retiring to a country paper have long viewed the weeklies more as a rural retreat than as an influential segment of the press," Time says. "But with the swift growth of suburbs and small towns since World War II, weeklies have largely shed their cracker-barrel ways, developed sophistication and a new sense of mission."

Editorial Vitality

Weekly Newspaper Representatives, Inc. recently reported that 8,478 weeklies in the U. S. in 1956 reached a paid circulation peak of 18,529,199, up 6.5% over 1955. Estimated gain for the 1700 dailies (total circulation more than 56 million); about 2%. Advertising in weeklies increased 1.2% to a record $112 million; this includes a 30% jump to $25 million in national ads since '54 versus an estimated 10% gain for dailies.

"The weeklies' resurgence reflects editorial as well as economic vitality," Time says. "In addition to relaying the back-fence chit-chat on which weeklies have traditionally thrived, the papers are the only interpreters and watchdogs of local governments in hundreds of U. S. communities, whose problems, aims and achievements go largely unrecorded in the metropolitan press."

Professional Standards

According to one editor, weeklies "are giving back the home town" to suburbanites who have lost contact with community responsibilities. In many areas, fast-growing suburbs have produced weekly and semi-weekly chains that are as slick in appearance and informative in content as their city cousins.

"Even outside metropolitan areas," says Time, "most small-town weeklies . . . have thrown out the smug type and bumpkin prose that once characterized the weekly press, now run staff-written stories and editorials instead of the boiler-plate and canned sermons that once crammed country papers. The old-time jack-of-all-trades country editor has been largely supplanted by trained staffs. Lured out of the cities by the prospect of editorial and economic independence, trained newsmen in increasing numbers are bringing professional standards to weekly newspapering."

Crusading Spirit

Though once renowned for their timidity, many weeklies have developed the crusading spirit that has vanished from many a fat-cat daily, Time notes. "In the South, many weeklies have consistently taken a more liberal stand than the region's big dailies on the touchy desegregation issue . . .

"Since weeklies are closer than dailies to readers and advertisers and more vulnerable to the pressure of advertisers, they are often hit by economic boycotts. But few editors cave in under such threats—or worse. In Granite City, Ill., after Editor Cornelius E. Townsend had waged an editorial campaign against organized gambling in the community, a hoodlum recently empties his revolver into Townsend's Press-Record office. Echoing many a fighting editor before him, Townsend said: 'Maybe they'll scare hell out of me someday and I'll quit. But I don't think so.'"

Business going to the dogs grosses $1 billion annually.

Man Is Fined In Death Of Farmer

Chief Judge James E. Boylan, Jr., imposed a sentence last Friday during sessions of the Circuit Court for Carroll County at Westminster.

John Leonard Glacken, Baltimore, who was indicted for assault and battery, and not manslaughter, in the fatal accident of Rudelle Crum, Keymar, was sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction for two years and fined $250. The sentence was suspended and the fine and costs paid.

Crum, a dairy farmer, died of injuries received in a scuffle with an altercation with Glacken when the farmer ordered Glacken's hunting party off Crum's land last November. The farmer's head struck railroad tracks and he died the same day in a Baltimore hospital. A jury had exonerated Glacken of manslaughter charges.

Mickey Mantle has a lifetime batting average of .308.

Inquest Date Is Set

An inquest into the death of three Krouse Foods employees in an auto accident Jan. 22 on the Sunshine Trail will be held Tuesday afternoon, Mar. 26, at Waynesboro, Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, announced this week.

Dr. Crist and Franklin County Coroner J. D. Goshen will officiate at the joint Adams-Franklin County inquest to be held at 4 o'clock in the Grove Funeral Home, Waynesboro.

The inquest was delayed until the present time because of the serious injury of two women in the auto who will be principal witnesses.

Three fatally injured were Mrs. Grace Hamilton Ott, 72, Pen Mar; Mrs. Daisy B. Debrick, 51, Pen Mar, and Mrs. Anna F. Watson, 28, Blue Ridge Summit.

The water ouzel can fly under water and against the current for 30 seconds or more.

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

Washington—Reduction in the cost of government continues to dominate Capital Hill talk. But the recent action of the House in requesting the President to indicate the places and amounts where substantial cuts could be made is hardly the way to trim the budget. Fact is the House, in a misguided political maneuver, has further reduced its control over the public purse and has clearly abdicated its congressional authority.

Final responsibility for Federal spending policy rests with the people who, in our form of government, are sovereign. They must decide the areas in which Federal spending can be postponed or curtailed, and it is the House of Representatives' constitutional duty to carry out those decisions. I am encouraged by the number of individuals in the 6th Maryland District who write me that they are willing to forego some benefits if it will mean a reduction in the cost of government and a subsequent cut in tax rates.

Atomic energy as a supplemental source of industrial power is becoming more important every day. I am happy to report that Rep. W. Sterling Cole of New York has introduced a measure designed to foster the growth of the private development of atomic power. The bill would also aid American builders of nuclear power plants and equipment in competing with other countries for foreign markets.

Through the efforts of Senator

Beall and myself, final approval for the Little Youghieny Watershed Project has been granted by the Senate and House Agriculture Committees. Residents of Garrett County will be pleased to learn that their project will soon be under way.

The Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, has recently been debating the so-called Civil Rights bill in an effort to clarify its meaning. The attempt in Committee has been to come out with a bill providing legal procedure for enforcement of rights to which citizens are entitled under the Constitution.

I have introduced a bill which would permit the flying of the United States flag 24 hours a day at the birthplace of Francis Scott Key in Carroll County, and over his grave in Mount Olivet Cemetery in Frederick. Senators Butler and Beall and Congressman Devereux have introduced identical bills.

Ministers Eligible For Social Security In April

"April 15, 1957, is an important deadline date for ministers who wish to elect social security coverage but have not yet done so," W. S. King, district manager, Social Security Administration, said today. This election of coverage applies only to ministers who are performing services in the exercise of their ministry, to members of religious orders who are performing services required by the order, and to Christian Science practitioners, and poverty oath.

In order to elect this social security coverage, those who wish to participate should file a completed Form 2031 (Waiver Certificate) with the District Director of Internal Revenue. These forms may be obtained from the Internal Revenue or from the Social Security Office, 74 West Washington Street, in Hagerstown. These forms must be filed on or before April 15, 1957, for ministers and others eligible to participate who were ordained or licensed before 1955 and who have had net earnings of $400 or more in 1955 and 1956, any part of which was derived from service as a minister or member of a religious order. Any such clergyman or other eligible participant who does not elect coverage on or before April 15, 1957, cannot in the future elect such coverage. "The law provides that the waiver certificate must be filed on or before the due date of the Federal Income tax return for the second taxable year ending after 1954 for which a minister has net earnings of $400 or more, any part of which was derived from the performance of services as a minister or as a member of a religious order," King said.

Clergymen who wish to elect coverage should obtain a social security account number card at once so that the social security number can be shown on the waiver certificate. Applications for the numbers can be obtained from the Social Security Office in Hagerstown or from any post office.

Once an individual elects to be covered, he must continue to report his earnings and pay the social security tax every year in which he has net earnings of $400 or more from services performed in the exercise of his ministry. This optional coverage of ministers and members of religious orders is applicable whether they perform services as employees or as self-employed individuals. For example, the salary paid by a

Contractors Meet

Thirty two local electrical contractors, builders and bankers met recently at the Taney Inn in an congregation to its minister will be considered for social security purposes as self-employment income, and if the minister elects coverage, this income (up to $4,200 in a year) will count for social security purposes.

A minister who elects coverage will pay a social security tax of 3 percent of his earnings for 1956. The tax does not apply to net earnings in excess of $4,200 in a year. The tax goes up to 3 3/8 percent for 1957 earnings.

other in the series of electrical contractor meetings sponsored by the Potomac Edison Company.

This meeting was a follow-up to a similar meeting held here last November and was held for the purpose of putting final approval on the various phases of a Certified Wiring Program which has been developed through the cooperation of local electrical contractors and the Potomac Edison Company.

This Certified Wiring Program, as finally approved at the meeting, is aimed at providing safe, adequate, and efficient electrical service for the customer and will include the issuing of a Certified Wiring Certificate to home owners whose dwellings meet the standards established.

During the recent meeting here, the various requirements of the Certified Wiring Program were discussed, and suggestions and recommendations were made to be incorporated into the final program which will be released to the public about April 1.

Those attending the meeting were also presented with the various advertising and promotional materials which have been developed for use by the contractors, bankers, and builders in connection with the Certified Wiring Program.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the showing of a kinescope of a specially closed circuit telecast recently sponsored by the "Live Better . . . Electrically" program. This film showed the success of the "Live Better . . . Electrically" campaign throughout the nation in the past year and told what's ahead for the future in this market development campaign.

Rounding out the program for the evening was a unique demonstration which has been devised for presentation before local civic clubs and organizations. This demonstration graphically and dramatically illustrates the results and causes of inadequate wiring.

C. D. Lyon, G. O. Mullan, J. F. Smith of The Potomac Edison Company's Commercial Department presented the various portions of the program.

District Manager S. E. Breth of the Taneytown District presided at the meeting.

Ten different species of disease carrying insects have now developed immunity to insecticides which used to kill them.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 8

Start Now to Plan Next Year's Tax

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Maryland Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Often the greatest tax savings are to be made during the year by planning your decisions with tax considerations in mind, rather than at the end of the year when you have your tax form in hand.

Here are some possibilities for reducing your tax which you can't do anything about after the end of the tax year, but which might reduce next year's tax return:

(1) If you are providing nearly half the support of someone who might qualify as a dependent, consider providing more than half so you will be entitled to the $600 exemption. The extra amount you contribute may be less than the tax savings.

(2) Remember that unless a dependent is under 19 or a full-time student, you will lose the exemption if his income is $600 or more. Be sure to check the income of everyone you expect to claim as a dependent.

(3) If you are planning to be married, a wedding before midnight December 31, 1957, will give you the privilege of filing a joint return for 1957. This probably would result in substantial tax saving.

(4) A baby born before midnight, December 31, qualifies as an exemption for the full year.

(5) If your medical expenses are likely to be over 3% of your income this year and you expect them to be less next year, pay as many medical bills as possible before the end of the year, up to the maximum allowable deduction. If you borrow to do this, remember that you can also deduct the interest.

(6) If your medical expenses are over the maximum deduction, perhaps you can defer part of the payment until after the end of the year.

(7) Borrowing to pay your taxes can sometimes let you take the deduction a year earlier.

(Final Article of the Series.)

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Titus 3:1-9.

The kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared. (Titus 3:4.)

One autumn I was making an evangelistic tour in Mesopotamia. Entering a village, I asked its name. The answer was "Shakar Khach," meaning "Sugar Cross." When I visited the village, it was inhabited entirely by non-Christians. Adverse and withering storms of hatred and vengeance have been as a scourge upon that territory.

But what a suggestive name for a town—"Sugar Cross!" The name suggests that at one time the village was inhabited by Christians. It suggests that they found joy in their walk with Christ. It implies that they knew the sweet and precious significance of the cross on which the kindness and love of God were revealed to all mankind—and all on account of our sins!

By the way of the cross of Christ, God's love answers man's need. Only by the way of the cross it is possible to enrich the relationships between persons, families, and nations.

Prayer

O God, we praise Thee for so many witnesses who through untold sufferings and troubles have stood faithful to Thee and tested

Lincoln's Home Preserved

Abraham Lincoln's home in Springfield, Ill. Double-hung wood windows are similar to windows of ponderosa pine used widely in new homes all over the nation today.

years ago, the wood is still in good condition, requiring only an occasional coat of paint to keep them that way. It's also interesting to note that double-hung windows of ponderosa pine are still the most popular type of wood window in use today.

Double-hung wood windows have been improved greatly since Lincoln's day. Old-style, rattling sash weights are gone, replaced by compact mechanical balances concealed in the frame. Weatherstripping is built in, and the ponderosa pine wood is treated chemically to resist moisture.

far as pheasant. His scent is extremely attractive to pointing breeds.

This quail holder consists simply of two simple pens made of hardware cloth on a frame of wooden posts two inches square. One pen is placed directly on top of the other. The top pen is two feet high, three feet wide and eight feet long. One end of this pen is boarded in for shelter in inclement weather. The bottom pen is of the same dimensions, except for the length, which is six feet. Ten quail, the callers, are usually placed in the top pen. Ten birds, on which he wishes to work his dogs, are placed in the bottom pen. By a trap-door device all birds can be placed in one pen, when desired. This arrangement of pens can be varied by placing them end to end.

Two wire funnels are built into the sides of the lower pen. To allow them to become thoroughly familiar with the pens, the birds are kept confined and are fed in the pens several days before any attempt is made to use them for training purposes. When the bottom pen is opened the birds flush, settle, and the training session begins. Afterward, the quail in the top pen call back the released birds. It works!

Would Lift Controls On Imports Of Baler Twine

Defense Mobilizer Arthur Fleming has followed the Farm Bureau recommendation not to place restriction on the imports of binder and baler twine. Farm Bureau pointed out that restrictions would increase the cost to farmers and hamper trade relations with foreign countries that are purchasing farm commodities.

In making the decision after an 18 month study, Dr. Arthur Fleming, Office of Defense Mobilization said, "It has been Congressional policy, on economic grounds, to exempt baler and binder twine from import restriction. I believe the executive branch should not take action contrary to this policy where threatened impairment of the national security is not clearly established."

The Cordage Institute charged they were being hurt by imports which were damaging the industry's mobilization potential.

Action by the Office of Defense Mobilization at the request of Farm Bureau will mean thousands of dollars saved in twine costs.

"Many a taxpayer, we think, would favor a different way of preparing and presenting budgets. The new rule would be that unless a substantial tax cut can be offered, there must be no tantalizing mention of unprecended revenues and sizeable surpluses. It's like dangling a juicy steak before the eyes of a starving man and then yanking it away."

—Schenectady, N. Y., Gazette

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Population
Babson Park, Mass., March 21 —In 1950, our U. S. population was about 150,000,000. Today we are 170,000,000 strong and the prospect is that our rapid expansion in numbers will continue. The 20,000,000 more Americans added since 1950 are equivalent to twice the present population of the six New England states!

Tremendous Growth Ahead
I am told that a baby is born in this country every eight seconds, and that, if present rates of increase continue, we could well have a population of 220,000,000 by 1975. This huge gain means that demand prospects for our products are good. Each new birth, each immigrant, and each person living a longer life than had previously been considered normal, adds to the potential demand that American manufacturers and merchants can attempt to satisfy.

This growth in population far exceeds earlier predictions. I well remember the experts telling us in the depression days of the thirties that the U. S. population would hit a peak—probably around 1980—and then decline. As I recall it, they thought that the peak might be around 154,000,000—a mark we actually passed about five years ago!

What About Our Labor Force?
The current boom in people is the result of an unexpectedly high birth rate and a steadily declining mortality. Modern medicine conquers many of the diseases which in the past have cut life short. Thus the area of our greatest population gain is, among the very young and among our senior citizens. The adults who form the labor force are a decreasing segment of the total population. That being the case, we should be more concerned about labor-management relations in future years. I forecast that labor-force growth may continue to lag the total population rise to an increasing degree during the next twenty years. This widening gap will create problems for management except as the automatic factory becomes a factor in the situation. This is especially true if the too small a proportion of the labor force possess the scientific and engineering skills required to keep us abreast of technological developments.

Instead of paying too much attention to the expensive frills of education (as we do now), we need to encourage high school boys and girls to become scientists, chemists, and engineers, as well as economists, business managers, merchants, and teachers. We ought to find out whether our schools are actually doing the type of educational job that needs to be done. If we do not mend our ways in this respect, we shall pay dearly in coming years for our foolishness.

Will More People Mean More Sales?

Growth in population suggests a rising demand for products and services. However, we should not be too quick to assume that this increase will always be translated into actual buying power. Much will depend on the economic conditions during the years ahead.

More people will not necessarily mean more sales if the government does not curb its spending. Such spending makes for highly progressive taxes which undermine profits and cripple business incentive. Neither will more people mean more sales unless we are able to adjust as a nation to the vast changes which are ahead. I have in mind the further development of atomic power, automation, speedier transport, and other new manufacturing and marketing techniques. Mere bigness in numbers and in potential resources will not assure our prosperity. Hence, my repeated emphasis on the need for more religious training of our children.

Are There Too Many People?

Our rapid population growth scares some folks. They fear we cannot produce enough food for all these people. I do not share those fears. We have learned during and since World War II how to step up our crop yields levels not dreamed of a generation ago. We now have food and feed surpluses. Irrigation and phosphate can produce miracles.

Surely more people in future years may well solve our current farm problem of over-production. In fact, I forecast that the time is not far distant when we shall be eager to increase our farm output. We will step up our crop yields to new record highs through an intelligent use of irrigation and fertilizer and other soil and crop builders. I am optimistic about the future of American farmers.

Personal Health

Be A Man!

I once knew a little girl who was determined she'd grow up to be a boy. She cropped her hair, threw away her dolls, carried a dead snake in the pocket of her jeans, and finally broke her arm taking a dare. A kindly doctor convinced her that there are advantages to being a female, and that she'd certainly live longer.

It's hard to be a man. The American boy learns at an early age that he must live, work, and play harder than the girls. He must take every dare. He mustn't feel cold or show pain. He mustn't cry. He has to show everyone he can take it.

Aside from a few broken limbs and bad colds, he usually survives the ordeal. His parents manage to protect him somewhat. His mother gets him to button up his coat and wear rubbers once in awhile. But the cult of manliness stays with him as he grows older. He has to show that he can work right through the night, match the other fellows drink for drink, get along without a vacation, be his own doctor, do just as many push-ups at 45 as he could at 25, drive himself to exhaustion because it's the "manly" thing to do.

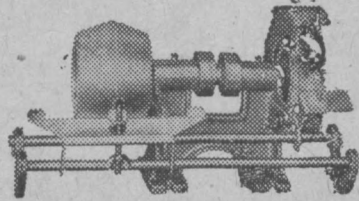

The health of the man of the family is taken for granted. He's supposed to be big and strong—even though statistics show his wife will outlive him by about four years. It's been well said that the American man doesn't die; he kills himself.

The alert and tactful wife can do a lot to protect her man against the worst evils of "being a man." She can help him keep a youthful figure by serving him carefully planned meals. She can help him tailor his exercise and other recreation to his physical resources. She can get him to the family doctor for a regular check-up, even if it's only as an example to the children. She can create the atmosphere of relaxation at home that he needs after the annoyances and frustrations of his working day.

It may take some convincing, but it's worth it if she wants to keep her husband.

Looking Ahead

...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Communist Danger Increasing!
Not many people in the United States ever have come face to face with a person who proclaims: "I'm a Communist. I'm an enemy of the United States. I am working to undermine this nation's strength and overthrow it, and establish a Communist dictatorship backed by the Red Army." No, the Communists in America don't openly declare their true mission. And they are not like the classic picture of the radical, with beard, shaggy hair, tattered clothes and a bomb held poised in the right hand.

Most of the top people in Washington were shocked when Alger Hiss, a young "liberal" with aristocratic bearing and excellent social connections, was exposed as a Communist. And yet the truly important Communists in America today have built up just such false character of respectability around themselves. It is difficult to identify them as Communists. They have wormed themselves into positions of trust in every phase of our American society. They wield great power. And yet many American citizens simply will not accept this fact.

"20 Combat Divisions"
"Anyone who thinks Communism in the United States no longer constitutes a serious menace should consider that at this moment on American soil are the equivalent of 20 combat divisions of enemy troops engaging in propaganda, espionage, subversion — and loyal only to the Soviet Union." This statement is an excerpt from the annual report of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, one of our Government's best informed agencies combatting Communist subversion.

"The danger of Communism is increasing, not receding," emphasized the Committee, composed of five Democrat and four Republican Congressmen. "The United States remains the major target of Soviet aggression: indifference to the Kremlin's avowed program of global conquest can only lead to the inevitable destruction of our free institutions, and ourselves as a free nation." This new report, of the Committee's 1956 work, its findings, and its recommendations for strengthening the nation's security can be obtained by writing your Congressman.

Using Good Citizens
The strategy of the "20 combat divisions of enemy troops" is the indirect attack. The Red master - minds found long ago they could not entice enough Americans with their undiluted Socialist economics and anti-God philosophy. So they quit their soap-box oratory and, in the thousands, infiltrated every activity of our economic, governmental and social life. They became influential "progressive" citizens, not advocating Communism or Socialism but gently guiding unsuspecting groups of loyal Americans into actions undermining the strength of our nation.

The Un-American Activities Committee annual report said that it had uncovered "a mammoth nationwide campaign of political subversion designed to paralyze the security programs of the executive and legislative branches of the United States Government." One of the key security agencies is the Subversive Activities Control Board which has the power to designate any Communist-front organization as subversive, when sufficient evidence is collected, and thus render it useless to the Reds.

Trickery And Deceit

In underhand, roundabout ways, the Communists have been trying to destroy the Subversive Activities Control Board. The Communist Party itself openly challenged the constitutionality of the Board. Then it began to swing its hundreds of "fronts" into action, drawing thousands of non-Communists into the agitation against the Board. One of the instruments which the Reds used in an attempt to sway the Supreme Court justices was an "amicus curiae" (friend of the court) brief filed with the Court.

The lawyer who filed the brief told the Court that the petitioners who signed it comprise "a group of prominent American citizens, none of whom is a Communist." The un-American Activities Committee investigated and exposed this statement as "a deliberate attempt to deceive the Court." The Committee found that 26 of the signers had been identified in sworn testimony as secret Communists, that most of the other signers had extensive Communist front affiliations. But the most important fact is that among the signers were indeed many prominent American citizens who are not Communists — permitting themselves to be used to tear down our security measures against the Communist conspiracy!

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A billion dollars a year is a lot of retail business. Probably number of giant retail chains doing this volume could be counted on one hand.

Yet armed forces post exchange system is reputedly now doing over billion dollars yearly. Efforts are being made in present Congress to approve them handling even larger scope of merchandise.

If successful, it is possible that armed services could be operating largest discount house chain in nation.

Among many new items sought to sell are automotive tires, batteries, accessories; men's sport coats and others.

Post Exchanges were started to sell what was known as necessity and comfort items such as tobacco, candy, tooth brushes and so on. During war they expanded and have kept going handling many luxury and semi-luxury items, including such diverse ones as nylons and golf clubs.

All items are sold substantially below prices in nearby civilian stores. Of course, overhead is very low. While armed forces hire civilian personnel to man stores paid out of profits, they are supervised by tax-paid military personnel. And while admirals and generals have long argued operations cost government nothing, there is considerable doubt as to who pays for such overhead items as rent, light, heat, other items.

In addition, the stores pay no income taxes, or state taxes, including local sales taxes. Thus, on tax front alone, they can undersell independent retailers.

Of course, at Pentagon argument is raised that government operated cut-rate stores are an adjunct to military pay, helping offset military pay deficiencies.

Whether or not military pay is deficient is not issue here. Assuming that it is deficient the question is raised as to why this deficiency should be taken out of the hides of independent retailers who are also paying taxes to support system, that puts cut-throat competition in their midst.

Undoubtedly, armed forces instead of buying from American farmer, could buy food much cheaper in foreign lands and perhaps use some of these savings to make up any possible pay deficiencies. Or on defense projects, American labor could be supplanted by much cheaper foreign workers. In other words, there seems little justice that nation's independent retailers should bear the brunt of keeping up the morale of the armed forces, if that really is the issue involved. This is discrimination.

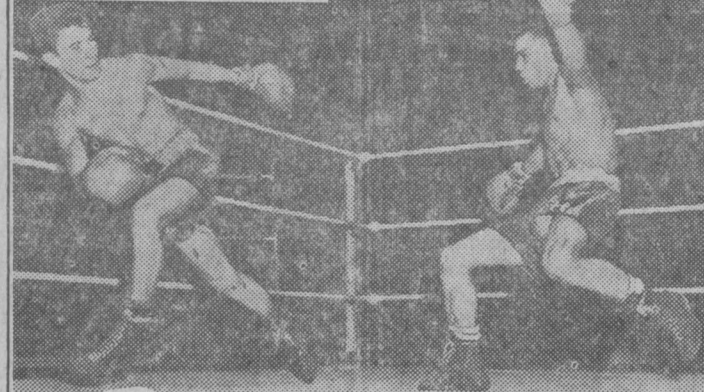

There is also strong suspicion that cut-rate goods in Post Exchanges get into civilian market. There has never been a comprehensive audit of situation.

This is not to infer there is any financial skulduggery in the operation of Post Exchanges. Regular audits establish that books balance, but no far reaching audit has ever been made on the inquiry level to determine just where Post Exchange goods go.

A billion dollars worth of goods of the types handled by Post Exchanges is a lot of business if the sales are confined, as claimed, to authorized military personnel. There are some who claim on basis of limited data available, that if this is true, then in these categories of merchandise the armed forces consume twice as much, or more, of these goods, than civilian counterparts. Thus, there appears ample room for an investigation of entire field.

Scouts Begin Outdoor Activities

Troop 284 has started its outdoor activities for 1957. With one night of instructions on the compass, the Scouts are going on a compass problem and must cover the course correctly or they will miss the refreshments at the end.

Last Saturday afternoon the Flaming Arrow patrol took a 10-mile hike with special emphasis on wild life signs. The trip was a good one with many nests, tracks and other signs seen. They also caught a garter snake which they will keep for reptile study.

On Sunday morning a group of boys helped clear the area around the Scout house, which when completed, will be used for a picnic area by the public. Five picnic tables and fireplaces are being constructed.

The Explorer Scouts of the Francis Scott Key District are looking forward to the Explorer Ball to be held in Frederick on Mar. 30. Explorer and their dates of Troop 284 will attend the affair.

Combined Glee Clubs Will Sing Here Thursday

St. Joseph College Glee Club, under the direction of Sister Margaret Ann, Ph.D., will join forces with Loyola College Glee Club on Mar. 28, in DePaul Auditorium to present its annual Spring Concert. This year's concert, "Accent on America," will highlight the music of the Nation. Dr. Felice Iula from the Baltimore college will direct the combined choruses.

Included in the repertoire for the concert are: "O Maria Sine Labe Concepta," McGrath; "While We're Young," Engvick-Wilder; "To A Wild Rose," Cunkle-MacDowell; "Bab'ra Allen," "Red River Valley," "O Mary Don't You Weep," "Loch Lomond," "Comin' Thro the Rye," "All the Things You Are," and "A Wonderful Guy."

Combining musical forces with the Loyola Glee Club, the combined numbers will be: "Wonderful Copenhagen," "Ave Regina Caelorum," and "This Is My Country."

Among other numbers, soloists for the concert Norma Carosi, Annette Defina, Monica Horak, and Frances Shaw will render "Trees," "And This Is My Beloved," and "Ave Maria."

Preceding the affair, a candle-light dinner in honor of the Loyola guests will be held in DuBois Hall.

Following last year's initiative, Glee Club members have again exercised the art of sewing in preparing costumes for the concert. Of white polished cotton, the dress will have a plain bodice with a boat neckline and back V-decollete. The full skirt will be complemented by a wide cummerbund of either red or blue which will meet in a wide sash at the back. Completing the outfit, the girls will wear wrist length white gloves and white shoes.

Assisting Adelaide Burroughs, president, with concert details are Margaret Tyne, who heads the social committee, and Marcia Mehl, who directs the stage committee. Assisting Marcia with the staging are Barbara Bray, Lois Davis, Sally Grabe, Patricia Horn, and Elizabeth Meehan.

Sullivan, Sheing Receive Basketball Honors

Jack Sullivan and Bert Sheing, of the Mt. St. Mary's basketball squad, were named to the first and second teams, respectively, in the all-tournament NCAA small college division made by press, radio, and TV at Evansville, Ind.

In addition to Sullivan, the first team includes Mel Peterson, Wheaton; Mason Cope, Kentucky Wesleyan; Jim Daniels, University of South Dakota, and Bob Whitehead, Wheaton.

Second team — Longan Gipe, Kentucky Wesleyan; Ron Bazzard, Los Angeles State; Bill Bibb, Kentucky Wesleyan; Dick Kamm, Wheaton, and Sheing.

Peterson was named the most valuable player.

Congressman Hyde Introduces Bill

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde (Rep.-Md.), Tuesday introduced a bill proposing tax adjustments for small and medium-size business. His bill is a companion bill to legislation now pending and provides that a business, either incorporated or incorporated, may deduct from business net income, for tax purposes, an amount for reinvestment purposes not to exceed 20 percent of taxable income or $30,000, whichever is lower.

The bill makes provision for purchasing non-interest bearing estate tax anticipation certificates up to $100,000 for payment of estate taxes and would permit payment up to 10 years after death. Under the present law, the estate tax is due within 15 months after the date of death. The amount of tax anticipation certificates purchased would be deductible from the gross amount of the estate for tax purposes.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By Senator J. Glenn Beall

Can the $71.8 - billion national budget be cut?

Judging from the numerous communications I have received on the matter, thousands of Marylanders think it can be.

And I agree.

The problem, then is: How?

I hope the following remarks will help accent what an enormous question that is.

Federal Grants

In the first place, there is a great amount of concern over the so-called "Federal grants" to States, for construction or improvement projects.

It sometimes seems that these funds, which are actually being returned—not "given"—to the States, place local authorities in the position of the boarder in a rooming house whose landlady decided to charge him $3 a day instead of $2 because of his enormous appetite.

"Oh, please don't," pleaded the boarder, "it's all I can do now to eat $2 worth."

Increased Taxation

In the same way, many political subdivisions apparently feel that they should take advantage of every opportunity to apply for Federal Funds.

This, of course, causes, an increase in Federal taxation and frequently it also results in a "matching funds" can be raised.

Furthermore, it is extremely rare for the residents of any area to concede that the projects proposed for their region might be unnecessary.

Perhaps most of the items in this category are, in fact, absolutely essential to the welfare of our citizens.

If so, there is little we can do except trust that courageous Americans will not promote plans which can safely be postponed or eliminated.

Government Employees

Next there is the question which has arisen concerning the number of Federal employees.

Here, again, we can see that there are certain areas in which adjustments can be made, but we must face some other facts.

During the past four years, the number of Federal employees has been reduced although the population has increased 11-million, and requests for government services have likewise mounted steadily.

In addition, each new task which is given to the Federal government requires additional personnel, . . . and additional salaries, . . . and additional revenue to pay the salaries.

Economy Measures

Those are a few of the factors which confront us when we attempt to pare the budget, and we cannot overcome them unless we realize that:

1. We MUST decide whether certain Federal-State undertakings are actually worth the money they will cost.

2. We MUST continue to get the Federal government out of operations which should be conducted by private business or by local political bodies.

3. We MUST be sure that every cent we spend buys a cent's worth of goods or services.

4. We MUST keep in mind that every dollar that makes the trip from our individual localities to Washington returns from its journey just a little bit thinner.
