Since notification that we will hold a Bicentennial here in June I have had several offers from local and out-of-town citizens offering to lend old pictures or relics of early Emmitsburg for display during the celebration. I haven't accepted any of these proffers because I wouldn't have the time or sufficient knowledge of what to do with them, so if you have anything to offer that you feel might be useful or beneficial to the affair, kindly get in touch with the proper committee. I realize there are numerous committees working together and combining their efforts to make this celebration a success and it is hard for the public to ascertain the correct one to handle the various details, so if you can't find the proper committee I'll oblige you if you contact me through this column or at the Emmitsburg Chronicle.

The committees have been working diligently and hold meetings most every week. Most of the plans have not been divulged as yet because many "connections" have not been confirmed. Invitations to notables to attend the affair have been extended but confirmation from a few hasn't been received so no definite plans on this angle can be disclosed. I can tell you though, that there will be a mass church service, a historical pageant, a mammoth parade, carnival, window displays, fashion show, queen selection and events for the kiddies. A lot of other activities are planned but a few of the final details are missing. A complete schedule of events will be announced in the near future.

As was expected, interest appeared to be lacking until some signs of life began to stir. This week the beard contest began and that's about all the talk you hear up street and the longer it goes on and the longer the whiskers get the greater will be the interest manifested. A large number of the men folk are just sitting back waiting to see just who is going to participate in this male show and I'll bet my bottom dollar that just as soon as the evidence (whiskers) show there'll be many more perk up and finally make up their minds to go along with the idea. It's all in fun and for the benefit of dear ole Emmitsburg, you know, and the more of you who join the merrier the time you'll all have. Let's get into the swing gents!

The publicity angle isn't limited to the male gender either, gals. We'll be called upon very shortly to do our bit also and we must not fail. Attire of the Revolutionary War, Civil War or period, so to speak, soon will make its appearance, being worn by local village and district belles. Let it be understood right now that this is not strictly an affair for the town of Emmitsburg proper. This Bicentennial depends upon the whole Emmitsburg District for several miles around and all the help we can get is needed and welcome, so you country gals are every bit as eligible and welcome as anyone! There will be professional costumes but not enough to go around, so better start rooting through great grandma's effects right now as you'll be needing something appropriate for the occasion. We could start gradually by wearing, or reviving headpieces (hats) of long ago. Come to think of it, some of them were right cute, more so than some of the nightmares they are wearing these days. We can't revive Old Dobbin very well but we can revive the dressing of the period. What do you say girls, do we back up the men folk or do we let them steal the show?

How about you folks who have relatives or friends who formerly lived here? Wouldn't it be nice if a large number of them returned for the occasion? Well the committees have no way of knowing how many of them there are, so if you'll be so kind as to send their addresses to the proper committee they will all be sent an invitation. Preparations are being made to house the influx of visitors for the Bicentennial.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Combs have returned to their home here after wintering in the South.

Only 600 Trout Survive From Last Year At Thurmont

In order to evaluate the existing open season for trout fishing in Maryland which is from Apr. 15 to Sept. 15, the carryover of stocked hatchery trout from one fishing season to the next was studied by fishery biologists of the Game and Inland Fish Commission who used electrofishing gear in Big Hunting Creek, near Thurmont.

During 1956, the 4.5 miles of stream open to angling were stocked with 11,529 trout at the rate of 2562 fish per mile. The Mar. 13, 1957 survey revealed a population of approximately 147 trout per mile and an estimated total of 662 trout in the fishing area. The population sampled on Mar. 13 was six per cent of the population stocked during spring in 1956.

The remaining legal size trout population was composed of 15 browns for every two rainbow trout. No legal size brook trout were recovered.

Creel census in 1956 showed that 41 per cent of the brook trout stocked before Apr. 15 were kept by anglers on opening day. This high creel limit of brook trout is desirable since there is no significant survival of this species from one fishing season to the next. The aim of the Commission is to see that as many hatchery reared trout as possible reach each angler's creel on an equitable basis of numbers and distribution in water which will support trout and is accessible to fishing license holders.

The harvest of hatchery trout from Maryland waters is considerably good because there are highly concentrated stocked areas and fishing pressure at these locations removes a sizeable proportion of the fish paid for by angler's fees. To further increase the angler's sport and to give the fisherman more trout in the creel for his license fee the fishery research staff recommends extending the present open season. This recommendation is made because the survival of hatchery trout during late autumn, winter and early spring has been found very poor. The opportunity to creel these trout should be afforded the angler before mortalities remove them. A closed season from Mar. 15 to Apr. 15 for the purposes of stocking state streams and permitting all anglers an equal opportunity on opening day is suggested.

Canvassers have been named and will make door-to-door calls next week when the drive is expected to terminate.

Lions Club Plans Benefit Community Sale

One new member, Joseph W. Sullivan, was admitted to the Emmitsburg Lions Club at its regular meeting held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall, President Charles R. Fuss presiding. Twenty-one Lions were present and signed get-well cards for two sick members, Herbert W. Roger and Philip B. Sharpe.

A report on the recent talent show showed that nearly $175.00 had been netted. Flowers were sent to Philip Sharpe who is a patient at the Memorial Hospital in Alexandria, Va.

A letter was received from the Maryland State Police stating a representative of that group would be present at the May 13 meeting and show a safety film and give a talk, at the request of the club.

A committee of Charles F. Stouter and Arthur Elder was appointed to inspect the club's signs at the four approaches to town and to either have them repainted or replaced with new ones before the Bicentennial in June. Another committee consisting of Ralph Lindsey, Clarence Hahn, Clarence Frailey, John Hollinger, Charles Stouter and Paul Claypool was appointed to clear the horse show grounds in preparation for the Bicentennial. Paul Claypool reported on the absence of the club bulletin of late and stated that in the future it would be published regularly. A check for $20 for picnic tables was ordered sent to the local Boy Scouts who are currently erecting tables and fixing up a picnic area adjacent their clubhouse on Community Field.

A community sale was discussed and a committee was appointed to set the date and make the necessary arrangements. This committee consists of J. Ralph McDonnell, Ralph D. Lindsey, Ralph F. Ireland and Clarence E. Hahn.

Major Fitez Believed Lost

Major Ralph S. Fitez, 42-year-old son of Mrs. Carrie E. Shuff, Emmitsburg, was a passenger aboard a U. S. military transport plane that vanished over the choppy Pacific with 67 Americans aboard last Thursday.

Seventy planes and a dozen ships were thrown into search for the plane in area 200 miles from Japan the following day.

Major Fitez, a graduate of Emmitsburg High School, entered military service in 1943 and served in the European Theater in World War II. After the war he decided to make the military his career and was assigned to the Air Transport Service.

Major Fitez, who was on his way to a three-year tour of duty in Japan, visited his mother in town about two weeks ago. Members of the family said the major had originally been assigned to go to Japan on Mar. 12 but was unable to make that flight due to a virus infection.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret L. Fitez and adopted son reside at Mason Creek Rd., Norfolk, Va. Major Fitez's father, Newell Fitez, died about 20 years ago and his mother is now the wife of William Shuff. A brother, Joseph Fitez, is serving in the Navy.

Driver Blamed In Death Of Three Women

A Franklin County, Pa., coroner's jury at Waynesboro Tuesday afternoon held that Ronald Barry Hewitt, 22, Gettysburg, was "driving too fast for conditions and in a negligent manner when the H. C. Brinkerhoff Transportation Co. tractor-trailer he was driving Jan. 22 on the Sunshine Trail, near Fountaineau, was involved in a collision with a car which caused the death of three Franklin County women.

Adams County District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter said a decision on whether to bring an involuntary manslaughter charge against Hewitt will be made after the transcript of the coroner's inquest is available and can be studied.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, presided at the inquest assisted by District Attorney Teeter and Franklin County Coroner Jack D. Goshen. The inquest was held at the Grove Funeral Home, Waynesboro, because the death of two of the women in the car occurred after they had been removed to the Waynesboro Hospital.

Fatally injured in the crash were Mrs. Grace Hamilton Ott, 72, Pen Mar, Mrs. Daisy B. Debrick, 51, Pen Mar, and Mrs. Anna F. Watson, 28, Blue Ridge Summit.

The three were passengers in a car being driven east by Mrs. Debrick, 3 1/2 miles east of Tracy's Corner, early on the morning of Jan. 22. Two other passengers in the car, Mrs. Alice S. Gilland, 48, Waynesboro Rt. 4, and Mrs. Norman Kint, 31, Pennersville, were also injured. All five of the women were employees of the Knouse Foods Cooperative plant at Orrtanna and were en route to work at the time of the crash.

Beard Contest Started

The electric razors buzz no more and the lather, strops and mugs have been discarded as shaving among the male citizens of Emmitsburg ground to a halt this week when the male gentry of the entire district pledged themselves into the distinctive male society of the "Brothers of the Brush."

Relegating their personal appearance to the days of Abraham Lincoln or even farther back a representative number of the outstanding male citizens took the pledge to abstain from the razor in any form and dedicated themselves to publicize the coming Bicentennial in June.

The no-shaving campaign was kicked off at a mass rally held Monday night in the VFW and a nucleus of 20 pledged themselves as Brothers of the Brush. Untold numbers are expected to join ranks just as soon as they can be convinced that it is, or soon will be the style in Emmitsburg for the next three months. Dr. Gilbert Oddo presided at the mass meeting and explained the rules of the beard growing contest. General chairman of the contest is Ralph F. Ireland whose interest in the affair already is evidenced by his chin—a beauty to start with.

Mayor Clarence G. Frailey officially called the contest to a start by issuing a proclamation this week calling upon all males capable of nurturing chin fuzz, to join the cause immediately. Those interested in becoming members of the Brothers of the Brush can obtain membership cards at $1 by registering at the Village Liquors or Houck's Clothing Store.

A mock jail will be built on the Square and any unbarbed gent caught perambulating about will be confined to the jail until such time as he is able to pay a small fine. Prizes will be given the winner of the contest in June and these prizes will be presented by Miss Emmitsburg at special ceremonies during the Bicentennial. Barber and beauty shops are cooperating in the event and soon the men of the district will be applying wax, lanolin, dye, oil, axel grease, etc., in an effort to have the slickest beard of them all.

Though there's been no noticeable decline as yet in the sale of razor blades the local brotherhood of latherless gentlemen is literally sweeping the town—or soon will be.

Brushes, bowls and blades have been placed out of reach in many homes and boys from 18 to 80 are appearing on the streets getting acquainted with each other through the "conversation pieces" on their chins. They seem to have formed an elite and hirsute fraternity dedicated to the propagation of whiskers. The "little women" who will be exposed to porcupine kisses for the next few months are offering more encouragement than opposition to this stubble-raising competition. Tho they're somewhat loathe to admit that beards make the menfolk handsomer they're getting a few healthy chuckles out of the fuzz and fringe on familiar faces.

Practice Teachers, Elementary Students Fast Becoming Friends At Mother Seton School

"Is MY girl coming today, Sister?" A towheaded youngster anxiously queries the Sister of Charity standing in front of a classroom in the Mother Seton School, Emmitsburg. Every week day morning and afternoon some of the 24 volunteer teacher helpers from St. Joseph College, just across the highway, come to the Mother Seton School to give special instructions to children requiring remedial work in their lessons.

Comments from both the children and the college students who serve as teacher helpers testify to the warm bond that has grown up among them. As Elaine Casey, '58, West Roxbury, Mass., expressed it, "All week I look forward to my teaching period on Monday. The children are wonderful to work with, and I don't think I could face my "blue Mondays" with as much cheerfulness were it not for the time I spend with them." She added, "You know, they thank us for coming to help them, but I think we ought to thank THEM for allowing us to come. We're gaining a lot from this experience. Audrey Carr, '59, Woodbridge, N. J., commented, "I only hope I can be as much help to them as they are to me."

Almost every day teacher helpers garner humorous incidents from their experiences in the classroom which they relate to their friends with amused chuckles. They have discovered from the children's frank simplicity that they have much to learn themselves! As one college student, engaged in teaching a remedial reading class, was printing on the blackboard for students who were not yet accustomed to script writing, she heard low laughs from her pupils. A little boy righteously reminded the class: "Sister told us not to laugh at her just because she can't print as well as all of us!" Another child solemnly revised the Biblical quotation about the banishment of Satan into hell as the exile of "Seton" into hell.

The college students are still greeted occasionally as "Sister." One teacher helper recounts how her squirming eight-year-olds jumped to reverent attention for prayers before her first teaching period and how they gravely led HER in the recitation of some "before class" prayers long since forgotten since her grammar school days.

According to Sister Frances, principal of the Mother Seton School, the recently-inaugurated teacher helper program, carried on under the auspices of the campus Marillac Assn. of Catholic Action, has resulted in several benefits for the children. Profiting from the individual attention, many of the pupils have been able to attain their own grade levels in particular studies with which they previously had difficulty. Besides the more evident growth in their individual studies, the children have also experienced personality development because of the increased security and confidence they have found in themselves.

The program of teaching is thoroughly planned and organized by the faculty at Mother Seton School. Students from St. Joseph College who are serving as teacher helpers work closely with the guiding teacher in charge of the class and follow the instructions of this teacher in regard to their remedial work with the children. Sister Robertine Weiden, Ed.D., professor of education at St. Joseph's and moderator of the college MACA, provides the girls with preliminary instructions before they undertake this activity.

Since 1939, MACA'ers from the college have participated in the project to instruct the children of the area. With the easy accessibility of the new Mother Seton School, the members now have greater opportunities than in previous years.

The teacher-helper program fulfills one of the essential aims of the MACA—to prepare students for Catholic Action in post-collegiate life. The varied activities of the organization, which include visiting the sick and poor—providing food and clothes for the needy, afford a training ground for the college students to prepare for post-college Catholic Action.

$3,000 Suit Over Pond

The plaintiffs in a $3000 suit entered recently in Circuit Court claim that their pond was damaged when fuel oil and other petroleum products seeped into it.

The suit was entered by Mr. and Mrs. H. Lloyd Hoke, Thurmont, against Weil Bros, Inc., and James R. Hahn. The Hokes say they had constructed and maintained a pond for purposes of an auxiliary water supply for their adjacent manufacturing operations and for the conservation and propagation of fish.

They say that Weil Bros. was in possession of adjacent land and maintained and operated a bulk tank for the storage of fuel oil or other petroleum products. The Hokes claim the owners of the bulk tank negligently permitted, through loading and unloading facilities and failure to provide safeguards, the fuel oil or other petroleum products to escape in large quantities and seep into the waters of the pond last Sept. 20. About the same time, they say, the tank was being filled from the fuel oil tank truck owned by Hahn and they claim that through negligence, oil was permitted to escape and reach their pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoke assert that they were compelled to drain, dredge and refill the pond in order to make it usable and were required to spend sums for repairs. Byron W. Thompson is their attorney.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Naylor, E. Main St., were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sprangler, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Educator Draws Comparison Between Types Of Schools

Dr. Earle Hawkins, president of Towson State Teachers College, was the speaker at the professional faculty meeting held last Monday afternoon in the Taneytown High School. Twenty-one faculty members and the following parents were present: Mr. John Skiles, Mrs. Michael Drabic, Mrs. Louis Michea, Mrs. Delmar Baumgardner, Mrs. Kenneth Nussbaum, Mrs. Delmar Riffle, Mrs. Earle Stonesifer, Mrs. Noah Babylon, Rev. Stanley Jennings, Rev. E. P. Welker, Mrs. Charles Hopkins, and Mr. Murray Baumgardner. In his address, Dr. Hawkins discussed the topic "Are the High Schools Meeting College Requirements?" and also touched on "Small Schools Versus Large Schools."

Dr. Hawkins said the accomplishments of the U. S. high schools will go down in history as a tremendous achievement because they have continued to educate all our citizens in spite of the fact that our school population has been doubling every 10 years. Some people criticize the schools, he said, but it is remarkable that they have done as well as they have under the circumstances. Dr. Hawkins listed the most important characteristics of a high school graduate that tend to make him a success in college. The first on the list was how hard the pupil worked in high school and the grades he achieved. Some specific abilities he listed were the following: a student should be able to write themes, use the library efficiently, be able to listen to a fifteen-minute speech and summarize it, be a good reader, have good study habits, have plenty of self-discipline and self-motivation, and be able to express himself orally. A good IQ is very helpful in insuring a student's success at college, but students have been known to graduate from college with only an IQ of 80 when they had plenty of self-drive and initiative. Dr. Hawkins listed four general elements directly related to college success: general background, which included wise home relationships, ability to read good newspapers and magazines; emotional stability; habits of work, that is the ability to start right in studying and not waiting until the last minute; general intelligence. He mentioned that if a student were lacking in one of these he would have a hard time at college, and if he were lacking two of them he would probably fail.

In the second part of the discussion which was concerning "Small Schools Versus Large Schools," Dr. Hawkins brought out the fact that we can have good students or poor students from either type of school. He said that the work given in the classroom must be a challenge to the pupil; it must make him feel that he has accomplished something after the assignment has been completed and it must not be so difficult that he will go down in defeat. This type of assignment can be given in any size school. Dr. Hawkins said that the smaller school tends to have poorer equipment, smaller libraries, fewer first-class teachers because the better teachers tend to gravitate toward the larger schools, a less diversified curriculum, more inefficient classes because there are all kinds of pupils with varying abilities in the same class, and a higher cost per pupil. However, he said that none of these need to exist. They only tend to exist. The small school can have good equipment and a large library if there is interest in seeing that these things are accomplished. In a county system, the assistance of the community may be needed to make these possible. He said that in a community where there are local teachers, you may have teachers who are deep-rooted and deeply interested in their school. Therefore, you may find experienced and efficient teachers in the small school. In the smaller schools there is less competition among the pupils and in general they do not have to work as hard to make a good grade. On the other hand, many of the pupils from the small school do better in college because the competition which they find there really makes them apply themselves. He said that often they do not do as well in the first year of college because of the great adjustment in living, but in general, they make out well in succeeding years and many times do better than pupils from larger schools.

In the general discussion that followed, one of the parents in the group asked Dr. Hawkins to define a small school. His reply was that in a six-year system he would consider an enrollment of under 500 to be a small school. He closed his remarks by saying that he felt he considered a school of 800 to 1000 as being the most efficient unit.

PE Company Has Enviably Safe Record

A significant milestone in the safety history of the Potomac Edison Co. was established on Mar. 12 when the employees of the company's Taneytown District completed their 10th consecutive year without suffering a single lost-time accident.

Ten years without a lost-time accident is a record noteworthy in any industry and especially in the electric industry where employees of a small district such as Taneytown are expected to perform a multiplicity of tasks, many of which are of a hazardous nature. Without removing any of the luster of this 10-year safety record, it is necessary to mention another record held by the Taneytown District employees. In the 15 years since the formation of the Taneytown District, there has been only one lost-time accident recorded there. That accident could have been prevented by the use of a hard hat, now a company requirement.

In these 10 accident-free years, the Taneytown employees have amassed a total of 353,152 man-hours without a lost-time accident. Company President R. Paul Smith, in a special message to the Taneytown personnel, said, "the outstanding record you have set should be and is, I am sure, an inspiration to all of us. We are all cognizant of the many operating problems of a small district, and know it is only through your complete devotion to the company's safety program that you have achieved this mark."

The special 10-year safety plaque was awarded by Commercial Vice President S. S. Bradford at a special dinner for the district employees held in Taneytown on Mar. 19.

In accepting the award, Mr. Samuel Breth thanked each employee for his cooperation in making such an award possible. He said that while the Taneytown District is growing in size and Roof Line Adds Size to House One of the most successful design techniques of Ned H. Abrams, prominent California architect, is to make a small inexpensive house look larger than it actually is by accentuating the roof line. Abrams, of Sunnyvale, Calif., has accomplished this in the compact ranch house, right, by placing the carport at the front and sweeping the low pitch roof over it. The house, now being erected in the rolling hills overlooking San Francisco Bay, has three bedrooms, and sells for under $12,000. Architect Abrams, one of the San Francisco area's leading home designers, prefers asphalt shingles because of their economy, durability and color. From the viewpoint of color, Abrams says he likes to use "nature's tones," such as the deep brown asphalt shingles used on the house shown. "These colors come from the earth," the architect says, "and are more restful." He pointed out that in California near the ocean there are few trees. "This is the reason we like to use deep colors on the roof. Light pastels tend to be too bright in California's intense sunshine." Abrams added that in some mountain areas where trees are plentiful the light pastels of asphalt shingles are good. "A light roof color keeps the house from looking like it's cowering among the trees." Other exterior features of the Abrams house are wood siding stained in redwood tones, a sheltered entranceway under wide eaves, and a covered terrace at the rear. Inside, the wide entrance hall leads to a 20 by 15 foot living room separated from the kitchen by a snack bar. The kitchen is on the front of the house to permit ready access from the living room to the outdoor living area at the rear. The overall design, Abrams says, was aimed at offering as much open planning and casual, outdoor-indoor living as possible in a small, low cost home. Additional information, including study plans, blueprints and specifications can be obtained from Ned H. Abrams & Associates, 575 Britton Ave., Sunnyvale, Calif.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

Washington -- Many of the problems of small and medium-sized businesses in the 6th Maryland District, as well as the Nation as a whole, would be solved if these firms could retain out of earnings sufficient funds for legitimate business needs. The present tax burden makes this impossible. In an effort to remedy this situation I have introduced a bill which would lessen the tax burden on small businesses.

My bill has two provisions: (1) The income tax section would permit business firms, incorporated and unincorporated, to deduct from taxable income an amount for reinvestment purposes not to exceed 20 percent of net income or $30,000, whichever is lower; (2) The estate tax section would permit the businessman to set aside earnings in anticipation of his tax through the purchase of non-interest bearing certificates up to the amount of $100,000 and pay any balance over a ten-year period. The amount of tax anticipation certificates would be deductible from the gross amount of the estate for tax purposes. During the week I also introduced a bill which would improve the handling of petty offenses and traffic violations on the Suitland and the Baltimore-Washington Parkways. At the present time the U. S. Commissioners in Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties do not have authority to try these cases unless a defendant gives his or her consent. My bill would give the Commissioners the power to try these cases and to sentence those found guilty. Under present law there is an unavoidable congestion in the U. S. Courts in Baltimore and a needless delay in the handling of traffic violations.

A well deserved tribute was paid to the Frederick Chamber of Commerce last week when the Department presented it with the Government Achievement Award. I understand that this is the first time that a Chamber of Commerce has been so honored. The citizens of Frederick all share in this recognition of the civic worth of their Chamber of Commerce.

Girl Scouts Meet

The Emmitsburg Girl Scouts met last Friday at 4 p. m. in St. Euphemia's Hall, Alice Sherwin president, presiding and calling the meeting to order with a salute to the flag and the Girl Scout promise. Nancy Shaughnessy and Joan Mehl of St. Joseph College took over the meeting in the absence of the leaders. These girls taught the Scouts three songs and a new game before the adjournment of the session at 4:30.

Most popular dog breeds in U. S. today are: beagle, boxer, cocker spaniel, dachshund, Chihuahua, German shepherd, collie, poodle, Pekinese and Boston terrier in that order.

Psttacosis (parrot fever) occurred 90% more frequently in man during 1956 as compared to the incidence in 1955.

Growers Fighting Cost-Price Squeeze
—through scientific farming—

Since 1947, America's national income has increased more than 33%. But during the same period, farm income has dropped more than 33%.

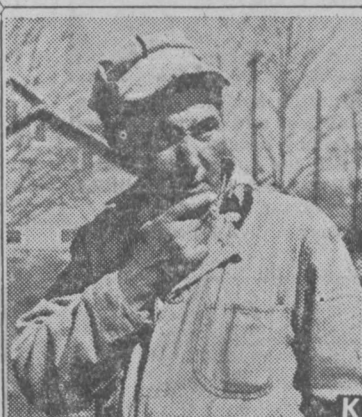

Farmers got 53¢ from each retail grocery dollar in 1945, but last year they averaged only 41¢. Farm mortgage debt has risen more than 25% during the past eight years, and to the 22 million Americans who live on farms, the situation—to say the least—is trying.

But farmers are fighting back, and science is helping. On the national scene, here's what's happening: Mechanization. An increase in the use of machinery has been in effect since 1946, and the rise is continuing.

Fire protection. Losses from fire are being sharply reduced as farmers replace inadequate wiring systems, the number one cause of farm fires.

Fertilizer. Anhydrous ammonia plants, which for years couldn't keep up with farmers' fertilizer needs, have doubled in productive capacity since 1953, quadrupled since 1947.

Molybdenum. Scientists have discovered that small quantities of molybdenum, often called "moly", are essential to plant growth. In some areas crop yields have more than doubled after application of moly, yet only a few ounces of this inexpensive trace element are needed per acre.

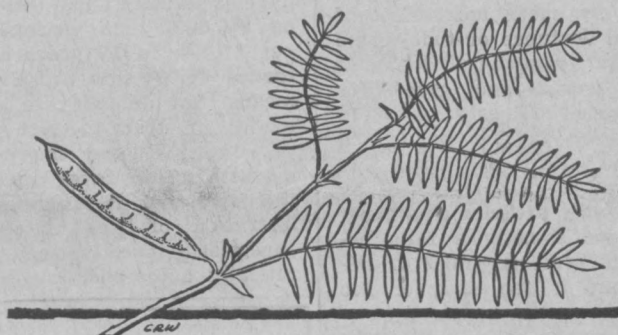

Wise planning saves money.

Pesticides. New synthetic compounds have proved highly effective in fighting insects in barns, on stock and in the field. Another new chemical is a weed-killer which kills broad-leaved plants rapidly but has no effect on narrow-leaved plants like corn.

There has been a host of other advances—in irrigation, crop rotation and other fields. Perhaps when it's all over—when prices return to their normal levels—the efficiencies being introduced today will mean greater profits than would otherwise be had.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE PLANTS

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

PARTRIDGE PEA
(Chamaecrista fasciculata)

Commonly called showy partridge pea.

RANGE: Found mainly in the Southeastern part of the United States; common to the Coastal Plains of Maryland and to lesser extent to the Piedmont section.

DESCRIPTION: An annual; height to about 2 feet. Fern-like (pinnate) leaves of about 15 pairs of leaflets.

PREFERRED HABITAT: Sandy, fairly compact, moist soil; upland plants of fields, roadsides, and waste areas.

METHOD OF ESTABLISHMENT: From seeds; discing soil containing seed, after danger of frost, will bring a stand; will persist for many years on waste land until broomsedge and pine take over.

FLOWERS: Yellow flowers produced in small clusters in axils of the leaves; appear from August to October.

FRUIT: A slender, flat pod containing up to 10 hard, flattish pitted seeds.

WILDLIFE USE: Valuable food for bobwhite quail but not as much as name would imply, eaten when ragweed, cowpea, and soybean seed not available; limited importance to other wildlife except for cover; eaten to a small degree by rabbit and deer.

OTHER VALUES: Being a legume, valuable for soil building; erosion control; dense growth prevents invading of undesirable plants.

Don't Sit Out A Cold! Try This!

What causes a cold? That's a baffler. Men of science have been trying to solve the mystery for centuries. At one time or another it's been unjustly attributed to decaying leaves, face powder, the influence of comets, night air and damp churches. And just as much of a mystery as its cause is a cure. There have been some pretty strange cures advanced during the past hundred years...wearing an asafetida bag around your neck, eating sugar moistened with coal oil, drinking aconite tea or garlic juice and rubbing the chest with goose grease.

There's only one remedy that has survived all competition past and present and that's drinking lemon juice and baking soda... the juice of one fresh lemon, a half teaspoon of soda and a half glass of water two or three times a day. In this day and age when it's generally agreed that you can't cure a cold but you can't cure it, this remedy makes sense. It's inexpensive, costing little more than the price of a lemon, and since you can't expect to cure a cold overnight you might as well treat it as economically as possible.

Another advantage to this remedy is that you can turn it into a very pleasant drink by adding a teaspoon of sugar, honey or marsh-mallow cherry juice. Even children who balk at anything resembling medicine will down it cheerfully.

State-wide Clean-up Week Date Set

In preparation for Maryland Clean-up Week (April 13-20), the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful is urging the use of "litterbags" by all motorists to help keep our highways clean and attractive. Litterbags are containers designed to be used by motorists to prevent careless strewing of waste paper and trash from automobiles along the highways. Litter, accumulated in the bags during a trip, can be emptied into Travel Trash Containers which are available at nearly every service station.

In Allegany County, G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, has furnished litterbags for use in school buses, cars operated by the Health Department workers, and paper or cloth bags in all State Roads Commission vehicles.

Dr. Edwin G. Riley of the Caroline County Health Department, is planning distribution of paper litterbags to school children who will "educate" their parents in their use.

Ralph Townsend, district engineer at Chestertown, has distributed litterbags to state vehicles in the five counties in the district.

At the recent National Capitol Flower and Garden Show in Washington, the Esso Standard Oil Company, through the courtesy of Mr. Harold J. Lipscomb, Public Relations Manager, and member of the Governor's Committee, distributed 25,000 litterbags, many of which will be used in Maryland counties and the Washington suburban area.

Disabled American Veterans, Baltimore Chapter #1, used litterbags for a dual purpose at their anniversary celebration. Favors distributed to guests were packed in the bags and recipients were urged to place them in their cars as litter containers when they were empty.

The majority of litterbags, distributed to date, have been of paper. Bags of more permanent materials, such as plastic or cloth, as well as the paper bags, are available at cost to individuals and groups. Further information can be obtained from the Keep Maryland Beautiful office.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The Upper Room THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read John 4:6-15. There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me a drink. (John 4:7.) This Samaritan woman had learned that the Messiah was to come. Unknowingly, she meets Him face to face at a well in Samaria. He asks her a simple favor—"Give me to drink." Is it not true that often we meet Christ in just such ways? It is not for us to hesitate, as did this woman, when a simple need arises. It is for us to meet each worthy need with prompt action, for Jesus says, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto me," God gave abundantly and Jesus gave freely. As Christians, surely we can do no less than give willingly. Isaiah tells us that God was his salvation and "with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation." Christ, the gift of God, gives living water and shares it in Christian service at every opportunity. Prayer Prepare our minds, our hearts, our hands, O God, with a fervent desire to meet every worthy need. Make us appreciative of all opportunities to do good and to manifest our gratitude by loyalty to Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen. Thought For The Day In God's mercy we find our salvation; in service to others we express our love for Christ. Dave J. Teter (West Virginia)

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON Babson Discusses Making A Fortune In The Stock Market Babson Park, Mass., Mar. 28—Ninety per cent of investments are made haphazardly. Sometimes they are made on the advice of employees of brokerage firms. It, however, will usually be found that these men have been unable to make and KEEP any money for themselves.

Importance Of Patience, Hope, And Desire To Render Service The selfish, shortsighted person seldom makes much money in the stock market, and keeps it only by sheer luck. Most of the real fortunes of today came from the fundamental desire to render service and give "for value received" help to: (1) A panicky market or (2) a new and useful industry. The first can be accomplished by anyone with patience and hope; the second sometimes fails because of poor judgment or because one is too early or too late.

Both of the above two methods of making money require courage, hope, and patience. It takes courage to buy stocks again, one or two years later, when most people are bearish. Furthermore, the waiting period between the right times to sell and buy requires patience and hope. However, the person who follows either of the above methods renders an important service; namely, his selling helps make the boom less dangerous, and his buying helps check the panic. For this service an investor always receives a handsome reward. Method #1—Selling High And Buying Low

It is important that an investor decide in advance which of the two methods he is to follow. It is difficult to mix the two methods. If you are to follow the first, of "selling high and buying low," it is usually best to confine your holdings to the active popular stocks, perhaps those known as the "blue chips"; while the second method often requires buying stocks of new and smaller companies with inactive markets. All purchases should be confined to listed stocks. In either case, never buy on margin or borrowed money. For results with this first method, under the very best conditions—which no one could expect to duplicate—$100 could increase to $90,000 in 40 years, not considering either taxes or dividends. To show the great spread in price of some of the best single stocks, the following figures are most interesting:

For instance, General Electric now quoted around 55, but selling due to stock splits at an equivalent of 165, sold for 9 during the thirties. Texas Company stock, now selling at an equivalent of 248, then sold at 10. Deere & Company, now selling at an equivalent of 180, then sold at 4. Du Pont, now selling at an equivalent of 720, then sold at 22. General Motors, now selling at an equivalent of 240, then sold at 8; while Radio Corporation, now selling at 33, then sold at 3. Method 2—Buying Into New Industries Howard N. Feist, Jr. of the Business Statistics Organization of Wellesley Hills, Mass. has made an analysis of what could have been accomplished by investing only $100 in automobile stocks in 1915 and then

Atomic Age Miracle With all the tensions and worries of this Atomic Age, we are apt to forget that it has also meant great advances in medical science.

One of the by-products of atomic energy production is radioactive Carbon 14. In recent experiments, drugs used in treating tuberculosis patients were "labeled" with Carbon 14 so that their behavior in the body could be studied. With the aid of the radioactive tracer, scientists found that the drug isoniazid had a definite affinity for the infected tissue in the body. The typical tuberculosis lesion, the area where the disease was destroying body tissue, accumulated and retained large quantities of the drug. On the other hand, they found that another drug used for TB treatment PAS, readily penetrated the lesion, but left again just as easily. No concentration of the drug was retained in the infected organs. The scientific research may seem a little remote to your every day life, but it's all part of the effort to find out how best to cure the TB patient. Doctors have used these drugs for some years, knowing that they help cure TB patients, also knowing that patients vary in their response to the different drugs and combinations of drugs. Research such as this helps them know why and how they work and may therefore aid in planning specific treatment for patients in various stages of the disease. Modern treatment of tuberculosis has removed much of the terrible curtain of fear that has hung over this disease for centuries. In the olden days, people used to say they'd "rather not know they had TB." They felt it was an automatic sentence of death. Today, TB can be cured. It's still a lot more serious than the common cold, but there's no reason to hide from the facts. Your doctor will advise you how often you should have a chest X-ray to make sure you don't have TB.

Laurel Raceway Opens Monday

Laurel Race Course begins a 29-day race meet on April 1, with the six-furlongs Capital Handicap featuring the inaugural program.

Post time 1:30 p. m. daily thru closing day, Saturday May 4. Every Thursday will be Ladies Day, with female patrons required to pay only the necessary taxes.

With a week remaining before Laurel's opening, more than 800 horses from Florida, Maryland and winter quarters in the Carolinas and Pennsylvania are bedded down here. Expected this week are an additional 200 horses from Arkansas, Louisiana and Gulfstream and Hialeah Parks.

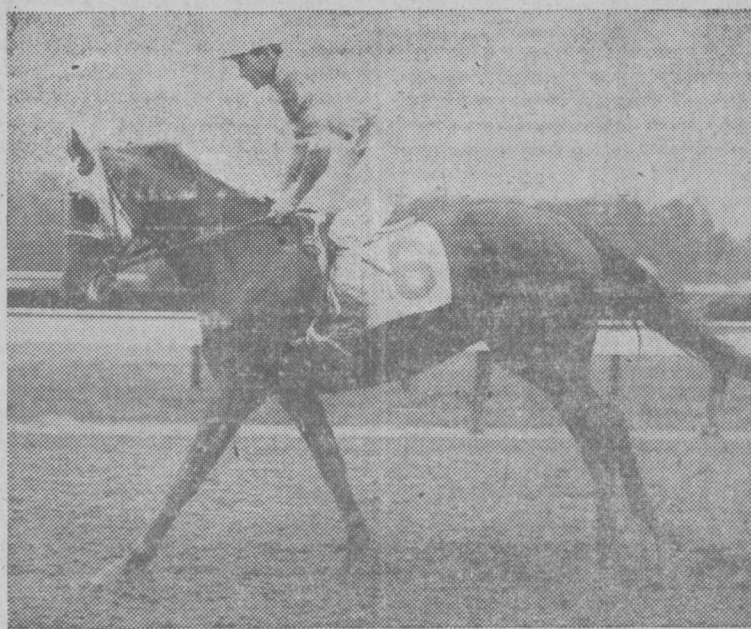

Expected to compete in the Capital are the 1957 stakes winners, Fabricator, Oclirock, Solar System and Weeper's Boy. Other fleet stars pointing for the sprint event are Elberwhirl, Itoke, Lord Jeep, Solid Gem, Weal or Woe, Tick Toek and Will of Allah.

Weal or Woe won the Capital last year.

Kentucky Derby candidates will test their mettle in two stakes at Laurel this spring, the Chesapeake Trial at six-furlongs on April 13, and the Chesapeake stakes at a mile and a sixteenth on April 20.

Calumet Farm, bidding for its ninth national money - winning championship this year, has named Crossland and Boone Blaze for the Chesapeake. Crossland, three-year-old colt by Bull Lea-Mar Kell, is a full brother to the stakes-winning Mark-Well and Amoret.

Other important stakes to be decided here this spring are the Cherry Blossom, for fillies and mares, April 6; The Bowie Breeders', April 22; The Laurel Handicap, richest test for seasoned added money competitors, April 27; and the Laurel Spring Turf Handicap, May, 4.

MARYLAND HOPE FOR CHESAPEAKE—Pajama Tops, property of the Halcyon Stable, is both Maryland-owned and Maryland-bred. He won the Maryland Futurity and Pimlico Breeders' Stakes last fall and is being pointed for the Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel on April 20. Laurel opens April 1.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is considerable confusion along Potomac as to just who is trying to do what to whom.

Confusion is compounded by gathering evidence so-called drive against inflation has developed into a big bust. So question boils down in many minds as to whether this is due to stupidity, favoritism to special interests, or a little of both.

Inter-administrationsquabble over biggest proposed national peacetime budget has not helped situation.

Not only has budget raised protests, but it has renewed protests on credit manipulations by Federal Reserve Board.

Striking incompatibilities are noted. For example, at time when private employment is at all time high; materials fairly well balanced between supply and demand, federal government launches multi-billion dollar highway building project.

Sen. John Sparkman (Ala.), chairman of Senate Small Business Committee, commented on subject other day. He pointed out states must put up roughly 40% of money for new roads, federal government supplying rest.

But since government credit action has made lending money scarce, states are finding interest rates on proposed highway bonds have gone sky high. Sen. Sparkman says this will cost taxpayers untold extra millions in taxes.

"It appears," he says, "that our children and grandchildren will be paying big investment houses for many years to come. They will pay millions in interest for National Federation of Independent Business road and school construction bonds and other public necessities because of administration's current policy of favoring relative few who have large sums of money to lend.

Of course, as a stalwart of opposition party, there is probably some political bias in this statement. Yet effect of present huge government spending, allied with government credit policies, cannot be denied. The facts transcend political propaganda.

Another non-partisan fact is that during last quarter 1956 spending by federal, state and local government accounted for one out of every four dollars spent in nation. And end is not in sight.

Now famous statement by Treasury Secretary George Humphrey on hair curling depression followed by warning by ex-President Herbert Hoover were not made to capture one day's headlines. They were solemn prophecies that unless growing trend in government spending is reversed, disaster looms.

Thus, considerable disillusionment stalks the land. Once heralded Great Crusade appears to have become the Great Fantasy.

Plain facts seem while present administration, like two predecessors, may or may not have accomplished anything tangible in global meddling, it has likewise utterly failed on home front.

Thus in Congress' coming weeks, it is possible on shoulders of Sen. Harry Byrd (D., Va.), who has long called attention to facts of domestic economy no matter what party has been in power, may fall mantle of national leadership on problems of finance and economy. The spuriously named era of the Common Man may, through pressure of an aroused citizenry, quickly turn into the era of Common Sense.

Polio Shots For All Adults Under 40 Urged

Despite a recent increase in use of the Salk vaccine, only two-thirds of the population under 20 and expectant mothers of the nation had received any vaccine by March 1, and a mere 17 per cent of those from 20 thru 39 had even begun the series of three shots, according to Donald G. Leitch, state representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

This was revealed today by the National Foundation, based on new estimates of vaccine usage made in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service.

There are now 51,000,000 without Salk protection. The goal of the spring vaccination program on which the American Medical Association, the Public Health Service and the National Foundation are concentrating is to see that as many as possible of the 109,000,000 individuals under 40 in the nation receive at least two shots of vaccine by June 30.

"These estimates show that since January 1, some 6,000,000 people have realized the urgency of getting polio vaccinations before the summer season," Mr. Leitch said. "But many millions more must be made aware of the necessity to act while there is still time to prevent polio epidemics in 1957.

"There are 23,000,000 unvaccinated individuals who are either under 20 or expectant mothers. Among these the most important to reach are those of pre-school age and teenagers," Mr. Leitch explained. "Both are highly susceptible to paralytic polio. Last year, the highest incidence of the crippling form of the disease was in children under 5. Teenagers, too, should heed the message 'Vaccinate Before Too Late'. They often think they are too old to worry about the disease. But statistics show that one out of every three paralytic cases occur at 15 years of age or older—and these are the most severe cases."

He pointed out that of the 51,000,000 who had some Salk vaccine, only 38,000,000 had received two or three shots. Two shots will protect about 80 per cent of vaccinated individuals, but three injections are necessary for really long lasting immunity.

"It is clear we still have a big job to do if we want to eliminate polio epidemics this year," Mr. Leitch said.

Among the guests at Prof. and Mrs. William S. Sterbinsky's home Sunday were: Mrs. Mae Finke, Baltimore, and her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Torgeson of Towson; Mr. and Mrs. L. Boyer of Walkersville and Wm. F. Sterbinsky of Baltimore.

Sportsmen's Club Start Building Fund The members of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club of Emmitsburg will again rebuild dams on Big Hunting Creek, it was announced at the club's regular meeting Tuesday night at the Fire Hall. Clay Green, president of the organization, presided over the meeting attended by 35 members. This is the second year the local sportsmen club has undertaken the Thurmont project. The first project of building dams and repairing old ones occurred two years ago. Club members will meet at the Fire Hall at 1 p. m. on Sunday, Mar. 31. Any other interested persons, regardless whether they are members of the club, are asked to help on the project. The club decided to increase its membership dues 50c for the 1957 year. The additional assessment will be put in the building fund. A general clean-up and weed cutting program around Rainbow Lake is planned for Sunday, Apr. 7. New cards and buttons were ordered. Fourteen new members were voted into the organization. Two films were projected by Elwood Eiker, "The Everglades," and a home movie film showing local bowmen at a tournament. Following the business meeting refreshments were served.

Safety Rules Stressed By Police Dept. "Keep your eye on the other guy—he's the big question mark in traffic!" In these words Chief of Police Daniel J. Kaas this week warned motorists to be on their guard against the unpredictable behavior of pedestrians and other drivers. Chief Kaas spoke in support of the defensive driving program which the Emmitsburg Police Department and the National Safety Council are conducting this month. This program is part of the Back the Attack on traffic accidents campaign. The spring phase of this campaign stresses the moral responsibility of drivers for their own safety and the safety of others. "It isn't enough to obey the law and mind your own business," Chief Kaas says. "You have a moral responsibility to prevent an accident if you can—even if the other fellow is at fault." Chief Kaas said that in traffic the driver is at the mercy of everyone he meets. His only protection lies in anticipating the other fellow's actions and counteracting his blunders with quick, safe action. The chief mentioned the following blunders of other drivers as the ones most likely to cause trouble: Failure to heed a stop sign; making a left-hand turn from a right-hand lane; failure to signal a turn; stopping suddenly; trying to pass on a curve or in a no-passing zone; suddenly swerving over the center line; pulling out from the curb into traffic without warning and weaving dangerously through traffic. Chief Kaas also warns drivers to watch out for pedestrians crossing in mid-block or against the lights, getting out of a vehicle on the street side or walking along the road in dark clothing at night. A Missouri woman contracted tularemia from a cat bite. The cat became diseased, but without symptoms, by killing and eating infected rabbits.

Damage Suit Continues The attempts of two former Navy ensigns to obtain damages as a result of an auto accident Aug. 30, 1953, two miles north of Emmitsburg on Rt. 15, started its third round through Adams County, Pa., courts this week. David L. Mordy, Chicago, and Albert V. Hutin, of "New York State," were two ensigns riding in the car of William Cook Hutchison, Jr., Pampa, Tex., when Hutchison's car collided with a car driven by Richard E. Reichley, Sunbury. Mordy and Hutin are suing Hutchison, Reichley and E. Mae Rhodes, Emmitsburg Rt. 2, who is alleged to have contributed to the accident by making a left turn which caused Hutchison's and Reichley's cars to collide. According to the amended complaint both Mordy and Hutin are seeking $175,000 damages for the injuries they suffered in the crash.

Mason-Dixon Conference Improves Publicity, Rules Mason-Dixon Conference athletic directors wound up their annual spring meeting last Saturday by boosting fees for officials in most sports and expanding the league's publicity program. At present, the conference commissioner issues sports releases from his office in Baltimore. At the meeting certain schools accepted the responsibility for supplementing the publicity program by issuing releases for various sports. The conference was divided into a Northern and Southern division for purposes of handling sports data. For example, Loyola of Baltimore, consented to keep track of the Northern schools, while Roanoke will do the same for Southern members. The same method will be applied in other sports. Dr. John Dillon Jr., of Mt. St. Mary's College, will be in charge of coordinating the publicity arrangement. The new fees for officials are as follows, with the old fees in parentheses: Football $30 ($25); basketball $25 ($20); baseball $15 ($12.50); soccer $17.10 ($11). Other matters coming up at the meeting included: Setting next year's conference basketball tournament for February 25-26-27 so that the winner can play in the first round of the NCAA small college playoffs on Mar. 1. The Mason-Dixon tournament will probably be held at Catholic U. in Washington. A spokesman said those league schools which are not members of the NCAA have indicated their intention of joining. The hope is that membership in the NCAA will be 100 per cent by next year. Schools not presently members are Lynchburg College, Bridgewater, Towson State Teachers, Roanoke College and Hampden-Sydney. The subject of membership in the conference for the Norfolk Division of William and Mary did not come up. A spokesman said the school made no formal application and had no representative at the meeting.

Pope Clears Way For Evening Masses

Pope Pius XII has relaxed several regulations concerning communion fast and evening Mass. The Papal decree, announced last week, empowers Roman Catholic priests to celebrate evening masses daily "so long as it is required for the spiritual welfare of a considerable number of people." The new rules also require abstinence from solid food and alcoholic drinks for only three hours before attending Mass and receiving Holy Communion. In the past, the pre-Communion fast ordinarily was observed from midnight of the day on which it was to be received. It is said there is every indication many U. S. dioceses will quickly put the new relaxation into effect.
