With ideal weather conditions prevailing intensive work on the new Route 15 bypass from Frederick to Thurmont and north to Emmitsburg, is going full blast the past two weeks and it is expected that by this fall or winter we'll be sailing along over this modern stretch of highway with no impediments whatsoever. No towns to twist or worm through and no stoplights to delay us... it'll be clear sailing the whole way through, almost to Washington. Our turn is coming and I don't doubt it will happen next year, however nothing is definite and only one right-of-way, I believe, has been obtained in this area. That is the right-of-way back of St. Joseph College where the local bypass will start to cut off the town. Many are in favor of the bypass and almost an equal number, I'd say, are just as opposed to it. There is absolutely nothing that can be done to stop this bypass plan as several organizations have discussed it with State Roads Commission heads, so we might just as well accept it as fact and make our plans, if we have any, to offset any loss of revenue through the transient trade loss that is bound to occur when the bypass is completed. I don't think the blow will be a drastic one to local merchants. Possibly two or three will be affected by the project, but I believe they can handle different lines along with what they are now offering and make up any loss in revenue by the sale of these additional items. Progress cannot be impeded and the road must and will go on past us. Only time will tell us whether it will have been helpful or harmful.

This one is making the rounds now, so don't bite on it when approached.
Dr. Gil Oddo, to Student: "Save your money and buy an adding machine."
Student: "Why?"
Dr. Oddo: "Because it counts." Oh well, just thought I'd warn you.

Plans for the Bi-centennial are progressing nicely, I am advised. The bearded men are really the center of attraction at this time, but just wait until the Bi-centennial Belles go into action, there'll be plenty more to talk about. Wherever you go within a radius of 25 miles, all the towns are now aware that we are going to have an elaborate celebration here in June and many are planning on coming here. The beards are proving their worth as an advertising media, so much so that out-of-towners visiting here don't bother to query as to what's going on when they meet up with the bewhiskered gents. The parade committee also reports encouragingly. Many outfits already have signified their intention of participating in the big event and many more are anticipated. A number of homes are being painted for the occasion and soon the annual town clean-up will take place. I believe then that you will see the public's interest manifested. To date most of the promotion has been up to committees but the time soon will be here when the entire public will be asked to do their bit and I feel certain that a generous response will be forthcoming. I have heard numerous complaints that individuals were displeased and some downright incensed because they weren't asked to assist in the project. You well know that everything has to have a beginning and that a few have to form the nucleus for getting the thing under way, so please don't feel badly that you were overlooked. If you have a genuine interest and want to help in some category, drop into Bicentennial Headquarters on the Square, look over the list of committees and select one which you feel you can best help. Leave your name and you will be contacted when the proper time comes. The committees need all the help they can get and have no way of reaching every individual. So if you feel you want to help, drop in, you certainly are welcome!

Local Man Charged With Buying Minors Alcoholic Drinks

An Emmitsburg man, 21, was jailed in Waynesboro in default of $1,000 bond last Saturday on charges of furnishing beer to minors after police stopped him for failing to halt his car at an intersection stop sign. Waynesboro police said they arrested Albert Abraham Hahn Friday evening after they observed he failed to stop his car at the intersection. Hahn was accompanied, they said, by four juveniles, aged 16, 17 and 18. Several empty beer bottles were found in the car as well as 13 unopened bottles. Hahn paid Justice of the Peace J. Edgar Olliver a $5 fine and $3.50 in costs on the stop sign charge and then was committed to jail in default of bond on the charges of providing beer to minors.

Local Ball Team Drops Curtain-raiser Pen-Mar League

Emmitsburg was soundly beaten last Sunday when it met Blue Ridge Summit on the local diamond in the curtain-raiser of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, 13-2. Manager Paul Clarke used three pitchers into the breach to try and stem the slugging of the Pennsylvanians, but the effort was in vain. Blue Ridge Summit smashed out a dozen safeties while the locals were limited to three. Null went the distance for the Summiteers. The contest was loosely played, the locals making five miscues and the visitors four. An excellent turnout was present at the opening game. Sunday's game between Emmitsburg and Fairfield, scheduled at Fairfield, will be played on the local diamond, due to repairs being made to the Fairfield playing field. Emmitsburg will be the home team.

Sterling S. Stouffer, Emmitsburg, charged by Deputy Claude Cline was driving without a license, was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Kreykenbohm, Hagers-town.

Manslaughter Sentence Appealed

A Mt. St. Mary's College student, appealing a House of Correction sentence and a fine imposed in magistrate's court in the accident death of two companions, will go on trial in Circuit Court, Frederick, May 13 before a jury.

He is Richard Donald Gardiner, 20, of Bordentown, N. J. He was convicted of manslaughter by automobile and reckless driving by Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan in Emmitsburg recently in connection with the accident in which Edward Galen, 20, Philadelphia, Pa., and John Daley, 20, Englewood, N. J., also students at the college, were fatally injured.

The magistrate sentenced him to six months in the House of Correction on the manslaughter charge and $100 and costs on the reckless driving warrant.

Gardiner appealed, through his attorney, Edwin F. Nikirk, and an early disposition of the charges in Circuit Court were asked.

The accident occurred on Apr. 1 at the intersection of Maryland Rt. 97 and the Tract Rd., about a mile west of Emmitsburg.

State Trooper W. G. Morgan, who made the investigation, reported afterward the automobile was apparently going at excessive speed and went through the intersection into a six-foot embankment. The machine, borrowed from another student, was reported a total wreck.

Galen, a promising basketball player, died two days later in the Gettysburg Hospital, and Daley, son of fight manager William J. Daley, died about a week later in the same hospital.

Gardiner was also severely injured. He was released on bond following the appeal in magistrate's court.

BROTHERS OF THE BEARD

On a recent spring vacation In my little old home town—Where the smiles are warm and friendly, Where folks seldom let you down—

When I went to the postoffice, I was quite surprised to see A young but bearded postman Hand my pack of mail to me.

Then my thoughts went back in fancy To that time long years ago When brave bearded men on horses Used to hurry to and fro, To take packs of cards and letters

To some very distant spot So that people moving westward Knew they had not been forgot. In the Pony Express Service Men like Cody volunteered To ride on through storm and danger, Those Brave Brothers of the Beard.

When I sauntered on up Main St. Later on, I chanced to spy A heavily-bearded sportsman With a twinkle in his eye. When I started cogitating, "Have I seen that face before?" Suddenly I then remembered He had gone from door to door Demonstrating to the housewives Handy household brooms and brushes.

I reflected how our grandmas Used to make their brooms of rushes, And their little feather-dusters That were hung by each fireside How the art to make them neatly, Was each woman's joy and pride.

When I thought how times had altered, Then it was I could have cheered For their great inventive genius— Brilliant Brothers of the Beard!

To the old stone church for service Come 500 souls that day To rededicate the temple And to worship and to pray. In the crowded congregation Could be noticed here and there Men with hair now neatly barbered And with beards now combed with care. On the wall above the altar Is a painting of Our Lord— Once despised and rejected, Now by Christendom adored. And this Christ who is ascending Up above the little town Seems to visualize the future As departing He looks down; And with arms extended heavenward, Christ, by young and old revered, Gives perpetual benediction To His Brothers of the Beard.

MAIL CARRIER RETIRES AFTER 38 YEARS' SERVICE

Robert L. Topper, well-known local mailman, retired from the postal service Tuesday after serving the government and the Emmitsburg District for the past 38 years and eight months.

As a young man, "Bob," as he is familiarly known, began his postoffice career as a clerk in the local postoffice. He held this position for nine years. Bob liked outside work and when the opportunity presented itself in 1927 with the retirement of the late James G. Bishop, rural carrier, Bob took over Mr. Bishop's route and held it until his retirement this week.

Mr. Topper began his long term of service on Aug. 30, 1918. His friends on the force, learning of his planned retirement, held a little "get-together" Tuesday in the local office and presented him with an electric razor and mirror combination. Bob also received a citation from his boss, Uncle Sam, who commended him for his faithfulness and devotion to his duties. All members of the postoffice staff were present for the ceremonies.

Charles B. (Toss) Shorb will be substitute carrier on Mr. Topper's route until such time as a permanent status is granted.

Auxiliary Gives $500 To Ambulance Fund

The VFW Ladies' Auxiliary presented the post with a $500 check toward the new ambulance fund at the annual birthday party of the local post held last Saturday in the post home. The occasion was the 11th annual observance of the founding of the post. The presentation was made by the Auxiliary president, Mrs. Austin Nusbaum.

About 90 members and guests were present for the occasion and among the guests was the Dept. Quartermaster-Adjutant Roy C. Gamber of Westminster. Past Commander Thomas C. Harbaugh was presented with a past commander's pin by Mr. Gamber and Commander Harold M. Hoke. All of the post's past commanders, living, and past presidents of the auxiliary, were introduced by Lumen F. Norris and a letter with a generous donation, was read. The contributor was past commander Capt. Philip B. Sharpe who is confined to his home due to illness. A buffet dinner was served and the committee in charge of arrangements included Guy A. Baker, Jr., Paul W. Claypool and Lumen F. Norris. Dancing was held from 9 to 12 with orchestra music.

At the post's regular meeting held Wednesday evening it was decided to clean-up and improve the local playground and prepare it for the summer opening in the near future. It also was decided to have the trash cans on the Square repainted in time for the Bi-centennial next month. The post donated the trash receptacles to the town several years ago.

Farm Group Meets At Martin Home

The Emmitsburg Farm Bureau Planning Group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin Tuesday evening with six families present. The meeting opened with the reading of the 37th Psalm by Rachael Emrich, followed by the Lord's Prayer. After the minutes were read and approved, the report of the treasurer was given.

Ethel Baumgardner reported on the meeting of the Farm Bureau Assn. Women which met at the Green Parrot Tea Room on Apr. 4, and asked that members keep in mind the picnic and beauty contest to be held in August at Petersville.

A tea will be held on May 9 in Frederick at the executors' rooms and everyone is urged to attend. The theme of the meeting was "national budget," which was discussed at length. The next meeting will be held May 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Springer.

Two Fugitives Apprehended

Three young prisoners, one from Emmitsburg, escaped from the State Reformatory for Males last week in a State truck and got as far as Ellicott City before they were recaptured.

The youth from this section was identified as Ronald Cogar, 20. The other two were Kenneth Klinedinst, 18, and Edgar Whiteley, 21, both of Baltimore. Authorities said they escaped in a reformatory truck which they abandoned in Frederick and stole a passenger car. State police trailed them on U. S. 40 and stopped them west of Baltimore. They were returned to face escape charges.

The auto stolen in Frederick, is owned by a Parkway School teacher, Mrs. Kathryn A. S. Frushour, 127 S. Fairview Ave.

"BROTHERS" NEAR 100 MEMBERSHIP

The "Brothers of the Brush" neared the century mark this week when 14 new applications were processed, Ralph F. Ireland, chairman of the Bicentennial beard committee, reported this week. The membership of this select group of local businessmen and public-spirited citizens stands at a round 90, and it is the hope of the "Brothers of the Brush" to reach the 100 mark next week at this time.

Newest addition to the "Brotherhood" are: Donald Byard, David Glass, Donald Moser, William Ryder, Harry Troxell, Louis Orndorff, Allen Bouey, Francis E. Sanders, Oldrich Tokar, E. R. (Judge) Glass, Leo Keepers, Ronald Kelly, John S. Hollinger, and Sterling White.

The "Brothers" are becoming more conspicuous with their many types of beards. Most of them have purchased derbies or high hats, buttons, neckties, etc. A few are going to go the limit and "dike" themselves out with long coattails and canes.

Growing stronger numerically is the group who are friendly contemporaries of the "Brothers," that group who demand shaving permits. Sixteen more were added to the list of shavers this week, bringing the total membership in that society to 51.

BOWLING TEAMS HOLD BANQUET

The annual bowling banquet for bowlers in the leagues at the Emmitsburg Recreation Center, Emmitsburg was held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall. Fr. Robert Kline, of Mt. St. Mary's College, was the master of ceremonies for the occasion. Principal speakers were Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., director of athletics at the Mount, and James Phelan, athletic coach at the same institution.

Trophies were awarded to the winners of the first half of the schedule in the ten-pin league, Mt. St. Mary's, and to the Blue Jays, champions in the second half.

In the duckpin league, the Senators won the championship for the season with St. Joseph's victorious in the roll-off of the first four teams. The Hobos won the top spot in the roll-off of the bottom four teams. More than 90 bowlers attended the banquet, including the members of Mt. St. Mary's basketball team, Mason-Dixon Conference champions, who were guests at the affair.

Town Election Monday; Three File For Office

Emmitsburg's eligible voters will go to the polls Monday afternoon and evening to elect two town officials. Mayor Clarence G. Frailey has filed for re-election to the Council as Burgess.

The most recent registration figures show 435 eligible voters on the town's registered list.

Mayor Frailey, who first took public office last year, will be unopposed on the ballot.

A tight race for commissioner has developed and interest in the election is mounting. Charles R. Fuss, incumbent commissioner and a veteran of six years on the Board, is being opposed by J. Edward Houck, local businessman. Both filed through the proper channels and their names only will be on the ballot.

Balloting will take place at the Fire Hall and the polls will be open from 2 to 7 p. m., Daylight Savings Time. Judges of election will be Charles D. Gillelan and Dr. J. W. Houser.

Present members of the Council are: Burgess C. G. Frailey, Commissioners Allen Bouey, Wales Rightnour, and Charles R. Fuss.

Friends of the two candidates are campaigning for them and interest in the election is increasing as election day nears. The Town Council faces several major issues in the near future and this also is creating a great deal of interest in who is elected. Two or three extremities of the town are planned to be annexed in the near future and the public is clamoring for a decision as to whether or not to start on the new sewer system, which will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000. It is understood that Emmitt Gardens and S. Seton Ave. Ext. have applied for annexation to the Corporation, and it is expected that the area north of the state road adjacent Emmitt Gardens will be annexed just as soon as it is decided to proceed with the plans for the new sewerage system.

The deadline for filing for town offices was midnight last Friday and only the above three candidates were reported as filing. Only three name names will appear on the ballot, but write-ins are permitted under local election laws.

New Athletic League Formed

A new athletic league has been formed made up of five Catholic high schools in the general area, it has been announced by Dr. Gilbert L. Oddo, athletic director at St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg. Representatives of the five schools met at St. Marie Gorth High School in Hagerstown last Sunday to formulate the plans for the league.

A constitution was written, officers were elected, and dues were established at the meeting. The league will be called the Blue Ridge Catholic League and at first the members will compete only in basketball on a home and home basis.

Members of the league are: St. Joseph's, Emmitsburg; St. Joseph's, Martinsburg, W. Va.; St. John's, Frederick; St. John's, Westminster, and St. Marie Gorth, Hagerstown. Mr. Vincent Noll, of Martinsburg, was elected the league's first president. Dr. Gilbert Oddo was elected treasurer. Mr. William Kelz of the St. Joseph's P-TA also attended the meeting.

Firemen To Begin Door-to-Door Canvassing Soon

Mounties Win Doubleheader

The Mt. St. Mary's College baseball team swept both ends of a doubleheader with Towson State Teachers College at Emmitsburg Tuesday afternoon, copping the first game 9-5 and the night cap 8-6.

A trio of three-run innings in the opener highlighted the first victory as the Mounties pounded out 13 safeties. Jack Sullivan batted in five runs on a homerun and a pair of singles. Joe Starke hurled the route for the Mounties and gave up only five hits while fanning seven.

Tony Nardone tossed the first five innings of the nightcap to gain the victory, with Jerry Spahn finishing. Bill Hessler smashed out three hits to spark the Mount.

Hobbies, Vocations Help Build Engaging Portraits

"THE FAMOUS KRAMERS" — by Lawrence Schiller of San Diego, California, prize-winner in 1956 Graflex Photo Contest; taken with Graphic View Camera on Royal Pan Film at 1/200 and f/8.

NEXT time you try to capture a personality in a photographic portrait, try linking the subject with a hobby or vocation in which he or she has an absorbing interest.

Even if Jack Kramer were not a world-famous court figure, this photo would convey the correct impression that tennis is a very important activity for Kramer and his handsome youngsters.

Note that there is no striving for effect. Yet the simple tennis-net background and the two racquets, combined with the relaxed poses of the youngsters, and Kramer's broad grin, instantly tell the story that makes the photo a memorable one — a happy, tennis-minded family.

So, says T. T. Holden, photo director of Graflex, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., let's take a leaf from the book of the photographer who made this picture, young Lawrence Schiller, who has taken prize after prize in the teen-age section of the annual $10,000 Graflex Photo Contest.

"By skillfully relating your subject's hobby — or his vocation, in some cases — to his pose for the portrait, you can produce a photograph that, in a single glance, will tell more than many words about what kind of person he really is — what his interests are."

The hobby can be brought out in any one of several ways — or a combination of them. Background, props, and attire are the three principal ways of helping you tell your story. So take your fisherman while fishing, or repairing his tackle. Pose your book lover with a favorite volume and contentedly putting his pipe. Pose mother putting the finishing touches on a fancy cake or a Thanksgiving mince-meat pie, if baking is a hobby. And if you're a real photo fan, be sure to have a friend get your picture as you're using your camera. After all that's your hobby.

Disabled Persons Now Eligible For Social Security

Many disabled people who are eligible under the new disability provisions in the social security law have not yet applied for their rights, announced Mr. W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown social security district office this week.

If a person who has been disabled and has not worked for some time does not apply before June 30, he may lose his eligibility for disability insurance benefits at age 50 and at best he would suffer a reduction in any benefits payable to him at retirement age, or to his survivors in case of his death.

"Of course, no one wants that to happen" King said. "So we are asking readers to pass this information on to any person they know who is disabled, but who worked under social security for at least five years during the 10-year period before becoming disabled. Tell him to get in touch with his nearest social security office."

He explained that to be eligible under the disability provisions in the social security law, a person who files an application before June 30, 1957 must (a) be so severely disabled that he cannot do any substantial gainful work; (b) have worked in 5 out of the last 10 years before his disability began; (c) have also worked in 1½ out of the last 3 years before that date. Of course, the work must have been in social security covered employment or self-employment, except that in some cases railroad work or military service may be counted.

If a disabled person files an application after the end of June 1957 and has been disabled for more than one year, he must have social security credit for 5 years in the 10 years period ending just one year before the date of his application, and also for 1½ out of the last three years of this period.

The effect of this provision is that a person who was disabled before October 1954 will no longer be able to have his social security record frozen or to receive disability payments at age 50 if he waits until after June to apply because he would not meet the work requirements. If his work before his disability was not steady, he might lose out even if disabled more recently than September 1954.

Of course, even if he cannot qualify for a disability determination, this person may still qualify for old-age insurance benefits at age 65 (62 for women) if he meets the requirements to be fully insured. His survivors may still be eligible for benefits in case of his death. However, in either case, the benefit rate will be lower than if he had applied before June 30, 1957, for a disability determination.

"The important thing to remember" King concluded, "is, if you have been disabled for work for a long time and do not apply before June 30, 1957, you may lose rights to protect your social security record, to disability benefits at age 50, to retirement benefits at retirement age, and to survivors benefits for your family in case of your death."

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

Since striped-bass fishing was enjoyed in 1865 there has been a steady development in sports-fishing equipment. While fishing rods made of lancewood, greenheart, snakewood, black palm, ash, hickory and split bamboo have fallen by the wayside since the discovery of fiber glass, reels have evolved at a somewhat slower pace, says Robert D. Hall, Salt-Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

The advance of reel designs can be traced directly to the demands of salt-water anglers for better equipment. In fact, says Hall, some of the most famous reel manufacturers were fishermen who developed ideas gathered from their friends who fished the various fishing grounds throughout the world.

Early sea-reel designs featured large-diameter narrow spools for retrieving line fairly rapidly. Many were manufactured of brass or hard rubber, and the deluxe models were of nickel silver. It is interesting to note that the price of a 2/0 reel in these early days was only $5 or $6.

In 1883 Edward vom Hofe brought out his Celebrated Striped Bass and Tarpon reel. There were few big-game anglers in these days and those venturesome souls encountered many skinned knuckles from the whirling reel handle every time they battled a fish. They covered the thumb of the right hand with a knitted stall to give some protection between human flesh and a rapidly revolving spool of coarse line.

Soon the rawhide leather drag that was fastened to the crossbar of the reel became a standard item of equipment for all big-game fishing reels. The very first drag that followed the leather thumb drag was an internal springlike friction that was controlled by a sliding button on the side of the reel. But this worked as much against the fisherman as the fish.

This early equipment was a far cry from the modern star-drag, free-spool (or the latest starless drag) reels which permit an angler to fish for large fish without any great difficulties.

 THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Matthew 27:50-56.
 The curtain of the temple was torn in two. (Matthew 27:51, RSV.)
 When Jesus said, "It is finished," the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. The holy of holies was no more, the ceremonial law of Moses of no effect. Instead, grace now abounds to him who believes in the Son of man and Son of God who died on the cross. Because of His death and resurrection, fear has given way to faith in love and in the power of the new birth.
 On the cross, Jesus exemplified the new gospel—forgiveness and love, reassurance and help, fellowship and stewardship, pain and prayer, earnestness and faith,

Record Of Tax Returns Should Be Kept For Protection

A reminder to Federal income taxpayers to retain their copies of returns filed in the recently closed tax filing period was issued today by District Director C. I. Fox of the Baltimore District office of the Internal Revenue Service, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia. Records of income and expenses used in preparation of the return also should be kept, he said.
 "Tax records must be retained for at least three years from the deadline date, April 15," Mr. Fox said. "There is always the possibility that a taxpayer may be called upon to furnish proof of his income and deductions. Keeping copies of returns and records will help both him and the revenue service in such cases."
 "Beyond this requirement, taxpayers should find that retention of their copies of returns will help them in filing next year, especially if there is no major change in their financial status. In addition, the Revenue Service urges that all records of 1957 expenditures—cancelled checks, receipts, notations of contributions, state and local taxes, interest payments and other deductible items—be retained for reference in computing 1957 Federal returns."

 Mr. Fox pointed out that district and local offices of the revenue service are glad to provide information throughout the year, preferably by telephone.
 "All we ask is that the taxpayer have the facts and figures relating to his problem correctly in mind," Mr. Fox declared.
 For information or assistance, call your local Internal Revenue office.

Your Personal Health

"Bored To Death"
 How many times have you said it? "I'm bored to death." Stop a minute. It could come true.
 A medical expert on aging recently said that by conquering two problems—boredom and overeating—we could live to a hundred.
 As a matter of fact, these two villains that are shortening man's life may be more closely related than they seem. What do you do when you're bored? Raid the refrigerator? Drop into the drugstore for a sundae? Rich, sweet food is emotionally satisfying. And in our prosperous society most of us can afford too much of it. As we get older, vanity—keeping a slim figure—doesn't stop us. We feel we can eat as we please, and we usually "please" to eat fattening foods. It's rather sad to think of a piece of devil's food cake becoming the high point of anyone's day. It couldn't happen to you. Or could it?
 Retirement is the beginning of boredom for many men. Their lives have centered on their jobs for so long that they are lost without them. They feel no motive for living.
 So-called retirement comes more slowly to women, and affects them less drastically. They change their pattern of living gradually as the children grow up and leave home. They take on interesting hobbies, clubs, activities in the community as free time increases. And, of course, a woman is never without a "job" as long as she has her home and husband to care for and grandchildren to fuss over. Incidentally, the death rate of women aged 65 to 69 is only 2.5, while that of men in the same age group is 4.2.
 There may be a clue here for men who don't want to have their lives shortened by boredom. Perhaps they can plan a gradual change from the "job-centered" life, begin to expand and extend their interests so that on the day of "retirement" they don't just stop. They can move forward with positive energy that will keep them interested and alive right up to the century mark.

COMPLETE HOSPITAL designed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration to supplement existing hospitals in case of attack is shown in the display above, minus only its generators and most of its 200 cots. The hospital would occupy about 15,000 square feet for ideal operation, but in the more crowded display above, the following major segments may be seen: (1) Admitting center, where patients are assigned to various parts of the hospital for treatment. (2) Portable X-ray, with its own generator and special process for 60-second development of photographic plates. (3) Simulated ward, which would be much larger and accommodate 200 patients at a time in actual practice. (4) Operating room, complete with lights powered by a generator. (5) Laboratory for blood typing and other elementary medical tasks. (6) Pharmacy and supply section. (7) Sterilizing room, including autoclaves operating on liquid fuel. (FCDA Photo) petition under the anti-trust laws. A number of so-called "quality of opportunity" bills are pending before the Congress which would limit the use of "good faith" as a defense in price discrimination to meet competition.

 Under H. R. 11 and similar bills, "good faith" would not be a complete defense in meeting prices of a competitor if such pricing leads to "a substantial lessening of competition" or "tends to create a monopoly."
 One of the problems confronting the members of the House in considering these bills stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition." There is lack of agreement as to the meaning of the words as used in the bills. Another difficulty encountered is the possible harmful effects on a small manufacturer in his attempt to compete with big industry.
 Out of the "equality of opportunity" bills and proposals, which would write the "good faith" principle as an absolute defense into law, it is hoped will come legislation that will aid both the small retailer and the small manufacturer. There is controversy over these bills and the question the legislator must resolve is whether price discrimination as a means of meeting competition is a sound part of the nation's overall anti-trust policy.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses The Western Drought Situation

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 2—A sound of rejoicing is today echoing across the western Great Plains.

Mother Nature at long last has showered down copious rains and heavy snows upon wide areas of that drought-stricken region. As a result, soil moisture conditions in much of the Great Plains are more encouraging than they have been in several years.

But—Is The Drought Broken?

Farmers and businessmen living in the Great Plains naturally are greatly concerned as to whether these much-improved moisture conditions are a mere flash in the pan or the real thing. Crops in some instances have been hard hit; valuable top-soil has been blown away; cattle have starved or farmers have been forced to liquidate them for lack of feed; and some people living on the land are facing poverty. Although this five-year drought has been less destructive on the whole than the disastrous droughts of 1934 and 1936, it has been severe. I can well appreciate the mounting hope in many hearts that it may now be ending.

I wish I could give them definite assurance that the worst is over. Perhaps it is. However, I am a statistician and not a weather forecaster—at least not a very good one. Professional weather forecasters tell me that it takes about six months of above-normal precipitation to end a major drought. If so, in this respect at least there is still some distance to go before we can know for a certainty that the drought has ended. Incidentally, there are still sizable sections of Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Texas, and Ohio that remain parched. The one sure thing is that overall moisture conditions have materially improved—the trend is in the right direction. The drought is old, and this is another favorable factor. By the law of averages, it should not last much longer.

Farmers Gaining Drought Knowledge

Whether recurrent droughts will ever cease to plague the western Great Plains is a secret buried deep in Nature's crystal ball. Perhaps scientists some day will come up with something very constructive. Meanwhile, farmers are learning more and more how to live with droughts and come out ahead or at least break even.

They have come a long way in this respect since the Dust Bowl days of the Thirties, when about all they could do was "take it lying down," or pull up stakes and migrate to other, more favored areas.

The smart farmer of the Great Plains no longer plows and plants indiscriminately. He knows the value of soil-conservation methods, of irrigation, of modern farm tools, of contour plowing and terracing, of sowing drought-resistant cover crops where and when needed, and of shelter belts of trees. He also now gears the kind of crop planted to soil-moisture conditions prevailing at the time of planting, and utilizes moisture-conservation techniques and diversified farming. By these and other modern agriculture methods and practices designed to lessen the risk to farmers and crops from droughts or other destructive forces, he is making real progress under all conditions.

Trend To Larger Farms Will Continue

These various modern methods of farming and of minimizing the effects of droughts or other adverse conditions all point in one direction—toward larger, better equipped, and more skillfully managed farms. The one-man farm even now is as outdated as the "one hoss shay." This "farm revolution" has made rapid progress in recent years. There are, for instance, a million more tractors on U. S. farms today than there were in 1950; 131% more pick-up hay balers; 51% more corn-pickers; 39% more grain combines; and 12% more milking machines.

On the other hand, the number of U. S. farms has declined 11% since 1950 — from 5,379,250 to 4,783,021. Yet total farm area has not changed much since then. Therefore, the size of many farms has increased. It is only on these large, well-managed farms that the full benefits of mechanization and modern techniques can profitably be realized. Such farms are in a much better position to survive prolonged drought or other adversities than is the small, poorly managed farm. They are here to stay. Farming in America now is "big business." I, therefore, forecast another relatively good year for most American farmers. They are a sturdy, intelligent, industrious, and God-fearing group. This is a combination of qualities hard to beat, and one America sorely needs today.

tices of allotment in May this year, Mr. Burns indicated, since the marketing quota referendum is to be held on June 20. If two-thirds of those voting in the referendum approve the quota, wheat of the 1958 crop will be supported at $1.78 per bushel national average which represents 75 percent of transitional parity. Maryland's support rate generally runs about 20 cents higher than the national figure. Defeat of the quota in the referendum will result in support at 50 percent of transitional parity or $1.18 national average. Should the quota be approved, farmers producing more than their allotted acreage of wheat in 1958 will be subject to a penalty of 45 percent of parity on the excess.

State and county wheat acreage allotments are based on the wheat acreage of the past 10 years with adjustments for planting trends, weather, and other factors, Burns said. County figures are divided among the wheat farms of the county based on such factors as wheat production during the most recent years, tillable acres, crop rotation plans, type of soil, and general topography of the farm.

No Compromise With Evil
Shortly after the end of World War II in the Pacific, a friend brought to my attention some literature being used in his Sunday School class which said the Communists in China were "different" from the Russian Communists, that they were really warm-hearted humanitarians who wished to bring about land reforms in China and otherwise aid "the downtrodden millions." This same statement about the "good" Communist leaders in China was being heard on overseas radio broadcasts to America and was being published widely in scores of books and magazine articles.

At the same time Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who opposed the Red hordes trying to take over China, was being attacked as "a corrupt leader" who sought to strengthen his power at the expense of China's "little people." We know what happened. Our own nation tried to make Chiang bring the "good" Communists into a "coalition" Government. And American public opinion was so confused that our people took no effective action when the U. S. government failed to give Chiang the kind and amount of aid he needed. China fell to world Communism. The U. S. A. lost 500 million allies. An immediate result was the Korean War.

Propaganda To Confuse
When the events are reviewed there seems little doubt that the Communists engineered a propaganda campaign which confused people, diluted the power of public opinion, and ultimately brought about the fall of China to the Reds. Today the Communists are working behind the scenes to bring about another great victory for World Communism—the recognition of Red China by the United States and the United Nations. Propaganda is their instrument of thought-shaping.

At the National Education Program's 18th Freedom Forum just concluded at Searcy, Hollington K. Tong, Ambassador of Formosa, took notice of successes which the Communists have achieved toward the creation of a public opinion in America which would accept recognition of Red China.

Some Say "Coexist"
"There are some in America," he said, "who are proclaiming that the United States can safely coexist with a Communist-ruled China. They want to restore trade and diplomatic relations with the Communist regime and to admit it to the United Nations. Nothing, said Ambassador Tong, "could be more disastrous to both the United States and China. There can be no neutrality on the great moral issues which confront mankind."

"Ever since God created the universe, man has always been confronted by stern choices between diametrically opposite alternatives. There is heaven and hell. There is good or evil. There is right or wrong. There is love or hate. There is peace or war. There is friendship or hostility. Man is always challenged by these painful decisions. The neutralist is the man who lacks the moral stamina to make a decision and who hunts for a safe and non-committal middle ground where he can evade a choice between the two extremes. The neutralist attitude is always the attitude of weakness. Usually, it proves to be not neutral at all, but an aid to the worst of the alternatives.

A Moral Decision
"In the present issue of world Communism versus freedom, the neutral position is always a Communist-serving position . . . Despite these glaring facts, the drift toward neutralism in some countries of the free world is continuous." Ambassador Tong said that an examination of the published facts shows that Red China is "an abject Soviet satellite." And the claim that it enjoys a broad base of popular support," he said, "completely overlooks the 20,000,000 corpses in Red China—killed by the "so-called crime of opposing the policies of the Communist regime."

The Ambassador cited magazine articles and literature being circulated to discussion groups, high schools and colleges which declare openly or subtly suggest that Red China should be admitted to the U. N. and recognized by America. Let's not be taken in by such propaganda which seeks to influence a compromise with evil. Ambassador Tong was an overnight guest in my home. We have mutual friends in China where I lived for 11 years. I consider Ambassador Tong's message and the morality of his cause of great importance to our nation and to the future of all mankind.

Motor Vehicle Insurance Law Is Explained

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, James B. Monroe, wishes to direct the attention of all drivers who are required by law to file a certificate of financial responsibility insurance, known as SR-22, with the department. There seems to be a misunderstanding as to the type of filing required.

If you do not own a vehicle registered in your name only and file an operators certificate covering you as a driver, Commissioner Monroe wishes to make it clear that this certificate covers you only when operating vehicles other than your own. If you secure a car at a later date, it will be necessary to obtain an owner's policy and have an owner's certificate, SR-22, filed at the department before securing any license plates in your name. The law requires a certificate covering each and every vehicle owned by you. You are warned that you definitely are not covered under an operator's certificate when driving a vehicle registered in your own name and if doing so, you are operating illegally and subject to arrest.

YOUNG IDEAS
from Polly Ponds

Q: "I'm at the head of my class and enjoy schoolwork—but the boys are afraid to date me because they think I'm a grind. What can I do?"

A: Perhaps without meaning to, you make them feel silly or immature—especially if you try to impress them with your scholastic brilliance outside the classroom. A thoroughly likeable and well rounded person is one who is both clever in school and adaptable socially.

For instance:

DON'T: In your loneliness, cultivate a superior air that will only frighten away potential dates.

DO: Join in the fun even when you think it's a bit childish. You're too young to be serious all the time.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

It is interesting to note both political parties in their platforms deal with subject of high taxation.

In fact, both platforms reflect the views of the nation's independent businessmen as expressed through the National Federation of Independent Business, as well as news on balancing the budget. In both parties there was recognition of the soundness of these views.

Strangely, no one comes out for higher taxes; no one comes out against a balanced budget, yet somebody must hold such feelings. Last session of Congress passed biggest peacetime appropriations in nation's history. These money bills were signed into law by administration. Majority of Congress was of party opposite to that of administration.

So mystery deepens. Just who is for higher taxes; against a balanced budget? Last session of Congress gave everybody ample opportunity to do something to both lower taxes, balance budget. For example, concrete action still waits on Reed Dirksen proposed amendment to Constitution to limit, except in times of war, income tax on both individuals and corporations to a maximum of 25%.

This amendment would also knock out $10 billion in government spending; close government out of 700 to 800 business enterprises ranging from coffee roasting to electric power generation, which represents a total of $50 billion, or $1,250 per average American family.

Then Congress had before it an amendment proposed by Sen. Harry Byrd, Virginia democrat, and Sen. Styles Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, which would require Congress to stay in session each year until it balanced the budget.

This is sometimes called the "put up or shut up" amendment. If Congress wanted to go hog wild on expenditures, well and good. But before scooting off to mingle with the home folks, Congress would also have to levy new taxes to meet the new expenditures. This would be a powerful force for governmental economy, its sponsors believe.

Then there is the Reed-Walters amendment unacted upon. This would clarify the Constitution by permitting states to initiate amendments to the Constitution. Thus when 32 states sent resolutions of identical content requesting an amendment, Congress would have to submit it to all the states. If 36 states ratified the amendment, it would be part of the Constitution.

This would give the states power to limit federal expenditures and taxes, and thus return government more closely to grass roots control.

In fact, many state, county and city governments are limited in the amount they can tax. Usually such laws were passed through the initiative and referendum system on those states.

So the problem of taxes, the problem of a balanced budget, are perhaps not so great as campaigning oratory would imply.

There are ways to solve these problems, and solutions have been proposed by some very sound American statesmen. Now that both party platforms are committed to these objectives, it is possible action will result.

Good Posture Week Is Proclaimed

National Correct Posture Week—the first week in May—will be sponsored here by the Maryland Chiropractic Assn., according to Dr. D. L. Beegle who is a past president of the association.

Chiropractors are especially conscious of the grave consequences which follow faulty posture, because a substantial proportion of their patients suffer from ills directly traceable to bad posture or to crumpled positions required by their jobs.

Dr. Beegle declares that over half of all adults have faulty posture habits, with resulting bad effects on their health and efficiency. Other things being equal, good posture means good health, vitality and efficiency; bad posture means poor health, lost wages and wasted productivity, and induces emotional depression and fatigue.

Both nationally and locally, organizations devoted to child health and welfare are being invited with special cordiality to join chiropractors in observance of Correct Posture Week. Training in body mechanics comes more easily in youth; incorrect posture habits contracted then are hard to break while good habits persist into maturity.

A bill is now pending in Congress which would authorize and direct the President to proclaim official observance of National Correct Posture Week the first seven days of May each year.

Dr. Beegle announces he will examine free, any school-age child whose parents schedule an appointment and who accompany them during the appointment. Dr. Beegle has been rendering this valuable community service for the past decade.

Burgess Clarence G. Frailey this week issued the following proclamation declaring Good Posture Week in Emmitsburg:

Whereas the most important single factor in man's attainment of his goals and in the materialization of his plans is physical fitness, and

Whereas all doctors are agreed that good health and correct posture go hand in hand, and that in any general program planned to improve the health of the people of this great nation, posture must be considered as one of the main factors in promoting sound bodies and the advancement of individual efficiency, and

Whereas the week of May 1-7, inclusive, has been set aside to stress the importance of correct posture in the schools, factories and homes of the nation to the end that the health of the nation may benefit thereby.

Now therefore, I, Clarence G. Frailey, Mayor of Emmitsburg, Md., by the power invested in me, do hereby proclaim the first week of May, 1957, as "Correct Posture Week" in Emmitsburg, and do urge all citizens to give serious consideration to the important benefits to be derived from good posture.

Mayor Clarence G. Frailey

WILL OPEN BIDS

Announcement has been made that Ruppert and May, Washington architects, will receive bids until May 9 at 2 p. m. on a semi-annual addition at Mt. St. Mary's College. A number of contractors are listed as prospective bidders.

Nursing Course Accredited

Saint Joseph College Division of Nursing, has been accorded full accreditation by the National League for Nursing. Announcement of the accreditation, made by the Collegiate Board of Review of the department of Baccalaureate and Higher Degree programs of the League, was received recently by Sister Hilda, president of the college and includes preparation for beginning positions in public health nursing.

The four-year basic degree program offered by the Division of Nursing, was initially approved by the Maryland State Board of Examiners of Nurses in April, 1952. It was the first collegiate program in the state to receive this approval.

The Division of Nursing of St. Joseph College was one of four collegiate programs selected from across the country for citation for outstanding work, by Miss Agnes Gelinas, dean of the School of Nursing of Skidmore College, in the Yearbook of Modern Nursing, 1956, published by G. P. Putnam's Sons. In addition to the campus at Emmitsburg, the nursing program also utilizes the clinical facilities of the new Providence Hospital in Washington, D. C., and St. Vincent's Infant Home in Baltimore, and has affiliations with Glenn Dale Hospital, Glenn Dale, Md., for tuberculosis nursing, the Seton Institute, Baltimore, for psychiatric nursing, the Instructive Visiting Nurse service of Baltimore, and the Washington County Health Dept., Hagerstown, for public health nursing and the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, for ophthalmological nursing.

PROCLAMATION

Establishing Organization of the "Bi-centennial Belles"

That inasmuch as the good men of Emmitsburg have so nobly sprouted bushy hair outgrowths in commemoration of the 200th Birthday Anniversary of the town of Emmitsburg, and that heretofore the feminine citizenry has been permitted to enjoy absolute freedom from any mandatory restraint, I hereby proclaim:

That in memory of their pioneer great-grandmothers of yore, any and all members of the female sex residing within the confines of Emmitsburg District, SHALL from June 25 to 29, refrain from appearing in public or on the highways of our ancient town while wearing rouge, eyeshadow, foundation cream, powder, mascara, nail polish, tinted or bleached hairy halos, perfume or jewelry, either singly or in matched combinations, without first obtaining the official Cosmetic Permit issued by the "Bi-centennial Belles." This beautiful cameo pin and choker will permit the wearers to use the above mentioned feminine emblems.

It is further decreed that this mandate shall be enforced by a special female police force sometimes dressed in readily recognizable police uniforms and at other times in secret.

Evaders of this mandate shall be turned over to Ye Female Keystone Kops and Ye Awful Judges of Ye Kangaroo Court, there to be sentenced and punished in accordance with the magnitude of their offenses.

Given under my hand and seal: CLARENCE G. FRAILEY, Mayor of Emmitsburg, Md.

County Tobacco Tax Unlikely This Year

There is no likelihood that a county tobacco tax will be placed in effect for the last seven months of this year, a member of the Board of County Commissioners said Monday.

President Delbert S. Null made the statement after a conference at the cothorhouse attended by the full board of commissioners; State Senator Jacob R. Ramsburg, Delegate C. Clifton Virts, chairman of the county delegation in the House; Dr. Paul Walker, University of Maryland Extension Service expert, and County Treasurer James H. Falk.

Under an enabling act passed by the legislature, the commissioners could place a tobacco tax in effect after June 1. But the board is understood to be loathe to take any action if there is to be a State cigaret tax.

Monday morning's conference was largely to talk over what action the legislature may be expected to take on the veto of Gov. McKeldin on the State cigaret tax bill to raise teachers' salaries.

There has been talk that the legislature may vote to override the veto—but not action seems likely until the next session early in January.

That leaves the commissioners in a dilemma as to what action they should take on a county tax which is needed to help finance a school construction program, since they are not in favor of a double cigaret tax—State and county. Action on the county level now seems certain to be postponed until at least the first of the year.

St. Joseph's High School Activities

The annual Spring Concert, "Youth in Spring," will be presented by the Glee Club of St. Joseph's High School in the auditorium, Sunday, May 5, at 8:00 p. m.

Under the direction of Miss Louella Linsinger, songs of various phases, such as romance, patriotism and folk songs will be rendered. Soloists for the presentation will be Antoinette Elliot, Loretta Behr, Ann Marie Knott and Michael Topper. A special dance will feature Loretta Behr.

Members of the Junior Class are very busy making final preparations for the Junior-Senior Prom to be held May 10 in the high school auditorium.

The Home Economics II Class members are proudly displaying a wardrobe of summer fashions which have been their projects.

ATTEND SESSIONS

Mrs. John Richards, representing the Emmitsburg Public School P-TA, and Sue Eyster and Janet Springer, representing the Emmitsburg Public High School, attended the High School Citizenship meeting in Annapolis last Saturday.

The theme of the meeting was "What Citizenship Means to You," sponsored by the Maryland State Assn. of Teachers and 29 other organizations.

Sand eels are very delicious when covered with corn meal and fried in butter.—Sports Afield

Included in the wardrobe are blouses, skirts, jumpers and dresses.

NO. 18,494 EQUITY In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland QUINCIE M. WILLIAMS

CARLTON L. WILLIAMS The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii from the Complainant, Quincie M. Williams, from the Respondent, Carlton L. Williams.

The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on the 5th day of December, 1951 in Federalburg, Maryland by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that they lived together as man and wife in various places in the State of Maryland until on or about the 1st day of February, 1953, when the Respondent, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant; that said desertion has continued uninterrupted for more than 18 months last past; that the separation of the parties is final and deliberate and that there is no hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Respondent is a resident of the State of Maryland and resides at Bridgeville, Maryland. The Bill prays that the Complainant be divorced a Vinculo Matrimonii, and for general relief and process.

It is thereupon this 24th day of April, 1957, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, Ordered that the Complainant give notice to the said Respondent of the object and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 1st day of June, 1957, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of June, 1957, and show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

True Copy Test: ELLIS C. WACHTER Clerk of the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Md.

Grange Banquet Largely Attended

The annual Emmitsburg Grange banquet was held last Thursday evening in the Lutheran parish hall. A delicious turkey and oyster supper was prepared by the ladies of the Lutheran Church and served by the Juvenile Grange.

The dinner session was called to order by Master Harry Swomley with the singing of America. The invocation was asked by Rev. Philip Bower. Following the dinner Edgar G. Emrich acted as toastmaster and introduced the following guests: Jerome Davis, assistant to the National Grange master; Russell Ford, assistant to the Maryland State Grange master; Howard Quinn, Frederick County deputy; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crum of the Glade Valley Grange; Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Zimmerman of the Ballenger Grange; Mr. and Mrs. Arvin P. Jones; Mayor and Mrs. Clarence G. Frailey; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Renn, Ballenger Grange.

Mr. Bruce Crum gave a humorous recitation: "How I Made This Country Safe for Democracy."

Paul Beale, Jr., John Krom, Richard Swomley, Maurice Zentz, Jr., Eugene Miller, Joyce Meadows, Shirley Hahn, Shirley Barnhouse, Pam Miller and Mary Jo Hatters, waiters and waitresses, all members of the Juvenile Grange, gave their rendition of the song hit, "Marrion." Loretta Hatter, sang, "Ireland."

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Austin Renn of Buckeystown, overseer of the State Grange, chose as his topic, "A Review of the Grange," bringing to light such facts as the Grange as an organization, was first conceived in 1867; it consists of four degrees on the subordinate level which depicts the life of the seasons. The Grange was the first to recognize women on an organizational level with men; it is the only farm fraternity to which every member of the family may belong. There is more religion and patriotism in the Grange than in any other organization and it is non-sectarian. Four hundred and fifty farm organizations with a membership of 100,000 or more have come and gone since the Grange first was organized.

Seventy-five members and invited guests were present at the banquet which was in charge of the following committee: Mrs. Margaret Meadows, chairman, Mrs. Morris Zentz and Mrs. Rosanna Fuss.
