The hangman's noose will be a thing of the past in this Free State and a colored man will have the dubious honor of being the last man hanged in the state of Maryland (legally) that is, late this month when this man walks the 13 steps to the gallows in Baltimore, it will mark the end of an era of this inhuman form of capital punishment. The gallows will be dismantled and the next victim will have the questionable pleasure of meeting his Maker via the gas chamber.

Here's your chance to give the Bicentennial program a big assist. Perhaps you haven't been given a chore to do as yet, so here is one way in which you can help. Old pictures, many of them, are needed for the completeness of the Chronicle's special Bicentennial supplement and also the souvenir brochure which goes to press in the near future. These items are a must and the success of the publication hinges on how many rare photographs can be borrowed for the occasion. Street scenes, local buildings, occasions, old cars, horse-drawn vehicles, etc., are a welcome addition to the list we already have on file. Good care will be taken of these photographs and all will be returned in their original condition, so please, neighbors, how about a little help—immediately?

The high cost of living seems to be plaguing the general public and Congress is having considerable pressure applied to it to reduce the proposed budget now before it. Too high, utterly ridiculous, is the cry from the majority of the public. The largest budget in history... for what? I think President Eisenhower is in for a whale of a battle by trying to ram this intended spending spree down the citizens' throats. So adamant is he in his position that the budget is a "must" that he will take to the stump, so to speak, and will appear on television with several addresses in the near future, in an effort to try and convince us that the budget is justified. I sort of like to feel that Congress is just as adamant in its stand to check this record-breaking spending spree which sees both man and wife working to keep their families going these days and still winding up with nothing.

Better hurry you anglers. Get your fishing license early as the first of the month the price tag on this privilege will be doubled. Let's hope the increased fee will bring us all better fishing in the future, because things are none too good in this area, as far as this sport is concerned. If you don't particularly like trout fishing you are out of luck and have to travel many miles to enjoy a few hours of the sport, so I am in the hopes that the additional funds derived from the sale of these licenses will help the Game Commission to help us by providing more and better fish in more nearby places. The new license rate is effective June 1.

Better watch your step, Mr. Motorist, there has been an unannounced traffic rearrangement locally. I noticed early this week, much to my surprise, that Chesapeake Avenue is now a one-way avenue from north to south, so beware, lest you be sorry. Just in case you are not familiar with Chesapeake Ave., it is that street which runs in front of the Toor Shoe Factory.

C. G. Frailey Re-elected Burgess

Clarence G. Frailey, retired businessman and Burgess of Emmitsburg, was re-elected to that post for another year's term after balloting took place Tuesday in the annual town election held in the Fire Hall. Mr. Frailey ran unopposed for the position as titular head of the town and polled 187 votes.

Voting was extremely light Tuesday with only about a third of the eligible number of voters turning out, despite excellent weather. Of the 436 names on the voting books, only 144 took the opportunity to vote. Mr. Frailey's election was the second in the last two years, the office term being for one year only.

In the race for Town Commissioner, incumbent Charles R. Fuss outdistanced J. Edward Houck by a narrow margin of seven votes. Commissioner Fuss has served two terms on the Town Council and this represents the start of his third term which will run for another three years. Mr. Houck's try for public office was his first and he polled a splendid vote. Of the total number of votes cast Tuesday, Commissioner Fuss polled 74 to Mr. Houck's 67. One ballot was invalidated and one write-in vote for Bernard H. Boyle was recorded. Judges of election were Charles D. Gillelan and Dr. J. W. Houser.

Present members of the Town Council are: Burgess, Clarence G. Frailey; Commissioners, Charles R. Fuss, Wales E. Rightour and J. Allen Bouey.

HIRSUTE GROUP ENROLLS OVER 100 MEMBERS

The "Brothers of the Brush" topped the century mark in enrollment figures this week when Ralph F. Irelan, chairman of the Bicentennial Beard Committee reported that to date 103 local males had taken the pledge to refrain from shaving "for the duration."

It had been the fond hope of the committee that 100 enlistees could be obtained and members are highly elated with the results to date and feel that numerous others are promenading about town but as yet haven't signed up for $1 and received their membership cards. Over 300 hi-toppers and derbies have been sold to date and the demand for this symbolic apparel continues unabated. Several hundred Bicentennial neckties also have been sold and can be obtained for $1 at Bicentennial Headquarters on the Square or in business establishments.

MT. GLEE CLUB TO GIVE ANNUAL SPRING CONCERT

The program will feature selections from Frim's "Rose Marie," Romberg's "The Desert Song," and the current hit, "My Fair Lady." Offerings from "Rose Marie" include choral renditions of "Hard Boiled Herman," "Totent Tom-Tom" and "Mounties' Marching Song." Miss Wright will sing "Door of Her Dreams," "Indian Love Call" with James Campbell, tenor, "I Have the Love," and "Reprise-Rose Marie" with the chorus. Cyril Malloy, Jr., baritone, will do "Rose Marie." Numbers from "The Desert Song" including "The Riff Song" by the chorus, "Romance" by Miss Wright, "I Want a Kiss" by Miss Wright and Richard Ensor. "The Desert Song" by Miss Wright and James Campbell, "One Flower in Your Garden" by James Klienendienst, tenor, "One Alone" by Cyril Malloy and the chorus, "French Military Marching Song" by the chorus, and the "Reprise—The Desert Song" by Miss Wright and the chorus.

The "Brothers" are faced with serious competition, so far as popularity in the community is concerned, by the recent organization of the "Bicentennial Belles" who threaten to steal the show away from the bearded gentry. Started just last week the village gals are rapidly swelling their ranks and the battle is on.

Arrangements are being made to have a busload of the "Brothers" take in a major league baseball game in Baltimore late this month and if possible, appear on television. Efforts are being made by the committee to hold a stag party or two for the members where they can get together and let down their hair.

St. Joseph College Gets Research Grant

Sister Hilda, president of St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, has announced the receipt of a $9300 research grant from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D. C. The grant is for the purpose of furthering research in the field of kinetics by Dr. Louis W. Clark, head of the division of natural sciences and mathematics at the college.

The title of Dr. Clark's research project is "A fundamental and systematic investigation of the kinetics of the decomposition of unstable organic acids in non-aqueous solvents between 50 and 200 degrees by a manometric technique." The grant will cover the purchase of equipment and supplies, salary for student assistants and salary for the chief investigator during the next two years.

During the winter Dr. Clark, who has published numerous articles on the results of his research, received a grant of $3000 from the Raskob Foundation for Catholic Activities, Inc., Wilmington, Del., to carry on his experiment in kinetics.

BICENTENNIAL BELLES ACTIVE IN COMMUNITY

With the forthcoming of the Bi-centennial Celebration, the whole town can readily see what effort the men, so called "The Brothers of the Brush" are contributing, but as yet the women have been letting the men steal the show.

Having organized the Bi-centennial Belle's Club last week the Centennial Belles are off to a good start with quite a few charter members and a goal of 150.

The new enrollment in the past week was as follows: Mrs. Anna L. Shorb, Mrs. Helen Claypool, Mrs. Marion Oddo, Miss Frances DeBerry, Miss Lavonna Jones, Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner, Mrs. Charlotte Sanders, Mrs. Kathleen Shorb, Mrs. Anna Bushman, Mrs. Margie Sharpe, Mrs. Anna Adams, Mrs. Elizaeth McCleary, Mrs. Charlotte Bollinger, Mrs. Carolyn Eyster, Mrs. Ruth Hobbs, Mrs. Ruth Wivell, and Mrs. David Martin, a cosmetic permit.

Let's put a little fun and atmosphere in this Bi-centennial, girls—get out your old dresses, bonnets, and high-buttoned shoes. Let's show these men they can't have all the fun. Members are requested to bring to the meeting what ever patterns or dresses they have already acquired so everyone can have a chance to look over them and enter or model what is desired in the fashion show.

Along with wearing some copies of our Great Grandmothers' dresses and bonnets, plans are being made for visits to all the neighboring towns. Actual radio and TV appearances are being scheduled.

We must be aware of the fact that if we aren't to be a Centennial Belle we must obtain a Cosmetic Permit or be fined $1. Any of the ladies in our fair town who have not become a charter member is subject to the fine. So come on girls, let's swing into action! It is to be noted that a light coat of lipstick can be worn until the last week. Wearing of the bonnets is compulsory beginning at a future date, which will be decided at our next meeting.

There will be a series of prizes for the best costumes, based on the oldest, authentic costume handed down by an ancestor, most comical, prettiest, the best Gay '90, and the best mother and daughter combination.

Anyone that wishes to join the Bi-centennial Belle's Club may call the Bi-centennial Headquarters or plan to attend our next meeting which will be held at the headquarters on W. Main St., on Tuesday, May 14, at 8:30 p. m.

Please try to attend this meeting and join the Bi-centennial Belles, so that we, too, can make this celebration a big success.

Town Council Okays New Sewerage Project

Emmitsburg definitely will have a new sewerage system and just as soon as it is feasible the Town Council decided at its regular monthly meeting held in the Fire Hall Monday night. Chairman of the Board of Commissioners Charles R. Fuss presided over the meeting and the full board was present.

In an effort to convince the public that the Council was sincere in efforts to get the new project under way the Town Fathers placed a resolution in the minute book calling for all speed ahead with the new sewerage system, and it is highly probable that it can be completed within the next year or two.

The town clerk, Louise Sebald, gave the reports of the clerk, tax collector and treasurer and all were approved as presented. Parking meter revenue for April was reported as $351.55. In addition there was a total of $45 in traffic fines bringing the overall total for the month to $396.55. The town attorney, Edward D. Storm, was present at the meeting and advised Council on legal proceedings regarding the installation of the new sewer system. The next step will be to obtain rights-of-way for the pipe line and to purchase land for the site of the new disposal plant. Council advised.

Petitions for annexation were received from Emmitt Gardens and South Seton Ave. extended. It was announced that another section of suburban territory, the north side of State Route 97, running parallel with Emmitt Gardens, and embracing the properties of Genevieve R. Elder, Arthur Elder, Russell B. Ohler, Chas. Sharper, Mrs. Ruth Troxell and Ray Gigeous, would have a petition before Council before the next meeting, calling for annexation to the Corporation, since the Council definitely committed itself to install the new sewer system as soon as possible.

Street Commissioner Charles R. Fuss announced that all the alleys have been resurfaced, or patched, and that a new alley had been paved in the West End of town. New stop-signs have been received and will be installed shortly, the commissioner disclosed.

Mayor Clarence G. Frailey read a letter from the State Health Dept., which okayed the plans for the new system and he reported that a recent survey of the taxable assets of the town showed a total of $1,250,000. After the new territory is annexed it is believed that this figure will be hiked to a million and a half dollars. Council received a complaint of an unpaved vacant lot in the East End and promised to have it cleared up in the near future. Residents in the area condemned the lot saying it is a mosquito and rat harbor and was overgrown with poison ivy. A delegation of two DePaul Street property-owners was present at the session and questioned Council as to how soon the new sewerage system would be installed. The Town Solons will send a local representative to the Maryland Municipal League Conference to be held in Ocean City, Md., next month. After a lengthy debate Council decided to raise the sewerage system tap-in charge from the present fee of $5 to $20, so henceforth all new taps will cost $20.00.

In other business transacted the Town Fathers made a $100 donation to the new VFW ambulance fund, reported that the new sewerage system preliminary engineering survey cost $8,500 and discussed placing a float in the Bicentennial Parade on June 22.

The next meeting of the Town Council will be held on Tuesday, May 20, at 7:30 p. m. in the Fire Hall.

Fishing License To Be Hiked To $3.00

According to the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission the recently adjourned legislature enacted several laws, duly signed by the Governor, affecting the cost of angler's licenses in the non-tidal waters of Maryland.

The first is an increase in the cost of the resident angler's license from $1.50 to $3.00. This Act becomes effective, according to the Attorney-General of Maryland, on the first day of June, 1957, and all those who purchase resident licenses on and after June 1 will be required to pay the increased fee of $3.00. The licenses are valid through Dec. 31, 1957.

The special Potomac River license, for residents of W. Virginia, Virginia, and the District of Columbia only, was increased from $1.75 to $3.00. The three-day tourist non-resident angler's license was also increased from $1.75 to $3.00. These increases also become effective June 1, 1957. The fee for the full term annual non-resident angling license remains the same, namely $10.

The other measure of importance change the age under which persons, both resident and non-resident, may fish in non-tidal waters without a Maryland fishing license. Formerly this age limit was 14, but beginning June 1, 1957, the age will be 16. A boy or girl must obtain the license when reaching the 16th birthday.

With the additional funds received from these increases the Commission plans an enlarged program for 1958.

Veterinary authorities say that any amount of nitrate above one per cent in the total ration is a potential cause of trouble on the farm.

Community Chest
Now County-wide

The Community Chest of Frederick, Inc., will no longer confine its fund raising activities to Frederick City and environs as it has in past years, but this year and henceforth will extend its efforts throughout Frederick County in accordance with a recent action of its Board of Directors.

This county-wide plan was put into effect at a meeting of the Executive Committee just held and presided over by the new president, Parsons Newman, who appointed a committee consisting of Charles S. V. Sanner, Chairman, Neiman Brunk and Eugene Thomas. This committee will shortly prepare the necessary plans and table of organization to be used in this first full scale county-wide campaign.

A general chairman will soon be selected by the Executive Committee in the absence of Mr. Newman, who just recently embarked on an extensive vacation in Europe. The general campaign chairman will this year be assisted by a County Chairman and a City Chairman, and it is expected that an announcement will shortly be made as to the identity of the general chairman who will select his City and County Chairmen.

Practically all of the present seven chest agencies are and have been to some extent operating and rendering services throughout Frederick County, and they are expected to intensify their county activities with the Chest now on a county basis. The seven agencies that rely on the Chest for most of their operating funds are: Salvation Army, Children's Aid Society, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Federated Charities and Esther Grinage Kindergarten.

The Community Chest since its inception back in 1938 has confined its fund raising endeavors to Frederick City and some of the immediate nearby county areas such as Braddock Heights. Because of the industrial development and continued increase in population the various Chest agencies have been called upon to render services throughout the county. This fact together with the multiplicity of fund raising charities that have come into being since the Chest was first organized, has made it extremely difficult for the Chest to obtain support for its ever-growing agencies by confining the annual campaign to Frederick City alone. This is easily understood when consideration is given to the fact that large segments of the working population of the City actually reside in the County.

It was pointed out by Chest officials that this action putting the forthcoming campaign on a full county-wide basis, is but the initial phase in a move to shortly bring about the formation of a United Fund campaign for Frederick whereby as many as possible of all the charities that now conduct annual appeals would be banded together in just one combined annual effort. The Community Chest has had this under consideration for sometime now and this forthcoming county-wide appeal is the first phase of such a plan. The United Fund idea is being adopted in cities and communities all over the country and is meeting with universal acceptance and success.

The officers of the Chest this year are: Parsons Newman, President; Benjamin L. Shuff, first vice president; Dan Weinberg, 2nd vice-president; and Robert L. Smith, Secretary-treasurer. The Executive committee is composed of the officers aforementioned together with Paul McAuliffe, Glenn Swisher, Neiman Brunk and C. S. V. Sanner. Mrs. Ellis C. Wachter is executive secretary of the Chest with headquarters in the Federated Charities building.

observation, the scientists put her in a rotating chair equipped with all kinds of gadgets to test responses during and immediately after rotation. When the ballerina was told to "spot" she had hardly any reaction. But when she did not, her eyes jerked haphazardly while the chair spun, and when it stopped she was dizzy.

The same test was given many other people—some who were blind and some with only partial defects of vision. The result of all this whirling has been a reliable clinical test by which a doctor can distinguish between psychic and organic blindness.

Ballerinas, rats, mice, guinea pigs, monkeys, penitentiary prisoners, rabbits, fruit flies—they all have made their contribution to science. New discoveries in medicine can't be used to help you and me until they've been proved harmless on different kinds of animals and finally on human volunteers. The next time the doctor gives you a diagnostic test, or a shot of vaccine, or a prescription for an antibiotic, give a grateful thought to the thousands of animals and self-sacrificing human beings who have helped to make these miracles of medicine possible.

Farm Help Is Effected By New Social Security Rules

Farmers who hire help on their farms in 1957 will be effected by the change in the Social Security Act which provide new rules for determining when a farm hand is covered by social security, according to Mr. W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Administration.

In the years 1955 and 1956 any farm worker who was paid at least $100 in cash wages in a year by one employer was covered by the Act, and his farm employer was required to report his cash wages for social security. Any farm operators who may have overlooked this should get in touch with their nearest Internal Revenue office and file the necessary reports.

Beginning with the year 1957 the amount a farm hand must be paid by one farm employer to be covered by social security is raised from $100 to $150. In 1957, however, even if a farm hand was paid less than $150 he would still be covered if he worked for one farm employer on some part as many as 20 different days during the year on a time (hourly, weekly, etc.) basis rather than a piece-work basis.

For example, a farm worker employed 22 days during 1957 will be covered even if he is paid only $80 or less. On the other hand, a farm worker employed 15 days in 1957 for one farm operator and paid $110 would not be covered, since he meets neither the $150 test nor the 20-day test. A farm worker who was paid $160 would be covered even if he worked less than 20 days.

Under these new rules affecting hired farm help, it will be necessary for farm operators to keep records of the number of days (or part days) that farm help works for them, as well as the amount of cash wages paid. Free booklets explaining this new law are available at the Hagerstown social security office.

Chocolate Dessert Contest. Her dessert was a favorite of the family long before it was known as:

Mrs. Maryland's Hot Fudge Eclairs

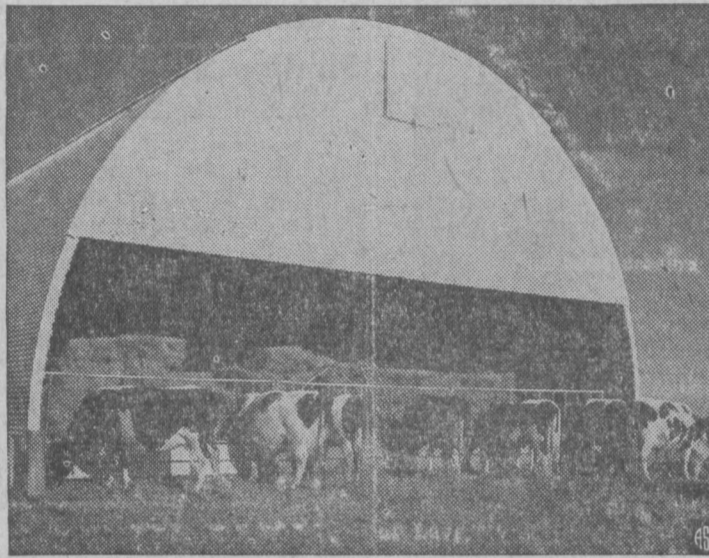

Make eclairs using your favorite eclair recipe. When eclairs are cool split them in half. Fill with French Vanilla ice cream. Cover top with rich, thick Hot Fudge Sauce. Sprinkle with tender-thin flaked coconut.

Hot Fudge Sauce

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate in saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly. Add sugar. Add evaporated milk, a little at a time. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a full boil. Then simmer for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and vanilla. Serve hot over eclairs filled with ice cream. Makes 1-2/3 cups.

Good Hay Pays!
New Drying System Makes Sure

One answer to the current cost-price squeeze confronting dairy farmers and beef feeders is a mechanical hay-drying-storage system such as that (above) recently developed by the Stran-Steel Corporation. It permits the farmer to harvest his hay early, save the high-protein leaves, dry and store it in one handling—with a minimum of labor and a maximum of high quality hay. A third feature of the system is the self-feeding manger.

The Stran-Steel system consists of a steel building (either Quonset or rigid-frame) and an electric fan which forces natural unheated air into a duct and out evenly through the hay. Early-harvest hay may be brought in from the field at about 35% moisture-content and dried down to safe storage level of 20% in less than four days!

The dollars-and-cents economy of the new system has been borne out by recent studies. Conducted on the premise that good hay is the most important part of a dairy cow or beef cow's ration, the studies revealed that the feeding of good hay resulted in a gain of as much as a half-pound more per head of beef cattle over poor quality hay. The studies also showed it is possible for dairymen to save up to $90.30 per head per year by the substitution of leafy, high-quality hay for half of the higher-priced grain concentrates.

The United Lutheran Church Women will hold a covered dish supper and meeting next Thursday evening at 7 p. m. in the Lutheran parish hall. Mrs. Morris A. Zentz and Mrs. Esther Warren will be hostesses.

Let us show you why FOX owners seldom lose a forage crop

Fox Forage Harvesters are engineered to harvest all forage crops in a hurry. Rugged construction keeps them on the job—prevents time-wasting breakdowns that might lead to sunburned or rain-leached hay—or even loss of a crop. Many Fox Harvesters have been operating 10 years and longer due to this sturdy construction.

Exclusive safety features prevent damage from stones or other hard objects entering knives. . . . Knives and cutter bar always held true and rigid by heavy one-piece welded steel frame. . . . Field sharpening is quick and simple. 20 lengths of cut available.

Fox can harvest ALL your forage crops. . . . One man, without tools, can change to mowbar, pick-up or row crop unit in 10 minutes.

Dance, Ballerina
The dancer whirling across the stage certainly proves that the feet can be faster than the eye. But did you know that science has also learned from her basic facts about the human eye?

Why doesn't the spinning ballerina get dizzy? Analyzing her movements in a pirouette scientists noted that she focuses or "spots" on a distant object before starting to turn. With each turn, she twists her body as far as possible, keeping her eyes focussed on the object. Then she snaps her head around to re-focus on her point of reference. So she can spin around and never lose her balance.

TODAY'S meditation

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Isaiah 55:6-13. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. (Isaiah 55:7.) Many years ago a man of bad reputation lived in our rural community. His neighbors had good reason to doubt his uprightness. He did an unusual thing. He sewed to the outer garment on his back a white cross, which he thereafter wore. His youthful nephew said to him: "Uncle, I've heard of the thief on the cross, but I never before saw a cross on a thief."

Serve Dramatic Cherry Angel Loaf

A dessert that calls for your best silver and company manners is Cherry Angel Loaf. It is a combination of a few simple foods, which, assembled in this artistic creation, give a dessert that is beautiful to look at and almost too good to eat. This is just one of the many truly creative dishes you can conjure up with the help of canned sweet cherries, for they lend themselves to dramatic dishes of all types. Sweet cherries, though universally popular, are a Western fruit. Modern varieties are the result of the ingenuity of western pioneers, who experimented with cherry seedlings until the big, juicy Bing, Lambert and Royal Annes emerged. These cherries are grown and canned almost exclusively on the Pacific Coast where the rich volcanic soil and moderate climate make for bountiful crops of the highest quality. Besides desserts, canned sweet cherries are used in salads, sauces, fruit cocktails and pastries. A dish of cherries makes a welcome fruit sauce. The syrup need never be wasted for it lends color and flavor to molded gelatin salads or to fruit punch.

Cherry Angel Loaf
1 No. 303 can dark sweet cherries
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 13-oz. oblong baker's angel food cake
1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream
1 3-oz. package cream cheese
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup coconut, tinted pink
Drain and pit cherries. Reserve syrup (about 3/4 cup) and combine it with cornstarch and sugar. Heat to boiling and cook until thick and clear. Add pitted cherries and vanilla and cool. Scoop shallow center from angel food loaf, leaving about 1/2 inch border around edges. Frost sides and border of cake with softened cream cheese to which whipping cream and sugar have been added and beat until frosting holds its shape. Sprinkle frosted sides of cake with tinted coconut and fill center of cake with cherry filling. Chill. Serves 8 to 10.

A sacred symbol used falsely deceives neither God nor the person himself. Unless what we are from day to day confirms our Christian profession, our lives are out of harmony with the eternal God. Hypocrisy, deceit, and sham were disdained by our Lord, for they have no place in the gospel of brotherly love. In its noblest meaning, character is Christlike. The cross symbolizes the finest in our Christian religion — God's gift of love revealed to mankind!

Prayer
Our Father, we thank Thee for making known to us the truth that our discipleship demands proof in the way we live. Cleanse us of hypocrisy, deceit, and sham. Help us to develop Christlike character. In His name we ask it. Amen.
Thought For The Day
Discipleship demands that I be in accord with the will of the infinite God.

Preakness At Pimlico May 18

BALTIMORE, Md. — The eyes of the racing world shifted over the week end from historic Churchill Downs in Kentucky to equally ancient Pimlico in Maryland. With the 89rd Kentucky Derby now history, plans have been completed for the most elaborate program of entertainment ever to surround the 81st running of the $100,000 Preakness, second jewel in horsemen's Triple Crown. The Preakness is scheduled to go postward at 5:45 p. m. on Saturday, May 18, but it will be preceded by nearly nine hours of preliminaries. Pimlico, which was the scene of racing five years before Churchill Downs came into being in 1875, will swing open its gates at 9:30 a. m. and mutual windows for advance betting on the Preakness open at the same time. Before the official races get under way at 1:45 p. m., there will be a Powder Puff Preakness, a regulation event except for the fact that all jockeys are girls, a daring exhibition of horse jumping and performances by a nationally-known American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps. The Powder-Puff race is a no-wagering event, but the female riders—recruited from the ranks of local fox hunting clubs and race track exercise girls—give it the old college try for five furlongs after a regulation start from the electrical gate. This will be the sixth running of the event which has become a Preakness Day fixture by popular demand. When the American Legion musicians have exhausted their repertoire, the 84-piece Maryland

Telephone Co. Earmarks Funds For Expansion

To expand and improve telephone service in Maryland, the board of directors of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, in its regular meeting approved expenditures of $4,534,000 according to an announcement by W. Griffin Morrel, vice president. For Baltimore City, an allocation of $1,808,000 was made for cable and outside wire facilities as part of the $4,000,000 dial changeover project now underway in Brooklyn. Also, $324,000 to provide aerial and underground cable to connect additional telephones in the downtown and southern sections of the city.

Approval was given to spend $440,000 for additional lines and dial equipment to meet service demands in Catonsville. An expenditure of $75,000 will be made for poles and aerial cable to provide service to new housing developments in the Pikesville area. To meet the continuing demands for service, the directors approved an expenditure of $199,000 for aerial and underground cables in Aberdeen and $64,000 to enlarge Clarksville's dial system.

An expenditure of $132,000 was approved for poles and aerial cable to meet service demands in Waldorf and $36,000 was authorized to provide new dial central office equipment to connect additional telephones at West River.

For Western Maryland, two projects totaling $33,000 was approved to enlarge the telephone systems at Buckeystown and Frostburg.

On the Eastern Shore, an allocation of $131,000 was approved to construct a new building as part of a $646,000 dial changeover project in Ocean City.

In the Maryland area, suburban to Washington, the directors approved four projects totaling $457,000 for aerial and underground cable to meet service demands.

Jockey Club Band swings into action to serenade the fans for the remainder of the afternoon. This is the red-coated group that signals the start of the Preakness post parade with a rousing rendition of "Dixie."

The horses prance to the starting gates to the muted strains of "Maryland, My Maryland", an air that will have the same effect on Free State fans as "My Old Kentucky Home" did on Hard Boot spectators two weeks earlier.

This part of the spectacle will be seen by millions of sports fans from coast-to-coast on a C.B.S. television hookup from 5:30 to 6 p. m. EDT. The major innovation of this year's Preakness program will be the opening of Pimlico's grassy 30-acre infield to the public providing accommodations for an additional 20,000 fans. Complete betting and refreshment facilities will be set up on the infield along with 10,000 bench seats which will be free on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Soil Bank Rules Are Binding

Farmers who plant a cover crop on land designated for the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve should make sure that the crop planted is one of those approved for that purpose, Leonard C. Burns, Chairman of the Maryland Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee, cautioned growers this week.

A list of crops approved by the State and County Committees for protective cover was given to each farmer at the time he signed his agreement to take part in the Acreage Reserve program.

The State Committee emphasized, however, that approval of a cover crop on Acreage Reserve land does not void the agreement not to harvest a crop from the designated acres. If a grass, legume, or other crop is approved for protective cover on Acreage Reserve land and would mature a crop in 1957 which could be harvested for grain or seed, it must be disposed of in such a manner that no part of the crop can be harvested. May 31, 1957 is the deadline for disposing of such a crop in Maryland. Farmers are urged to check with their County ASC Office if they have any questions about this or other phases of the Soil Bank program.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses The Future Of Agriculture

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 9—Many farmers write me complaining about the cost-squeeze. They are discouraged because for them the bottom seems to have fallen out of the farm market. I sympathize with these people, but I suspect that many of them have come upon hard times because they are not farming as well as they know how. Also, many of them are not keeping abreast of new ideas and new crops.

Trend Is Toward More Mechanization
 Tremendous changes have taken place in farming during my lifetime. When I was a boy, horses and mules furnished practically all the power on farms. Even as recently as 1910, there was almost no mechanization on farms. In that year the total farm population was 32,076,960. By 1950, this had dwindled to 25,058,000, a decline of 21%. Most observers estimate the present farm population to be only 20,000,000. Thus farmers and their families now account for only 11.8% of our total population compared with 34.9% in 1910.

I predict that machines will continue to displace men on American farms. Hence, the smaller commercial farms will be hard put to survive. However, I do not believe farmers should be despairing of the future. A good living can still be made on the farm by those who open their eyes to progress. Obviously, the trend is toward new crops and greater mechanization, and there is no sense in bucking the trend.

Over-Production Is A Temporary Problem

Right now farmers are the victims of their own unusual ability to coax record yields-per-acre from the soil. Better seed, improved fertilization and irrigation, and more efficient spreading, cultivating, and harvesting machinery have increased production. During the war our farmers rose magnificently to the challenge to provide food and feed for our allies, and now they are temporarily in trouble.

Future Of Agriculture

At present we are growing at least 5% more farm products than we can sell. In an effort to keep our farm surpluses from becoming too burdensome, the government spends huge sums on the price support programs, the soil bank, and foreign distribution schemes. All these measures have helped to some extent, but they are by no means cure-alls. I am disturbed by the fact that too many farmers take undue advantage of this government help by deliberately overproducing. However, I am firmly convinced that this over-production is a temporary problem.

Research Holds The Answers
 Research has performed wonders for all other industries. I forecast that it will also perform wonders for agriculture. Chemistry, industry, and agriculture, working together, gave us hybrid corn and varieties of the soybean which would grow in our country. This combination sponsored the research that produced a new dwarf variety of castorbean said to yield as much as 2,700 pounds per acre if the soil is properly irrigated and fertilized with nitrogen. Also, a new combine harvester-huller has been developed which will gather tall or short castorbeans without waste. I predict a profitable future for castorbeans, with output reaching as high as 350,000 crop acres.

A stimulating flow of new research ideas has emerged from the recent annual Chemurgic Conference of the Council for Agriculture and Chemurgic Research. This organization and others like it are facing up to the real farm problem, which is not over-production but under-utilization and waste.

Industrial Uses For Farm Products
 We should be proud of the progress agriculture has made in our country. But there is still much to learn about soils, irrigation, and weather. Crops such as castorbeans and sesame seed will become big business before long and I forecast that other big new cash crops are coming. But I want now to call special attention to the need for putting more farm products and residues to work in industry.

President Eisenhower is alert to this need. Some months ago, he appointed a Commission on Increased Use of Agricultural Products. Its report should be made public within the next month. I urge farmers to study it carefully and to follow it up with action. Over the long pull, I am bullish about farming in this country.

 CARLTON L. WILLIAMS

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii from the Complainant, Quincie M. Williams, from the Respondent, Carlton L. Williams.

The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on the 5th day of December, 1951 in Federalburg, Maryland by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that they lived together as man and wife in various places in the State of Maryland until on or about the 1st day of February, 1953, when the Respondent, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant; that said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than 18 months last past; that the separation of the parties is final and deliberate and that there is no hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Respondent is a resident of the State of Maryland and resides at Bridgeville, Maryland. A Disturbing Report

One of the important lessons yet to be learned by many of our citizens is that the great foundation principles and ideals underlying America's unparalleled progress will die—no matter how right and advantageous they may be—unless they are carefully nurtured and taught to each oncoming generation of citizens.

handled Communist "brainwashing" most of the 7,000 American prisoners responded in varying degrees to the wishes of their Red captors. The United States Army says they behaved like no other group of Americans had behaved since the founding of our Republic.

It should likewise disturb America's entire citizenry—every adult man and woman. Because the fault lies not with the 7,000 American prisoners but with all of us—with We the People of America.

we haven't been teaching our youth in the homes and churches and schools—proper understanding of and respect for the great values, the great truths of life, and the basic principles upon which our nation was founded.

Major William E. Mayer, the U. S. Army's top authority on Communist brain-washing, came to the National Education Program's 18th Freedom Forum to report on the results of the Army's comprehensive study of the behavior of the 7,000 American prisoners in Korea.

Careful Study Major Mayer and his corps of psychiatrists in Japan interviewed hundreds of prisoners as they were released. "Case Histories" obtained on 1,000 were studied. Every phase of the three years Communist imprisonment was clearly illuminated.

"What we found in use on the prisoners," said Major Mayer, "was a system of indoctrination, of education reality, which was of the very highest order of excellence from the standpoint of the method used and the standpoint of the stewardship shown in the application of this education. It was very much like... what God said to Moses: they taught them as they woke up and they taught them as they went to bed and they taught them on the way, every day, seven days a week. And with a great deal of evident sincerity."

Broke Down True Values "It was a procedure, however, which differed from most of our preconceived ideas about the nature of education in that they made an attempt to employ systematically and deliberately a number of perfectly sound and familiar and tested principles of psychology and psychiatry, the same ones we use in the treatment of patients. They used these backwards by our standards... in an attempt to devalue certain very fundamental values which we hold to be self-evident and important in our kind of social and economic system."

"And they used them to interfere with the basic human relationships without which we would have no commercial credit, without which we would have no free enterprise, no healthy competition; and they did this with a remarkable degree of success."

With their unending "educational" process, the Communists succeeded in undermining faith in values, destroyed trust and loyalty between individual prisoners. They halted normal individual and group resistance. Not a single American prisoner engineered an escape from a Communist POW camp! Next week: Three primary steps of the Communist "brainwashing."

ALONG THE POTOMAC By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Among the many legislative proposals designed to strengthen the anti-trust laws are those that would require business firms to give advance notice of a contemplated merger.

The House judiciary committee, of which I am a member, is studying a number of pre-merger notification bills.

I greatly favor any wise legislation that strengthens our anti-trust laws and helps preserve a healthy economic climate for sane price competition. Many of us are concerned with the disappearance of thousands of small business activities through the merger route, and feel that "many mergers are the superhighway to monopoly."

If the principle of "prior notice" is sound and provides a means of preventing the growth of monopolies, I would say the pending bills are not strong enough. I have argued that the penalties are too weak; that the enforcement provisions do not have the teeth to make them effective.

I am inclined to think that if our existing anti-trust laws were rigidly enforced and a more favorable tax structure enacted, many small business problems would be solved.

The Judiciary Committee has been considering a number of public contract bills which would require bidders on government construction contracts to list their subcontractors. There is both strong backing and strong opposition to these proposals.

I have introduced a bill proposing a constitutional amendment giving District of Columbia residents a vote for President with the same representation in the Electoral College as if it were a state.

SPORTS AFIELD By Ted Kesting

Air-drive boat motors of all makes are increasing in popularity with the boating public. These engines, which propel a boat with a big blade whirling in the air, rather than a small blade turning underwater, were placed on the national market only two years ago.

Willard Crandall, boating editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

Air power on the water got its start in areas where the water was broad but shallow. It was there that local boatbuilders first attempted to cope with this troublesome situation. Until recently the closest most people came to an airdrive boat was watching one whip past on a motion picture screen, flattening the tall grass of the Florida Everglades.

motors—for the average sportsman—came two years ago with the advent of the air-drive outboard. There are no longer the false claims of superior speed as the outboards are all under five hp. And the are now a reliable type of engine.

The air-drive outboard clamps onto the transom as does any outboard motor, and it is just as easy to put on and take off, if not easier, says Crandall. It weighs approximately the same as any motor of the same power.

"Lack of Unity"
Found In Democratic Party

Rank and file Maryland Democrats are thoroughly fed-up with party factionalism and lack of unity.

This was one of the many conclusions contained in the tabulations of the first 1150 replies to questionnaires sent out to party members two months ago by J. Millard Tawes.

When asked to name their chief criticism of the Democratic Party, nearly half of the replies (43 per cent) named "Lack of Unity." The same criticism was overwhelmingly given as the chief reason why so many Maryland Democrats voted Republican in the last election. Forty-five per cent of the replies to this question named "Factionalism within the Democratic Party," while the next biggest reason, "Eisenhower coattails" dropped down to 28 per cent.

In the field of party organization, Maryland Democrats left little doubt that they felt that good candidates for office were the party's most urgent need. Over two-thirds of the replies stated that the candidate was more important than the issues in an election, and 44 per cent listed "Good Candidates" as the most important necessity for a successful Democratic organization.

The urgent need for leadership was also sharply expressed in the replies to the questionnaire. "A stand-out leader" was ranked equally with party unity as a pre-requisite to a successful party organization, and "lack of leadership" was second to "lack of unity" under the chief criticisms of the party. In fact, these two criticisms together accounted for 75 per cent of the answers to the question "What is your chief criticism of the Democratic Party in Maryland today?" On down the line with 17 per cent was the "lack of new blood" followed by "lack of issues" with five per cent.

When it came to issues, taxation was voted the most important by an amazing volume. Although 11 different issues were listed on the questionnaire, taxation was deemed most important by nearly 45 per cent of those replying. "Cost of living," which is a closely related problem, was second as the choice for the No. 1 issue.

Following taxation in importance were schools, with 15 per cent considering them most important, and a large majority listing them after taxation as undoubtedly the second most important issue.

After taxation and schools, health and welfare easily scored as the third most significant issue, followed by industrial development, civil rights, conservation of natural resources, agriculture, labor legislation, roads and highways, and housing in that order.

Questions dealing with candidates and the qualifications for political office showed an overwhelming belief on the part of the people that honesty and personal integrity transcended all other requirements for office-holding. Throughout the questionnaire, the urgent desire for more honesty in government was markedly noticeable.

In rating the qualifications of a candidate for political office, for example, nearly three-quarters of the replies rated "honesty" as No. 1. "Good administrator" was second with a little over 10 per cent. Likewise, in the two questions which asked what were the most important qualifications for a Governor on the one hand and a U. S. Senator on the other, replies to both questions named "honesty" as the prime requirement.

This same emphasis on honesty in government was evidenced by a question on the important elements in state government, which showed "honesty" rated way out in front of "administrative efficiency," "economy" and "new ideas."

In the question which asked, "which over-all outlook do you prefer in the Maryland State government: conservative, progressive, or middle-of-the-road?" the replies strongly favored "progressive" by a two-to-one margin over the others. The scores were: Progressive 54 per cent; middle-of-the-road 29, and conservative 17.

Other replies to the questionnaire revealed that almost three-quarters of those polled felt that young people were not playing an important enough role in state Democratic Party affairs, and another 53 per cent felt the same way about women.

A surprisingly large number, over 78 per cent, felt that it was important for the state ticket to be headed by candidates from different sections of the State, and 60 per cent were in favor of creating the office of lieutenant governor.

As far as campaign tactics were concerned, the people questioned were about evenly divided on whether or not their opinions were affected by campaign speeches, but all rated hand-shaking and speech-making far down the lists as compared to the candidate's record and administrative ability.

Public School Holds May Day Program

On Friday, May 3, the Emmitsburg High School held its annual May Day activities. More than 100 parents and friends attended the gala celebration.

Miss Myra Hess, a senior, was crowned May Queen by Prof. Arvin P. Jones, principal of the high school. Her attendants and their escorts were Thelma Glass and Arvin Bollinger, Barbara Naill and Donnie McCauslin, and Doris Ridenour and Clarence Ancarrow. The train bearers were Wanda Meadows and Connie Seiss. Steven DeBerry served as crown bearer. The high school orchestra provided the music for the procession of the queen and her court to the throne on the front lawn. After the procession and coronation, the May Day chorus sang two selections which were "Country Gardens" and "Queen of the May." Members of the sixth grade took part in the traditional winding of the May pole. Rhythmicms were then performed by the other elementary grades.

At 2 o'clock a fashion show was presented by the Home Economics department. Girls from the eighth through the 11th grades modeled their own creations. Following the fashion show a tea for the faculty, guests, and student council was held in the cafeteria.

RESCUE CLASS GRADUATED

Fourteen weeks of knot tying, rope manipulation and descending of stretchers from various heights and levels, culminated in graduation exercises for a nine-man rescue squad here on last Thursday evening.

Bucher's Restaurant was the scene of a dinner at which Robert Creighan, Md. Civil Defense training officer, spoke in glowing terms of the county's efforts to "be prepared." Mr. William Chenoweth of the State CD office also was present.

Delbert S. Null, president of the County Commissioners, and Mel H. Ramsburg, commissioner, were dinner guests. Mr. Null, in his remarks following introduction, reminded his listeners that apathy toward preparation for emergencies of all types is a sin of which we all are more or less guilty, and warmly praised the graduates for their time and efforts in becoming more valuable citizens to their community. Commissioner Ramsburg also spoke briefly and complimentary to the graduating group. James Robertson of the University of Md. fire and rescue staff, presented certificates to the following graduates: Herbert Adams, Clay Z. Green, Paul A. Humerick, James Kemp, William Martin, Harry Swomley, Richard Topper, James Umbel and Carroll Wills.

L. H. Crickenberger, Frederick County CD director, thanked the graduates for their efforts and said there is a further need for rescue training in other sections of the county.

Fire Company Drive Hits One-Third Mark Of $3,000 Goal

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: It has been announced that the annual financial drive of the Vigilant Hose Co. is now one-third of the way to its goal of $3,000.

There are still many citizens who have not yet responded to the call for assistance. To keep Emmitsburg a "Fire Safe Community" it requires having the latest type of equipment and trained personnel to operate it. The Fire Co. is proud of its advanced methods of fire fighting and prevention. The volunteer spirit and willingness to work and learn, however, isn't enough. From the smallest wrench to the large pumper truck the equipment must be the best, for our very lives depend on it. So, if you haven't as yet mailed in your contribution, please do it soon!

J. E. HOUCK,
Chairman Fund Drive
