President Eisenhower appears adamant in his stand to try and ram his stupendous, record breaking peace-time budget down the public's throat and is dragging every conceivable scare method into play to accomplish this feat. He gives the general opinion of a frustrated man and practically asserts there'll be Russians under all our beds if his budget isn't adopted. These sort of tactics only tend to make the people, and Congress, take a firmer stand on reducing this budget to a more sensible proportion. The Chief Executive has taken to television to put his story across, but actually I feel this is meeting with reverse results as the eyes of the people are being opened to the needless spending going on in Washington and not a single thing is being done, so far, to reduce taxes.

There'll be a nice little parade in town Saturday night folks, and if you can spare a few moments I am sure you will enjoy the spectacle. There will be a number of local marching and motoring units and band music and a friendly little get-together on the Square. It's just a little stunt concocted to advertise the Bi-centennial a bit. Following the parade the local band will give a concert on the Square and it'll be worth your time to come in and see the parade and hear the band. So, if you have a few minutes to spare Saturday night come in, I'm sure you will enjoy the evening. It's been many a year since the band, or any other band, has given a public concert on the Square and it is a custom that I think should be revived. I remember years ago how we stood around for hours listening to the band. The old fountain was located on the Square. It brings back pleasant memories of times long past. The coming Bi-centennial will bring many old friends and former Emmitsburgians here and many happy moments will be revived. I just can't contain myself until June 22, the date of the beginning of the eight-day celebration. I imagine many former residents already are feeling nostalgic about the occasion and are making plans to spend their vacation in Emmitsburg this year. You all are welcome and we'll be more than glad to see you. You'll be amazed at the number of new homes that have been built in the past decade or so, in and around town. Our growth hasn't been phenomenal by any means, but it has been steady.

Emmitsburg is bursting at the seams, as the saying goes, and plans to expand the Corporation limits of the town are making excellent progress it is reported. Recently three petitions have been received by the Town Council, asking that certain areas be annexed to the town and conditions are highly favorable that this can be accomplished within the next few months. So far the petitions have come from the east and south areas of town. A few residents of the West End have signified their desire to become annexed but as far as any petition being received, none has developed to date.

Septic tanks have been a necessity for home-owners building on the outskirts of town and the majority of the houses are now five to 10 years old and it is a known fact that most of these tanks begin giving trouble after 10 years. Now is the ideal time for all property-owners on the outskirts of Emmitsburg to take action, that is if you are in the near proximity to the newly proposed sewerage system. Failure to join now will result in additional expense in a few years and it might even prove so expensive that Emmitsburg will not want to annex any additional territory. It is up to the town whether or not it wants to accept any annexation proposals and the more costly they are in the years to come, the less likely will be the town's receptiveness to any expansion. I seriously doubt if another opportunity like this one will present itself for another half century, so now's the time, not later, to join up. So if any of you home-owners are interested in

Herbert Roger Again Heads Fire Co.

Herbert W. Roger was re-elected president of the Vigilant Hose Company at the annual election of officers held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall. Vice president John J. Hollinger presided at the session in the absence of Mr. Roger, who is ill.

The firemen voted to hold the summer meetings at the grove adjacent the Scout House on Community Field. One new member, Charles (Toss) Shorb, was voted into the organization and placed on the active list.

Delegates to the State Firemen's Convention in Ocean City are as follows: John S. Hollinger, Sterling White, Ted Topper, Charles Stouter and Roger Adams. Alternates named were Guy A. Baker, Jr., Ralph F. Ireland, Edward Houck, Paul Humerick and John J. Hollinger.

Special P-TA Meeting Tonight

A special meeting of the Mother Seton School PTA and Executive Committee has been called by the PTA president, Prof. Robert Marshall, for tonight (Friday) at 7 p. m. in the school auditorium.

As many parents of the students as possible are urged to attend this meeting as the subject of wearing uniforms while attending the school is to be discussed and voted on. If the wearing of uniforms is approved all children attending the school in the fall likely will be required to be attired in a designated uniform.

"Brothers" Plan Special Activities

"The Brothers of the Brush" are consolidating their gains and settling down to a slow trickle as far as membership is concerned, it appeared this week when only half a dozen new members were acquired. The total enrollment in this hirsute fraternity to date is 109. Chairman Ralph F. Ireland announced this week. The following new members were granted permission to grow beards or mustaches: Donald Harner, Curtis D. Topper, Carroll Topper, Harold M. Hoke, David Topper and Charles Hobbs, Jr.

The chairman urges all those who are growing beards to obtain their $1 membership cards immediately as special activities are being planned for the group and only members with cards will be permitted to participate. Among the activities it is understood will be a trip through a brewery, attendance at a baseball game and possible television appearance, and a stag party.

The shaving permit clan shows a steady influx of new members and this group threatens to outnumber their bearded brothers in enrollment figures. This week 10 more were added to the list of those obtaining the $1 shaving permit and their membership now totals 73. New members are: Robert G. Fitez, George Brown, Joseph W. Sullivan, Joseph (Cy) Haley, Alfred G. Neal, Dr. H. P. Freeman, Glenn Ohler, Francis P. Kelly and George A. Cool.

The first activity of the "Brothers of the Brush" will be to attend a night baseball game next Friday when Baltimore hosts Boston. The group will be the guest of the Gunther Brewing Co., Baltimore, and will be given a free luncheon and trip through the brewery, later attending the ball game. About 35 will make the trip and it is highly possible that the TV cameras will rove in their direction for a brief period during the game.

Hyperimmune serum to protect against rabies, must be given within 72 hours of exposure such as dog-bite, the American Veterinary Medical Assn. reports.

Will Address Frederick Lions

Latest reports indicate that approximately 400 Lions and ladies will converge on this area on Wednesday evening, May 22, to hear International President John L. Stickley, of Charlotte, N. C., deliver an address at the 35th anniversary party of the Lions Club of Frederick.

The meeting will be held at Peter Pan Inn and reservations already made from approximately 20 clubs indicate an unusually well attended meeting.

This is the first time for more than 12 years that an International President has been in Frederick during his term of office.

It is believed that in addition to the International President, all five governors serving the entire 22nd District, comprising Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia, with their ladies, will be present.

Bi-centennial Belles Grow In Numbers

The Bi-centennial Belles held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Bi-centennial headquarters, W. Main St., with 25 girls attending. Katie Warthen, chairman of the Belles, presided and announced that they have reached one-third of their goal, with 50 charter members to date.

Once again the village queens of this fair town are giving the bearded gentry a very tough run in this battle for top enrollment. The town will soon know what success the women are making toward the 200th anniversary celebration by noticing, in the near future, the dress and bonnet parade which will be displayed by Belles through the community.

The enrollment in the past week included Mrs. Ann Condon, Mrs. Mary Louise Barker, Miss Emma Ohler, Mrs. Melba Hardman, Mrs. Joanne Eyster, Mrs. Mae Grushon, Mrs. Helen Fuss, Mrs. Theresa Hollinger, Mrs. Margaret Myers, Mrs. Estelle Frailey, Mrs. Maebelle McCleaf, Mrs. Treva Beegle, Mrs. Mary Rohrbough, Mrs. Elsie Keckler, Miss Betty Smith, Mrs. Mae Retha Morgan, Mrs. Carolyn Frailey, Mrs. Ann Ireland, Mrs. Lottie Bollinger, and Mrs. Hattie Shriver.

The ladies securing cosmetic permits are very few. Only two have been issued thus far. They will either become a Bi-centennial Belle or wait until the last minute to decide their fate.

Nancy Gillespie was center of attraction in her fetching dress from the Charleston Daze. Enthusiasm was also aroused by the display of Sun Bonnets, Fancy Shoes, Shawls, and Wrapper Dresses.

The Belles are also planning to hold parties in opposition to those the men are planning, and hold Drag Parties instead of the Stag Parties. Doris Stouter, assistant chairman, announced that the scheduled trip to tour Taneystown has been set for Saturday evening, May 25. All girl's planning to attend this tour are requested to meet at the Bi-centennial Headquarters at 5:30 p. m. on that date. Mrs. Warthen also announced that a tour of Gettysburg is planned.

The Brothers of the Brush have certainly shown what their Great Grandfathers looked like by bravely posing in a bearded group picture. So girls let it not be said that we do not pose for a likeness of our Great Grandmothers. Belles are requested to have their dresses by June 1st to pose for a picture with the Mayor of Emmitsburg.

A real treat for all of the fair ladies will be the day of the parade, when dressed in all their finery for the celebration, they will ride on the Bi-centennial Belle float. Plans for the float were discussed and the following committee was appointed: chairman, Doris Stouter; property committee, Nancy Danner and Carolyn Eyerler; decorating committee, Ruth Hobbs, Betty Smith, Mary Rohrbough, Ann Shorb, and Elsie Keckler; general committee, Theresa Hollinger, Marian Oddo, Kate Warthen, Lottie Bollinger, Madeleine Dern, Melba Hardman, Virginia Sanders, Roseanna Fuss, and Nancy Gillespie.

With the large enrollment the Belles already have a number of events are planned. They are trying to top the goal of 100, which the men are so proudly boasting. The goal also is to win this battle between the sexes and you should see those girls in action!

Improper feeding or handling of pet birds is the most common cause of unseasonable molting the veterinary authorities report.

Trooper Storer Guest of Local Lions Club

President Charles R. Fuss presided at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall, 21 members and three guests in attendance. Guests were State Trooper Robert Storer, Scoutmaster J. Edward Houck, and Assistant Scoutmaster George Danner.

Trooper Storer was the principal speaker of the evening and delivered an interesting dissertation on the history of the Maryland State Police. The State Police, Trooper Storer said, was organized in 1920 and the majority of the new recruits were World War I veterans. The first class was a wash-out for some unknown reason, 50 starting the course and only 35 graduating in 1921. At that time the state was overrun with crime and the public's clamoring for protection brought about the birth of the State Police. The early troopers faced many adversities and many times were accused of being "strike-breakers" by labor leaders. In 1935 the police force became a separate and distinct organization and operated independently. It's first training school was at Glen Burnie.

The speaker reports that many new recruits are desired that a recent pay raise had been granted. Applications for admittance to the force can be obtained at any State Police barracks or the State Director of Personnel, Baltimore.

Trooper Storer explained the six duties of the Maryland State Police as follows: (1) highway patrol, (2) criminal investigation, (3) cooperate with other police agencies, (4) help Federal law enforcement agencies, (5) keep criminal files and fingerprints, (6) operate police training schools. Governor Albert C. Ritchie was governor when the State Police was formed and did much to further the aims and prestige of the force.

The Lions authorized a $40 advertisement in the Bi-centennial brochure and appointed the following committee to arrange a float for the Bi-centennial parade on June 22. Dr. D. L. Beegle was named chairman, and will be assisted by John J. Hollinger, Clarence E. Hahn, J. Ward Kerrigan, and Ralph F. Ireland.

Arthur Elder and Charles Stouter, reporting as a sign committee, recommended that new signs be ordered and placed at the entrance to town in time for the Bi-centennial.

Scoutmaster J. E. Houck gave a resume of the Scouts' activities and progress of the boys to the membership. He reported the membership now at 31 boys. The Lions Club sponsors the Boy Scouts locally, and once again renewed their sponsorship for another year. John J. Hollinger was appointed as liaison officer to work with the boys and the Lions Club. Delegates to the District 22-W Convention to be held in Atlantic City late this month were appointed as follows: Dr. D. L. Beegle, J. Ward Kerrigan, and Cloyd W. Seiss. Alternates named were Bernard J. Eckenrode, Clarence E. Hahn, and J. Ralph McDonnell.

The annual election of officers will take place at the next meeting.

VINCK—JORDAN

In a setting of pink gladioli Miss Mary Louise Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jordan, Emmitsburg, became the bride of William George Vinck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vinck, Baltimore, at a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Fr. John Sullivan, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, at 9:30 o'clock last Saturday morning.

George Greco, a classmate of the bride, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," and "Behold These Vows." When the bride presented a bouquet to the Virgin Mary, Mr. Greco sang "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling." Miss Louella Lansing provided the organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length white pinwheel lace gown with a fitted bodice fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. Her fingertip veil was attached to a bridal cap trimmed with sequins, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white daisies.

Miss Yolanda Perez, Chevy Chase, was the maid of honor and wore a sheer pink velva-ray nylon dress and underskirts of net and satin with a high scoop neckline. The gowns was trimmed with chiffon panels of a contrasting color at the neck and back. She wore a headpiece of flowers and interwoven net. The bridesmaids were Mrs. George V. Arnold, College Park, and Mrs. Richard Sprankle, Emmitsburg, both classmates of the bride. The bridesmaids' gowns were blue, fashioned as that of the maid of honor. They wore headpieces of flowers and interwoven net. Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Sprankle carried assorted Colonial bouquets of snapdragons and blue streamers.

Jack Simanski, Baltimore, was the best man. Nestor Vinck, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Jordan, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a light blue sheer dress with black accessories and a white gardenia corsage. The mother of the bridegroom chose a beige, brown and white print dress with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

A reception was held at the VFW Annex, Emmitsburg, following the ceremony. The bridal table was centered with a five-tier wedding cake topped with a minia-bride and bridegroom.

As her going away ensemble the bride chose a light blue sheath dress with black accessories. The couple are spending their honeymoon in Virginia.

The bride was a graduate of St. Joseph's High School in the class of 1950 and graduated from St. Joseph College in 1954. She was employed at Fort Detrick, Frederick.

The bridegroom attended Chartiers Twp. High School and was a graduate of Washington-Jefferson College of Washington, Pa. He served two years in the U. S. Air Force during World War II, one of which was spent in Guam.

Mr. Vinck is employed by the Waverly Press of Baltimore. The couple will make their home at 4501 A Manor Dene Rd., Baltimore.

It is planned to give a band concert on the Square following the parade and the music will be supplied by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band, under the personal direction of Walter A. Simpson.

The Bi-centennial Committee hopes this activity will stir up interest in the coming affair and invites everyone to participate in the parade. It is understood that so far the parade will consist of a group of majorettes, the Municipal Band, unit of the Vigilant Hose Co., Police Dept., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Legion Drill Team, some antique cars, Bicentennial Belles and the "Brothers of the Brush." The local Girl Scouts have volunteered their services as baby-sitters for exclusive use of the Bi-centennial Belles group while they participate in activities promoting the event. Those interested in obtaining baby-sitters, free, should contact any Girl Scout or their leader, Theresa Rybikowsky.

Bids Received On New Mount Seminary

A Baltimore contractor was the apparent low bidder when bids were opened last week on the construction of a seminary addition at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg.

The next lowest bidders were also Baltimore contractors. Piracci Construction Co. submitted a base bid of $336,500, with alternates which could run the final figure to $366,200. He listed time of completion as 360 days.

Lawrence Construction Co. handed in a base bid of $337,373, with the alternate figures which could make the final total $373,747. He offered to complete the job in 300 days.

Bible Class Tour Includes Church And Museum

Thirty-one members of the Toms' Creek Methodist Sunday School Women's Bible Class and friends took a bus trip to Sherwood Gardens and the Baltimore zoo last week. In the afternoon they visited Lovely Lane Methodist Church for a tour of the church and museum and heard an interesting lecture on the early American Methodist Church history. Lovely Lane Church which is at present in the fifth rebuilding, is the first Methodist Church in America. The first three buildings were near the waterfront and the present structure was at one time the site of Goucher College. Dr. Goucher was the pastor when this church and college were built, over 70 years ago. The pulpit and the lovely marble top stand directly in front of the pulpit, were bought in Italy and imported here before the building of the church. The museum consists of quite a number of old relics of John Westley, Dr. Goucher and Rev. Cook. Robert Strawbridge, a minister, settled at Sams Creek near New Windsor and rode a horse 22,250 miles during his pastorate and preached 1,600 sermons in his 45 years as head of the church. His saddlebag is on display. The

4-H Girls Meet At Beale Home

Mrs. Paul Beale, club leader, presided over the monthly meeting of the 4-H Girls Club held in Mrs. Beale's home Wednesday. The meeting was opened with the roll call and reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the club secretary.

The main topic of the session was how to wear appropriate colors that would make members look their best. A program was planned for the Homemakers' Club which meets on May 22. Re-pastor also built the first log meeting house in this area. The museum consists of religious articles of nearly every year since the church's founding, as well as hymnals and a large number of interesting items. All are encased in beautiful mahogany and glass cases, gifts of a member, the owner of the Majestic Pickle Factory. Included in this donation also is a 10-ft. table and 10 beautiful arm chairs. From the church and museum the group toured the downtown Baltimore shopping area for an hour and a half after which they started homeward, stopping at the Reese fire hall outside of Westminster, to enjoy a delicious supper.

freshments were served following the business session by the hostess, Mrs. Beale and the group disbanded at 9:30 o'clock.

Kelz Heads St. Joseph's P-TA

The annual election of officers of St. Joseph's High School P-TA was held at the regular and final meeting of the school year held Tuesday night in the school.

Elected to guide the organization for the new year starting this fall were these officers: President, William Kelz; vice president, Mrs. J. Hunter Elliot; secretary, Mrs. Charles Turner, and treasurer, Frank S. Topper. On display during the meeting were numerous articles made by the students in the home economics and shop departments.

Farm Bureau Favors Budget Cut

The Farm Bureau has recommended a 6.2 billion dollar cut in the 1958 Federal Budget. This includes the following cuts: 2 billion in Defense, a billion in Foreign Aid, 538 million for independent offices, 1/2 billion in home finance, 450 million in school aid, 290 million in six other departments and 300 million in U. S. Department of Agriculture funds.

After a careful study of all budget items, the leaders agreed on these reductions in the proposed budget. Most of the reduced budget items are still larger than the 1957 appropriations so there should be no curtailment of present government functions under the Farm Bureau proposal.

The largest agricultural budget reduction suggested is the 254 million from the Soil Bank. Other U.S.D.A. cuts ranged from 17 million in the school lunch program to 250 thousand for Foreign Agricultural Service for the near 300 million total budget reduction. Increases in the budget over the 1957 funds include $12,054,000 for research and $9,865,000 for the Extension Service.

Another suggested cut is 100 million in the agricultural conservation program service appropriation for the 1958 crop year. One reason for this suggestion is the overlap between this program and the Soil Bank. Another is that this program is paying costs which many farmers consider as normal farm operation expense such as the application of lime and fertilizer. Another factor is that this program tends to stimulate increased production of various crops that are in surplus and which another program is trying to curtail. The full authorization is therefore not justified after consideration of these facts and an item of 150 million is recommended for next year.

This last item brings the total recommended cut in the agricultural budget to 399 million dollars. Farm Bureau has made a realistic approach to this problem. In recommending a cut of 6.2 billion it has suggested reductions in all branches of the Federal government including a substantial cut in the funds for agriculture without impairing services to farmers.

A report was made on the recent meeting of the Presbyterian by Mrs. Edgar Rhodes, Miss Ima Martin, Mrs. John Palmer and Mrs. Ray Gigeous. The devotional leader was Mrs. Gigeous and Mrs. Jesse Martin was in charge of the program. A number of readings was presented.

Church Society Meets The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church met Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gigeous with 10 members and a guest present.

X-ray Danger Not Serious Matter, AMA Maintains

NEW YORK—There is little danger from medical X-rays today, either to the physician or the patient, according to Dr. Dwight H. Murray, president of the American Medical Association in an article which appeared in a recent issue of the American Weekly.

"With modern equipment, x-rays are produced with perfect control," Dr. Murray maintains, adding that in this atomic age most everyone worries about radiation whether from nuclear test fallout, atomic reactors, industrial or medical x-ray.

In the first place, he says, medical x-rays are for those who are sick and who require them for specific treatment. In the second place, there is no kind or form of medical or surgical treatment that is completely without risk. And in the third place, sixty-one years of experience with x-rays has developed the science of radiology to a high professional plane.

"Uninformed people may dismiss the radiologist as a kind of scientific picture-taker," Dr. Murray says. "But this skilled physician gets the same training given to other doctors plus at least three years of specialty study. He is a key man in every modern hospital."

In calling attention to the recent recommendation of the National Academy of Science against more than 10 retentents of man-made radiation during our first 30 years, the AMA head says that the Academy was referring to radiation "that would reach the reproductive cells." Most x-ray exposures, such as head, foot and chest, seldom even reach these cells. "Even abdominal examinations include techniques which reduce to a minimum, exposures to reproductive cells from direct radiation," Dr. Murray says.

New Clothes

Remember the old story of "The Emperor's New Clothes?" It comes to mind especially at this season when we are all proudly sporting our new spring outfits.

You recall that the Emperor wanted new clothes so much better than those worn by ordinary people that a couple of sharp operators were able to hoodwink him into paying a huge sum for an outfit that didn't exist at all. They assured him that the material and workmanship were so fine that only the most highly cultured could appreciate it. So, of course, he and all his court had to pretend to see it.

As he marched in the parade, naked as a jaybird, all the townspeople too, imagined he must be wearing clothes too fine for them to see. Only one small boy was honest enough to say, "He's got nothing on at all."

That boy had the honest eye of the X-ray. We can kid ourselves, but not the X-ray. It sees beneath the surface to reality. It is invaluable to the doctor in diagnosing tuberculosis which often does not have obvious outward symptoms in its early stages. And it's in those early stages that the disease can most easily and quickly be cured. Delay can mean serious, crippling illness, even death. But the eye of the X-ray can't see unless we ask it to. We have to stop kidding ourselves. We have to stop pretending TB can't happen to us. It does happen to nearly a hundred thousand people a year, people of all ages and races, rich and poor. Our best protection against the development of a serious case of TB is to invite the X-ray to take a look. Your doctor will tell you how often you should have a complete physical check-up including a chest X-ray.

Craftsmen Will Exhibit Products

On Friday and Saturday, May 24-25 from 10:30-4, a group of Maryland craftsmen will hold an exhibition and sale of their work with antiques in wood and tin, plain and decorated, at the Historical House, 206 E. Main, Westminster, Md. Among those displaying articles are Mary Cunningham, Miriam Flynn, Elizabeth McShayne, Alice Moores, Bernice Morrow, Theodore Whiteley, Gertrude Yellott, and Dorothy Zumbur. There will be furniture, chairs in matched sets, pairs and singles; chests, tables, desks, etc., and small articles, trays, wastebaskets, boxes, and other accessories, ornaments and gifts, as well as reproductions and articles in the rough for those who do-it-themselves. The lovely gardens of the Historical House will be open and the show will be rewarding to all interested in the old and the beautiful. In conjunction there will be a special exhibition of articles made by the patients at the Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, under the direction of Miss Ann Reifsnider, Coordinator, and Miss Frances Dunlay, Director of Rehabilitation. The hospital is anxious to acquaint the public with the fine work accomplished by its patients. This exhibit will be staffed by the Gray Ladies of the Westminster Chapter, American Red Cross. The public is invited and there is no charge for admission.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

Polls reveal that bass are the favorite game fish of American anglers. Pan fish come next on the list, with trout running third. But, says Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield Magazine, the term "pan fish" is meaningless, for it includes totally unrelated small species caught by entirely different methods.

In place of pan fish, Lucas lists crappies. In fact, he says in the sections of the country where they're plentiful, they might even rate a first place.

Crappies are the ideal fish for anglers who haven't the time—or perhaps the desire—to study the more intricate aspects of fishing necessary for catching bass. Also, says Lucas, crappie fishing is ideal for the family outing. It is often possible to catch six nice crappies during the same time required to catch one small bass.

Crappies vary in the fight they offer an angler. Sometimes they give practically no resistance, while on other occasions they will fight like tigers. And nobody knows the answer to their inconsistency.

The best way to fish for crappies is by using a fly rod. Playing a fish on this light tackle seems to make big ones out of little ones. The most sport is derived by using small poppers on the surface. These, however, are generally successful only rather late in the evening. Begin with one on a No. 8 hook, and then see if a little larger one will do better. Remember that crappies have small mouths.

Perhaps most important is the retrieve. A crappie will rarely take anything moving fast. The slower you retrieve, the more you'll catch, says Lucas. Let the lure lie there, twitching it only enough to form tiny ripples.

Crappies may not be the gamiest fish in the world, but coming hot off the skillet, coated with cracker crumbs, they take a high place for good eating among our game fish.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — one of the most important questions that confronts us, as members of the House Judiciary subcommittee on immigration, is the demand for revision of the McCarran-Walter and the Refugee Relief Acts. Many proposals have been presented, including those of the President, to modify these laws. The most controversial involves the national origins system and an increase in the number of immigrants.

The most persistent demand for change comes — understandably enough — from first-generation immigrants who want to help friends and relatives. Revision of our immigration laws is an emotion-packed issue; but we ought not allow our feelings to sway our judgement either for or against revision. It is a mistake, too, to view our immigration laws just as a means of helping people in foreign nations who are in a tough spot.

Those who favor maintaining present laws point out that the McCarran-Walter Act is simply a codification of existing policies. It did eliminate race as a bar to immigration and nationalization, and provided for quota preferences for skilled aliens.

These proponents argue that proposed changes must be considered in the light of our current and future national problems. The question they raise is: Can the new citizen be absorbed without adverse affect on employment, schools, standards of living, etc. They note that a combination of dwindling water supply, pollution, mal-distribution of population and industry, and our natural population growth is already causing trouble.

Those who favor increasing the immigrant quota argue that large numbers can be absorbed in the future as they were in the past; that our greatly expanding economy can take care of all.

The point I wish to emphasize is that any revision of the immigration laws ought to be considered in the light of what's best for America.

Historic Moment at Jamestown Relived in Painting by W. R. Leigh

William R. Leigh, N. A.

"Pocahontas," the Rescue of Captain John Smith

JAMESTOWN and the crowds of tourists that the Festival celebration of its 350th anniversary is bringing to that area will recall with greater significance than ever previously the dramatic part Pocahontas, the beautiful Indian girl, played in the establishment of this first English settlement in America. Added to this romantic situation it is sometimes overlooked that the late William Robinson Leigh, N. A., (co-founder with his wife of the Traphagen School of Fashion in New York), who re-created the famous scene of Pocahontas and Captain John Smith pictured above, was a direct descendant of this truly American heroine. This picture is now the property of the Woolaroc Museum in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, founded by the oil magnate and art patron Frank Phillips, and left by him to the State of Oklahoma. Whether you go to Jamestown or not, it is indeed worthy of a patriotic pilgrimage to see W. R. Leigh's conception of Captain John Smith's rescue by Pocahontas. Other Indian and Western paintings by Leigh are on exhibition at Grand Central Art Galleries, New York, N. Y., of which he was a member.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Probably one of the most astonishing speeches in American history was uttered recently in a New York meeting of grocery manufacturers by Sigurd Anderson, a Federal Trade Commission member.

The commissioner told assembled food manufacturers FTC is aware of illegal practices, hidden discounts, rebates, and other cumshaw being handed out to favored retailers.

But inferentially he took stand this was C. W. Harder not fault of big manufacturers. It all comes about because a few grocery store operators make excessive demands on manufacturers who "cave in" to them.

He also requested food industry members to come to Washington and discuss abuses in confidence with FTC.

Thus, Commissioner Anderson, rushing in where wise men have long feared to tread, has taken position on age-old question of which comes first, the chicken, or the egg.

Undoubtedly, every wide awake retailer seeks to get out of manufacturer every possible concession. Even then, he has no way of knowing if he is getting all his competitors receive.

But if Commissioner Anderson, other FTC members, care to probe deep enough, it would be found a few big manufacturers started this whole fabrication of hidden rebates, under-the-counter discounts, and rest of entire sorry mess. In most instances, they were attempting to keep competitors' goods off the shelves of volume retailers.

However, murder will out. It did not take retailers long to realize in many instances, published wholesale prices were for the naive and unknowing. For example, an independent retailer knew his competitor down the street could not consistently keep advertising some branded items at selling costs below his buying costs without something being rotten in Denmark.

But now through some curious left-handed twist, Commissioner Anderson takes viewpoint this whole mass of deception is all the fault of the retailer, with huge food packing combines mere innocent victims of retailers' rapaciousness.

In addition to this curious frame of mind is his request for people to come to Washington to talk to FTC in confidence.

FTC is supposed to enforce the laws against this sort of thing. Obviously, by his speech, FTC knows skulduggery is going on.

So this is somewhat akin to situation that would result if J. Edgar Hoover called all FBI men to Washington and said, "Boys, you just make like you're busy shuffling papers around here at headquarters. In meantime, I'll go around making speeches telling people there's lots of wrong-doing going on, and if anybody would like to see us stop it, they should buy themselves a ticket to come to Washington and tell us about it."

The Commissioner also created another new doctrine in jurisprudence and law enforcement.

By blaming retailer for current situation, he puts himself in position of an enforcement officer arresting the victim for striking back at the criminal in self defense. All in all, Commissioner Anderson appears to be a mighty mixed up fellow.

"May I take you home to get it?" I asked. "Well, surely, but you're a stranger." The trip was spent in discussing generalities. While I waited for him to get his key, the voice said to me: "Witness about the Lord to him." As he reentered the car, he asked: "Why did you do this for me, a stranger?" My answer was: "Because I am a Christian. Are you a Christian?" I asked. The answer came about three years later. A man asked: "Do you remember me—the man who needed a key? I just stopped to tell you that I can answer your question now. I am a Christian, my wife is a Christian. Our whole family goes to church and Sunday school." Prayer

Father, may we be so sensitive to the leading of the Spirit that we may hear His promptings. Help us to be good stewards of opportunities to witness to Thee as well as to give of our time and funds. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

The calls that aren't made mean a lot to us

I suppose if anyone asked my husband and me what we like most about telephone service we'd say it's the calls that aren't made.

Here's what we mean. We have two youngsters, Butch 5 and Joan 3. They're too young to leave alone, of course. So, like thousands of other couples, we get a baby sitter when we go out. She keeps an eye on the children and phones us if anything goes wrong. We feel we're almost as close to the kids as if we were at home.

And it's these phone calls, the ones that aren't made because there's nothing wrong, that mean so much to us. Just that silent phone tells us that Butch and Joan are all right. We can enjoy the evening without worrying about the kids.

Like everyone else, we use our phone a lot, but even if we never made a call all month long our phone would be well worth the cost. We can't think of anything else that adds so much to our peace of mind for a few nickels a day.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Speculative Trusts
BABSON PARK, Mass., May 16—I believe in Trust Funds, for both children and grandchildren. The ideal method is to leave one half of your money in trust, and one half outright. In the case of children or grandchildren, you save an inheritance tax by leaving the money in trust for them and providing that your wife will have a life interest in the-come. There are three reasons for forming such trusts: (1) For the protection of your estate; (2) for the saving of inheritance taxes; and (3) to be sure your children and grandchildren get what you want them to have. All of this will be explained to you without charge by the trust officer of any bank.

What About Diversification?

A trust officer will properly diversify your holdings as to securities. This is also true of any money you put into Mutual Funds. Such Trust Funds, however, do not provide for diversification of management. My appeal this week is that you have several Trust Funds, each in a different bank so as to get diversification of management, as well as diversification of securities.

Trust officers are supposed to protect you against inflation. To do this they buy either convertible bonds or common stocks. Buying common stocks today, however, may be rather risky. This especially applies to the "Blue Chips," which trust officers like to buy in order to protect their own reputations. This also applies to bankers and committees who are investing Pension Funds for corporations. Few of these trustees invest with the idea of making a profit for you or your heirs, but rather with the sole purpose of providing safety and protection against possible inflation.

Investing For Profit

In previous weeks this column has shown how you can build $10,000 up to $1,000,000 in 25 years without borrowing any money or without buying anything on margin. This would be by investing in new industries before the brokers and the public woke up to their possibilities. To accomplish this I believe that the $10,000 should be divided into four Trust Funds of $2,500 each in order to get competition between the different trustees. A bank does not wish to be bothered with such small Trust Funds. Hence, it will be practically impossible to get four banks to do this. This means that you must get four individuals to serve as Trustees.

These individuals should be young college instructors,—one in physics, one in chemistry, one in biology, and one in business administration. If you have a son or daughter who is in college, have him or her pick out four bright, forward-looking instructors to serve as such trustees. Otherwise, write the United Information Service, 6 Maiden Lane, New York City, which will help you. These individuals should be paid a good commission for their services, based on the results which they secure for you. This will make them more interested in serving you. Having a number of trustees will also create competition and rivalry between these four college instructors.

Importance Of Youth
I advise a selection of young college instructors, rather than older professors, because the older men are usually more interested in their own reputations and have more fear of making a mistake. The Trust agreements will, however, provide that the Trustees will not be held responsible for any losses. It will be assumed that one or two of the four trustees will lose money; but your goal will be in the total result of the four. No one person can force in advance which of the four will "hit the jackpot." This is the principle upon which you must work if you expect to turn $10,000 into $1,000,000 in 25 years.

I am interested in helping young people as Trustees for these "speculative" funds for another reason. Older men are constantly looking backward rather than forward. They want to see the audits of companies for previous years. These are more like autopsies. They are useful in helping a person to save his money; but are of very little use in helping him make a fortune by investing in new industries. Youth looks forward; youth is willing to take a chance; and youth is the hope of America, especially as to new developments and new industries. I would also like to see one of these trustees a young woman. The President of the well-known investment house, A. M. Kidder & Co., is a woman. In fact, the majority of our nation's stockholders are women.

Investing For Profits
This is especially important for people in high income brackets who are compelled to pay a tax of 50% or more on general income but would need to pay only 25% on profits from securities. Furthermore, I am not advising that all your Trust Funds be of a speculative nature specializing in new industries. If, however, you plan to leave $50,000 to some grandchild in trust, I certainly advise that $10,000 of this be left with four forward-looking trustees, leaving the remaining $40,000 in a Trust Fund with a

Field Fire

The Vigilant Hose Co. responded last Thursday to a call from the Edward Meadows farm near town where a field fire was in progress. The blaze was quickly doused and no damage reported, Fire Chief John S. Hollniger said.

Another fire was extinguished, ignited in the alley adjacent the last Friday morning at 11:50 o'clock when the garbage truck owned by Charles Wetzel became rear of the Fire Hall. Damage to the vehicle was reported at about $75.00.

"Brain-Washing" Techniques

The Communist "brain-washing" technique was so successful with the 7,000 American soldiers held in North Korea that in one typical prison camp only six guards were necessary to keep 600 prisoners under perfect control. And there were no efforts to escape in spite of the fact that the prison camp had no barbed wire fence, no electric fence, no machine gun towers, no searchlights, no guard dogs.

This situation dramatizes the incredible control which the Communists achieved over the American prisoners. Such control was the primary goal of the "brain-washing." These facts and others were related by Major William E. Mayer, the U. S. Army's chief psychiatrist-expert on "brain-washing," in a report to the 18th Freedom Forum at Searcy.

The Three Steps

The three basic steps used by the Communists to gain control of the 7,000 prisoners and render them helpless were described by Major Mayer as: (1) Making each prisoner an informer on his fellow prisoners; (2) Developing an abnormal desire for self-criticism among all prisoners; and (3) Controlling the soldiers' mail. "If you are to understand anything about Communism," said the psychiatrist, "you must understand this: Informing as it is done in the Communist state can only be done when you reject our basic premise that the individual is an entity, that he has dignity and worth..."

As a result of the breakdown of the American concept of individual dignity and worth, the American POWs ceased to trust each other, ceased to band together in brotherhood as Americans under adverse circumstances had been doing throughout our history. This kept them from working together in small groups to escape, as American soldiers always before had done when captured. The Communists rewarded each act of informing; and yet they were able to obtain meek "confessions" from those informed - upon through the technique of self-criticism.

Creating Division

"Confession," Major Mayer noted, "is terribly important in the Communist state." A young English-speaking Chinese Communist "instructor," would throw his arms about the shoulders of the informed-upon soldier and say: "Confess that what you did is wrong, and analyze your confession and analyze why it's wrong, why it's destructive. Assert your determination not to do it again in the future. And preferably write this down and sign it. And if you do this, that's all we want." And it was.

Later 10 informed-upon soldier-prisoners would be brought together and asked by the "instructor" to talk about their wrong-doing in a discussion group atmosphere. "When these 10 men would walk out of a self-criticism group," Major Mayer said, "they'd walk in ten separate directions, distrustful of each other, divided, like those sticks in the well known parable that you can break so easily when they're apart, and that are so strong if they're together."

Further Isolation

Sooner or later nearly everybody has been informed upon. In addition to this dividing technique, the Communists intercepted all prisoner mail from home which expressed love and spoke of anything which might have encouraged the prisoner. They delivered all mail which contained depressing substance - notices from collection agencies, complaining letters from loved ones, or the notice of illness in the family. This further isolated the Americans from loved ones and country, and made them vulnerable to the undermining "brain-washing" program.

"This program," Major Mayer said, "did everything the Communists wanted it to do. It didn't turn anybody into a Communist because it wasn't designed for that. A small percentage of the people in the Communist world are Communists. The great majority are acquiescers. The great majority are simply cowed and somehow pushed along by this system which doesn't look like something you can fight. It's not very dangerous-appearing. It just controls you! You don't have to be a coward to give in to it." The majority of American prisoners in a sense did give in to it. Major Mayer feels that this exposes a weakness in America - that we are not adequately teaching our great religious, moral and social principles - the values which can make men immune to "brain-washing," I agree.

PERSONALITY PINPOINTS

from EDWARD R. MURROW'S

"PERSON TO PERSON"

on CBS-TV

WHEN Kim Hunter arrived home the Friday Ed Murrow was to visit "Person to Person" the crew was busy at work. Director Bob Sammon was sitting in the midst of the activity reading "A Nun's Story" glancing up every now and then to make a suggestion to one of the men.

Kim Hunter Kim graciously suggested he take the book home with him. But Sammon declined explaining: "You know all the guests we've visited recently have a copy of the book. I've been reading it a chapter at a time and if I took it home with me I wouldn't have anything to look forward to next Friday!"

The Aftermath—Bill Cullen particularly pleased. Since he introduced his beautiful wife Ann on "Person to Person" she's received several offers to appear in dramatic shows on TV. There's even talk about the possibility of a husband and wife show. And Roberta Sherwood is considering a daily women's TV program, something she told Ed Murrow she hoped one day to do. Also Gypsy Rose Lee, after swapping fish stories with Ed Murrow has been offered a summer TV show on that subject.

In the course of his "Person to Person" visit seedsman David Burpee mentioned to Ed Murrow the never-ending search for seeds from a perfect white marigold (in fact his company has offered a $10,000 prize for them). This week Murrow received the following postal card from a helpful Buffalo, N. Y. fan:

"Could you find out the name of that flower seed that Mr. Burpee mentioned on the air? If you will let me know, I will try and get him these seeds if I can. He can let you know how many packages he would want. I know of a seed company here real close."

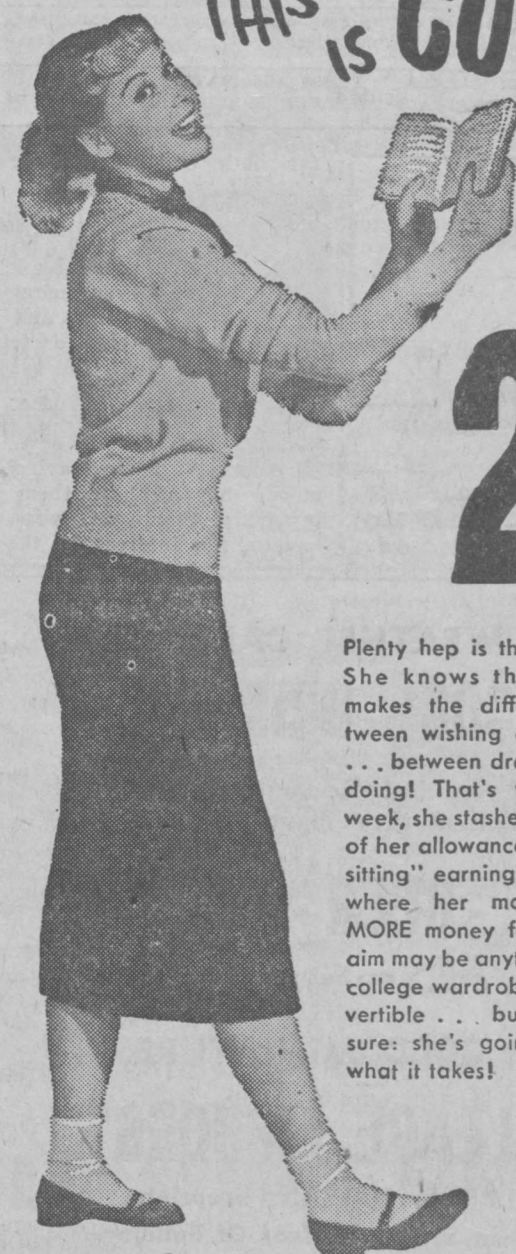

Basil Rathbone, when he was first asked about a "Person to Person" visit, checked with his friend Ludwig Bemelmans who had been "Person to Person" previously. "By all means do the show," Bemelmans reassured him. "They do such a complete job of cleaning up after the program that your wife won't have to do any spring cleaning!"

Basil Rathbone

Duke Ellington told Edward R. Murrow that most of his success he attributes to luck - and that he is a great believer in the 4 R's "Being in the right place at the right time doing the right thing for the right people."

NO. 18,494 EQUITY
In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland
QUINCIE M. WILLIAMS
Vs.
CARLTON L. WILLIAMS

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii from the Complainant, Quincie M. Williams, from the Respondent, Carlton L. Williams. The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on the 5th day of December, 1951 in Federalsburg, Maryland by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that they lived together as man and wife in various places in the State of Maryland until on or about the 1st day of February, 1953, when the Respondent, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant; that said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than 18 months last past; that the separation of the parties is final and deliberate and that there is no hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Respondent is a resident of the State of Maryland and resides at Bridgeville, Maryland. The Bill prays that the Complainant be divorced a Vinculo Matrimonii, and for general relief and process.

It is thereupon this 24th day of April, 1957, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, Ordered that the Complainant give notice to the said Respondent of the object and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 1st day of June, 1957, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of June, 1957, and show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

"Don't tell me ANOTHER DRINK CAN MAKE ME A KILLER!"

Hold on, mister. We say "can." We don't know your capacity—but why take chances?

This we do know: The law says that, if your ability to drive has been lessened in the slightest degree by the use of alcoholic beverages, you're what the law calls "under the influence."

That one more drink can make you take chances you wouldn't otherwise—react more slowly to traffic conditions—pay less attention to other cars and pedestrians.

Last year, 40,000 died in traffic accidents. Country-wide police records prove that drinking was a factor in 26 out of every 100 fatal accidents—in some areas, even more.

Need any more proof that excessive drinking and safe driving don't mix?

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

- 1 Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
- 2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Grange Volunteers For Jury Duty

The Emmitsburg Grange held its regular meeting Wednesday night in the Public School with 16 members present, Master Harry Swomley presiding.

The group was in receipt of a letter from the AAA Patrol which thanked the Grange for its contribution to its program. A $10 advertisement for the Bi-centennial souvenir booklet was authorized.

Mrs. Glen Gillespie, on behalf of the Bi-centennial Belles, invited the members of the Grange to join the group aiding the Bi-centennial cause.

Judge Patrick Schnauffer asked the members who are interested in doing jury duty to please forward their names to the master, Harry Swomley. The jurist stressed the need for farmers on juries as Frederick County is noted for agriculture and many cases pertinent to this form of livelihood come before the court.

The party bread and yeast contest will be held this year at the second meeting in June at the home of Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner. Members requiring additional information on this contest are asked to contact Mrs. George J. Martin. The next regular meeting will be on June 5 and the program will be presented by the Juvenile Grange. Refreshments were served following adjournment of the business session by the hostesses, Mrs. Carrie Hess and Mrs. Helen Swomley.

Nurses For D. C. Area Needed

The District of Columbia's General Hospital is seeking contact with high school graduates from Maryland who are interested in a nursing career.

The D. C. General Hospital Capital City School of Nursing has an outstanding record and is fully accredited.

A congressional report on the District Health Dept. made this year pointed out that the Capital City School has been ranked in the upper 25 per cent by the National League for Nursing.

The report also pointed out that no Capital School graduate has failed to pass her board examinations in recent years.

Dr. Joseph Fazekas, D. C. General's chief of staff, said the medical programs at the hospital, which include affiliations with the Georgetown and George Washington universities' medical schools give student nurses professional training not available generally.

High school graduates interested in a career in nursing should write Miss Ritter or Dr. Fazekas at D. C. General Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Ross Smith New Board of Education Head

The Frederick County Board of Education, at its annual meeting Tuesday elected Ross V. Smith, well-known Thurmont business man, as president; heard a delegation from Emmitsburg ask retention of the senior high school there and then tried to find out why there has been such a lengthy delay in delivery of needed steel for the new Frederick junior high school that the job has been set back at least three to four months.

Mr. Smith succeeds Joseph F. Rhoderick, executive manager of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce, who is retiring from the board. Mr. Rhoderick attended the meeting because no successor has qualified. The Republican State Central Committee of Frederick County has recommended Norman W. Etzler, Frederick contractor, but no appointment has been made since Governor McKeldin is overseas.

Mrs. William D. Powell, of Walkersville, was elected vice president. Superintendent of Schools James A. Sensenbaugh continues as secretary-treasurer, and Robert E. Clapp, Jr., was re-named counsel.

The Emmitsburg delegation, with Samuel C. Hays as spokesman, presented a petition signed by more than 1100 residents of the district opposing consolidation of Emmitsburg High School with Thurmont.

The petition was similar to that presented to the County Commissioners at a conference held in April. It requested that Emmitsburg High be provided with a full academic and vocation curriculum so that facilities at Emmitsburg will be comparable to those offered in other high schools of the county, then cited a number of reasons underlying the petition.

Mr. Hays also read letters from the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg and the Lions Club opposing consolidation and asking an expanded curriculum.

Dr. Sensenbaugh pointed out that the consolidation discussion concerned only the three senior grades at Emmitsburg High. He said he hoped that whatever was done was for the best interests of the children.

Mr. Smith said the problem would be considered and there was no indication of any early action on the part of the board.

Mount Nine Closes Season With Loss

Mt. St. Mary's five-run rally in the ninth inning was not enough to overcome Baltimore U in a game played here last Friday afternoon.

The 10-8 defeat left the Mountaineers with a 9-9 record for the season.

Ray Travis, Baltimore hurler, fanned 14 Mount batsmen and was able to weather the ninth inning uprising thanks to a 10-3 lead built up by his teammates.

Jack Sullivan was the big gun for the Mounties poling a homerun and three singles. Joe Starke started on the mound for the Mount and was charged with the loss. He was relieved in the seventh by Joe Mahoney when the Bees scored three runs.

JAMES K. WETZEL

James Krise Wetzel, 71, a retired boilermaker, died at 8:45 a. m. Monday at his home in Waynesboro, Pa.

He had been in failing health for several years and confined to his home for the last 20 months and critically since February.

A native of Zora, Pa., son of Charles Homes and Mary Ellen (Musgrave) Wetzel, he was educated in the Adams County rural schools. He went to Waynesboro in 1903 and learned his trade at the Geiser Manufacturing Co. He was employed by that concern for 20 years. He was last employed at Frick Co. and retired six years ago.

He was the last of his family. A number of nieces and nephews survive.

He was a member of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church and a member of the Men's Bible Class of the Sunday School.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Grove Funeral Home, Waynesboro, with Rev. H. Clayton Moyer officiating. Interment was in Green Hill Cemetery.

On Sunday Miss Rybikowsky attended a banquet and formal dance at the Alcazar as guest of Edward Campion a senior at Mt. St. Mary's College, who had received his 4th degree in the Knights of Columbus that afternoon.

Cites Usefulness Of Local VFW Ambulance Service

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

May I utilize the facilities of your paper to speak to the people of Emmitsburg? I am unable to write them all through the mails.

Two months ago they dragged me from a plane in Washington, "dying" of a heart attack. No one tells me I am dying—I wouldn't believe the warden until he sprung the trap. But these things happen, and are most difficult for the "next of kin."

In some way or another, the hospital must have notified the Maryland State Police, and Trooper Bill Morgan came out to break the news to Mrs. Sharpe. Just about that time my funeral began, and I assure you that I had the finest and best funeral a guy ever had. Each mail brought in cards, and my three private nurses had to get extra tables in the room to hold the flowers. I lived to see them all die, and those of you who have dealt with nurses know that at the first sign of deterioration, out go the flowers. Not mine. I insisted and held them, picking out those which died.

Visitors—I had quite a few—but it is a long drive from Emmitsburg to Alexandria, and I was surprised to receive any—other than those visits from my wife.

The cards got too numerous, and poured in after I returned home. I must ask that you accept this apology. Mrs. Sharpe acknowledged dozens of them, but she got bogged down—there were too many. After all, she had to assume the management of my business, plus that of the household. Obviously, I will not name names, but I will always be grateful to those of you who helped her.

A month ago I came home under the watchful eye of a nurse, flat on my back in the VFW ambulance. I have ridden in that ambulance many miles in the past few years—both in the rear helping someone, or in the front, driving. I never expected to ride in it as the "guest of honor." Many Emmitsburg residents never expect to ride in that ambulance. I hope not. But I am told that we are getting a new one—the present one is not up to current standards. The VFW could use a little financial help, although it has never asked for any.

Let's look at a simple fact. A couple of the boys, volunteers, wasted a full Sunday to drive the ambulance to Alexandria. They brought me home. I could have used an ambulance from down there—the doctor insisted that a private car could not be used. Do you know that our VFW ambulance was free and to use one of the hospital or private ambulances would have cost me $50?

On that trip I learned that we were getting a new ambulance. I most happily contributed a small donation towards that unit. You would too, if you ever needed it. Why not anticipate that need?

As a Past Post Commander of the local VFW and long interested in our ambulance project, may I cite a few dollar original facts? The cost of the ambulance and equipment therein was over $10,000. The original cost of operation, maintenance, and free service to the community averages about $1000 per year. You can run your car with poor brakes and poor tires, but ambulance requirements are strict.

Do you realize that if you are injured or ill at 3 a. m., your doctor can get this ambulance for you free in less than 10 minutes? That's all it takes to get one of our drivers out of bed, dressed, and in action.

Again, friends, thanks for your cards, letters and many flowers. I'm getting well. Please use that money instead by a simple contribution to YOUR new ambulance. Just address "Ambulance Fund, VFW, Emmitsburg, Md.," and it will be given proper attention. YOU might be the first one to need the new ambulance.

Thanks for everything—PHIL SHARPE

P-TA Plans Fall Bazaar

Preliminary plans for a social bazaar were mapped out at the regular monthly meeting of the Mother Seton P-TA held last Thursday night in the school auditorium, president Robert Marshall presiding, with 90 members in attendance.

The social affair will be held early next fall in the school, and the proceeds will be used for visual aid education in the school. The date of the affair will be announced.

The following volunteers have been appointed as a committee to assist with the bazaar: J. Everett Chrimer; Mesdames J. Hunter Elliot, Jane Adelsberger, Robert Myers, Francis Hemler, Ray Etheridge, Edythe Troxell, Robert Marshall, George Campbell, Peter Sicilia, Rosalia Lingg, John Orndorf, Arthur Starner, Mary Sherwin, Mary L. Eckenrode, Allen Knott, and Leonard Green.

The group voted to award a general excellence prize to the eighth grade at the annual commencement and also awards to outstanding students in the other classes, based on the student's merits in the judgment of their instructor.

Following the business session delicious refreshments were served by the following refreshment committee: Mrs. Edward Lingg, Mrs. John Orndorf, Mrs. Arthur Starner, and Mrs. Peter Sicilia. The meeting was the season's final.

Homemakers Will Aid Bi-centennial

The Emmitsburg Homemakers Club will open its gift shop on W. Main St. on June 1, it was announced this week. Shopkeepers will be taken from the membership list alphabetically, by two. If a member cannot serve that day she will be responsible for getting a substitute.

All articles on sale will be listed under the maker's name with her own price. Prices are to be marked on a pin ticket. Ten per cent will be added to the cost for shop expenses. The receipts from the shop will be made as a donation to the Bi-centennial fund.

The shop will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. May 29 and 31 to receive articles. It will receive any handmade articles by anyone in the Emmitsburg District. It is not limited to Club members.

The committee requests each member to help in getting the articles properly listed and placed on sale on the above dates at the specified time. Other information concerning this project may be secured from Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan, chairman. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Charles D. Gillelan, Mrs. Victor Fiery, Mrs. John Roddy, Sr., Mrs. E. L. Higbee, and Mrs. George Eyster.

Class Trip

About 35 members of the eighth grade of Mother Seton School made a bus trip to Washington, D. C. Wednesday, under the sponsorship of the P-TA of the school.

Faculty Group Meets At Home Of Prof. Leonard

The faculty discussion group of Mt. St. Mary's College and St. Joseph's College held its last meeting of the year Wednesday evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Richard Leonard. Twenty-three members and their wives attended.

The program consisted of film strips depicting in vivid color the origins of the earth. Dr. Charles Curtin, associate professor of biology at Mt. St. Mary's, gave an interesting commentary discussing the various theories through which scientists attempt to explain how the earth has evolved.

Rev. Hugh Phillips, librarian at the Mount, attended the meeting. A committee was appointed to begin preparing a series of programs to be presented in the fall.

The sight-seeing trip was made in George Rosensteel's charter bus and many points of interest were visited by the class during the day-long tour.

The students left Emmitsburg at 7 a. m. and returned about 9 p. m. Lunches were provided by the P-TA and the class was chaperoned by members of the faculty, Sisters of Charity.
