Welcome to Emmitsburg, neighbor! No, I haven't gone off the beam but am just extending a hearty greeting to the next batch of neighbors who will become Emmitsburgians on Aug. 15, next week. Approximately 30 homes will be taken into the Corporation of Emmitsburg on that date and a rough estimate figures that nearly another 200 people will become citizens of the town on that day. For some months now petitions have been before the Town Council to annex more territory near its suburbs and now these petitions will be honored next week. The movement for annexation has been in conformation with legal requirements and soon the deal will be consummated. This movement should swell the population of the old town to around the 1500 mark which should bring in more revenue from several sources. I think the move was a good one and is certain to benefit all concerned. I repeat, welcome neighbors.

While everything else is skyrocketing price-wise, the worth of the human body has dropped to practically nothing in value. Science has devised extraction methods for taking chemicals from the earth at a fraction of what it used to cost. You all studied in school what elements the body is composed of and what percentages made up the human body. Well what you probably don't know is that at one time your body was worth its weight in gold. For example, I was the recipient of an old clipping from a New York newspaper. This clipping came to me via Irene Oher, Emmitsburg, who says she took it from her father-in-law's old scrapbook. Her father-in-law was George Adam Oher and the scrapbook was dated 1859. In a recent issue of the Chronicle it was stated that the human body was worth exactly 98 cents. The clipping says that back in those days calcium sold for $300 an ounce and that in the body there were three pounds and 13 ounces of the formerly valuable element, making the body actually worth $18,000. Wouldn't that floor you?

Read some interesting facts about weekly newspapers the other day. A well-known advertising agency has this to say about weekly newspapers:

Weekly newspapers have a real and genuine excuse for living. They are geared to provide services that can't be had any other way. There is no question but what the weeklies circulation is a largely duplicated audience. Considering that three out of four homes have television, that there are over 3 million car radios alone, that magazines and dailies reach rural areas—why has the weekly survived at all? It has survived for the simple reason that no matter how many media its audience is exposed to—the money readers spend to buy a weekly is for the purpose of reading exclusive unduplicated news: Mrs. Gramm's nephew from West Duluth is visiting, or the Mayor's dog broke a foot. Not exciting to the city man, but it's exclusive and of direct interest to the community.

"The greatest single advantage of a weekly is its consistently high readership. Study after study has shown that readership of editorial matter runs from 70 to 90 percent and of advertising from 50 to 70 percent. Average readership of each issue of a weekly is five people, and of a daily, two people. Average amount of time spent with a weekly is 53 minutes compared with an average of 30 minutes with a daily. It's eight pages are read from cover to cover, editorial and advertising. Usually, the weekly stays around the house for the entire week, as a ready check on retail sales, social events and as reference to a civic meeting."

VFW HOLDS PICNIC

The regular meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, Emmitsburg, was held in the form of a picnic Wednesday evening at the residence of Andrew "Bud" Shorb.

Eating, says an expert, is a matter of taste—and sometimes cash.

Rocky Ridge Carnival Starts Wednesday

Three Pen Mar Youths Held

Three young Pen Mar men are in jail on breaking and entering charges growing out of robberies of business establishments at Sabillasville and Emmitsburg and one of them has filed a petition in criminal court for an immediate trial.

State Police, who made the investigation and arrests, charged the men, Ralph E. Miller, Robert Krietz and Donald Naylor who are aged 18 and 19 years, with the entries of Poole's hardware store in Sabillasville in June and Sanders Bros. garage in Emmitsburg on May 23.

They said about $1,000 worth of merchandise was stolen from the hardware store and approximately $400 worth of articles were taken from the garage.

Miller has asked an immediate trial, through his attorney, Edwin F. Nikirk waiving grand jury action, and State's Attorney Samuel W. Barrick said an information would be filed in the near future.

The men are being held in jail under $2,500 bond each following the arrests by State Troopers H. J. Brown and William G. Morgan.

Police said only a small amount of the stolen property has been recovered and the investigation on this score is still under way. Little cash was taken in the robberies, the total being estimated at about $30.

The robbers forced open a rear window and took a considerable amount of sporting wear and hardware equipment at the Sabillasville store, operated by Mark F. Frantz Jr. of Waynesboro. The loot is understood to have included some expensive guns and ammunition, along with hunting knives and bows and arrows.

Tools comprised the major part of the loot from Sanders Bros. garage.

Judging other people often prevents us from appraising ourselves.

Hampton Valley Rd. Being Improved

Good roads are creeping into another scenic area of Frederick County—the little-publicized Eyer's Valley section, west of Emmitsburg.

The Frederick County Roads Board is engaged in building another mile's extension of the Hampton Valley Rd., which will carry this improved highway beyond Rainbow Lake, the Emmitsburg water supply source, high in the mountains west of town.

A mile of the road was improved last year. The roads crews have about completed grading and in a few weeks will start placing the stone base. The macadamizing will not be finished for several months, it is expected.

The Hampton Valley Rd. connects with Eyer's Valley Rd. which joins Maryland 81 (the Sabillasville Rd.) near Flint. A mile of this road was paved last year and another mile is on this year's program. There will remain several miles of unimproved highway to be built in future years.

Some Emmitsburg residents foresee the time when there will be considerable development of the mountain sections because of the picturesque scenery of the area. A boys' camp has already been established.

Reader Complains Of Conditions At Flat Run

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: Dear Sir:

The people at the East End of town, primarily the Emmitt Gardens, lower DePaul St. and Federal Ave. areas, have quite a time fighting off mosquitoes.

Flat Run, which is really flat about this time, is nothing but a huge breeding place. I have done some research and have found that spraying the breeding area with oil, Paris green, or DDT will kill the larvae of the mosquito before it has a chance to mature.

Flat Run used to be a clear running stream with at least a few fish in it. Now look at it. It looks and smells just like a swamp. We all know that Flat Run isn't large enough to carry away all the waste products that is drained in it.

I hope that some of the town officials will investigate this matter and do something about the growing problem. After all, we live near it and know what it's like and have to put up with it. A SUBSCRIBER

Polio Cases Less Than '56 Total

The national total polio cases during the first half of 1957 is running below the '56 number by one-half, according to a Public Health Service spokesman.

For the first six months of last year, 4546 cases of polio were reported, compared with 2244 cases through July 27 this year. The spokesman said the continued low number of paralytic cases at this time of the season is "particularly favorable."

Two weeks ago there were 265 cases of all types of polio reported nationally, while in the corresponding 1956 week there were 634.

Sprinkle Heads Local Legion

Eugene Sprankle was installed as commander of the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, Tuesday evening. John W. Sloan, Maryland American Legion commander presided over the ceremonies.

Other officers installed were: Eugene Rodgers, first vice commander; Earl Topper, second vice commander; Allen Bouey, finance officer; Louis F. Rosensteel, historian; Raymond Baumgardner, chaplain, and J. Ward Kerrigan, trustee for three years.

Also present for the installation were: Grover Shaff, Frederick County Commander; William Miller, past county commander and member of the state executive committee, and Clarence Harner, newly elected commander of the Taneytown Post.

Edgar Wastler, outgoing commander, presided at a business meeting prior to the installation of officers. Louis Rosensteel reported that Luther Zimmerman and Carroll C. Eyer have donated blood to Mrs. Ruth Mort.

Richard Ripka was appointed chairman of the annual summer picnic committee. The date of the picnic will be announced later.

At the installation service State Commander Sloan congratulated outgoing Commander Wastler for his "splendid work and community service." Present were 71 members. Refreshments were served by Clarence Shorb and the Legion's Ladies' Auxiliary.

WILL PROBATED

The will of Mrs. Bertha B. Birely, Thurmont, was probated in Orphans' Court Monday and leaves the estate which court attaches were informed would approximate $250,000, to her son, Dr. M. Franklin Birely, Thurmont, who is named executor. The will is dated Oct. 15, 1947. It was witnessed by George E. Hahn and Rev. Charles H. Corbett.

Good manners are good form today, even on the highways.

Council Discusses N. Seton Ave. Curbing

The highlight of the meeting of the Town Council Monday evening was the discussion of extending the curbing on the west side of N. Seton Ave. beyond St. Vincent's Rectory. This section has been the scene of several accidents due to the rather deep gutter draining water into Flat Run. It is understood that two members of the State Roads Board will be contacted as to the best means of curbing this section of town.

For the time being, the Town office will be located in the building owned by William Ryder and an office maintained in what was formerly The Book Nook, near the Square. The Town officials elected to rent the office by the month.

The secretary's and treasurer's report were given by Miss Louise Sebald and approved as presented. Police Chief Robert Koontz reported on the arrests and meter collection for the month of July.

Burgess Clarence G. Frailey and the full board attended the regular meeting.

Grange Holds Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held Wednesday evening at the home of Grier Keilholtz with 16 members and two guests present. Master Harry Swomley presided.

The Grange presented a resolution at Pomona meeting requesting the roads board be compelled to pay according to damages done a farm—not set price per acre which is being used at present time. The resolution was adopted at the meeting.

Master Swomley attended the fair booth meeting and reported the open theme will be used. There will be no restrictions this year on items that can be used because of the county-wide dry situation.

A meeting on the heifer project will be held on the farm of George Stauffer, Walkersville, on Sunday, Aug. 18. Everyone is invited to attend.

Brother and Sister Quinn were guests at the meeting. Sister Quinn announced that the Juvenile Grange picnic will be held at Straley Park, Frederick, on Sunday, Aug. 18.

George Martin reported on a meeting he attended in Westminster where it was discussed the alarming rate at which people are leaving the farm.

The next meeting will be held on Aug. 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Hess.

Past Legion Commander Expires

Lloyd C. Mackley, one of Thurmont's most prominent citizens, died Tuesday noon at Frederick Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for the past six days. He was 62.

He was a past commander of the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, Emmitsburg, serving from 1940-41.

Mr. Mackley, who retired three years ago after 36 years as an accountant in the supply department of the Western Maryland Railway, was prominently identified with church and civic activities in Thurmont. He was an enthusiastic baseball fan and Legionnaire and was very active in church work.

A member of one of Thurmont's oldest families, he was a son of the late J. Irvin and Naomi Firor Mackley.

Mr. Mackley was a veteran of World War I, having served overseas for 18 months. He was a member of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, Thurmont, and at the time of his death, was an elder on the church board. He was past commander of Accacia Lodge A. F. and A. Masons of Thurmont and served as secretary of the lodge for 32 years. Mr. Mackley was also a member of Royal Arch Masons of Frederick; past commander Edwin C. Creeger Jr. Post, American Legion; a member of the 40 and 8; and the VFW Post of Emmitsburg. Mr. Mackley was also past president of the Guardian Hose Co. of Thurmont and past secretary of the Thurmont Lions Club.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth Holdcraft Mackley, and the following children: Mrs. Naomi Green, Walkersville; James H. Mackley, Thurmont; Miss Helen Mackley and Miss Martha Mackley, at home; J. Leonard Mackley, at home. Also surviving are one grandchild, Charles M. Mackley; an uncle, Charles Mackley, Thurmont, and an aunt, Mrs. Bessie Firor, Lewistown.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Friday) at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Samuel Moyer and Rev. Dr. Paul E. Holdcraft, Burial in Blue Ridge Cemetery, Thurmont. M. L. Creeger and Son, funeral directors.

ALVEY S. SHORB

He was a son of the late Joshua and Elizabeth Troxell Shorb. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Carrie J. Rose Shorb; two sons, Robert, of California, and Clarence J., of Baltimore; two daughters, Catherine, of New York City, and Mrs. Doris Gelwicks, of Baltimore; 15 grandchildren, and two brothers, Gerald Shorb, of Thurmont, and Maurice Shorb, of Fairfield Rt. 2.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Allison Funeral Home, Emmitsburg. Rev. Samuel Moyer will officiate. Interment will be in the new St. Joseph's Cemetery, Emmitsburg. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p. m. Friday.

EDWARD H. MARTIN

Edward H. Martin, 24, Hagersburg, was found slumped over the wheel of his car late last Thursday afternoon on the Cavetown Pike, three miles outside Hagerstown. The eastbound motorist apparently had reduced the speed of his auto and had pulled over to the right. The car finally came at rest against a stone wall.

The Community Rescue ambulance took him to the Washington County Hospital emergency room after county police were notified of the accident. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital. Death was due to natural causes.

Mr. Martin was a member of the Church of the Brethren, Hagerstown, and was employed for the past two years at the Hagerstown Cabinet Works.

He is survived by his wife, Lavana K. (Potter) Martin; daughter, Twila Sue, at home; mother, Mrs. Carrie Martin, Hagerstown; sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Drumberg and Mrs. Anna May Schaffer, both of Frederick, and Mrs. Mildred Griffith, Keedysville; brothers, Wilbur E. Martin, Frederick, and Raymond L. Griffith, Hagerstown; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, Rocky Ridge.

Funeral services were held last Sunday at the Rest Haven Funeral Chapel. Interment was in the Rest Haven Cemetery.

Your success, if you are wise, does not depend upon somebody else.

What you do not expect and do not get does not disappoint you.

Plans For Route 15 Are Changed

Plans for the construction of another three and a half mile section of new U. S. 15 between Thurmont and Emmitsburg are reportedly in the process of being revamped to connect with the proposed Emmitsburg by-pass east of town.

The change in plans, it is understood, would eliminate the initial arrangement to utilize a part of the present road between Mount St. Mary's College and Toll Gate Hill, which is just south of Emmitsburg.

The new plans, it is reported, would move new U. S. 15 east of the present road across Mount St. Mary's College fields to the rear of houses now fronting the highway until it swings in back of St. Joseph College to by-pass Emmitsburg to the east. Earlier plans, it was said, had the new road following the present roadway a little to the west until it reached Toll Gate Hill area, when the swing behind St. Joseph was to begin.

Roads sources said the plans now under consideration would by-pass houses close to the present road in the Mount St. Mary's area, avoiding the necessity of going through this improved property. They said the State Roads Commission is looking to the future in its plans to construct the best type of highway for that area.

The commission scheduled as one of its two major projects in Frederick County this year the construction of the three and a half-mile section of U. S. 15, estimated to cost over a million dollars including construction, engineering, and right-of-way.

That would nearly modernize all of the twisting main highway between Thurmont and Emmitsburg since it would carry as far as Tom's Creek, near St. Joseph College. A new bridge will carry the highway over Tom's Creek.

A three and a quarter mile reconstruction job on 15 from near Thurmont northward has been completed and the project scheduled this year would pick up at the end of that contract.

Right-of-ways for a dual highway are being secured, it is known, although only one lane is being built at this time. A second lane is scheduled to be built later in the 12-year roads program. Revamping of plans may cause some delay in the start of the project.

There has been talk that the Emmitsburg by-pass may get started next year but there is nothing definite at this time. Roads officials feel the Thurmont by-pass on U. S. 15 may be completed late this year.

Fairfield Downs Locals, 10-1

Emmitsburg dropped its 5th straight start Sunday afternoon, losing to Fairfield, 10-1 at the local Community Field. Emmitsburg's only run came in the last of the ninth. During the game, Donald Weikert, Fairfield catcher, was struck on the head with a bat and was removed to the Annie Warner Hospital where he received treatment for a laceration of the scalp and released. He was taken to the hospital in the local VFW Ambulance.

In other games, Union Bridge moved into a tie with Blue Ridge Summit for first place by taking two victories over the weekend. They downed Cashtown 4-3 in 10 innings Saturday afternoon at Cashtown in making up a previously postponed game and edged the Summitters 4-1 at Union Bridge Sunday afternoon.

In another fine game at Cashtown Sunday afternoon Taneytown took a 4-1 decision.

SCOUTS LUMBERING ON MONKEY BRIDGE—The Emmitsburg Boy Scouts are seen lumbering on a "monkey bridge" at their camp site. The bridge, 50 feet in length and built by the boys, had to be crossed each morning before eating breakfast. The Scouts returned last week from their camping trip and are now on a hike to the C. & O. Canal.

387 Have Chests X-rayed

If it's one thing Emmitsburgians are interested in it's good health. The 1957 X-ray survey concluded here recently revealed that 387 persons were X-rayed. The mobile unit was sponsored by the Frederick County Tuberculosis and Public Health Assn.

Last year's figures showed that 285 district people participated in the fight against tuberculosis.

The mobile X-ray unit appeared at the Toor Shoe Corp., the Emmitsburg Manufacturing Co. and on the Square. Assisting the personnel of the unit were ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary, headed by Miss Charlotte Sanders, Mrs. Mary Hoke, Mrs. Alta Eckenrode, Mrs. Naomi White, Mrs. Roseanna Ohler, Mrs. Dorothy Kerrigan, Mrs. Bernadette Hemler, Mrs. Ruth Martins and Mrs. Virginia Sanders. The Emmitsburg Boy Scouts did their part too by distributing literature and posters prior to the unit's arrival.

The Frederick County Tuberculosis and Public Health Assn., of which Mr. Joseph D. Baker is president, publicly thanks all those who helped to make the survey a success and in promoting this important health project in Emmitsburg.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

A plant labeled "Scheuchzerias (Money Tree)" is currently occupying a whimsically prominent place in the Senate Disbursing Office, where Congressional employees receive their pay.

Unfortunately, the plant has thus far been much more decorative than financially productive, and consequently the Federal government must still rely on taxes to pay for its spending.

This elementary fact, it seems, is sometimes completely ignored, as in the case of the perennially resurrected Burke Airport proposal.

Once again this year the advocates of a plan to build an unnecessary airfield at Burke, Va., asked for construction funds, and once again they willfully disregarded the fact that the ultimate cost would be two or three times as much as their initial request for $35 million.

The dictionary defines a "boondoggle" as "any impracticable or useless project, wasteful of time and money," and no word is more applicable to the Burke Airport proposal.

Instead of rehashing this frequently discredited issue every year, as has been done for the past half dozen years, various government groups should be making long-overdue preparations for the immediate utilization of the excellent and accessible facilities of Friendship International Airport.

I sincerely hope that this time we will be able to make sure that the Burke plan will not crop up again and then begin taking positive action at Friendship in the interests of safety, economy, and efficiency.

New Fairchild Planes

While speaking of factors affecting the aviation industry, I would like to mention that our Fairchild Engine and Aviation Corp. of Hagerstown, will re-enter the commercial aircraft field this fall, when its first F-27 commercial turboprop plane is rolled out.

Designed by Fokker engineers of Hilland and a team of engineers from Fairchild's Maryland plant, it will carry 40 passengers at a cruising speed of 280 miles per hour.

Since this advancement will affect numerous areas of our state, it is a special pleasure to join in the congratulations being extended to this important Free State industry.

Mrs. John Troxell is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. John Noonan and family in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chrismar and family are spending some time in California visiting with relatives and friends.

Neat, uncomplicated house design usually goes hand in hand with low cost. Take, for example, this modern 3-bedroom, 1 1/2-bathroom ranch house tailored for leisurely indoor and outdoor living.

Designed by architect Rudolph A. Matern, Jamaica, N. Y., the house has a 24-foot-long porch with connecting doorways to the living room, dining room, kitchen, and garage. The porch opens on an 18 by 20-foot patio, an ideal arrangement for family dining, informal entertaining, or children's recreation.

Framing for the house has been simplified without any loss of livability, or eye appeal. The main roof section, of conventional gable construction, has a gentle slope. It is covered with an attractive blend of light-color asphalt shingles. The roof sets the color scheme for the exterior of the house. The siding is in a harmonizing shade and the window trim repeats the roof color.

There are two service entrances to the house, one at each end of the kitchen. In conjunction with the main entrance and the short hall into which it leads, these provide a good traffic pattern.

The three bedrooms extend across the rear of the house. The hallway separating the living and sleeping areas serves well as a sound barrier. The L-shaped kitchen is separated from the dining room by a breakfast bar.

The house can be constructed with or without a basement. Thick mineral wool insulation acts as a heat barrier to keep winter warmth in the house and summer heat out. It makes possible the installation of a smaller, less expensive central air-conditioning system and reduces the day-to-day cost of operating it as well as the cost of heating fuel.

Additional information, blueprints and specifications can be obtained from Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, L. I., N. Y. Refer to plan No. 9399.

TEN TIPS ON CAR CARE

Safety authorities predict ten million auto accidents this year—one every three seconds. But the individual driver can greatly reduce his chances of accident, the safety men report, by observing the "basic ten" rules of automobile maintenance.

1. Windshield wipers. They should work easily, clean quickly, leave no streaks.

2. Rear-view mirror. Free from cracks and chips? Good reflection? Secure enough to avoid vibration and blurred images?

3. Horn. Test to see if there are any "dead spots" when you press.

4. Steering wheel. More than two inches of free play at the rim is dangerous.

5. Tires. Free from bulges, cuts, cracks and bald spots? There are many fads in tire cords, but rayon is still best. It gives the most mileage per dollar, and it's the only tire cord that grows stronger as tire heat builds up.

6. Brakes. Have them adjusted before the pedal nearly touches the floor. To avoid skids, be sure brakes are balanced.

7. Exhaust system. Make sure it's tight and free from leaks so that carbon monoxide can't seep into the car.

8. Engine. To avoid stalling, flush the radiator twice a year. Use an anti-rust compound during the warmer months.

9. Windows. Even safety glass is dangerous when cracked or discolored. If you must display stickers to show where you've been, "wear them on your hat," say the safety experts. On your window they're a hazard.

10. Lights. It's not enough that headlights shine; be sure they are strong enough and aimed to avoid glare.

Babson Discusses Retirement

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 8—The present system of retiring faithful and efficient workers is probably good for the junior employees. It gives them a better chance for promotion. But the younger ones must indirectly contribute to the support of those being retired through paying one half of their Social Security and other benefits. Some one must pay the bills.

Every Case Different
In many cases compulsory retirement is a blessing to all concerned. Many workers are physically unable to continue at their usual manual labor or even at office work. This, however, does not justify children putting such parents into nursing homes. This procedure is becoming too common. There is money in nursing homes for the operators; but they are sad places to visit. When I see children ruthlessly put a parent into a nursing home, it makes me feel very sad.

It seems as if some semi-retirement, or half-time plan could often be used instead of full retirement. When I discuss this with employers they state that such an arrangement would upset their "stream lined" production system and their efficient office systems. This may be true in a few cases; but if this half-time arrangement were applied to all competitors, no one concerned would be handicapped.

Longer Vacations
Another suggestion is that retirement systems be based upon longer vacations, in both summer and winter. Instead of a worker going on half-time by working half a day every day, he could work all day when going to the plant or office but take two months off in summer and two months or more off in winter.

With some businesses this would be a less disrupting method of adjustment; but with other industries it would be more of a handicap. Therefore, why not amend the retirement regulations to give corporations their choice? Undoubtedly, labor unions would want to be a party to such decisions; but that, too, could be worked out.

An Important Warning
The most valuable advice which I can give to readers who are approaching retirement is to avoid the temptation of going into business for themselves. If you want to take a salaried job with some other concern this is OK, provided it is not a company competing with the one from which you are retiring. Certainly it is bad ethics to retire from one company on a pension and then work for a competitor or start in business yourself as a competitor. In my opinion, this comes close to plain dishonesty.

Luck Vs. Ability
Although these men had business ability when operating the business from which they had retired, their success was not due entirely to business skill. Other factors contributed to that success. A man may have entered his former business when the industry was young. The times, political atmosphere, or tax system, may now be very different. They may have operated at a different period in the business cycle, but styles and demand for the product may by now have completely changed. The person himself may be less vigorous or progressive due to advanced age; while competition is now such that more vigor and capital are needed.

I especially warn retired persons not to go to California or Florida or to some other booming state, unless they can count on a check of at least $200, besides Social Security benefits, coming from home each month as a pension or as interest or dividends. Also, before you take any job anywhere after retirement, ascertain how it will affect your Social Security and other benefits. In most cases, use are available for 2 cents a piece at the Committee Headquarters, 8 E. Mulberry Street, Baltimore 2.

Throughout the nation states are becoming concerned with the magnitude of the litter problem—$50 million annually to clean up primary highways alone—to say nothing of health and safety hazards created by indiscriminate trash-tossing. 20 states have revised their anti-litter laws since 1953; 14 have introduced before their 1957 Legislatures new provisions for more effective enforcement of their laws; and basic legislation for the control of litterbugs exists in all but one state.
Education and enforcement, in the opinion of Keep Maryland Beautiful and Keep America Beautiful, Inc.—the national public service organization for the prevention of litter—are the keys to ultimate control of the litter problem.
A lot of fellers who complain about the boss being so dumb would be out of job if the boss were any smarter.

Litterbugs Are Warned

The Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful has supplied litterbags for use in all State Police cars, it was announced this week by John E. Clark, committee chairman.

State Police Superintendent Colonel Elmer F. Munshower said he hoped that the use of the bags by State Policemen would "serve as a good example to all motorists, reminding them that carrying in the car a container for disposal of travel trash is a great aid in keeping the highways free of litter."

"For those who do not practice highway etiquette", Colonel Munshower said, "the State law provides penalties ranging up to a fine of $250 and 90 days' imprisonment for throwing trash and refuse on the roads and roadsides." He added:

"The State Police have been given special instructions to watch for violations of this law and we are enforcing it."

Working in conjunction with the State Police and the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful, the State Roads Commission is posting, at ten mile intervals along Maryland's primary road system, signs warning the public of the anti-litter penalties.

The litterbags supplied by the Keep Maryland Beautiful Committee are imprinted with a picture of SWEETIE, the squirrel mascot of the committee, demonstrating the use of the bags by motorists. Litterbags for private

Fish Commission Completes Survey

According to Mr. Ernest A. Vaughn, Director of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, recent fish trapping studies above Great Falls Dam made by fishery biologists of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission uncovered some of the largest sunfishes yet observed along the Potomac. Bluegills up to ten inches and yellowbelly sunfish up to nine inches were examined for length, weight, age, and a comparison of the growth rate with other areas of the river basin. All panfish examined showed fair growth rates and were in prime condition indicating an abundance of food. An increase in the quantity of fish food organisms above the Falls is associated with an increase in aquatic plants which increase the carrying capacity of certain species of insect life and minute fresh water "shimp."

Examination of sunfishes revealed that many were spawning for the second and third time this season. The great fecundity of these species often results in stunting from overcrowding and anglers should harvest as many panfish as possible to help balance the fish population.

Mr. Albert E. Sanderson, Commission Fishery Biologist, stationed at the Beaver Creek Hatchery, near Hagerstown says, "Hundreds of sunfishes, catfishes and smallmouth bass have been tagged and released in the Potomac at Great Falls, Violet's Loch below Seneca, and in the vicinity of Edward's Ferry. Anglers are asked to cooperate in the Commission's research program by looking for numbered tags in the lower jaw of fish caught. Tags with information on the species, date caught, location, length, and its weight if possible, should be forwarded to the nearest District Game Warden. This information is necessary to enable us to determine the migration and rate of exploitation of harvestable size fish."

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY...

FORDS COST LESS PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, similarly equipped.*

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars . . . supervised by the United States Auto Club. And when the test was over, Ford led all other cars in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too!

Looking Ahead

... by Dr. George S. Benson
 DIRECTOR — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
 Scary, Arkansas

Following is Glenn Green's second report from Norway. I personally studied conditions in that interesting country in 1946 when it was just starting down the road of Socialism.

I shall share your deep interest in the following reports from Mr. Green on what has happened to the fine people of Norway during these intervening eleven years.

—G.S.B.
 Deep In Socialism
 OSLO, NORWAY—Dear Dr. Benson: A fateful action will be taken by the Norwegians on October 7. In a national election on that date they will choose their representatives in the Storting (Norwegian Parliament). The election will decide whether there shall be more Socialism in the government and more regimentation in the Norwegian way of life—or less.

On the basis of taxation and regimentation Norway today undoubtedly is farther into Socialism than any other of the "free" countries of the world. The tax take for government is more than 40 percent of the national income; and the top income tax on business is 67 percent—the world's highest.

A Hope

The forthcoming election, therefore, is of great significance to Norway's 3,400,000 people and perhaps of even greater significance to people around the globe. There is a hope shared by many of the anti-Socialist elements of Norway that the controlling Socialist-Labor Party will lose a little of its strength in the Storting, which it has dominated since 1935. It is a delicate hope at best; and apparently none of the Government's opposition and no neutral observer in Norway believes that Con-

Seven Jockeys Are Nominated

BALTIMORE, Md.—Seven race riding stars of former years are up for election to the Jockeys Hall of Fame, but only two are still alive to contemplate the new awards that may befall them.

The living candidates are Walter Miller, first jockey ever to ride 300 winners in a single season, and Raymond (Sonny) Workman, outstanding reinsman of the middle 1930's. The others are Laverne Fator, Mack Garner, Edward (Snapper) Garrison, James McLaughlin and Carroll Shilling.

More than 1,000 sports broadcasters and writers across the nation are currently balloting to elect two of the seven to the Jockeys Hall of Fame which is maintained at Pimlico Race Course here.

Workman today is a 48-year-old Washington, D. C. businessman and real estate operator. He invested his race earnings in real estate and has managed these properties since he hung up his tack in 1941.

Sonny, who scored his most famous victory in the 1930 Pimlico Futurity on Equipoise after getting left at the post, was a contemporary of such saddle greats as Earl Sande, Johnny Gilbert, Don Meade, Bobby Jones and Fator.

Miller has not been so fortunate as Workman. He engaged in a number of business ventures following his retirement from race riding in 1910, but a serious illness struck him down in 1945. Worries over this subsequently brought on a mental breakdown

Trucking Industry Opposes Gas Tax

Definite opposition to an increase in Maryland's six-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax was expressed today by the trucking industry and truck operators throughout the state.

Mr. Lewis W. Higgins, president of the Maryland Motor Truck Association, declared this to be the position of the more than 400 members of the association, who operate thousands of trucks in Maryland.

"An increase in the current gasoline tax would have a disastrous effect on the trucking industry," said Mr. Higgins, "and undoubtedly would cause many of our companies to go out of business."

According to Mr. Higgins, the recent increase in the Federal gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents per gallon, and the new Federal Use tax of $1.50 per 1000 pounds levied against trucks a year ago, have resulted in such increased operational costs as to force many companies into the "red" for the past 12-month period.

"It is difficult to understand," he continued, "why it is necessary for Maryland to increase its gasoline tax from 6 to 7 cents per gallon when our neighboring state of Pennsylvania has just decreased its tax from 6 to 5 cents per gallon."

Not Panning Out

In many other ways I have tried to size up what Socialism is doing to Norway and Norwegians, and their reactions to it. I believe I have the picture straight. It brings into focus a Socialist-Labor government unable to deliver on the promises of Socialism, but trying desperately—and quite effectively—to pacify the people and keep them in ignorance of their true plight.

In my dispatch next week there will be a statistical sketch and a first hand report on life under Norwegian Socialism for the family of a typical industrial worker—his income, his taxes, his subsidies, and the other factors bearing on his living standard and his future. Meantime, readers of your column may be interested to know that:

Facts of Note

Einar Gerhardsen, Norway's Socialist Prime Minister and, therefore, the most powerful man in the nation's political and economic life, is a former worker on a municipal road building crew. His prestige and rise to prominence was built on his political operations. He began as the secretary of a small Socialist-Labor party in a medium-sized city.

Adequate Wiring Low In Cost

In recent weeks you have heard a great deal about Certified Wiring, adequate wiring, full house-power and related terms. You have been told the dangers and disadvantages of inadequate wiring and the comforts, pleasure and time-saving advantages of proper wiring systems.

Undoubtedly the question has come into your mind... "What is all this going to cost me?" Just how much will it cost to install adequate wiring in a house

In other words, full-powered wiring averages in cost about 1 percent more than wiring for the bare necessities of electrical existence.

That is very little. Actually, as a part of the total cost of your house, and amortized over the length of time you will live in it, it is significant. Remember too, this slight difference in the cost of good wiring over poor wiring will be paid back to you in daily satisfaction for years to come.

Perhaps you felt that you will be able to do "well enough" for the time being with a minimum standard system... and add more wiring when you need it. If so, consider this... any future you are planning to build? What will the bill be to modernize the wiring of a house already built?

Only an electrical contractor or builder can tell you exactly! However, a few general facts will give you an idea as to what may be expected before you call in the experts.

To wire a house to minimum standards may cost from 2 to 3 1/2 percent of the total cost of the house. The cost of wiring adequately may amount to about 2 1/2 and 5 percent of the total cost of the house.

wiring you may do will cost about 80 percent more than if it had been done when the house was being built.

If you wish to finance modernization of the wiring system of your present home, ask your bank, public utility or your electrical contractor about payment plans covering such costs.

New, better, more highly-powered appliances for your home are being developed constantly. Be sure your wiring looks ahead to the time when it will be required to power them.

Disabled To Receive Benefits

More than 100,000 disabled workers all over the Nation have been notified that they are entitled to social security disability insurance benefits and will receive their first benefit checks during August, W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Office announced this week. Most of the checks were delivered by August 3 and the remaining ones were mailed on following days.

In making this announcement, Mr. King noted that action is being taken as speedily as possible on all disability applications and that many other disabled workers, who may not yet have received notice of final action on their applications, will be receiving their first checks in coming months. No further action is necessary on their part, he said.

In the first six months of 1957, applications for these new disability insurance benefits increased to a rate of about 12,000 a week throughout the Nation. Although social security benefit checks for a particular month are ordinarily mailed out for delivery on the third of the following month, the heavy load of disability applications slowed up processing and made it impossible to get checks issued on August 3 to all who are entitled to disability benefits for the month of July.

All disabled workers who meet the requirements of the law, and whose applications have been filed with their social security offices before the end of December 1957, Mr. King said, will get benefit payments for the months of July through December. After December, payments cannot be made for any month before the month of application.

In order to get disability insurance benefits, a person must be between 50 and 65 years of age and must have a long-lasting disability so severe that he is not able to engage in any substantial gainful activity. He must have worked under social security for five out of the ten years before he became disabled, including a year and a half out of the 3 years just before his disability began.

In addition to the disability benefit sections of the law which provide for a partial replacement of earnings during a disabled worker's middle years, there is a 1954 amendment to the law providing that disabled people of any age who meet the disability and work requirements may apply to have their social security records frozen. When a worker's social security record is frozen, his own and his family's future benefit rights are protected.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

With the costs of living showing consistent gains month after month, official Washington is becoming somewhat concerned over public clamour to do something about stopping inflation.

In fact, the Administration has said it is against inflation.

But of course, the Administration also proposed a large sized budget.

Seemingly, in the viewpoint of certain segments in government, it is always other fellow that brings about inflation. The C. W. Harder fact that all government is now taking a third of the total national income in taxes, promises to take more, does not seem to enter into their calculations.

It is interesting to note that in the first 11 months of the 1957 fiscal year the federal government spent almost $72 billion, while in first 11 months of 1956, total was barely $65 billion.

Thus, there is almost a $7 billion increase between the two periods. Now it is interesting to note that while official cry is that increased defense calls for increased expenses, only $3 billion more was spent by defense department, leaving $4 billion gobbled up by just general government, such as approximately 20% more paid out by federal employees retirement funds.

Foreign give aways continue to loom large in the budget. Without them, a substantial tax cut would be possible.

But it is interesting to note the type of organizations that band together to support foreign aid, and notice that they are the same vaguely defined outfits that have also sprung to action to testify on behalf of the proposed plan to give away atomic energy, and to support the International Atomic Energy Agency.

For example, the Cooperative League of the United States, an organization which encourages the growth of cooperatives to the detriment of private enterprise is in the forefront on all these drives. So is the Council for Social Action, American Association for the United Nations, and many other similar groups.

Needless to say, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Legion, have appeared on the negative side.

Thus, there is constantly in Washington, clamorous, and apparently well financed organizations, always all out for government to do anything that will contribute to inflation.

Whether their motives are ulterior, or based on soft-headedness, no one knows, nor does this make particular difference.

But it is significant that there are some organizations in Washington who continue to combat these "do-gooders."

One such group is the American Legion. Another is the nationwide organization of small businessmen who under the machinery of the National Federation of Independent Business, keep their Congressmen informed on their viewpoints.

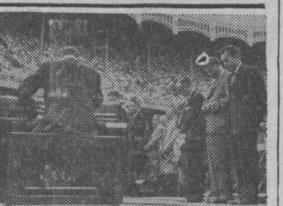

In fact, it is often felt to be incredible by Washington observers that anything stops the noisy left wing fringes from securing complete socialization of the U.S.

After all, it is reputed that less than 10,000 communists brought about the complete upheaval of the old Russian government. And constantly increasing inflation, as Main Street independent businessmen know, is a sure way of changing any system.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Matthew 28:16-20.

Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. (Matthew 28:19.)

In 1947 I was at the Ganta mission school. I fell into a big trouble with a certain man. My aim was to leave school. Then the missionary called me. We had a prayer together. He asked me, "Son, why do you want to go away?" I explained to him my trouble. He asked if I was a Christian. I answered, "No." Then he opened his Bible and read to me. He asked if I would like to accept those words from the talking book. I thought for awhile and answered, "Yes." I became a Christian. My prayers were answered by God, and my trouble was taken away.

The missionary and I have traveled from place to place preaching the good news. Sometimes from the main road we have gone fifteen miles on foot into villages where the people have never heard of Christ. Some have given their lives to Him.

We are so glad that we know Christ and take news of Him to others. We who were once in darkness now walk in the light of God.

Prayer

Our Father, we thank Thee for the opportunity which Thou hast given to us to know Thee. We thank Thee for our Lord Jesus Christ who died on the cross for our sins. We praise Thee for salvation through Him. In His name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

The light of God our Father shines forever.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

Most lakes are full of lost fishing hotspots. An angler will locate an area where the fish bite, with certain regularity. However, when he returns the next season this fish mine eludes him. Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, has a pet trick that assures him of always returning to good fishing.

The less experienced anglers may wonder why going back to a spot on the water is difficult. To him, it's very simple; he'll anchor an empty can or jug there which, next time he's out, he can see a long way off. But, this is precisely the wrong thing to do, for the place will produce less and less fish unless he is able to keep it his secret. Of course there's another way. An angler can always place his little buoy about, say, 100 feet east of his good place. But any experienced angler will fish all around such a mark, finally locating the hotspot.

The only way is to leave no mark at all on the water. Landmarks are the answer. But don't be fooled by the "Go about 50 yards directly out from the white beach house" type of direction. This is entirely useless except as a rough basis from which to begin a search. It will be impossible to locate a central line out from the house, and nobody can correctly estimate distances on water.

Here is the trick. There is but one accurate way of returning to the spot; it's practically identical to what a surveyor would use, a form of triangulation. Find two conspicuous objects on shore, one some distance behind the other and directly in line with it from where you are. As nearly to right angles to those as possible, find two more objects similarly in line. That's all! Anytime you get both pairs of marks lined up, you must be precisely in the spot you are now; they can't possibly line up any where else.

Reason people do so much driving around nowadays is that it is cheaper to drive it than to park.

FARM FRONT

Farmers placing allotment crops in the Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank for 1958 will have to comply with Soil Bank Base regulations according to Leonard C. Burns, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. This represents a major change in the Acreage Reserve Program from 1956 and 1957. Mr. Burns points out, and puts a limit on other than allotment crops which can be produced on the farm.

Allotment crops in Maryland which are subject to the Acreage Reserve Program are wheat, tobacco, and corn in the commercial corn counties. The Soil Bank base will be the average of row crops, soybeans, small grains and seed crops harvested in the last two years. Pasture and hay will not be included. A farmer with allotment crops of 20 acres and a Soil Bank base of 60 acres on his farm could put all or any part of the 20 acres into the Acreage Reserve Program subject to some crop limitations which may apply. If he put all of his allotted acreage into the Reserve, his planting of Soil Bank base crops in 1958 would be limited to 40 acres or the difference between 60 and 20 acres, Mr. Burns explained. This puts an over-all ceiling on total production as well as reducing the production of crops subject to allotments and in this way will bring about a faster adjustment of supplies to demand.

Participation in the Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank is still voluntary, Mr. Burns stated.

Spotlight on HEALTH
Science Features
New Germ Yields To Research

Because the scientist's war against infectious disease is waged in a world so tiny that even powerful microscopes sometimes cannot render the enemy visible, researchers frequently find themselves not quite sure what manner of beast they are battling.

A struggle on such strange terms naturally involves some guess work. And, although researchers, backed by a wealth of scientific knowledge, manage to acquire an almost uncanny ability to deduce the right answer, their conclusions are necessarily subject to error.

Until quite recently, for instance, scientists were baffled by a mysterious form of female infection that did not yield readily to any known agent, not even to antibiotics. It was concluded that the condition was caused by germ colonies, that had been altered by such factors as the patient's age or weakened condition, pregnancy, or disease. Because no single germ could be pin-pointed as the causative organism, the infection came to be labeled "non-specific."

Not completely convinced by this theory, two scientists — Drs. Herman L. Gardner and Charles D. Dukes of Baylor University College of Medicine — decided to search a little deeper. Their study resulted in an announcement in 1954 that most cases of the troublesome female infection thought to be caused by no one particular germ were in fact due to a previously unidentified organism called Hemophilus vaginalis.

Better understanding of this condition and its cause has led to improved methods of treatment. Thus, the two scientists who discovered the new germ recently reported in the medical journal Obstetrics and Gynecology that a new drug called Sterisil is "an effective agent" against the germ. The doctors found that local application of a gel containing the drug for fourteen consecutive nights produced cures in 83.6 per cent of a large group of women suffering from the infection.

Thus new research techniques continue to resolve mysteries in the world of microbes. And, where observation fails in grappling with this strange world, human reason is constantly striving to fill the gap.

One thing can be said for today's dollar. It has plenty of by-ing power.

Weather Plan Co-ordinated

A Maryland weather warning plan, involving the State and Frederick County offices of the State Police, the Civil Defense Agency, the State Dept. of Tidewater Fisheries, the Red Cross, the Army Engineers, the Maryland District of the National Guard, the State Roads Commission, the Coast Guard and the Weather Bureau has been worked out by Gov. McKeldin to avoid a hurricane, storm or flood disaster in this area similar to the one which hit Louisiana when Hurricane Audrey struck recently.

Under the plan, the U. S. Weather Bureau offices at Friendship International Airport, Baltimore, and in local areas around the State, such as the Weather Bureau at Frederick Airport, will supply the basic information on coming climatic conditions to the State Police Headquarters in Pikesville and to other State Police barracks such as the one in Frederick.

The State Police will then relay this information to Civil Defense Headquarters in Pikesville and to the county Civil Defense offices such as the one in Winchester Hall, Frederick.

Fairfield School Announces Opening

The Fairfield Joint Schools will open on Tuesday, Sept. 3, it has been announced. All teaching positions have been filled with the exception of a secondary teacher of special education.

Miss Marion Drumheller, Rebeck, Pa., a graduate of Susquehanna University, has been elected teacher in the commercial department to replace Mrs. Betty Local police forces all over the State will then be notified of any impending disasters, while the Coast Guard protects Ocean bound vessels, and the Maryland Dept. of Tidewater Fisheries goes into action to provide boats and communications for inland waterways rescue operations.

The National Guard and the State Roads Commission will take care of citizens in remote areas of the counties while the Red Cross and Army Engineers stand by to repair property and assist people in flooded storm damaged, or wind-blown areas.

The State-wide Short-wave radio communications system of both the Maryland State Police and the Civil Defense Agency, including the RACES radio communications center in Winchester Hall, will be used from now on in case of any weather emergency.

J. Bishop who resigned. Miss Nancy Crawford, Apollo, Pa., a graduate of Indiana State Teachers College, will succeed Mrs. Marie Weissenfuh Weber as teacher of home economics. Mrs. Miriam Hartzell, Fairfield, has been elected nurse and home-school visitor to replace Mrs. Esther M. Crist. Mrs. Hartzell is a graduate of the York City Hospital School of Nursing and is studying at Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Mrs. Jeanne Kunes, Gettysburg, will replace Mrs. Florence Weber Claus as teacher of the first grade. Mrs. Kunes taught at Allentown last year. Mrs. Doris Schneider, Gettysburg, a graduate of Roanoke College, has been elected as teacher of special education in the elementary grades to succeed Mrs. Shirley Lemon.

All students who were not previously enrolled in the high school are to report to the school office before Aug. 15. Bus routes and assignments will be announced at a later date.

Roads Slated

For Improvement

Extensive improvements to the Ceresville-Woodsboro Road (Md. 194) are about to commence.

The State Roads Commission this week sent a "notice to proceed" to the contractor. Work is to commence on or before Aug. 15. The improvements consist of grading, drainage, and surfacing of the 6.7 mile road between these two Frederick County communities. In addition a small section of Liberty Rd. (Md. 26) will be widened and resurfaced at its junction with Md. 194. The resurfacing of these sections will be in asphalt or "black top."

The contract was awarded to the Patapco Engineering Co., Baltimore, whose bid of $667,279 was low on the project.

The newly organized Frederick County Community Chest will begin its first county-wide Chest campaign this fall by holding simultaneous "kickoff" dinners at the Francis Scott Key Hotel with similar locations being announced in other county communities later.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A DIAMOND-SHAPE-RAIL FENCE

An attractive fence adds privacy and charm to the home. The diamond-shaped-rail fence is made of 8 by 3-inch lumber, as shown, or of 2 by 2- or 4 by 4-inch lumber. Posts should be of naturally durable or treated wood.

Dig the post holes 3/4 inches deep and fill the bottom 2 inches with gravel.

Notch the ends of the rails to fit the posts. Assemble the fence in sections, using 8-penny finishing nails. Set alternate sections, and join them by adding rails, starting at the bottom. Toe-nail, using 8-penny finishing nails.

Year Is Not Considered Driest

This year hasn't been the driest to date since the drought of 1930, which may surprise a lot of people.

Weather bureau records at the Frederick airport station show that despite disaster relief talk, the first seven months of 1954—just three years ago—had almost an inch less than the January through-July period of this year.

And the first seven months of 1941 had only .15 of an inch more precipitation than the current period.

The drought year up to this time had 4.43 inches of precipitation less than has occurred during 1957 to date.

Normal precipitation for the seven-month period is 23.48 inches. The present year to date has had 17.34 inches, or more than six inches below normal.

At this same stage, 1954 had 16.41 inches and 1941 had 17.49 inches. Only 12.91 inches had fallen at this point in 1930.

The 1954 dry period was broken in August, which had five and a half inches of rainfall, but the year still dropped over nine inches below normal.

Another dry year was 1943, which fell 10 inches below normal, but up to this stage it had 18.86 inches, or about an inch and a half more than the first seven months of 1957.

The year 1941 was 12 inches short of normal at the end and, 1930 was an amazing 20 inches short with a total rainfall of 19.82, less than half its normal.
