With 1957 behind us and with the whole new year before us I feel it would be highly interesting to review what supposedly is in store for us in the coming year. It is probable but perhaps unlikely that the town will be by-passed during the year. Plans to date call for the extension of the new road to the top of Toll Gate Hill some time this year and perhaps the by-pass the latter part of the year or certainly not later than the spring of 1959. We'll definitely have a new Governor and U. S. Senator during the year. The Senate race is shaping up as a hot and bitterly-fought contest with no less than half a dozen candidates in the field already, on the Democratic side. George P. Mahoney once more is in the fight for an elusive political office, that of senator and you all know what he does to a campaign.

Housewives are being told that they can expect a small dip in the cost of living but also to expect that some of them, or their husbands, can just as easily be unemployed. Those of you playing the stock market can expect a well-known "kick in the pants" and without question, those of you who are liable for income tax will feel the effects of an increase, due ostensibly to an accelerated defense budget. So you'll be about the same as far as money is concerned. The cost of living might recede a trifle but the income tax hike will eat up the small advantage rather rapidly. You just can't win. During the year there will be the possibility that the town's new sewer system will at least get started and there is a possibility that the Americans will get their space satellites off the ground. Generally speaking, the year won't be so bad. There'll probably be less money available and some unemployment and recession in business but I feel like the experts do, it won't be too drastic so don't worry too much about it.

On the local scene 1957 can be considered a good year by most all. The town itself was expanded by annexation bringing the population to the 1500 mark. The Bi-centennial brought us oodles of good publicity; the Horse Show was a financial success as well as the Sportsmen's Carnival. Business in general was good and about the only thing that happened to mar an otherwise good year were several automobile fatalities and a sustained drought which did no one any good. The new Thurmont by-pass was effected and will expedite the flow of traffic on its way to the nation's capital.

It's an odd thing that new businesses in Emmitsburg are such a rarity. It seems that more young people would be interested in starting some type of business here. According to the recent publication by the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission the population of the county and Emmitsburg unquestionably will increase 20 to 25% within the next 25 years. This would bring our town population up to 2000 and the trading area to around 5500. Assuming this to hold true then there would be room for some new types of business and assuring them of a reasonable chance of success if managed right. In addition the present businesses should profit according with the increase in population. Most of our present businessmen have been established for many years and a number of them are hand-downs from previous generations. Anything new here in the line of new business is practically non-existent and there ought to be a good opening for some young folks here for new business now and in the near future. Just what type of business could succeed here I wouldn't dare venture to suggest but certainly we don't have everything we need. Many of the present-day large businesses were started in a small town such as ours by young energetic and far-sighted young men and I think the youth of today should give consideration to creating business and industry and employment right in Emmitsburg. We're situated close to a number of large cities which would provide markets for products and a number of

20th March Of Dimes Drive Begun

Pointing out that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has reached the twentieth anniversary of its service to the nation, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin this week issued a proclamation naming January March of Dimes Month in Maryland.

"The March of Dimes has aided 325,000 patients and spent more than $279,400,000 during these twenty years and has pledged that mere survival is not enough for the many thousands of physically handicapped victims of paralytic polio who are alive today. These men, women and children must be restored to useful and productive lives through rehabilitation vocationally, psychologically and socially," the Governor said.

"Our contributions to the 1950 March of Dimes will help provide the means by which these patients may avail themselves of the newest medical treatment and rehabilitation techniques. During the past two decades, the March of Dimes has, in addition to patient care, sponsored the scientific research which produced the Salk vaccine and financed training of vitally needed doctors, nurses, scientists and therapeutic experts," he continued.

The Governor pointed out that, while this 20th anniversary year is a time for considering past accomplishments in terms of their significance to the immediate and future needs of mankind, we must not forget that there still remain 300,000 Americans who have been stricken with paralytic polio and who look toward the March of Dimes for assistance.

"Also, there are some 37,000,000 susceptible persons without Salk vaccine protection in the United States," he said, explaining that March of Dimes funds also go toward mass inoculation programs for those forty years of age and under.

The Dimes drive in Maryland, which began January 2 and continues through January 31, will be highlighted by the annual Mothers' March on Polio on January 28, by teen-age March of Dimes fund-raising activities thru the period, especially on week-ends, and by Mile of Dimes promotions, sponsored here by American Legion posts, former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, state chairman of the March of Dimes said.

He pointed out that, in every Maryland community, there are volunteers at work for the drive which gets under way this week.

SANCTIONS TEEN-AGE CANTEEN

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

In a recent issue of your paper I read of the proposed opening of a Teen-Age Snack Bar near Emmitsburg. I had heard some talk on the subject before and discussed it in our group. Everyone seems to be fully in favor of such a place.

As the article said we belong to the forgotten group. I am nearing 20 and soon will be no longer considered a teen-ager. From high school days we have always talked of just such a place close to home. We have been to the Varsity and Dipper, and it seems these places are highly patronized by teen-age boys and girls, including many from Emmitsburg.

After reading the article we began to figure how many miles we had traveled in the course of a year to go to just such a place. Three trips had us on the road for about 100 miles. At the end of a year the boys and girls of Emmitsburg are traveling not only in the thousands but tens of thousands. We were surprised and almost dumbfounded to figure out this kind of travel. How many more thousands of miles must we travel before someone allows us to have a place of our own in Emmitsburg?

George Danner, one of the younger businessmen in town, and with a few others seem to recognize our needs. I want to wish him all the success possible and let him know that as teen-agers and young ladies and gentlemen we are behind him 100 per cent. We want a chance to prove to the older citizens that we are a credit to Emmitsburg and want to stay here and help build a better community.

Congressman Hyde Discusses Proposed Legislation

WASHINGTON—I would like to review for you this week some of the legislation of special interest to our Congressional District which will be before the Congress during the coming session.

Provision for a pay raise for Federal workers in general and for the employees of the Post Office Department is a "must." The need to bring classified and postal workers' pay into line with current living costs is great. I also intend to press for legislation that will provide more realistic incomes for our retired Government employees. There is need, too, to intensify our efforts in behalf of increases in the incomes of retired railroad workers.

Passage of amendments to Government employees insurance laws to make it possible for many thousands of members of Federal employee beneficial associations to continue their insurance in these associations is imperative. I shall continue to urge early action on these amendments.

Also of importance to us in the Sixth Maryland District, especially those living near metropolitan Washington, is the acquisition of additional parklands under the Caper-Crampton Act. I have a bill pending which permits the transfer of funds already authorized under the act for this purpose. No new money would be required by my bill for the acquisition of additional stream valley parklands.

In the matter of the proposal to designate the C & O Canal area as a National Historical Park, it is important for the people to know that they will be given adequate opportunity to testify before the House committee which considers the bill.

I shall continue to work for legislation in the next session that will provide for payments to state and local governments in lieu of taxes on Federal property. Such payments by the Federal Government on U. S. real and tangible property would go a long way in helping ease local tax burdens.

SERENADE COUPLE

Approximately 35 friends and relatives gathered together Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Bud) Valentine and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Richard Toms who were married Christmas Eve. Following the serenading refreshments were served those present. Before leaving the group serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harner who were recently married and who were spending the evening at the Valentines.

Farmers' Income Tax Date Is Nearing

With income tax time just around the corner, there are three dates which farmers should keep in mind. Jan. 15 is the first date of importance. This is the deadline for filing and paying estimated tax. Farmers filing an estimated tax on this date must file a final return by Apr. 15.

An optional method makes it possible to file a final return and pay the tax on or before Feb. 15. Although farmers may report by either method, the latter is recommended.

There are four forms which most farmers will file. They are:

1. Schedule F (farm income, expenses and net farm profit and self-employment tax).
2. Form 1040 (farm profit as figured on Schedule F and Schedule D is transferred to this form. It also provides for reporting non-farm income, personal deductions and exemptions).
3. Schedule D (used to figure gain or loss from sale of capital and business assets).
4. Form 1065 (partnership return).

The new, 1957 Farmer's Tax Guide is now available at county agent offices and will prove very helpful in aiding farmers to fill out their 1957 income tax.

Failure by some farmers to report all their allowable depreciation causes many to pay more tax than required. The law requires that all depreciations be deducted when calculating self-employment income for Social Security coverage. Depreciation is an operating expense and is subtracted directly from income. For example, a tractor costing $2000 with a life of 10 years would be depreciated at $200 each year for 10 years. When this depreciation is not claimed, the taxable income becomes higher — thus higher taxes. It also means the farmer's self-employment income will be incorrect.

Depreciation may be claimed on all machinery, equipment, buildings (except dwelling), fences, trucks and similar property used in farming. Farmers reporting on the cash basis may also take depreciation on dairy, breeding and work animals which are purchased during the year. These same farmers cannot claim depreciation on any animals raised. Farmers reporting on the accrual basis may treat these animals as either business assets and claim depreciation, or as inventory. Methods of figuring depreciation are discussed on page 20 of the Farmer's Tax Guide.

Certain expenses for soil and water conservation may be reported as operating expenses rather than capital expenses. These expenditures include leveling, grading, terracing and contour furrowing; construction of diversion channels, drainage ditches, earthen dams, water course, outlets and ponds; removal of brush and planting windbreaks. These deductions may not exceed 25 per cent of the farmer's gross income derived from farming during that year. This subject is covered in more detail on page 37 of the tax guide.

It is important that farmers use Schedule D for reporting income from the sale of business and capital assets. Many farmers report this income as ordinary income on Schedule F, thereby cheating themselves. For example: a farmer receives $150 from the sale of a dairy cow he has raised. By reporting this as ordinary income the entire sum is taxable. If the sale is reported on Schedule D as the sale of a business asset, only one-half, or $75 is taxable. The cow qualified as such because the farmer kept her for dairy purposes and had owned her for more than 12 months. Income from the sale of animals held for dairy, breeding or work purposes should never be reported on Schedule F. When this is done, the farmer's taxable income is inflated and gives an incorrect self-employment income for Social Security purposes.

FIRE QUICKLY DOUSED

A bedroom fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glass, Four Points Rd., was quickly extinguished Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 p. m. by the Vigilant Hose Co. which responded to the alarm. Fire Chief John S. Hollinger said he believed the blaze was started by a mislaid lighted cigarette. Slight damage occurred.

Biggest daily double payoff in Maryland racing during the 116-day season in 1957 was $1,167.40 for $2 on the combination of Joe Night and Mr. Boves in the first and second races at Pimlico on Nov. 30.

New System For Recording Vital Statistics Adopted

As the result of the use of multicopy birth and death registration forms, the services of approximately 170 registrars of vital statistics in the counties of Maryland will be discontinued effective Jan. 1, Dr. Perry F. Prather, director, Maryland State Dept. of Health, announced this week.

The new registration system will provide prompter and more efficient service to the public and will save the counties upward of $30,000 a year, according to Dr. A. W. Hedrick, chief, Division of Vital Records and Statistics at the Dept. Dr. Hedrick and his staff developed the multicopy vital records forms, which have been in use for several years.

Beginning the first of the year, physicians, hospitals, and others who formerly sent certificates of births and deaths to the local registrars will forward these documents directly to the State Health Dept. in Baltimore.

The new policy will speed up the issuance of birth notices and make certified copies of death certificates more quickly available for the collection of insurance.

The multicopy birth and death forms do most of the work previously performed by the local registrars, Dr. Hedrick said. "For example," he said, "when the physicians sign a death certificate a burial permit is automatically created. This obviates the need of a special trip to the local registrar for the permit.

"Our old birth and death registration methods were necessary in the horse and buggy days when the population was primarily rural and most of the births and deaths occurred at home. In those days, registrars were needed in each election district because registration was very incomplete; many people did not recognize its importance," he said.

"Now, however, approximately 97 per cent of the births in Maryland counties occur in hospitals and practically all of the burials are conducted by funeral directors. The local registrar system slows down the reporting process and causes inconvenience to the public," he said.

The new system will provide prompter and more efficient service. Due to former delays of a week to a month or more, families sometimes had moved away and birth notices sent to them were returned undelivered.

The few other services performed by the local registrars, such as the issuance of disinterment permits and certificate forms, will be carried out by the county health departments as part of their routine activities.

Dr. Prather said the Health Dept. is grateful to the registrars who for many years gave loyal service for a very small fee and that the department has sent a formal certificate of appreciation to each registrar.

Gov. McKeldin Proclaims Poultry Week

This week Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin proclaimed Jan. 6-12 as Maryland Poultry Week to bring to the attention of the people of the state this important segment of the agricultural and economic community.

"Some Marylanders think the poultry industry is concentrated in the lower Eastern Shore counties," Mr. Bounds C. Phillips, president of the poultry council, said. "This is true for the broiler industry, but most of the eggs are produced in Western Maryland counties. Garrett County is a heavy turkey producer as are Talbot, Anne Arundel, and Howards counties. Hatching eggs are produced to meet the requirements of the hatcheries now turning out about three million baby chicks every week. While there appears to be a shortage of laying hens there is small over-supply of turkeys, and frying chickens, which means that prices are down and the producers have been hard hit."

Largest crowd to watch a horse race in Maryland was the 32,856 who were present for the 81st running of the $100,000 Preakness, middle jewel in the Triple Crown, on Saturday, May 18.

Decorating Contest Winners Are Listed

Competition in the annual Christmas decorating contest was exceptionally keen this year and the judges were hard-pressed to make a decision as to the top awards in the two classifications. There were any number of homes which warranted first place consideration in the residential category and it was only after lengthy debate that the judges arrived at their decisions.

The judges were D. Saylor Weybright, manager of the Thurmont Cooperative, Luther Everly and Cletus Mayer of Gettysburg. They were escorted on their tour of inspection of local homes and business establishments by Ralph D. Lindsey, president of the Chamber of Commerce which sponsors the event, and Cloyd W. Seiss and Arthur Elder, members of the Chamber.

First prize in the residential category was awarded Vincent L. Hartdagen, S. Seton Ave.; second, Ed Smith, Sr., Route 3, and third, Donald Stoner, E. Main St., Extended. Judging of the Legion and the Fire Hall was extremely difficult but the officials decided that the cross on the Fire Hall, symbolic of Christ, was the deciding factor and awarded first place in the commercial field to the Vigilant Hose Co., second to the American Legion and third to Dr. D. L. Beegle.

While not competitive, the exhibits of the Reformed Church, the Lutheran Church and the kresh at St. Joseph College, created much admiration among the judges. So numerous were the decorated homes that a host of honorable mentions were considered by the judges, to be in order.

Honorable mentions were awarded the following in the residential class: Roger Zurgabe, A. W. McCleaf, Frank S. Topper, Bernard Shields, Lumen F. Norris, M. F. Shuff, Jr., J. Hunter Elliot, William Krom, Charles R. Fuss, J. Ralph McDonnell, Bernard H. Boyle, John D. White, J. Laurence Orendorf, Louis H. Stoner, Ed Smith, Jr., Charles F. Stouter, Russell B. Ohler, Charles L. Sharer, J. L. Nester, Joseph Haley, C. G. Fralley, Clarence E. Hahn, Joseph Condon, Quinn F. Topper, Charles Long, Samuel C. Hays, Fern R. Ohler, J. C. Randolph, Leo Topper, Donald Topper, Mammie Kelly, Emory Wagaman, W. E. Rightour, Clarence Wachter, Francis Adelsberger, Sterling Goulden, Thornton W. Rodgers, Prof. Wm. S. Sternbisky, George F. Rosensteel, Robert Little, D. Fred Wolfe, Henry Zurgabe, Milton A. Sewell, Wally Opekum, the Misses Reuter, Ralph Hatter, J. T. Hays, Leonard Sanders and Earl Rice.

Honorable mention in the commercial division went to Bucher's Restaurant, Irelan's Restaurant, Feed and Farm Supply and Emmitsburg Quality Shop.

The judges based their decisions on originality, effort, theme and continuity, expense involved, color tones and Christmas spirit. There were numerous commendable exhibits but the judges were influenced this year principally in their decisions by the Nativity scenes and awarded the prizes accordingly. A number of homes were unlighted and therefore were not considered in the competition.

Wallet Cards Being Distributed By Civil Defense

Thousands of wallet-sized cards indicating proper action to be taken when Civil Defense sirens sound will be distributed in Frederick County, it was announced by L. H. Crickenberger, County Civil Defense Director.

The cards carry the signal instructions on one side and a 1958 calendar on the other side, Director Crickenberger stated.

The cards are being given to counties as an educational program of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, according to State Civil Defense Director, Sherley Ewing. Throughout the State a half-million of these cards are being distributed.

In Frederick County the cards are being distributed by The Potomac Edison Co. in its January electric bills. Thirty-two thousand of these cards are being distributed in this manner in Frederick County.

Additional Civil Defense Alert Cards and calendars are available at the Frederick County Civil Defense Office, 26 Water St., Frederick.

Veterans Corner

How all Americans stand to benefit from a vast medical research program being conducted by the Veterans Administration is told for the first time in an article in the December issue of "The American Legion Magazine" entitled, "Medical Research On A Mammoth Scale."

More than 5000 research projects are now being pursued in 41 VA hospitals from Brockton, Mass., to Los Angeles, Calif. Co-operating with these hospitals are 74 leading medical schools. Emphasis on research has attracted to VA hospitals many physicians and surgeons of first rank, and the VA education and training program is an important factor in graduate training of physicians.

"But the program is the greatest in the world," the article points out, "as far as the number and variety of patients, records, modern equipment, and general resources are concerned. While the average hospital has fleeting contact with a few thousand or maybe only a few hundred patients a year, the average daily number of VA patients is more than 112,000.

"They suffer from nearly every ailment known to man. There are dozens of cases of maladies so rare that doctors never see them in ordinary practice. The rolls even show a few cases of service-connected leprosy, contracted during duty in the Philippines.

"On most patients there are medical records dating back to enlistment. Moreover, for certain statistical studies researchers can draw on the records of the more than 22 million veterans now listed in the government files. These include, for example, 22,000 pairs of identical twins, favorite subjects for genetic study today by many investigators.

Under one VA research classification are 300 studies of cancer, 429 studies of heart and blood pressure problems, 573 studies of lung maladies, and 231 other geriatric studies. There are currently 1063 projects in mental and nervous diseases, 1995 studies of general medical and surgical problems, 560 studies using radioisotopes, and 95 dental research projects.

Your Personal Health

New Type of Medicine

Not a liquid, not a pill—yet it's becoming as important to the treatment of the sick or injured as any medicine. It's called rehabilitation.

In recent years it has been increasingly recognized that the medical job is not finished when the immediate illness has been cured. Follow-through rehabilitation of all patients to the point where they can once again take their place in the working world is now regarded as a prime medical responsibility.

One reason, of course, that this part of treatment has taken on added importance in recent years is the vast improvements in medical care. More and more people who might otherwise have died or been hopelessly crippled are recovering because of new drugs and other medical techniques. In tuberculosis, for example, the advent of drug treatment has meant that thousands have recovered from the disease—recovered with more or less of a handicap. Recovery is not complete until, despite their handicap, they are once again self-sufficient members of society.

Rehabilitation for the disabled is much more than a way to a job. It is freedom from the prison of dependence. But it does not happen overnight. It requires a combination of expert training and counseling under medical guidance to develop capabilities out of disabilities. It requires the cooperation of forward looking business and industry to make use of the skills developed. Rehabilitated persons have demonstrated their worth to employers all over the country.

The real measure of the progress of modern medicine must not be mere survival, but revival of a valuable human being.

Everybody would like to have a government that can operate without taxes and yet give the people the benefits of modern times.

Success Story: Thousands of Polio Victims Try Comeback

Blonde little Wanda Bradley, now going on six, has a wonderful success story to tell her playmates these days in her home town of Alexandria, La. It's the kind of success story Americans everywhere can be proud of, for it was made possible by their donations to the March of Dimes.

On June 8, 1956, when Wanda was only four, she was struck down by spino-bulbar polio. Paralysis affected her limb muscles. Worse, she couldn't breathe. Her survival depended on an iron lung, which was rushed to her aid by the local chapter of the March of Dimes organization.

Changes to Rocking Bed
Later, as her lung muscles gained strength, she was graduated to a rocking bed, another device to help her breathe. Still, this kind of survival wasn't enough—not in this day when medicine and research have devised new and advanced techniques to help the polio-disabled stage a comeback to near-normal, happier lives.

Through physical therapy in the hospital and at home, Wanda's leg muscles were re-educated to function again. At first she needed braces. Now she has tossed them aside. She walks and runs again. For Wanda and her family the future now holds great promise.

Wanda is only one of thousands of patients, children and adults, who are making partial or complete comebacks from crippling polio.

More Still Need Help
March of Dimes volunteers, now engaged in the organization's annual fund drive, will tell you that many more remain to be helped. The recent now, with the great decline in new polio cases, is to give these patients all possible

Youth Must Know

A year ago Perry Mason, the superintendent of the Harding College High School Academy, made available to the schools of America a series of course outlines for American citizenship education. These outlines were developed at my request to take care of the constant flood of inquiries from school officials and patrons writing me from communities throughout America. The inquiries requested recommendations on course structure, teaching techniques, textbooks and audio visual aids—in the area of American citizenship instructions.

Under Mr. Mason's supervision, outlines were prepared for high school Civics, World Government, American Government and American History. They instantly received widespread acclaim in the teaching profession. Hundreds of sets were published and distributed. Now a fifth course outline has been added. This one is for a high school course in "American Economics." It provides a teacher with every detail for creating a course.

Of Vital Importance

The importance of this course in high school economics should be obvious—in an era which has witnessed Socialism's conquest of most of the nations of the world. America will remain capitalistic and free, or it will swing to Socialism and human regimentation, upon the understandings and actions of the boys and girls and young people now in our high schools and colleges.

The key job in American education is to bring about a clear understanding of the American way of life and its advantages—advantages that have been unmatched in all human history. This means that every high school pupil should have a course in American economics, to learn what elements go into the structure of our unique economic system, how each of these elements work in bringing about our unparalleled production of wealth, and what advantages the system produces for citizens in all walks of life.

The Four Basics

The Harding Academy outline begins at the beginning: "America's free economy is based on four very important institutions: 1. Personal Liberty; 2. Private Property; 3. Free Enterprise; 4. Competitive Market." Along with this structural keynote, is the statement: "Capitalism in the United States is an economic system based on the theory that everyone will get along better if the consumers, not the government, decide (by their choice in the free market) what should be produced."

"It is based on the doctrine of individualism, which holds that as long as individuals are normal, healthy, and free, they can secure the things that they want for themselves. American capitalism did not originate in the mind of man but grew out of natural law. No country with a government-planned economy ever has achieved a per capita income half so high as America has... The ability of the natural economic laws to exert their dynamic force within the structure of our unique political system brings about our high production of wealth and safeguards our individual freedom."

The Outline

The outline gives a list of five goals of understanding to be developed in each student; and a list of supporting skills to be achieved. The suggested course content is: 1. Why Study Economics? 2. The Free Economy. 3. Capital and Capitalistic Production. 4. The Corporation. 5. Demand and Supply. 6. The Nature of Money. 7. Capital and Interest. 8. How the Free Economy Works. 9. Socialism. 10. Free Enterprise Versus Socialism. 11. Government In Industry. 12. Super-government, Taxation, and Inflation.

The basic text in the course is, Understanding our Free Economy, by Fred Rogers Fairchild and Thomas J. Shelly (D. Van Nostrand Company, New York). Reference books are: Applied Economics, James H. Dodd (South-Western Publishing Company); Essays on Liberty, (The Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-On-Hudson, N. Y.); Individualism and Economic Order, Friedrich Hayek (University of Chicago Press); The Vision and the Constant Star, A. H. Hobbs (The Long House); Fundamentals in Economics, R. O. Hughes (Allyn and Bacon); The Main-spring of Human Progress (The Foundation for Economic Education). Write Perry Mason, Harding Academy, Searcy, Arkansas, for a copy of the outline.

The solution to most problems will be heard if you listen to the next three men that you observe in conversation.

Business decline is seen extending to mid-1958.

Mahoney Says Federal Policies Hinder Teaching

George P. Mahoney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senate, said Saturday that Federal tariff policies "are hindering the teaching of scientific subjects in American colleges."

Mahoney said equipment "particularly in the field of modern atomic physics" needed by colleges and universities is frequently not available from American manufacturers and must be imported at tariff rates "which run as high as fifty per cent."

He urged passage of legislation which would admit duty-free "scientific apparatus purchased by tax-free educational institutions for instruction and research." He added:

"A bill to accomplish this purpose (H.R. 9349) was introduced last August and is still pending in the House of Representatives."

Mahoney cited the case of Adelphi College, of New York which recently purchased equipment, mostly from West Germany, for the demonstration of atomics. He said:

"The bill was $1800—of which $900 was tariff collected by our government, which claims it wants to encourage scientific education."

Mahoney said a recent survey of 98 colleges and universities indicated physics departments of more than half of the institutions were interested in obtaining equipment which was not made in this country and would have to be imported at full duty rates.

In September, 1956, more than a year before the Russian "sputnik," dramatized the need for greater emphasis on scientific education, Mahoney called for a Federal program of scholarships, particularly in the fields of science and medicine. He said:

"I was very happy to note that last week a similar proposal was incorporated as a keystone of the National Educational Association's program for long-term aid to education."

The NEA proposal was for 20,000 undergraduate scholarships per year, for a total of 80,000 after a four-year period. This would provide aid to 95,000 students.

In 1956, Mahoney pointed out that "about 100,000 of the top students graduating each year from high school—those best qualified to continue their education—are unable to go to college because of financial reasons. The country is losing a lot of brain power, which is going to waste and cannot be replaced."

Fact About Your Social Security

Any farmer whose gross income in 1957 was at least $600 or whose net profit was $400 or more is required to file a Federal income tax return to determine his liability for social security tax, reports W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown social security office. For most farmers February 15 is the deadline for filing.

If the net profit is $400 or more, payment of the 3-3/8% social security tax is required by law even though a person may have no income tax to pay. If a farmer nets less than $400, but grosses at least $600, he may elect to pay social security tax under an optional method. If the gross is between $600 and $1800, he may pay social security tax on 2/3 of the gross under this option. If the gross is $1800 or more, he may choose to pay on $1200 or on his net unless the actual net is over $1200. Social security tax is then due on the actual net.

It is important that anyone who pays the social security tax show his social security number on Form 1040 and on Schedule F, advised King. The Social Security Administration cannot post credit to the account of a person whose social security account number is not shown. It is equally important that the amount of the net profit be clearly reported.

Tax returns are filed with the Internal Revenue Service, and they are due from any farm operator who meets the conditions described above. Landlords who, by agreement with their tenant, participate materially in the production or management of the crop or livestock are also classed as farm operators. Other farm landlords are exempt from the payment of the social security tax and their income from farm land they lease out to someone else cannot be credited to their social security account. The social security tax is payable, remarked King, even though a person may be past age 65 or receiving social security benefits. The only test to apply is whether or not a person is classed as a farm operator.

MOTOR MAIDS
Take It Easy On Ice, Snow
By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

"WINTERIZING" your driving habits as well as your automobile is the secret to safe driving on snow and ice. Here are five important rules for safe winter driving recommended by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council:

1. When pavements are slippery, take it easy while accelerating, braking and turning. Drive at a steady pace and get the "feel" of the road. To find out if the pavement is slick, try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly, away from traffic.
2. On snow or ice, stay well behind the car ahead. To avoid a rear collision, the distance between cars must be considerably greater than when the pavement is dry.
3. If you have to stop suddenly on ice, don't panic and jam or "freeze" on brakes. This may send your car into an uncontrollable skid. The best way to maintain full control of your car during a sudden stop is a fast up and down pumping of the brakes. If the rear starts to swing, release the brakes and steer in the direction of the skid.
4. Keep windshield wipers, heaters and defrosters in good working condition. You must see danger to avoid it.
5. Replace worn or smooth tires. Special snow tires are helpful and, for the worst ice and snow conditions, reinforced tire chains are necessary.

Babson Says Eisenhower's Health May Be Influencing Business, War Factor

By Roger W. Babson Business And Financial Forecast For 1958

Next to the Russian situation, President Eisenhower's condition will be of supreme importance. What its influence upon Russia will be, nobody knows. It probably will not affect general business. I believe that for some time our President has not been making important policies and, much to his disappointment, his recommendations have been largely ignored. The major effect of the President's condition will be political. Those close to the President, for both friendship and political reasons, are hoping for his recovery both in health and memory. Others in charge of the Republican Party, anxious about his possible incapacitation or death, would like to see him resign and drop out of the picture in order to give Vice-President Nixon a good build-up in the hope of re-electing the Republican party again in 1960.

For evident reasons, the Democrats are hoping that Vice-President Nixon will not have an opportunity to function as President before the coming election. Therefore, President Eisenhower's condition could greatly influence the political situation during the next few years. This would cause uncertainty and retard large corporate expansion programs as well as consumer buying.

I cannot believe that Russia wants World War III; in fact, I am confident that Russia will go to some lengths to avoid World War III. In case of any retaliation by us, Russia would suffer great losses. Moreover, if Russia has any hope of conquering our country, she certainly wishes to preserve our cities, industries, and other valuable assets. This also applies to England and Western Europe as well as the United States. Therefore my forecasts for 1958 are as follows:

1. The present cold war will be intensified during 1958. This will increase fear of war, which could greatly affect retail sales. 2. Russian policy will be aimed at securing control of the United States, the countries of Western Europe, and the Middle East by infiltration.

3. The cold war costs the United States billions of dollars annually. This can be paid for only through increased taxes or inflation, or by the adoption of the Hoover Commission's recommendations for radical economy.

4. Profits will be further squeezed during 1958, as a result of higher costs and pressure for lower prices.

5. Competition at all levels will increase during 1958.

6. Only more advertising by both manufacturers and retailers will enable them to keep up their present gross volume during 1958.

7. Failures will increase in 1958. These will apply mostly to small concerns, but some one of the big companies in the Dow-Jones Averages may collapse.

8. Predicting a lower total volume of business for 1958, compared with 1957, I forecast a moderately lower trend, on average, for wholesale commodity prices. Expect a gradual decrease in the cost-of-living during 1958.

9. Wise labor leaders will hesitate to fight for higher wages, but will try for shorter hours, pensions, and other "fringes."

10. European countries will have less to spend for American goods, and foreign trade will decline in 1958 compared with 1957. Money Outlook

11. Money will continue to be "tight" during 1958 for new borrowers who have not established a satisfactory line of credit.

12. Owing to declining demands for funds, interest rates will decline in 1958.

13. Concerns with large numbers of employees will receive first consideration both by banks and by the government.

14. For fear of World War III, and due to declining business, many plans for expansion of plants will be postponed.

15. Money rates may be "fixed" during 1958 by an economic dictator.

16. Lower money rates will make it easier to sell long-term bonds during 1958.

17. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, turnpike, and other "Authority" bonds will increase during 1958.

18. I forecast higher prices for many corporation bonds.

19. Investors will continue, during 1958, to switch from stocks to attractive bond issues; fear of war will rule all markets.

20. Bankers will fear that the government—as a part of the cold war—will appoint a dictator to direct the policies of all national banks, the leading stock-exchanges, and investment dealers.

Labor Outlook

21. There will be a general fear that the government—as a part of the cold war—will fix wages in many industries and prevent further increases during 1958.

22. The revelations brought about by the investigation of the Teamsters Union may lead to important new labor legislation.

23. The Taft-Hartley Law will not be repealed in 1958, and may be made more severe. Much, however, will depend upon President Eisenhower's physical and mental condition.

24. Congressional attempt will be made to eliminate the present exemption of labor unions from anti-monopoly laws.

25. 1958 will be a sad year for labor leaders. I forecast that there will be an increase of unemployment during 1958.

26. I forecast that with the possible exception of the auto industry, there will be no national strikes during 1958.

27. I forecast that automation will slowly increase during 1958.

28. If wages should be fixed as a part of the cold-war program, retail prices will also be fixed.

29. All workers, especially office workers, will be more efficient in 1958. It will be more difficult for the next group of college graduates to get good positions at high wages.

30. For the past few years labor has been sitting in the driver's seat. Many industrialists and political leaders have feared that the country is headed for a socialist or labor government. A cheerful sign now is that such fears may, temporarily at least, be forgotten. The American working man is himself becoming disgusted with too powerful labor leaders. This should be good news to all honest employers.

Outlook For Real Estate

31. Land adjoining cities and towns will increase in value during 1958. This especially applies to small farms.

32. Large commercial farms will continue to prosper during 1958, but the small farmer will continue to suffer if dependent on farming.

33. Under an economic dictator, farmers would receive no increased price supports. If farm prices are fixed, they will be at lower levels.

34. Large cities may continue to lose in population. Large city real estate will sell for less, for fear of Russian missiles.

35. The growth of suburbs will continue, although many houses now occupied by well-paid executives will be forced on the market as their owners lose their present high-salaried positions.

36. Construction activity in many communities will decline. Older houses will come on the market.

37. In many sections of the country there will be a greater demand for co-operative modern apartments than for single houses, although old apartment houses will sell for less. More young people and old people will insist upon every modern convenience and upon locations not absolutely dependent on automobiles.

38. Well-located woodlands will continue to increase in price. This certainly applies to pine wood tracts, especially in the South.

39. Canadian oil reserves should begin to recover in price unless there is rationing of gasoline in the United States in late 1958.

40. The most important factor in connection with real estate is the parking problem, which is a curse of almost every city. Suburban real estate and farms owe much to the automobile, but the automobile industry is now reaching a stage where it could revolutionize present real estate prices. We owe the automobile industry a debt of gratitude for our present prosperity. It is a bellwether of general business for 1958. It is, however, like everything else, subject to the business cycle and may be a cause of the next depression. Another probable cause will be the failure of one of the big corporations whose stock is among the "30 Blue Chips" of the Dow-Jones Industrials.

Stock Market Outlook

41. The "bloom is off the stock market." We will have rallies and reactions during 1958, but the broad trend will be downward. This is the first time for many years that I have said this in my annual report. There is too much talk about missiles, bombs, and fallout.

42. While the stock market has been going up during the past few years, the bond market has been going down. The reverse will take place during 1958. While the stock market is going down, the bond market will begin to creep upward. This especially applies to tax-free bonds, the purchase of which I strongly recommend.

43. Good cumulative non-callable preferred stocks also will be in demand during 1958. Owing to the money market, they recently suffered in price; but owing to lack of supply, they will be the first stocks to recover. Remember, I am now recommending only high-grade cumulative non-callable preferreds.

44. The large fortunes made in the stock market have come from buying non-dividend-paying stocks at $5.00 a share or under. These will be the first to reach a buying level. If you are to buy these low-priced stocks, you should seek companies without too much cumulative preferred stock outstanding. This is the opposite of the "preferred" recommendation in paragraph 43!

45. Large bank balances will continue to be a good investment in 1958. Many savings banks are now paying 3% to 3 1/2% interest. These balances, however, should not be looked upon as permanent investments, but rather as a means of enabling you to have cash available when common stocks reach a low level. This time may NOT come in 1958. Here again, much depends upon President Eisenhower's condition.

46. Although many corporations interested in atomic energy, electronics, rare metals, and other growth industries will become more prosperous and profitable to investors, some of these new companies will be wiped out. Hence, investors should be very careful in connection therewith.

47. Utility stocks should hold their own with regard to dividends and marketability. Electric power will always be in demand.

48. Most railroad stocks should be avoided. Most passenger business is now being operated at a loss. Trucks, busses, airplanes, and private automobiles will ultimately force the government to take over the railroads. In the meantime, the securities of the long-haul railroads, which specialize in heavy freight, will be the best to own. The short-haul roads should be avoided by investors.

49. Notwithstanding the above, we cannot now become panicky or too bearish. Our country is not now operating on the Gold Standard which was responsible for many of our national crisis. It is now on a Political Standard. Although Newton's Law of Action and Reaction must continue to operate, yet Congress can for a whole lengthen the prosperity cycles. This it will attempt to do even if it requires an economic dictator to temporarily regulate money, wages, prices, rents, taxes, and industry in general. I cannot forecast disarmament in 1958. It appears to me now, however, that the present race in guided missiles, atomic underwater navies, surprise satellites, and other tremendously destructive military equipment could ultimately rob us of our freedom and turn us back to slavery unless disarmament becomes a serious goal. The Spartans should hasten either another military world war or the elimination of world wars. Sputniks

Farm Bureau to Hold Annual Meeting

Maryland Farm Bureau, along with its affiliates, will hold its 42nd Annual Convention in Baltimore during the week of January 8-11. Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the American Farm Bureau, Herbert W. Voorhees, president of New Jersey Farm Bureau, and Mrs. Haven Smith, Women's Chairman of A.F. B.F., will be the main speakers on Farm Bureau Day, January 10. The Affiliate Organizations will hold their annual conferences during the first three days of the week, with the meetings of the 4-H Older Youth, Farm Bureau should shorten the cold war now in progress.

50. Speaking realistically, the hope of the United States and the world depends upon our spiritual relationships. Only as we grow spiritually, along with our material growth and military power, can the world be kept in balance. Therefore, my final appeal is for the support of all churches of all denominations and their ministers, priests, and rabbis who are carrying the torch of righteousness.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read 11 Corinthians 4:13-18. The highway of the upright is to depart from evil. (Proverbs 16:17.)

We have all had the experience of traveling over a highway that was bumpy, crooked, and full of holes. Then later we retraveled this same highway. But what a difference! The crookedness and roughness were eliminated.

The lives of most of us are comparable to a poor highway. Our lives are in need of change and repair. The more we grow in the Christian faith, the more we become aware of our sinful lives. We then have the desire to rid our lives of sin and make them Christlike.

No highway, no matter how good, will remain in good condition without constant, proper maintenance. This applies to the Christian life also. Regular prayer, Bible reading, and church attendance are all aids in maintaining the Christian life.

Prayer
Our Father, Thou knowest our sinful, crooked, and rough lives. We ask the guidance of the Holy Spirit in smoothing and straightening them, so that we can carry on the work of Thy kingdom. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
When we depart from evil, we find a new and living way, by following Christ.

Farm Front

Any producer in a commercial corn county who intends to plant corn in 1958 on a farm where there was no corn acreage during the years, 1955, 1956 or 1957 must apply for a corn allotment if he desires price support or if he wants to participate in any other phase of the Soil Bank Program other than the Acreage Reserve Program for corn in 1958, Leonard C. Burns, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said this week.

Marketing quotas do not apply to corn, the Chairman explained. However, under the present program, the production of corn in 1958 on a farm in a commercial corn county which has no corn acreage allotment would make the corn produced on such farm ineligible for price support in 1958 as well as effect his participation in the Soil Bank Program.

Application forms for a corn allotment are available at the ASC County office, January 31, 1958, is the last day such applications may be filed.

Frederick County is included among the commercial corn counties in Maryland.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

At least some formal schooling is recommended for training the young foxhound, says Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Working with the foxhound can be a lot of fun, especially as a close personal relationship between hound and master begins to develop. Or it can be something like letting nature take its course, with the young hound's major education coming through the associations and the examples set by older hounds.

The extent of the formal education should depend upon the manner in which the dog is to be hunted. Every young hound should be taught his name, to come when called, to walk along readily when on the lead and to remain quiet when tethered. These are simple methods of control which add much to the hunter's pleasure and contribute to a better understanding between him and his dog.

There are three types of fox hunting in this country for which hounds are especially developed: Hunting in the North and New England, where the fox is shot in front of the hound and a single hound is generally used; organized club pack hunting, where hounds must be well behaved under the control of the huntsman and master of the hounds; and pack hunting in the South, where the hunting is generally at night and little control is exercised.

However, no matter which way you may plan to hunt your dogs, be sure to take the proper precautions against gun-shyness. Adopt the usual method of shooting around the kennel at feeding for the purpose of electing Directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting. GEORGE L. WILHIDE, Cashier

CARE Aiding Flood Victims

The Baltimore CARE office has announced that emergency distributions of CARE food and blankets are being rushed to victims of the floods in Ceylon.

Keep hounds in good condition during the off-season by giving them ample road work. An enthusiastic young hound, whose muscles have grown flabby during a summer of idleness, can knock himself out in the first race of the season, and possibly impair his usefulness for some time.

An outstanding builder of homes tells you...

How Savings Bonds can help you build your DREAM HOME Mr. George S. Goodyear, President, National Association of Home Builders

"Maybe an American family starts with a dropped handkerchief. But somewhere along the line, even before the ring, the dreams start. One of the big things in those dreams is a house of your own, a house that's just the way you want it. "We've learned plenty from home buyers about what they want in houses and a little bit about how they save that first down payment. Many of the people with whom I've talked found the easiest and surest way to save was by regular investment in U. S. Series E Savings Bonds."

TV TODAY AND TOMORROW By Ralf Hardester Feature Editor TV Guide

CARL REINER WILL BE A REGULAR ON ABC's new Sid Caesar-Imogene Coca Show. Howard Morris can't make it. He has other commitments... Caesar, incidentally, vetoed ABC plans for him to make surprise guest appearances on other network shows to ballyhoo his own program. Sid just objects to guest shots... Margaret Truman's first TV appearance since her marriage will be on Gisele MacKenzie's show... Bing Crosby's next TV outing is scheduled for early December and will be based on his 25 years as a singer... Paul Gregory is trying to get Katharine Hepburn to make her TV bow as star of his Mary Poppins spectacular. Show is scheduled for CBS in February... NBC is planning a TV version of radio's famed Fat Man show. Either Paul Douglas or Edmund O'Brien would play the title role.

Kathy Hepburn TO QUELL REPORTS THAT JACK BENNY is... Mary Poppins? dissatisfied with Bachelor Father, his alternate-week show, Benny and John Forsythe, star of Father, will swap guest appearances. The rumors persist, however, that Bachelor Father is in trouble... Judith Anderson and Dorothy Stickney will do a Telephone Time show together... CBS is working on a half-hour format for Gary Crosby as a sort of separation from the service present when he leaves the Army... Mary Martin may take Annie Get Your Gun to Broadway, even though an estimated 50,000,000 people will see it as an NBC spectacular around the end of November... Shirley MacLaine's five guest appearances for the season will all be made on the Chevy Show. She'll headline a December show with Nanette Fabray and the Rowan and Martin comedy team.

YOU'LL SEE SERGEANT BILKO AS A Lieutenant in at least one episode this year. In one show Phil suddenly recalls that he received a battlefield commission during World War II and puts in for back pay. The Army wants to promote him to Colonel, which would make him the equal of the show's Colonel Hall... Make Me Laugh, one of the more popular segments of several Walter Winchell variety show last season, may turn up as a weekly half-hour series in January. The format calls for a celebrity to try to evoke a laugh from a member of the studio audience... General consensus in Hollywood: The pressure is off. No one could possibly put on a worse show than Mike Todd's Party on Playhouse 90.
