As our thoughts turn to Spring which is now upon us we still are winter conscious as we have just last week dug out of one of the worst, if not the worst winter months in half a century. We no sooner recovered from one staggering blizzard than we were flattened with another within a month's time. It is hard to fathom the machinations of Mother Nature and it's hard to understand just how we can go from winter into spring within a week's time, or is it too premature to start talking of this most pleasant season of the year? Anyway the stores are advertising seed and some plowing has already taken place so it has every indication of being that time of the year once again.

Yes just last week we were snow-bound and here we are ready for the annual Easter egg hunt Sunday and baseball is almost at hand. Quite a quick transition I'd say, but a most welcome one.

Death struck a hardy blow at our little community last Friday. It's almost unbelievable how death can strike so suddenly. For some time everything goes along serenely and happily then a mortal cycle is developed. Such a cycle came into existence last Friday when three well-known local citizens died within a matter of hours. It is hard to realize these familiar figures have left us and how suddenly it came—all in one day. Our sympathies to their bereaved families.

You hear a lot these days about teachers' salaries being inadequate but looking over available statistics I can't see where Frederick County teachers are so grossly underpaid. Actually Frederick County is one of the best in the state, as is relevant to wage scales. In fact it is the third highest in the scale being surpassed only by Prince Georges, Montgomery and Baltimore. A first year instructor in this county starts off at $3600. If he or she remains in the profession for five years the compensation automatically increases to $4200. Ten years of service elevates the pay to $4900 and 15 years brings a top stipend of $5400. These pay scales are applicable to teachers holding bachelor's degrees and should one attain a master's status an additional $200 per year is added to the $5400. This appears to be a very suitable rate of compensation for services rendered considering the fact that it involves only a five-day work week, 10 months a year. Supplementary employment can easily swell this earned income figure to well over $6000 a year. I'll be fair and admit though that these figures have only been attained during the past several years and that up until that time teachers were, in my opinion, grossly underpaid.

It appears almost certain now that the Emmitsburg District will have some type of mountain picnic area or retreat to wilt away the hot summer days in a cool and enticing atmosphere. The local water company has announced intentions of establishing such a welcome retreat and the fact that the local sportsmen's club has volunteered its services to help build and maintain such a picnic area leads me to believe that something actually will be accomplished this year. It will, when completed, prove a very valuable asset to the community, I feel certain.

COACH URGES SUPPORT OF LOCAL BALL CLUB

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

All those interested in playing baseball for the local team in the Pen-Mar League this season are requested to be present Saturday, April 12 and for those who cannot attend this meeting another will be held on Sunday, April 13. On Saturday afternoon all players are asked to bring their shoes and gloves and old uniforms if they have one, to be returned for cleaning and reissuance before the first league game. I am also asking that all players bring along a rake as it will be necessary to condition the playing field for practice.

This year the baseball association will function in a different fashion. Directors and players will work closer together to give a better organization and understanding. It is my opinion that a player interested in playing, should be concerned about the condition of his playing field. Since this organization is a non-profit one and available income is low, expenses will have to be kept at a minimum. Equipment is very expensive and a paid caretaker is prohibitive. Therefore I am asking all players, as well as officers, to assist in caring for the premises which includes seating, dugouts, etc.

During past seasons vandalism and destruction of property has been practically uncontrolled and this year I am asking the officials of the organization and the general public, to help prevent additional damage to the field and property.

To the people of the community I am asking that more moral support be accorded at the games, regardless of whether we field a winning or losing team—we need fans and fans need baseball. The survival of this sport here depends on the support provided by the citizens. If you bring the family to the game, the children can content themselves at playing at the playground or the picnic area provided by the Boy Scouts.

I would like to take this opportunity to ask fathers of boys in the 13 to 16 age bracket to please offer their services as coaches, managers, or any other capacity they can to help keep this worthwhile pastime for our local boys. I will be busy with the town team but will be glad to assist in the organization and planning of a team or teams for the younger element during the coming season.

The first baseball practice has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, April 12 and 13.

JACK ROSENSTEEL,
Coach

Dr. Green Says
County Is Free Of Brucellosis

An active program against one of the worst diseases which can strike livestock in Maryland's biggest cattle county has paid off with the certification of Frederick county as brucellosis-free, it was disclosed this week.

The announcement was made when Dr. George W. Green, deputy State veterinarian in Frederick county who has headed up the anti-brucellosis program here, presented the Board of County Commissioners with a certificate declaring this county to be "modified certified brucellosis-free" by virtue of the fact that the disease has been reduced to "not more than 1 per cent of the cattle in not to exceed 5 per cent of the herds as indicated by official testing and other approved procedures conducted under the cooperative State-federal program."

The certificate, which will be placed in the office of County Agent Henry R. Shoemaker, is valid for the period Jan. 24, 1958 to January 24, 1961. It is signed by Dr. R. J. Anderson, director of the Animal Eradication Div., Agricultural Research Division, Department of Agriculture; Dr. A. L. Brueckner, director of the Maryland Livestock Sanitary Service and Dr. C. A. Turner, federal veterinarian.

Brucellosis, also known as Bangs disease, is infectious, contagious disease of cattle which can cause undulant fever in man. The certification means that milk used domestically by Frederick residents will be free of any possibility of brucellosis contamination.

But its worth to Frederick county dairy and beef cattle operators will be even greater from an economical standpoint. Dr. Green pointed out that the disease causes a "terrific economical loss," such as loss of calves, poor breeding efficiency, decrease in milk production, etc. A brucellosis-free herd, when sold, brings much more, he said, and from a retail standpoint the sales of cattle will be helped tremendously.

Dr. Green Says County Is Free Of Brucellosis

At Easter all Christendom renews its faith in the eternal promise of the Resurrection. Throughout the four corners of the world—wherever men and women of God have carried this promise—the Light of Truth has dispelled the darkness of ignorance and superstition. And wherever the Cross has been carried, men of Medicine and Pharmacy have performed their specialized services for the good of mankind. Senator Beall Lauds State On Anniversary

Happy Birthday, Maryland! This past week we have celebrated the 324th anniversary of the birth of our great State. On Maryland Day, March 25, I had the pleasure of addressing the United States Senate about the significance of Maryland Day. Here is what I said:

"This is an important day in my state, the great Free State of Maryland. Today is Maryland Day. Three hundred and twenty-four years ago today the Maryland colonists landed at a Potomac island just off where St. Marys City now stands. Here they founded what subsequently became the State of Maryland. One of Lord Calvert's first edicts was that there was to be freedom of religion, that every person had the right to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience. This emphasis on freedom of religion became a part of the ideals and principles of our people. The Maryland Act of Toleration of 1649 was the first such document to espouse the idea of freedom of religion, and was the forerunner of the incorporation of that principle in the American Constitution. This led Maryland's becoming known as the Free State. Therefore, this day, March 25th, Maryland Day, is important not only to the citizens of Maryland but to all the freedom loving people of our Nation."

I am pleased to report to you that there has been a marked acceleration in the military construction program in Maryland.

$74,000,000.00! That's right, 74 million dollars! That's the additional amount of money to be spent in Maryland by the Federal government in the accelerated military construction program. Of this amount, approximately 54 million dollars is unobligated—that is, contracts for actual construction have not yet been awarded—but the military departments are, at this time, making every effort to award contracts for those projects which are ready to go. A substantial portion of the unobligated money for Maryland construction will be covered by contracts shortly. Practically all the projects should be underway before summer.

In addition to the 54 million dollars not yet covered by contracts, around 20 million dollars have been allocated to specific state projects (already covered by contracts and underway), and this is being spent in various parts of Maryland. The Army is spending $13,000,000 on five installations. This includes $5,000,000 for a hospital and other millions for barracks and administrative and supply buildings. The Navy is spending $2,340,000 on various facilities. The Air Force is spending $5,297,000 on buildings and electrical and paving work.

I am continuing my work for other projects at Bainbridge and for Fairchild.

Other specific projects to which I am giving my attention should give employment to some 7,000 workers.

With the enactment of the new Housing Bill and the further stimulant of a step-up in highway construction, benefiting almost every industry in the nation, I am very hopeful of an immediate improvement in our national economy; I fully expect our long era of prosperity to continue.

VFW Urges Families To Display Flag

Weldon Leroy Maddox, State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said today that every American family and American place of business should own an American flag and display it on all proper holidays.

Mr. Maddox said that he had requested all state, county and municipal officials throughout the State to call for such a display on May 1, when the Veterans of Foreign Wars will observe Loyalty Day. He pointed out that this observance now ranks with the celebration of Memorial Day and Independence Day in importance because of the thousands of communities all over the United States which hold parades and other demonstrations to mark the occasion.

He closed by saying that families or places of business who do not have American flags available should get in touch with officers of their local VFW Posts which "will show you how easy it is to secure your own flag."

Hosiery Stylists Stress Color, Care

NEWS FROM PARIS of shorter skirts and slim styles give pretty legs and sheer stockings a dominant place in the fashion picture. Cannon hosiery stylists suggest a one-color look in costumes—nylons in soft muted tones that blend, rather than contrast with shorter skirts. Select lovelier, sheerer stockings—seamless or seamed. They are surprisingly low-priced these days and give excellent wear.

As a wise precaution, buy nylons big enough—even a half size larger than you wear. When you put them on, take off rings to prevent sharp points from causing snags. Draw nylons on gently; don't pull. Keep a vigilant eye on rough shoe linings that cause rubbing. Toenails, too, should be short and smooth to prevent catching.

Launder nylons carefully after every wearing, suggests Cannon. Use mild soap such as Lux and, after washing, squeeze stockings in a towel and hang away from heat.

Spring-Summer Babes Have Best Chance For Survival

Spring is Sprung

In the South gardens are already in bloom while the snow still lies in drifts on the Canadian border. But even there, spring is stirring in the ground. One brave snowdrop is sufficient promise of the earth's renewal.

We fling open our coats and feel that, once again, life is worth living. There are, of course, people who prefer the winter, whose ideas of health and happiness are bound up with frigid ski slopes and skating rinks. Nature, however, seems to prefer something warmer.

Statistics show that we are generally healthier in warmer weather. Babies born in spring and summer have a better chance. The national death rate is substantially lower from April through September than in the colder six months of the year.

Why should this be so? There is no simple answer. Health is one of the greatest of mysteries. When you think of all the billions of germs of various diseases that attack you daily, you may well wonder why you're alive at all. Fortunately, the human body is protected by an ingenious series of external and internal defenses against illness. Why do they seem to work better in warm weather? Remember man first appeared in a warm climate. Early man lived an outdoor life with a minimum of clothing and shelter. As he learned to build shelters that could be heated, he moved into colder climates. Yet he still seems to be in the best of health when he can live in a way that is nearest to the outdoor life of his primitive ancestors.

So, as the sap rises in the trees and in our veins, let's get outdoors. We can't go hunting for saber-toothed tigers, but we can dig in the garden or go for a walk in the early-spring woods.

Farmers And Progress

Most of us have repeatedly heard in recent years the statement: "People are leaving the farms in droves; we must keep the people on the land." Let's take a clear-headed look at this statement. When the United States government was established a few years before 1800, farmers made up 96% of the population. Nearly everyone was engaged in the problem of providing food and fiber for the nation's families. As production efficiencies increased on the farms and our nation grew, a trend was established in which large numbers of farmers found that they could improve their economic status by seeking urban employment.

That trend has continued until today our farm families constitute only 12% of the nation's population. Yet farm production, improved through mechanization, new fertilizers and techniques, and stimulated artificially by Government subsidization of prices now far exceeds the need and the demand. Government warehouses are overflowing with $7 billion worth of unmarketable produce and additional billions in taxpayers money are being spent each year in an impractical effort to solve the "farm problem."

Farmers Moving
The Committee for Economic Development has published an analysis of the problem which notes that: "While total output has been rising the number of workers in agriculture has declined from 10,979,000 in 1940 to 7,869,000 in 1956. The farm community has thus been able to release 4,110,000 workers—28%—from 1940 to 1956. Without these recruits from agriculture the growth of American industry could not have been so rapid." Although it has been slowed down by the price subsidy program, the migration off the farms has been economically healthy — both for the farm families involved and for the nation's general welfare.

"If it had not been for this movement," the CED notes, "the present-day decline in average farm income would be much more severe, for many more farmers would be dividing up total farm income." The Committee contends the Government subsidization of prices is keeping many families on farms, living meagerly, who would do much better in other occupations—just as millions like them have done better in the farm-urban migration during more than fifty years of transition.

Small Production
The Government's farm census of 1954 listed 4,783,018 farms. Only 44%—2,101,839—have market sales toiling as much as $2,500 a year. Yet they produce more than 90.8 of all farm produce for market. The less productive farms—2,680,000, or 56%—produce only 9.2% of total farm production measured by dollar value. The chief significance of these figures, observes the CED, is that the 56% of farms which produce so little do not have the same problems as commercial farmers. They produce individually only a few hundred dollars in produce for market. Thus it is impossible to provide them with adequate net income by means of price supports.

The CED report emphasizes that "Commercial farmers" are for the most part family farmers. Only 134,000 farms, out of 4,783,018 sell as much as $25,000 a year in farm produce. And, says the CED, "the indications are that a large share of these are individually owned and operated . . . the fact that family farms are growing larger is misinterpreted as indicating they are on the way out. Instead, they are adjusting to modern technology and mechanization. Commercial farming is still overwhelmingly a family business, and appears likely to remain so."

Better Life Elsewhere
But what about this 56% of all farms which sell from $100 to $2,500 worth of products a year? The number of these "subsistence" farms decreased by 20% in the four year period

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—I think that it is unfortunate that the House-passed Independent Offices Appropriation bill contains a provision that may prevent any improvement in retirement benefits for Federal workers this year. The provision requires Congress to appropriate money sufficient to prevent any increase in the Civil Service retirement fund deficit before increased benefits can become effective.

Although floor debate tried to show that my fears were ground-preceding the 1954 farm census. These farm families voluntarily moved into urban areas and found better paying occupations. The CED suggests that a plan to speed this transition must be a major part of any workable program designed to solve the farm problem.

"Our program," the Committee says, "means getting resources—people and land—out of agriculture and freeing farm prices." It seems to be a program that would accomplish these two objectives with a minimum of dislocation in the economy and with a minimum of harm to those low income farmers who simply have been unable to compete as scientific agricultural production advances.

less, nevertheless the action is so complicated and unclear that I feel that its effects will be more far-reaching than the sponsors of the provision suspect. I sought to have the section stricken from the bill, but was unable to do so.

The House Education and Labor Committee has reported a measure providing for aid to Federally impacted areas that is a much better bill than the original version. Some hamstringing provisions have been removed and the formula adopted for determining the amount of funds for each area is more realistic.

The way now seems clear for the Government to take over the life insurance operations of the remaining Federal employee beneficial groups. The overly long-delayed action means that some 95,000 insurance policies issued by the groups will have Federal backing.

My mail on the so-called Sunday closing law has been unusually heavy. I appreciate the expression of the points of view of those who have written to me and I understand the motive of the sponsors of the measure. I strongly feel, though, that the measure is unconstitutional. Since the Constitution provides that the Congress shall legislate for the District of Columbia, it would seem that the ban on legislation "prohibiting the free exercise" of religious beliefs would apply.

The 6th District will benefit from the granting of a $7.5 million guided missile contract to the Johns Hopkins laboratories and of $190,000 for airport improvement in Hagerstown.

Congress will be in recess from April 4 to 14. I plan to spend as much time as possible in my Congressional District.

Automobiles alone account for nearly 74 per cent of all highway gasoline consumption.

THE TREADMILL

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

It has already been covered in many reports that the administration's request to extend the reciprocal tariff act for a long period, with presidential powers to cut protective tariff rates, is in for a tough Congressional battle.

And it is quite proper that it should be. For over 20 years the executive branch of government has usurped the responsibility of Congress in the matter of setting protective tariff rates.

When first C. W. Harder launched the announced purpose was to have America lead the way in world wide abolition of tariffs so that all nations could trade on an equal basis. That is still the argument. There is only one flaw to it. Only the U. S. cuts tariffs; other nations raise theirs.

On several occasions, the nation's independent businessmen voting through the National Federation of Independent Business have opposed tariff cuts.

In a year end report beating tom toms for increased tariff reductions, Henry Kearns, assistant Secretary of Commerce, said that both U. S. imports and exports were at a high level in 1957, predicted even higher 1958 level.

His figures showed exports totaled $19.5 billion, or an increase of 13%. U. S. imports were less, standing at $13 billion for an increase of 2%.

However, this comparison between U. S. imports and exports is somewhat akin to comparing persimmons with watermelons. In many areas, the only similarity is that both the exports and imports crossed over U. S. national boundaries.

Whatever the U. S. imports are © National Federation of Independent Business paid for with dollars. But included in the U. S. export figures are all the shipments of give away goods, and also the farm surpluses, and other commodities that are "sold" far below the prevailing price. In other cases, the products are paid for by a cheap foreign currency on the basis that it is worth the same as U. S. currency.

Thus, striking a true trade balance figure between exports and imports is about like taking a gunnysack of old match book covers into a local bank and convincing the banker that this entails one to draw against an equivalent quantity of $20 greenbacks. This would be a nice trick if you could do it, and seemingly bureaucrats can.

In addition, in the entire controversy over this matter, one important element is constantly brushed aside. It does not take, for example, many millions of dollars worth, not to mention billions, of Japanese textiles, made with 7 cent per hour labor, coming into U. S., to demoralize the entire domestic textile market.

There are growing indications that the increasingly heavy imports of foreign cars produced by cheap labor is having its effect on employment in Detroit. It is also of note that a large share of these cars are being shipped in by foreign subsidiaries of the biggest U. S. auto corporations.

And recently, one of the strangest paradoxes of all occurred. To meet competition a well known American watchmaker embarked on a plan to have a large share of their movements made in Switzerland. The Federal Trade Commission has now jumped on the company for promoting American made watches on the basis they are made abroad. Many Congressmen feel power to set tariff rates should be restored to where such power was delegated by U. S. Constitution which is the U. S. Congress.

A CITY VIEWPOINT

Elected Baltimore City Democrats Pledge Support To "Unity and Victory" Ticket

The Democratic "Unity and Victory" ticket, headed by J. Millard Tawes and Mayor D'Alesandro, has received one of the most sweeping endorsements ever accorded Democratic Primary aspirants. Every election district joined in the endorsement.

Affixing their signatures to the endorsement were: the four Democratic members of Congress, the entire membership of the Baltimore City Council, every elected official in the Courthouse, seven of the eighteen members of the Baltimore City Democratic State Central Committee, four of the five Democratic State Senators from Baltimore, and twenty-five of thirty-three Baltimore Democrats in the House of Delegates.

Among those who signed are: Leon Abramson, president of the City Council; State's Attorney J. Harold Grady; Sheriff Joseph C. Deegan; Frank C. Robey, clerk of the Court of Common Pleas; James F. Carney, clerk of the Superior Court; Lawrence R. Mooney, clerk of the Criminal Court; G. Gordon Kirby, clerk of the Circuit Court No. 2; John O. Rutherford, clerk of the Baltimore City Court; and Leroy C. Shaughnessy, register of wills.

State Senators signing the endorsement were: Joseph A. Bertorelli, Thomas F. Dempsey, Philip H. Goodman and George W. Della.

Members of the House of Delegates, who signed were: John J. Norwakowski, James J. Silk, and Elmer E. Walters, First Legislative district; Edward W. Brooks, J. Raymond Buffington, Jr., Joseph A. Acker, and Edward J. McNeal, Second district; Rudy Echounek, Edward J. Bartos, and Joseph A. Antonelli, Third district; Murray Abramson, Sol Friedman, Truly Hatchett, Morton C. Pollack, and Jerome Robinson, Fourth district; Edgar P. Silver, Maurice Cardin, Marvin Mandel, Carl W. Bacharach, and John C. Luber, Fifth district; and Mrs. Fred Loose, William P. Corrigan, Henry T. Baynes, W. W. Meyers, and W. J. Myers, Sixth district.

"We believe that the harmony Democratic ticket, consisting of J. Millard Tawes, for Governor, Thomas D'Alesandro, for United States Senator, C. Ferdinand Sybert, for Attorney General, and Louis L. Goldstein, for State Comptroller, is the strongest, most capable and most experienced group of candidates to seek approval of Maryland Democrats for many years . . .

"We believe that all of these candidates truly represent the overwhelming choice of Maryland Democrats in the primary election and we further believe that they will go on to sweeping victory as the people's choice in the general election. We endorse them without reservation and pledge them our wholehearted and active support."

Democratic leaders were quick to note that seldom, if ever, had so many elected Democrats in the city of Baltimore gotten together in support of a single Primary ticket.

A COUNTY VIEWPOINT

Harmony For Victory

THERE ARE SEVERAL impelling reasons for Democrats to welcome the "Harmony Ticket" of Tawes-Sybert election. In the first place the four candidates are already holding public office by choice of the electorate. J. Millard Tawes, for governor, has shown impressive competence as state comptroller, a position to which he has been four times elected; C. Ferdinand Sybert is outstanding as attorney general, the office to which he seeks re-election; State Senator President Louis L. Goldstein, seeking the Democratic nomination for comptroller, has not only won election to the state senate, with the presidency of his colleagues, and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, elected to five terms in the U. S. House of Representatives before he won sixth largest city, has the experience and capacity to serve creditably in the U. S. Senate.

THESE FOUR MEN have demonstrated a vote-getting ability sorely needed by the Democratic party in Maryland. None of their opponents hold public office and have not demonstrated their capacity in elective posts of trust. Sectors of the efforts of so many party leaders in conceding individual viewpoints "Harmony Ticket." It is not an arbitrary action, but an earnest recommendation to Democrats everywhere to select these candidates of tried and true ability in vote-getting prowess in general elections. Certainly the top elective position in the state is the governorship. There are two no minor sacrifice on Mayor D'Alesandro's part to give up his worthy ambition to be governor, all in the interest of party harmony and general election victory next November.

WITH A TAWES victory as certain as anything may be in politics, it is most advisable to have Baltimore City represented on a well rounded "Harmony Ticket." Maryland's chief city with a 3 preference for D'Alesandro has shown its takable fashion. The Democrats must carry Baltimore by a substantial majority to win a state election. The "Harmony" candidate for U. S. Senator has as a candidate against Tawes insures that there will be no bruising primary battle for the gubernatorial nomination. His own candidacy for the senate demonstrates the enthusiastic aid of every Tawes supporter in the May primary. Service in the House of Representatives is the best training available for the U. S. Senate. D'Alesandro's five terms in Congress were a perfect preparation for his extraordinary administration experience as Mayor of Baltimore. Tawes, Sybert, Goldstein and D'Alesandro form a combination certain to end the Democratic eclipse in Maryland. Democrats will be doing their party and their state a real service by giving these capable representatives an overwhelming majority on May 20.

LOUIS L. GOLDSTEIN for COMPTROLLER
4 yrs.—U. S. Marine Corps
4 yrs.—Member Md. House of Delegates
12 yrs.—Member Md. State Senate
4 yrs.—Md. Senate Majority Leader
4 yrs.—Pres. Md. State Senate

Broken for you. (1 Corinthians 11:24.)

Jesus spoke these words when He was changing the Jewish Passover into the Lord's Supper. The bread was broken for distribution, but this practical purpose acquired symbolic meaning. The breaking of the bread on Thursday evening foreshadowed the wounding of His body on Friday morning.

Why was His body pierced and wounded? It was broken for you, broken for me. Broken for each one personally, as if each person

Employed May Draw Benefits While Working

"Social security monthly retirement benefits may be available to workers when they are still employed," Mr. W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown office stated today.

Mr. King says that every man at age 65, and every woman at age 62 should be aware of the provisions of the law which determines whether one or more monthly checks are payable for the year. The application of these provisions is referred to as the Retirement Test.

Under this test, an insured person whose earnings do not exceed $1200 in a calendar year can receive payments for all months he was of retirement age. If his earnings exceed $1200, one social security check will be withheld for every $80, or fraction of $80, of his earnings in excess of $1200.

"For example," he said, "a person who worked all year and earned $1500 could receive eight social security checks." By applying this same principal, a person who earns over $80 each month and over $2080 in the year is not entitled to any social security checks.

Another provision of the retirement test which is not understood by many workers is the monthly earnings test. This rule states that any worker eligible for benefits who does not earn over $80 in the month, or does not render substantial services in self-employment in the month can apply and receive a social security payment for that month. To illustrate this provision, Mr. King pointed out that a worker could have earnings of any amount in some months of the year, and in other months earn less than $80, or not render substantial services in self-employment and the social security Administration would pay the worker for those months.

The month a worker reaches age 72, the earnings restrictions in the social security law are lifted. However, the earnings for the entire taxable year must be counted in determining whether payments can be made for the months in that year before he reached age 72.

Monthly payments may be retroactive for as many as twelve months. Failure to file a timely application may cause a worker to lose payments for some of the months in which he meets the provisions of the retirement test.

Workers who meet any of the conditions described above are urged to contact their social security office. The local office is at 74 West Washington Street, Hagerstown.

Referendum On Wheat Marketing Set For June

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has proclaimed marketing quotas on the 1959 crop of wheat and set June 20, 1958, as the date for a referendum to determine producer approval or disapproval of quotas, states Julius P. Parran, Chairman of the Maryland ASC Committee.

If marketing quotas are approved by growers, Mr. Parran says, the national average support price available to eligible producers in Maryland will be not less than the minimum support to be announced later. Individual farm marketing quotas will be the normal production or the actual production, whichever is larger, from the farm acreage allotment.

Growers in Maryland who stay within their allotments will be eligible for price support on their entire production. Growers who exceed their farm acreage allotments will be subject to marketing quota penalties if (1) they have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest or (2) they have not signed applications for exemption under the feed wheat provision permitting 30 acres or less to be used exclusively for feed on the farm. There are no limitations on the amount of wheat which may be grown for use on the farm for food, feed, or seed by State, religious, or charitable institutions.

If marketing quotas are disapproved, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketings. Acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support at the 50 percent of parity (as of July 1, 1959) rate required by law when quotas are disapproved.

Mr. Parran says that the 1959 wheat acreage allotment for Maryland has been established at 185,359 acres, whereas the 1958 wheat allotment was 185,390 acres. Farmers will receive their 1959 wheat allotment prior to the referendum on June 20th.

Many Claim State Tax Returns Are Delinquent

Maryland State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes stated this week that the Income Tax Division of the Comptroller's office at Annapolis is receiving many letters and memorandums each day along with the tax returns for 1957, in which the taxpayer claims refund for 1956 has not been received.

The Comptroller affirmed the fact that in nearly every instance the taxpayer has been paid his refund for 1956 and the cancelled check is in the Income Tax Division files.

He said that answering all of these letters in which the taxpayer is given the check data has delayed the processing of returns somewhat as considerable time is involved in the procedure.

Taxpayers are requested to examine their records very carefully before making such inquiries. As a further aid to expediting 1957 returns, in most instances withholding of such inquiries until after the April 15 deadline for filing would help.

Comptroller Tawes explained the situation by saying that it is apparent that many taxpayers have kept no record of the refund check received by them last year. It is suggested that when the 1957 refund check is received the taxpayer make note of its receipt on the personal individual copy in order that next year this is a sure fact, and no one need write the Income Tax Division unnecessarily.

Tips to Improve Your Handwriting

The race to keep ahead of the Russians has resulted in a greater emphasis on college education for Americans than ever before.

Several million Americans will be graduating from colleges this June and hundreds of thousands will be starting their college educations in the fall. Thousands of scholarships will help many young men to fill the need for scientists and professionals.

Yet, paradoxically, an overwhelming number of these students, and other adults, cannot write their own name legibly!

Mrs. Claire Sloté, author of a new McGraw-Hill book titled, "Improve Your Handwriting," says, "The handwritten word is a precious, practical craft passed down through the ages. More than any other skill, it distinguishes civilized man from the barbarian."

What has happened to the second "R" today? "Poor handwriting annually is costing us tens of millions of dollars in lost business, and undeliverable mail is heavy enough to sink a battleship," says the Handwriting Foundation of Washington, D. C. "We are a nation of illegible scribbles. Education has not taught many of us how to write legibly."

Americans who can recite everything from "Casey at the Bat" to Shakespeare, and who demonstrate on quiz shows what knowledge they have acquired, never could write down all the facts legibly.

The Foundation, a non-profit group of educators and businessmen, is helping schools evaluate their methods, so that the present trend toward specialization does not neglect the cultivation of legible handwriting. But even adults long out of school can improve their own writing. Here are four steps that will bring immediate improvement:

1. Watch out for tricky letters. Close the loop in letters like "a", "g", "d". Don't close up looped letters like "e", "l", "t". Don't loop non-looped strokes like "i", "j", "q".
2. Be careful of "twin" numbers. Don't make a "7" look like a "1", or your "3" look like a "5".
3. Sit properly when writing. Keep erect with shoulders slightly forward, hips back in seat, facing desk squarely. Keep both forearms on the desk, feet flat on the floor, and place paper directly in front of you at a slant.
4. Score yourself. Check your letter formation, slant, spaces between words, alignment, margins and arrangements, and overall neatness.

Roll-Up Dinner in a Hurry!

Fast and flavorful! A main dish that's both of these is good dinnertime news for any family chef. "Stuffed Ham Roll-Ups", with their tasty filling of crushed inch-square cheese crackers, and surprise accent of apricot juice, fill the bill perfectly. Made almost entirely from ready-cooked ingredients, these new "Roll-Ups" can be prepared in just 20 minutes of cooking time. Here's how:

- Stuffed Ham Roll-Ups
|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|
| 1 16-to-17-oz. can apricot halves | 2 tablespoons chopped parsley |
| 2 cups coarsely crushed Cheez-It Crackers | 1/4 cup juice drained from apricots |
| 2 teaspoons grated onion | 1 egg, beaten |
| 1 teaspoon celery salt | 8 slices ready-to-eat ham, cut 1/4-inch thick |

Heat oven to 350° F. (moderate oven). Drain apricots. Combine cheese cracker crumbs, onion, celery salt, parsley, apricot juice and egg. Spread each ham slice with mixture and roll up securely. Arrange in shallow baking dish; cover and bake at 350° F. for 20 minutes. Garnish with apricot halves and sprigs of parsley. Makes 8 servings.

Babson Discusses How School Committees Can Save
The Taxpayers' Money

BABSON PARK, Mass., Apr. 3—Do you realize that school enrollments have increased this year for the 13th year in a row; and that right now one out of every four persons is attending school or college? This is why two national problems are reaching crisis proportions: (1) classroom space; and (2) the teacher shortage. How is your community solving these problems?

Classrooms And Money

Decorative and Delicious Dish

Ever think of a meal on a platter? Try a noodle-mushroom ring with a center filling of creamed salmon and peas. Decorate the rim of the platter with sliced tomatoes and sprigs of parsley. This makes an attractive service and it provides nourishing and economical food. An important key to nutrition and economy is versatile instant nonfat dry milk which is featured in both recipes. An excellent source of milk's important nutrients, instant nonfat dry milk costs as little as eight cents a quart.

NOODLE-MUSHROOM RING

(Makes 6 servings)

- | | |
|---------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| 1½ cups liquefied Instant Starlac nonfat dry milk | 2 eggs, slightly beaten |
| 3 tablespoons flour | 1 (8-oz.) can mushrooms, finely chopped |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1 (8-oz.) package medium-size noodles, cooked and drained |
| ¼ teaspoon pepper | |

Pour liquefied Instant Starlac nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater just until blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Pour a little of the hot mixture into the slightly beaten eggs, stir briskly. Add to remaining sauce in double boiler; cook stirring constantly, until thickened. Add mushrooms. Combine sauce and noodles. Pour mixture into buttered (1-quart) ring mold. Place in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 to 40 minutes or until set. Unmold. Serve with Creamed Salmon and Peas.

CREAMED SALMON AND PEAS

(Makes 4 cups)

- | | |
|---------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| 1½ cups liquefied Instant Starlac nonfat dry milk | ¼ teaspoon pepper |
| 3 tablespoons flour | 1 cup (7½-oz.) can salmon, drained, boned and flaked |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1½ cups peas, cooked |

Pour liquefied Instant Starlac nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Stir in salmon and peas; cook until thoroughly heated. Serve hot in Noodle-Mushroom Ring.

education and, instead, lead in designing prefabricated schoolhouses that could be mass produced—basic schoolhouses that rooms could be added to or subtracted from, and which could be moved elsewhere as occasion demands. Communities are going to have to "put the horse back in front of the cart," first asking how much they can afford for a schoolhouse; then sending their building committee out to buy the best they can afford.

A New Look In Education Needed

To have the average elementary school lying idle for three months and to have the average high school catering to but a few summer pupils compared with the total it might serve is poor economics. In many privately endowed institutions of higher learning today, the seats are never allowed to cool off. Space is at a premium, and they know how to use it!

I can hear the hue and cry from parents in your town already, when we talk about running school continuously, perhaps staggering vacations, and even operating Saturdays. All sorts of reasons are going to be given why a five-day, one-session, nine-month program is a very sacred thing . . . but the only sacred thing about it is that we have always done it that way!

Teachers And Money

Teachers will probably oppose any change in routine. After all, one of the compensations of teaching is a long vacation. They will probably say that a longer day or week is psychologically unsound for both teachers and pupils. My own college administrators say that this is not necessarily so. Furthermore, if teachers would accept an 11-month job responsibility, a longer work day, and a longer work week like all other professional people, they could readily become more productive and their incomes would be raised. School Committees could also help make much better teachers by cutting out a lot of the extracurricular nonsense.

Style of Roof
Vital Choice
In Building

One of the most important decisions to be made when building a home, expanding a house, or erecting a farm structure is the choice of the right roof.

Here are seven main points to consider in selecting the right roof, according to Keith Hinchcliff, architect on the staff of the Illinois College of Agriculture:

1. Irregular shapes cost money by adding the time of constructing ridges, valleys and hips.
2. Asphalt shingles are an economical and dependable roofing material for roofs that slope at least 2 inches per horizontal foot, and are available in practically any color.
3. Gable roofs can use lower-cost roof truss construction. This permits more economical partitions to be used, since load-bearing walls aren't necessary. Some truss roofs can be constructed with more economical 2 by 4 lumber, instead of the usual 2 by 8s or 10s.
4. Gable roofs can be ventilated with louvers in the gable ends, keeping the house cooler in summer and combating condensation in the space between roof and ceiling. One half-inch of screened opening for each square foot of attic floor is recommended.
5. Gable roofs provide attic space for storage or living area, depending on the roof pitch.
6. Wide eaves overhangs protect windows from summer sun and usually improve house appearance. Hip or flat roofs provide overhangs on all four sides. Overhang should be sufficient to shade windows in summer.
7. Roofing material should be chosen carefully for gable or hip roofs, since color and texture are important to the appearance of a house. As an example, a light color roof makes a low house appear taller, and a dark color makes a tall house look lower. The roof color also can be used as the "key" for other exterior colors.

Veterans' Column

April is the month set aside in The American Legion for reporting the Child Welfare Programs throughout the 200 Legion Posts within the State of Maryland. The Child Welfare Program of The American Legion has been one of the prime projects since the inception in 1919. The two major purposes of the program are to assure care and protection for our children and to improve living conditions so that the children of today will be better citizens for tomorrow. In Maryland The American Legion spends a quota of a million dollars a year on their Child Welfare Program. The majority of the funds allocated are used for direct financial assistance for handicapped or destitute children. Over 100,000 children are helped annually in our state through the Legion Program. Recently, the director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover, speaking at a National American Legion Child Welfare Conference made the following statement:

I do not forget that children cannot be put on an educational production line and have their education added like parts to a car. Education is a process of reaction between student and teacher, and student and student. This, like a great work of art, takes time to put together; it takes reworking; it takes patience; it takes a master to produce good results. So I say to school committees and those concerned with education, weigh your educational values, cut your heavy spending on bricks and mortar, make more economical use of your buildings and time, and immediately cut out the extracurricular nonsense. Then, put your tax money where it will do the most good — into capable, inspiring, and devoted teachers.

"No citizen who is fully aware of the varied programs sponsored by The American Legion can fail to applaud the purposes of this great organization. The men who have valiantly proved their dedication to the ideal of freedom in battle are continuously proving their unwillingness to let freedom die by the fault. I am sure that every alert American is familiar with the Legion's determined efforts to assure that the internal security and outward defenses of this nation are properly protected. The organization's desire to promote patriotic interests in the preservation of our free institutions also is well known. I am not sure, however, that the Legion has received full credit for another of its vital programs. I refer, of course, to the great work done by The American Legion in the field of Child Welfare."

Probably the finest work the Legion has done in this field has been their sponsorship of boys clubs. Through the 200 Legion Posts in Maryland they are the greatest single group supporting Boy Scout Troops. In addition to the thousands of boys participating in scouting, an equal number play baseball under Legion sponsorship. Thousands of dollars have been spent by the Legion to provide playgrounds, ball fields and other facilities for the children. The actual cost of these expenditures would be impossible to estimate, however, they know that whatever the expense may be it is a wise investment.

Takes Final Vows

James Robert Sprankle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Sprankle, Sr., Catonsville, has recently professed his final vows in the Xaverian Brotherhood, as Brother Verne, C.F.X. Ceremonies took place at the Xaverian College in Silver Spring, Md., where he has been stationed for four years. While there Brother Verne studied at Catholic University in Washington, D. C., and will be graduated in June. On entering the Brotherhood he studied at the Sacred Heart Novitiate at Fort Monroe, Va.

Brother Verne attended Mt. St. Joseph High School in Baltimore, where he was graduated in 1950.

BRUCE WILL TOUR COUNTY THURSDAY

Stepping up his campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination James Bruce next Thursday will spend the day touring the highways and byways of Frederick County.

The visit will be a part of a state-wide tour covering the 23 counties in which Candidate Bruce hopes to solidify gains already made and to crystallize and acknowledge growing sentiment. The increase in favor of Bruce, which took long strides in the past 10 days with the endorsement of his candidacy by the dominant organizations in Howard and Queen Anne's Counties, is calculated to spread to other areas as the campaign reaches its height.

"I've felt right along," said Jim Bruce, "that my real strength is in the counties because as a county man myself I resent the machine organization of the big city and any attempt it makes to force its will and candidates on the counties."

Specific illustration of the sound reasoning behind the Bruce strategy to make his strong bid in the county areas is in the sponsorship of the reception to be given him in Queen Anne's County on April 12. On that date at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Miles, there will be a reception for Bruce with the four prominent hosts representing four different counties: W. Preston Lane, Washington County; Geo. M. Radcliffe, Dorchester County; Millard E. Eydings, Harford County; and Mr. Miles of Queen Anne's.

Local Farmer Wins

State-wide Honors

An Emmitsburg farmer, 27-year-old Richard C. Waybright, Route 2, a former national vice president of the Future Farmers of America, was named last week as the third place winner in the annual Outstanding Young Farmer Contest held by the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Waybright was selected last November as the outstanding young farmer of Adams County by the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce and entered the state-wide contest.

The winner's selection marks the first time an Adams County winner has been among the top three in the state.

Operator of a farm during the past eight years Waybright has a one-third interest in 720 acres of farm land, 477 arable. He is a partner in the farming enterprise with his father, Clarence J. Waybright and brother, Horace.

The basis of Waybright's selection was the outstanding growth and development of the farming operation under the supervision of Waybright and his father and brothers who are partners. Using soil tests as a basis, the three increased by proper fertilizer and rotation the yields from the fields from one and a half to three tons of hay per acre, from 45 to 75 bushels of corn per acre, barley production from 28 to 48 bushels per acre and wheat from 20 to 30 bushels per acre.

As the result of the soil work the farm livestock could be increased from 25 milk cows and young stock and 74 steers in 1949 to 96 milk cows, 83 dairy heifers, 39 beef heifers and 129 steers in 1957.

An extensive remodeling program also has progressed at the farm with the many improvements being among the matters which led to his selection for the state honor.

Waybright has been an executive member of the Grange, helped organize the Gettysburg Young Farmers' Assn. and was its first president. He has been a Sunday school teacher at St. James Lutheran Church for the past nine years and headed the hospital building fund and Community Chest drives in his area. Waybright received the Keystone and American degrees of the FFA and served as national vice president of the FFA. He is a member of the livestock committee of the county extension service and has served as treasurer of the county Senior Extension Club.

Explorers Hear Dance Report

The regular weekly meeting of the Explorer Scouts of Troop 284 was held Wednesday, April 2, at 8 p. m. in the basement of St. Euphemia's Hall. Senior Crew Leader Rightmeyer opened the meeting with the Scout Oath Laws and Pledge to the Flag.

In the absence of the secretary, the call was made for old business and unfinished business. A report was given on the current safety project stressing safety with bicycles, which is the service activity for the quarter ending July 1st. The first highlight of the project will be kicked off on Saturday, April 12, when the Explorers themselves will hold a community-wide bicycle inspection. The Scout House will be the site for the inspection and the time will be from 1 to 4 p. m. The public, and especially the parents are asked to cooperate with this idea. For those who have had their bikes checked there will be a bicycle rodeo held in May with prizes.

Explorer Byard gave a report on the Annual Ball for Explorer Scouts in the district, which was held in the Frederick High School Gym last Saturday night. From sources it was noted that Terry and his partner also took second place in a "jitterbug contest."

Scoutcraft held the interest with much discussion when we decided

Kite Flying Regarded As Hazardous On Windy Days

Once again with the winds blowing the fun of kite flying is in evidence with children of this area. But, while kite flying today is just as much fun, it can also be dangerous, warned John W. Morgan, manager of The Potomac Edison Company.

The local utility company is conducting the annual "Fly Kites Safely" campaign. Numerous posters are being distributed to area schools warning children to exercise caution while flying kites and model airplanes, and pointing out the dangers of flying kites near electric wires and TV antennas.

Mr. Morgan pointed out that there still are many tragic accidents each year resulting from carelessness in flying kites and model airplanes. Fatalities are numerous and severe burns often are suffered when necessary precautions are not heeded, he said.

The utility company manager listed some basic rules which children should follow and he urged parents to instruct their children accordingly.

First, be sure the child is using a kite without any metal in it. Secondly, beware of cord with tinsel or strands of wire wrapped in it. If they come in contact with a power line, these metal cords can cause burns and shocks.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue of the Chronicle it was inadvertently published that the taxes on the Wilbur T. Umbel property were delinquent. This was an error. The county treasurer had previously reported the taxes were paid but this was overlooked by our staff. We regret any inconvenience created by publishing the listing.

Soldier Promoted

Clair C. Cullison, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Cullison, Fairfield Rd., was recently promoted to specialist third class in Germany where he is a wireman in the 868th Field Artillery Battalion's Battery A.

Cullison entered the Army in October, 1956, and completed his basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. He arrived overseas last October.

California alone has over 14,000 service stations, each competing vigorously for the patronage of the passing motorist.

University Offers 40 Scholarships

The University of Maryland will offer 40 scholarships to the first annual Family Finance Workshop to be held at College Park, June 23 to August 1, 1958.

The scholarships will be available to high school and college teachers and administrators in Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Southern Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

A curriculum has been developed to give participants an opportunity to understand important concepts relating to family financial security, to obtain skills needed to improve and expand programs of education in family finance, and to provide materials which may be used in solving their own instructional problems.

The teaching staff will be comprised of faculty members of the university's Colleges of Education, Business and Public Administration and Home Economics.

One of 15 such programs to be offered by universities during the summer in cooperation with the National Committee for Education in Family Finance, the University of Maryland workshop will offer lectures and discussions in personal income, budgeting, banking, consumer credit and installment buying, renting and buying a home, insurance, social security, savings and investments, personal taxes, and wills and estates. Credit toward a graduate degree will be awarded upon successful completion of the course.

Scholarship applications and detailed information may be obtained by writing Dr. Arthur S. Patrick, Chairman, Local Advisory Committee on Education, Department of Office Management and Business Education, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

Mental Patients Need Instruments

A state-wide request for musical instruments for use by patients in the state mental hospitals is being made by the Maryland Association for Mental Health.

Although small music groups exist in all the hospitals, Rehabilitation Departments are severely handicapped by a shortage of instruments. One of the hospitals is currently seeking thirty wind and string instruments to create a hospital-wide orchestra.

"It is difficult to estimate the tremendous therapeutic value to the patient of learning to play a musical instrument," Ben Camp-ashore.

Speed, dispersal, mobility and the use of atomic weapons are being stressed by the 30,000 Marines, 10,000 sailors, 60 ships and 260 aircraft taking part in the operation.

bell, recreation director at Spring Grove State Mental Hospital, stated this week. "Self-expression, especially in a group activity, can help relieve tensions, turn long hours of boredom into rewarding activity and frequently provides a patient with incentive to get well."

In addition to band instruments, all of the hospitals need pianos for ward use. Transportation can be arranged by contacting the Maryland Association for Mental Health, 2100 N. Charles Street, Baltimore 18, HOplkins 7-2661.

Prof. Richard J. McCullough is spending the Easter vacation visiting his daughter, Elisabeth, in New Orleans. Prof. McCullough made the trip by plane.
