This column probably will result in some criticism and dissension but I feel the provocation justifiable under the circumstances and let the chips fall where they may. On many occasions we have been accused of being stagnant; complacent and lethargic and many times this criticism was well-founded and deserved. We have been bypassed by many industries which have located in nearby towns, why? Certainly not because we do not have labor volume enough. I think the main fly in the ointment has been lack of cooperation. Some say let the bank do it, let the Lions do something, or still others try to blame the Chamber of Commerce or veterans' clubs. Passing the buck is actually the applicable term I think. Here's one little item I saw in a contemporary newspaper the other day. The information discloses that new post offices are going to be built in Thurmont, Brunswick, Middletown, Taneytown and Union Bridge, all nearby communities comparable in size to our own village. I have no way of knowing how this has been accomplished but it does prove we are standing still, or treading water so to speak. I do know that the Thurmont postoffice will be built by private local capital and leased by the Government. This undoubtedly is true of the other communities. Now then what's wrong with private investment locally? If the town is going to progress this type of financing must be forthcoming. It's a perfectly sound means of investing money and the investor is guaranteed a lease long enough to clear his investment so why shouldn't someone with idle capital be induced to take the lead? The same is applicable to a swimming pool, recreation area, etc. Other towns have progressed to their present status because their citizens wanted to see them advance. Is there no spirit of this type in Emmitsburg? Criticism has been heaped on every organization in town, as well as the town government, for not doing anything. Well the truth is that many have worked hard to bring enterprises to town but owning property is prohibited by many of the organization's charters. So then, if there is going to be anything happen here it will have to be done by an individual or a combination of individuals who have adequate finances for such community projects. As far as financing factory buildings for concerns wanting to come here, I don't blame anyone for not risking their capital in such a venture. I feel we don't want such industries here. If they are interested in the welfare of the community they will risk their own money in such an enterprise. We have two such industries here. These firms asked nothing of the town or its people. They invested their own money in buildings and equipment and they have proven a real asset to the town. All they sought was our goodwill and enough employees to operate on. This type of industry we need and we want to also keep what we have here. In rebuttal I say if we want a swimming pool, picnic area, postoffice, etc. here it unquestionably will have to be a private investment by some good samaritan.

A friend of the Boss, "Jersey" Eyer, brought to light some interesting information pertinent to the early life of Emmitsburg this week. "Jersey" as he is familiarly known, relayed the information to the Editor who in turn performed a relay by relegating the information to my copy basket. Some of you older folks might possibly remember hearing of Hampton's Furnace located near town. I doubt that any of you saw it in operation though for it was way back in 1760 I am informed. The informant says he got his data from Mercer's Bible on Iron which is resting in the Hagerstown Library. The Furnace was operated in the Anandale School section and is said to have been located on the property where Gike Miller now resides. Information discloses that remnants of the slag used in the manufacture of iron are still to be found there. The Hampton Furnace operated from 1760 until 1765, a period of five years. It was supposed to be one of the first in America and superseded

Postponed Egg Hunt Sunday

Commander Harold M. Hoke of the Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced this week that last Sunday's Easter egg hunt which had to be postponed due to inclement weather, would be held this Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. on Community Field, weather permitting.

The Commander explained why the affair was not held held last Monday following the postponement, stating that not enough advance publicity could be given the affair to advise parents the hunt would take place on Monday and that it was fearful that a large number of kiddies would miss the event.

Also rescheduled is the Easter Parade which will precede the egg hunt. Prizes will be awarded the winners of the parade and a large number of eggs will be stamped designating prizes to be awarded. Members of the VFW Auxiliary will act as judges of the parade.

The veterans announced that all eggs had been under refrigeration during this week through the courtesy of Mt. St. Mary's College which offered its facilities. Should inclement weather again cause a postponement Sunday, the eggs will be donated to the local schools to be distributed to the children.

First Baseball Practice Scheduled

Manager Jack Rosensteel of the Emmitsburg Baseball Club, a member of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, has called the initial practice session for players, for this Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock at Community Field. All those interested in playing on the local team are asked to appear at the diamond with gloves and shoes. Those possessing rakes are asked to bring them along as the field has to be conditioned before practice.

In addition to Saturday's practice a Sunday workout has also been scheduled for the afternoon. The Pen-Mar loop begins the new season on April 27.

POSTURE EXAM ADVOCATED

Postural examinations should be held at least as often as examinations of the teeth and the eyes, Dr. Henry O. Winter, president of the Maryland Chiropractic Association, said this week in a preliminary announcement of plans for Correct Posture Week, May 1-7.

"Today, doctors and beauty experts recognize good posture as a prerequisite to good health, personality, and performance," said Dr. Winter. "It is a physiological fact that the key to all these is a healthy spine, housing the spinal cord which is the central distribution system of nerve energy of the body."

"Strains, falls, and bumps can be the beginning of a disorder, just as a chipped tooth or a squint can be the beginning of impaired dental or visual health. A distorting strain in the weakest part of the back, just above the hips, manifests quickly in a 'lame back.' Injuries higher in the back may be even more serious."

One object of Correct Posture Week is regular spinal examinations for every school child, similar to the dental check-up now being carried out in schools, Dr. Winter said.

He cited statistics from surveys in large school systems which indicate that 76 per cent of school children have some form of postural defects.

All-School Play Tonight

The annual Emmitsburg High School all-school play will be presented tonight, Friday, April 11, at 8:00 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The play, entitled, "Wanna Buy a Business," is a hilarious, uproarious comedy in three acts by Stuart Shettle and is guaranteed to keep you rocking with laughter. The plot involves the adventures and predicaments of a Mr. Hiram Jones, who converts the livingroom of his home into an office for the purpose of selling business opportunities.

The play is guaranteed to create confusion as Grandpa, a sarcastic old gentleman, picks up the loose ends of Hiram's business "deals" and gets himself involved in all sorts of entan-

County Cigarette Tax Will Be Abolished

The Frederick County commissioners voted on Tuesday to discontinue the county cigarette tax as of the first of July, and the treasurer's office has been instructed to make the necessary arrangements to abolish the machinery set up to collect the tax, according to Delbert S. Null, president of the board.

This does not mean that cigarettes will be cheaper. The General Assembly in February adopted a three cent levy on cigarettes which is statewide.

It was learned that the county cigarette and tobacco tax had produced around $18,000 a month since it went into effect September 1, 1957. There will be some loss of revenue, the commissioners stated, partly offset by additional revenue from state funds.

At the time the tobacco and cigarette tax measure was adopted by the commissioners in July of last year, President Null stated the local tax would be eliminated if the three cent tax State levy was adopted.

Town's New Sewer Plans Advance

Only one stumbling block remains in the path of the plans for sewerage extension to the Corporation of Emmitsburg it was revealed Monday night at the regular meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg held in the Town Office Chairman of the Board Charles R. Fuss presiding.

Burgess Clarence G. Frailey reported that all rights-of-way for the new sewer line with the exception of one, had been obtained. At the present time the Town Fathers are negotiating with a property-owner for land for the erection of a new disposal plant. As soon as the two parties concerned can come to an agreement Council will have the authority to advertise for bids for the project which will complete sewerage for the entire town.

The Town Solons have entered into an agreement with Alexander Brown and Sons, Baltimore, to handle the sale of bonds which will be issued to finance the project. Mayor Frailey reported he was in communication with the Potomac Edison Co. regarding new streetlights for the Emmitt Gardens area and that a new arrangement would be made there in the near future. A delegation of four members of the Vigilant Hose Co. was present at the meeting. The delegation sought the retention of the annual donation of $1,000 to the local Fire Company. Council took the matter under advisement. A donation of $50 was authorized for the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn.

Police Chief Robert L. Koontz presented his monthly report to the Council and parking meter revenue was reported at $259.00. Town Clerk Louise Sebald presented the annual financial report of the Corporation and it was approved as presented. Tax Collector Charles D. Gillelan reported that to date $8,152 had been collected. The tax collector reported that many delinquents had been received and that to date all previous year's taxes owed totaled only $133.

Mayor Frailey informed Council that he had engaged a man to repair all non-working parking meters. It was reported that a large number of the meters have not been working properly. The Mayor also reported a confirmation of the grant of $67,000 from the State through the Health Dept. to be used on the new sewer project. Street Commissioner Charles R. Fuss was authorized to have a contractor repair the town's alleys in the near future and to re-stone them if necessary.

Council will conduct a campaign to get out the vote at the coming town election which will be held on May 5. Informative circulars will be distributed and it is planned to seek the cooperation of local Boy and Girl Scouts to help get out the vote. The Town Fathers publicly inform the newly annexed territories that they are eligible to register on April 22 and to vote May 5 when a Town Commissioner and a Burgess will be elected. The Commissioner's term will be for three years while that of the Burgess is for one year.

A resident of the East End section of town was present at the meeting and entered a formal complaint about a situation which he claimed threatened health conditions in that section of town. Council took the matter under advisement. The property-owner declared an untidy premises concerned was a harboring place for rats and snakes.

THREE YEARS OF SALK VACCINE

Just three years ago this April the Salk vaccine was officially pronounced safe and effective and licensed for use by the United States Government.

Since then the polio picture in this country has undergone a radical change. Before the Salk vaccine we struggled with an erratic but mounting series of polio epidemics that reached their peak in 1952 with 57,879 cases. Last year, owing to widespread vaccination, the number dropped to 5,894. By this time it is clear that the Salk vaccine, developed on grants from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, is one of the most triumphant milestones in the history of modern medical science.

What, in the meantime, has happened to vaccination? The first year it was given mainly to grade school children—some 10 million of them. The second year it was made available to young persons up to 20 and expectant mothers, and some 35 million were injected. Last year a crash vaccination program directed at all persons under 40 added 20 million more, making a total of 65 million.

A big job done in a remarkably short time. But not good enough. For Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, warns us that, with 46 million Americans still unvaccinated, we may still have polio epidemics next summer. The answer? There is enough vaccine for everybody now, regardless of age. It's painless—it's inexpensive—it's effective protection against a lifetime of paralysis.

WHY?

Yesterday it wasn't there. Today, he picks it up and his mind is filled with wonder: why did it grow like that?

The miracle of growth! Whether it's a "toadstool" that springs up overnight or a cancer cell that suddenly comes into being, we've a lot to learn about the whole beautiful process of orderly growth... and the dreadful, senseless growth that is cancer.

The cancer puzzle is tied up in growth—growth of body cells smaller than the periods on this page.

Scientists, working under grants from the American Cancer Society, are ceaselessly studying cells—normal and cancer cells. And they too are asking: Why?

Why do cells suddenly change from normal growth to uncontrolled, disorderly growth? This question can be answered only by the most probing, painstaking and costly research.

Your contributions to the American Cancer Society will support hundreds of scientific studies necessary to save lives today and tomorrow.

Remember: Cancer can strike anyone. But you can strike back hard with your dollars. Send your gift—a generous one, if possible—to CANCER, c/o your local post office.

Veterans' Corner

An increasing number of cases are coming to light in which GI Life Insurance proceeds must be paid to other than the veteran's immediate family, probably because the veteran failed to keep his beneficiary listing up to date. Marriage, divorce, births or deaths are the types of change in family status which may indicate needed changes in beneficiary listings.

In many of the recent cases coming to light, the beneficiaries of VA record were the mothers of the veterans, named as beneficiaries when the insurance was taken out years ago. Since then the veterans had married and later died, leaving widows and in many cases, infant children. The VA is required by law to pay GI Insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record, since insurance is a matter of contract, and legally it must be assumed that the intention of the veteran is expressed by the beneficiary designation on record.

Change of beneficiary can be made at any time without notifying beneficiaries, but they must be made in writing and over the policyholder's signature and sent to the VA office servicing the policy during the lifetime of the policyholder. They cannot be made in a last will or testament.

If a veteran is at all uncertain as to his beneficiary designation, it is suggested that he or she immediately contact Mr. Charles L. Michael, The American Legion Service Officer, located in Room 219-C of the VA Building, St. Paul and Fayette Streets, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

The Veterans Administration has announced a special dividend of $32 million will be paid to policyholders of U. S. Government Life Insurance of the first World War. The payment is to be made between April 15 and May 15.

VA Administrator Sumner G. Whittier said the money will be distributed in addition to the regular dividend of $262 million already declared for 5,300,000 policyholders of both World War I and World War II. This is being distributed at the rate of $22 mil-

Mahoney Suggests Congress Should Aid Farmers

George Mahoney said this week Congress should investigate "why the farmer gets less for products while the housewife pays more for the food she buys at the store."

The candidate for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination said Secretary of Agriculture Benson has "done very well for the big middlemen—but not for the farmer."

Mahoney quoted a speech made by Wisconsin Senator William Proxmire last week on the Senate floor. Proxmire said:

"I fear that Mr. Benson's policies help not those who milk the cows, but those who milk the farmers . . ."

"At the very time when dairy farmers were sacrificing income and consumers were gaining no advantage from the lower prices paid to farmers, the nation's largest dairy manufacturing and marketing corporation boosted its profits after taxes by a staggering 50 per cent."

Mahoney said Proxmire referred to a month.

The special dividend will go to some 325,000 veterans of World War I, VA officials said. They explained that payments would vary widely, depending on the type and length of policies, but would average about $100.

to the National Dairy Products Company and inserted in the Congressional Record for April 1 a table indicating a rise in after-tax profits of the corporation from 27 million in 1952 to 41 million in 1956.

Since 1950, Mahoney said, Department of Agriculture figures indicate 5.2 cent increase in the price of milk per quart. He said: "Only 1.5 cent of this increase has gone to the producers. The middlemen have received the remaining 3.7 cents."

"In beef, the figures are even more striking. Beef prices have declined 2.3 cents per pound since 1950, but the middleman's share has gone up over 6 cents. The farmer's share has declined nearly 8 1/2 cents."

"Back in 1956, I advocated an investigation into this increasing spread between the farmer's prices and those paid by the housewife at the store. No action was taken then, and the situation has grown steadily worse."

"Today it is imperative that we get some action. This is the first time in history when we have had a recession, increasing unemployment and rising cost of living all at the same time. It is a situation which makes no sense. It's time we looked into the causes of it."

State Traffic Increased Steadily Past 14 Years

For 14 successive years now, traffic volume on Maryland highways has increased steadily year by year, according to records of the Traffic Division of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

A comparison of the accumulated totals of the 18 traffic counter stations in operation in 1944 as compared with the totals for the same 18 stations in 1957 inicated an overall increase of 299 per cent for the period.

The accumulated 1957 traffic volumes exceeded those for the year 1956 by 6 per cent.

At individual stations the 1957 increases over 1956 ranged from slightly under 1 per cent at several locations to a plus 66 per cent on the new Baltimore-Harrisburg Expressway, north of Shawan Road where traffic has been diverted to this new expressway from the York Road. Other significant increases were noted on the John Hanson Highway between Annapolis and U. S. Route 301 where the 1957 volumes exceeded those of 1956 by 33 per cent, and on the Washington National Pike (U. S. Route 240) north of Rockville where a 15 per cent increase was recorded.

Decreases in 1957 traffic as compared to the 1956 traffic were recorded at only two of the traffic counter stations. At one of these which was located on the York Road near Cockeysville where an 11 per cent decrease was noted due to the diversion to the Baltimore - Harrisburg Expressway which is reflected in the increases shown for that route.

A decrease of 3 per cent was recorded at Counter Station No. 3 which is located on a county road north of Middletown in Frederick County.

The heaviest traffic in the State is on U. S. 40 east of Baltimore. Last year an average of 22,979

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Rep. Perkins Bass, a New Hampshire Republican, recently made a speech in the House that some think may have been the turning point that will lead, eventually, to repeal of all farm price supports and production controls.

Using figures supplied him by the White House and the Department of Agriculture, Rep. Bass attempted to show that Federal farm programs not only have failed to help farmers, but have also placed an unfair burden on consumers.

Many members sat in shocked silence, but the number who rose to support and praise Rep. Bass was a clear indication of a substantial division of opinion in the House over continuation of programs costing about $3 billion a year.

The threat of a consumer revolt against farm supports is one that farm spokesmen have feared for a long time. They recognize that if consumers are organized in opposition to farm programs there can be little doubt of the final result.

With a farm population already dwindled to 12% of the national total, the political power of the Farm Bloc is becoming weaker and weaker. It will become increasingly difficult to muster a majority back of programs sponsored by the Bloc.

Farm spokesmen are girding for a showdown vote at this session of Congress, but many of them concede, privately, that they face an up-hill battle. Two speeches emphasize the wide differences in opinion in Congress over farm legislation.

The farm viewpoint, as expressed by Rep. George Christopher, a Missouri Democrat, will be reported next week. Following are quotations from the speech of Rep. Bass:

"The program for high price supports is a failure. It has never and will never solve our farm problem. It has cost taxpayers untold billions of dollars.

"Most Americans would be astonished and deeply shocked at what it costs them to carry on this farm price support program. It cost in 1957 more than $3 billion, plus $2 billion in other USDA costs.

"If they knew what this program costs them as individuals they would become very curious indeed about what benefits, if any, they are getting for their money.

"Consumers are forced to pay twice for the farm support program. First, through taxes they pay to finance the program and, second, through higher costs of the food and clothing they buy.

"For example, suppose I told a young man with an income of $6,000 a year that it is costing him $11.50 a year for Federal programs to support the price of wheat. He would say 'Well, what do I get for my money?'

"And I would have to tell him that the effect is that the bread he buys costs him about $20 a year more than it otherwise would. The young man would say 'Are we crazy? Is the Federal Government carrying out a program to lower the standard of living of Americans?'

"Suppose that instead of paying for farm programs out of the Treasury, each of us walked up to the tax window and said 'How much do I owe for the farm program?' The answer would be $56.30 a year (on a $6,000 income).

"How would we feel about paying that at the tax window, and still pay in higher food prices also? We would say 'No, that's one I don't want to pay.'"

Takes the Loneliness out of Living

Often there's no more welcome sound you can hear than the ring of your telephone—especially when you know the voice you want most to hear is going to answer your "Hello." Today, there's hardly a village, town, city or place in the whole, wide, civilized world where that special person can't call you. Maybe that's one reason a telephone is a necessary part of home for most of us. The C & P Telephone Company of Maryland.

Problem: Too Much Production

Nearly every non-political plan for solving the farm problem calls for a reduction in the number of people on the farms and in the number of acres being farmed. The Committee for Economic Development, a non-political organization doing research on national problems, offers a plan for accomplishing these reductions in the field of agricultural production.

"Our first recommendation," a special CED report says, "is that the Soil Bank be freed of all encumbrances, and be re-directed toward the single goal: Paying farmers to take resources out of crop production, thus reducing output. A good place to start is to repeal the $3,000 limitation on payments, so as to get the emphasis off income support and on land retirement. The overriding guide in the use of public funds for this purpose should always be: Is the public receiving 100 cents of production adjustment for every dollar of its money?"

Land And People

"The new program should direct the administration to concentrate its efforts overwhelmingly on the retirement of whole farms. This is being increasingly encouraged in the conservation reserve program, and properly so. Out of 82,588 conservation reserve contracts signed for the 1957 crop year 12,163 call for retirement of whole farms.

"We have made repeated references to the human factor in a program of resource reduction. People are involved, not just land. A survey taken for the Department of Agriculture indicates that, among farmers who put whole farms into the conservation reserve, the known availability of a job in town is one of the most frequently cited reasons. Farm people who have better earning potentials in other lines should be offered special training opportunities, as part of the resources adjustment program.

Family Farm Assured

"There is no danger that we would thus be contributing to the disappearance of the family farm. We have already noted that the family farm is successfully holding its own. Offering farmers now trying to make a living from the poorest soil a chance to establish themselves in other callings is actually a method of strengthening the family farm as an institution, for it would retire the weakest and most vulnerable units."

The fact is that a 160 acre farm, operated with tools and techniques of years gone by, can no longer satisfy the living-standard desires of today's farm family. That's why the successful farmers are having to expand their acreage in addition to investing in the latest mechanical implements and chemical aids. The successful farmer also must keep in touch with new developments in seeds, cultivation methods, irrigation possibilities — in other words with the advancing science of agriculture. Otherwise he simply cannot compete in the food and fiber market, and he must be satisfied with a subsistence or find a better, non-farming occupation.

End Government Supports

The CED program is designed to withdraw all forms of Government price supports, acreage allotments and market controls — gradually as the acreage and manpower is reduced. The CED says the cost of its recommended program "can be expected to be considerable, but probably less than the present—futile—outlays at the outset, but can also be expected to taper off and end, or reach a very low maintenance level."

The American people, everyday citizens, must move in on the present wasteful farm program. With taxpayers being called upon to finance a record $40 billion annual expenditure for the Communist military threat, we must quickly halt the $5 billion outlay which in the long run is helping no one.

Homemaker Says Housewives Are Getting Better Values

Despite the increased costs of foods, Mrs. Homemaker is getting more for her money than in "the good old days." The best proof in this lies in the comparison of the minutes of labor required to buy a food product today with that required a number of years back.

The wages of factory workers give a basis of comparison of 1916 with today.

White bread, one pound, 17 minutes of labor to buy in 1916 but only five today.

Round steak, one pound, 57 minutes in 1916 but only 26 today.

Leg of lamb, one pound, 67 minutes compared to 23 minutes.

Five pounds of potatoes required 31 minutes of labor to buy in 1916, but today only 14 minutes.

And fresh milk only seven minutes of labor today, as compared to 21 minutes in 1916.

The Associated Women of Farm Bureau point out that better nutrition can result if the nation becomes aware that food is a bargain.

If we can't eat more, let's eat better.

One towboat pushing twelve average-size barges on the Mississippi River can carry almost twice as much oil as an ocean-going tanker of 16,000 tons.

ORIOLES OPEN AT HOME NEXT TUESDAY

The Baltimore Orioles inaugurate their fifth season in the American League next Tuesday afternoon when they take on the Washington Senators at 2:05 P.M. at Memorial Stadium. It will be the first time since Baltimore rejoined the junior circuit in 1954 that the Birds have played their first game at home.

Oriole fans will have an opportunity that day to welcome back such old favorites as Billy Gardner, Gus Triandos, Bob Nieman, Willy Miranda, Bob Boyd, Connie Johnson, Billy O'Dell, George Zuverink and others.

Also on hand will be two veterans who returned early this month to don Oriole uniforms. Outfielders Gene Woodling and Dick Williams, both of whom played for the Birds in former years, rejoined the Baltimore club April 1, along with southpaw Bud Daley, when Manager Paul Richards dealt Larry Doby and Don Ferrarese to Cleveland. The pair have both expressed sincere delight over their return to Baltimore and are expected to fill key roles in the Oriole picture this year.

Bird fans will also have their first opportunity to see veterans Jack Harshman and Foster Castleman in action for the Orioles. Harshman came to Baltimore last winter from the White Sox while Castleman, a sure-handed shortstop, was acquired from the Giants last March.

A few rookies are expected to be on hand for opening day in Baltimore. Jim Marshall, a first baseman, and Bert Hamric, drafted from the Los Angeles Dodgers organization last winter, are both making strong bids to land jobs with the Orioles this summer. Rookie shortstop Ron Hansen, only 19 years old, may well nail down a steady job with the Birds this year.

Manager Paul Richards' crew can look forward to playing 20 of its first 27 games of the season in Memorial Stadium and Oriole fans will have an opportunity to see every team in the American League by the time the Birds embark on their first western trip May 12.

The Orioles and the Senators will meet in a night game on Thursday evening, April 17 after an off-day. Following brief visits to New York, Washington, and Boston, the Orioles return home on Friday evening, April 25 to open an 18-game home stand.

The Orioles will square off against the American League champion New York Yankees on Friday evening, the 25th, and the Bronx Bombers will also be in town on Saturday afternoon as well as Sunday, the 27th, for a doubleheader.

Following an off-day April 28, the Orioles will meet the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, Kansas City A's, and the Boston Red Sox. The home stand features doubleheaders on Sunday, May 4, between the Orioles and the Tigers and on Sunday, May 11, between the Birds and the Red Sox.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

This spring, as every spring, a troublesome epidemic will sweep across the land, says outdoor writer Erwin A. Bauer in the March issue of Sports Afield Magazine.

It's sure to affect far more citizens than the recent Asian flu. Call it "cabin fever", if you like, but by any name it's simply a nagging virus that stirs anglers from their winter hibernation. Perhaps it's the same virus that starts fish moving and migrating around the country. That these events happen simultaneously is no coincidence.

March is the time, for example, when the jumbo shovelhead catfish become restless beneath such giant hydro-electric dams as Pickwick on the Tennessee River. It's also the time when anglers can catch scores of sheepshead, of fresh-water drum, as they crowd up the Sandusky or Maumee rivers from western Lake Erie. This is the month for the first farm-pond bluegills, even if patches of snow still linger on the banks. And it's also the time when archers everywhere can think in terms of carp and gars and bowfins, which are just then drifting into shallow places to spawn. Elsewhere everything from paddlefish to pickerel will be active.

These are merely isolated instances, however, of red-hot fishing on blue-cool, early spring days. Actually, much of America's finest fishing occurs or begins at this time—either as soon as the ice breaks up or the law allows it. There must be no mistaking it, though this isn't always the most comfortable fishing of the year. But it surely rates with the most lively. And nowadays no angler, no matter where he lives, is far away from this premium sport.

One thing is for certain, the angler who waits for warm weather invariably misses a world of sport. Early fishing may not be as comfortable as balmy June weather, but it can be a whale of a lot more productive, and it's generally a lot easier. That makes early-season prospects good — in the true angler's book anyway.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read John 14:1-7.

"And when I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also." (John 14:3. RSV.)

A Minister friend was conducting a revival far from home, when he received this brief telegram from his sister: "Daddy with Christ, 10:30 a. m. Thursday." Their beloved father had left them for another world, but there was no feeling of regret or doubt, only the affirmation of victory.

This simple message expresses features of the Christian belief in the immortality of the soul. It affirms that those who live in Christ never really die, but live on after this present life. We have this promise from Jesus' own lips: "Whoever lives and believes in me shall never die."

The message contained in the telegram affirms also that when we leave this world we do not go to some strange, foreign place. We go to be with Christ. Did not the resurrected and living Lord say He would go to prepare a place that where He is there we may be also?

Prayer

Our Father, we humble ourselves in prayer before Thee. By Thy grace, enable us, we beseech Thee, so to live in Christ here that we will find ourselves at home with Him in the life to come. This we ask of Thee, our Father almighty, through Jesus Christ, Thy Son and Redeemer. Amen.

Thought For The Day

To be alive forever is to be with Christ.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—I am hopeful that the Senate-House conferees on the bill providing increases for retired Federal employees will work out a compromise that is more favorable to retirees than the recently passed House bill.

I tried on the floor of the House to amend the House bill so that it included the more favorable provisions of the Senate-passed measure. I think the action of the majority in the House in insisting on the prohibition on earning more than $1200 in private employment is particularly unfair, especially for those who must implement their meager incomes.

I am particularly pleased to report that Congress has passed and sent to the White House legislation transferring the remaining Government employee beneficial associations to the Civil Service System. This is the legislation we fought to have passed last year.

The Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, has reported a bill which will clarify the ruling in Federal courts dealing with the admissibility of voluntary confessions and the length of time a prisoner may be held before arraignment. The so-called Malloy decision which dealt with a specific case has been interpreted by the police and judges in such a way as to greatly interfere with arrest and judicial procedures.

The Committee bill provides that mere delay in committing a person will not in itself invalidate a confession. It also requires the police to tell an arrested individual before questioning that he need not talk to them at all if he doesn't want to and that if he does anything he says can be used against him.

My Judiciary Committee is also debating the bill to bring baseball, football, and hockey under the antitrust laws with certain limitations. These laws are designed to regulate commerce in trade and industry. Sports have no more place under them than do labor organizations. In fact, I believe that if sports require regulation it should be done by new legislation.

The Joint Committee on Washington Metropolitan Problems will begin hearings April 22 on Potomac River water problems of metropolitan significance.

Specialist Ferguson is regularly assigned as a clerk in the 551st Antiaircraft Artillery Missile Battalion's Headquarters Battery in Van Nuys, Calif. He entered the Army in September 1956 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

The 21-year-old soldier is a 1954 graduate of Thurmont High School and was employed by Western Union Telegraph Company, Hanover, Pa., in civilian life.

Baltimore Raceway Names New Track Superintendent

BALTIMORE—In keeping with its program of greater expansion, Baltimore Raceway this week appointed George Ritter, a life-long resident of nearby Baltimore, as the new track superintendent for its 24-night pari-mutuel harness meet which opens on June 30.

Announcement of the selection of the 35-year-old Ritter, who lives at 1015 Race Road, was made by General Manager M. Joseph Lynch. High indorsement of Ritter's work also came from members of the board of directors.

Ritter, who has served as the plant superintendent for the past six years, succeeds Ted Ketcham of Minneapolis. Reared within hailing distance of the Baltimore layout, Ritter was selected because of his complete familiarity with every aspect and with all conditions of the race track, Lynch stated.

"We are delighted to have Ritter serve in this most important post as well as continue his duties as plant superintendent," Manager Lynch said.

"Ritter's work since joining our ranks in 1952 has been commendable. He has wide experience in this line, having served as assistant under Claude Drake for two years, and for one year under Ketcham here. All of us realize the importance of grooming a race track and keeping it razor-edge sharp during the meet."

The new track chief is extremely popular with the owners, trainers, drivers and grooms who annually bring their horses to Baltimore. And it is no secret that Ritter played an important role in helping to make the track red hot last July when Adios Harry, the world's fastest harness horse, established a new Maryland record of 1:59 4/5 in the third leg of the Triple Crown. It was the first time two minutes had been broken on a harness track in the state.

By way of gearing Ritter for his new assignment, Baltimore Raceway sent him to Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L. I., where he spent three weeks under the guidance of Paul (Tex) Tankersley, generally regarded as the foremost track expert in the world today.

Roosevelt's track, part of the $2,000,000 layout, is considered the model for well constructed harness ovals, and from Tankersley, former army major who built bridges and airstrips over in the Pacific during World War II, Ritter learned much to provide a safe, all-weather dependable and fast strip for the Raceway this season. It was Tankersley who recently completed work on the new harness track at Rockingham Park, New Hampshire, and who was chief consultant in the rebuilding of Brandywine Raceway's all-weather oval at Wilmington, Del., a few years ago. He also designed the new $2,500,000 Monticello (N. Y.) Raceway oval.

In 1955, the nation's 10.6 million trucks paid over 722 million dollars in state gasoline taxes.

Domestic Workers' Reports Are Due

Social Security reports on domestic workers for the January-March quarter are due in the month of April, W. S. King, Manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Office announced this week.

Under present law, most domestic employees, such as gardeners, cooks, maids, and housekeepers, are covered under social security. Employers of these and other household workers must report the cash wages paid and remit the social security tax of 4 1/2 per cent of the employee's wages. In cases where the domestic employee has earned less than $50 cash in the quarter, the employer does not have to make a report.

Mr. King stressed the point that these wage reports are extremely important to the domestic employee, since old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits under social security are figured on the basis of the amount of earnings credited to a person's account.

The form used in making the return on household employees requires only a few minutes to complete and may be obtained from the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue in Hagerstown.

It has been estimated that accurate long-range weather forecasting could save the oil industry up to $100 million a year.

White muscle disease, muscular dystrophy, in calves, begins to appear in January with incidence of the disease rising to peak in April and May, veterinary medical authorities report.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Middle East Oil

BABSON PARK, Mass., Apr. 10—Usually I do not comment at length on foreign affairs.

However, recent developments in the Middle East could have far-reaching effects upon U. S. business. Therefore, I think readers may be helped to know my reaction to these happenings.

Nasser's Stock Is Rising The formation of the United Arab Republic, consisting of Egypt, Syria and, eventually, Yemen, is a feather in the cap of President Nasser of Egypt. It will enhance his bargaining power with both East and West. The new Republic is born of the traditional Arab hostility to the State of Israel and of Nasser's fear of the power of the feudal Arab Kings of Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Jordan.

This new Union means that Nasser may have nearly absolute power over both Egypt and Syria and perhaps over Yemen as well. It means that he can exercise a greater control over shipments of oil and other goods through the Suez Canal and that he can stop, at will if it becomes desirable, the flow of oil through Syrian pipelines to the West.

Will There Be A Single Arab Oil Empire? Many observers believe Nasser's dream is to create a united Arab oil empire. To do this, the Egyptian leader must break the power of the feudal Arab Kings. Nasser is still a popular figure in the Arab world. He has tangled with Israel, Great Britain, and France and come out fairly well. Although he has not been able to better the lot of the average Egyptian, he has captured the imagination of the masses. It is just possible that he may break the power of the Arab Kings and effect, for a time at least, a single federation of all the Arab states. This would be due to their common interests in oil and their common fear of the State of Israel.

However, for the moment, Nasser's dreams of an oil empire have been jolted by Iraq and Jordan, whose Kings have proclaimed a separate Arab Federation. To such it is possible that King Saud of Saudi Arabia may eventually adhere. In agreeing to form this federation with Jordan, Iraq may defect the Baghdad Pact which binds here to the West.

No Early Stability In The Middle East Nasser will drive hard bargains with European and American oil interests operating in those areas over which he can exercise some control. During the next few years, tensions in Arab lands will be high. The flow of oil to Europe may again be cut off or be slowed to a trickle. Certainly, it will cost more!

There will be no early stability in the Middle East. The two chief Arab factions will jockey for positions, versus each other and Israel. If Nasser should come out on top in his struggle with other Arab interests currently resisting his climb to power, he could become a most important oil dictator. However, much will depend upon how long it takes the world to develop an economically feasible means of harnessing nuclear power. I forecast that we will sometime find a cheap way to produce power through fusion, or through harnessing gravity. Then Nasser's, or his successor's power, based on control of strategic oil supplies, could vanish.

Egypt Could Be A Rich Land Studies show that Egypt's soil contains elements which would favor vegetation if only her fields could receive sufficient irrigation. Unlike European countries and much of our own farm land, Egyptian topsoil is still intact and the life-bearing minerals remain in her good earth. On the other hand, her people are very ignorant and poor.

Some day, Egypt will have her Aswan dam and other vast irrigation projects which will assure her sufficient water for good farming; but there first must come an entire change in her people's character. They are not yet using properly the water now available. Only then can the now arid lands of her great deserts bloom. I forecast, however, that the time will come when Egypt can be a most important country, but this is many years ahead. Don't now buy Egyptian land. Readers are justified in investing a reasonable amount in oils; but let us confine such investments to companies which do not depend too much on the Middle East. Furthermore, electric power will someday take "house heating" away from the oil companies.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry University of Wisconsin

Salt For Sheep

Salt serves many purposes in the ration and management of sheep. Because sheep, like most other animals, crave salt and will consume a remarkably consistent amount each day, salt is often used as the carrier for needed medicines, such as phenothiazine, and trace minerals such as iodine, cobalt, copper and others.

Besides meeting the physiological need for sodium and chlorine and serving as carrier for other substances, salt blocks are often spotted throughout the pastures to control and distribute the grazing pressures more uniformly.

The fact that sheep are able to excrete excessive amounts of salt from their bodies readily and still have a limit to the amount they will consume per day makes it possible to use salt as a regulator of protein supplement intake. This makes it possible to self-feed protein to ewes on rangelands and regulate the amount of protein eaten per head daily by increasing or decreasing the proportion of salt in the mixture.

By mixing one part granulated salt to two or three parts of soybean oil meal, you can limit the soybean oil meal consumption to about 0.2 pound per ewe daily. This self-feeding system minimizes the amount of labor and equipment required to feed ewes and lambs and assures more uniform intake of the protein supplement since it prevents the stronger ewes from getting more than their share of the feed while the smaller, weaker ewes are being crowded out. When self-feeding in this way, it is absolutely essential that an adequate supply of water be available to the sheep at all times.

Recent studies show another sheep benefit from salt — the control of urinary calculi. After having trouble with urinary calculi in experimental lambs, Dr. T. D. Bell of Kansas State College included about 5 per cent salt in creep rations and lost no more lambs. Tests at the State College of Washington and at Colorado confirm that force-feeding salt to lambs is the most promising remedy for urinary calculi.

Question: What can be done about internal parasites in sheep?

Answer: For practical purposes the use of drugs and good rations are necessary to keep parasite infestation at a low level. Stomach worms can be controlled by drenching with phenothiazine before lambs go on pasture. A mixture of one part phenothiazine to 9 or 10 parts salt will provide continuous control of stomach worms during the summer months. If sheep will not eat much of this mixture, a mineral mix of 50 per cent trace mineralized salt and 50 per cent steamed bonemeal should be given periodically to avoid salt and mineral deficiencies. Phenothiazine will not control tapeworms. Lead arsenate or Di-Phentane 70 will control this pest.

Tax Collector Explains Storm Damage Deductions

C. I. Fox, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, said today many inquiries concerning casualty losses from fire, storm, shipwreck and the like are flooding the Internal Revenue office.

Taxpayers having such losses prior to December 31, 1957 would be permitted the deduction on their 1957 income tax returns. Casualty losses after January 1st, 1958, such as those incurred during the recent snow storms, would be deductible on their 1958 income tax returns. Mr. Fox reminded taxpayers that the losses must be taken in the year in which they occur.

The deduction applies to storm losses sustained on non-business property such as residences, as well as on business property.

A deduction is allowed only for losses for property owned by the taxpayer. He cannot deduct, for example, expenses for personal injuries, temporary lights, fuel, moving, or rentals for temporary quarters. The amount of the loss is the excess of the value of the property immediately before the casualty over its value immediately after the casualty, but may not exceed the cost or other adjusted basis of the property. The amount of the loss is then reduced by any insurance or other recovery realized to determine the amount of the loss which is deductible. While costs of repairs, restoration, or cleaning up or removing debris cannot be used as a measure of the loss, the "value immediately after the casualty" means the value before the property is repaired, restored, or cleaned up. Sentimental values are not considered. The basis of the property should be adjusted for the purpose of determining any gain which might be realized upon subsequent disposition or for other purposes.

In case of destruction or damage to shade or ornamental trees or shrubs on residential property, an injury to the realty results which may or may not be the equivalent of the value of the particular trees or shrubs. When trees or shrubs are planted, they become part of the real property and have no value for income tax purposes, except as their is represented in the value of the real property. Therefore, the casualty loss, as in other cases, is the difference in value of the entire realty before and after the casualty, limited to the costs or adjusted basis and reduced by any insurance or other recovery realized.

The burden of proof is upon the taxpayer to substantiate the amount of a casualty loss. He should be prepared to submit evidence showing: (a) The nature of the casualty and when it occurred; (b) That the loss was the direct result of the casualty; (c) That he is the owner of the property; (d) The cost or other adjusted basis of the property, evidenced by purchase contract, deed, etc.; improvements should be supported by checks, receipts, etc.; (e) Depreciation allowed or allowable, if any; (f) Values before and after casualty; (pictures and appraisals before and after casualty are pertinent evidence); (g) The amount of insurance or other compensation received.

Once the amount of a casualty loss of property used for personal purposes has been determined, it may be deducted, generally, provided the taxpayer itemizes his deductions on page 3 of Form 1040. If the taxpayer uses Form 1040A or elects to use the standard deduction or determines his tax liability from the use of the taxable, he may not deduct his casualty loss, inasmuch as an amount in lieu of that deduction and other nonbusiness deductions has been worked into the taxable and the standard deduction. Casualty losses of business property or property used for the production of income are computed differently from losses of property used for personal purposes and are treated separately. Persons who have specific questions may call PLaza 2-8460. Ask for Tax Information Service. Director Fox urged taxpayers who had difficulties in the recent snow storms to retain this article for future reference. It will be helpful in the preparation of their 1958 Federal income tax returns.

School Curriculum Being Studied By Many Groups

The Frederick County Curriculum Study has been under way since January of this year. Every parent-teacher organization in the county was invited to send a representative. Many other representative organizations in Frederick County also were asked to participate. There are currently 33 Parent-Teacher Associations and 19 other organizations, plus a few members at large who are serving as representatives in this study.

Organizations in addition to the Parent-Teacher Associations are the following: High School Principals' Association, Elementary Principals' Association, Frederick County Teachers Association, Frederick County PTA Council, American Association of University Women, Frederick Co. Citizens Committee, Farm Bureau, Grange, Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Scientific Research Society of America, Ministerial Association, Medical Association, Homemakers, Council of Civic and Service Organizations, Junior Womans' Club, County Planning and Zoning Commission, Frederick County Health Council and Retarded Children's Assn.

Many meetings have been held since January to plan for specific actions of the committee. The members of the administrative staff of the Board of Education have made their services available as consultants. Some outside speakers have addressed the group and other outside consultants will be invited from time to time as the study progresses.

At a recent meeting of the committee the following actions were taken: 1) Special subcommittees were organized to study the various curriculum areas; 2) a steering committee was set up to coordinate the efforts of these subcommittees; 3) Dr. J. V. Atanasiou, representing the Chamber of Commerce, was elected chairman of the Curriculum Committee.
