Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Emmitsburg is fast gaining national recognition and prestige by a number of developments which have transpired here recently. One of the foremost naturally, is the coming visit of the President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, in June. Unquestionably this will give the town the largest measure of good publicity, and with members of all faiths. To have the nation's leading citizen visit us is a real social triumph. Another accomplishment which will, in a matter of time, be a stupendous drawing card and will familiarize thousands of out-of-towners with our little community, is the recent privilege extended Mt. St. Mary's College to grant indulgences for visits to its famous Grotto, an exact replica of the original Lady of Lourdes Grotto in France. Already over three thousand pilgrims have visited the shrine this year and it is understood that before the year is terminated over 10,000 will have made a pilgrimage to the spot located just a short distance in the rear of the college, the second oldest Catholic institution of learning in the nation. Imagine, nearly 15,000 visitors here in the first year that the privilege has been extended. Just as soon as the word really gets around it is anticipated this figure will be multiplied many times over. In addition to these two outstanding avenues of publicity the canonization of Mother Seton is in an anticipatory stage and may happen within the next few years. This possibly would be the biggest thing ever to come our way. The tomb of a saint would draw possibly millions of pilgrims to our fair town. Many of us living here all our lives never have availed ourselves of the opportunity to visit the Grotto. Now there is a macadam road to the shrine and it can be reached quickly and easily and we owe it to ourselves to view in our own backyard what thousands of outsiders travel many miles to see.

Call it a tough break or anything you want, but it has been costing a local family a lot of sleep lately. What I am referring to is the phone number of Toss Shorb who has been spending sleepless nights recently. It seems as though Toss has the same phone number of the Thurmont Police Dept., 2121. This number is printed on the cover of the local phone directory and has confused quite a number of individuals, Toss advises belligerently. On one night recently he advises us that he received at least five phone calls during the dead of night. This is enough to try the patience of Job, so folks please make certain that you dial the right number when you are seeking police aid and let Toss and his little wife get some slumber.

Tuesday is election day and the only day the small fellow has a chance to assert his authority. During the interim between elections the average citizen is not heard nor is his opinion respected or cared for. In the main he is completely shoved aside and ignored. However now is the time for him to rise up, speak his little piece and scoot off to the polls for self-satisfaction, or revenge. The government of our state is up for election, as well as two seats in Washington. You have read the advertisements and listened to the speeches, now it's time to make up your mind because this Tuesday is the day. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

MOUNT GLEE CLUB PRESENTS PROF. DIELMAN WORKS

The combined Glee Club and Seminary Schola of Mt. St. Mary's College, presented a musical tribute to Henry Casper Dielman, professor of music at the college from 1843-1882, on Wednesday evening in Flynn Hall. The program was devoted exclusively to musical compositions of the famous Mountaineer teacher, the first to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Music from Georgetown University in 1849.

Soloist for the occasion was Frank Vogel, a student at the Catholic University of America. Vogel had extensive solo experience as tenor lead with the Montgomery Light Opera Association and other groups in and around Washington, D. C. He had also appeared as a soloist in numerous musical productions in his native Baltimore.

The Dielman program was as follows: Pianoforte works: Saint John's Grand March, composed for the United States Catholic Magazine (1845); Saint Joseph's Distribution March, performed by the Young Ladies of the Academy to whom it is respectfully dedicated by the author, 1875.

Choral work: New Christmas hymn, written by Rev. Dr. John McCaffrey, former president of Mt. St. Mary's. Music by Dr. Dielman, published in 1852, the College Glee Club with James Kleindienst, soloist; Frank DeFlippo and Gerald Guinn, trumpeters.

Secular songs: Mountain Song (1847); St. Patrick's Hymn; Hymn to the Blessed Virgin Mary; The Sisters, from Mrs. Hemans poems; The Music of Yesterday (1846), words by Mrs. Hemans; Hark, 'Tis the Breeze (1848), words by Thomas Moore; Oh, Watch You Well by Daylight, words by Samuel Lover (this song is founded on the Irish legend that there is no need of watch in darkness for "angels then are near"); To A Child At Play, words by Mary Meany, Frank Vogel Jr., soloist.

Religious works: Masses for three voices, Kyrie, Sanctus, Agnus Dei, composed and dedicated to the Rev. John McCloskey by Dr. Henry Dielman, 1853, by the Seminary Schola Cantorum with John Lipinski, Clair Redding and Harry Flynn, soloists; Veni Creator Spiritus (1853), the combined chorus.

Paul Jenkins was the organist and William Hartgen and Owen Mullen were the pianists. The concert was under the direction of the Rev. David W. Shaum, professor of music. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, P.A., opened the program with the greetings of the college.

Mrs. Walter Peppler who has been wintering in Florida, has returned to her home here to spend the summer.

Glee Club Waxes Popular Hits

Mount St. Mary's College Glee Club announces the release of a number of popular hit recordings which are now available to the public. The tunes were waxed on 10-inch long-playing hi-fi discs and may be obtained by phoning the Glee Club director, Rev. Fr. David W. Shaum, HI. 7-3311. This year's glee organization has been rated by music critics as one of the most outstanding organizations in the history of the local college.

VIGILANT HOSE CO. HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

John J. Hollinger was elected president of the Vigilant Hose Co. Tuesday night at the regular meeting and annual election of the Vigilant Hose Co. held in the Fire Hall. Mr. Hollinger had completed the unexpired term of the late president, Herbert W. "Shep" Rogger.

Aside from the presidency, these officers were also elected: Vice president, Guy A. Baker Sr.; secretary, J. Edward Houck; treasurer, Guy R. McLaughlin; chief, John S. Hollinger; first assistant chief, Sterling White; second assistant, Charles F. Stouter and directors, Guy A. Baker Jr. and Carroll Eyster.

Guy R. McLaughlin, chairman of the annual financial drive now in progress, reported that contributions to date were very satisfactory but that a number still haven't as yet mailed in their donations. Door-to-door solicitation has been started and in the near future the entire community will be canvassed.

One new member, John Law, was voted into the organization, as a social member, and the application for membership from Louis Orndorff was received. Fire Chief John S. Hollinger announced that regular drill practice would be held Tuesday evening at 7 p. m.

Urges Voters To Support Foley

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

We Democrats of Maryland's sixth congressional district have a wonderful opportunity before us. In November we can give the people of Western Maryland the intelligent, thoughtful, and liberal congressional representation they have not had for too many years. After surveying the circumstances carefully, it seems to me that only one of the several fine Democratic candidates for Congress has a real chance of accomplishing this: Judge John Foley of Rockville. Only Foley can defeat the present Republican incumbent who by his callous and totally undistinguished record deserves to be retired. Only Foley knows the people and their needs in every nook and cranny of Western Maryland. Of all the candidates, only Foley has polled the largest number of votes (almost 85,000) ever received by a Democratic candidate for Congress in the 6th District. Without in any way detracting from the caliber of the other candidates the hard facts of the matter are simple. Montgomery Co. with its great population centers is crucial. Victory in the fall hinges on a huge Democratic vote there. Foley polled more than 46,000 votes there in 1956 running thousands ahead of the national ticket. It is clear to me that only he is capable of doing that again in 1958. On Tuesday, Democrats must select the man most capable of defeating Mr. Hyde in November. Clearly that man is Foley.

Mount Grotto Draws Thousands Here

Several thousands of pilgrims from all parts of the United States and Canada have visited the Grotto of Our Lady on the mountainside above Mount Saint Mary's College and Seminary since the announcement of the granting of the special indulgences by the Sacred Penitentiary at Rome in which this Apostolic Tribunal grants indulgences in favor of the faithful who visit the Grotto on the grounds of the college and there recite the Hail Mary, together with the invocation "O Mary, Virgin and Mother of God, pray to Jesus for me."

A partial indulgence of 500 days may be gained each time that a visit is made and the prayers recited with a contrite heart. A plenary indulgence may be gained once a month under the usual conditions, provided a visit is made and the prayers recited every day during the month.

May Devotions are held every day during the week at the Grotto. The seminarians of the college lead in the recitation of the Rosary while climbing the hill along with the collegians and the people living in the vicinity of the college. Benediction is given at the Grotto daily at 4:45 p. m. Hymns and litany of Our Lady also are sung and recited.

Because of the large number of tourists visiting the Grotto, the Frederick County Commissioners rebuilt and paved the road to the entrance of the shrine. The college authorities removed a number of trees on the site of the "Old Church on the Hill" so that now ample parking space is provided for both automobiles and buses. A large directional sign to the Grotto has been placed by the college on U. S. Rt. 15.

Extensive renovations have been made at the Grotto. Flagstone has been laid in the cave of the shrine and immediately along the path to the waterfalls and the stone bridge; a rustic native stone altar erected in the cave; the chapel has been repointed and the interior replastered and painted.

This year, 1958, marks both the 100th anniversary of the apparition of Our Lady at Lourdes and the 150th anniversary of the founding of Mt. St. Mary's College in 1808 by Father John DuBois. The Grotto on the mountainside and the chapel erected nearby, are rich in local history and tradition, for it was here that Father DuBois first had his vision of founding the college.

Wearied after a hard day in dispatch of his parish duties, Father DuBois was attracted by a light on the mountainside, and thinking it a settler's residence, hoped to find food and rest. Unable to find any building, he stopped on the hillside to rest himself beside a mountain brook.

As his thoughts wandered far afield, Father DuBois idly shaped a few twigs into a cross. Rising to leave, he first placed the cross in the crotch of the lowest tree. This tree in its decadence, was later the original Grotto — one of the oldest such in the United States.

Storm Outstanding, Chairman Says

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Edward D. Storm is eminently qualified to represent the Sixth Congressional District in Congress. He is the only native born Marylander in the congressional race. More than this, however, he is a native-born Frederick countian.

We of the Emmitsburg District know Ed Storm well. He is more than a friend and counsellor; he is an invaluable asset to our community, County and State. We can not in sincerely good conscience, support anyone else but Edward D. Storm for Congress. Vote for Ed Storm in the Democratic Primary on Tues., May 20.

Democratic Central Committee chairman, Emmitsburg District.

Locals Meet Blue Ridge Here Sunday

Emmitsburg will open the season at home this Sunday when they meet Blue Ridge Summit at Community Field. The team this year is piloted by Jack Rosensteel. It is composed of all local talent and promises to be one of the most representative teams to be fielded locally in recent years. Due to adverse weather conditions it has been necessary to postpone games for the first three weeks. Last Sunday's game was made up Tuesday evening when the locals dropped a 12-3 verdict at Cashtown in a game abbreviated by darkness. Dates for the other postponed games will be published as soon as they are available from the league officials.

Tuesday's Game

Emmitsburg's entry in the Penn-Mar league officially opened its season Tuesday evening at Cashtown in a postponed game of Sunday, May 11. Darkness prevented the locals from bringing home a victory, the game being called in the top of the sixth inning. The locals, playing with a few injured players and without some of the regulars, scored in the first inning when they bunched two hits and a force-out for their first run. Dave Warthen, starting pitcher for the locals started in rare form by striking out the leadoff man. Dave then ran into trouble by walking the next two batters and then gave up a single for Cashtown's first run. He walked the next batter to load the bases and appeared to be getting out of a jam when the next batter hit a slow roller along the third base line and Don Little, catcher, scooped the ball and swiped at the man coming in from third, who ducked the tag and scored. Don threw to first and nabbed the batter; if the break at home had been in our favor, a double-play would have resulted and the inning completed. Dave then walked in two men and with two out, Cashtown bunched two hits which scored a total of eight runs before Dave was lifted in favor of Dale Deatherage who threw one pitch and retired the side. Dale pitched hitless ball until the fourth when a couple of errors, two walks and a base hit scored four more runs for Cashtown after two were out. At this point, Francis Cool came in to put out the fire. In the locals' fifth, two runs were scored on two walks and back to back singles and some alert base running. Cashtown was blanked the rest of the way but in the locals' sixth, Cashtown replaced their pitcher and the boys jumped on him for three runs on three walks and two singles by Cool and Ted Topper. Cashtown came in with their third pitcher and he was greeted with the bases full after walking the first man he faced. The final run was scored on a perfect bunt by J. Joy to make the score 12-8 at this point, but the game was called and the score reverted back to the fifth inning and gave Cashtown a shakey and gifted 12-3 victory. It was a great team effort, after only three practice sessions in bad weather.

Chatter-Box

Mike Joy is coming around nicely after his injury while playing with the Mount. Bob (Silky) Wivell played a good game at third, filling in for Gene (Farmer) Long. Bill (Sterby) Sterbinsky and Don (Prof.) Joy couldn't make it for the first game. Tom (Chick's boy) Topper played a bang-up game at short but is a little weak with the stick. Tom is also being counted on for mound work. Wilbur (Zeke) Ridge played two flawless innings at first. Ronnie (Worm) Kelly talked to himself after a nice peg to home failed to nail a Cashtown runner. Ted (Pizza) Topper says he won't try to side-swipe a ball any more, he's going to fall on the next one. Dave (Whip) Warthen is anxious to get another crack at Cashtown. (Continued on Page Two)

Jerry (Hube) Joy says he is going to invest in a pair of sun glasses for the next game at Cashtown. Johnny (Switch) Mort and Paul (Scoop) Clarke will be around Sunday as will Woody (Gyrene) Stoner who is stationed in Philadelphia. Don (Squat) Little said the new catchers glove was okay, but would rather have the one he had last year. Thanks to some vandals, Don won't be able to have it.

This has been some chatter, gathered before and after the first game. From time to time more chatter will be reported which will keep you informed of some of the miscues, improvements, and simple things that a ball club chats about, before, during and after a game. By the way, don't forget Sunday's game at Community Field with Blue Ridge Summit. Game time is 2 p. m.

Writer Back From European Trip Gives Interesting Highlights Of Journey

Miss Hartman reports to the Chronicle readers on her recent trip abroad. Prolog to the Cruise Proper My recent trip abroad was entirely different from the one previously reported to Chronicle readers. That one involved a quick five-day crossing to northern France in a huge ship with several thousand passengers and crewmen followed by a week's stay "on my own in each of six closely situated Western European countries, and an equally swift return voyage. This trip centering for me and twenty-some other passengers around a Mediterranean Cruise, was made in a slower and smaller ship carrying cargo and passengers to various ports scattered from one end of the Mediterranean to the other, and also offering a round-trip voyage from and back to New York that included stops at all these ports with the privilege of land visits there and to other places accessible by passenger car, bus, train, or plane. These visits sometimes involving overnight and longer stays away from the ship, were planned, conducted, and charged for by an outstanding American travel agency and its foreign representatives (I here sound like a travel folder).

It is these extremely varied "Sightseeing Excursions" that I plan to report on especially; but since there was a lot of "sailing," as we still say, between New York and Barcelona, on the north-eastern coast of Spain, where the trips began and ended (return stops, on the way home, being made at this and the two next ports of call), some mention of what went on in those twenty days seems to belong in the story.

For the round-trippers this arrangement was much the same as spending a vacation at a comfortable resort hotel when the weather or some other circumstance prevents going beyond the porches: plenty of time to order and enjoy three fine meals, to engage in a variety of self-chosen relaxations (reading, dozing in a deck-chair, having afternoon tea and cookies, visiting with new-made acquaintances, etc., etc.) and also the planned entertainment that happened to appeal (Bingo, Bridge, horse-racing, dancing, -); much the same, that is, with a very considerable difference. These headquarters were constantly in motion. And from that fact there were two results, one quite interesting, the other scarcely to be described. To mention the latter first, one kind of motion was rather peculiar—the ship seemed to be trying to go two ways at once, it moved uneasily, to say the least, and this uneasiness had a way of communicating itself to the passengers, altho of course not to those who were recognized as "good sailors." But I hasten to add that this sort of motion was only very occasional. The main motion of the Exeter, its smooth steady progress towards a known goal, led, days before the planned sightseeing began, to an introduction to that in a small way, bringing into view, more or less dimly, places—having a real historical interest as well as a part in the present-day world.

There was the glimpse, some 2000 miles and five days away from New York, of the islands in the Atlantic farthest from any continent, the Azores, belonging to Portugal, which began colonizing them in the middle of the 15th century. Of special interest, are they not? as being the last known land to the West before Columbus ventured beyond them. Readers may be reminded of a fine poem on Columbus that mentions the islands in this connection and also another ancient landmark in navigation: Behind him lay the gray Azores, Behind, the Gates of Hercules; Before him not a ghost of shores, Before him only shoreless seas. It was one of the Gates (or Pillars) of Hercules, as the ancients called them, that loomed up on our left as we passed through the strait connecting the Atlantic with the Mediterranean on the eighth evening of our voyage—the huge Rock of Gibraltar. This too carried us back to fairly recent and also more remote times, as we were reminded in the travel notes published by the ship company that the Rock, which is geographically part of Spain, was taken by the British in 1704 after Spain had won it back twice from the Moors, who first occupied it early in the eighth century when they invaded southwest Europe from Africa. When we repassed Gibraltar on the homeward trip we glimpsed the town near the base of the rock and saw clearly a huge brown-looking area (notes say nearly 40 acres) used for collecting rain-water, which is stored in huge reservoir tanks cut in the heart of the rock. A signal station here contacts all ships entering and leaving the Mediterranean and lists them in its log book. The other Pillar originally (these terms are no longer used) was Cape Ceuta, across the Strait from Gibraltar in what is Spanish Morocco. This was not visible, with its ancient fortified city illustrating the history-pattern of much of the western Mediterranean in its long succession of colonizers and conquerors.

Off the east coast of Spain and seen only at a distance as we moved north towards Barcelona were the Balearic Islands, the islands farthest west in the Mediterranean and belonging to Spain. They too had a checkered history of colonization and conquest, in which the Greeks played a part. A number of the passengers seemed familiar with the islands of this group, Ivisia, Mallorca, and Minorca, for many years a favorite resort of Europeans, especially British, say the notes, and also popular with Americans. I have wondered whether any Chronicle readers have been among the visitors.

State Using New Method Of Trimming Grass

This spring and summer the State Roads Commission's maintenance forces of Frederick County will be using a new method of trimming grass on the edges of median strips so that the paint machine may paint a uniform line down the inner edges of the traffic lanes.

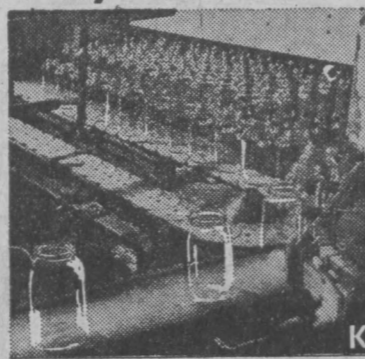

They have taken a disc from an ordinary disc harrow and welded a hub on the disc, drilled so that it can be fastened to the right front wheel of one of their mowers. Then by operating along the edge of the roadway the cutting edge of the disc trims the grass which had grown over the pavement. The grass is then swept clean from the road surface and the paint machine is ready to roll in a true course down the pavement's edge.

Heretofore the operators of the paint machine had difficulty in placing the white line at the edge of the pavement. In some instances the line was as much as a foot from the edge and in other instances it was rather irregular in appearance.

Credit for this improvement in SRC procedure is given by the Roads Commission to the field men who operate the mowing machine, Gilbert C. Gouker, Charles Pearl, Chauffeur Vivian Fawley and Ray Hartman, Frederick County maintenance engineer for the Commission. Thomas G. Mohler is SRC District Engineer for Frederick, Carroll and Howard Counties.

Not every man who studied Latin knows much about it.

Bottles— by the Billion

From the time your milk is delivered, in the morning, to the moment you choose your favorite cheese spread for that midnight snack, you set in motion the wheels that keep some 90 U. S. glass container plants busy at all times.

Shipments of new glass containers now total some 20 billion a year—or about 118 for every man, woman and child in the country. And this figure does not take into account the billions of containers that are re-used (the average milk bottle, for example, makes 31 trips).

Literally thousands of different consumer products are packed in the 20 billion new containers produced annually, according to the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

Glass containers made in today's modern plants are better than ever before and provide a versatile and indispensable form of packing for foods, beverages, drugs, cosmetics, and chemicals.

Leapfrogging Wages And Prices

One of the chief reasons for inflation—the diminishing of a dollar's purchasing power—is a continued increase of wages in industry without fully compensating improvement in productivity per man hour worked. And since it is a factor involving the welfare of every American, young and old, we ought to understand it clearly. Let's take a case in point: Every year since 1947 the wage rate in the automobile industry has advanced. In 1948 the average hourly earnings were $1.60. In 1949 it was $1.70, and it has gone up an average of 10c an hour each year since then.

The average now is $2.50 an hour. Many workers make considerably more. Some make less. The wage increase of all auto workers averaged 56% for the 10 year period just ended. The cost of labor to the auto manufacturers must also include "fringe" benefits which have been substantially increased in the same period.

Labor 80%
A few years ago I had an analysis made of the selling price of a $1500 automobile. It was found that direct and indirect labor costs added up to approximately $1200, or 80% of the selling price. Raw materials in this $1500 car of a few years ago were actually valued at only $22 in their raw state—without the addition of labor costs in producing, processing, transporting and marketing.

The wage hikes at the auto plants, and at their suppliers, have not permitted the auto industry to pass along to the buying public the normal consumer benefits from increased productivity. In the 10 years that wages rose 56%, the manufacturer's price of automobiles soared from $1100 to approximately $1900, on the average.

And the local delivery price of cars went up correspondingly. The manufacturers haven't gotten rich at these prices. The average profit on each dollar of sales in American industry is under 4%. That rate will barely keep investment money coming for the expansions and production improvements necessary to compete in the market. The U. S. News & World Report investigated the profit situation and said in its April 25 issue: "The total amount of all profit included in the price of a car is actually less today than in 1948."

Union Man Speaks
Harold J. Ruttenberg, a former labor union research director, and now president of his own well drilling equipment company, has made some penetrating and important observations concerning wage raises and inflation in a speech delivered to the National Industrial Conference Board and reprinted in the May issue of Reader's Digest. He speaks as a man who once was intimate with such labor associates as Philip Murray.

"During the 1930's," he said, "when wage inequities were being eliminated, working conditions modernized, wages raised and hours shortened, I asked my elders in the labor movement a simple question: 'What do we do when these failings of management have been corrected?' The answer was direct, simple and continues as union policy to this day: 'We shall keep right on asking for more. Our job is to get as much for our members as we can squeeze out of the companies. It is an easy job, once we get a new and better contract, we have no further responsibility. It is entirely up to management to find the means to pay the rising wage bill every year.'"

Destructive Policy

This is a philosophy which, if backed by wrong-headed laws and continued, could ruin our great record of progress benefiting all Americans. Mr. Ruttenberg says: "This program, of more pay for less work, already obsolete in the late 1940's, is today untenable. . . . Each time wage increases not justified by productivity are followed by price rises, the unions are plundering every American who lives on a fixed income; that is, all the millions who do not enjoy the privilege of having the increases in their cost of living automatically covered by cost-of-living wage increases."

Most people are a little smarter than they seem.

"More than a decade ago I felt that unless the unions' program was modernized, the labor movement would become the victim of the sterile, intellectually bankrupting influence of its own power. And so it has come to pass!" Mr. Ruttenberg says industrial leaders should propose the following: (1) to pay higher wages for more production; (2) to provide maximum capital for equipment to increase production; (3) to organize practical means for all employees to cooperate with management to increase production; (4) to train and re-train employees as automation advances; (5) to endeavor to keep productivity mounting, and thus keep pay benefits improving year after year.

You know, too, that Senator Goldstein, native of Calvert County, is a long-time farmers' friend. Understanding the problems of agriculture as well as any man in political life, it has been the custom of "Louie," as he is affectionately known to many, to take a firm stand on any issue and stick by it until he sees it through. It is not our purpose to advise our readers how to vote—that is every freedom-loving man's, and woman's privilege—but we do not feel it amiss to remind you that Senate President Goldstein is, and has long been, an advocate of what is best for the greatest number of Maryland's citizens, rural as well as urban, and to add a note of gratification that a man of such calibre will be running for state-wide office in the near future.

YOU and your DOG

"A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness." Those are the words of Senator Vest's famed "Tribute to a Dog" delivered in a Warrensburg, Mo., courtroom in 1870.

It's only fair that man take care of his "best friend" properly. To do the job, every dog owner ought to have handy an authoritative, up-to-date reference work. There are numerous good books on the subject in a wide variety of prices—or even free.

A good free booklet is the well-known Sergeant's Dog Book, which has been completely revised with the most up-to-date information and illustrations. The attractive 40-page booklet in color is crammed with valuable information on canine care and training.

For a free copy, ask at the drug store or pet shop or write to: Sergeant's Dog Care Center, Richmond 20, Va.

Subjects covered include: house-breaking, feeding, grooming, fleas, ticks, and other parasites. The book contains the complete speech by Senator Vest. There is even a small section on cats.

MEDITATION

Read 1 Corinthians 15:50-58. Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord. (1 Corinthians 15:58.)

God's physical laws are unchangeable. If we plant good seeds in the soil that is prepared for them and they are given the necessary moisture, the seeds will sprout. If we keep the weeds out, and the young plants continue to receive moisture and sunshine, in due time they will bear fruit.

God's spiritual laws are unchangeable. God uses us to plant His Word, the spiritual seed. By our Christian witness, we prepare the soil. We water it with Christian service and lend it the warmth of intercessory prayer. In due time it bears fruit in the lives that are won to Christ and His way of life.

If the spiritual seeds we plant are good and are tended well, God gives us the increase in the form of world-wide Christian fellowship.

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Discusses
Hedges Against Inflation
BABSON PARK, Mass., May 15—Because of the increased government expenditures for missiles, etc., there is much talk about more inflation coming. If Congress would accept the recommendations of the Hoover Commission, there would be no need of increasing the budget. We could save enough on unnecessary and wasteful spending to offset any increase in defense outlays. However, as all the Congressmen are up for reelection this year, there is little chance of their making these recommended savings.

Stocks As A Hedge
The general feeling is that stocks are the best hedge against inflation. Let us look at the record—This talk about inflation started in 1951. Here is what has happened to eight stocks since then. But many readers will say that these are hand-picked. O. K., but let me follow this 1951-1957 list with a more recent one covering twelve other popular stocks with an average 1957 drop of 65%-70%. In fact, the entire stock market declined about 20%. Surely, none of the stocks below would have been good hedges against inflation.

Land As A Hedge

A careful study of different forms of investment teaches me that raw land on dry ground ten miles or less from a small city or town has the best record as an inflation hedge. To secure such at the right price, it should be purchased before it is thought of for lots for development. However, even then, with roads, electricity, water, and sewage, it gives one real security. This may be more important than profit. Such land or small farms just outside a town limit should be excellent hedges.

If you do not want to be bothered with the taxes and care of such land which you do not expect to occupy but are to hold for speculation, your broker will name some land companies whose stocks are listed on a stock exchange. In fact, some railroads are worth more as land companies than as railroads. Some Canadian mining companies with valuable underground deposits of ore should also be good hedges against inflation if bought at low depreciated prices. They are off now about 50%—suffering from the big boom of a few years ago. Cash In The Bank

Personally, I like best now putting my savings in the bank at 3½% interest. Of course, your broker may tell you such bank deposits are poor hedges against inflation. It is true that the purchasing power of a bank account for food, clothing, and shelter will decline as the cost of living increases. Therefore, I would not want to leave my funds in a bank account too long. But such a loss of interest or decline in purchasing power, over a few years, is not notable compared with the possible decline in stock prices during said period.

When people ask me the best fertilizer for an orange grove I always say: "The footprints of the owner." Hence, I believe that the best of all possible land purchases for an inflation hedge is land adjoining what you now own. This you can watch and make more valuable. Of course, you would not buy land anywhere that you did not first see. There is much land "outdoors" and no reader will see anyone get a monopoly of it. In short, I believe inflation is slowly coming as it always has been; but it is nothing to get panicky about.

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION—No votes are registered until you open the curtains. You can therefore make as many changes in your ballot as you wish while the curtains are closed. There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the red handle to the left returns the voted levers to their unvoted position before the curtains begin to open. So leave voting levers down before opening the curtains.
