As had been anticipated the combined Glee Club and Baltimore Symphony Orchestra concert held Wednesday on the Mount campus was a resounding success. The groups played to a packed house and among the audience was a generous representation of local music lovers interspersed with groups from a wide area. The concert was perhaps the highlight of the tenth anniversary observance of the choral group, one which has brought glory and renown to the local college. The occasion must have been a tremendous one for Father David Shaum, the director of the group over the past decade, and unquestionably will be one of his fondest memories for the years to come. He has been successful in developing from a mediocre nucleus, one of the outstanding college glee clubs in the land. Most of the group had the honor of singing before President Eisenhower last June at commencement exercises and their reward was high praise from the Chief Executive. Wednesday night was truly a memorable one for Emmitsburg and those who took advantage to hear the concert will remember it to their dying days. It was the zenith of classical music and art in the history of the town to date and our hearty thanks to Father Shaum and the college for their contribution to the cultural life of our town.

Unemployment is steadily mounting throughout the nation despite the feeling and appearance that everything is okay. The figures to date disclose over five million idle and jobless. This is bound to affect the economy of the nation in more ways than one. The idle have no money to purchase necessary goods and commodities therefore those who are fortunate enough to have employment find it tapering off slowly due to a declining demand by those who are jobless. This also is felt by the businessman who finds he is assessed at a higher rate to take care of the jobless, thereby placing an added burden on himself and causing a curtailment of any expansion plans with uncertainty hanging like a cloud in the air. It's a vicious cycle and one that could be delved into by the columns. Let it suffice to say that we are faced with this unemployment problem right now and should be mapping out plans to offset the situation before it becomes too severe and affects all of us.

On the lighter side of our community life, but still very important to us, is a condition which has been in existence here for a number of years and one which does not necessarily place the entire blame on the individuals mentioned. There are still any number of offenders of our sanitary health laws who are guilty of deliberately dumping their trash along public highways and in some cases, in front of residences. There are quite a number who, in an effort to evade the low charge fee of the garbage man for removal, stealthily make nocturnal journeys to the countryside to deposit a week's accumulation of trash and garbage. However, here is another letter from one of our old friends. It seems to make sense. But let him tell it:

Dear Abigail:
"The Outdoor Writers Association of America has long sponsored the program against the 'litterbugging' of our highways. In most states they have managed to get through legislation making the litterbug subject to a fine for throwing trash from a car. This is excellent—if you can catch the culprits. Most of them have become aware that it gets them nothing to so discard trash, and they are at last trying to cooperate. But a new litterbug menace is upon us—and this is worse than the old."

"Trash pickup service is available to many farmers, including those in the vicinity of Emmitsburg. Many of these farmers and suburban residents burn as much of the material as possible unless windy days make it unsafe. On the prescribed day, open dump trucks gather the debris and whirl from place to place and town to town, with the wind scattering the debris over the countryside."

County Will Improve Old Frederick Road

Reminded that the road is a popular route for President Eisenhower's motorcades between the nation's capital and Gettysburg, the County Roads Board this week promised to move ahead as soon as possible with improvements for the Old Frederick Road in the north county.

Frederick County Commissioners, all three of whom are also members of the roads body, said they feel certain that federal aid funds can be obtained for major work on the road. Meanwhile, the county will push work to improve shoulders along the heavily-traveled highway.

Also members of the board were given an idea of the scope of this year's new construction work on county roads. The roads concerned were among those listed last November when the commissioners released the complete roads program for 1959.

It included projects developed in the course of last year, and those carried over from previous plans.

As a starting group of projects this year, Delbert S. Null, president of the board of commissioners and also head of the roads body, said the county will probably build about 34.8 miles of roads. Approximate cost of the work will be $630,201.

Of the total mileage estimated, 11.72 miles will be put under contract. This, Null explained, will include both federal aid and straight contract jobs.

Work on the Old Frederick Road was the first item discussed after formal opening of the session. A five-man delegation from the Creagerstown area was present to question plans on this particular project.

Members of the delegation were: Roy Fisher, Vernon Fisher, Harold Short, Robert Ogle and Eugene Whitmore.

Null explained to the delegation how the roads department was already seeking Federal aid for general improvement of the Old Frederick Road. However, members of the delegation said they felt the stretch between Creagerstown and the junction with the Lewis-town road should be given top priority attention.

The roads board members agreed to do this, and meanwhile promised to step up repair work on the road's shoulders.

Members of the Creagerstown delegation reminded the board members how presidential motorcades often pass over the Old Frederick Road. They also recalled how, at times, cars in the presidential group had to "hit the dirt" on the edge of the road in order to avoid oncoming traffic.

Edgar G. Emrich, board member representing the north county sections, proposed that work proceed on fixing shoulders along the route while awaiting for official word on the federal aid request. It was indicated that this procedure would be agreeable.

Surprise Party Held

A surprise party was held Saturday evening, February 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Andrew, Emmitsburg, R1, in honor of the nineteenth birthday of their son, Robert. Those attending were his fiancée, Miss Nancy Flabbi, Mrs. Dante Flabbi and daughter, Jeanie and sons, Ernest and Francis, of Thurmont; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Angel and son Jerry, Thurmont; Mr. Charles Donnelly, Catherine Donnelly and sons, Jeffrey and Bruce, Thurmont; Robert Shaffer, also of Thurmont; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Andrew and family, John, Joe, Kenny, Louise, Janet, Thelma and Pam, of Emmitsburg.

Refreshments were served and an enjoyable time was had by all. Robert received many useful gifts.

Baseball Club Will Organize Sunday

The general public is invited and urged to attend a meeting of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. to be held Sunday in the VFW on the Square. A present slate of officers will give a resume of last year's activities and a financial report will be given.

The meeting will start promptly at 2 p. m. and it is hoped that an election of officers and directors can be held. All those interested in the future of local baseball are urged to attend this meeting and to participate in the plans for the new year.

Paul A. Keepers Honored By Local Knights of Columbus

The first annual banquet of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, was a resounding success as evidenced by the 150 members and guests in attendance last Saturday night in the VFW annex.

Lumen F. Norris acted in the capacity of toastmaster and the invocation was said by Fr. James Twomey, C.M., pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Following the introduction of guests by the toastmaster, brief remarks were made by Guy A. Baker, Sr., grand knight of Brute Council.

An outstanding honor was accorded Paul A. Keepers, financial secretary of the council when he was presented with the Knight of the Year Award. Keepers was voted by the members of the council, as the outstanding member of the council during the past year and was presented with an engraved plaque. Father Twomey made the presentation.

Speaker of the evening was the Rt. Reverend William F. Culhane, vice president of Mt. St. Mary's College, who delivered an inspiring and educational talk pertaining to legislation banning the showing of obscene pictures in the state. Following Monsignor Culhane's dissertation, the benediction was given by Fr. Twomey. Upon termination of the evening's program, dancing was held from 9:30 to 12:30 in the annex with music being supplied by a Frederick orchestra.

The meal for the occasion was prepared by Frank Ligarano, head chef at Mt. St. Mary's College.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised Guy A. Baker Jr., Lumen F. Norris, Ray Lauer and Curtis D. Topper.

Church Group Observing Lent

The MYF of Tom's Creek Methodist Church held its regular meeting Sunday evening with 13 members in attendance. The meeting was opened with prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. A collection was taken and treasurer's report given.

Rev. Cameron Johnson was the speaker of the evening and chose as his topic, "Red China." An important fact brought out was that one-third of the world is Russian.

Rev. Johnson announced that a special class, "Lenten Study for Youth on Isaiah," is being held each Sunday evening during the Lenten season at the Thurmont Methodist Church. The group decided to attend these classes, and will meet at Tom's Creek Church at 7 p. m. and proceed to Thurmont.

A committee was appointed to plan a skating party and report on same in the near future.

The MYF is made up of Methodist youth between the ages of 12 and 20.

The 1959 officers of the Tom's Creek Church group are: President, Robert Beale; Vice President, Martha Baumgardner; secretary, Margo Emrich; treasurer, Violet Kefauver; and counselors, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bentz.

The meeting was closed with hymn singing and prayer.

Scouts Attend Church Service

Boy Scout Troop 284 was hospitably received and welcomed by the pastor and congregation of the Methodist Church last Sunday. Twenty-two members of the local troop attended services in the church Sunday. It is the custom of the troop to attend in a body, at least once a year, at local churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Peters and family, Baltimore, were weekend guests at the home of Mrs. Peters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Baker Sr.

Mounties Split Pair Of Contests

An even division of the two games played during the past week was the best the Blue and White cagers of Mt. St. Mary's College could muster. A vastly-improved squad measured Loyola 76-71 last Saturday night at Evergreen Gym, Baltimore, in an overtime session.

The victory lifted the Mountaineers into sixth place in the conference and greatly enhanced their chances to gain the M-D playoffs which are staged between the eight top teams.

Jerry Savage, who wound up with 23 points, led the Mount throughout the game. At half time Coach Jim Phelan's outfit enjoyed a 41-31 lead but the Greyhounds fought back and after nine minutes of the second half pared the lead to 47-46. Savage rammed through three straight goals and Bert Sheing contributed three more as the locals picked up a 59-52 lead.

Four straight goals by Murn, Nieberlein, Sneeringer and John Heagney of the Hounds knotted the score at 62-62 with 3:55 left. With five seconds left Thompson looped a foul to tie the score for the Mount at 67-67.

Jack Marshall made four fouls and a goal in the overtime and Savage added the other three points in the overtime to give the Mountaineers the victory.

Returning to action after the two day lay-off, the Phelamen went down to defeat Tuesday evening when they dropped a hotly-contested tilt to American U., 87-77.

The Mounts established an early 11-9 edge behind Bert Sheing, but when the clock showed 13:13 gone, American's Bill Brummer began to hit with long sets and long outsiders.

Assisted by the rebounding of Dick Wells, the visitors closed the gap within one point. The lead see-sawed back and forth before two consecutive baskets by Willie Jones put the Eagles out in front to stay. The half ended with AU ahead by one point, 37-37.

American led by a narrow margin throughout the second half. The Eagle's margin was secured from the foul line where they netted 25 points as compared to but nine for the local outfit.

Sheing bombed the cords for 26 points while Jerry Savage added 24. Beauchamp, Brummer and Jones netted 22, 21 and 21 for the winners.

The Mount journeyed to Chestertown Thursday evening for a conference game with Washington College.

Lions Club Meets In Regular Session

Despite rain, sleet and snow, 20 members were present at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday night at Fitzgerald's Inn. President Charles F. Stouter presided over the meeting and the reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented by William Strick-houser.

The resignation of Philip B. Sharpe as president of the Emmitsburg Civici Assn., a subordinate body of the Lions Club, was received and accepted. He will be succeeded by Cloyd W. Seiss as president pro tem. Delegates to the annual convention to be held in Atlantic City in June were discussed and tabled for the time being. It is the custom of the group to send at least two delegates to the convention and it is more than likely that in the near future the delegates and alternates will be appointed. A donation of $5 was authorized to the Heart Fund Drive.

The group agreed to sponsor a candidate to the Queen of Hearts contest being sponsored by the New Windsor Lions Club. The contest is scheduled for Saturday night at New Windsor and a number of local Lions plan on attending the event. Miss Shirley Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hahn, was selected to represent Emmitsburg in the contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Hahn and family, Union City, N. J., were weekend visitors here of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elder.

Mrs. Alton Roberts, Baltimore, visited over the weekend with Mrs. Margaret Topper and other relatives in town.

Miss Shirley Stahley, Washington, D. C., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stahley and family.

Local Businessman Observes Opening Anniversary

Francis S. K. Matthews, dean of Emmitsburg businessmen, observed the 49th anniversary of his entry into the local business field here this week. It was back on February 11, 1910 when Francis, then a comparative youngster to the then existing business associates, first opened his doors to the public. Years of prudent business tactics manifest the success which has grown to two modern stores, one in Emmitsburg and another in Thurmont. While mainly dealing in household appliances and bottled gas, at one time he ran a first-rate soft drink and confectionery business as an auxiliary to the main line. This allied line was discontinued about a decade ago. Mr. Matthews' many friends and business associates wish him a happy anniversary and many more years of continued success. Mr. Matthews at one time served on the official board of the town as a Town Commissioner.

President John J. Hollinger presided over the meeting and announced the committees.

Fire Chief John S. Hollinger gave a resume of the month's activities and reported that five calls had been answered during the past month. Barrick Bill Introduced

State Senator Samuel W. Barrick introduced a bill in the State Senate recently to make the December term of Circuit Court in Frederick County a non-jury term.

There are four terms of Circuit Court yearly in the county. The February and September terms have both grand and petit juries. A petit jury is also drawn for the December term but for the May term, the February jury holds over until September.

Mr. Barrick's bill would make the December term the same as the May term as far as no new jury drawing is concerned. The September jury would hold over until the February term. In recent years, few cases have been tried before the December petit jury.

Huge Sum Is Earmarked By Utility For Expansion

A budget of nearly $23 million for expansion of generating, transmission, distribution, and general service facilities has been planned for the four-state area served by the Potomac Edison System.

This figure has been allocated for the three-year period 1959 through 1961. The construction budget calls for an outlay of over seven million dollars during the current year. Budget forecasts for 1960 and 1961 call for expenditures of nearly seven and one-half million dollars and over eight million dollars respectively.

Largest single outlay during the three-year period will be for construction, extension and improvement of PE's transmission and distribution facilities. Over 14 million dollars has been allocated for this purpose.

Two major transmission line projects are scheduled for this year. A new 132,000 volt line will be built from Millville, West Virginia, to Frederick, Maryland, a distance of 26 miles. This line is actually a continuation of the 105-mile line from Albright Generating Station at Albright, West Virginia, to Millville. It will provide additional capacity into the fast growing east portion of the PE service area, and supply possible power feed-back into the Hagerstown and Waynesboro area.

An additional source of power will be furnished the Martinsburg area with the construction of a 132,000 volt line from Marlowe to Opequon Substation, near Martinsburg, a distance of 14 miles.

In addition to these major transmission line projects, over 9 million dollars has been allocated during the three-year period for construction, expansion and rehabilitation of distribution lines throughout the PE System.

Expenditures for transmission and distribution substation facilities in the three-year forecast will total nearly five and one-half million dollars. New 132,000

Jack Benny was the "walking man" of the original Heart Fund send-off in 1947 by the Ralph Edwards "Truth or Consequences" radio-identification contest. The Benny Edwards radio contest raised $1,500,000 which launched the Heart Association as a voluntary health agency.

In his new Heart Sunday assignment, Mr. Benny assumes the leadership of more than 1,500,000 Heart Fund volunteers who will call on their neighbors in communities throughout the nation.

During the second annual Heart Fund Campaign in 1949, Mr. Benny was voted "King of Hearts." In the ensuing years he has participated consistently in enlisting public support for the Heart cause.

Which Industry Now Better the Living of 3 Out of 4 Maryland Families?
...Here Are Some Surprising Facts About The Trading Stamp Industry
So far, whenever our nation's economy has needed expansion, a new industry has sprung up to help the country go ahead.
The automobile industry, employing millions, was followed closely by the development of radio and radio broadcasting to make more millions of jobs. Then came the airplane industry, air conditioning, plastics, television, frozen foods, to change our lives some more.
The trading stamp industry, while not new, belongs to this expansion group and has been one of the fastest growing of all. Today it better the living of more than 3 out of 4 Maryland families who save trading stamps.
Obviously, an industry affecting such a large proportion of Maryland's population must bring far-reaching benefits for Maryland's economy. And it does. In 1957 the trading stamp industry bought $5,416,000 worth of products from Maryland's manufacturers. In one way or another, it provided employment for 517 Maryland people in many different industries.
The people in the trading stamp industry, its merchandise and redemption stores, its warehouses and transportation and all the activity that goes on within it are integrated economically everywhere within our state.
Thus it seems plain that the trading stamp industry along with the 136,500 Maryland women it serves has become, like other expansion industries, a living, vital segment of Maryland's economy.

Shocking Revelations

When the Chinese Communist instructors conducted their classes for American GI prisoners of war in North Korea—brain washing most of them into a degree of cooperation—they used books by American authors who had overemphasized our defects, the unattractive things in America—vice, political corruption, racial conflict, the greediness of some employers, the failure of some people to prosper. The brain washers played up these things, distorting the full picture until in the minds of the GIs, who were educationally unprepared for such an experience, the good things about America faded from the consciousness and our American system became something bad.

In his examination of today's high school textbooks in American history, as reported in his new book, "Brain Washing in the High Schools," Dr. E. Merrill Root found that some of the most widely used texts similarly overemphasized unattractive conditions and incidents and give a distorted picture of important events in the founding and growth of our American system. One-sided or distorted presentation of history tends to make children disrespectful of their heritage. In such a misinformed state of mind they are ripe targets for the sly propaganda beckoning toward various forms of Socialism—"the wave of the future."

One-Sided Picture

"Cartoons in several of these texts," Dr. Root reports, "splash the ills of American life across the pages. The craze for gambling in stocks in the late 1920's is made graphic. . . One cartoon stresses child labor, another revels in an industrial slump, other pictures gloat over 'a typical tenement,' the corruption of the Republican Party, the Senate of the United States as subservient to 'the trust.' One picture reiterates an industrial slump, another plays up the Homestead Strike luridly (beset with violence and bloodshed), another the Pullman Strike . . .

"The point is not," observes Dr. Root, "that the dark areas of American history should be hidden, but that the undoubted excellences of America are hidden (in 10 textbooks studied); the authors make vivid much of the real or fancied evil of the American story, but one wonders why the story is not balanced with its glory, as historical proportions require."

Shocking Facts

The authors cite as their authorities a number of Left Wing writers and propagandists, for instance: Howard Fast, Communist propagandist who just recently announced he had broken with the Party; Gunnar Myrdal, Swedish Socialist who has shown a warmth toward Soviet Russia; Carey McWilliams, who has one of the longest Communist-front records in U. S. government files; Gene Weltfish, vigorous Communist-fronter who publicly asserted that the United States engaged in germ warfare in Korea, and who was dismissed from Columbia University because she refused to testify as to her membership in the Communist Party.

These and others of their ilk are among the "authorities" cited in book after book among the 11 examined by Dr. Root. Books by Albert E. Kahn, cited commendably as an 'authority' by some of these textbook authors, actually were used by the Reds in Korea to "brain wash" American GIs. Kahn took the Fifth Amendment before a Senate committee on the question of his Communist Party membership. The Senate Internal Security Committee reported: "American boys were forced by their captors to read and report favorably on these works of Albert E. Kahn (degrading America and praising Soviet Russia) or face starvation, torture and probable death."

Special Pleading

These high school history textbooks show an easily discernible (to the mature mind) bias against conservative politicians and for "liberals." They discount Communist Fifth Column activities within our government and in defense industries as the "Red Scare." They do not bring forth the historical details of the Alger Hiss case or the Harry Dexter White case in which Communist agents were found to be entrenched and wielding influential power in the most sensitive areas of our national government. The impression given is that our Congressional and Justice Department anti-Communist activ-

Society grant of $16,374.

In announcing the grant, Dr. John M. Dennis, head of the department, said that the work is being conducted by Dr. Fernando G. Bloedorn, director of the division of radiotherapy.

Radium treatment for cancer has been studied intensively at the division of radiotherapy ever since its organization three years ago. Members of the division are convinced that in well-chosen cases it is the treatment of choice, when correctly performed. It is especially useful in treating skin cancer of the head and neck.

University Hospital has an unusually large supply of radium and the radiotherapy division has attracted patients and students from many of the leading U. S.

medical centers as well as from abroad.

YOUNG IDEAS
from Polly Ponds

Q: "My forehead always seems to be covered with little spots and bumps. Are these caused by nervousness and how can I get rid of them?"

A: If these blemishes are just appearing on your forehead they're more likely being caused by a fallout of dust, dandruff and oil from your hair, especially if you wear bangs. Emotion can create some skin disturbances but they're usually not quite as localized as yours.

Wear your hair back from your face, or comb it to the side so that it isn't touching your forehead.

Remember to keep your hair very clean. Shampoo it twice a week and brush it, one hundred strokes, every night.

When you wash your face, spend a little extra time massaging your brow with soapy lather; rinse thoroughly and follow up with an application of astringent or skin freshener. If your skin is inclined to be oily, Liquefying Cream, smoothed on and then removed immediately with tissues, will absorb any dirt and oil that's crept deep into your pores, below the soap and water level.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Matthew 11:25-30.
God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. (John 3:16.)
Why do so many of us wander through this life thinking, acting, talking like hollow men, misunderstanding and being misunderstood?
Why? Does God want us to be cars on a track leading nowhere? No. To be empty shells? No.
We were put on this earth for a reason: To seek God—know

Him—love Him—witness to Him.
Where can we meet Him? In prayer, in God's Word, in other persons.
How can we approach Him? Through Christ.
Does God in Christ really love us—care about us? Yes. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have everlasting life."
His works beckon: "Come unto me . . . My yoke is easy, and my burden is light."
The yokes of this world are burdensome, but His yoke is a blessing to bear. An early saint, Bernard of Clairvaux, says with so much truth:
"O blessed yoke that bears the burden of light;
"O blessed yoke that bears the bearer up."
Prayer
O God, Thou eternal love, give me grace and courage to take the yoke of Christ upon me and be lifted up with His peace in my soul. I ask it in the name of Him who died that I might live. Amen.
Thought For The Day
I will take upon me the "blessed yoke that bears the bearer up."

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses The Tourist Business
BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 12—Our tourist business started in a very small way some 50 or more years ago. It grew steadily but slowly, until the automobile revolutionized it.

Automobiles And Tourists
The automobile has actually done harm to the summer hotel business of the north. Because of the lack of business, the great summer hotels of New England are gradually being torn down. The majority of people who travel in the north by auto during the summer stop at motels as transients. They no longer stay for a month, or for the entire summer, as they used to do.

On the other hand, the auto has helped southern business, especially that of Florida, New Mexico, and Arizona, and also the Pacific Coast. Moreover, many who go South as tourists remain to take up residence. This does not apply, however, to tourists who travel north in the summer.

Cost Of Living
Tourists also find that the cost of living is less in the south. This fact is encouraging more people to retire on their social security money. Furthermore, in the north it is more difficult for a person to get a part-time position in order to secure the permitted extra income up to $1,200 above social security which he needs in order to live reasonably comfortably.
In several southern and southwestern states, new industrial concerns are locating which make a specialty of employing these part-time workers. The new low-priced cars which can be bought today enable families to have two small economical cars, and this is a great help to part-time workers.

How And Where To Buy?
After deciding where you would like to live—in Florida, for instance—write to the Chamber of Commerce of that city and inquire as to the opportunities for securing part-time work. Tell the Chamber your trade and your age, and add the information that you have an auto. Of course, you will not buy any property in any southern state without first seeing it.
When buying a house or lot in any tourist section, buy at the end of the tourist season. This means in September (after Labor Day) or in October in the north. Or in May or June in the south.

Motels As An Investment
Motels, as business investments, are subject to several disadvantages. For one thing, the owner must pay taxes, interest charges, insurance, and maintenance costs for twelve months each year, while his profits are usually limited to six months or less. Even so, it was possible to make ends meet when there were very few motels; but now they are so thick that the competition is terrible.
In addition to the above economic difficulty, one's investment may be wiped out by a change of routes. When one buys a motel, it may be on a heavily traveled road; but then the state, or the federal government, may decide to build a new toll road or freeway which will leave the motel on a deserted highway.

The Investors League
This is a non-profit, non-partisan organization of investors united for action in defense both of present legitimate investments and of free enterprise unhampered by unfair government competition. It was established in 1942 with headquarters at 234 Fifth Avenue, New York City. I especially commend the work of the Florida Division, of which Dr. Thomas H. Odeneal of 3115 So. Peninsula Drive, Daytona Beach, Florida, is the able President.

All present owners of motels or of Turnpike Revenue Bonds whose livelihoods or investments are threatened by the new freeways, for which the federal government has appropriated $37,000,000,000, should join this Investors League and ask it to urge the government to make sure that their investments are fairly protected.

Medical Milestones

Hormone Drugs Used In Heart Disease

A real medical milestone for heart patients was announced recently at a round-table discussion in San Francisco, during the annual meeting of the American Medical Association. Six of the nation's outstanding physicians revealed that the widely-used steroid, prednisone, has proved effective in the treatment of congestive heart failure and rheumatic heart disease, among other things.

Dr. Allen D. Riemer, assistant clinical professor of medicine, University of Colorado, made the report.

Further good news came when Dr. Edwin B. Levine, assistant clinical professor of medicine, Chicago Medical School, reported that there is no question that the use of prednisone is valuable in treating acute inflammatory tuberculosis.

The synthetic hormones were discovered when scientists altered the structural formula of cortisone. These newer products are more powerful and have a lower rate of side effects than cortisone. The first, and still most widely accepted synthetic steroid product available to physicians is Meticorten, brought out by Schering Corporation in 1955. Much research on the steroids is still going on, in the belief that their full potential in treating diseases has not yet been fully realized.

Only recently several new forms of the synthetic steroids have been introduced. On this matter, Dr. Hylan A. Bickerman, associate clinical professor of medicine, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, said:

"Alterations in the structural formula of cortisone have resulted in the synthesis of a number of steroid (drugs), more potent and with lower incidence of side effects than the parent compound. Prednisone, the first of these, has been subjected to extensive clinical trial for the past three and a half to four years. As to the more recently introduced steroids, methylprednisolone and triamcinolone, only the experience gained from long, continued use over a corresponding period of years can determine their true status."

There seems no question that the steroids have played and are destined to play an increasingly important role in treating a large number of diseases of man.

Farmers Offered Alternate Method For Figuring Income

Self-employed farmers may use an alternate method for figuring their earnings from their farm, W. S. King, district manager of the local Social Security Administration office, and Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue, reminded farm operators today.

(1) If your gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1800, you may count as your net farm earnings either your actual net or 2/3 of your farm gross income;
(2) If your gross farm income is more than $1800, and your net farm earnings are less than $1200, you may either use your actual net or $1200;

(3) If your gross farm income is more than $1800 and your net farm earnings are $1200 or more, you must use the actual amount of your net earnings.
Mr. Machiz added that use of the option enables farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age and for their survivors in case of death. However, he emphasized that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other SE earnings) in order to get social security credit for the year.
In addition to the revised optional method, the law provides social security coverage farm owners who receive crop shares from tenants. If the farm-land his agreement with a materially participates in production or management of the farm on his land, this income reported for social security purposes.

Requests for information regarding taxes due and turn forms should be directed to the Internal Revenue-Frederick. Questions of the old-age, survivors, ability insurance program answered by your social office at Hagerstown.

In the short 2½ miles between my place and town on Tract Road, take a short spin and view papers, cartoons—even Christmas trees lost from the debris wagons. Come warm enough weather, the residents will have to turn out and police up the area for their own protection.

"How to prevent this? Really, quite simple. Not the fault of trash collectors who distribute this debris. Just get a law through the State Legislature requiring all trash trucks to cover their loads with a tied-down tarpaulin. A good cover is not expensive and will prevent the wind from reducing their load to scattered debris.

"I have 300 to 400 yards to clean up as soon as the weather will permit, but will I have to continue this indefinitely? I like a clean looking roadside. We need an enforced law requiring covered trash trucks. Is this too much to ask?"

We are inclined to agree with Phil Sharpe, who signs the above communication.

'Women Better Patients,' Says Family Doctor of Year

Dr. Lonnie A. Coffin, 68, of Farmington, Iowa, back at work after being named General Practitioner of the Year by the American Medical Association.

"Women are better patients than men," according to Dr. Lonnie A. Coffin, Family Doctor of the Year. "They'll do what you tell them, but men won't." At 68, Dr. Coffin is a warm and happy man, busy with the health needs of more than 3,000 people in and around rural Farmington, Iowa. Enriched by 46 years of country doctoring, he is also a man who speaks his mind, a philosopher with concise and witty views on life. Here are a few of them:

On smoking: "It's undoubtedly bad for you. I gave it up after my coronary, and"—he stopped to light one of his six daily cigars—"I've given it up several times since then."

On health: "The work of the voluntary health agencies makes me confident about the future. The National Foundation, for instance, which helped us eight years ago when a polio epidemic hit Farmington [three of Dr. Coffin's four grandchildren were stricken], is now applying its March of Dimes funds to problems like arthritis and birth defects. That's good news, and good health."

Certain Educational Costs Deductible

Direct costs of education and necessary expenses for travel, meals and lodging while taking educational courses away from home overnight are deductible on the 1958 Federal income tax return under one of two conditions.

Irving Machiz, Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, listed the two conditions as follows:

- (1) If the education was undertaken primarily to maintain or improve the skill of a taxpayer required in the performance of his employment duties when the education expense was incurred; or,
- (2) If the education was undertaken primarily to meet the express requirements of a taxpayer's employer, or the requirements of applicable law or regulations imposed as a condition for retaining the taxpayer's present employment, salary or position.

Mr. Machiz added: "You may not deduct expenses for education if the primary purpose for which the education was undertaken was any of the following:

- (1) To obtain a new position or a substantial advancement in your position.
- (2) To fulfill your general educational aspirations or any other personal purpose.
- (3) To meet the minimum requirements for qualification or establishment of your intended trade, business or specialty.

"The direct cost of education such as books, tuition, laboratory fees, etc., are deductible only if you itemize your deductions on page 2 of your return Form 1040. You may not deduct these if you take the standard deduction, use the tax table, or file on card form 1040A.

"Travel expense and the cost of meals and lodging while away from home overnight pursuing qualifying educational activities on page 1 of Form 1040. These expenses may be deducted even though you do not itemize your deductions on page 2.

"For example, suppose you find it necessary to enroll in classes at a school some distance from your home and you have expenses for transportation, meals, lodging, as well as expenses for tuition, etc. When you fill out Form 1040, enter expenses for travel, meals and lodging on line 5, page 1, and subtract these expenses from your gross wages or salary.

"If the total of your allowable page 2 deductions, including the cost of tuition, etc., is less than 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, it will not be to your advantage to claim the cost of the tuition and other school expenses, because your tax will be less by claiming the standard deduction.

"If you deduct expenses for travel and meals and lodging while away from home overnight, you must attach a statement to your return explaining the deductions. Form 2106 is available at the office of your district director for this purpose."

Mr. Machiz emphasized that if the primary purpose for taking the education is to improve skills required in the employee's present job, or to meet the express requirements of the employer, any incidental advancement as a result of the education does not rule out the deduction of those expenses.

"If you have any other questions about your 1958 Federal income tax return that cannot be located in the instruction booklet received with your tax forms, telephone your local Internal Revenue office. In Baltimore, PLaza 2-8400. In Washington, REpublic 7-8750. Ask for Tax Information Service."

More than 150 young men and women of the State of Maryland will borrow approximately $41,000, through the National Defense Education Act, to finance their education during the spring semester on the University of Maryland Baltimore and College Park campuses, and at Maryland State College. The loans will vary from $50, covering part of the costs, to $500, which includes full tuition, laboratory fees, room and board.

It has been estimated that a college degree is insurance for an income of more than $100,000 over its non-college counterpart. This being true, a loan of part, or all of the cost of a college education would be considered a gilt-edge investment by anyone, and students and their parents who are having difficulty in financing college costs are being encouraged to participate in the program.

The National Defense Act requires that special consideration be given to students with superior academic backgrounds who intend to teach in elementary or secondary schools or those whose academic backgrounds indicate superior capacity or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering or a modern foreign language.

Fifty per cent of each student loan would be cancelled for five years of full-time teaching in a public elementary or secondary school, at the rate of 10 per cent for each year of such service. Under the loan plan eight-ninths of the student loan is provided by the Federal government and one-ninth by the university.

At the present time, a great many students strive to finance education by working week-ends, and odd hours during the week. Frequently, this is not desirable because most students need to devote full-time to their academic work. For these students, a loan plan is ideal.

Dental Facts

Prompt attention by a dentist often can save a child's tooth which has been broken or pushed out of place, and sometimes even a tooth that has been dislodged from its socket can be replaced, Dr. Fibert L. Moore, chairman of the State Council on Dental Health, declared today.

Dr. Moore, whose group is supervising the observance of the 11th annual Children's Dental Health Week of the Maryland State Dental Association, added: "As the accident rate has risen, dentists have devised methods for treating the increasing number of children's teeth being accidentally injured. The success of the various treatments often depends upon how soon after the accident they are begun.

"Whether a tooth is a primary or a permanent one, it is important that it be restored if at all possible. If the primary tooth is lost prematurely, the permanent tooth may erupt out of position or become impacted and fail to erupt at all. To prevent these difficulties, a dentist may suggest that a space maintainer be inserted.

"Loss of a permanent tooth can cause psychological damage as well as further dental harm. This is true whether the tooth was lost accidentally or had to be extracted because of neglected decay.

"A missing tooth is disfiguring, especially when it is one of the upper front teeth, the teeth most often injured in accidents.

"When one tooth is missing, the other teeth tend to drift into the space that has been left. This may result in poor tooth alignment, difficulty in chewing, more decay than would be normal for that person, and an irritation of the gums which may lead to gum diseases.

"If a natural tooth can't be saved—and sometimes it can't be—it should be replaced with an artificial tooth."

Dr. Moore said that Dr. Jesse Trager of Park Heights Avenue and Labyrinth Road, is directing the week's activities in Baltimore City.

Dr. A. D. Flory, of Thurmont, is in charge of the program for Frederick County.

Fear Of X-ray Retarding Medical Progress

Fear of excess radioactivity is causing many Americans to deprive themselves of medicine's most valuable tools—X-ray, fluoroscopy and treatments with radioactive material, says the current issue of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine in an article entitled "Common Sense About X-Ray Dangers."

Medical radiation—like all radiation—can be dangerous if improperly used, and its use for good must be balanced against its risk, say the editors. Since its great value for good makes medical radiation indispensable; the magazine offers these rules for living with radiation in the atomic age:

Don't confuse X-ray with nuclear radiation. The latter affects the whole body while the former can be pinpointed on an organ.

Don't refuse X-ray, fluoroscopy or treatment by radioisotopes if the doctor says there is a good reason for their use—and certainly not in case of cancer.

Avoid X-ray examinations during pregnancy, if possible.

Rely on skin tests for detection of TB unless you are a heavy smoker.

Talk with your dentist if you feel he overdoes X-rays. Don't allow your child to stand under a shoe-fitting fluoroscope.

Don't insist on X-ray treatment for benign conditions like ringworm or acne.

Be sure that as much of your baby's body as possible is covered when he is examined under radiation.

Inquire about reasons if your doctor seems to give too-frequent routine chest fluoroscopes to your children or yourself.

These are just common sense precautions. Remember that your doctor is the only one who can evaluate the degree of X-ray danger against the net gain to your health.
