Emmitsburg may have a white elephant on its hands as far as the new sewer line is concerned. Begun almost a year ago work has dwindled to a practical halt with working crews exiting a month ago little or nothing appears to have been done by the installing firm. The Town Council has every right to demand action on the project as residents of the East End are forced to endure undesirable odors from the result of the sewage being dumped into Flat Run, some of it absolutely untreated. In addition to the odoriferous scent the sewage represents a distinct health menace and should be investigated by the health dept. Difficulty with electrical installations has been given by certain parties as the cause of delay. This may be so, but the people of Emmitsburg and their elected representatives have a right to demand an early finish to the project. Several hundred homes are awaiting the signal to proceed to hook onto the new line and disposal plant. Indeed they've been waiting several months and there's hardly any excuse for any further delay. Council itself is provoked about the matter. At present they are withholding the final payment of $20,000 due the contractor until such a time as the project reaches a successful conclusion. State Roads authorities have complained about the way roads have been left; there are any number of asphalt driveways to private homes ruined by the installation of the line and numerous other damages reported. All these have to be settled before the project can be completed.

In the meantime residents are desirous of completing the required plumbing necessary to hooking onto the line and also the town is losing badly-needed tax money by losing these additional tap-in charges and sewer tax. Plumbers will be busy in the next few weeks as cold weather approaches and they will be hard to obtain. Yards must be torn up, pipe laid, etc. It really is a situation that there's hardly any excuse for and should be clarified immediately. If any of you doubt what I am telling you, that is about the necessity for an early hook-up, just drive down to the Flat Run and witness one of the worst messes you ever laid your eyes on.

The big convention of our county firemen is fast approaching folks, and there's some question involved as to our civic pride here. Very few local floats have been entered to date and this is a sad commentary on our civic pride. I am well aware that building a float represents quite a bit of manual and decorative work as well as expense, but hang the expense when our own little community is putting on the show. You all are cognizant of the fact by now that our own Fire Company is to play host to the other companies in the county and as such has the responsibility for promoting a successful convention, the parade being one of the highlights. Let's get behind our boys folks and enter those floats. Another weak spot is in the musical category. Bands are hard to get and as a result the number signing up for the parade has been unsatisfactory as far as the committee is concerned. Many of you know of out-of-town units and could possibly use some influence in persuading them to come here for the occasion. It takes all of us together my dear friends to promote such an affair as this one. You need not be a fireman to be able to help. There's plenty to do and if you know of some organization or float that might be obtained, please let the committee hear about it. Many thanks.

Game Wardens Predict Good Hunting Season

A good rabbit season is in prospect for hunters this November as wardens with the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission report a bumper crop of bunnies.

Rabbits are more abundant this year than in the past five in the region, according to Guy Garheart, regional game warden at Lewistown.

The commission is just hoping the population will hold up well by the time the rabbit season opens on November 16. The season normally opens on the 15th but this year that date falls on Sunday.

Abundant populations of bunnies have been reported in all four counties which are handled by the regional game warden. They are Frederick, Carroll, Howard and Montgomery.

In commenting that rabbit hunting should be good this year, Mr. Garheart said that in some past years there has been an apparent abundant supply of bunnies during the summer but when the season opened, there were few rabbits seen. However, he added that in those past years the population was not as great as it appears this year.

Opening on October 5 and running until the 31st of that month is the squirrel season. Mr. Garheart said that there appears to be a large quantity of food for squirrels.

The squirrel population does not fluctuate greatly, however, and about the same abundance of squirrels is expected this year as last year.

Local Girl Scouts Plan Reorganization

A meeting for the reorganization of the Girl Scouts in town was held on Monday evening in the Auxiliary room of the American Legion Post Home. Mrs. Dorothy Good, Executive Director of the Frederick County Girl Scouts and Mrs. Sheffield, Neighborhood Chairman were present. Mrs. Good spoke of the Girl Scouts and what it means to the girls of the community to have the Scouts reorganized. Troop Leadership Course for those interested in the project, will be given in Thurmont starting on September 10 and in Frederick starting on October 8. Any adult desirous of taking this course may do so. For further information contact Mrs. Charles B. Shorb.

It will be necessary to have a number of leaders before Troops can be formed, and there are quite a number of girls in the community who wish to join the Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Troops. Unless there are a sufficient number of leaders, it will be impossible for reorganization. Mothers are urged to help with this project and give the girls the support that the fathers have given to the Boy Scouts of town.

Fire Company Maps Plans For County Convention

President John J. Hollinger presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co., held Tuesday night with approximately 40 members in attendance. A report of the progress to date of the parade committee for the annual convention to be held here next month was given by George Danner, parade chairman. The report indicates that the parade will be a large one with numerous bands, marching units, floats, etc. already being registered. Guy A. Baker Jr., chairman of the souvenir booklet for the convention, reported that advertising revenue to date exceeded well over $1000. The booklet will consist of 28 pages and will be on sale in the very near future.

Fire Chief John S. Hollinger reported that two fires were extinguished during the past month. They consisted of a field and a clothing fire. Four applications for membership were received and will be voted on at the next regular meeting. President Hollinger, also president of the Frederick County Volunteer Firemen's Association, announced that the business meeting to be held during the convention will take place in the VFW Annex. The Ladies Auxiliary of Frederick County will meet in the Fire Hall during the convention and all will join together for refreshments at the local VFW following their business meetings. The president reported that the annual crab feast held recently was an outstanding success with 75 members in attendance. Two new dry chemical extinguishers of 10 and 20-pound capacity were recently purchased by the company and a new 300-gallon portable pump also was bought. The old pump was sold to the Emmitsburg Water Company. Chief Hollinger reported that the booster tank on the 1951 engine had been repaired during the month.

The group agreed to change the date of its next meeting to the first Tuesday in September instead of the regular meeting date of the second Tuesday.

Council Issues Warning On Sewer Tap-Ins

The Burgess and Commissioners issued this week a warning to all local property-owners that cesspools, privies and septic tanks must be removed from the corporate limits of the town. The notice came in the form of printed notices that were distributed to every home in the town's limits. The notice was to the effect that these unsanitary methods of sewerage must disappear by October 1 or a fine of $900 will be levied on the violators. The notice was pertinent to only those who had the old WPA sewer line available to their properties and some of whom have been paying sewer tax for a number of years but never hooked onto the line.

The Town Fathers also warn the public that several violations as to the method of hooking up to the sewer line have been discovered and unless rectified fines may be assessed. There have been a number of cases reported where individuals have already tapped the new sewer line, doing the work themselves. This is in direct violation of the ordinance covering such tap-ins. The actual plumbing installation must be done by a plumber registered with the Council and who has been bonded to do the work. The only portion of the work that will be permitted to be done by the property-owners is the actual digging of the trench. Tap-ins, connections, etc. must be accomplished by a registered plumber who first must obtain a permit from the Town Council. It is highly possible that those who already have gone ahead without authority to do so, may have to rip out their newly-installed lines. Those desiring to tap-in to the new sewer line will be given an official printed notice in the paper when it is permissible to do so. Those who have already tapped the line illegally are warned to report to Tax Collector Charles D. Gillelan immediately.

The town solons also wish to warn parents of youngsters possessing air rifles and other guns that they are not permitted to shoot same within the corporate limits. Already a number of guns and rifles has been confiscated. Numerous cases of damage by these weapons have been reported and parents are being held liable for this damage and may possibly be fined.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers

The regular meeting of the Francis X. Elder American Legion Post 121, Auxiliary, was held on Tuesday evening, August 4 in the auxiliary room of the post home. President Ann Shorb presided with 22 members and two guests in attendance.

After reports of the secretary and the treasurer, President Shorb introduced Mrs. Gladys Hoffman of Williamsport, Past Western Maryland District Vice President and Mrs. Richard Graham of Frederick, guest of the evening.

The president's message was read and also an invitation to installation ceremonies in Frederick on August 18 at the Francis Scott Key Unit 11. A thank-you note for a basket of fruit for a sick member was also read.

As none of the members from the local unit went to the Convention in Baltimore last month, Mrs. Hoffman gave a report on the convention to the group. She stated that one of the most impressive ceremonies was the presentation of each unit of their own unit flags. She expressed her appreciation for having been invited to the meeting, and urged cooperation among the members.

An announcement was made of the reorganization of the local Girl Scouts, and also that the annual picnic will be held on Saturday, August 15 at Bud Shorb's farm.

Helen Rodgers' name was called for the draw prize. Gloria Martin's name was called for the door prize, but she was not present.

Installation of officers for the coming year was held with Mrs. Hoffman presiding. Those installed were: President, Kathleen A. Shorb; 1st vice president, Ann Shorb; 2nd vice president, Madeline Harner; secretary, Dolores Rodgers; corresponding secretary, Virginia Sanders; historian, Mary Theresa Miller; chaplain, Melva Hardman; treasurer, Carmen Topper; sgt.-at-arms, Geneva Sprankle. Mrs. Margaret Brown was elected to the Executive Board.

Refreshment committee for next month is Nettie Ashbaugh, Carmen Topper and Lois Shorb.

The meeting was closed and the ladies joined the men of the post for refreshments.

State-wide Fire Prevention Convention Held At University

Last year $10,958,000 worth of insured personal property was destroyed by fire in the State of Maryland, announced Governor J. Millard Tawes at the opening of the First Governor's State-wide Fire Prevention Conference at College Park this week.
Noting these great fire losses, Governor Tawes, himself a past president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, opened the fire prevention conference, which is being held at the University of Maryland. The two-day conference, one of the first such programs in the United States, has been organized to give serious and intelligent thought on ways and means of reducing fire hazards encountered daily.

In his address, Tawes cited the need for continuing the training and research which has made Maryland a pioneer in the field of fire safety. He stated that "he will not rest until Maryland becomes the safest place in the United States to live."

Because of the efforts of Maryland fire departments and the firemen's training programs developed by the University of Maryland Fire Service Extension, fire property insurance was reduced twenty-five per cent last June.
The university's firemen's training program, under the direction of Robert C. Byrus, was pioneered by the University of Maryland thirty years ago. Each year more than 2,000 state firemen participate in the program. Now a four-year program which leads to a B.S. degree in fire prevention furthers the scope of fire safety education he added.

Recognizing the importance of these fire training programs, Mr. Tawes cited the need for even better education in fire fighting fields. He stressed that "fires are man-made; they must be made man-controlled."

Speaking before a large group of fire safety experts who were invited by him to attend this conference, Governor Tawes expressed his hope that this conference will be held every year so that methods which will offer Maryland citizens further protection from the ravages of fire can be developed.

National Guard Unit On Annual Encampment

On Saturday, August 15, Co. B (Fwd Spt) of the 729th Ordnance Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, stationed at Highfield, Md., will depart for 15 days annual active duty for training at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

The unit, commanded by Capt. Charles A. Warner of Blue Ridge Summit, consists of 80 enlisted men and seven officers and has as its mission the maintenance and supply of Ordnance material within the 29th Infantry Division (Md.-Va. National Guard). In addition the unit will conduct special training courses for Armor and Automotive personnel of the Division.
The encampment this year marks the 6th consecutive year the unit will have 100% attendance at field training. In addition, Capt. Warner noted that the unit is at its highest strength since its organization in April 1953.

Upon arrival at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Company B

will move into a three-day tactical bivouac and will perform its support mission under simulated battle conditions.

Recent enlistees into the unit include the following: George Wenschhof, Fairfield; Lawrence Harbaugh, Blue Ridge Summit; Jay W. Hahn, Smithsburg; John A. Holt, Thurmont, and Carroll R. Glass, Thurmont.

These men will receive six months active duty training at Fort Knox, Ky., commencing in September and October before returning to their home unit at Highfield. It was noted however that additional officer and enlisted vacancies still exist in the unit and interested personnel are invited to contact personnel of Co. B at the Armory after August 29 when the unit returns to its home station.

Local 4-H Club Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Girls 4-H took place at the home of Mrs. Paul Beale on July 28. The meeting was opened with the flag salute, 4-H Pledge and roll call. Carolyn Umbel presided.
Diane and Velma Reaver gave a demonstration on the results of some seat covers they had made. Following this, we discussed our topic for the month, "Breakfast." Before we prepared the meal we first discussed the importance and advantage of a nourishing breakfast. After this, we prepared the meal which consisted of juice, rolls, eggs and bacon, and milk.

After the dishes were done and kitchen cleaned, we listened to Carolyn Umbel and Marlene Plunkett tell us about their demonstration in Frederick. Both girls had won 3rd prize (a white ribbon) for their joint demonstration on a pie.

The business meeting was completed by making plans for our tour of the Acme Super Market (behind the scenes) and our pleasure trip which included a picnic and swimming party.

The beginning of midshipmen in the Navy is traced to the early days when each warship carried a number of young lads who acted as messengers, rushing orders from the officers aft to the men up forward. Generally, a midshipman was regarded as an officer candidate.

Have A Good Lunch

A glass of milk, a cookie or two, a bowl of applesauce—a good light lunch for young and old.

The only way to have a year around supply of applesauce with a real home cooked taste is to make and can it. Comes cheaper that way too. A peck (12 pounds) of apples makes 4 or 5 quarts sauce. Don't let the fact you have never canned anything stand in the way. Here is all you do: Wash, rinse, and drain fresh, sound, tart apples. Remove stem and blossom ends. Cut apples into small pieces and cook until soft. Better add a little water to start cooking.

While apples are cooking, wash, and rinse home canning jars and lids in hot water. Start water heating in canner or kettle deep enough for water to cover tops of jars.

Press apples through sieve or food mill to remove skin and seed. Sweeten sauce to suit your taste then reheat to boiling. Pour hot sauce to within about 1/4 inch of top of jar. Stir sauce with wooden spoon to remove air bubbles. Wipe top of jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Put jars into canner. Process (boil) 1/2 pts. 10 min., pts. 15 min., qts. 20 min. Remove jars from canner. Let stand about 12 hours. Remove bands and test seal.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Khrushchev's Visit

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 13—My dream is that the fishes of the sea might be a connecting peace link between Russia and the United States. The ocean is the area between nations which is recognized as free and equal to all nations. This is not only according to international law but also according to custom extending over a hundred years. Therefore, I have felt that the international fishing industry might be the opening wedge in terminating the "cold war."

Leading Fishing Ports

In view of the above, I have been making a study of the fishing industry of the United States and Russia. There is not much conflict between us and Russia on the West Coast, as our principle catches are salmon and tuna. The conflict on the West Coast is between the United States and Japan. Our main fishing port on the Atlantic Ocean is Gloucester, Mass., which is now taking in over 300,000,000 pounds a year at a valuation of over $15,000,000 per year.

At present, Iceland is exporting considerable fish to the United States. There are demands from New England to erect a tariff wall against Icelandic fish. Various requests have been sent to Washington which President Eisenhower has wisely refused. He explains that we are very dependent on Iceland, Portugal and other fishing nations for bases and airports. These we must maintain; we would be greatly handicapped if these nations made us move off in retaliation for increasing tariffs against them.

Our Canadian Policy

One of the world's most important examples of friendly mutual protection is the boundary line between the U. S. and Canada. Although it would be very easy for either country to invade the other, there has never been a suggestion that such might even be considered. Yet there is no military defense or offense between the two countries. There has been some conflict at times between our fishing fleets; but since fishing boats do not carry guns or military equipment, we have had continual peace. My dream is that the fisheries can bring about a similar friendly relationship with Russia.

All the above means first that neither Russian nor American fishing boats should carry guns or other military protection, but should depend upon the good will of the other. Another requirement, sought by Russia, which seems very reasonable is that the mate on every American vessel should be able to speak Russian, and the mate of each Russian vessel be able to speak English. This is very important if the radio codes are to function properly. Real world peace must have some sort of international language—such as Esperanto—which would be sponsored by the United Nations.

Fishing Ports in Russia

We all know the big fishing ports of the United States, but are not so well acquainted with the ports of Russia. At the east end of the Gulf of Finland the leading port is Leningrad (Petograd). The only Russian port that is open all year is Odessa on the Black Sea. I have been trying to get figures from Odessa, but have been told that I can get them only by going there in person and giving the Russian Fishing Commission, in exchange, certain figures which apply to this country, and especially to Gloucester.

The population of Odessa is over 600,000, and is growing rapidly. Nearby is the city of Yalta where President Roosevelt had his last very important conference with Stalin. A photograph of them at this conference shows that President Roosevelt must have been quite ill. This may explain why he permitted us to get into the Berlin mess and give the Russians all that portion of Germany which surrounds Berlin. This is now known as East Berlin.

The above explains why I am planning to leave here next month for Sweden and Denmark. At Copenhagen I will be the guest of Mayor Urban Hansen and will get data on northern Russian fishing ports. Then I shall go to Berlin and to Odessa and secure data on the fishing of the Black Sea and tributary rivers. I, however, will travel only as the "Gloucester lobsterman and fisherman" and not in any political capacity. I will report my conclusions to readers through this column when I return in November.

of $400.00 or more in a year is required to file a tax return and pay social security taxes. This return must be filed even though the farmer has no income tax to pay. Even if a farmer does not have a $400.00 profit but has a gross farm income of $600.00 or more, he can elect to report his farm income for social security purposes.

Farmers who have neglected to report earnings for social security credit may still do so for 1956 or any later years. Mr. King stated that any farmer who wants to report earnings from self-employment should contact the local social security office or internal revenue office for advice.

Student Guidance: Occupational Information

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles concerning the need for student guidance in American schools.

By Dr. Edward C. Roeber

In this third article of a series on vocational guidance, we are putting the spotlight on the importance of knowing something about the educational and vocational worlds which surround all of us. Because we come in daily contact with a part of these worlds, it is easy to form opinions without seeing the total picture. Or because we cannot see all the opportunities, we assume that there are none.

What is it about a job that pleases you or causes you to be unhappy about it? Your answer and that of your neighbor would probably be quite different. One farmer says, "I like farming—it's out-of-doors and a healthy job." Another disagrees. "Farming's OK, but the outside work is the worst part of it—and it's unhealthy, too."

Students also show different reactions to school and work. It is important that sound career planning does not overlook this fact. Students need reliable information about schools and jobs. They also need a chance to talk over how they feel about schools and jobs in relationship to their own growing interests, talents, and personality.

For many years, I have had some fun talking to adolescents about occupations. Interestingly enough many of them have definite notions. Workers in some of the occupations, though, might not always like these opinions. And their statements if these impressions are common to many adolescents may explain why it is tough to find new recruits for the occupations. Three recent comments were:

"When I think of librarians, I always think of a quiet, mousy little person sitting in a pile of books and answering foolish questions."

"When I think of a scientist, I think of sort of an odd guy fooling around with test tubes, not paying much attention to anything else."

"When I think of a college professor, I think of some absent-minded character trying to cut his front lawn with a vacuum cleaner."

Anyone who has observed librarians, scientists, and college professors at work would know that these descriptions were not based upon careful study. Instead they were pictures which these adolescents developed without reliable information. You can see what reaction you might get if anyone suggested that the first student become a librarian. In helping boys and girls with educational and vocational planning, counselors and teachers have to begin many times with these distorted pictures. As soon as possible, they introduce students to reliable forms of information. Even then boys and girls may not wish to accept the information and instead may make only minor changes in their attitudes.

Counselors and teachers need more knowledge and skill to use information than most people recognize. Once again it is important to emphasize that counseling can help students understand how their needs can be met in school, at work, and during leisure-time. The opportunity for students to talk over their attitudes toward school achievement, vocational aspirations, and how they plan to make the best possible use of their talents cannot be stressed too much. They should be encouraged to start a collection of helpful occupational information when they enter high school. This practice should be continued until graduation.

A typical counselor's day demands considerable knowledge, as well as resources of information, if he is to satisfy all inquiries by students and parents. Cal is soon leaving junior high school and must choose among various senior high curricula and subjects. As he prepares to make these choices, he wants information about the curricula and what he can do with each one. He may also want rather definite information about the content of the school subjects in these curricula. Because he intends to graduate from senior high school, he must understand the graduation requirements.

Marsha is about ready to graduate from high school. Over a period of time she has been thinking about three possibilities after high school: beautiful school, airline hostess training, and nurses' training. She has needed much information, such as description of the occupations themselves, the kinds and descriptions of schools and training available, as well as how she could best use her high school program to prepare for them.

Henry has wanted to go into a branch of the armed services for a long time. He spent a lot of time looking over the materials furnished by the services.

He was searching for training in electronics. In addition, the many reserve and enlistment programs were carefully examined and discussed with the recruiting officers.

Joan has taken a college prep course. She has been undecided about attending a small college or a large university. She wanted information concerning entrance requirements, cost, kinds of courses and instruction available, housing facilities, and other resources. It was largely a matter of weighing one school against another, visiting a couple of them, and finding the one which would best meet her needs. Furthermore, she eventually wanted information and help in completing admission blanks.

While in high school, Russell developed an interest in the printing trades, taking the printing courses offered by the school. In addition, he sought information about apprenticeship programs, unions, two-year college programs in printing, trade schools, and the general outlook for finding jobs and getting ahead in the trade. Celia has never wanted to go to college and so she took commercial courses. She was particularly interested in the kinds of jobs available in her home town. This information included duties, salaries, fringe benefits, employment interviews and testing.

There are many kinds of materials, some free, available to students and their parents. To aid them in locating printed occupational materials which meet acceptable standards, they may wish to secure the NVGA Bibliography of Current Occupational Literature from the American Personnel and Guidance Association, 1605 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington 9, D.C.

Current occupational information is made available to many students through semi-monthly guidance publications. In addition students see films which show men and women at work, or they observe and talk with college students and workers themselves. Every community is a laboratory of educational and occupational life. In most instances young people need only the proper leadership from counselors and teachers.

Looking Ahead by Dr. George S. Benson DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM Searcy, Arkansas

The Harry Bridges Threat At the citadel of our national government in Washington recently Harry Bridges, one of the most powerful labor leaders in America, unquestioned boss of Pacific longshoremen, told the Congress of the United States that he would use his personal power and his strategic union's manpower to block American shipping at the request of his pals in Communist unions anywhere in the world. It was a shocking spectacle. It shook even some of the self-styled "liberals" in Congress whose actions over the years have made it easier for the Red conspiracy within the United States to steal our military secrets and get powerful footholds in many strategic organizations, including labor unions. But our U. S. government appeared to stand awed, powerless to cope with the defiant Bridges, who has twice been saved from deportation by the "liberal" majority of the U. S. Supreme Court. Confident of his great power as boss of the Pacific longshoremen, and obviously certain that he stood outside the reach of the law, Bridges lifted the specter of a crippling sub-stage-strike should the United States or our allies become involved militarily with international Communism. Aid For The Enemy Specifically, Bridges told the House Un-American Activities Committee that members of his union would boycott cargoes at the request of foreign unions - including those behind the Iron Curtain, which are 100 per cent Communist operated. He said that in event of war between Nationalist and Communist China he would use his personal and union's power to block United States aid to our ally, the Nationalists. He was asked point-blank whether he was a Communist. He refused to answer, taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment. He did talk freely on a few things calculated to hurt the United States and help international Communism. For instance, he sought to uphold the Communist propaganda charges that the United States used germ warfare in Korea. Our government has proved these charges to be utterly false. But, as he did on his recent trip to the headquarters of international Communism in Moscow, Bridges praised things Communistic and depreciated things American. Bridges' Background What is the background of this man Bridges who has challenged the sovereign power of the American people, our government and its leadership. He is a native of Australia, a labor union radical from youth, constantly associated with Communists and Communist causes, constantly peddling the Communist line. In 1941, the U. S. Justice Department, in a series of hearings which permitted Bridges to present a full defense, found (1) That he was a Communist; and (2) That the Communist Party advocated violent overthrow of the United States government. As an alien Communist, Bridges was ordered deported. In 1945, the Supreme Court in a 5-3 majority opinion written by Justice William O. Douglas declared that Bridges was not a member of the Communist Party although he might be affiliated with it - and the high court revoked the deportation order. Bridges immediately became a naturalized citizen. Convicted Again In 1950, a Federal Grand Jury in California indicted Bridges, and the Justice Department brought him to trial for perjury in denying Communist Party membership when he was naturalized. It was a jury trial. He was convicted and sentenced to five years, after which he would be deported. In convicting him the Jury concluded that Harry Bridges, in person and as all-powerful head of the longshoremen's union, "impeded the war effort in Korea" and constituted "a threat to U. S. security." Communists, fellow travelers and dupes went to work. A few weeks later Bridges was freed on bail by two judges of the 9th Federal Circuit Court. The third judge dissented, saying: "The danger here suggested (by having Bridges at large) is not a fanciful one. The ability of Bridges and his I. L. W. U. to paralyze Pacific Coast shipping has been demonstrated more than once." A Congressional study committee reported that Bridges' I. L. W. U. also has complete "economic control over Hawaii." But in 1953, the Supreme Court in a 4-3 decision overruled the California court verdict; lifted the sentence and freed Bridges!

No wonder Bridges now feels he is beyond the reach of U. S. law. As a citizen I am disturbed by this potential menace. I wrote every member of Congress, asking each one what he was going to do about the threat raised by Harry Bridges, and the danger of his great power as boss of the longshoremen. Next week: Their replies. During the Civil War, the Federal Navy paid a Frenchman $10,000 to build a submarine to sink the Confederate iron-clad Merrimac. But when a naval officer arrived to take command of the finished vessel, the inventor had disappeared (with his $10,000). As no one could figure out how to work the gadget, it never was of any use to the Navy. Last year one million quarter-inch drills were sold . . . not because people wanted quarter-inch drills, but because they wanted quarter-inch holes.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER Under the chairmanship of Sen. John Sparkman, the Senate Small Business Committee has been holding hearings on an issue that could well become one of the most destructive threats ever posed to small business.

The issue arose out of a Supreme Court decision in February which upheld the principle that states could levy income tax on that portion of the earnings made by a company in another state on C. W. Harder the sales in the taxing state. There are now 35 states with such income tax laws on their books, plus eight cities. The Supreme Court decision was 6 to 3, with strongly voiced minority opinions to the effect that this does nothing but set up trade barriers between states with all the attendant evils that for centuries plagued the economy of Europe. Many huge companies are not affected by this ruling, as they often operate on a local basis with their own subsidiary firms, or distributors, that pay local state income taxes as a business headquartered in that state. But the ruling is so broad that any food packer who sells through brokers, any small manufacturer who has sales representation in a state, can be required to pay a tax on profits of the business from that state. In the hearings held so far, there was ample evidence that many small firms will never be able to make out tax returns for the various states even if they hire armies of accountants.

For example, one small food packer, putting out some specialties of very limited use, but with distribution in all 50 states, pointed out that while his firm does $10,000,000 worth of business a year, in the course of conducting that business, it sends out 150,000 invoices. Thus, if this firm is to make out tax reports for the present states with such laws, it will have to keep track of each case and note where it is shipped, what special prices, or deals were involved, how much profit accrued from the sales of each of these items in each state, and in effect, go through a whole mass of paper work. Some small businesses will have an expense of several hundreds of dollars in preparing data and returns just to pay some state a tax bill not exceeding $10. There is also the question as to whether or not such a tax is collectible. There seems little doubt many business firms will let various state tax collectors whistle, from sheer necessity. There could also be a complete breakdown of retailer service and distribution in many lines. Thus, the situation is serious. And by far, the silliest part of the entire situation is this. For many businesses selling in a number of states, the amount of taxes that would even be paid to these states would be quite small. But the cost of preparing the tax reports would be ruinous. And in many cases the collecting processes by the states will cost more than the revenue realized. Thus, the tax system has finally evolved to a point where everybody loses money, but they make an awful lot of work for an awful lot of people.

WONDERFUL WORLD by WALDMAN Miracle of Beauty The most beautiful woman of history - Queen Nefertete - lived over 3,000 years ago in Ancient Egypt. The ancients believed she was granted the "miracle" of divine and immortal beauty. The Miracle of Love Perhaps the greatest love story ever known was told in Shakespeare's great tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet". The two young lovers died because of a bitter feud between their families (Juliet was only 14). Yet, their miraculous love story has lived on for hundreds of years. The Miracle of "Inner Moisture" Today's woman can have the greatest beauty... beautifully waved hair... by using the new Miracle Mist Lilt home permanent. Miracle Mist Lilt contains an amazing blend of moisturizing crystals which give hair "inner moisture"... that's why curls hold and held with miracle-managability.

Ed Sullivan is taking no chances of losing out on a Japanese ballet company as he did with Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet. Japan's Takarazuka Ballet is due here in August for a country-wide tour and Sullivan has already signed the company for his show in October... Bob Hope's schedule for next season tentatively calls for four hour-long specials, two two-hour "book" musicals and the inevitable swap-arrangement guest appearances... The Untouchables, a series for ABC by Desilu, will have Bill Williams as a regular; he appeared in the original show... "Killer Instinct," a prize-fight story, will star Rory (The Texan) Calhoun and Janice Rule on Desilu Playhouse... To make certain it can continue to use the eatery's name, the network bought the place... Self-appointed critics of Fred Astaire's Best Actor Emmy shouldn't feel too bad. Winner of the recent Asian Film Festival's Best Performance award was an actor named Aiddie Ali. He is just three years old. (All rights reserved - TV GUIDE)

ODDLY ENOUGH by WALDMAN The secrets of glass-making were once confined to Murano, a tiny island near Venice. If an artisan escaped, his family was held as hostages; when captured, he was put to death. In the mid-1600's, France's Louis XIV sought to break the monopoly. Through bribery, intrigue and violence he spirited away a few craftsmen; founded the St. Gobain works. Among the first orders: Mirrors for Versailles and the palace of Peter the Great. Today's orders are still spectacular; include a glass bed for a maharajah... a glass home for France's leading book designer. Most dramatic recent development - Duralex, the world's first virtually unbreakable glass tableware.

OVER THE GARDEN WALLS

A COLUMN FOR HOMEOWNERS

Lawn mowers have really been getting a workout this year. Usually lawns dry up in mid summer. Not this year. Heavier than usual rains have made the difference.

Double Drain on Soil
These rains have helped to wash plant food out of the soil. And since grass has been actively growing for a longer-than-usual season, it has used up more plant food than in normal years. This has been a double drain on the soil.

That's why it will really pay to apply fertilizer in early fall. Fertilizer applied in late August or early September will give grass a new lease on life—enable it to go into the winter dormant season with a good supply of nutrients. It's a little like a hibernating bear: a good feed helps it through the winter.
Your best guide for how much fertilizer or lime to put on is to have your soil tested. Your county agent can give you a soil sample box with instructions on how to send the soil to the University of Maryland Soil Testing Laboratory for a free soil analysis. Based on this analysis your county agent will recommend the right amount of fertilizer and lime to apply.

Getting a soil test will be doubly important if you are planting new lawns, or reseeding bare spots in established lawns. Fertilizer and lime will be needed in the right amounts to get new seedlings off to a fast start. And the only way to be sure you are applying the right amount is to get a soil test.
Wet Weather Woes
Although wet weather has made the gardens grow like crazy, it has added to gardeners' woes. Dampness favors weeds and plant diseases just as much as it does your flowers and vegetables.
Keep spraying with fungicides, even if you get discouraged trying to figure when you spray so that the rain won't wash them off the next day. Weekly intervals between sprays are best in rainy weather. If it's dry you could spray every 10 days and be safe. The important thing is to spray and to get thorough coverage.
Remember, sprays won't cure plant diseases but they will prevent them.
Your county agent can give you some helpful University of Maryland Extension Service publications on disease and insect control.
Garden Notes
Check your apple trees and cut out any wood killed by fire-blight. Cut 2 inches below the dead area to be sure you're getting rid of the disease organisms. Burn prunings.
If you notice brilliant orange tendrils twining around your chrysanthemums, ivy, petunia or other flowers, you've got a problem: dodder. Dodder is a parasite. Once started it's nasty. Dodder grows from the tiniest pieces of plant, so be sure you get it all. Matter of fact, it will pay you to get rid of the flowers you found it on. Because if it ever gets a head start in your garden, you've got a real problem!
August is a good time to transplant your bearded iris, oriental poppy or lilies. Poppies are deep-rooted, so make sure you get all the roots.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE
Read Psalm 24.
I lift up my eyes to the hills. From whence does my help come? My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth. (Psalm 121:1-2. RSV.)
A boy and his father were climbing a mountain, together with a guide who had been employed to lead them to the top. As they stopped to rest at a particularly beautiful spot, they looked down on the valleys far below.
"Guide," asked the boy, "do you ever see God here?"
"My boy," said the guide, "it is getting so I hardly see anything else. I see Him in the trees, in the mountain streams, in the blooming flowers. I see Him everywhere."

Essay Contest Being Sponsored By VFW Auxiliary

The opening of its 25th annual National High School Essay Contest was announced this week by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The topic will be "Civil Defense—An American Tradition."
Students in all public, private and parochial high schools are eligible to enter the contest. National prizes are: First, $1,000 cash; second, $500; third, $250; and fourth, $100; plus 20 cash honorable mention awards. In addition, the federal Office of Civil Defense Mobilization will award a $100 U. S. Savings Bond to the first-place winner in each state. State and local contest winners also receive additional Auxiliary awards which vary with the community.

The essay contest was started by the VFW Auxiliary in 1935 to encourage young people to think and write on patriotic subjects. During the last school year more than 35,000 students from all 50 states and the District of Columbia entered the national contest. Dr. Shane MacCarthy, director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness, was chairman of the national judges.
Further information on the 1959-60 contest may be obtained from local Auxiliary units, or from the Essay Department, VFW Auxiliary, 406 West 34th Street, Kansas City 11, Mo.

The station wagon has added much to the convenience of camping because it will carry so much equipment and luggage—particularly for two people. When the luggage is removed the rear seat folds down and a most comfortable bed can be made on the floor. All outfitters are now supplying double air mattresses and double sleeping bags which just fit on the floor. The gear you need, even for two in a station wagon, is more bulky than you would imagine, for besides the bedding you will have suitcases for your personal effects, a gasoline stove and fuel for it, food and other equipment. If there are more than two people in the party, then some kind of a tent becomes necessary to provide the additional sleeping shelter.

Auxiliary members annually give more than three million dollars, and more than six million hours, to volunteer service for hospitalized veterans and their families, community service, Americanism programs, assistance to youth groups, civil defense and legislation benefiting veterans and their families. Members are the wives, mothers, sisters, daughters and widows of veterans who have served overseas in the U. S. armed forces, or women who have themselves had overseas service.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kestm...

Ever since the invention of the motor car people have contrived, in one way or another, to adapt their vehicles to outdoor living. However, now that U. S. manufacturers have become convinced of the present and future potential of auto camping, they have pulled out all stops and the general public is being offered a variety of helpful products, the most important of which is the station wagon.
In 1950 under ten million campers spent $74 million on their equipment, states Col. Townsend Whelen, Camping Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Last year these figures jumped to a startling 22 million Americans spending $385 million to camp out-of-doors. Experts believe that this is just the beginning.

The modern station wagon is the greatest incentive and aid to camping that has appeared in our generation. With one you can visit and camp in any of the beauty spots and congenial climates in the country, places that heretofore you merely dreamed about; camping and touring with a station wagon is one of the most economical of all vacations. The gas bill is the only expense, for you would have to have your food at home anyway. Today almost one out of every ten cars on the highway is a station wagon. A great many of these wagons are loaded with camp duffel.
Between 1950 and 1955 camper attendance registered in state and national parks increased from 10 million to 20 million, and registration has been increasing 10 per cent a year since then. There are today literally thousands of public campgrounds in state and national parks and forests, as well as roadside campgrounds, some of them free, some charging from 50 cents to a dollar per car per night, most of them providing free facilities such as water, washing and toilet. Many more campgrounds are being opened annual-

Federal Tax Ruling Benefits Mothers

A Federal tax ruling of probable benefit to many mothers of the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, was explained this week by Ellis R. Rogers, Acting District Director of Internal Revenue, in amplifying Revenue Ruling 55-263, C.B. 1955-1,16.

He explained: "The ruling holds that sickness for the purpose of the 'sick pay' exclusion exists from the commencement of labor to termination of period during which a woman is physically incapacitated as a result of childbirth or miscarriage."
"This means," Rogers said, "if the amount you receive under a plan for such a period of incapacity is at the rate of $100.00 a week or less, the entire amount is exempt from tax provided certain conditions are met. If you receive more than a weekly rate of $100.00, the amount in excess of a weekly rate of $100.00 is taxable income."

Mr. Rogers said the ruling also provides that a written statement by a physician that the taxpayer was advised to remain at home for a specified time or times because of a substantial danger of miscarriage, will also generally be considered sufficient to establish "sickness" for purposes of the sick pay exclusion.

Under these rulings, he said, wages or payments in lieu of wages for periods of absence due to other actual sickness occurring during a period of pregnancy may qualify for the exclusion, but not pregnancy alone. However, no exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first week of absence from work in any case unless the taxpayer is hospitalized at least one day during the absence, he added.

Rogers emphasized this point, that in any case, a written statement by the physician explaining the time required to be absent from work, in accordance with the rules explained above, should accompany the claim or return.

In general, claims for refund of tax may be filed for 1956, 1957 or 1958. Claims should be filed on Form 843 by those who can qualify for the exclusion, Mr. Rogers said.

Blank Forms 843 and assistance may be obtained at your local Internal Revenue Office.

Association Stresses Benefits Derived By Chest X-rays

Frank J. Fischer, President of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, has announced that chest X-ray surveys for the detection of tuberculosis and other diseases, continue to be one of the Association's chief services. This policy is in keeping with the recommendations of a recent report made by the American Trudeau Society, medical section of the National Tuberculosis Association.

In addition to using its own chest X-ray facilities, the Association cooperates with local and state health departments in conducting tuberculosis control programs, Mr. Fischer stated.

He explained that the report advises minimizing the individual to radiation. "The kernel of the problem of radiation effects," Mr. Fischer quoted from the report, "is awareness by the public, physicians and tuberculosis workers that the while subject is one of weighing the benefits of radiography against the known and possible effects of radiation exposure."

It should remain clear, the report continues, that radiation "that serves a useful and necessary purpose is warranted" but "should be used with the best protective devices to minimize exposure."

Mr. Fischer stated that all chest X-ray equipment used in the various chest X-ray surveys conducted throughout the state is inspected regularly. "We are glad to say we use every protective device," he added.

The report continues to say that chest X-ray surveys be held among segments of the population which are expected to show a high yield of thoracic disease.

Mr. Fischer concluded by stating, "The chest X-ray is the best means of detecting tuberculosis we have. We urge everyone over the age of eighteen to have a chest X-ray made every year."

The cooperation of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association in chest X-ray surveys is made possible by the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

More than 1000 students, from all of Maryland's 23 counties, who will enter the University of Maryland as freshman in the fall, will visit the College Park campus, in groups of 25, for a two-day pre-college program.

The sessions, to be held between now and September 9, have been designed to help the new college student in making the transition between high school and the university. The two days will provide each student with a personal introduction to the university and its many offerings.

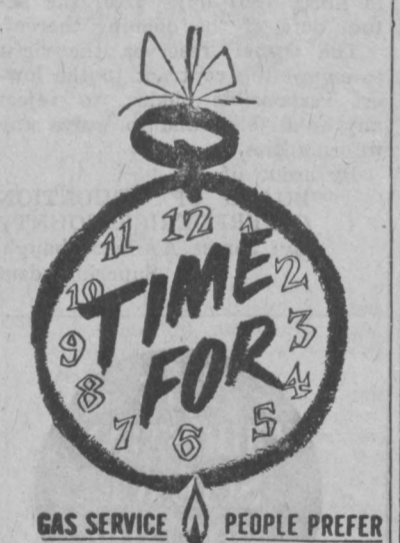

Among the activities on the first day will be a review of the university Counseling Center's study skills and counseling programs. Counselors will discuss ways of planning a career and the university's resources which are available to help him. Each student will participate in programs designed to acquaint him with library facilities, the Health Service, the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps, the residential program, and the cultural activities available on a large campus.

On the second day the entering freshman will meet the dean of his college for a discussion of the objectives of the college and the special opportunities which are available to him. He will be helped in planning his first academic program. Credits, honor points, probation, prerequisites, matriculation are but a few of the college terms with which the student will become acquainted during the sessions.

The pre-college program will supplement the regular freshman orientation week.

Sun Glare Control Advised By Expert

Is the glare of the hot sun getting you down?

For comfort these days, here are a few tips from the Maryland Optometric Association to help you:

1. Stay in shaded areas as much as possible.
2. If long exposed to the sun, especially in boating or on the beach, wear sun-glasses which let in visible light but keep out harmful infra-red and ultra-violet light.
3. If you usually wear glasses, have sun-glasses ground to your individual prescription.
4. Be sure to wear sun-glasses when driving many hours. Latest research by Dr. Robert H. Peckham of the Eye Research Foundation, Bethesda, Md., shows that half of the drivers in the U. S. have unsatisfactory retinal sensitivity at dusk and dark. Retinal sensitivity is materially better in drivers who make a habit of wearing sun-glasses.

5. Don't strain your ability to stand glare. When driving a long distance, pull over to the side for brief intervals to rest your eyes.

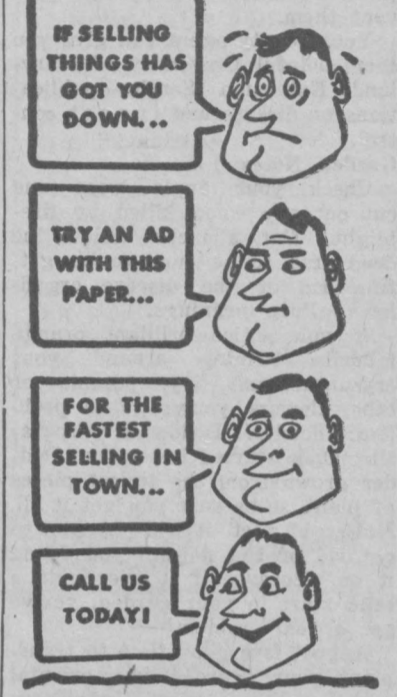

It's the glare, a matter of brilliance, rather than temperature or heat, that often causes eye discomfort, the Maryland Optometric Association said.

SOLID COPPER AND BRASS star in your outdoor setting, making your table elegant, preparations simple. Bring your prettiest copper and brass accessories right into the back yard on hot days, and enjoy the great outdoors without sacrificing indoor comfort and ease.

Your copper or brass chafing dish can often do double-duty. Prepare an "all-in-one" meal (cream of mushroom soup and shrimp, for example) right in the top pan, directly over the flame, and use the bottom pan separately for rolls and bread sticks. A brass cooler on its own stand for chilled drinks; a copper and brass ice bucket to hold extra ice; brass ice tongs; a round brass tray for glasses—your table's set to shine in the summer entertaining picture!

Easy way to serve: use individual trays, serving each guest his meal on a compact, portable unit.

New Awards Offered In 4-H Beef Project

News Photo.

Pretty 4-H'er Carol Payne is not just posing for a provocative picture. She was spotted sitting beside her beef animal entry at a 4-H Junior Livestock Show looking over the day's program. Carol not only owned the animal, but she raised and fitted it. And her 4-H record proves that she has been a consistent livestock winner with her animals for the past several years.

This capable Michigan co-ed is one of 138,000 club members across the nation engaged in a 4-H beef project. Under the guidance of Extension workers and local club leaders, these young cattle raisers learn how to feed, fit, show, and market their animals.

A new opportunity to earn valuable 4-H beef project awards is being offered this year for the first time by E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Company through arrangements made with the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Many boys and girls have earned enough money from sales and awards to pay their way through college. Others have accumulated a sizeable savings account earmarked for a farm of their own.

Du Pont has provided funds for six national 4-H college scholarships of $400 each; an expense paid trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress for each state winner; newly designed gold-filled medals for county winners, according to the National Committee.

How To Plan Your Kitchen

Are you planning a new kitchen? If you are, here are a few suggestions that can help you arrange a convenient and pleasant kitchen work center for your home.

Begin by making a scale outline of the room on a piece of graph paper. Use a simple scale, such as 1/2 or 3/4 in. equal to 1 ft. Be as accurate as possible, making your scale drawing conform closely to the wall dimensions. Indicate all doors and windows.

Next, make scale cut-outs of all appliances, cabinets, counters and furniture you want in your new kitchen. Now you are ready to arrange the cut-outs according to a plan based on the most efficient use of the available space.

- There are four basic plans for kitchen arrangement:
1. Single wall line-up
 2. Parallel walls
 3. L-shape
 4. U-shape

If your kitchen area is small, it's best to use the single or parallel wall plans. The L and U-shaped plans are real step savers in larger kitchens.

Don't be satisfied with your first arrangement. Try various plans until you find the one most suitable for you and your family. This practical method of kitchen planning prevents mistakes and disappointment later on—and it's lots of fun.

Successful kitchen planning includes wise selection of work-saving appliances. If your home is located in suburban, town or rural areas, you can have the most modern gas appliances with liquefied petroleum gas service. L.P. Gas bulk tanks and cylinders provide a dependable and economical source of fuel for millions of new and remodelled homes beyond city gas mains.

Edgar Albert Guest

On Friday, August 8, 1959, funeral services were held for poet, Edgar A. Guest, who died at the age of 77, at his home in Detroit, Michigan. This writer joins with all America in paying a final tribute to one of America's best loved poets.

Edgar Albert Guest was born in Birmingham, England on August 20, 1881. He was brought to the United States at the age of ten, and after a brief schooling held a number of jobs in Detroit, finally becoming a reporter on the Free Press. His verse was printed in a weekly column in that paper beginning at the turn of the century. It has been estimated that Edgar A. Guest has written over 10,000 pieces of poetry, all of them light verse concerned with the interests and attitudes of simple people, expressed with disarming directness.

In 1902, Guest became an American citizen and in 1916 his first commercially published book was placed on the market. A year later in 1917, his "Just Folks" was published which drew wide acclaim. In 1938 "All In A Lifetime" was published.

What kind of a man was Guest, you may ask? This, I believe, can best be answered by one of his own poems, "My Creed", which presents clearly his philosophy in life.

"My Creed"
To live as gently as I can;
To be, no matter where, a man;
To take what comes of good or ill

And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best, and let that stand
The record of my brain and hand;
And then, should failure come to me,
Still work and hope for victory.

To have no secret place wherein
I stoop unseen to shame or sin;
To be the same when I'm alone
As when my every deed is known;
To live undaunted, unafraid
Of any step that I have made;
To be without pretense or sham
Exactly what men think I am.

To leave some simple mark behind
To keep my having lived in mind;
If enmity not aught I show,
To be an honest, generous foe,
To play my little part, nor whine
That greater honors are not mine.
This, I believe, is all I need
For my philosophy and creed.

This creed of Edgar A. Guest is indeed a fine one and it would do us all good to follow such a creed and in so doing, we as individuals would contribute more toward peace and understanding than we could ever realize was possible. Upon such philosophy lies the peace which all nations are striving for. It can only be reached by each individual following such a creed as written by Edgar A. Guest.

His poem "Home" is one of his most famous works, in which he opens and closes with this line: "It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make it home." He wrote of the everyday things in life and the following titles are proof of his deep interest in the simple things of life. "Old Friends", "At Breakfast Time", "How Do You Tackle Your Work?", "Canning Time", "Raisin Pie", "Ma And Her Check Book", "Who Is Your Boss", "Selling The Old Home", "Women Who Bait Fish Hooks", and many more.

Some 500 mourners gathered at St. Paul's Cathedral in Detroit to pay a final tribute to Edgar A. Guest, who was known the world over for his poems, newspaper articles, and was often known as a philanthropist. This writer feels that no greater tribute can be paid to Guest than to consider his poem "Absent". In life we loved and respected him.

In death we honor him with the thoughts as expressed in his poem. "Absent"
I sometimes think of them as here
Or very near,
Who have from this world gone away.

Sometimes by day
I fancy Marjorie appears,
Despite the absence all these years,
To smile away my doubts and fears.

And sometimes comes the father,
too,
The look I knew
So long ago of gentle grace
Upon his face
Shines out as clear
As when we walked together here,
And I am sure he's standing near.

The old friends, one by one, return,
As if to learn
The gossip of the passing day.

In some strange way
In fancy I can see them there
Beside the bookcase or the stair,
Or in an old, familiar chair.

It is not given to us to know
Just where they go,
Oh is Heaven near or far away
No man can say;
But there are times I seem to hear
Them whispering softly in my ear:
"Don't worry. We are very near."

In the days before chaplains were a part of the Navy, Art. 2 of the "Rules for the Regulation of the Navy" stated, "The Commanders of ships are to take care that divine be performed twice a day on board, and a sermon preached on Sundays unless bad weather or other extraordinary accidents prevent it."

Four-In-One Vaccine Newest Weapon

DETROIT—A new, "four-in-one" vaccine designed to simultaneously protect children against paralytic polio, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus (lockjaw), is being distributed this week throughout the United States. The vaccine, Quadragen, reduces the number of injections required to immunize children against the four diseases. The result of three years of intensive research by Parke, Davis & Company at its laboratories in Detroit, Mich., Quadragen combines polio vaccine with a three-in-one injection—diphtheria and tetanus toxoids and pertussis vaccine—now in general use by physicians. Production of the vaccine is an intricate procedure conducted under the most rigid aseptic conditions and requires a minimum of six months to complete one lot. Each of the four components of Quadragen—polio and pertussis vaccines and diphtheria and tetanus toxoids—is produced separately. After each is run through a complicated process that involves the addition of aluminum phosphate, it undergoes rigid testing to insure potency, safety and sterility. Using a complex formula, measured quantities (1) of the four components are pooled in a large stainless steel vat. The pooled material—three months have elapsed up to this point—is blended and drained into glass containers. Samples from each container undergo further tests, both by the company and by the U. S. National Institutes of Health Laboratories. Upon receipt of government approval of each lot—there are approximately 300,000 doses in a single lot—the packaging operation begins. Vials containing enough vaccine for nine injections, are automatically filled (2). Parke-Davis' constant vigil to assure the quality and potency of Quadragen continues throughout this process. One such phase is the inspector (3) who uses a mirror to double check each vial of the "four-in-one" vaccine before it is packaged. The vials are then hand-packed into individual cartons, placed into larger cartons (4) which are then weighed, inspected, and packaged in still larger containers for swift air-shipment to physicians, hospitals and pharmacists throughout the United States.

Milk Producers Urge Cooperation

A call for unity among dairy farmers selling their milk in the Chesapeake Bay area, which includes Baltimore and portions of the Western and Eastern Shores, was made last Saturday by Edgar G. Emrich, President of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc.

"If every dairy farmer whose milk is shipped to these areas sold through the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., each of us would receive some thirty cents per hundredweight more than we do at present", Mr. Emrich said. He was addressing the semi-annual meeting of the dairy farmers' Cooperative, held in the auditorium of the Westminster High School. Despite torrential rains, a large group of MCMP members, several of them from the Eastern Shore, came to the meeting.

Mr. Emrich's remarks came toward the close of a meeting which was opened by a report from Assistant Secretary-Treasurer C. D. Baer, appearing in place of Secretary and Treasurer R. L. Strook, unable to appear because of a death in his family. Mr. Baer recounted activities of the MCMP Board of Directors and management during the first half of the year and presented a statement of the Cooperative's financial status for the period, as compared with 1958. Income from membership service deductions amounted to $283,684.91 against $302,750.95 for 1958, Mr. Baer said, adding that other income (government bond interest, etc.) amounted to $22,763.79, an increase over the $17,615.45 for last year. Income saved was $83,712.96 or $52,961.59 above 1958.

Mr. Baer's report was followed by one from Business Manager W. P. Sadler who stated that the good financial statement resulted from wise decisions by the Board of Directors and faithful work on the part of the MCMP staff.

The immediate problem is bringing the Federal Milk Marketing Order into effect, Mr. Sadler continued, adding that opposition originated on the Eastern Shore, where three dairy operators opposed the inclusion of the 'Shore counties in the Chesapeake Bay Area Order, despite the fact that the great majority of 'Shore farmers are already included in the four such Orders—Philadelphia 61, New York 27, Wilmington 110 and Washington 2.

"The 'Shore advertising began with complete fallacies, such as 'we don't want any Federal regulation on the Eastern Shore'", Mr. Sadler said. "I tried to get together with Congressman Thomas F. Johnson, of that District but had no success until Mr. Zeigler (Frank D. Zeigler Jr. of Denton, Caroline County) came to our assistance. Then I was able to tell the Congressman that he was either misinformed or was being used. In fairness to him, I have not seen anything more, for or against the Order, in his weekly newspaper column.

"We have made some effort to ascertain who actually published in the Baltimore Sunpapers and 11 Western Shore county papers the full page ads signed by the 'Consumers Protective League'. We believe that they were paid for by several small milk buyers in an attempt to impress Senator Beall and Senator Butler.

"About $1,500,000 annual increase to farmers is 'riding' on the Federal Order for the Chesapeake Bay area. If the Eastern Shore is excluded, this figure will drop by some $500,000. No wonder dealers are willing to spend between $2,500 and $3,000 on one advertisement in opposition."

Car Care Tips For New Drivers

With the privilege of a brand-new driver's license goes the responsibility of car-care. Here are tips for new drivers, to keep a car looking its very best. Clean the inside first. Use a lightweight portable hand vacuum such as the Singer Magic Mite, with an outdoor extension cord. Swivel seats sideways to reach area beneath; do carpet, glove compartment, dashboard, insides of doors, the well for the convertible top and finally the seats. If seats are spotted, use soap and water on plastic or upholstery cleaners on fabric. Dodge service experts offer tips on outside care: use special wash powder available at most service stations, a soft sponge and running water. Rinse and dry with clean, damp chamois. Use water on chrome and glass cleaner on windows. For a convertible top, remove surface dust with vacuum and wash with clean water and castile-type soap. It's always more fun to drive a car that is sparkling clean, and new drivers should start now to make a lifetime habit of good car care.

ple taking high school and college courses after the age of 50 do as well—think as clearly and make as good marks—as youngsters in their twenties taking the same courses.

Dr. Wilma Donahue, a specialist in old age at the University of Michigan, says that if you're going to think you're old, and shun new contacts and outside interests, why, you're going to be old. The march of time and the accidents of physical health bring on old age, all right, Dr. Donahue says. But so does the way you look at it, your mental attitude. Stop thinking, let yourself get lazy mentally, and you're doing as much to make yourself old as if you got physically sick and emotionally worn out. Using your mind in trying to learn something new keeps up our ability to think and learn. What's more, it enables you to stand up better to the stresses and strains of living.

Dr. Donahue admits that when things go really wrong, when emotional troubles pile up, an older person can suffer loss of mental ability. But if you have developed outside interests and kept your mind active, you can fight back from that sort of weakness much better than if you've been just letting yourself run down with the years like a wornout motor.

Take a course. Study something new—how to play a musical instrument or to make ceramics. Keep your mind active by contact with younger minds—in an evening course in French at the high school, for instance. If you can't find a school to go to, work out a course of reading with your librarian in town and go at it as though you were back in school. To stay young, keep your brain active.
