It was bound to happen but why it didn't come sooner I couldn't understand. Some one has contested a raise in the assessment value of their property in Frederick County and this undoubtedly will be a forerunner for more protests to come, just as soon as the public is aware of the proper procedure and is fully informed of its right to protest such assessments. In this initial protest case a Chevy Chase woman who owns property in Frederick City has entered a formal protest. The first sum under the recent assessment came to $9,000. After appealing the amount as being too high, the County Commissioners reduced it to $7,500 but still the owner felt the assessment unfair. Her attorney has filed an appeal with the State Tax Court. Should the party concerned feel she didn't get a reasonable reduction from the court, she still will have another opportunity to appeal it with the Frederick County Circuit Court. Many property owners locally have become aware of the fact that our taxes are too high and that we here reside in a non-industrial area, have to pay the same county and state tax rate as those citizens who are making double the salary as many do locally. They feel the inequity is too burdensome and that the only "break" they could have would be a lower assessment on their homes. It has worked a real hardship and imposition on many families here with fixed incomes and they are wondering how they can manage. Well, if you are not satisfied with your assessment figure the proper procedure for an appeal has been outlined for you in the above paragraph.

At last someone is trying to block the increase in the cost of living and place a check on the inflationary trend. One big car manufacturer, GM in fact, has decided to hold the line this year as far as price increases, and brother I mean this is a real rarity. Most likely other vehicle producers will be forced in line to maintain last year's prices, regardless of the steel strike and the resultant price increase. Now then, if we can persuade the meat dealers to keep the price of the cow from jumping over the moon, maybe a lot of others will fall into the pattern and check this vicious inflationary cycle.

The present Indian summer we are experiencing is not hard to take following the quick change in weather we had last weekend. A trifle on the hot and humid side, the warm weather has produced a rash of sniffles and colds and the demand for drugs and remedies has mounted steadily despite the pleasant weather. If you will remember correctly, last Friday we had frost here when the old thermometer dipped to a chilly high 38 and we all were sent scurrying for the thermostat and were calling the oil or coal man. The spell didn't last long though and once again we are enjoying summer weather, even though it's a trifle on the warm side.

HOUSE SHOWER

A house shower was given in honor of Mrs. Harry Wood on Saturday, September 12 by Miss Mary Helen Wood and Miss Ruth Hash. It was held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hess.

Those present were: Mrs. Chas. Hess; Mrs. John Wood; Earl Eyer; Mrs. Emma Wills; Mr. and Mrs. Dencil Hash; Mrs. Lottie Boyer and Connie; Mrs. Grace Ridenour and children, Shirley and Terry; Mrs. Edith Smith and children, Nancy and Linda; Mr. James Carson; Mrs. Chas. Hobbs; Miss Margaret Hobbs, and Mrs. Edgar Ashbaugh.

Refreshments were served and the hostess opened the gifts. Those who sent gifts but unable to attend were: Mrs. Virginia Reid; Miss Ruth Hash, Miss Virginia Adams; Miss Peggy Welch; Miss Josephine Wetzel, and Miss Peggy Hardman. Many lovely gifts were received.

Miss Virginia Topper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Topper, has enrolled as a freshman at Towson State Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Long and Mr. and Mrs. James Long spent last Wednesday at the York Fair.

Roads Board To Make County Survey

The Frederick County Commissioners met with top officials of the Frederick County Roads Department Tuesday afternoon to prepare the steps necessary for the creation of the 1960 Frederick County roads program.

It was agreed that County Engineer O. Wilson Runkles would submit to the commissioners by October 1 the first tentative outline of a roads program for next year, based upon his knowledge of present and probable future road conditions in the county.

Using this tentative program as a guide, members of the Frederick County Roads Board will make a two-day tour of the 1,000-mile county roads system on October 21 and 22 with the County Commissioners and County Attorney Goodloe E. Byron.

On the night of October 22, the Roads Board, including the commissioners, will meet with Runkles and other Roads Department officials to make their revisions in the proposed 1960 roads program.

Finally, on November 1, the County Commissioners will release to the public the final roads program for next year, including any revisions they might have made as the final authority on all county roads projects.

Runkles pointed out at the Court House meeting Tuesday afternoon that in preparing the program for next year, the commissioners should keep in mind that all Federal Aid projects must now be completed before the Federal share is paid to the county.

The commissioners said they might consider calling in the newly appointed State Roads Commission expert on Federal Aid projects to help them find ways and means of financing such roads pending their completion.

It was announced that the Bridgeport Road near Emmitsburg at the Carroll County line and the Lander Road would be considered for the 1960 roads program. Both of these roads have recently been treated with calcium chloride to keep down the dust until permanent repairs can be made next year.

ATTORNEY NIKIRK PLEADS INNOCENT TO TAX CHARGES

State's attorney for Frederick County, Edwin F. Nikirk, pleaded innocent to charges of evading $10,424 federal income taxes, last Friday at a hearing before U. S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins.

The 43-year-old Nikirk's plea was entered by counsel at a brief arraignment before the judge.

Defense Counsel Cornelius P. Mundy of Baltimore argued and was given until Oct. 15 to file motions in behalf of the prosecutor and requested a jury trial.

Nikirk remained silent throughout the proceedings, which had been delayed by his illness. He stood between Mundy and another defense attorney, Benjamin Rosentock of Frederick.

Assistant U. S. Atty. John G. Underwood told the court the trial could be expected to take a "minimum of three weeks."

Nikirk, who has continued as prosecutor since his indictment last Jan. 5, was charged with improperly reporting his income while engaged in private practice between 1952 and 1954.

The government charged his income for the three years was $56,143 with a tax of $13,956 due. The indictment charged that Nikirk's return listed income of $20,844 for the three years, with a tax of $3,532.

Nikirk, a native of Frederick County, is a former chairman of the county's Democratic Committee. He began practicing law in Frederick in 1938 after his graduation from the University of Baltimore Law School.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Florence G. Keller; three sons, Albert W., New Cumberland; Clarence C., Camp Hill, and William C., Harrisburg; two daughters, Mrs. Blanche G. Ryan, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Evelyn M. Myers, Emmitsburg; a brother, J. W. Keller, Wormleysburg.

The Rev. Francis J. Stauble, Philadelphia, is spending a few days at St. Vincent's Rectory, De Paul St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PTA HOLDS INITIAL MEETING

The initial meeting of the new school year of the Emmitsburg High School PTA was held Wednesday evening in the school cafeteria with the president, Daniel J. Nail, presiding. All classrooms were open for visitation for a half hour prior to the start of the meeting at 8 p. m.

The meeting was opened with the singing of America and prayers were offered by Rev. John C. Chatlos, pastor of the "Church of the Incarnation." Mrs. Frank Webb, program chairman, introduced Charles Putman, president of the Frederick County PTA Council and Mrs. Harry Stull, secretary of the council. Both guests related to the group of the work being done by the Council and plans for its forthcoming meetings. The speakers urged Emmitsburg participation in the Council's work. Appointments to the standing committees were notified by the executive council of their respective appointments and a discussion followed on activities for the coming school year and future meetings. The group decided that an activities committee should be formed and that any such activities planned should be reported at the next meeting of the association.

Mrs. Walter's room was awarded the attendance banner for having present the largest number of parents. It was unanimously agreed that a letter of appreciation should be sent to the Superintendent of Schools for the recent improvements made to the local school. Following adjournment, the business session, refreshments were served.

CHARLES M. FISCLE
Charles M. Fische, 78, Gettysburg R2, died Tuesday in a Harrisburg hospital. He was a native of Adams County and a son of the late Reuben and Rosella Hartman Fische. His wife, Myrtle, died in 1958.

Surviving are these children: James, John and Richard, all of Gettysburg R2; Mrs. Charles Hoffman, Gettysburg; Mrs. J. Earl Elder, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Lawrence J. Elder, McKeesport, and Mrs. William Woodward, Littlestown. There are 31 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Peters Funeral Home, Gettysburg, with the Rev. William Penstermaker, pastor of the Methodist Church, Gettysburg, officiating. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery, Gettysburg. Friends may call at the funeral home from noon Saturday until the hour of the services. Please omit flowers.

446 Enrolled At Local School
Emmitsburg High School started off school this year in a newly reodeled building, with an enrollment of 446; 225 in high school and 221 in the elementary grades.

Six teachers are starting their first year at Emmitsburg. The new teachers include Mrs. Sara Nikirk, who teaches World History, French, English, and Problems of Democracy; Mr. Allen Robertson, Core, 7 and 8; and Miss Sylvia Howarth who teaches fourth grade. Part time teachers are the art teacher, Miss Ann Misfeldt, Miss Shirley Derrenbacher, girls' Physician Education and Mr. George Ayersman, who teaches driver training.

Knights Of Columbus Plan Social Affair Here On October 8

Thirty-six members were in attendance at the regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, held in the council home Monday night, Grand Knight Curtis D. Topper presiding.

A communication was read informing the group that a new field agent, William Potthart, had been appointed. The Council instructed its third degree committee to prepare for an exemplification of the degree in the near future. John H. Walter was appointed as the new chairman of the Council activities committee, replacing Guy A. Baker Jr., whose resignation was accepted due to

Cooperative Group Meets

The annual District 7, F.H.A.C. held its meeting in Westminster at Hoffman's Inn Tuesday, Sept. 15. Miss Mattie Kessler, the Director of Womens' Program for Southern States, was in charge. The meeting was from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Every one enjoyed a very delicious lunch at 12:30 at which time happy birthday was sung to Janice Valentine. The morning was spent in a discussion and game period and in the afternoon, we were given a short course in home decorating and ways of using Unico paints. Everyone enjoyed a very nice time.

Those from Emmitsburg Southern States were: Janice Valentine, chairman, Gladys Keilholtz, Rose Wivell, Polly Watkins, Shirley Long and Mary Wivell, secretary. Mrs. Ralph Lindsey was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Sanders and family, Fairfield, visited Mrs. Sanders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagermen, Thursday evening.

Mr. Charles H. Myers, W. Main St., is confined to his home suffering from pneumonia.

Miss Wivell Wed To Edward Reeve

St. Anthony's Shrine, Emmitsburg, decorated with vases of white gladioli, was the setting Saturday, Sept. 5 for the wedding of Miss Helen Josephine Wivell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Wivell, Emmitsburg, and Sheridan Edward Reeve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Reeve, Keymar.

Mrs. Alma Seltzer, church organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Richard Ashcraft, friend of the groom, who sang, "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling" while the couple presented the bride's bouquet to the Blessed Mother, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "I Need Thee Precious Jesus," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "Panis Angelicus" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over net and satin with a chapel train, a fitted bodice with an insert of net at the neckline graced by iridescent sequins and long sleeves that came to a point over the hands. The gown was worn over several hoops and the neckline was trimmed with a mandarin collar. Her fingertip veil of nylon illusion fell from a crown of lace embroidered sequins and seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli stuffed with white roses and pompons.

Miss Therese Wivell, sister of the bride, maid of honor, wore a dress of white nylon with tiny rose yellow print with matching cummerbund and yellow matching picture hat and elbow gloves, gift of the bride. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow pompons.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Catherine Reeve, sister of the bridegroom; Genevieve Wivell, sister of the bride; Nora Knott and Joan Orndorff, friends of the bride. Their dresses were fashioned identical to that of the maid of honor's except the colors were pink and blue, with picture hats to match and elbow gloves, gift of the bride. Each wore a single strand of pearls. They carried bouquets of pink and white, blue and white pompons with matching ribbons.

James Reeve, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Paul Wivell, brother of the bride; Donald Reeve, brother of the bridegroom; James Hemler and Fred Sherman, friends of the bridegroom.

Michael Reese, Hanover a nephew of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer and the flower girls were Sherry Crushong, Taneytown, a cousin of the bride, and Vicki Wivell, Rocky Ridge, a niece of the bride. The flower girls wore green organza and carried golden baskets of green and white pompons.

For the wedding, Mrs. Wivell was attired in a pink lace dress with white and pink accessories and a pink and white corsage of mixed flowers. Mrs. Reeve wore a beige lace sheath dress with matching accessories and her corsage was pink and white mixed flowers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride for approximately 175 guests. Music was furnished by Raymond, Ben and Michael Hobbs, friends of the couple.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a white dress trimmed with tiny blue bows with blue and white accessories and a corsage of blue and white pompons lifted from her grandmother's bridal prayerbook. The couple left on a honeymoon to the southern states including Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina. They drove through the Smoky Mountains and their destination was Chattanooga, Tenn. Upon their return the couple will reside in their newly furnished house in Emmitsburg.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, class of 1957, and is employed at Mt. St. Mary's College as a secretary. The groom attended the same school and is employed at the Cambridge/Rubber Co., Taneytown.

10,000 TEACHERS TO CONVENE AT BALTIMORE

Maryland teachers will gather at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore for the ninety-second annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers' Association on the weekend of Oct. 15-17.

Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, will address an expected audience of over 10,000 teachers at the opening general session on Thursday afternoon. His topic will be "We Must Put Our Best Minds Forward." At this session Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, and the Honorable J. Millard Tawes, Governor of Maryland, will bring greetings to the assembled Maryland teachers.

On Friday morning Dr. Gerald Wendt, well known scientist and author, will speak on "The Foreseeable World of the Future." Acting Superintendent Edwin Stein and Mayor J. Harold Grady will welcome the teachers to Baltimore.

In addition to the speakers at the general sessions, teachers will hear from various experts in their fields at approximately 60 meetings sponsored by the 36 departments of the State Teachers' Association to be held at schools and other buildings throughout Baltimore on Friday afternoon, October 16. Friday afternoon speakers many of whom are national experts in their fields, will inform Maryland educators of latest developments in subjects which they teach.

The numerous speakers and consultants for the department meetings include school teachers, administrators, supervisors, college professors, writers, representatives of government agencies, experts from industry, business, and the professions, and other specialists from various fields in Maryland and other places. The meetings in the various subject matter areas will also include discussions, exhibits, and demonstrations of teaching.

More than 17,000 teachers from throughout Maryland are expected to attend the sessions and view the 200 exhibits at the teachers' convention, which is one of the largest education meetings in the country.

Some 500 teacher representatives, meeting as the Representative Assembly of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, will hear reports of association activities and will establish policy for the Teachers' Association by acting upon committee reports and resolutions on Thursday and Saturday mornings.

The Legislative Committee of the Association will recommend the establishment of a state minimum salary scale of $4,000-$6,000 for degree-certified teachers. It will also recommend support of the recommendations of the State Board of Education for increased facilities at the five state teachers colleges and for raising of faculty salaries at these institutions.

Pen-Mar League Finals Sunday

Fairfield became a finalist in the Shaughnessy playoffs of the Pen-Mar Baseball League by making it two in a row over Boonsboro, regular season champions, Sunday afternoon at Fairfield, 5-3.

Boonsboro tallied twice in the first inning and added another run in the second before Fairfield notched its first run in the third.

Four runs in the bottom of the sixth clinched the outcome for Fairfield.

Guy Weikert, Fairfield hurler, scattered eight hits to Boonsboro. Meanwhile Hanover evens its series with Taneytown at one game each via a 4-3 victory at Taneytown.

It was decided to stage the deciding game of the semi-final set at Taneytown this Sunday.

Surprise Supper Held
A surprise birthday supper was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosensteel on Tuesday. The occasion marked Mr. Rosensteel's birthday. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosensteel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel, Mr. Richard Rosensteel and Mrs. Pauline Stonesifer.

Deadline For Sewer Tap-ins October 1

Emmitsburg's Town Council this week issued a final reminder that the deadline for the removal of existing outdoor toilets, cesspools and septic tanks was fast approaching. Mayor Clarence G. Frailey stated this week that a final inspection of local properties will be made on the deadline or shortly thereafter, as soon as convenient to the town authorities and that those who are guilty of infractions of the sanitary health ordinance will be subjected to a fine of at least $300.

Several months ago the Town Fathers decreed that the sewer ordinance would be enforced. There are any number of houses within the corporate limits of the town that have avoided tapping into the old WPA sewer line installed here in the early 1930's. Most of these homes have paid the sewer tax of $5 for the past 30 years yet steadfastly have refused to tap into the existing line. Council, adamant in its stand to eliminate this health menace, has publicly advertised that the law will be enforced starting October 1 and that all violators will be fined if they haven't made provisions for the removal of these outdoor sanitary facilities.

It was pointed out that all cesspools and septic tanks must be bypassed and the cavities filled with dirt and otherwise entirely rendered useless and safe.

Residents awaiting the signal to tap into the new sewer line currently under construction but not yet ready for use, will have six months to tap the line after announcement that the line is ready for use.

Police Chief W. E. Law this week asked residents who have streetlights in the rear of their properties that have been burned out to please report the number of the pole to his office. Each pole has a metal tag on it and reporting this number will expedite replacing the burned-out bulb.

Expresses Pleasure Of Visit Here

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

My sincere greetings to the people of Emmitsburg, and especially to those many dear friends, who treated me so well. Regretfully, my stay with you in the beautiful town of my birth, has reached its conclusion.

God has been wonderfully good to me in granting me this great privilege of visiting with you again in dear old Emmitsburg, snuggled so comfortably in the valley of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Long after I return to San Francisco, the land of the Setting Sun, fond memories of you will linger with me.

Should anyone of you, my dear friends, treat yourselves to a visit to San Francisco, I shall be at your call to assist you in visiting our many places of interest.

May God love and bless everyone of you with years and years, of brimful of happiness.

Garden Club Holds Regular Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Silver Fancy Garden Club was held at "Clairvaux", the home of Mrs. Marie G. Rial, on Thursday, September 17. The President, Mrs. John A. O'Donoghue, presided and welcomed two guests, Mrs. Joseph Toy, St. Anthony's, and Mrs. Stuart Webster of Nassau, the Bahama Islands.

Miss Anabel Hartman presided at the coffee table with Miss Liza Carpenter and Mrs. Charles B. Shaughnessy acting as co-hostesses. Mrs. Rial and Mrs. Shaughnessy gave several useful suggestions on transplanting and the cultivation of plants. Mrs. Shaughnessy also showed colored pictures of magnificent gardens on the estate in New Hampshire, where she and Professor Shaughnessy were recent guests.

Mrs. Frank M. Butler had nine horticulture exhibits in the Carroll Garden Show in Westminster and received nine awards. Mrs. Allen Feeser won a blue ribbon for her entry in the artistic class in the same show.

The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Edward T. Richardson in Littlestown, Pa., with Mrs. Frank Harris of the Mt. Airy Garden Club, as guest speaker.

ORDINANCE NO. 177
An Ordinance requiring the purchase of a license to peddle or sell goods, ware or merchandise upon the streets, in public places, or from door-to-door, within the corporate limits of Emmitsburg; providing exceptions for certain merchants, civic, religious, educational and charitable organizations, certain farmers and fruit pickers, certain distributors of circulars and other literature; authorizing the issuance of licenses by the Burgess; and repealing Ordinance No. 134, Approved January 18, 1911, and Ordinance No. 167, Approved November 12, 1935.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg, that it shall be unlawful for any person, partnership or corporation to peddle from door-to-door, sell or offer for sale, any goods, ware or merchandise, upon any public street, in any public place, or from any temporary structure or vehicle within the corporate limits of Emmitsburg, without first having obtained a license, as hereinafter provided, for such purpose. PROVIDED: That no license shall be required of any merchant having a permanent place of business within Emmitsburg and otherwise subject to any tax imposed by said town, nor of any agent, servant or employee of such merchant; nor of any person, persons or organizations conducting festivals, bazaars, fairs or sales the proceeds of which are dedicated to religious, civic, educational or charitable purposes; nor of any persons engaged in the non-profit distribution of literature or circulars intended primarily to persuade others to adopt a particular point of view unrelated to any commercial enterprise or undertaking; nor of any individual farmer who casually engages in the sale of produce from his own farm; nor of any individual who casually engages in the sale of berries and fruit picked by himself.

Section 2. And be it further ordained, that any person or body corporate violating this Ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) with the costs of prosecution for each day on which a violation occurs, and in default of payment thereof may be committed to the Public Jail of Frederick County there to remain until such fine and costs are paid, or until discharged according to law.

Section 4. And be it further ordained that Ordinance No. 134, Approved January 18, 1911, and Ordinance No. 167, Approved November 12, 1935, are hereby repealed.

Section 5. And be it further ordained, that the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be severable, and in case it be judicially determined that any word, phrase, clause, item, sentence, paragraph or section of this Ordinance, or the application thereof, to any person or circumstance, is invalid, the remaining provisions and the application of such provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby, the Burgess and Commissioners hereby declaring that they would have ordained the remaining provisions of this Ordinance without the word, phrase, clause, item, sentence, paragraph or section, or the application thereof, so held invalid.

Section 6. And be it further ordained, that this Ordinance shall take effect on the 14th day of September, 1959.

PTA NAMES STANDING COMMITTEES

The Mother Seton School PTA held its first meeting of the school year on Thursday in the school cafeteria. President Carmel Kelly presided. The meeting opened with a prayer by the principal, Sister Anna Marie, and a group pledge of allegiance to the flag. Several letters were read from recipients of the prizes donated by the PTA and awarded at graduation in June. A letter was also read from the former principal, Sister Francis.

Mrs. George Campbell, general chairman of the fall bazaar, to be held Saturday, October 17, reported on the progress to date. Sister Anna Marie, the new principal of the school, introduced the new members of the faculty including Sister Mary Elizabeth, Sister Grace Francis, Sister Mary Xavier and Mrs. Joan Gouth. She also asked for volunteers among the mothers to assist with clerical work and with weighing the children. She stressed the importance of the school insurance for the children. This year, instead of having different grades entertain at each PTA meeting, a speaker or demonstration will be on each program.

Mrs. Dorothy Good, executive director of the Frederick County Girl Scouts and guest speaker of the evening, stressed the importance of having Girl Scouts in Emmitsburg. A question and answer period followed.

President Kelly announced that, at the last executive board meeting, it was decided to form an education committee. Dr. Robert Marshall was named chairman. Volunteer members of the committee include Delores Thomas, Ruth Etheridge, Loretta Adelsberger, Marian Oddo and Jesse Best.

Committees for the coming year were named as follows: Executive board, St. Rita's Parish, Mark Lannon, Mrs. Fred Knox, Mrs. Laura Zoller and Mrs. Samuel Marzola; St. Anthony's Parish, William Sanders, William Kelz, Daniel Lind, Karl Orndorff, Mrs. Mary Knox, Mrs. Rita Remavege, and Mrs. Bernadette Hemler; St. Joseph's Parish, Robert Kooz, Curtis Topper, Lumen F. Norris, Everett Chrismer, Mrs. Loretta Adelsberger, Mrs. Helen Oster, Mrs. Arthur Starner, Mrs. Robert G. Myers, Mrs. Donald Waters, Mrs. John Randolph and Mrs. Rita Byard; Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Parish, Mrs. George Campbell, Sterling Bollinger, Ralph Baltzell and Raymond Felix; ways and means, Capt. S. S. Cooperative Elects Representative

Roy Sanders, of Emmitsburg, will represent members of Southern States Cooperative of the Emmitsburg area at the Cooperative's district election meeting to be held September 29 at Martinsburg, West Virginia. Ralph D. Lindsey, Emmitsburg, manager of the local Southern States Cooperative Service Agency in the above area will also attend.

The session will elect a stockholder-member of the cooperative to serve on its Board of Directors for the next three years. The member elected will be confirmed at the Cooperative's 36th Annual Meeting in Richmond, Va., on October 22 and 23. The incumbent is Clarence Shaw of Westminster, Maryland.

The program for the Martinsburg meeting will include an address by L. E. Raper, director of Membership Relations, who will talk on "You and Your Cooperative," and a slide film presentation showing where stockholder-members have money invested in the organization. There will also be a discussion period and consideration of policy matters by delegates.

L. B. Baldwin, Southern States District Manager of Frederick, will be in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Great Credo For Action

The deepest feelings of most of the people of America concerning international Communism are well expressed in the Captive Nations resolution which was passed unanimously by the United States Congress and in the Captive Nations proclamation issued by President Eisenhower. Congressional and White House action on this great moral issue is comforting and encouraging. At a time when the captive peoples of the world look questioningly toward the United States, the unanimous voice of Congress, with the President joining in, condemns the enslavement of nations and pledges our support in their just aspirations.

Every citizen, young and old, should read and remember the substance of both of these historic documents. They reflect a strength of moral character which needs to be infused and constantly renewed in the whole body of our citizenry and in the governmental leadership of our nation.

Co-Existence Mockery

Congress, without a dissenting vote, resolved that:

"Whereas, the enslavement of a substantial part of the world's population by Communist imperialism makes a mockery of the idea of peaceful co-existence between nations and constitutes a detriment to the natural bonds of understanding between the people of the United States and other peoples; and "Whereas, since 1918, the imperialistic and aggressive policies of Russian Communism have resulted in the creation of a vast empire which poses a direct threat to the security of the United States and of all the free peoples of the world; and "Whereas, the imperialistic policies of Communist Russia have led through direct and indirect aggression to the subjugation of the national independence of Poland, Hungary, Lithuania, Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Estonia, White Ruthenia, Rumania, East Germany, Bulgaria, Mainland China, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, North Korea, Albania, Ide-Rual, Tibet, Cossackia, Turkestan, North Vietnam and others; and Share Their Aspirations

"Whereas, it is fitting that we clearly manifest to such peoples, through an appropriate and official means, the historic fact that the people of the United States share with them their aspirations for the recovery of their freedom and independence.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that the President of the United States is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation designating the third week in July, 1959, as 'Captive Nations Week' and inviting the people of the United States to observe such a week with appropriate ceremonies and activities . . . and each year (hereafter) until such time as freedom and independence shall have been achieved for all the captive nations of the world."

To Re-Commit Ourselves

President Eisenhower's proclamation followed the language of this resolution. He designated the third week of July as "Captive Nations Week" and appealed directly to American citizens: "I invite the people of the United States of America to observe such week with appropriate ceremonies and activities and I urge them to study the plight of the Soviet dominated nations and to re-commit themselves to the support of the just aspirations of the peoples of those captive nations."

It is well to look again at the long list of the nations held captive by International Communism. It is important also, to note what is happening in Southeast Asia, in Laos and Tibet, and particularly in India where the International Communist bosses are driving for new conquests. It is particularly important to Americans to note what is happening in Cuba and a number of other Latin American nations where the Communists have gained power and are advancing toward further conquests.

Congress and the White House, and the American people need to act in accordance with the historic pronouncements that have been made. A program of action is needed in which the cause of freedom worldwide can be served—not just with lipservice but with the spiritual and material strength of our great nation.

"Milk Order" Is Signed By Government

The "recommended decision" on terms of a Federal Milk Marketing Order for the Upper Chesapeake Bay area was signed and released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on Tuesday, Sept. 15, 1959.

The decision, which is not the final Order and to which proponents and opponents will have 15 days from its publication in the Federal Register to file exceptions, generally upheld the original proposal and brief of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. The MCMP, which represents the majority of the dairy farmers shipping their milk into the Baltimore area, acted to obtain the Federal Order last September, following action by its dairy farmer Board of Directors.

Probably of most interest to all dairy farmers, regardless of MCMP membership, was the minimum price scale which all dealers coming under the Order will pay to all dairy farmers for Class I Milk, the geographical area covered and the Department's recommended decision on a "base-rating" plan which would differ somewhat from the present "quota" and "non-quota" payment plans. The base making period would be July-December, as it is now, but without any alternative basis of payment as was proposed by the Cooperative.

The minimum price proposed in the recommended decision is $5.55 per hundredweight for eight months and $5.10 for the four months March, April, May and June, or an average of $5.40. While this is slightly below the MCMP's original proposal of $5.70 for nine months and $5.10 for three—April, May and June—it has been expected since the Department fixed $5.55—$5.10 in its Federal Order No. 2 for the Washington area.

The geographical area proposed in the recommended decision is of interest because of opposition to sections suggested by the Maryland Cooperative; most of this came from small dairies on the Eastern Shore and Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc. With two exceptions, the area includes that requested by the MCMP in its proposal, including the nine Eastern Shore Counties. It is the counties of Cecil, Harford, Baltimore, Carroll, Howard, Calvert, Anne Arundel, uen Anne, Kent, Caroline, Talbot, Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester; the town of Laurel, in Prince George's county—it also includes all piers, docks, wharves and all government—municipal, State or Federal—installations or institutions.

The exceptions are Northern Frederick County and Camp Ritchie.

Interested parties have until October 3 to file exceptions.

Scholarship Winner Enrolls At College

CHESTERTOWN, Md.—Mary Katherine O'Melveny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. O'Melveny, R2, Emmitsburg, a graduate of Emmitsburg High School, was among the new students entering Washington College on Maryland's Eastern Shore who arrived on the campus Sunday, September 20.

Formal welcoming of the freshmen was made by Dr. Daniel Z. Gibson, president, at a reception for new students, their parents, and the faculty at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at his home, the historic old Hydon - Ringgold House on the Chester River.

Freshman Week officially began Monday morning in William Smith Hall auditorium where Dr. Gibson and Dean Robert Kirkwood addressed the group. A week of orientation, entertainment, testing, and getting acquainted followed of the class of 1962. New students always matriculate about one week before upperclassmen return. Classes will begin Friday, Sept. 25.

At Emmitsburg High, Mary was a member of the Choir and of the Future Teachers of America. She hopes to major in English.

A girl's best friend is often her telephone—whether she's twenty-five or five.

When you're twenty-five, the mother of a five-year-old, and going out for the evening—it means a lot to know that your favorite baby sitter can call you by phone should anything unusual occur to worry her.

That silent phone says, as clearly as words, that all's well at home.

Sometimes the calls that aren't made (because they aren't needed) add as much to living as those we like to make. Perhaps that's what makes a phone worth so much more than it costs.

High Humidity Causes Trouble

By Martha Johnson
 Dodge Safety Consultant

Getting the car to start promptly on a humid or wet day usually is more aggravating than serious.

The cause of poor starting on high humidity days often is the pumping of the gas pedal by the driver.

Instead of helping to start the car, pumping the gas pedal works just the opposite, having the same effect as over-choking or flooding the engine.

These tips may help in getting a prompt start on a humid or wet day:

Don't pump the gas pedal. Simply turn on the ignition key, hold the gas pedal all the way down to the floor, then step on the starter until the engine starts.

If the car has been kept in a closed garage overnight, open the hood to let the air circulate for a short time. Also, open garage doors and windows.

Possible mechanical causes of a no-start situation are many. The trouble could range from a weak battery, coil, condenser or plugs, to worn out distributor points, a minute crack in the distributor cap, or oily, corroded and exposed wiring.

the longer term we should succeed in again building up our commerce with other nations. At any rate, one reason for my present trip abroad is to secure answers to these important questions. I am landing in Sweden this week.

Imports Are Increasing

For a good many years, our exports have exceeded our imports by a fairly wide margin. Now it is estimated that our shipments of merchandise to foreign markets may top imports by only one billion dollars. Last year, U. S. imports had a total value close to $13 billions. This year our imports are expected to reach $15 billions. This is unfortunate for American labor.

This upturn in imports, however, should not necessarily frighten us. It is a natural outgrowth of our trade policies for the past twenty-five years. Since 1933, we have been reducing tariffs in an effort to promote international trade and thus help other nations less prosperous than our own. This has helped to attract the current large inflow of goods from abroad.

Downturn In Exports

Many people think that the formation of the European Common Market, sometimes called Euromart, is chiefly responsible for stopping the long uptrend in U. S. exports. I do not agree. Last year's decline in our exports was due largely to a world recession which accompanied our recession here at home. It was also due, in some measure, to political tensions abroad.

In my opinion, the real impact of Euromart on U. S. foreign trade is yet to come. As this united trade program of France, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, and Italy gathers steam, many traditional European markets for our goods will absorb less than their usual amounts. Some of these markets will be closed to us entirely. So far, Euromart has not hurt our exports much, perhaps because it has been slow in getting under way.

Challenge, Not Threat

Our foreign trade need not be in a long-term period of decline. Our trade position is not so much threatened as it is challenged by the European Common Market. It is challenged also by the growing importance of Great Britain. She is now busy with a plan to organize the non-Common Market nations—Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, Portugal, and herself—into a Free Trade area. Finally, our commerce is challenged by the increasing stature of Russia and Japan as exporters in world markets.

We are in the midst of tremendous world economic changes. These will deeply affect our foreign trade. They will also test to the full our technological and industry capacity. In fact, they may place in danger our position as the economic leader of the Free world. I predict that during the next few years U. S. foreign trade will suffer some bad jolts. Pressure to go back to higher tariff barriers will increase, but I believe we will stand firm. And in the end we can come out on top, provided we do not fritter away our natural advantages by failing to control wage and materials costs.

What About Russia And Union Labor?

There has been a lot of scare talk with regard to Russia's engaging in an economic war with the West. So far, I see no conclusive signs of such a development. At present, the Soviet Union does not appear to be in a position to wage such an economic war, though she may well desire to do so. In order to be successful in such an enterprise, Russia would have to establish some kind of a gold international equivalent for the ruble.

Right now the foreign trade of the West is much greater than that of Russia. Unless we become panicky, we can hold our own in any such trade contest with the Kremlin. Eventually, our side could be strongly bolstered by a solid trade alliance between the U. S., the Common Market, and the proposed Outer Seven European Free Trade Area now being promoted by Britain. In the meantime we must fight inflation, keep our costs down, and boost our productivity. This is primarily up to our union labor leaders, who appear to be largely responsible for much of our present unemployment.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Vacation All Year 'Round

Well, vacations are over for another year, so let's all relax and get flabby, pale, overweight and tired again.

If that doesn't strike you as very smart, you'll be glad to know that it needn't happen. You can retain some of the benefits you got from your vacation even when the old grind has got you again.

If you think only of push-ups and knee-bends when wintertime exercise comes to mind, it's no wonder you prefer to lie down and think of something else. But how about bowling? Or swimming in the indoor pools which can be found in many communities. Or just taking a short walk? The dog will be happy to accompany you.

Though you probably use up more energy during your vacation, the chances are good that you actually eat less than you do during the rest of the year. Those wintertime coffee breaks, TV snacks and beers, hot thick soups, extra bread, all add up to unneeded calories and unwanted poundage.

You probably get more sleep during your vacation, too. Many people never get enough sleep during the rest of the year. You can get a rough idea how many hours you need by dispensing with the alarm clock for one night. You'll awaken naturally when you've slept long enough. If you need that alarm to rouse you, you're not getting enough sleep. Simple, isn't it? Some exercise and fresh air every day, the right amount of food, enough sleep, and you'll feel vacation-fit all year.

But a word of caution: before you go in for exercising or dieting, get your doctor's okay. The fall is as good a time as any for that all-important annual check-up, anyway. This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by your Tuberculosis Association.

The harvest moon in late September is more commercial than romantic in Northern Europe. The World Book Encyclopedia explains that the moon rises near sunset, permitting farmers to work late into the night gathering the crops.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kestm

In this age of specialists, the national trend seems to be the attainment of high proficiency in one particular endeavor. But for many years this has been the case in the realm of gun dogs. While spasmodic attempts have been made to produce an all-round hunting dog, possessing outstanding ability on all types of game (feathered, furred and antlered), such a real jack-of-all-trades, with great dependability as a breed, has yet to be found, says Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

As in everything else, however, there is always an exception to the rule. In this instance, it is America's most majestic game bird, the wild turkey. There is no single breed of dog that can properly be termed a specialist in hunting this nobleman of the woodlands. Yet many, many individual dogs have been used—and to splendid advantage, too—in bagging the wild turkey.

And in certain areas of the South there are a number of sportsmen who will give you a spirited argument, and back it with experience, to the effect that there is one breed, strain or type of dog that really is a specialist in hunting turkey.

The dog is the Boykin spaniel. The strain comes down from one small brown puppy discovered some 40 years ago. It was raised by Whit Boykin, noted sportsman, and quickly developed into an accomplished retriever. A suitable mate was found and thus the line was begun.

For the first 20 years or so the stock was quite inbred. Many of these dogs proved of exceptional merit as turkey dogs. Practically all of them made excellent retrievers, possessing this natural instinct in high degree, whether from land or water, and were in high demand.

The Boykin spaniel is a very active small dog, quite hardy in constitution, possessing a keen hunting desire and a highly developed retrieving instinct. Given a job to do, he is usually eager to get at it, takes training rapidly and is quick to learn. As a family pet he is ideal. He's strong enough for most water work, and in the dove field he's a game-saver and, there's no denying it, he's about the best there is o turkeys.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Did you know that now dependents of disabled individuals receiving social security benefits may also draw monthly benefits? These dependents' benefits provide family members security against loss of income because of a severe disability suffered by getting disability insurance benefits the following members of your the breadwinner. If you are now family may be entitled to monthly payments:

1. Your children under 18.
2. Your disabled child 18 years or over, if he became disabled before 18.
3. Your wife 62 or older (or your dependent husband age 65 or older).
4. Your wife under age 62 if she has a child in her care who is entitled to benefits.

September 30, 1959, can be an important date for dependents of workers who are receiving disability benefits. An application must be made no later than September 1959, in order to avoid the loss of one or more months' benefits as retroactivity is limited to 12 months from the date a claim is filed. Of course no payments can be made to dependents of disabled workers before September 1958, the month the law was changed.

W. S. King, District Manager of the Social Security Administration office has stated that benefits are not paid automatically, but that an application must be filed. He emphasized that the social security office is ready to answer questions regarding eligibility requirements and to assist dependents in filing the necessary applications.

If you are now receiving disability insurance payments and have dependents in your family who may now qualify for benefits, don't delay but contact the social Security office located at 59 North Cannon Avenue, Hagerstown, Md.

Farmers Benefit By Foreign Trade

Feed grain farmers have enjoyed a substantial growth in foreign markets for United States produced grain over the last few years. Last year exports reached a new high of 178 million tons compared to 163 million tons in 1957 and 150 million in 1956. Prospects suggest the figure may climb still higher during the coming year.

Looking to the future, it appears that under the new feed grain price support program, grain prices will soon reach the supply-demand equilibrium level whereby markets can again operate in a fully normal fashion. In fact, there is much evidence to suggest that we would be in such a desirable situation now if it were not for the presence of mammoth surpluses which resulted from the ill-advised program of earlier years.

Farm Bureau warns that this prospect of improvements would, however, fade completely if present price support laws were altered to provide higher supports, which would be a stimulus to feed grain production and have a definite, depressing effect on marketing.

The trouble with many individuals is that they worry too much about the sins of mankind and too little about their own.

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

Homeowners will find places around the house where rust has taken hold, or will soon. This calls for use of proper metal primers if painting is going to be worth the work.

Metal railings, sash, screens, outdoor metal furniture, pipes, and fences should be examined, and galvanized metal gutters, downspouts, roofing, etc., should not be overlooked.

There is a specially formulated metal primer "right" for the job, one that will give lasting results and it's the rare homeowner who knows the correct one to obtain. Because of this Du Pont has made up a simple chart describing five kinds of metal primers and where each should be used. A copy to hang in the workshop for ready reference may be obtained by writing Du Pont Company, Room D-8033, Wilmington 98, Del. (See Paint Point Information Service)

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

In a recent poll of the nation's independent business by the National Federation of Independent Business, 88% voted in favor of placing cooperatives on the same tax basis as independent enterprise.

It is a measure long sought by independent businessmen, not only to plug a tax inequality, but also make competition in the market place a fairer procedure.

Many years ago, special acts were passed to enable farmers C. W. Harder to form cooperatives for the orderly marketing of their crops. And it is without doubt that in many cases these cooperative marketing plans immensely aided agriculture.

But the law was written on such a broad basis that now there are many cooperative enterprises that have about as much relation to the farmer as the Kremlin has to the Vatican.

Thus, in the field of manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing, and even in certain areas of finance, there are profit making cooperatives competing with independent enterprise without carrying the tax burdens imposed on private enterprise.

And in this day and age when any small corporation which pays at least 52% of all profits over $25,000 in a year in federal income taxes, it is quite obvious the competitive edge that is gained by a competing enterprise that can set itself up as a cooperative.

© National Federation of Independent Business

It appears obvious that a great deal of the current inflation has been unwittingly promoted by taxing policies which have put the squeeze upon small business so that normal expansion has been hampered. Thus, for example, a committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, is probing the present prices of bread.

Yet in some markets the bread business is controlled by a baking organization set up as a cooperative, a huge grocery chain with its own bakeries, and the local branch of a huge national baking operation.

While price competition existed between these three disparate operations until the local independent bakeries were driven out, today there is a strange unanimity of pricing even though all three should have different pricing structures.

Thus, if as some experts predict, the cost of living, principally in foods, are due to increase about another two per cent in 1959, it is obvious that elimination of independent competition is an impetus to inflation, not a deterrent, and the public loses, instead of gains, propaganda to the effect that mass merchandising is more economical to the contrary.

It also appears obvious that taxing policies which make it impossible for small firms to stay in business and thus offer the public a broader range of products and brands at different prices, is the road to ruin.

It becomes quite evident when small business is taxed out of existence, there is bound to be inflation. The only other alternative is the Russian system. This is not a pretty picture.

Eventually, of course, unless something is done to halt the trend, there will be a program which will give away the company sponsoring it and the network it is broadcast over.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOR HAIR BEAUTY New Answer to Old Problem

Nobody knows for sure if Eve had dandruff, but since the time she bit the apple, the human race has waged a running war with falling hair and itching scalp.

Early Egyptians attacked the problem with animal and vegetable oil baths — achieved baldness for their efforts. The glories of Greece and the splendors of Rome did not include effective remedies for itching scalp and falling hair.

Not until the middle 1800s in America did the idea of hair care and cleanliness as we know it today begin to emerge. Americans of this period relieved dandruff with monthly sponge-washings of the hair and scalp. Among the privileged, servants brushed the hair nightly; combing removed surface dirt and vermin. The working classes relied on homemade lye soap and a bucket of water.

Powdered wigs—imported from Europe—were still the fashion and dandruff that couldn't be cured was covered. The elaborate topknots first popularized by Madame Pompadour covered lamentably unclean heads—or partial heads—of hair. An early beautician or French maid passed on hair-care news from the old world to the new.

Today's news comes from the scientific laboratories of Helene Curtis where ENDEN... the first successful combination of a beauty shampoo and dandruff treatment... was created. Available without prescription, ENDEN has revolutionized the hair care field. Its effectiveness was recently revealed in an independent clinical test conducted by three physicians who reported their findings in the August A.M.A. Archives of Dermatology. Of the 210 cases (135 females and 75 males ranging in age from 8 months to 73 years) treated with ENDEN, only 1.9% failed to respond.

ENDEN represents an important milestone in dandruff treatment history. The revealing report in the A.M.A. Archives of Dermatology reflects this and confirms ENDEN's position as a product that can be used with utmost confidence.

With the advent of such medically researched products from the cosmetic industry, a whole new era of hair care has opened.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

CHRIST IS YOUR SURPLUS

Probably the greatest period of prosperity ever experienced in America lies ahead, and it is of the utmost importance that Christian businessmen everywhere seize the opportunities which exist for them.

This is important because when Christian businessmen prosper, they use their money for the Lord, for the glory of God. Money is what the possessor is. When in the hands of Christians, money is Christian. There is never a shortage of money, but, too often, there is a shortage of Christians who fully understand that the Lord wishes to prosper them and why.

It is a mistake to get one's eyes on dollars, for one's surplus is not in dollars but in Christ. One of the greatest thoughts of this modern generation is that Christ is your surplus. You will find your surplus of all good things, including dollars, in Christ.

Throughout America businessmen are being drawn irresistibly toward Christ, for Christ is all in all. It has long been believed that businessmen cannot be interested in Christ, but this is a great untruth. Businessmen are just as concerned as anyone else about Christ, and when a businessman does accept Christ as his personal Saviour and as his Lord and Master, a partnership results which accomplishes great things.

Businessmen everywhere should be advised to get their eyes on Christ rather than on dollars, for it is Christ who supplies every need, and it is in the service of Christ that dollars are needed.

You will have needs as long as you live, and you should have them, for it is only when you have a need that God can show himself and reveal his mighty arm. Whenever there is a Christian businessman, there is a gold mine within his reach, for God wishes to prosper his children so that they may have both time and resources to help him save the souls of mankind.

God can reveal himself right where you are. Rescue dollars as you rescue souls. There are millions of dollars awaiting consecrated Christian businessmen who will use the Lord's share and more to take the gospel to the poor and needy, to save souls, to deliver people from the captivity of Satan.

Businessmen should not be afraid to stretch out their hands, for the hope of saving millions of souls is in multiplying the anointed men and women of God. Be encouraged about the years ahead. Be optimistic about the future. Without a shadow of a doubt, our most wonderful opportunities are ahead. Just keep your eyes on Christ, for Christ is your surplus.

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance... a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long... and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength... it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's... take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

Read John 16:28-33. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. (John 14:27.)

Once when I visited a hospital, one of the nurses told me of a man she believed wanted to see a minister. He was a shoemaker who had lived alone in a little house. One day when he tried to prepare some food, his stove exploded. His house burned down. He himself was seriously injured. I found him so covered with bandages that only his eyes and mouth were visible. I asked him how he felt. He answered without delay and with great confidence, "God is good, and I am still alive." In a situation like that, many of us would have been in despair, but not that shoemaker. He had lost both health and home. He was entrusting himself into the hands of God, who can give help and peace. There at the hospital he was an example for both sick and healthy.

Prayer
O God of all comfort, we thank Thee for peace through Jesus Christ. Thou canst bring quietness and calm to hearts worried about the troubles the day may bring. Grant us, O Lord, by Thy grace to trust the word spoken to us through Jesus Christ

Thy Son. Let Thy peace be revealed in us to the glory and praise of Thy name. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
The peace Jesus gives—everlasting peace—is different from that which anyone else can give. Ingvar Laxvik (Sweden)

OVER THE GARDEN WALLS

A COLUMN FOR HOMEOWNERS

There's real beauty in a nicely landscaped house and yard. But handsome is as handsome does. Each plant should fit a certain need—fulfill a purpose.

Ever notice how some houses look like they grew there? Chances are it's landscaping that made the difference.

Useful As Well
Good landscaping is functional, as well as ornamental. There's a place for everything and everything is in its place. Neat, but not fussy. Natural, and not artificial. Lived in, not looked at.

You needn't go to a great deal of expense, either. Especially if you plan it acrefully.

If you're working on a shoe-string budget, here are a couple of money savers:

Buy a few plants at a time. Have your own 5-year plan.

Buy young plants. They're smaller, but cheaper. And they'll need time to grow so you can get their full effect.

Or if you've got the money, but need the know-how, here's where you can get some helpful free advice: your county agent has two publications that will help tell you what to plant and how to plant. Ask him for University of Maryland Extension Service Fact Sheet 80, "Planting Ornamental Trees and Shrubs" and Fact Sheet 39, "Landscape Planning for the Small Property."

Using Fact Sheet 93 as your guide, take inventory of your landscaping. It's time to plant new trees and shrubs so you can get their root systems established before winter sets in. Fact Sheet 80 tells you how.

Cover Crop Time
Ever watch farmers who grow vegetables commercially? You could take a tip from them. Plant a cover in your garden. Cover crops really pay. It's time to plant them, just as soon as you can get your garden cleared of the last vegetables.

Our own garden last year had some late tomatoes. So when we planted our rye, we left a little island in the middle for our tomato plants. We enjoyed tomatoes 'till a heavy frost got under our covers and nipped the vines.

But this is getting away from our main point. This spring we had a nice thick, dark green crop of rye to turn under. At least, for most of the garden, all except where the tomatoes had grown. You could really tell the difference, all summer!

When it was dry, the beans that grew where there had been no cover crop just wilted and got rubbery. Useless.

At the same time, just a few feet away, beans thrived where the cover crop had been turned under. Hard to believe?

Try it. You'll see for yourself. Clean-Up And Compost
What to do with leaves, and dead plants that you've cleaned up?

Don't burn them. Put them to work. Turn them into compost.

You've got to do something with old plant residues. So why not make them into compost? It's easy, and will provide you with a good supply of mulching and fertilizing material next spring.

You'll need an enclosure or pit to dump the plant in, lime and fertilizer (a pound of each for every 4 or 5 cubic feet of plant residue), an inch of topsoil for each foot of compost, moisture (keep it wet so it'll rot), patience, a little work, and lots of leaves, etc. Work the pile over with a fork every 3 weeks.

Next year, you'll have some choice organic matter to use as mulch and fertilizer.

Garden Notes
Clean up perennial borders to keep diseases and insects from overwintering and causing more trouble next spring.

Prune back scraggly growth from climbing roses, forsythia and similar shrubs. Hedges of deciduous and evergreen plants should be given their final shearing sometime this month.

It's time to root cuttings of tender plants like geraniums, coleus, begonia or lantana, so you can move them indoors as winter-time houseplants.

If fusarium wilt bothered your tomatoes this year, make a mental note (better yet, write it down) to plant only resistant varieties next

15,000 Boys Form Safety Patrols

Some 15,000 boys and girls in Maryland will help to protect the lives of schoolmates in traffic this year as members of the School Safety Patrol, reported Frank G. Leberetz, Frederick Branch Manager of the Automobile Club of Md., reported this week.

The local youngsters are part of a contingent of some 750,000 Patrol youngsters serving at school crossings throughout the nation.

A new safety poster urging school-age children to "Help Your Safety Patrol," is now being distributed to schools in Maryland as part of the regular monthly safety education program of the Automobile Club of Maryland.

Paying tribute to the Patrols, the Motor Club official pointed out that, since 1922 when the program was inaugurated, the traffic death rate of school-age children has dropped to nearly one-half, while the death rate of all other age groups has doubled.

The AAA Club urged all children to respect and take advantage of the guidance of the Safety Patrols, and called on parents to so advise their youngsters.

"The Safety Patrols are performing one of the most outstanding jobs in the entire traffic safety field," Leberetz said. "There influence on other children has been the most constructive step in reducing accidents involving school-age children."

The new poster was designed by John Dunn, 13, a seventh grade student at Our Lady of Peace School, Lynbrook, N. Y. It was a first place winner in the American Automobile Association's 1959 National Traffic Safety Poster Contest. Selected by a board of prominent judges, the poster has been reproduced for distribution by AAA Clubs throughout the nation.

New Recruits For National Guard Unit

Company B (Fwd. Spt.) 729th Ord. Bn., stationed at Highfield, Md., recently announced the appointment of M/Sgt. Calvin G. Pryor Jr., to the grade of Warrant Officer.

The new officer has been assigned year. KC 146 and Chesapeake are practically immune to wilt.

ed Maintenance Officer within the unit.

WO Pryor is a resident of Sabillasville, Md., and is shop chief of the organizational maintenance shop at Highfield in a civilian capacity. This shop provides automotive maintenance support for National Guard units located at Highfield, Hagerstown and Frederick. WO Pryor is a veteran of 12 years National Guard service and held the position of Platoon Sergeant within the unit at the time of his appointment.

Captain C. A. Warner, Company Commander of the unit, also announced the enlistment of the following recruits:
John A. Holt, Thurmont; Walter S. Barkdoll and Vernon E. Martin, both of Smithsburg.

These men will report for six months active duty training at Fort Knox, Ky, in October.

NOW... '60 CHEVROLET TRUCKS

WITH REVOLUTIONARY TORSION-SPRING SUSPENSION THAT GIVES ASTONISHING NEW SHOCKPROOF ACTION !!!!!

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America!
First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil rear springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it—a ride that completely eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight, lets you move faster over any ground to get more work done in a day.

Brawnier bulldozer build!
They're tougher than any Chevy trucks ever made. Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs!
Easier to hop in and out of too. Many models are a whole 7 inches lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, plus more width for shoulders and hips. The windshield's bigger, with a wider, safer sweep of vision. Suspended pedals give you more foot room.

Big in the power department!
With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high-torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights. With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in new Low Cab Forward models.

More models than ever!
New 4-wheel-drive models and tandems and high-styled Suburban Carryalls. It's the handsomest, hardest working Chevy fleet ever to report for duty. See your dealer for the whole story and, by all means, take a ride. It's something!
Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

SEWAGE DISPOSAL AND SEWAGE

hereby determined and declared Section 1. PURPOSE. It is to be necessary to the protection of the public health, safety and welfare and convenience of the Town of Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Maryland to regulate sewage disposal and to levy and collect charges for the use of the Emmitsburg Sewerage System.

Section 2. CESSPOOLS, PRIVIES AND PRIVY VAULTS. The use of a cesspool, privy or privy vault as part of a plumbing or drainage system shall be abandoned as soon as possible in the Town of Emmitsburg after a public sewer has been constructed in any street or right of way adjoining the premises on which a cesspool, privy or privy vault is located, and such use in all cases be abandoned within the time set to discontinue such use, stated in a notice from the Burgess.

All such vaults and cesspools allowed to be used, pending connection with the Town sewerage system, shall be so constructed that no offensive or injurious odor or gas can escape, either directly or through the fixtures connecting thereto. Every abandoned cesspool and be emptied, cleaned, disinfected and permanently filled with clean fresh earth, provided, however, that clean ashes or other approved material may be used with the permission of the Burgess.

Section 3. DISPOSAL OF RAIN WATER. Cesspools and wells may be provided for the disposal of rain water provided they are so constructed that they carry off the water discharged therein properly and do not overflow. In the event that they do not carry off such water properly or overflow, their use shall be discontinued upon receipt of notice from the Burgess.

Section 7. PERMITS GENERALLY. Permits shall be issued in triplicate. One copy shall be delivered to the applicant, one filed with the Town Clerk and one filed with the Burgess or Plumbing Inspector. Permits shall contain blanks to be filled in by the owner of the premises or his authorized representative and shall give the full names of the owner(s) of the property, owner's address, address of the property (or different from owner's address), and the name of the work. The conditions in such permits must be strictly complied with and the work shall be done by the plumber listed on the permit or under his supervision and by journeyman in his employ. When the work has been satisfactorily completed, the copy of the permit which is to be filed with the Burgess or Plumbing Inspector shall be certified by the plumber who has done the work and then filed with the Burgess or Plumbing Inspector.

Section 18. PENALTIES. Whenever in this ordinance, any act is prohibited or is made or declared to be unlawful or an offense, or whenever the doing of any act is required or the failure to do an act is declared to be unlawful, the violation of any such provision of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine not exceeding three hundred ($300.00) dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than three (3) months. Each day any violation of any provision of this ordinance shall continue, shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 19. SEVERABILITY OF PARTS OF ORDINANCE. It is hereby declared to be the intention of the Burgess and Commissioners that the sections, words, clauses, sentences, phrases and paragraphs of this Ordinance are severable and if any word, clause, sentence, paragraph, phrase or section of this Ordinance shall be declared unconstitutional by the valid judgment or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction, such unconstitutionality shall not affect any of the remaining words, phrases, clauses, sentences, paragraphs and sections of this Ordinance, since the same would have been enacted by the Commissioners and approved by the Burgess without incorporation in this Ordinance of any such unconstitutional word, phrase, clause, sentence, paragraph or section.

THIS 'N THAT

By George W. Wireman

As this issue of your newspaper went to press, the eyes of the world are focused on the little community of Thurmont, Md., where, at its back door, the presidential retreat known as Camp David, is located. It is here that two of the world's great leaders have gathered for talks pertaining to future relations between their two countries. One is a leader of freedom-loving people; the other, the world's No. 1 Communist. What the outcome of these talks will be, remains to be seen, but one thing is certain. As President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev passed thru Thurmont on their way to Camp David they entered the "gateway to history."

Just as Thurmont today is known as the "gateway to the mountains," it may at some future date be referred to as the "gateway to history." Many of the world's leaders have gathered at its back door in the Catocin Mountains for discussions on national and international affairs. Just what historic decisions have been made at this presidential retreat have so far not been disclosed, but it is this writer's guess that they have been momentous and have been important factors in shaping the history of this nation and of the world.

It all began back in 1942 when Michael F. Reilly, wartime supervising agent of the White House Secret Service detail felt that every precaution should be taken to protect the life of the President, since we were at war and enemy agents might be roaming about, undetected.

Mr. Roosevelt's own desire for seclusion together with the danger of traveling by rail to his Hyde Park home on weekends, led to a search for a nearby hideaway. After several locations were studied, the Catocin Recreational Area was chosen, having been developed by the National Park Service only a short time before. This area is about three miles west of Thurmont and with the start of the war, one of the camp sites was turned over to the Marine Corps as a rest camp. Another was used as a training site for the Third of Strategic Services. The third camp became the presidential retreat known at the time as "Shangri-La." President Roosevelt's favorite designation for anything secret.

In July of 1942, Mr. Roosevelt paid his first visit to "Shangri-La" and found it to be just what the doctor ordered. The general atmosphere of this mountain hideaway is that of a place hastily slapped together in an emergency. A number of citizens from Thurmont helped in making it into a very active site which has been used by each President succeeding the late F.D.R. This retreat remained a deep secret until after the death of Roosevelt, but the citizens of Thurmont knew of the goings-on but could say nothing for security reasons.

To give you an idea of the important part it must have played during World War II, an official once stated that this secluded little mountain retreat not only had the data on the fighting fronts, and the potential fighting fronts, but it was actively in touch with them all. It was nothing to see General Marshall and General Arnold come tearing up that twisting mountain road at 12 or 1 o'clock at night with their aides and secretaries. There would be a conference with the President lasting for about an hour or so and off they'd go again, after a cup of coffee and a sandwich.

Princess Martha of Norway and Princess Juliana of The Netherlands, were guests at "Shangri-La," coming once. The French general, DeGaulle, also was one of Mr. Roosevelt's guests and Prime Minister Winston Churchill visited the site on several occasions and greeted the citizens of Thurmont by giving the Victory sign. On one of Churchill's visits to the mountain retreat, he expressed his interest in paying a visit to the little community. It was during this visit that he stopped off at Camp Cozy where he enjoyed a "cold one" with the President and allegedly gave the waitress some coins to play the jukebox.

On July 9, 1944 Mr. Roosevelt paid his last visit to "Shangri-La" for the remaining portion of this year was spent in campaigning for his fourth term, and on April 12, 1945, he died suddenly at Warm Springs, Ga.

During his term as President of the United States, Harry Truman made only eight visits to the mountain retreat. Mrs. Truman visited it during a rainy afternoon in October, 1945, and found it pretty dull. It is believed that because she cared little for it, Mr. Truman, too, lost interest.

When Mr. Eisenhower became President the citizens of Thurmont began to wonder if he would show an interest in the site since he had purchased a farm near Gettysburg. On May 12, 1953 the President paid his first visit to "Shangri-La." He liked the location and its coolness during the hot summer months and decided to use it. However, he decided to change its name from "Shangri-La" to Camp David, naming it after his grandson.

It was during the July 4th weekend of 1953 that I chanced to meet Mrs. Eisenhower when she paid a visit to an antique shop in Thurmont. During my conversation with her I extended to her and the President, an invitation to worship in Thurmont some Sunday during one of their weekend visits to near-by Camp David. I was indeed quite surprised to find the President in my church that Sunday morning, accompanied by one of his naval aides, Lt. Hugh L. Colbreath.

In 1955 while convalescing from his heart attack the President chose Camp David as the site of one of his cabinet meetings. Most of the high-ranking Government officials who attended were flown up from Washington, 65 miles away, by helicopter. This meeting proved to the world that while convalescing at his home near Gettysburg, he could begin to shoulder more and more the routines of his office.

Earlier this year when the news broke that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was coming to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower on the Berlin crisis, many were certain that Camp David would be the site chosen for such talks. This was confirmed in a news report about a week before the scheduled talks were to begin. The Frederick papers came out with this headline: IKE AND MAC TALKS TO BE AT THURMONT.

When my 10-year-old daughter, Carole, learned of the planned visit she immediately suggested that it would be nice to invite the President and the Prime Minister to Palm Sunday church services. Knowing of the security risks involved, I explained that such a visit was impossible. Refusing to give up the idea, she finally talked me into writing to the President. It was Saturday evening before Palm Sunday when special agents of the Secret Service called at my home to inform me that the President had accepted my invitation and planned to attend church services the following morning with the Prime Minister. Here again Thurmont was honored by the visit of two world leaders.

And now, as this week draws to a close, another meeting of world leaders is in progress at the presidential retreat. As President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev discuss world affairs in the Catocin Mountains, the world waits anxiously for the outcome.

What the future holds for Camp David, no one knows, but one thing is certain. It will always be regarded by the citizens of Thurmont as a landmark of which they are mighty proud to have at their back door. And who knows, in the writing of history for future generations, our historians may refer to this little Western Maryland town as the "gateway to history."

TWO ESCAPE ELECTROCUTION IN CAR MISHAP

Two men were injured, their car was destroyed, and electric power to 40 patrons along the Gettysburg Rd. was cut off for about five hours Sunday night when an auto smashed into a Metropolitan Edison Co. pole near Sprigg's Garage, about 3 miles north of Emmitsburg, at 8:50 o'clock.

State Police said Gerald Hartlaub Jr., 25, Littlestown, Pa., a part-time McSherrystown policeman, was driving north when he lost control of his car at the Sprigg's Garage curve.

The auto plowed into an embankment in front of the home of Donald Imler, skidded along the bank, struck the electric company pole, breaking it, continued north for about 30 feet, skidded across the highway to the west, came back to the east and stopped off the east term of the highway headed toward Emmitsburg.

Hartlaub suffered a fractured right ankle and lacerations of the face, arms and legs.

Thomas Livensberger, 24, of 130 South St., McSherrystown, a passenger in the car, suffered lacerations of the face, scalp, legs and right arm and burns of the back.

Both men were removed in the Gettysburg Fire Department ambulance to the Warner Hospital. They were admitted as patients at the hospital.

Damage to the car was estimated at $3,000, and damage to the pole and transformer at $300.

When the pole fell to the road it dragged down a number of lines including a 4800-volt primary wire. A number of the wires fell across the car, starting a fire. Both men were thrown from the car. Livensberger apparently fell across wires, causing the burns on his back.

Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg, who was enroute to the Warner Hospital on another call, arrived on the scene shortly after the accident.

He said it was fortunate the men were thrown clear of the car, for when he arrived the 4800-volt line was lying across the car and "it was smoking and then set on fire."

He said he believes Livensberger's burns were caused by a fence wire which apparently received a small charge, but that Livensberger was off the wire when he arrived to give first aid pending the arrival of the ambulance.

William A. Lentz, manager of the Metropolitan Edison Co., said the car shattered the base of the pole located at a lane near the Emle house. Part of the pole was hurled into a field bearing the pole and the top, bearing the crossbars, the transformer and wires dropped onto the side of the Gettysburg Rd.

BETROTHAL IS ANNOUNCED

At a recent party in their home on Fort Mason, California, Col. and Mrs. George Denver Paxson announced the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Radford Paxson, to Mr. Frank Trumbower Jr.

A formal betrothal ceremony was conducted by the Reverend Edmund J. Smyth, S.J., in the Phelan Hall Chapel at the University of San Francisco.

Miss Paxson attended George Washington University where she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority, and was accorded recognition in Alpha Pi Epsilon. She is now studying in her senior year at San Francisco State University, and has been an honor student in both universities. Sarah is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The wedding is planned for July of next year, and the couple will establish their first home in London, England.

Frank, son of Frank S. and Dorothea Trumbower of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and San Francisco, attended Saint Vincent's College, Latrobe, Pennsylvania, and graduated as an honor student from the University of San Francisco, Class of 1959. While attending the University, he served as President of his graduating class, as Vice President of the student body, and was a member of Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity. He is presently one of the Marshall Scholars and will leave shortly for London to begin graduate work at the London School of Economics.

The wedding is planned for July of next year, and the couple will establish their first home in London, England.

He said he believes Livensberger's burns were caused by a fence wire which apparently received a small charge, but that Livensberger was off the wire when he arrived to give first aid pending the arrival of the ambulance.

William A. Lentz, manager of the Metropolitan Edison Co., said the car shattered the base of the pole located at a lane near the Emle house. Part of the pole was hurled into a field bearing the pole and the top, bearing the crossbars, the transformer and wires dropped onto the side of the Gettysburg Rd.

Maximum gross vehicle ratings on the 1960 model Ford F-600 have been increased to 21,000 pounds and the addition of an optional 16,000-pound two-speed rear axle provides up to a 15 per cent greater torque capacity. Advanced engineering in Ford's 1960 truck line permits greater versatility and improved over-all operational economy and durability. The popular F-600 now offers a choice of four gross vehicle weight ratings—17,000, 18,000, 19,500 or 21,000 pounds.

The popular F-100 pickup is one of more than 480 Ford truck models available in 1960. Dual headlights and the new Ford crest on the hood are standard features on the pickup models. Advanced engineering offers greater durability and "certified" economy in all 1960 Ford trucks and the pickup models are available with either this Styleside body, which Ford pioneered with the 1957 models, or the Flareside body.

Miss Dooley Is Bride Of David Hemler

The Church of Sacred Heart, Oxford, Pa., formed the setting for the wedding Saturday of Miss Ruth Dooley, daughter of the late Mrs. Richard Francis Dooley, of Pittsburgh, Pa., to C. David Hemler of Oxford. Officiating at the 10 o'clock ceremony was Fr. P. J. Daugherty.

Mr. Stanley Craig gave Miss Dooley away. She wore a gown of maderia lace over taffeta, with tigh fitting bodice with a softly full skirt. Her veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a white prayer book with a white orchid.

Mrs. Rosemary Hemler was matron of honor. Miss Dorothy Ann Severn was bridesmaid. The attendants wore waltz length dresses of chiffon over taffeta, the honor attendant in a mellow shade and the bridesmaid in steel blue with matching head bands, and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations. Acting as his brother's best man was Sterling Hemler. The ushers were Charles Duncan, Oxford, and Ronald McKay, Chicago.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a dress of lace and tulle with matching hat and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Hemler. A three-tier wedding cake graced the bride's table.

The newly-weds left for a trip through the Poconos Mountains and will make their home in Oxford, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of Rogers High School, Newport, R. I., and was formerly a dancing instructor.

The bridegroom graduated from St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, Md., and is employed with the Maryland National Guard, at Havre de Grace, Md.

The show is sponsored by the Thurmont Grange in cooperation with the Maryland State Fair Board and the Thurmont High School FFA Chapter. Approximately 200 will be awarded in prizes to exhibitors.

MILLER-FISHER

Miss Nancy Lee Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher, Thurmont, and Patrick E. Miller, son of Mrs. Herbert Miller and the late Mr. Miller, Emmitsburg, were married recently in St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg. Rev. Martin J. Sleasman officiated at the double ring ceremony, amid a setting of white gladioli.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over satin and featured a sabrina neckline, fitted bodice, short sleeves with matching mitts. She carried a white prayer book topped with a corsage of white pompons and shower ribbons. She wore a shoulder-length veil attached to a crown of seed pearls.

Miss Louise Miller, Emmitsburg, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of turquoise nylon over taffeta with a scooped neckline and carried a bouquet of white and yellow pompons.

Eugene Miller, Emmitsburg, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Harold K. Fisher, brother of the bride, and Clarence Orndorff, Emmitsburg.

The bride's mother wore a dress of gray lace over pink taffeta and a corsage of pink and white carnations and matching accessories.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Thurmont. Upon their return from their wedding trip the couple will reside in Thurmont.

The bride graduated from Thurmont High School, class of 1957, and is employed at St. Joseph's Central House, Emmitsburg.

The groom graduated from St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, class of 1953, and is employed as a chauffeur at St. Joseph College and Central House.

County Democratic Women To Meet

On September 26, at 12:30 noon at the Francis Scott Key Hotel Ballroom, the Women's Democratic League of Frederick County will sponsor a luncheon honoring the statehood of Hawaii. Invitations have gone out to a number of outstanding democratic women of Maryland. Mrs. Mary Condon Hodgson will be the toastmistress.

The committee has completed arrangements to carry the theme of Hawaii in the decorations, menu and entertainment. Miss Dorothy Handley is chairman of the entertainment committee.

The hostesses will be attired in native Hawaiian dress, and they are Mrs. Jane Hahn, Mrs. Lula Ent Larkins, Mrs. Robin Staley and Mrs. Betty Zimmerman. leis will be presented in true native tradition. A flower worn in the hair by the women will be most appropriate.

Mrs. Mildren Storm, program chairman has secured Mrs. Barbara Luther, assistant to Mrs. Katie Lochheim, director of Women's Activities of Democratic National Committee, as guest speaker. Mr. Alfred Laureta, administrative assistant to the Honorable Daniel K. Inooye, member of the House of Representatives, will bring greetings from Hawaii.

On the invitational committee is Mrs. Glenna M. Leatherman, Mrs. Charlotte Carroll, Mrs. Hattie Saylor and Mrs. Mildred Fisher. Mrs. R. Staley served in the absence of Mrs. Fisher due to illness in the family. Mrs. Helen McKenzie, Mrs. Jennie Hamilton and Mrs. Louise Fraley are serving on the menu committee. The decoration committee is composed of Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Hazel White, Mrs. J. Hahn and Mrs. R. Staley and Miss Handley.

Mrs. E. Louise Fraley is general chairman. Mrs. Elizabeth Knill, of 2 College Avenue, Frederick, is ticket chairman and those assisting Mrs. Knill are Mrs. Margaret Abrecht, Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Madelyn Himes and Mrs. Gertrude Slagle.

Sisters Enrolled In Nurses' Course

Two nuns from St. Joseph College have begun a 16-week training program for nursing at Frederick's Health Department.

Sisters Julia and William Irene will spend three days a week at the Health Dept. during the training period. They will commute between Frederick and Emmitsburg where they are seniors in the Collegiate school of Nursing. The two sisters will apply principles of public health nursing learned in the classroom. They will make home and school visits and assist in clinics.

After completing the practical training period, the two sisters receive credit towards their four-year nursing study at St. Joseph's. Two nurses at the Health Dept. have been assigned as staff advisors to sisters in their training period. Advisor to Sister William Irene is Miss Helen Bostian, and Miss Nellie Jackson to Sister Julia.

Sisters Julia and William Irene are the second pair of nuns to enter the training program at the Health Dept. The program was begun last year.
