The quick transition from winter into spring will undoubtedly bring on a rash of brush fires just as it does every year at this time. Individuals just can't resist the temptation to get out into the yard or lot and dig in ridding the premises of dead grass and weeds. However extreme care is urged because sometimes serious damage to one's property or his neighbor's, can occur. There have been times when the local fire company has been called more than half a dozen times in a single day to quell brush fires caused by careless individuals. Let's keep them at a minimum this year folks.

Add this to the list of reasons why education has become so expensive these days. Just take a gander at the list of athletic supplies on order for one Frederick school: 36 archery bows, 60 dozen arrows, 36 target faces, 72 badminton racquets, 15 dozen shuttlecocks, 12 soccer balls, 6 table tennis sets, 12 dozen tennis balls, 36 pints of ethyl alcohol and four gross of bandages. Complete to the rubbing alcohol. These are just items not used in equipping the various athletic teams. I can remember the day when we each chipped in two bits a month to pay our athletic dues. I wouldn't go so far as to say that this was a waste of the taxpayer's money but I will venture the opinion that I believe it a bit overdone. Team athletics is a good thing for building morale and sportsmanship and collective athletics also is commendable and beneficial to those students who can't qualify for the teams. However I do feel that perhaps the Board of Education is going overboard a bit with diversification, at the expense of the already overburdened taxpayer. Add the cost of these items to those of the other numerous schools in the county and you have a tidy sum of tax money that might possibly be used to better advantage. Thank goodness I'm not the only one yelping about the matter. . . . One of the Grange chapters in the county officially went on record this week as being opposed to the extravagant expenditures for athletic equipment in the county school system.

Today's the day the count of noses will commence in this area as well as nationally. Yep, this is the day the census enumerator starts his work of determining the population after a 10-year interim. To be determined is whether Emmitsburg has grown in population or decreased. A decade ago we were rudely awakened to the fact that the town's population had deteriorated considerably and that the actual count was only 1250 inhabitants. This was alarming at the time because other nearby towns had registered favorable gains in population while Emmitsburg was slipping backward. It is too soon to make any prediction as to any gain or loss but indications are that little if any gain is to be expected here. We have the same amount of industry and employment now as we did 10 years ago so I just can't visualize how our population could have expanded unless our natives have been successful in obtaining nearby employment and have managed to hold onto residences here. Recent annexations will up the town's population somewhat but then this will naturally detract from the district's over-all total. A decade ago this total was 4500, the second largest voting district in the county. There are some indications that perhaps we could have gained and this notion stems from the fact that numerous houses have been erected here in recent years. This is the only outward sign that there could be a possible gain in our local population.

When you put your advertisement in the Chronicle you get your message in most of the homes of the area where most members of every family will read it.

The big trouble in joining any organization is that you have to attend all the meetings to protect yourself from being appointed to a committee.

Coroner Says Dead Man Died Of Natural Causes

Ernest H. Cabaugh, 63, of near Thurmont, was found dead along abandoned railroad tracks at the southern edge of Thurmont Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Dr. B. O. Thomas Sr., Frederick County medical examiner, said death was due to natural causes.

Cabaugh was a veteran of World War I and was a member of the American Legion Post at Thurmont.

Survivors include the following children: Mrs. Charles Lewis, Myersville; Mrs. Gerald Weagley, Lantz; Ernest H. Cabaugh, Jr., Mrs. Wilbur Wanz and Donald W. Cabaugh, all of Thurmont; Mary Louise Cabaugh, Frederick; Mrs. Russell McIntyre, Thurmont; Mrs. David L. Hewitt, Emmitsburg; and Barbara C. Cabaugh, Thurmont; 11 grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. William Sweeney, of near Thurmont, with whom he lived; Mrs. Julia Brunner, Emmitsburg, and one brother, John Cabaugh, Thurmont.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the M. L. Creager and Son Funeral Home, Thurmont, conducted by the Rev. Lloyd L. Wolf. Interment was in the Lewistown Cemetery.

Kennedy Opens State Headquarters

Headquarters for the Maryland campaign for Senator John F. Kennedy for President have been opened in Baltimore.

The headquarters are located in suite 307 of the Emerson Hotel.

Heading the campaign is William Macmillan, Baltimore attorney. The executive director of the campaign will be Phil Lohrey. Acting with Mr. Macmillan in the overall planning of the campaign will be an advisory board whose membership will comprise representatives from all of Maryland's counties.

The Maryland primary is May 17.

Mayor Backs Easter Lily Sale

In an effort to spur the sale of Easter Lilies and Seals, Mayor Clarence G. Frailey this week issued the following proclamation calling on all the local citizenry to observe Easter Lily Days. The proclamation follows:

WHEREAS the greatness of America is to be found in many areas, but certainly none is more appealing to our sense of decency than our traditional efforts to help those who cannot help themselves; and

WHEREAS the need continues—even grows—for more and more earnest endeavor to help those who are less fortunate than ourselves; and

WHEREAS the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, through its Easter Seal Treatment enters, provides a variety of rehabilitation services to persons with all types of disabilities; and

WHEREAS it is our privilege and duty to contribute as generously as possible to this Society;

NOW, THEREFORE I, Clarence G. Frailey, Mayor of the Town of Emmitsburg do hereby declare Friday and Saturday, Apr. 8 and 9, to be Easter Lily Days; and urge all of our citizens to help support the Easter Seal Society.

Local Couple Dies 14 Hours Apart

Two of Emmitsburg's eldest and most highly-respected residents succumbed within a few hours of each other early this week. Death came to Mrs. Maud Estelle Naylor, Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and Mr. George Calvin Naylor, 86, unaware that his wife had predeceased him, expired at 4 o'clock Monday morning at their home here on East Main Street. The elderly couple had been ill for only a short time before their death.

Mrs. Naylor was the daughter of the late Benjamin R. Stull and Estelle Whitmore Stull and was born in Frederick County. Mrs. Naylor had been a member of the Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg since 1898 and was a charter member of the Eastern Star of Emmitsburg.

Mr. Naylor was a miller by trade and for some time did farming as a hobby. In addition he was Burgess of Emmitsburg from 1935 to 1936, owned and operated the Emmitsburg Motor Co. for three years, 1926-29, was a bank director in the local branch of the Central Trust Co., and was the Sunday School superintendent of his church at one time. During the depression the deceased was the superintendent of WPA projects in this vicinity. He was a member of Tom's Creek Methodist Church for 50 years and served as Town Commissioner for a number of years. The deceased couple had resided at their present home here for the past 35 years after discontinuing farming. Mr. Naylor was a native of York Springs, Pa., and was a son of the late Henry A. and Margaret Louisa Rodes Naylor. The couple is survived by six children: Mrs. William J. Sullivan, Providence, Rhode Island; G. Wilbur Naylor, Taneytown; Clyde S. Naylor, Smithsburg; Charles A. Naylor, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. George L. Simon, York, and Mrs. Raymond Hornbecker, Hagerstown. There are 12 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Naylor is also survived by a brother, Byron Stull, Taneytown and a sister, Mrs. Jacob Adams, Detour. Mr. Naylor is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Alice Plowman, Sterling, Illinois.

Largely attended funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Wilson Funeral Home, W. Main St., followed by graveside services at the Keysville, Md., cemetery. Rev. Philip Bower and Rev. Cameron Johnson officiating. Pallbearers were Aaron W. Adams, Frank W. Went, Andrew L. Keilholz, John D. White, Clarence G. Frailey and Lloyd G. Ohler.

Two Attorneys Buy Fraley Property At Thurmont

Edward D. Storm and Samuel W. Barrick bought the Fraley property at Thurmont at a public sale Saturday at the Court House.

Their entirety bid of $43,350 was accepted after individual bids on the properties offered were less.

Offered at the assignee's mortgage sale was the house, farm, rendering plant and slaughter house properties of James Austin Fraley and Mary Victoria Fraley.

One property included a 247 acre tract of land with several improvements located west of Creagerstown. Also offered was a two and one-half story brick building in Thurmont containing 15 rooms and basement, rented as apartments.

Also included in the sale was property at Catoctin Furnace improved with a concrete block building used for a rendering plant and another concrete block building used as a slaughter house; a dairy-type barn of block and frame construction, cold storage building, cattle pens and sheds and five one-story dwellings fronting on the Black Mills road.

H. Allen Mezger of Mezzger and Mezger, attorneys, of Baltimore, served as assignee. E. T. Newell and Co., were auctioneers.

Special Baseball Meeting Sunday

The fate of the Emmitsburg Baseball Club may be settled early next week when a meeting of that organization will be held in an effort to raise finances and to make plans to field a team this year.

A special meeting of the group will be held Sunday afternoon in the local VFW Annex at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at which plans for the coming season will be discussed and a team manager named. President Joseph W. Sullivan announced this week. Already the group has pledged itself to continue its franchise in the Pen-Mar Baseball League. Also invited to attend the meeting are those interested in aiding the group, serving as administrators, managing the team or playing with the club.

Members of the Emmitsburg 4-H Club will conduct a scrap drive on Saturday, April 2. Mostly sought items are paper, iron, steel, copper, etc. Anyone having articles of this nature and wishing to donate them are asked to contact any 4-H member. The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of John Troxell on April 11. Local youths interested in joining this group are urged to attend the above meeting.

Health Dept. Checking Dog Food Sales

Dr. Forbes H. Burgess, county health officer, disclosed this week that local health authorities have joined in a statewide investigation of reports that some restaurants "are illegally using large quantities of dog food."

County health departments all over Maryland have been alerted, Burgess said, on the basis of information circulated by state authorities. Some restaurants in the state, this information revealed, have been receiving shipments of dog food in quantities up to 48 cans per week.

Burgess said "a few" of these restaurants are located in Frederick County.

It was explained that the investigation has been opened because of what state authorities consider unusually large quantities of dog food purchased by the restaurants, assuming that such a checkup may thus reveal illegal practices in the use of the pet food.

4-H Club Will Conduct Scrap Drive

Members of the Emmitsburg 4-H Club will conduct a scrap drive on Saturday, April 2. Mostly sought items are paper, iron, steel, copper, etc. Anyone having articles of this nature and wishing to donate them are asked to contact any 4-H member. The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of John Troxell on April 11. Local youths interested in joining this group are urged to attend the above meeting.

BAKE SALE TOMORROW

A benefit bake sale will be held in the Fire Hall Saturday morning starting at 10:30 a. m.

The affair is being sponsored by St. Joseph's High School PTA and the general public is cordially invited to attend.

Treated At Hospital

William Bruther, 20 a student at Mt. St. Mary's College, was treated at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Tuesday for second degree burns of the left hand and fingers suffered while working in the chemistry laboratory.

Census Enumerators Will Commence Work Today

Appointment of enumerators for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing in this area has been announced by Supervisor George R. Hughes Jr., of the Census Bureau District Office in Frederick.

Only those who passed the qualifying tests have been appointed. In each county the list of qualified applicants far exceeds the number of jobs available. Since census regulations require that qualified persons be assigned in their home area, there are instances where applicants who passed the examination will not be appointed, because there are more applicants than jobs. This is particularly true in heavily populated areas.

The response to our call for job applicants has been most heartening, and it is regretted that a greater number of qualified applicants cannot be appointed. In the event of drop-outs, replacements will be selected from the lists of those who have passed the examination.

Enumerator training took place this week. Topics covered in the training sessions included canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the explanation of enumeration procedures to insure a complete and accurate count.

The essential responsibility of the enumerator is obtaining complete and accurate information within his assigned area.

Names of enumerators for this area are: Mr. John Warthen, Emmitsburg; Mr. Wilmer H. Naill, R2, Taneytown; Mr. Frank Webb, R2, Emmitsburg; Mr. Charles Franklin, Thurmont; Mr. Norman R. Burdette, Rocky Ridge; Mr. Lee J. Kelbaugh, Thurmont; and Mr. Edwin R. Miller, R2, Thurmont.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barbe, Rocky Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Genevieve Susan, to David William Long, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Long, Thurmont.

Miss Barbe is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, class of '59 and is presently employed in the office of Moore Business Forms, Thurmont.

Mr. Long is a graduate of Thurmont High School, class of '57 and is also employed at Moore Business Forms.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Ford Salesmanager Receives Award

John S. Hollinger, of Sperry's Garage, Emmitsburg, was awarded the Ford Motor Company's 300-500 Club award at a banquet in Washington, D. C., Saturday, honoring high-ranking Ford dealership car and truck salesmen of 1959 in the Washington sales district, according to George A. Thompson, assistant district sales manager.

Ben M. Harrison, car merchandising manager for the Washington sales district, said 300-500 Club membership awards are presented for excellent retail performance and added that efforts of winning salesmen are of particular significance because they resulted in Ford leading all other makes in sales last year.

Mr. Harrison added that the average 300-500 Club member sold the equivalent of 100 new cars and 70 used cars in qualifying for the national honors, and that club members in the aggregate sold more than three billion dollars worth of automotive merchandise.

Youth Injured In Car Mishap

A Sabillasville youth apparently escaped serious injury Tuesday night when the car he was driving swerved off Maryland 81 about two and one-half miles north of Thurmont.

The youth, James L. Fuss, 19, was driving south on Route 81 when he attempted to stop at the home of Edward C. Portner, 18, who was riding with him at the time. Presumably because of some structural failure in the automobile, the car suddenly turned off the road and crashed into guard rails. Damage to the machine was figured unofficially at $300.

State Trooper Leo Shank, who investigated, said one of the car's front wheels may have come off causing the accident.

The accident occurred about 10:15 p. m. No charges were filed. Fuss complained of chest pains but apparently was not seriously hurt.

Town Extends Sewer Tap-in Deadline

According to an announcement this week by the Burgess and Commissioners an extension of time will be granted to all those property-owners who have been notified to tap into the new sewer system by May 1. The announcement stated that due to the adverse weather conditions the past month and the fact that plumbers are extremely busy at this time of the year, an extension would be granted until June 1. At that time it is expected that every house in the town limits will have been tapped onto the line.

The Town Fathers also announce that the drive on delinquent taxpayers would continue and that every effort would be made to collect these taxes if it should be necessary to sell the properties. Property-owners having rain spouts tapped into the sewer line have been notified that they must be re-located immediately or a fine will be levied. It was explained that this is the local rainy season and that possible flooding of the disposal plant could happen if these spouts are not cut from the line. Commissioner J. Norman Flax reported that the new disposal plant was now in perfect operating condition and that it has been turned over to the Corporation of Emmitsburg by the contractor.

Council also reported this week that it plans to construct a new street to the Mother Seton School in the near future. It is the plan of the Town Fathers to lay one-half of the new road this year, using this half as a sidewalk for the children and next year the other half will be completed making the street open to vehicular traffic. The new street will run from Emmitsburg Public School to the Mother Seton School. Also to be improved are several alleys and streets.

Mayor Clarence G. Frailey announced this week quite a number of phone inquiries as to why the street lights have been burning in broad daylight had been received. The Mayor checked with the Potomac Edison Co. relative to the matter and it was disclosed that some trouble with the system had developed, however the town is on a flat rate of power consumption and there is no charge being made for the wasted current. The situation is being corrected.

Sodalists Hold Regular Meeting

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Joseph's Church held a meeting on Monday evening in St. Euphemia's School hall. President Mrs. Marie Rosentsteel presided. The group decided to have a food sale. The tentative date for the sale is April 9 in the Fire Hall. A donation of $10.00 was voted to the Crippled Children's Fund. A pilgrimage to Mother Seton's Tomb at St. Joseph College and to the Grotto of Lourdes near Mt. St. Mary's College will be held on Sunday, May 22. The pilgrimage is open to all parishioners, and all are urged to attend the affair. Pilgrims will meet at the Rectory at 1:30 and leave at 1:45 of St. Joseph's. The pilgrimage will start at 2:00 p. m. at St. Joseph's. Benediction will be offered at the Grotto at 3:45 p. m. It was decided that the Office of the Dead along with the Rosary will be recited by the Sodalists in the future when attending the viewing of a body at funeral homes. Also, the office of the dead will be recited at each future meeting for the deceased members. The annual banquet was discussed. Final arrangements will be made later. Mrs. Margaret Myers and Mrs. Anna Gerken were appointed to inquire as to prices, etc. for the banquet.

Teen-Age Hop At School Tonight

A large number of local teenagers is expected to be on hand for the first record hop to be sponsored by the Greater Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce tonight at the Emmitsburg High School auditorium. Dancing will take place from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock and all teen-agers are invited to attend. Should the affair be a social success it is highly likely that a number of others will be promoted by the local Jaycees.

THIS 'N THAT

GEORGE W. WIREMAN

Chicago . . . In The 1920's

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on Chicago, the second largest city in the United States. It is the story of a giant city; its tempo, its rawness, its beauty, all of which jolt the visitor like a stiff electric charge, only to prove that it is without a doubt, the liveliest city on earth.

The hoodlum rulers of Chicago's trigger-happy 1920's no longer have an influence on the social life of the community, for they are now but a memory, and a not so pleasant memory at that, but yet the gang wars and the incredible big shots who led them is still a part of the Chicago story and can not be overlooked.

The fantastic '20's in all truth were fantastic enough. The show that they put on will never be re-produced, at least not with the original cast. The boys who made good in the gin-and-gun business were nobody you'd ever heard about before, but it didn't take long for their acts to make the headlines.

As everyone knows, before the coming of the Volstead Act, Chicago was a sinless city. Nobody ever heard a gunshot except on the Fourth of July. Nobody ever got drunk, beat up his wife, or took a bribe or played cards for money. There were no labor disputes, no rioting in the streets, no tampering with juries, and the many other things that the '20's produced.

Prohibition's first Chicago victim was Jim Colosimo, a restaurant operator. Others followed, and the gang wars were in full swing. The mob directors began to improve their condition with semantics, after one hoodlum was tied up and shot in the back and dumped on a garbage pile. This method of killing was quite a shock to the citizens of Cook County for before 1920, Chicago's newspaper rewrite men apparently had never heard of people being shot in the back. Bootleggers were known as Rum Runners. The thugs who conducted negotiations with the City Hall . . . and habitually kept out of harm's way . . . were known as Gang Chiefs.

A pleasing folklore grew up about them. They were Robin Hoodlums who ran soup kitchens for the needy, loved their mothers, spoiled their children and carried photographs of their wives next to their hearts in solid gold cigarette cases. They were looked upon as jolly fellows who followed a dangerous calling just for the fun of it. But they were brave men, all of them, willing to die at the drop of a hat, or anyway that was the legend. And when they did die, they got nice obituaries.

There were such names as Three Gun Bilotti, One Eyed Jack Schmaltz, John Torrio, Al Brown Capone, Dion O'Banion, and many others.

The famous of these incredible big shots was Al Capone, who did business in a big way. The gross annual business of Capone in 1929 was estimated by Government investigators at a possible $200,000,000. His interests were centered on the control of alcohol, gambling and prostitution. When the income tax investigators began checking on Capone he was helpless. Here was a force that he could not buy off, and although he liked to be called "the Big Fellow," he was soon put in his place, and the trial proved to show him to be only a false face. He had seized the hooch-distributing machinery by force and held it by threat. But on February 14, 1929, when he reached the climax of his career as impresario of the slaughter generally known as the "St. Valentine's Day Massacre," he was an ogre of heroic stature.

And so as the 20's ended so did the gang wars and the hoodlums, but don't get me wrong; people still come to violent ends in Chicago. They get burned up in streetcars or in schools or hotels, drown in underpasses, fall down steps or disappear from North Clark Street night clubs. But if you really want to live dangerously, you will have to live somewhere else, not in Chicago.

Now let us look at Chicago from the manufacturing standpoint. Chicago has a large number of manufacturing industries. It ranks second only to Pittsburgh, in the production of iron and steel, and leads the nation in the manufacture of farming machinery and railway cars.

During World War II three airplane engine factories, including the largest factory of this type in existence, were in operation in the city. Additional important industries of the city include petroleum refining, printing, publishing, brewing, and soapmaking, and the manufacture of telephone equipment, radio equipment, refrigerators, motor vehicles and parts, men's clothing, musical instruments, foundry and machine-shop products, furniture, paints and varnishes, confections, and bakery products. The city has approximately 9000 manufacturing establishments, and the annual value of all manufactured products approximates $4,700,000,000.

As to the educational and cultural facilities of Chicago, they rank among the best in the nation. In addition to a modern public school system, Chicago City Junior College, numerous parochial schools, and many privately operated art and technical-training institutes, the city has a number of outstanding schools of higher learning. Among these are the University of Chicago, the Illinois Institute of Technology, and Loyola University and many others.

Notable among the other educational facilities of Chicago are its libraries. The Chicago Public Library, which was established in 1872, has about 2,200,000 volumes, and maintains approximately 100 branches and sub-branches.

Other cultural and educational institutions are the Art Institute of Chicago which had its beginning in 1879 as the Chicago Institute of Fine Arts, which has outstanding collections of paintings, prints, ceramics, medieval sculptures, Oriental art, and other art objects, and maintains one of the leading art schools in America; the Chicago Natural History Museum; the Chicago Academy of Sciences, and many others.

In writing about Chicago, one can not overlook the fact that this great city is the seat of an archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church, and has more than 1500 Christian and Jewish places of worship. Notable among these are the church of St. Patrick, erected in 1956, the Second Presbyterian Church, built in 1874, and Temple Shalom, built in the year 1930.

In checking the history books, this writer found that the first Europeans to visit Chicago were Louis Joliet and Jacques Marquette, the French explorers, who arrived there in 1673. Later the locality was visited by other French explorers, notably Robert Cavalier, Sieur de La Salle. Following 1684 the river and the surrounding territory were called Chekagou by the French, who at that time controlled the region up until 1763, when it was ceded to the British at the end of the French and Indian War. After the American Revolutionary War the British ceded it, along with the other western territories, to the United States.

It was not long after the American Revolutionary War that Chicago began to grow and soon became one of the busiest ports on the Great Lakes, and this process was accelerated by the completion in 1848, of its first railroad, the Chicago and Galena Union Rail Road, and of the Illinois and Michigan Canal. In 1860, the population was 29,963 and within the next ten years it increased about 360%. In 1860, this great city was the scene of the historic National Convention of the Republican Party, which nominated Abraham Lincoln for the Presidency of the United States. Ten years later the population had grown to 298,977. In the 1950 census this figure was up to 3,620,962 and now with the 1960 census getting underway, this figure will climb even higher.

In the writing of Chicago's history and highlights, one cannot forget to mention the Great Chicago Fire, which has been claimed as one of the most disastrous fires in the history of our nation.

It is hard for us in this modern day and age to realize just how great and how disastrous the fire really was. Only those who lived through it and died because of it can tell the story of this great disastrous fire which burned out nearly one third of the city which covered an area of 3 1/2 square miles and destroyed some 17,450 buildings, and caused over $200,000,000 in property damage. Some 300 persons perished and more than 100,000 were left homeless before the blaze was extinguished.

During the next two weeks I shall bring you by way of this column, some of the highlights of this great disaster and of the fighting spirit of the citizens of this great city, who refused to give up and who, within a year's time, had rebuilt all but a small portion of the burned out area with the aid of contributions from the rest of the United States and from other countries.

I am deeply indebted to Walter R. Martin of Chicago for his cooperation in sending me facts and figures on the fire which I have used in condensed form in my next two articles.

4-H Club Formed At Rocky Ridge

The newly-formed 4-H Club called the Rocky Ridge Progressive, held their initial meeting at the home of their leader, Ralph L. Keilholtz, recently.

An election of officers was held. The following were elected: President, Randolph Valentine; vice president, Marshall Sharrer; secretary, John Bollinger; treasurer, Frank Franco, and reporter, Douglas Valentine.

Assistant County Agent David Eigenbrode and James Hill, a leader serving with Mr. Keilholtz, along with 35 members were present.

Any boy or girl desiring to join in the 4-H club activities, is

Crab Soup, Right for Young or Old

Nothing hits the spot like good crab soup. Frozen Alaska King crab meat is low in calories, high in other nutrients, easy to digest.

- PUGET SOUND CRAB CHOWDER
- 2 slices bacon
 - 1 large sweet onion, sliced
 - 1 large potato, diced
 - 1 stalk celery, sliced
 - 2 cups water
 - Pinch leaf thyme
 - 1 pkg. (6 oz.) Wakefield's frozen Alaska King Crab Meat
 - 1 cup milk, or evaporated milk
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - Paprika

In a heavy saucepan or skillet, fry bacon crisp; remove and reserve. Add vegetables, water and thyme to hot fat, cover and cook 7-8 minutes. Add frozen crab meat and cook about 10 minutes, or until crab is easily broken up with a fork. Stir in milk and season to taste. Heat through and serve piping hot. Garnish with paprika and crumbled crisp bacon bits. Makes 3 servings.

- SPECIAL CRAB BISQUE
(Low Calorie)
- 3 cups skim milk (or liquified non-fat dry milk)
 - 1 stalk celery, cut up
 - 1 small onion
 - 2 cloves
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 Tbsp. butter or margarine
 - 2 Tbsp. flour
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - Dash pepper
 - 1 pkg. (6 oz.) Wakefield's frozen Alaska King Crab Meat
 - Mixed parsley

Heat milk with celery, onion stuck with 2 cloves, and bay leaf; strain. Melt butter, stir in flour; add seasoned milk, salt and pepper. Stir smooth and add frozen crab meat. Simmer over low heat until crab thaws and separates, stirring frequently. Sprinkle with minced parsley as served. Makes 4 servings. Approximately 100 calories per serving.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Isaiah 1:10-20 or John 14:15-21.

Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (Isaiah 1:18.)

Isaiah comes nearer approaching the Gospel standard of righteousness than any other Old Testament prophets. So true is this that he is frequently referred to as the Gospel Phphet.

There is a remarkable similarity in method of approach, as well as content, in the above text and many of the sayings of Jesus. In both instances religion is assumed to be most reasonable. If you can get men to stop long enough really to think through the problems of life, they will discover, as all true followers of the Lord Jesus Christ have discovered, that a real religious experience is the most satisfying thing in all the world.

The difficulty with so many professed Christians is that they fail to enter deeply enough into the experience of religion to test its value. Let us consecrate our lives wholly to the Lord Jesus Christ and daily seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit. This way leads to victorious living.

Prayer

Heavenly Father, may men everywhere realize the folly of placing their reliance upon material things and vision a world in which spiritual values are given their proper place. May Thy will be done and thy kingdom come. For Jesus' sake and in His blessed name. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Sin produces indelible stains which the sacrificial blood of Jesus alone can remove.

Plans For Hospital Building Program Are Advanced

Formation of the advance gifts division for Frederick Memorial Hospital's $650,000 building fund campaign was announced this week by W. Jarboe Grove, general chairman.

Edwin R. Price, formerly manager of coal properties for the Inland Steel Company, Chicago, and presently a member of the Federal Coal Mines Safety Board of Review, Washington, D. C., has accepted chairmanship of the advance gifts division.

Mr. Price has appointed three vice chairmen for the division. They are James E. Gambrell, 3rd, president and treasurer of Dietrich and Gambrell, Inc.; Clyde E. Thomas, president of the Frederick Trading Company; and Dan Weinberg, president of Marva Theaters, Inc.

Acting as aides to the advance gifts chairman are Dr. Leroy Fothergill, scientific advisor at Fort Detrick; James McSherry, local attorney; F. Ross Myers, formerly president of the Fredericktown Savings Institution; and Dan Wight of Monocacy Farms.

The advance gifts leadership is now in the process of enlisting captains and workers who will be announced at a later date.

Mr. Price said the advance gifts division would launch its phase of the campaign on April 19, and would be responsible for 23% of the $650,000 campaign objective. Approximately 400 individuals in Frederick and Frederick County are expected to support the building fund through the advance gifts division.

Good Posture Declared Essential

Many people spend a third of their life ruining their posture—with ill effects on their general health, it was pointed out this week by Dr. Lee Carter, chairman of Correct Posture Week, May 1-7.

Oddly enough the damage to posture is done while people sleep, said Dr. Carter, who is chairman of the Maryland Chiropractic Association committee which is sponsoring the observance in this state.

"Even intelligent persons who realize the importance of good posture, people who take care to stand, sit and walk properly, seem to forget all about their efforts to attain good posture when it comes to bedtime.

"Spending an average eight hours out of every 24 in bed, these and many other people violate good health sense by trying to sleep on sagging, worn-out, overly soft and poorly constructed mattresses. Their spinal column is permitted to sag while muscles are relaxed in sleep. They wonder why they are tired in the morning, or why they have a lame or stiff back."

A little better knowledge about pillows would help many people correct posture faults while sleeping, said Dr. Carter. Pillows should be high enough to provide moderate support, but not so high as to strain neck muscles, he added.

Still another area where people err in posture while sleeping, Dr. Carter said, is when they are sentimental about some heirloom four-poster or antique bed that is too short. Americans today are much taller than they were 100 years ago. Lengthen the bed or replace it, Dr. Carter added, but whatever you do don't risk serious postural trouble with a bed that's too short.

Dr. Carter urged homemakers to obtain resilient, firm mattresses which support the body properly, and that these be turned over from one side to the other and from one end to the other regularly so as to keep them fresh and to prevent creation of an uneven, lumpy mattress.

As for reading in bed, Dr. Carter stressed that the head, shoulders and upper back must be propped up on several pillows, and that even this position should not be maintained for a prolonged period.

Posture posters are going on in schools and many areas of the state.

SPEAKING OF CARDS

"WITH HENRY, IF IT ISN'T SOLITAIRE, IT'S ART."

TOBACCO TALES by Sander

Typical pipe smokers are "do-it-yourself"ers and lovers of the outdoors.

Cavendish is not a type of tobacco. It is a process whereby tobacco achieves a certain sweet taste by a method of absorption. It was discovered by Captain Cavendish of England when empty rum casks were used to store tobacco and the flavor was absorbed by the leaves.

The cost of the pipe is not the most important factor in enjoying the smoke. Quality tobacco should be every pipe smoker's first consideration!

Amphora, the leading imported popular priced tobacco blend distributed by Romick's International Tobacco Co. is especially blended for Americans who want a mild-cool-dry-long lasting pipe tobacco.

Looking Ahead

EDUCATION PROGRAM

Peace Is War

There is nothing inconsistent in Khrushchev's waging of cold war in south Asia and Latin America while at the same time pronouncing the Soviet Union's determination to have "peace." Dr. Fred Schwarz, the internationally known authority on Communism, says it's simply a matter of understanding what the Communist means by "peace." And it isn't necessary to work hard for that understanding. The Communists have put it down in print.

Dr. Schwarz cites, among other publications, the Communist pictorial magazine (similar to LIFE) The Soviet Union. It is published by the Russians in some 25 different languages—English, Chinese, Korean, Hindi, Arabic, Vietnamese, Hungarian, Serbo-Croat, French, German, Spanish and so on. Speaking at our Oklahoma City Freedom Forum, Dr. Schwarz held up the issue of The Soviet Union (this one printed in English) published shortly after the visit of Nikita Khrushchev to the United States.

Victory For Communism
"Khrushchev went to China to meet with his comrade dictator Mao - Tse - Tung," Dr. Schwarz reminded. Then he held up the magazine showing a double-page spread with big pictures of Khrushchev and Mao-Tse-Tung were photographed together. Here is the caption on the photograph: "Chairman Khrushchev says, 'The Soviet people regard the Chinese people as their brothers, friends and allies. The friendship between our two peoples has grown in our joint battle for the victory of Socialism—for peace in the world.'"

So what is peace? The victory of Socialism—Communist dictatorship. That is what Khrushchev is telling the world. On the next page of the magazine there is a photograph of Khrushchev and President Eisenhower at Camp David. The title on this photograph: "Meetings in America—Talks are a Way to Peace." And peace to them, is the victory of Communism. Khrushchev plainly says it.

Victory Without Shooting
"The objective of this Communist warfare and peace offensive," says Dr. Schwarz, "is not the destruction of America. It is the conquest of America. They do not want to take over a heap of radioactive rubble. Consequently, we can trust them to wage war short of atomic and thermo-nuclear obliteration. If you longed for a beautiful bit of property and you knew when you were going to get it, you would be foolish to burn it down first."
"So the Communists wish to consume the war without the actual firing of atomic thermo-nuclear missiles... they want to conquer America intact. They can deal with the people later. Their program is a very simple one—encirclement plus demoralization equals surrender.

Surrender Expected
"The Communists wish to undermine the moral calibre of the American character, the conviction of the virtues of American economic and spiritual life, to weaken the will to resist, to distract from the real danger. North America, isolated, confused, demoralized, economically encircled, militarily encircled, confounded with the alternative of surrender or annihilation—they are convinced we will surrender. Their program is to reduce America to that condition of encirclement and demoralization, leaving no alternative but surrender. They think they will be able to do this, it is believed, by about 1973."

Dr. Schwarz doesn't believe they will be victorious. But he is convinced they have the upper-hand, the advantage now. "We need an infinitely greater depth of knowledge of the foundations of American freedom and the Communist threat to it," he says. "But knowledge alone is not enough. There must be motivation and dedication." We must understand that Communism is the enemy of our God and our freedom and our economic well-being. As Dr. Schwarz says: "The battle against Communism is a total battle. It involves every aspect of our lives, every aspect of the world." Each citizen must ask himself: "Am I enlisted in this battle? Am I doing my part?"

Horses Nominated For Laurel Classic

Thirty-one horses, a majority of them stakes winners, have been nominated for the second running of the $25,000 added Wilwyn Handicap at Laurel Race Course on Saturday.

The Wilwyn will be raced over Laurel's new turf course at a mile and a sixteenth.

Last April, the Wilwyn was inaugurated over the main track at a mile and 70 yards and William Hal Bishop's Pete's Folly was the winner.

Heading this year's nominees are Up and Coming II, New Zealand's representative in last fall's Laurel International, now running for Chasmar Stud; One-Eyed-King, Cain Hoy Stable's four-time stakes winner, and Oligarchy, one of the mainstays of the Brookmeade Stable.

Other well-known horses entered are King Ranch's Waltz, Walter M. Jacob's Piano Jim, Frank Recio's Noble Sel, Henry Hecht's Monte Carlo, Louis Wolfson's Faultless Speech, Brookmeade Stable's Big Effort and Jaclyn Stable's Lil' Fella.

Ashlar, owned by the Shoestring Stable, and somewhat of a star here last fall is another nominee, as are C. Mahlon Cline's Mystic II and Alfred Mueller's Charlesgate, both stakes winners at Bowie.

The largest single nominee was Maine Chance Farm with three—Great Ore, Jet's Alibi and Jet Mercury. William Hal Bishop nominated Agha Alibhai and Sea Hymn.

The Wilwyn is named after the gallant little English horse which won the first Laurel International in 1952.

Every Thursday will be Ladies Day at Laurel during the meeting. All ladies will be admitted upon payment of a small State and Federal tax. Each Tuesday has been designated as Amateur Handicapper's Day. Post time for the first race will be 1:30 p. m. daily.

Great salesmanship is a lot of little sales put together.

TOBACCO TALES by Sander

Colombus' water-weary seamen finally received their due reward when they whiffed the aroma from the Indian's pipe and claimed tobacco as their own. Spain then became the first European nation to enjoy this genuine American product—soon followed by England and France.

Tobacco is a vegetable belonging to the cabbage and celery family... and contrary to popular belief, an air tight container is not the best method of storing tobacco. It lives and breathes—and does need some air.

Not all Turkish tobacco comes from Turkey. The world's finest Turkish tobacco comes from Western Greece and Eastern Macedonia. It is also grown in Israel and Bulgaria. There are 40 or 50 types of Turkish tobacco.

Imported tobaccos are gaining favor with Americans, according to Romick's International Tobacco Co. The large increase in sales of AMPHORA Tobacco, just during the last two years, indicates that American pipe smokers have found that imported AMPHORA Tobacco costs no more than domestic types.

CHICKEN ITALIENNE A Chafing Dish Specialty

WE'RE right in the heart of the greatest greeting season. Enthusiastic hostesses search for striking ideas to highlight their holiday buffet. A wise hostess relies on quick foods from her "cantry"...

This menu of sheer simplicity is designed to enhance your reputation as an accomplished hostess. From start to finish it is a snap to prepare, delightful to look at... and delicious!

Chicken Italiane
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken
2 cans (1 1/2 ounces each) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
In butter cook onion and oregano. Add chicken and spaghetti. Heat thoroughly. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (For buffet service, keep hot in chafing dish over alcohol lamp or candle warmer.)
Tinted Peaches
Pour one package of just thawed frozen red raspberries over a 16-ounce package of frozen sliced peaches. Serve when a few of the ice crystals are still remaining. FNS

The Hospital As A Birthplace

Maternity care in the hospital is taken for granted these days by almost everyone. But it wasn't always so. In 1935, for instance, only one-third of all births took place in the hospital. Today, more than 95% of all births are in hospitals, under the careful and efficient supervision of a maternity team specifically trained in their jobs.

This assures expectant mothers—and fathers—of the best care possible, not only in routine births but in cases where complications occur. Since hospitals have become used as birthplaces, the maternal death rate has decreased significantly: 58 women in every thousand died in childbirth in 1935; today, even with a higher birth rate in hospitals, the maternal death rate is down to only four per thousand.

Along with this increase in the use of hospital facilities for maternity cases is a natural and parallel increase in the number of babies paid for under Blue Cross prepayment programs. About one-fifth of all admissions of Blue Cross patients is for maternity care. In 1958 alone more than one and a quarter million maternity care cases had the financial protection of their Blue Cross Plans.

ODDLY ENOUGH by Waldman

The world's first taxi service was introduced in China about 5,000 years before the invention of the ricksha. Two long poles extended under a portable chair were carried by two men—one front and one rear. Passengers would often race each other from one end of town to the other.

When motorized taxicabs replaced the hansom cab in the tourist center of the world, Paris was almost deafened by the noise of horns, screech of brakes and unmuffled sounds of engines. It was common to see passengers sitting in the cab while the driver tried to fix the overworked engine.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Trees As An Investment

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 31—Every March, I go to the local nursery and purchase two sugar-maple trees about five feet high at a cost of about $12 each. I like to get them in March before the new buds come out, and set them out on my grounds. I believe they are the best investment I could make for my grandchildren.

Books Versus Trees

In my winter home in Florida, I have a private library of 8000 books. These books were issued by the publishers during the past fifty years at about $3.00 a copy. I doubt if any second-hand book dealer would today pay twenty cents a copy for the lot.

On the other hand, a sugar-maple tree constantly increases the value of your estate. In addition to the shade which they supply in summer and the ground moisture which they hold, children enjoy tapping these trees in the spring to get a little maple syrup. Hence, while most books are constantly decreasing in value, most trees are constantly increasing in value.

World War III

I do not expect that there will be a nuclear war for many years unless it starts by accident. We know that direct bombing could result in the death of millions of people. As to the effects of the "fall-out," the experts are undecided. Fallout could contaminate all except underground water and the core-matter of most trees. And if agricultural products should be contaminated and hence dangerous to eat, people in some sections would be forced to live on water, wood pulp, salt, and certain oils. Thus, theoretically trees have a possible defensive value to keep civilization alive.

With the large amounts spent on missiles and other forms of armament, I cannot understand why so little attention is given to protecting us from the eruption of World War III. I urge each of my readers to write the Governor of his State and ask the name and address of the State Director of Civil Defense. Then write a letter to this Director asking him what he personally is doing in his home to protect his family in case of a nuclear war.

Forests As An Investment

Probably the largest owners of forest lands in the United States are the Weyerhaeuser family. The stock of the Weyerhaeuser Company sells at a high price and pays a small cash dividend. When, however, your wife buys a package of "ready-mix" at a supermarket, the pasteboard box was probably made from trees which the Weyerhaeuser family set out 40 years ago. Your wife's dress was probably made from rayon manufactured from the timber of Raynor Incorporated, which has vast holdings in the Southeast where trees grow more rapidly than in the North.

Timber growth is not circumscribed by labor union regulations. Trees do not observe Sunday holidays, vacations, coffee breaks, etc. They are protected against fire, earthquakes, and freezes, but are subject constantly to increased taxation.

Timberland Companies Which Appeal To Me

The Kimberly-Clark Corp. is a large producer of cellulose and a leading manufacturer of book and printing paper. It is said to control (not necessarily own) over 10,000,000 acres of timberland. Its stock sells, however, around $68 a share and yields about 2 1/2%. Another favorite is the St. Regis Paper Co.—third largest paper manufacturer in the U. S., holding over 5 million acres. Your telephone book was probably printed on their paper. The stock sells below $50 a share, but yields over 3%—plus stock dividend.

A third favorite of mine is Scott Paper, which owns 1,500,000 acres of timberland that is being carefully protected and replanted as cut. The stock sells in the seventies and yields around 3%. Readers will think these yields are low, but it's the old story: "We can't have our cake and eat it too." The assets of these companies are growing every day and night of the year—which is not true of the assets of such popular stocks as General Electric, American Telephone, Union Carbide, and most of the "blue chips."

The top jockey mark since Pimlico opened in 1870 was set at the autumn, 1959 meeting, when 17-year-old Frank Northcutt rode 40 winners in 28 days.

Successful Heart Fund Drive Reported

The 1960 Heart Fund Drive, which was extended several weeks in snowy sections of the county, is drawing to a successful close, Bruce E. Crum, General Chairman has announced.

Total Heart Fund contributions in Frederick County have reached $11,375.95 Mr. Crum said.

"Special events" have brought in $811.99. Russell Hahn was chairman of the Bowling Tournament held in Frederick and Walkersville. Nathan Jacobson was chairman of the Frederick Bridge Club's Duplicate Bridge Party for Heart. Mrs. Walter DeGrange was chairman of the C and P Telephone Co.'s dance for Heart at the Eagles Club. The Mt. Zion Teen Age Club of Ladiesburg also had a dance for Heart, and the Emmitsburg Homemakers' Club had a card party.

"Heart Sunday" collections to date total $6155.10.

The Thurmont Area, which included Emmitsburg, Thurmont and Sabillasville, collected $1148.49.

"The Frederick County Heart Association is delighted with these results because they indicate that our County and City residents and business community recognize the importance through research education and community service.

"Heart Fund dollars in the last ten years have helped to produce an imposing list of advances in the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of the cardiovascular diseases," Mr. Crum said. "With the continuation of such whole-hearted confidence and support, we can look forward optimistically to the eventual control of these diseases which constitute the nation's Number One health problem," he continued.

Mr. Crum also extended the Heart Association's thanks to the newspapers, radio station, and to the layman, physicians and related professionals who volunteered their time and energy during the campaign to make the public aware of the importance of the heart diseases and of the Heart Fund's role in combatting them.

Prizes Must Be Listed With Income Tax Returns

Some confusion exists with respect to the taxability of amounts received as prizes and awards, Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue, and today, Provisions of the 1954 Internal Revenue Code clarify this quotation. All prizes and awards received from employers, quiz programs, contests and raffles must be included in your income tax return. The only exception to this rule would be amounts received as prizes and awards (such as scholarship and fellowship grants) made primarily in recognition of religious, charitable, scientific, educational, artistic, literary, or civil achievement, provided: (1) The winner was selected without any action on his part to either enter the contest or submit his works for consideration, and (2) that no substantial future services are to be rendered by him as a condition to receiving the prize or award. Often prizes and awards are received in goods or services, instead of money. The fair market value of these must be included in income.

Continuing, Machiz said, many exempt organizations, business firms and fraternal organizations, are not filing Form 1096 and Form 1099 as required by Section 6041 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and Revenue Ruling 56-1766, covering persons who won prizes in contests, raffles, radio and television give-away programs and door prizes. Awards to employees for outstanding performance, such as leading in sales or production, are also includable in taxable income by the recipient.

In conclusion, the Director said the forms mentioned above can be obtained at 707 N. Calvert St., or by writing District Director of Internal Revenue, Baltimore 2, Md.

Farm Employment At Record Low

Farm employment in February was at a record low for the month 5.3 million workers. This total is six per cent less than in February, 1959, and 11 per cent less than the February, 1955-59, average.

The number of family workers was estimated at 4.3 million or six per cent less than in February 1959. Hired workers were about seven per cent fewer than in February last year.

Only on the Pacific Coast was there an increase in farm employment over the past year. The Pacific region showed an increase of two per cent in family workers and about one per cent in hired workers.

Changes in farming arrangements in 1959 continued to decrease the number of farms throughout the nation. The total number in operation in 1959—estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture at 4,641,000—was about two per cent less than in 1958. This is about the same rate of annual decrease estimated in several years.

Tips On Flower Preservation Given

A series of tips on how to prolong the life of your Easter and spring flowers and plants was given today by the Allied Florists Association.

Jerry Geary, chairman of the public information committee, and committee members Henry Es-kin, John Gmurek, Dorothy Vogel, and Blythe Roberts, gave the following advice on the care of seven of the most popular spring plants:

Lilies—Water every other day. Keep the plant in good light, yet where it will be cool.

Hydrangeas—Never let the plant wilt. Keep it well watered daily. To restore drooping blossoms, submerge the pot in water for about five minutes.

Bulb Plants—Place in a cool, light place, water daily. Remove old flowers as they fade.

Cut Flowers—Cut one inch off the stems. Before arranging, place flowers in deep warm water (about 100° or body temperature) in a cool room for an hour or two. Change water daily.

African Violets—Set the plant in a pan or tray of moist sand. Water regularly with water at room temperature. Place in a light bright enough to cast a faint shadow on the leaves when you hold your hand about six inches from the plant.

Azaleas—Set the plant in a cool, light place and keep uniformly moist with a drink of warm water daily ("warm" water is about 100° or "body temperature". If soil becomes very dry, submerge pot in water about five minutes.

Corsage Flowers—Wear the corsage with the stems down as the flowers grow. When they are not being worn, keep them in the original package in a cool place—not freezing.

Isn't it peculiar that middle age always starts a few years earlier for the other fellow?

Spring Is Tulip Time In Ottawa

Spring is greeted in Ottawa, Canada's Capital City, with tulips—more than a million of them in blossom during the annual festival in May. The great display along the Capital's 24 miles of scenic parkway, the Rideau Canal and the grounds of the Parliament Buildings and the Chateau Laurier, should be particularly good this year, horticulturists say, because the bulbs have been protected through the winter by a thick, but fluffy-light blanket of snow.

Degrees Conferred At Exercises In Japan

University of Maryland President Wilson H. Elkins conferred 67 degrees upon graduates of the university's Far East Division during commencement exercises this week in Tokyo.

Students who completed requirements for their bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degrees while studying in Japan, Korea, Okinawa, Taiwan, and Guam, went to Tokyo for the third annual commencement convocation.

The Far East student body of the university is made up of United States military personnel, civil service employees, State Department personnel, and accompanying dependents. The division is a part of University College, the college which supervises all off-campus University of Maryland studies in the State of Maryland, Washington, D. C., the Pentagon, throughout the Atlantic area and in Europe, North Africa, and the Middle East.

There were 33 Army personnel, 23 Air Force personnel, one Marine, and 10 civilians who received degrees in the 1960 Far East class. The military ranks included one colonel, 11 Lt. colonels, 22 majors, 16 captains, three first lieutenants, two chief warrant officers, one master sergeant, and one technical sergeant.

Principal speaker for the ceremony was General Emmett O'Donnell, Jr., commander-in-chief of the Pacific Air Forces, who received an honorary doctorate of military science at College Park in 1954.

Chief Justice Kotaro Tanaka of the Japanese Supreme Court also was honored during the ceremony.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

It's Only News
Well, sir, the researchers took a look at the innards of these African baboons and found that they suffered from human-type artery disease. Their diet: Nuts, grains, fruits, and berries, with an occasional small rat or bird's egg. The scientists came to no conclusion about the role of this, that, or the other food item in baboon artery disease. Would have made no difference to the baboons, anyway.

The general newspaper-reading public, though, is easily influenced. A couple of newspaper articles about some medical research and everybody, from ad-man to housewife, jumps on the bandwagon. This is taken out of the diet, that is put into it, as though any newspaper report ever gives the last, well-rounded word on anything.

If you've ever read an original research report, you know how careful scientists are to prevent all the limitations of their studies, to qualify their conclusions, to make clear that what they have to say is true only until something different turns up—which is may well do tomorrow. A newspaper can't possibly print all this. Thoughtful hedging, essential in a scientific report, isn't interesting news.

It's news that some substance may increase the chance of heart or artery disease. It's news that if you eat something or other instead of your regular meals, you may lose so many pounds overnight. Unfortunately, the reader quickly changes "may" into "will." Concerned about his health, he makes drastic changes in his way of living that can be not only unnecessary but sometimes downright dangerous.

News columns should be read for what they are—the day's or week's news. Don't get your medical advice from news reports. Get it from your doctor! This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by your Tuberculosis Association.

Allotments Must Be Honored By Farmers

Every farmer who has cropland under a Conservation Reserve contract this year must be sure to comply with any acreage allotments on the farm and also to observe his permitted acreage of Soil Bank base crops, William L. Dudley, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said this week.

Generally speaking, Mr. Dudley said, the permitted acreage on a Soil Bank farm is the amount of land on which grains, oilseeds, and row crops may be produced. It consists of the historical acreage of such crops less the amount of land placed in the Conservation Reserve. A farmer who exceeds this permitted acreage or any acreage allotment on the farm may lose his annual rental payment and also be subject to a civil penalty. When all eligible cropland on a farm is in the Soil Bank, the permitted acreage is zero, the ASC official said. The home garden area on such a farm may be used to produce crops for home use, for setting out forest trees, or for non-agricultural purposes, but production of a Soil Bank base crop on such land is a contract violation.

ODDLY ENOUGH by WALDMAN

The "family car" and the traditional weekend drive had their beginnings in ancient Rome. The family rode in a closed, two wheeled horse drawn cart called a Carpentum. It was also used by the Roman housewife for shopping.

When vehicles became motorized, the family gathered in fine weather for a Sunday drive. Often, they returned late after spending hours repairing a cantankerous motor. Poor lubricants caused many engine breakdowns.

Today, the wise driver checks his car before starting. Special lubricants, such as Marvel Oil, keep engines primed in all weather. A 36-year favorite, it lubricates upper cylinder areas, a common source of engine trouble. By increasing motor dependability, Marvel adds to the pleasure of the traditional Sunday drive.

Combating On-The-Job Ailments

Almost as much time is lost from work through sickness and injury as is given to yearly vacations—an average of nearly ten working days, or two weeks, per person. This startling statistic is the result of a survey among industrial workers reported by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It is just one illustration of how costly common work ailments are in millions of work days, fun days, and dollars lost.

In charge of finding the answer to these painful questions are the industrial physicians. At a special conference held by the New York State Society of Industrial Medicine, the three most common on-the-job ailments named were shoulder injury, back pain, and headache. All these conditions have one thing in common—pain. The physicians agreed that pain relief is the first step, primarily through use of analgesic or "pain killing" drugs such as aspirin, codeine and others.

• Low-back pain. Dr. Kalman Frankel, neurologist at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, recommends "conservative therapy": bed rest on a firm mattress or bedboard, and heat through baths, lamps and diathermy machines. "Soma is very effective in decreasing paravertebral muscle spasm and the associated back pain," he said.

A "New-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

A new color mixing machine that will produce over 1,000 shades of color in flat, semi-gloss, and gloss paints will soon appear in paint stores nationally. Faster and more foolproof than previous mixing devices, this latest color dispenser developed by Du Pont will enable dealers to match the exciting decorating ideas seen in popular magazines.

It permits homemakers and painters a choice of an almost unlimited range of colors in decorating rooms and home exteriors. All that needs to be done is to tear out a page, or clip a swatch of fabric to present to any paint dealer equipped with the new mixing machine. Within a very few minutes, he will turn out an accurate match or produce harmonizing colors selected from a color library he keeps on his counter. This is indeed home decoration made easy.

Woman Must Pay For Car, Judge Decides

A Thurmont woman, who claimed fraud was used in getting her to sign a note and contract of sales for purchase of a car September, 1958, was ordered to pay to the Hillside Motor Company the contract balance of $541.75 in a case heard in Circuit Court Tuesday morning.

Chief Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer presided.

Mrs. Helen Draper said on the witness stand that she was coaxed to buy the car by Clarence Koontz, who she identified as an ex-boyfriend and as a salesman for Hillside.

Koontz and Roy Romsburg, sales manager for Hillside, brought the contract sales papers and note paper to her house on a Sunday morning, Mrs. Draper said. She said she did not want to sign the papers, since the car was for her son and his signature was used. She claimed she was told that if she signed the papers she would not be held responsible for the debt.

She said that she notified the Farmers and Mechanics - Citizens National Bank that she could not afford to make any more payments on the car and that her son, in person, told Hillside to claim the car at Green's service station.

Romsburg claimed on the witness stand that he did not make any promise to Mrs. Draper. He also said the motor and the crank shaft were taken out of the car when he went to get the car. The car was publicly advertised at lien sale and Romsburg bought it back.

Mrs. Draper said she did not know in whose name the car title was issued. She said she never

Football Star Salesmanager For Beverage Distributor

President Morris Kasoff, Key Wine & Liquor Co., has announced the appointment of Colt football star Arthur Donovan as assistant sales manager. Key Wine & Liquor are the Maryland distributors for Schenley brands.

Art Donovan's new duties will include the promotion of Schenley brands in Maryland throughout the counties.

Donovan states "I hope my name will become synonymous with Schenley."

Kasoff indicated the Colt star's rapid grasp of the distilled spirits business has been amazing to him. Even though the name "Donovan" is famous throughout Maryland, the newly appointed sales executive treats each retailer with the modesty and respect of a rookie salesman.

Donovan himself feels Schenley brands will receive a new boost in the area with increased local-news-paper advertising plus the services he intends to render retailers personally.

Local Lions Club Holds Meeting

President Ralph D. Lindsey presided at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening at Fitzgerald's Mason-Dixon Inn. Twenty-one members were present at the meeting. Two guests, Lions Feeser and Reaver from Taneytown, were present. The guests spoke in behalf of Lion Harry Daugherty of Taneytown who is a candidate for the district governorship. The local club went on record as endorsing the candidacy of Lion Daugherty.

William G. Morgan reported that he had contacted certain individuals pertinent to improvement to the front of the horse show grounds and that within the near future work would start on the project.

President Lindsey appointed Ralph F. Irelan to contact the VFW regarding a co-sponsorship of the local Boy Scout Troop. Several meetings ago the idea of co-sponsoring the Scouts was discussed and it was felt that such a venture would possibly benefit the Scouts to a greater degree than a single sponsorship. It is expected that a final decision will be made at the next meeting.

The president appointed the following nominating committee to select a list of candidates for nomination and to present this list at the next regular meeting: Arthur Elder, Ralph McDonnell and Clarence E. Hahn.

Bond Exchange Procedure Explained

During January, thousands of Series E bond holders, as well as numerous F and J holders, all over the nation, exchanged their E, F and J bonds for current income Series H bonds.

A new Treasury regulation, effective January 1, 1960, allows holders of Series E bonds to exchange them in amounts of $500 or more for Series H bonds, which pay interest every six months by Government check. The exchange may be made without regard to the annual purchase limit, and the holder may defer reporting of accrued interest for income tax purposes until the H bonds are disposed of or reach final maturity. This provision also applies to J bonds and unmaturing F bonds. This exchange privilege is especially designed to benefit those who are at, or near, retirement age and now have need for current income on their bond investment.

To illustrate, take an investor who puts $7,600 in E bonds in January 1943. Now, ready to retire, he wants to replace these bonds with H bonds and so draw his interest in cash.

Under the old rule, his situation was this: In January, his bonds will have had a cash-in value of $12,304 to invest in H bonds. His annual interest from H bonds will be $465.71. Over the 10-year life of his H bonds, he will earn an additional $909.20 just because he did not have to pay the tax.

In effect, the taxpayer buys H bonds with money that—under the old provision—he would have paid in taxes. The tax on the E bond interest will have to be paid sometime, but perhaps not for 20 or 30 years. Meanwhile the tax money is earning interest for the investor.

Another advantage of the E, F and J bonds exchange for H bonds with deferred tax liability, is that loss income taxes would more than likely have to be paid, since the taxpayer in later years usually pays less taxes due to smaller income tax bracket and to additional exemption after the age of 65.

Christian Service Group Meets

The Womens' Society of Christian Service of Tom's Creek Methodist Church met in the Social Room of the church on Monday evening.

Sixteen members and several guests were present. In the absence of Mrs. Ethel Fuss, devotions were in charge of Mrs. Virginia Wantz.

Devotions began with singing the hymns, Ivory Palaces and We've A Story To Tell To The Nations. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison, followed by the reading of the 100th Psalm.

The topic for the evening was: How Total is my Stewardship? Talks were given then on Stewardship of our Time, Talents and our Possessions by Mesdames Ethel Baumgardner, Anna Rickour, Pauline Seabrooks and Pauline Watkins.

A short business period followed, presided over by President Elizabeth Fuss, concluding with the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Johnson offered prayer before conducting the subject for

Which Tie Type Are You?

Ties express a man's personality and taste better than almost anything else he wears. The focal point of his appearance is the important "collar zone"—his tie and shirt collar.

The Arrow Shirt Style Clinic found, in a recent survey, that men's tie-buying habits can be grouped roughly around four major personality types...a selection tip for gift-givers.

The College Man is conservative when he dresses up. His tie may be a striped repp, small-patterned wool challis, or paisley print, matched to his suit. Narrow in dimension, the tie will usually be worn in plain four-in-hand style.

Keynote of The Executive's apparel is unobtrusive good taste. He'll choose repps, subtle under-the-knot motifs, or paisleys that harmonize quietly with his suit. He generally ties the same kind of knot as the collegian.

A large range of tie styles appeals to The Extrovert. He usually prefers them wider, tied with a bigger, wider "Windsor" knot. The tie itself is usually bold in color and pattern.

There's also a tie for Everyman. The newly-patented "Kwik-Klip" by Arrow is a pre-knotted full-length tie easily attached to any shirt by means of a plastic hook and two stays. It's a cravat for all tie personality types (especially the man-on-the-go), and is available in a wide variety of patterns and colors.

Wonderful World by Whoman

By building his own road as he went along, the great Carthaginian general Hannibal led a 50-mile long army across the Alps in 218 B.C. to defeat a much larger Roman force and make history.

More recently, travel-minded Americans hacked a 24-foot wide roadway from New York to Boston which they named the Boston Post Road. To keep carriage wheels from sinking, tree trunks were set in the earth, making travel a hazardous nightmare.

Today's highways are designed for speed and comfort relying for safety on protective guard railings, barriers, and signs made of galvanized (zinc protected) steel for years of corrosion-free service.

Imports, Labor and Inflation

Are imports from low-wage countries really threatening American business and labor?

This is the question many people ask as opponents of U.S. liberal trade policies try to influence public opinion against imports. Before we fall easy prey to those who want to frighten us into believing that imports are harmful, let us examine the economic facts:

More than one-half of U.S. imports are needed raw materials or crude foodstuffs—things we do not produce here at all or in which our production is inadequate for our needs. Most of the other goods are not competitive because they are specialties or luxury articles. The small amount of imports which may compete with similar American products gives the consumer an opportunity to buy at lower prices and to get variety.

With the cost of living ever on the rise, the consumer should welcome such imports which help keep prices down, and stem the tide of creeping inflation.

It is elementary economics that what a consumer saves on one item, he spends on another—so that business, labor and the consumer are all getting the benefit. This is a direct benefit.

Then there is an indirect benefit. The countries we buy from, buy our goods, helping our own industries and our own labor force engaged in making goods for export.

One of the purposes for which the United Nations was organized was "to promote higher standards of living, full employment, and conditions of economic and social progress and development." The United States, through its liberal trade policies in effect since 1934, has facilitated trade in order to develop the industries of other countries of the world and thus raise their standards of living. How can we help them if we shut out their goods?

Living standards differ between countries—even as they do in our own country. It is not the hourly wage that determines the price of a commodity, but the cost per unit. Because of our mass production, our efficiency, and our technological developments, our industries, paying the highest wages in the world, can compete successfully with the other countries of the world. Our total exports, largely finished products made by American labor, are always greater than our total imports!

Let us remember how often labor fought the introduction of labor-saving machinery, fearing that it would cause unemployment. These have been unnecessary fears because our increasing productivity, our increasing incomes, and our increased consumption with a constantly increasing population, have given us the highest standard of living ever achieved. And still, our imports are only three per cent of our gross national product! In view of all this, why fear imports?

Trailer Tax Assessments To Be Aired

Trailer owners, objecting to the method of arriving at assessments for County taxes, will have their case aired before the Maryland Tax Court in Baltimore at a hearing scheduled for April 20, it was learned this week from Manuel M. Weinberg of the Weinberg and Weinberg law firm.

Trailer owners claim they are being assessed as much as 100 per cent on the cost of the property.

It was decided to take the case before the Maryland Tax Court after the case was aired in an appeal in Frederick before the County Commissioners.

At the appeals case, the Commissioners upheld the assessing procedure by a vote of two to one. The case was heard in November.

Lumen F. Norris, supervisor of assessments, pointed out he has used a state-promoted procedure in placing an assessment on local trailers. Trailers were assessed at 100 per cent of the value less 10 per cent per year depreciation, until a minimum of 25 per cent has been reached.

Trailer owners claim through their attorney that the assessment is inequitable. They say no other group of taxpayers are assessed at 100 per cent.

The trailer owners say they are willing to pay a tax, but feel that a plan similar to that used in assessing real estate should be followed. The general plan for assessing real estate is levying a tax on a figure at approximately 50 to 60 per cent of value.

The trailer owners also contend that their trailers are personal property and cited that many people pay a minimum or no personal property tax.

At the time of the hearing before the commissioners it was voted that the trailer assessing problem grew out of action by the State Legislature. The Legislators approved a trailer tax, but then did not stipulate a method of taxation.

It was pointed out today that even if the County Commissioners had favored the trailer owners in the appeals case, the trailer owners would still have probably had to go to before the Maryland Tax Court. The Commissioners have no real powers as far as changing tax assessments unless the change is also approved by the Supervisor of Assessment.
