Some indication as to the actual growth of Emmitsburg was disclosed recently by the Census Bureau. I'll admit that the growth has been slightly on the retarded side but any such increase here is welcome news. The figures reveal that the increase in population was 8.4%. Broken down this means that the population increased 106. Back in 1950 the census showed 1261 residents of Emmitsburg proper. Today the number is 1367. . . not much progress in a decade, but progress just the same. We haven't expanded as rapidly as some of our neighbors and have slipped to fourth place in the county. Leading Emmitsburg are Frederick, 21,668; Brunswick, 3579; Thurmont, 1995. Frederick naturally showed the highest percentage of increase with 19.4% while Thurmont was close behind with 19.0%. These figures show just what industry can do for a community. In the past 10 years both of these towns, Frederick and Thurmont, obtained new industries. Brunswick, the second, not gaining in industry, suffered a setback in population of -4.6%. On the basis of these figures Emmitsburg was indeed fortunate in gaining instead of reducing in size because no industry has been added to the local economic structure. For the achievement of greater population and economic development it is clearly seen that something must be done to obtain additional industry locally.

I believe a major step has been taken to correct the situation. Where others have failed it is the hope of the Emmitsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce to induce industry to settle here. The local Jaycee Chapter is busy at the moment studying the situation and already a committee has been formed. Naturally the success of this project depends partly on the general public's cooperation and reaction. Surveys must be conducted. Surveys as to the amount of land available here for industrial purposes; a labor survey will have to be made and many other questions essential to industry will have to be answered. How much sewerage, how much electricity and how much water is available for industry? What is the tax rate both local and county-wide? These are but a few of a multitude of interrogations that will be coming the Jaycees' way. Knowing the boys as I do I believe they will come up with the right information for potential industry seeking relocation or establishing new branches. Let's give the boys a chance folks. Others have tried and failed and we have everything to gain, and little to lose.

TV viewers watched with intense interest the first in a series of debates featuring the two presidential aspirants, Jack Kennedy and Richard Nixon. The program held the interest of its audience the entire period. To be frank I must commend the two politicians for the manner in which they conducted themselves, under such pressure. It was amusing to see their sidestep "hookers" shot their way by the interrogators. At times there were a few barbs exchanged between the two but generally speaking the debate came off in fine fashion. It is really hard to make a decision as to which one had the edge. Perhaps in future meetings one will be more capable of making a decision as to which one of the candidates has the better answers. Both have been drawing extremely well on their campaign tour and a nip and tuck race is anticipated. Incidentally the bookies are betting 13 to 10 on the outcome and you can take your choice.

30,000 Voters Registered In County

The highest number of voters ever to register in Frederick County was reached Monday as the final registration day for the coming presidential election came to a close. At the conclusion of the registration Democrats enjoyed a spread of 40 over Republicans in the county, the Board of Election Supervisors announced.

Registration completed Monday shows that a total of 30,004 persons are eligible to vote. The Democrats still enjoy a large majority of some 4,000 voters.

Total number of Democrats now registered is 16,751. Total number of Republicans now registered is 12,733. Some 520 persons declined to affiliate with either party.

The clerks in the office worked straight through Monday and Saturday without even taking a break for lunch. Registered on Monday were 170 Democrats, 106 Republicans and seven who declined to affiliate with either party. Some 69 persons transferred. The clerks also registered 86 for the city election.

Since the May primary, 2,610 persons have been registered, with the election clerks reporting they believe this also to be a record number.

Registration figures for the past several years are varied, partly due to removing names from the registration books of those who failed to vote once in every five years.

Following the May primary, there were 15,506 registered as Democrats, 11,484 registered as Republicans and 416 declines.

The Republicans made a good showing in the new registrations; however they gained only four more new votes than the Democrats. Since the May primary 1,249 Democrats were registered, 1,249 Republicans were registered.

Figures released from the election Board office show the following total registrations for years since 1952: 1952, total of 28,186 registered; 1953 (after books had been cleared), 27,016 registered; 1954, 28,401 registered; 1955, (after books had been cleared), 27,078 registered; 1956, 29,596 registered; 1957 (after books had been cleared), 27,967 registered.

As of May 20, 1959 there were 12,372 Republicans registered as compared with 15,756 Democrats and 416 declines; for a total of 28,544. As of December, 1958, there were 12,690 Republicans registered, 16,571 Democrats registered and 455 declines for a total registration of 29,716.

However after the books had been cleared again the total registration dropped about 2,500, for the count of January, 1959. As of January 1959, there were 11,477 Republicans registered compared with 15,350 Democrats and 398 declines for a total of 27,225.

Sportsmen's Club To Place 100 Squirrel Boxes

President James Kemp presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall.

The group announced that it will sponsor a shooting match at the Civic Grounds on Nov. 20 and Vernon Welch was named chairman of an award to be given before the match. It was decided at the meeting to limit hunting privileges on the club grounds, upper Flat Run, to paid-up members. As usual the club will distribute Hunting By Permission Only signs among local stores. These signs are offered free to land-owners who permit hunting to those asking permission.

President Kemp announced that the club was in receipt of 100 squirrel boxes provided by the Game Commission. These boxes will be located in strategic game spots near town and will house squirrels and their young ones.

A work party will be held Sunday, Oct. 16 at the club's private grounds located at Upper Flat Run northwest of town. Council Seeks Cooperation Of Property-owners

The Burgess and Commissioners this week asked the cooperation of all those property-owners who were boarding or housing college students to report at the Town Office immediately. It is generally known that about 50 students are residing in the corporate limits of the town and it is the desire of the Town Fathers to know just where they are residing.

The Solons also announced, for public information, that all motorists who are required to stop for a red traffic light, going either east or west, that they are to stop their vehicles at the newly painted crosswalks in order to provide safety for those motorists who have parked on the Square to be able to back out onto the main highway in safety. Naturally when the motorist has the green light he proceeds through the intersection with caution. Quite a number of violations of this traffic rule have been witnessed recently and it was felt that it would be only fair to advise the public to observe those crosswalks before someone is injured or fined.

Jim Phelan's Mounties Card 23 Games For Court Season

Coach Jim Phelan's Mount St. Mary's College cagers open their fifth season of hoop play on Dec. 2 at Shippensburg to begin a rough 23 game schedule that includes 14 Mason-Dixon Conference games. Only newcomer to the schedule which includes Georgetown, Hofstra, Adelphia, Rider, St. Vincent's and Frostburg, is Muhlenberg who the Mounties will play away on Jan. 4.

Fourteen of the 23 games are on the road, including 8 conference games, so that Phelan has his work cut out in matching the school log of .617 with 568 victories and 351 losses. Since 1910 the Mountaineers have won 14 titles either state or league and have had only 8 losing seasons. They did not play in either 1917 or 1943.

Phelan takes a gaudy 118-43, 733 record, into the anniversary year against the following opponents:

December: 2, Shippensburg, A; 3, St. Vincent's, H; 6, Baltimore, H; 9, Hofstra, A; 10, Adelphia, Hampden-Sydney, A; 7, Roanoke, A; 12, Catholic U., H.

Regional round of the Mason-Dixon Conference will be played on Feb. 25 with the tourney finals scheduled for March 2-3-4.

U. S. Exports Set Record High

The volume of U. S. exports of agricultural commodities reached an all-time peak during the past fiscal year, United States Department of Agriculture reports. When valued in terms of 1952-54 average prices, the volume is estimated to have been 30 per cent above the 1958-59 level and 3 per cent above the volume in 1956-57, which was the previous record.

At current prices, exports during the past fiscal year reached an estimated $4,515 million—only $213 million below the record total of $4,728 million in 1956-57. Cotton accounted for more than half of last year's increase—exports of this commodity increasing by 99 per cent, from $413 million to $823 million. At the same time, exports of wheat and flour were up 13 per cent, milled rice up 32 per cent, soybeans up 29 per cent, and animals and products up 9 per cent.

Fog Causes Trailer To Upset Near Here

Damage was estimated at $2,500 early Tuesday morning as result of an accident in which a tractor-trailer came close to hurtling out of control down fog-shrouded Toll Gate Hill on U. S. 15 south of Emmitsburg.

Louis James Inman, 39, of Stuart, Va., escaped injury in the accident, which occurred about 7:40 a. m. at the point where the Old Frederick Road meets U. S. 15 at the top of the hill immediately south of Tom's Creek.

Trooper E. F. Tracey, who investigated, said the driver of the rig apparently was unable to see the warning signs and left curve in Route 15 as he approached from the south. Extremely heavy fog which blanketed most of the area Monday night had yet to clear at the time.

Inman, who was hauling an estimated 675 crates of apples to Biglerville, applied the truck's brakes and the rig toppled on its side at the top of the hill. Apples scattered all over the highway intersection were still being gathered up late Tuesday afternoon.

WHEATLY—LINN

Miss Lois Jane Linn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linn, Emmitsburg, and Mr. Bernard William Wheatly, son of Mr. Kenneth B. Wheatly, Hyattsville, and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Wheatly, were married on September 3. A double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Taylor at the Pilgrim Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had her sister, Mrs. France Henn as the matron of honor. The best man was Mr. Frank Orlando, friend of the bridegroom.

After a reception dinner at Harvey's Restaurant, Mr. and Mrs. Wheatly left on a wedding trip through Virginia.

Mrs. Wheatly is a graduate of Emmitsburg High School and the Hagerstown Business College. Mr. Wheatly is a graduate of McKinley Tech, Washington, and attended Tampa University.

Mrs. Wheatly is presently employed as a secretary for the U. S. Steel Co., and Mr. Wheatly is employed by the U. S. Post Office in Washington. The couple are residing in Washington.

On Oct. 16, from 2 to 7 p. m., the fall Youth Rally will be held at St. Paul's Church, Clearspring. The theme of the rally will be "Around the World With Youth" and there will be a panel discussion with panelists from other lands.

On Oct. 15 the Youth Fellowship will observe Christ's Work Day. On this day the members of the group will do odd jobs around the town, and the money they make will go to the work of the church. If you have any work for the young people, call Mrs. Glenn Springer, HI 7-4891.

The publicity committee is Phyllis Chatlos, Sue Martin and Susie Crouse. Further discussion will be held at the next meeting which will be held Oct. 6 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Chatlos.

Hat-A-Rama featuring the latest in women's hats will be sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Emmitsburg VFW on Thursday, Oct. 6.

Hat-A-Rama will provide an opportunity for local women to select a new bonnet at a nominal figure. On display will be a large number of hats from which the ladies can make their selection.

Jaycees Plan Drive For Industry Here

The ball has begun to roll with the Jaycees of Emmitsburg behind it 100%. The local chapter of Jaycees, under President Donald Eyer, has launched its Community Development Program.

Chairman of this project is J. E. Houck, assisted by Robert Simpson, George L. Danner, John S. Hollinger and Guy A. Baker, Jr.

A directory of the town's institutions, agencies, organizations, facilities, local leaders and neighborhood groups is being formed. A survey of what is available in the community has begun and an inventory and opinion sheet will be circulated among the citizenry in the next two or three weeks. This past week all local organizations have been contacted by a JC member and in the following weeks a canvass of the town on public opinion will be conducted. It is known that one of the major problems confronting the community is the need of more and better job opportunities for young adults can settle and thrive in their very own community.

It is also realized that a great need for both a social and cultural program for the entire population exists. Recreational facilities for the town, plus adequate park area for young and old alike are a must in this day and age of fast living. The school problem must be met and be beneficial both to the students and to the community. The appearance of the town will be a project for every citizen to join and consideration will be given to attracting the tourist.

The Jaycees are aware that the kind of community which will make local people proud will also induce others to live here. The community must be ready to invite new industry to settle here and help keep the young adults from becoming citizens of other communities.

Monoxide Fumes Affect Three Here

A Thurmont man was credited Tuesday with saving the lives of three Georgia men Tuesday morning as they dozed unconsciously in a parked car filled with carbon monoxide fumes.

The alert action by George Late was believed to have been the determining factor between life and death for three Georgia automobile salesmen who were parked along U. S. 15 just south of Emmitsburg.

Saved were Harold Pass, 40, Smyrna, Ga.; William Witte, 61, Bableton, Ga., and George Hooks, 35, of Marietta, Ga.

All were rushed to the Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, in the VFW ambulance, but had regained consciousness before they reached the hospital.

It was reported that Late discovered the men in one car which still had its motor running while taking his younger brother to school at Emmitsburg.

Reports indicated that the 3 men traveling together, although they were in separate cars, stopped along the highway to sleep during the night and got into the one car.

They reportedly kept the motor running in the car to keep warm and dozed off while the motor was still running.

It was reported that Late noticed the three cars parked along the highway while heading toward Emmitsburg with his younger brother. When he returned, the cars were still parked there so he stopped to investigate and found the three men unconscious in the car.

While Late was attempting to get the men into fresh air, he flagged down a school bus which was operated by Elwood Riffle of Thurmont.

After seeing that the men were still alive, Riffle then notified the State Police of the situation.

The three men reportedly were able to walk into the hospital but were given a check-up by a doctor at the hospital. They were then later released.

Mrs. Victor Fiery Addresses Homemakers

All the members and guests that were present at the first fall meeting of the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club decided that they would like to take a trip to Hawaii after the most interesting and informative talk given by Mrs. Victor Fiery, international relations chairman. After she introduced her subject for next month, which will be Alaska, Mrs. Fiery showed the many souvenirs, pictures, and a scrapbook which her daughter, Miss Mary Fiery, had collected in August when she took an educational tour of the Islands. This was a most interesting talk, and all derived a great deal of information from it.

The meeting was held at 1:30 p. m. on Sept. 22 at the VFW. It was called to order by the President, Mrs. Robert Fitez, and the American's Creed was repeated by the members and guests.

After the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report, a discussion ensued concerning a project to help the patients at Victor Cullen Hospital sell the items they make before Christmas from the ice cream sticks which are given them. Details will be published as soon as the arrangements are made.

Mrs. Fitez appointed a nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Gilbert Oddo, Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Charles Harner, and Mrs. Charles Fuss, to nominate new officers for the coming year.

A discussion developed as to plans to obtain new members for the club, and how to acquaint the younger homemakers with all the educational values to be obtained through the homemakers. Several plans are being formed.

The Director's report of the Frederick County Council of Homemakers meeting on Sept. 13 was given by Mrs. Paul Beale.

After Mrs. Fiery's delightful report, the meeting was adjourned and delicious refreshments were served. The afternoon of games will be held at the home of Mrs. Murray Valentine on October 12.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hollinger and family have moved from the Hollinger Apartments on S. Seton Ave. into their newly purchased home on DePaul St., formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fern R. Ohler.

More Funds For Homebuilding

A program of homebuilding that meets the people's needs is of vital concern to all communities, and in New York State something practical is being done to see that money is available for homebuilding on a continuing basis.

New York State's savings banks are moving rapidly to eliminate problems that might interfere with homebuilding needs being met everywhere in the state.

Recently, there has been concern over shortages in some of the state's communities of the funds that make homebuilding possible.

So now the savings banks—which make more mortgage money available in the state than do all other New York State financial institutions combined—are setting up their own

New York Homes Mortgage Fund, to supplement local home mortgage money in areas where it is in short supply.

It will benefit the state's economy by keeping up the flow of capital funds necessary for economic growth. And it will benefit all the people of New York State, as the state continues to grow and prosper.

New York State's savings banks take care of some $2.5 billion for more than 11 million depositors, and they have already helped finance homes for about 4½ million New York State people.

Though they do not have offices in all areas of the state, these 127 savings banks are moving to meet the homebuilding needs of every part of New York State.

'R' Number Tells Effect Of Insulation

The home owner who's set to start on do-it-yourself insulation as a home modernization project will run into some unfamiliar product designations when he goes to his local building-materials dealer to buy mineral wool batts or blankets.

Practically all mineral wool manufacturers—and they supply the vast preponderance of all home insulations—are switching from the old method of classifying their products by inches of thickness to a system of "R" designations.

As novel as the "R" system is, it has a sound technical and informative basis. "R" means resistance to heat flow, out of a house in the winter or into it in the summer. Instead of describing what the insulating material is, it tells what its effect will be after it is installed. The greater the "R" number, the more effective the insulation.

The "R" method is part of new performance standards for mineral wool. This standard conforms to the new All-Weather Comfort Standard developed by electric utilities and manufacturers of electric heating and air-conditioning equipment, insulation, and window glass. It refers specifically to electrically heated or air-conditioned houses.

It expresses maximum heat flow in terms of "U" values—a term expressing the rate of heat flow through the walls, floors and ceilings of a building. These are:

Ceilings	"U" Value
Frame walls05
Floors over vented crawl spaces07

To meet these requirements, home owners should install R-19 batts or blankets in ceilings, R-11 in walls, and R-13 in floors over vented crawl spaces.

These "R" numbers will be marked on mineral wool products. They indicate the amount of heat that will be held back by the mineral wool insulation itself, plus the air spaces and surfaces that are created when the insulation is installed.

The American Dream

"The American Dream" is a phrase constantly used by orators and writers. What does it really mean? It is the dream that inspired the founding families to give up the security of their lives in Europe and come across the forbidding Atlantic to a wilderness world—in the Mayflower and other ships—seeking . . . seeking what? Freedom and the opportunities that go with it.

"The American Dream means the dream, and the challenge of widening opportunity, which inspired the covered-wagon pioneers to head out westward across the rugged mountains, the wild prairies and the waterless desert to settle a vast new territory. It is the bright light of hope and adventure that has motivated tens of thousands of Americans and American families who started with only freedom and opportunity and achieved great success—benefiting themselves and, more importantly, their fellow man.

Knott's Berry Farm
"The American Dream" is the latent fire that lies buried, awaiting a spark, in the breast of every American boy and girl, young man and woman—the dream of achieving, the dream of contributing, the dream of fulfillment. It is all this, and much, much more—and all of it comes rising up from a bedrock foundation of spiritual understanding, faith in God, a dedication to God's laws.

In all parts of the United States for 25 years I have seen many dramatic examples of "The American Dream" come true—great industries built by men who came out of relative poverty and gave life to the Horatio Alger stories; institutions created out of the simple but dedicated lives of free people; pioneering projects achieved by single individuals but which have set the course upward for all mankind.

One of the most dramatic and most useful present-day examples of "The American Dream" can be found on a fantastic farm of several hundred acres at Buena Park, California, in the southeast section of the sprawling community of Los Angeles. It is a berry farm, but what a berry farm! It is known throughout the world as Knott's Berry Farm, and it is nearly as famous as Disneyland and Niagara Falls.

More Moving Than Fiction
No fiction writer ever could capture the flavor of "The American Dream" more vividly than is found in the real life story of Walter and Cordelia Knott. Starting with nothing and living on the edge of poverty for 20 years, they have built a multi-million dollar enterprise which today is one of the most colorful expressions of Americana in the whole U. S. A. More than 3,000,000 people a year—from throughout the nation and the world—visit Knott's Berry Farm.

Where once stood the scrawny little roadside shack where Cordelia Knott sold berries and wondrous berry pies to passing motorists, and a little later began to serve chicken dinners at two tables accommodating eight, they now are serving tens of thousands of people a day in what undoubtedly is the nation's largest restaurant, seating 2,000, and in surroundings unmatched anywhere on earth! They employ a thousand people.

Dream Come True

In 1920, after hard-luck experiences that would have disheartened people of lesser determination and faith, Walter Knott and his good wife Cordelia rented a few acres of farmland in Buena Park, built a little roadside stand, and began to "make a living" for their three and soon-to-be four children. Walter was 31. His forebearers had come west out of Tennessee and Texas. He had developed a deep feeling of love for the good earth, the soil that is so miraculous in its giving. His father had died when Walter was six, and throughout his teens the boy made his way—and learned some of the great lessons of life—by renting vacant city lots and raising vegetables and berries.

In the ensuing years, Walter found and married Cordelia, homesteaded a barren farm in the desert to which he could not bring water; went broke; share-cropped for a cattle ranch; learned more about the land; rented the Buena Park acres, borrowed money to buy his tiny berry farm; developed unique marketing ideas; helped develop and introduce the Boysenberry to the world, became a fantastic success as a restaurant man and showman—and then began expending his resources, as he is today, on bringing about a better understanding of our priceless American heritage of freedom and opportunity. Freedom and economic well-being represent man's two chief desires. America provides them both to the greatest degree ever known to any segment of the human race.

Shooting Methods Essential To Good Hunting

Highly successful hunters have developed certain ways of shooting that work for them.

Sheldon Smith, president of the company that manufacturers fine Ithaca shotguns and rifles, offers this quick run-down of significant pointers:

The first step in good shooting, according to Mr. Smith, is holding the gun properly. The expert lifts the gun to shoulder level, holding the butt two inches out from the shoulder. He puts his face firmly against the stock first, and then pulls the butt back snugly against his shoulder. These motions are practically instantaneous with most experienced hunters.

When shooting, both eyes should be kept open, and head and gun should always be moved as a single unit, never one without the other.

The basic key to successful shooting, says Mr. Smith, is leading the game by the correct distance. Unless game is moving directly toward or away from the hunter, he must always shoot a certain distance ahead of the target.

There are two ways of leading that work and one that doesn't. An expert but difficult method is moving the gun quickly along the path of the game and shooting while the gun is pointed at the game but still moving ahead rapidly. Only an expert with instant reflexes can kill game this way. This is so-called "snap shooting." An easier method is moving the gun more slowly along the path taken by the game, moving it ahead to allow the estimated necessary lead, and then shooting while the gun is still in motion.

The way that insures a poor shot, according to Mr. Smith, is to stop the motion of the gun before shooting. The gun should always be moving when you shoot, and you should follow through smoothly, always in the line of motion of the target.

Soil Reserve Contracts Increase

With 306,182 Conservation Reserve contracts in effect, the total cropland acreage held out of production under this program throughout the country during the present crop season amounts to 28,659,973 acres, according to an up-to-date report on Conservation Reserve progress received at the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

Under Conservation Reserve contracts, cropland is retired from production for periods up to 10 years and the reserved land is devoted to conservation uses. The contracts now in force have an average length of more than 6 years. Although no new land is being taken into the program at this time, the existing contracts remain in effect and will continue until expiration.

The current report on Conservation Reserve status, according to William L. Dudley, Chairman of the Maryland ASC Committee, shows Texas in first place in acreage under contract, with 3.6 million acres, followed in order by North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Georgia. These are the only States with more than 1 million acres under contract.

In Maryland there is a total of 1,484 contracts in effect, covering a total acreage of 83,875 acres, of which 91 per cent is in the form of whole farms. The Conservation Reserve payment for Maryland averages $16.91 per acre.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kestring

The scenting process which allows hunting dogs to locate game birds hidden in the deep recesses of cover or to follow the trail of game hours after those animals have passed has been especially intriguing to sportsmen the world over. Surprisingly enough, comparatively little research has been conducted on the matter.

Man has an acute sense of smell but it is insignificant when compared with that of the hunting dog. It has been proved that a dog's sense of smell can be cultivated and trained. Through generations of selective breeding man has maintained, and perhaps improved, the acute sense of smell in his hunting dogs, comments Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

Those who have been consistently successful in the hunting fields have learned, through careful observation, that scenting conditions are better under certain weather conditions than under others. Moist atmosphere always presents better scenting conditions. But too much moisture can become detrimental to scent. On a particularly wet day the scent becomes, as it were, "drowned" by excess of moisture.

The direction and condition of the winds play an important part in creating or eliminating good scenting conditions. Cold and dry winds are unfavorable to the retention of scent, which becomes weakened and diffused instead of being retained.

Scenting conditions are usually good when the wind is southerly. This is because the south wind is generally warm and humid. For a similar reason, the westerly wind, next to the south wind, is a favorable wind for scenting conditions.

Contrary to many opinions, sunny days are not good for scent because there is a rapid movement of vapors from the surface of the earth to a considerable elevation in the atmosphere. This may be observed in the steaming of the earth on a hot day. The scent, under this condition, is borne away and dispersed above the reach of the dogs engaged in the hunt.

A warm day without sunshine, however, is very good for scent. It is then that the evaporation from the earth's surface proceeds gradually. Instead of rising rapidly under the glaring heat of the sun, the vapors lie for a time on the earth's surface. When the vapors lie the scent lies also.

The mystery of scent will prevail as long as sportsmen hunt game with sporting dogs. It seems only the dog's nose will ever know the whole story.

Foley Aids Church, State Views

Congressman John R. Foley, appearing before the Middle Maryland District meeting of the Church of the Brethren last Friday night declared himself a strong believer in the separation of Church and State as provided by the First Amendment of the Constitution in the historical tradition of our Country.

On the question of disarmament posed to him in advance by the Church leaders, Foley said that he was "strongly in favor of realistic disarmament measures consisted with defensive measures to preserve our national freedom until an effective system of international control and inspection could be put into effect." Mr. Foley presented the group with a signed copy of the Code of Fair Campaign Practices which he said he also had filed with the national Fair Campaign Practices Committee, Inc., in New York. In emphasizing the first of the seven promises of the Code, Congressman Foley said: "I shall conduct my campaign in the best American tradition, discussing the issues as I see them, presenting my record and policies with sincerity and frankness, and criticizing without fear or favor the record and policies of my opponent and his party which merit such criticism."

Announcing the 1961 Ford . . .
Beautifully proportioned to the CLASSIC FORD LOOK

The 1961 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria—beautifully built to take care of people

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

The 1961 Ford introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you . . . and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. Good-bye grease racks! What's more, it cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

This is the 1961 Ford . . . beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look . . . beautifully built to take care of itself.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

LUBRICATES ITSELF. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

CLEANS ITS OWN OIL. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

ADJUSTS ITS OWN BRAKES. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

GUARDS ITS OWN MUFFLER. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

PROTECTS ITS OWN BODY. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

TAKES CARE OF ITS OWN FINISH. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Heating Systems Require Study

Prospective home buyers usually place a "comfort rating" on each model house they visit, basing their rating on the varied features of the house.

According to the Maryland Better Heating-Cooling Council, however, many "shoppers" fail to check the heating system in the model house, even though the heating system is of primary importance in rating a house comfort-wise.

No matter how you look at it, says the Council, you must have heating in the Maryland area. Adequate heating here in the winter months is vital to the family's health. Besides the question of health, the Council points out, the type of heating system you get can determine how pleasant and carefree it will be to live in the new house.

To place a comfort—and health—rating on the heating system in the model house, the Council suggests you ask the following questions: Are the heat-distributing units installed under windows and against walls that are "exposed" to the weather? (That's where the greatest heat loss occurs.)

Will the distributors interfere with drapery, rug and furniture placement? Will the system stir up dust and dirt about the house? Will the system last the life of the house without major repairs or replacement?

You're in luck, says the Council, if the house you are planning to buy has a hydronic (hot water) heating system. Chances are the hydronic system will have modern baseboard heating panels. These are usually installed along the entire length of the exposed wall in each room, forming a perimeter around the house to block out the cold, keep floors warm and reduce drafts, explains the Council.

Wall-hugging hydronic baseboard panels won't hamper placement of rugs, drapes and furniture. Moreover, according to the Maryland Council, hydronic systems are "sealed" so they can't introduce dust and dirt into the house.

Most important, reports the BHC, hydronic boilers have a life expectancy of 20 to 40 or more years, making them one of the best investments for today's new homes.

If the model home you are appraising happens to be either a split level or rambling ranch type house, you should particularly note whether the heating system maintains even, steady heat in each level or area.

According to the Council, the heat-retaining power and controllability of water in a hydronic system is especially suitable for this purpose. In addition, hydronic systems can be efficiently and economically zoned; that is, temperatures can be controlled with separate thermostats in each level or area of the house. With hydronic zoning the homeowner simply "dials" the heat he wants.

Life is very much like Christmas—you're more likely to get what you expect than what you want.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Ephesians 2:1-10.

Stephen said, Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God (Acts 7:56.)

Some Christians, like Stephen, have their eyes turned toward heaven. They draw spiritual power from the heavenly places in Christ Jesus. This clears the vision and gives the Christian his power to be a citizen of two kingdoms. He lives in the world by the help of the Unseen.

I have heard of a church in Stockholm that had no windows in the walls, but one big window in the ceiling. The following invitation to worship in this church appeared in a newspaper: "Come to the church with its window pointing toward heaven." It is a good thing that a church has its window turned toward heaven.

Each person in himself can be like a small church. The light and love and righteousness from heaven can stream down to you and me living in earth. Thus we can mirror something of the heavenly while living the earthly life.

Prayer

God, we thank Thee that it is possible for us to turn to Thee for comfort, courage, and spiritual power. Help us to mirror something of the heavenly glory in our earthly life, so that we can help advance Thy kingdom on earth. We pray in the name of our Saviour, Amen.

Thought For The Day

The Christian church helps us to draw spiritual power from God almighty.

NO. 18,453 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY, IN EQUITY

NEVA R. BOONE VS. RICHARD P. BOONE

The object of the Petition is to procure the custody of an infant child by the Petitioner, Richard P. Boone, from the Complainant in the original proceedings, Neva R. Boone.

The Petitioner states in substance that a decree was passed on the 20th day of September, 1956, granting the care and custody of Richard Lee Boone, a minor child issuing from the marriage of the parties to this cause, to Neva R. Boone; that since said date, your Petitioner has paid unto the said Neva R. Boone the sum of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per week for support and maintenance of said child; that subsequent to said decree, the said Neva R. Boone has remarried twice, being presently married to Robert F. Davis, a member of the Army Air Force, stationed in Lockbourne A.F.B., Lockbourne, Ohio; that said marriage will eventually terminate by divorce; that on the 3rd day of September, 1960, the said Neva R. Boone (Davis) accompanied by a man other than her present husband brought the said minor child from the State of Ohio and left it with its maternal grandmother, directing the said maternal grandmother to enter the child in the elementary school system of Frederick County for the current year, the said Neva R. Boone (Davis) having returned to the State of Ohio with another man other than her husband; that subsequent to the passage of the original decree in this cause, your Petitioner has remarried, the marriage being intact, and that the Petitioner is currently employed in Frederick, Maryland, and earns sufficient monies to provide a suitable and stable home for his family and infant child herein mentioned; that since the said Neva R. Boone (Davis) placed the child with his maternal grandmother in Frederick County, and returned to the State of Ohio, the said maternal grandmother refused to permit reasonable visitation rights to your Petitioner; that your Petitioner believes that the best interest and welfare of said minor child will be promoted by the modification of the original decree passed in this cause on the 20th day of September, 1956, by awarding the care and custody of said minor child to your Petitioner, Richard P. Boone.

The Petitioner prays that the care and custody of said infant child be granted to the Petitioner, and that in the meantime the Court will grant temporary custody to the Petitioner until such time as this matter can be heard and permanent custody determined.

It is thereupon this 22nd day of September, 1960, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Petitioner give notice to the said nonresident Defendant of the objects and substance of this Petition by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four consecutive weeks prior to the 29th day of October, 1960, commanding here to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 29th day of November, 1960, and show cause, if any she has, why the Decree should not be passed as prayed, and as further ordered that in the meantime, the temporary custody of said child be granted to the Petitioner Richard P. Boone until such time as this matter can be heard and permanent custody determined, unless cause to the contrary be shown on or before the 1st day of November, 1960.

Supper on a Bread Slice

Crisp fall weather sharpens appetites, and hearty food is the order of the day. The home economists of the Carnation Company had just this thought in mind when they developed a delicious new hamburger dish. Evaporated milk is mixed with ground beef, cheese, mushrooms and seasonings, and spread on French bread halves. The bread is wrapped in aluminum foil, and baked. The meat mixture is juicy and firm-textured, thanks to the better blending qualities of evaporated milk.

Your family will ask you to repeat this recipe often.

MUSHROOM HAMBURGER SUPPER
(Makes 6 servings)

3/4 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk	3/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 1/2 pounds ground beef	1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup cracker meal	1 cup (4 ounces) grated Cheddar cheese
1 egg	1 cup chopped mushrooms
1/2 cup chopped onion	1 15-inch loaf French bread
1 tablespoon prepared mustard	Heavy duty aluminum foil
1 1/2 teaspoons salt	Strips of cheese for garnish

Combine first eleven ingredients. Cut French bread in half lengthwise. Spread meat mixture evenly over cut surface of each half. Wrap heavy duty aluminum foil around crust-side of bread, leaving top uncovered. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25 minutes. Garnish with strips of cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer. To serve, cut slices across or diagonally.

"Emergency" Week To Be Observed

"More than 50,000 people die needlessly each year from suffocation—acute asphyxia—according to conservative estimates," Joseph B. Herron, Maryland chairman of Emergencies Don't Wait Week, Oct. 8-15, reported.

To help reduce this toll, the "Emergencies Don't Wait Week" Committee is offering to interested groups on a free loan basis a 15 1/2 minute, 16mm, color-sound film on the latest mouth-to-mouth resuscitation techniques.

Entitled "50,000 Lives," the film was produced in cooperation with the Baltimore Fire Department and the Baltimore City Hospitals Department of Anesthesiology. It demonstrates, via various pictorial techniques, how prompt application of new resuscitation methods can enable "your breath to save a life"—in many cases where other forms of artificial respiration have been found ineffective.

Fire and police departments, schools, parent-teacher organizations, civic and civil defense safety committees, industrial personnel departments, youth organizations and clubs have all been using the film with reported excellent results.

Requests for availabilities should be directed to Mr. Joseph B. Herron, Maryland Chairman, "Emergencies Don't Wait Week," 230 Deep Dale Road, Timonium, Maryland.

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

The University of Maryland is ready to join with industry in cultivating one of the principal resources in the state, according to Mr. A. E. Corney, assistant to the president at the state university.

"This main resource is the ability of our people," Mr. Corney says. "There are several things the university can and should do in a realistic program with industry that will help both of us," he adds. He lists three main requirements:

First, the necessity to identify and provide for the top training of the young people of the state with the highest ability. "This many industries are already doing by means of scholarship programs." However, there are still about half of the qualified high school graduates today who are not getting a college education.

Second, the high ability group must be given the best education possible. "This, the university is endeavoring to do by increasing the performance standards of students, implementing sound faculty salary policies, and developing a Distinguished Faculty Program."

Third, industry and the university must cooperate to assure that our most talented young people see the advantages of living and working in Maryland. "A closer working relationship with respect to our student placement activities is the answer here," Mr. Corney states.

"The 10,000 or so students taking advantage of a higher education at the university represent a prime resource of the state. As a group they are as important to the future of Maryland as any group of people you can think of. It is important that industry and the university continue to develop their partnership to make the most of the prime resource represented by the talent and brainpower of our young citizens of college age."

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Ask Questions In Europe

Barcelona, Spain, September 29—During the weeks I have been in Europe, I have constantly asked questions. I have talked with all kinds of people from taxidrivors to A m bassadors. Let me add that the U. S. Embassies everywhere have been very kind and patient with me, as they are with all Americans who call upon them.

Questions And Answers

The first question I always ask is: "Do you expect World War III?" The answer, almost unimously: "Yes, but not for ten or twenty years." Furthermore, most expect that it would be started by China.

"Will it be an atomic war?" Most people replied "Probably"; but some feel that by that time there will be some sure defense against atomic bombs.

"Will Cuba be Communist?" "Yes, but there are many breeds of Communism as there are denominations of Protestantism."

"If Russia attempts to go too far in Latin America will the U. S. enforce the Monroe Doctrine?" Answer: "Yes."

"Does Mr. K truly want a reduction in armaments?" "Yes, because to hold his power he must constantly improve Russia's standard-of-living. To do this, Mr. K must spend less on armaments."

"Could Europe possibly remain neutral in the event of war between Russia and the U.S.?" "Yes, in view of the new weapons which may then be available."

"Are you European people interested in 'space travel' and going to the moon?" "Not so much as you are in America. We have trouble enough on this earth without seeking more."

"What about Africa and undeveloped nations in other areas?" "European nations are interested in every part of the world where there are natural resources of minerals, oil, gas, water, and sunshine."

"How do Europeans feel about inflation?" "Everyone looks upon inflation as dangerous. It is very harmful for all who have savings in banks, insurance policies, or annuities."

"Have any Europeans benefited from inflation?" "Yes, those few who held mortgaged real estate and the gold to repay these mortgages. Those who held unmortgaged real estate profited provided they had the gold or its equivalent to pay the taxes."

"In what are careful Europeans now investing?" "In rented or producing property away from possible Communist seizure." Such real estate is constantly increasing in value.

"What about utilities as investments in Europe?" Answer: "Since most of the utilities are owned by municipalities or the state, they offer practically no investment possibilities."

"How are personal taxes in Europe?" The European people think they are high due to state welfare projects. But I am inclined to believe the U.S. has the highest taxes in the world.

"What about unemployment in Europe?" "With the exception of West Germany, Italy, Switzerland, and one or two other countries there is much unemployment."

"What about wages?" "Both wages and the cost-of-living are low in Europe. Probably Spain has the poorest record."

"Is it safe for American manufacturers and investors to buy stocks of West German, Italian, or French corporations?" Answer: "Most of these are making money, but it is risky to buy such stocks unless one knows the corporation officers and understands why the owners are selling. There is no 'Dun & Bradstreet' in these countries, no 'Securities & Exchange Commission.'"

"What about the American election in November?" The feeling is that Kennedy will be elected, although the people with property say they would vote for Nixon. Some believe that if Kennedy is elected, his father will try to back the biggest boom in U.S. history with the Dow-Jones Industrial Average going to 800.

Conclusion: When we visit these old churches and palaces we forget that Europe's experience with democracy is much shorter than ours. This is especially true of corporation finance—with the exception of the insurance, banking, and shipping companies of Great Britain. Even these investors put most of their money in the United States. The U.S. railroads and large western cities were built by English money.

A Hurricane of Common Sense

By DR. FRANK N. D. BUCHMAN

THIS ADDRESS WAS GIVEN ON THE OCCASION OF DR. BUCHMAN'S 82ND BIRTHDAY AT THE OPENING OF THE MORAL RE-ARMAMENT WORLD ASSEMBLIES AT CAUX, SWITZERLAND AND MACKINAC ISLAND, MICHIGAN.

HERE is a hurricane of common sense sweeping through the world. "A Hurricane of Common Sense" — that was the headline in a newspaper read by the leaders of Washington. It refers to the manifesto Ideology and Co-Existence which in the last six months has gone to 73,000,000 homes throughout the United States, Canada, Scandinavia, Germany, Italy, France, Great Britain, The Netherlands, Greece and Turkey, as well as India, South Africa, South America, Australia and Japan. It has already been translated into 24 different languages, and will be read by the millions. It puts squarely to the modern world the choice — Moral Re-Armament or Communism.

My old friend General Guisan, wartime Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of Switzerland, wrote the foreword to the Swiss edition. In it he said, "On the ideological plane neutrality can be dangerous, for refusal to fight for what is right plays the enemy's game. The training center at Caux is a unique instrument that has changed the conduct of nations. I long that our whole people should face realistically the forces which confront each other today, that we draw from our traditions a relentless determination to safeguard at all costs the freedom we inherit."

This was the last public statement General Guisan made. When he died 300,000 citizens of Switzerland stood in silent tribute to the man who was regarded as the savior of his nation. His widow wrote to me, "General Guisan was gripped by the idea and the might of Moral Re-Armament. In the evening of his life it was a great girder of support to him."

Mighty Wind of Hope

Moral Re-Armament is a hurricane of common sense sweeping irresistibly through the hearts of nations. It is smashing down the barriers between nations and races, dispersing the fogs of hate that threaten humanity and bringing a mighty wind of hope to the millions of the earth.

Hoffnung—Hope—is the name of the play God put in the mind of a miner from the Ruhr. He is a worker at the coalface. He had never thought of writing a play. He changed. He found an answer to division in his home, his nation and the World. Chancellor Adenauer heard of this play and sent for this Ruhr miner and his friends. He asked them to go to Britain and France to prepare the way for his own visits to those countries. "Many of us Germans," he said, "do not realize how deep are the wounds in other countries which were caused by what we did through having the wrong ideology." In an exclusive article in the New York Journal-American headlined "Adenauer calls MRA World's Hope," the Chancellor said, "A nation with an ideology is always on the offensive. A nation without an ideology is self-satisfied and dead."

In Britain, Hoffnung was like a hurricane. It shifted the prejudices of years. In the spirit of Moral Re-Armament men like James Coltart, executive of the British press and television, took inspired and fearless action to prepare for Chancellor Adenauer's visit. His time in Britain was hailed as a triumph. Back in Bonn the Chancellor at a meeting of the Christian Democratic Party referred to the mistrust between Britain and Germany which had been swept aside, and said, "We have to thank Moral Re-Armament for that."

In Paris, French audiences stood and cheered. Some were in tears as the German miners sang the Marsielleuse in French.

There is a shrine at Mont Valerien where during the occupation 4,500 Frenchmen of the Resistance met their death. To Mont Valerien went those Ruhr miners. They were escorted by the wife of the General at the head of the French nation's defenses, and the niece of President de Gaulle. They were the first Germans to go there in fifteen years. They gave news of an idea powerful enough to unite nations separated by generations of hate. They expressed their sorrow for the past and their resolve to lay down their lives to rebuild Europe and the world. The columns of Figaro gave the news of this event to the French nation.

Vaterland, leading Swiss Catholic newspaper, reported the response to the miners' play in the monastery schools of central Switzerland under the headline, "Catholic Colleges Hail MRA play." Vaterland reported Rector Scherrer of Schwyz as saying, "We can all subscribe to the principles of MRA. To recognize absolutely the dominion of God, or to bow down under the domination of human tyrants, that is the alternative which should unite us all whether we are Catholics, Christians or non-Christians." Vaterland also reported how Father Rector Thommen of Kollegium Niklaus von der Flue in Sarnen declared, "Because you live what you believe, we can wholeheartedly accept this ideology."

In Luxembourg where the German miners were Government guests, the Prime Minister, Pierre Werner, said, "The moral and spiritual values on which your actions are based are the ideology that can save the Christian West from its enemy."

The hurricane blew into Kerala and its 16,000,000 inhabitants, the first major state in the world to vote itself into the Communist camp. Night after night vast crowds flocked to hear the evidence of MRA. Mannath Padmanabhan, father of his State, leader of the Hindu majority in Kerala, had found at Caux the secret of uniting with Christians. The Governor of the State, the Cabinet Ministers, trade union leaders, industrial men and students in their hundreds and their thousands came to hear the news of an answer.

Communism Ousted in Kerala

Archbishop Gregorius of Trivandrum said, "History will record our permanent gratitude to Mannath Padmanabhan not only for having ousted the Communist regime in Kerala, but for creating the unity of all the communities following his return from Caux." The Governor of the State, Ramakrishna Rao, then said, "All our problems, political, economic, individual, must be solved in the spirit of MRA. It has an essential appeal to every man."

Men changed in Kerala. The leader of 38,000 students made the experiment of listening to the voice of God. He said, "I am going to end impurity in my own life and clean up the student body. It is through moral compromise among the students that Communism has gripped us. I see that the choice for India is Moral Re-Armament or Communism, and I choose MRA."

Rajmohan Gandhi, grandson of my old friend Mahatma Gandhi whom I met on the first of my nine visits to India in 1915, said, "Without Moral Re-Armament the new government in Kerala might already have fallen. Moral Re-Armament will save India and Asia and the world from Communist take-over." When Chou En-lai arrived in India for his conferences with Prime Minister Nehru, the Times of India and the Hindustan Times carried full pages with the double-banner headline "Moral Re-Armament — the next step for Communists and non-Communists alike."

These pages challenged the two men who today lead 1,000,000,000 Asians to find a new way of doing things for the sake of all men everywhere. They said in part, "Communism has failed to produce the new type of man — the unselfish man who can develop and run the unselfish society. The ideology of MRA changes people. That is why thousands of former Communists all over the world are fighting the battle of Moral Re-Armament to restore the world on the basis of absolute

Prime Minister Kishi of Japan gave a reception in his official residence to the Moral Re-Armament international force which included the German miners presenting their play "Hoffnung" (Hope) in Japan. Mr. Kishi said, "Moral Re-Armament is the moral backbone of the world. The world will rally to its work of building peace based on true freedom and moral standards." This MRA force and "Hoffnung" have since come to America at the invitation of eleven U.S. Senators. "Hoffnung" is currently being presented at the National Theater in Washington, D.C.

Representatives of the Baluba and Lulua tribes of Kasai Province in the Belgian Congo at Caux with Dr. Frank Buchman. They asked him to give all his attention to the situation in Africa and to send the all-African color film "Freedom" with an international force of Moral Re-Armament to the Congo before its independence on June 30 this year.

Chancellor Adenauer conferred on March 19 in Los Angeles with his long-time friend Dr. Frank Buchman. He said, "I must tell you how much I value you and your work of Moral Re-Armament. It is absolutely essential for the peace of the world."

moral standards." It was a real hurricane, and it was common sense.

When Chancellor Adenauer arrived in Tokyo for his state visit, he was welcomed at the airport by his miners from the Ruhr. He spoke to a joint session of the Japanese Diet calling for a moral ideology that could unite East and West and answer Khrushchev's challenge to take over the world. Next day in the Japanese Diet a Cabinet Minister said, "Chancellor Adenauer proclaimed Moral Re-Armament to Japan."

The miners had come to Japan in response to an invitation from Japan's Prime Minister and other leaders of the country and they were the guests of the Japanese throughout their six weeks' visit. A special train was put at their disposal by Governor Sogo of the Japanese National Railways in gratitude for the sanity of the news they brought.

Massive Impact on Japan

Prime Minister Kishi said, "You are giving a moral backbone to the whole world. I wish to express my gratitude for the massive impact MRA has made on this nation during the past six weeks. The reports which I have received from all over Japan have convinced me of the effectiveness of this mission in giving ideological clarity and a moral answer to our people."

A leader of the Japanese Socialist Party at a crisis point early this year, said that MRA has played a key part in healing a fresh split in their ranks and prevented Communism from taking over. A leader of the Seinen-dan, a political organization of 4,300,000 youth, cabled me at Easter saying that MRA had once again won every seat from the Communists at the annual election in spite of the Communists' outpouring of manpower and money in the last twelve months.

A trade union leader tells how through Moral Re-Armament the President of one of the great mines of Japan was changed and as a result of this change 3,500 miners, who needed 3,000 armed police to keep them from attacking the President, went back to work satisfied that their just claims were being met.

At the Mike mine, where workers had fought workers at the pithead, one man had been killed and hundreds injured. The leader of the organized women of the mine said, "You brought us the answer to hate. Without it more would have been killed and injured. MRA is the answer to every injustice and human hate."

And one of the great men of Japan, primarily responsible today for the security of his country, said, "For the first time since the end of the war you have given me hope. MRA is restoring a sense of destiny to a hundred million Japanese people. You are talking straight to us and cleaning us up in homes and politics. You are saying to us what no one else has dared to say."

A movie is going out to the millions which says what needs to be said in a way that the modern man understands, accepts and follows. It is a full-length Technicolor musical called The Crowning Experience, which in the words of Arthur Baker, for 21 years Chief of the Parliamentary Staff of The Times of London, is of "indescribable beauty. Its message is so deep that it needs to be seen again and again and yet again. It answers all the hunger and hurts of nations."

When Spyros Skouras, President of 20th Century Fox, saw this movie, he threw his arms in the air saying, "Fantastic! Fantastic! Fantastic! This must go to every movie theater throughout the world."

S. S. Vasan, President of the Indian Film Federation, said of it, "A thousand times wonderful. You have shown me not only how to make a film, but how to live a life."

Secret of Nigerian Independence

And the leadership of the nations of Africa are clamoring for The Crowning Experience. They say it will blow like a hurricane through the hearts of the Africans and heal the hating of a continent. Dr. Azikiwe, the man to whom 35,000,000 Nigerians say they largely owe their freedom, says, "I spent many years in America where I was fed with the bread of bitterness. It took me fifteen years to find an answer to my spirit of revenge. I found that answer at Caux." He added that The Crowning Experience attacks with tact and subtlety the social inequalities that have created wrong ideologies between men and gives definite promise of a cure. And he says, "Moral Re-Armament was the secret of independence for Nigeria."

Jasper Savanhu, first African to be a Member of the Federal Government of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, says The Crowning Experience must be seen by every African, black and white, this year. He says, "Winning political power will not by itself secure the future of the African. We can throw off the foreign yoke and then find African leaders who live only for personal advantage. Unless leadership is inspired by Moral Re-Armament, there is no future for the people. MRA is the solution to the greed, ambition, selfishness and competition in high places all over the world."

Leaders for the 40,000,000 French-speaking Africans eagerly demand The Crowning Experience for their people. They say its message could bring the bloodshed in Africa to an end. Gabriel Marcel, the world-famous French writer and philosopher, said after seeing it and talking with leaders from Africa, "I came to Caux in despair. Here I have found a transfusion of hope. A deep confidence flowed back into my being."

White and black leadership in South Africa want their Cabinet and the whole country to see this movie. They say it holds the secret that alone can cure the racial divisions that are tearing South Africa apart, dividing her from other countries, and undermining her economic life.

Mrs. Daisy Bates, Negro leader of Little Rock, Arkansas, known all over the world for the part she played in the battle with Governor Faubus over racial integration in the schools, saw The Crowning Experience. She said, "Magnificent! It must go everywhere. It is essential in the South, but MRA is now needed throughout the world. It will soon catch the imagination of the whole world. Nothing else on the scene can do it."

Mrs. Bates, and her husband, as publisher of a newspaper, came to our training center in Mackinac Island, Michigan. There Mr. Bates said, "For the first time in my life I have lost my hatred of the white man." On her return to Little Rock, Mrs. Bates invited some of the leading citizens of her State, white people who had also been to Mackinac, to dinner in her home. They came — the first time in the history of Arkansas that such a dinner party had been possible. After dinner, Mrs. Bates suggested a time of quiet in which together they should seek God's way of ending the deadlock. The thought came that Mrs. Bates should visit Governor Faubus, the man who for years had been pictured to the world as her bitterest enemy. She trembled, but she went. She said later, "The Governor could not have received me more graciously if I had been the President." They shook hands, and the picture of that handshake went round the world. Governor Faubus had previously said, "Moral Re-Armament is sowing the seeds that will prove to be the salvation of us all."

Mrs. Bates told an audience in Washington, "Without Moral Re-Armament it would have been impossible for me to meet Governor Faubus without hate. But I have learned to fight for what is right without hatred. I want Moral Re-Armament for the children of the South and of America. We can see on the horizon a new day." A major American network in its review of 1959 described this handshake as possibly the most significant news event of the year, which could mark the end of a hundred years of civil war in the United States.

MRA in South America

In the Republics of South America the hurricane is blowing too. Millions read the news of an answer. Millions more hear it over the radio. In one week alone all the main newspapers of Montevideo carried reports of the world work of MRA, and 17 leading papers of Argentina, Uruguay, and Peru carried 33 articles. A leading editorial in La Prensa, the largest newspaper of Peru, said, "Moral Re-Armament has a unique strength for the ideological battle in the world today. It is an insistent call to all who believe in a supreme Creator to confront those who preach atheism. It is a world effort to defeat materialism. The morally rearmend are not an easy prey to materialist indoctrination."

Eudocio Ravines, one of the great revolutionaries of our time who, trained by Mao Tse-tung, introduced Communism to Peru and Chile, met in Moral Re-Armament a superior ideology that changed him. He says, "The basic problems of Latin America are not under-development, but corruption and Communism. While our countries welcome economic aid, alone it cannot touch the root problem. Without a moral ideology, it may even aggravate the problem. The best export the United States of America or any nation can send to Latin America is Moral Re-Armament."

In a long lifetime of experience that has taken me to all parts of the world and brought me in touch with every sort of people, I have never seen a greater hunger and a greater hope than we find today. Man must choose the road of common sense or he will inevitably take the path of common suicide.

Dr. P. J. Little, the well-known statesman and thinker of Ireland, put the challenge clearly in the Dublin Sunday Press. His article about Moral Re-Armament occupied two central pages. It was headed, "World War III — the war of ideas — the battle we cannot lose."

He said, "The Cold War has only to heat up to boiling point for ten seconds and civilization will be blasted into eternity. Ideas not bombs will determine who wins the battle of ideologies, and on this battle depends the length of time we have left to live and whether our children will ever grow up."

World-Wide Transformation

But the far-seers of this century recognize in Moral Re-Armament the certainty of cure. My friend Robert Schuman of France, who has twice written the foreword to the French edition of my published speeches, puts it this way, "Moral Re-Armament is a philosophy of life applied in action that I have seen reaching the millions. It is a world-wide transformation of human society that has already begun."

It needs a hurricane of common sense to bring men to their senses, restoring the Communist and the non-Communist world to sanity and unity before it is too late. That hurricane is sweeping through every nation today, and in the midst of the hurricane the still small Voice of the living God, an unseen but ever-present Guide, willing and able to speak to the men of the Kremlin, the men of Washington, to the millions everywhere, leaders and led, who have lost their way and seek to find it.

It is so normal. It is so practical. It is a hurricane. And it is common sense.

Moral Re-Armament is incorporated in the State of New York as a non-profit association. It is financed by voluntary contributions and the sacrifice of thousands of people. All its workers serve without salary. Checks made payable to Moral Re-Armament are deductible for income tax purposes and may be sent to MRA, 640 Fifth Avenue, New York 19, New York; Cedar Point, Mackinac Island, Michigan; 833 South Flower Street, Los Angeles 17, California. Copies of the handbook "Ideology and Co-Existence" are available at $8.00 per hundred from the above addresses.

Remodel Kitchen Little at a Time If Budget's Tight

Kitchen remodeling can be done in stages if your budget is tight. First you must decide what the end result is to be, then work out a plan to fit your family finances. It may take a year or more to reach the final stage, but will be easier to wait for with part of the project already completed.

Since additional space is usually a kitchen-improvement goal, partitions may have to be rearranged or removed to extend the kitchen onto a porch or a new addition. Be sure to have the addition finished, or the porch closed in, before removing an outside wall, so the kitchen will be useable at all times.

A good start toward modernizing your kitchen's appearance and efficiency without making any structural changes is to replace your old refrigerator with a new electric refrigerator-freezer. It will add several cubic feet more food storage space without occupying any more floor area than the old unit. The larger storage area, with special compartments for meat, vegetables, and dairy products and a big freezer section, means fewer trips to the grocery. You'll have your own "supermarket" at home.

Once the new refrigerator-freezer is installed, you'll be able to schedule your cooking at your convenience. Baked goods, casseroles, soups, sauces and sandwiches can be prepared in quantity when you have time, and frozen for later use. This system will give you a feeling of leisure, for work is accomplished with little pressure, and preparation and cleanup time is reduced.

Economy Featured In New Ford Trucks

Ford Motor Company this week announced a new low-cost Econoline series of commercial vehicles with three models: a Pickup, Van and eight-passenger Station Bus, each mounted on a 90-inch wheelbase.

"The Econoline represents a new concept in American-made trucks," Ford Division Truck Marketing Manager Wilbur Chase said. "Econoline units carry a volume and load comparable to conventional pickup or panel trucks, yet have far less weight, greater maneuverability, offer much better economy and take up less space. They will compete with imported small trucks, but will provide more comfort and better performance."

Each of the three Econoline models has an over-all length of 168.4 inches — nearly two feet shorter than the Falcon station wagon. Overall width is 72.5 inches for the Pickup, and 75.8 for the Van and Bus. Overall height varies from 77.2 to 79.2 inches, depending on model and springs.

"We believe Ford has led the U. S. truck industry in offering operators maximum economy. Last spring, Ford introduced the Falcon Ranchero, the first entry by a major U. S. automobile manufacturer in the economy size truck field. The Econoline is another step in this direction," Mr. Chase said. "Fleet owners asked us for small trucks like the Econoline, so we started with a clean drawing board and consulted them on the layout of these vehicles."

This program is open only to students and guests by special invitation.

As a result, Ford engineers came up with a design we know is tailored to the needs of our customers."

Mr. Chase predicted that Econoline owners would be able to achieve lower costs in a combination of ways: low initial expense, improved fuel economy, lower tire costs, longer tire life, reduced maintenance, and, in many areas, less outlay for insurance, financing and taxes.

The new vehicles are powered by a modified version of the 85-horsepower, 144-cubic-inch engine which has proven its dependability and economy in the Falcon passenger cars, the Falcon Ranchero and the P-100 parcel delivery truck.

Refrigerator-Freezer Adds Storage Space

Modernization of food storage facilities in the kitchen ranks high among other home remodeling projects that make housework easier and home life pleasanter.

A new electric refrigerator-freezer adds several cubic feet more food storage space than old refrigerators, but will occupy the same floor space. Housewives can buy more fresh and frozen foods at a time and keep them in good condition longer, eliminating extra shopping trips.

Ford's new light duty Econoline commercial vehicles come in three models, a Pickup, Van and eight-passenger Station Bus. Powered by a modified version of the dependable, economical 85-horsepower Falcon engine and utilizing many standard components from other Ford products, the Econoline vehicles are 168.4 inches long — nearly two feet shorter than the Falcon station wagon. Wheelbase is 90 inches, with over-all width 72.5 inches for the Pickup and 75.8 for the Van and Bus. The easily accessible engine is located forward beside the driver's seat, providing ample pass-through space in the front, and a flat rear floor area with low 25-inch loading height. The Van and Bus have 204.4 cubic feet of load space behind the front seat. The Pickup has a curb weight of only 2,389 pounds, but can carry a payload of nearly 1,700 pounds when equipped with optional extra spring leaves and heavy duty tires.

Fine Arts Institute Date Changed

A sudden invitation to go to Rome as consultant for Twentieth Century Fox on a film about St. Francis of Assisi caused playwright Emmet Lavery to request a change of date for the Fine Arts Institute series, it was announced this week by Mr. Donald J. Waters, Director of the Institute at Saint Joseph College.

Mr. Lavery will be replaced by Mrs. Sara Lee Stadelman, choreographer, whose program on Dance has been transferred from Nov. 12 to Oct. 8. Mr. Lavery will conduct the Nov. 12 session.

To present an historical explanation and esthetic justification of the place of the Dance in Christian society, Sara Lee Stadelman, Assumption University, of Windsor, Ontario, Canada, will give a demonstrated lecture at St. Joseph College on Saturday, Oct. 8 from two to five o'clock.

This is the first in a series of lectures on The Fine Arts in Christian Culture, financed by The Esso Education Foundation, in which noted guest artists attempt to touch effectively upon the misconceptions in which Catholic lay and religious teachers and students often hold the Fine Arts.

During the spring of 1960 and the summer of 1959, Mrs. Stadelman, who has directed the Mercy College Children's Theatre, Detroit, choreographed, wrote, and directed The New Canticle, an original theatre piece based on the life and words of St. Therese of Lisieux. She has also directed Magnificat which has been televised in Los Angeles, and Teresa Of Avila, filmed in sound and color and nationally distributed through the National Catholic Theatre Conference.

A member of the American Association of University Professors, Mrs. Stadelman has taught at The Catholic University of America, Mercy College, Detroit, and Immaculate Heart College, Los Angeles. Among other schools, she has attended are Columbia University, Yale University School of Drama, and the Pasadena Playhouse.

Her short story, "Summertime and Wintertime," won first prize in the Mother Cabrini Short Story Contest, and a one-act play, "No Time for Tea," was produced by the U.S.O. Drama Department. Many of her articles have been published in Catholic Theatre.

The producer of The Bird Cage Playhouse in Las Vegas, Nev., Mrs. Stadelman has starred in "Joan of Lorraine," "The Heiress," "The Apple of His Eye," as well as in such Broadway plays as "Boy Meets Girl" and "Snafu." She has also acted with the U.S.O. in the United States, Africa, and Italy and in Summer Stock.

In presenting Mrs. Stadelman as one of the guest artists on The Fine Arts in Christian Culture series, Donald J. Waters, M.F.A., Associate Professor of Speech and Drama at St. Joseph's and co-ordinator of the project, together with his committee, hopes to express to an audience of students and teachers "the significant contributions that Catholic men and women have made to the Fine Arts so they will be tolerant of future efforts to enhance artistic development in the Catholic schools and colleges of America."

Emmet Lavery, playwright; Robert Rambusch, church decorator; Philip Scharper, editor, Sheed and Ward; John Andrews, book illustrator; and Anne Martin, sculptress, are among those slated for future lectures during the academic year 1960-61.

Thurmont Concern To Observe Tenth Anniversary

The Thurmont Jaycees have undertaken a unique project in assisting a local business to observe its tenth anniversary in Thurmont.

The establishment to observe its anniversary is known as Ben's Esso Service Station located just south of Thurmont on U. S. Rt. 15. Benjamin Overstreet is the proprietor.

"Ben," as Mr. Overstreet is known to his many customers and friends alike wants to show his deep appreciation to the citizens of Thurmont and to his many customers for their loyal patronage during the past ten years and in honor of the event, is holding a big celebration which began Thursday with a parade and a band concert.

This celebration is being sponsored by the Thurmont Junior Chamber of Commerce, of which Mr. Overstreet is an Honorary Member and a loyal supporter.

Plans have been made to have a ferris wheel, kiddie rides, penny pitch, hoop-la, cake walks, a novelty ball stand and a square dance.

Saturday, Oct. 1 is the big day, for on this day the Thurmont Jaycees will take over the station for a twenty-four hour period, beginning at 12:01 a. m. Handbills have been distributed announcing the many free prizes that will be given away on Saturday evening at 11:00 p. m. Anyone presenting a handbill at the service station during the celebration will receive a free chance on the valuable prizes.

Drawing for the prizes will take place at 11:00 p. m. on Saturday evening and the winner need not be present to win.

At 8:15 a square dance will be held complete with country music and the public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge and plenty of free refreshments will be served.

New Chevrolet Trucks Feature Chassis Expansion

Refinements in the highly successful chassis design introduced a year ago, further expansion of models, and styling identification changes mark the Chevrolet truck line for 1961.

"The wide acceptance of our 1960 chassis redesign, featuring independent front suspension with torsion bar springing and significant innovations in rear suspensions, confirms our conviction that truck owners approve extensive design changes which translate into economic benefits for them," James E. Conlan, assistant general sales manager for Chevrolet trucks, said.

"This highly successful design is continued in our 1961 trucks, with evolutionary refinements throughout the line to enhance the ride, handling, durability, comfort, and hauling efficiency," he added.

New car features for 1961 emphasize a lower and narrower floor tunnel on most light-duty models for improved foot and leg room with the 3-speed or Powerglide transmission. New optional equipment includes a windshield wiper-washer combination with 2-speed electric wipers, and a comfort package which includes a six-in. foam rubber seat and special body insulation.

Suburban models also feature improved comfort for second and third seat passengers as a result of seat modifications giving more foot room and more third seat headroom.

Included in the 1961 line are three new 4-wheel drive models for light-duty, maximum traction application. The 127-inch wheelbase, 1/2-ton vehicles are available as cab-chassis, wide-box pickup models rated from 4900 to 5600 pounds gross vehicle weight.

Identifying styling refinements for all except tilt-cab models highlight a new frontal appearance, new group classification nameplates and new seat trim design. Eight new exterior colors are offered buyers in addition to the seven previously available.

Higher net engine power, fast warmup, and increased economy result from a new, optional, temperature-controlled hydraulic fan drive for light-duty models with the V8 engine. The fan is disengaged unless it is actually required by radiator air temperature.

Asphalt Shingles Applied Directly Over Old Roofing

Roofing specialist applies a new roof of asphalt shingles in a light, blended color directly over the old roofing material. The new roof provides both color and rich texture to enhance the appearance of the entire house. It also will provide years of protection from the harshest weather.

Home owners whose remodeling plans include a new roof should take advantage of the fact that asphalt shingles can be applied directly over the old roofing material.

Among the merits of this re-roofing technique are: 1. Lower re-roofing costs. When the old material doesn't have to be removed, less labor is required. This results in a lower applied cost of the new roof.

2. Protection in bad weather. If a sudden storm blows up while the roofers are applying asphalt shingles, the old roof provides a measure of protection to the house and its contents.

3. Neater, faster job. The mess of removing and discarding the old material and the time required to do it are eliminated. A further advantage of re-roofing with asphalt shingles is that they are available in a wide range of colors.

1961 Chevrolet Trucks Feature Proved Design

Continuation of the highly successful suspension system introduced last year, moderate front style changes, and refinements in chassis and cab mark the 1961 Chevrolet truck line. Proved by one full year of customer use, the suspension features independent front springing with torsion bars and rear coil or variable rate springs. Cab improvements include a smaller floor tunnel in some models for increased leg and foot room, and an optional six-inch thick foam rubber seat.
