Fall is here but you wouldn't know it by the Indian Summer we have been enjoying this week. With several weeks of murky weather behind us this brief but pleasant spell of mild weather is indeed a welcome one as we prepare to enter the dreary winter months. Halloween is just around the corner and usually is considered the harbinger of winter. The past summer indeed was a pleasant one with no prolonged periods of either heat or drought. Bumper crops are reported throughout the county and the nation and gardeners enjoyed the best crops they have had in a number of years. Let's hope the winter months ahead are as generous to us as has been the summer.

That grin "Judge" Richard McCullough is wearing these days is not because business is so brisk. It's because he's now a granddad and is most excited about the role he is now playing. Incidentally, it's a granddaughter.

By now most of you have observed the survey forms now on display at several local business establishments by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Most of us are just content to mumble and grumble to ourselves and a few intimate friends about conditions in and about Emmitsburg. Well here's your opportunity to pass on any ideas you have for the betterment of the town. The forms are simple, concise and to the point and take only a minute to fill out. There are only four questions asked but they are important ones so please do take the time to complete one of these forms. They later on will be analyzed by a committee of the local Jaycees and remedial action will be taken to comply with most of the constructive ideas. The local Jaycees are intensely active and are on the ball, so to speak. In the near future they plan a pancake supper and a minstrel show, in addition to efforts in compiling this present survey. It is highly possible that something can be accomplished in obtaining additional industry here. Yes these forms are important and it behooves each and every one of us to let our ideas be known to this particular body of young men who will be the leaders of our community in the near future.

Mr. Khrushchev's blood pressure must be at the bursting point as he receives setback after setback at the United Nations sessions now being held in New York. This man has no control of his emotions whatsoever and publicly demonstrates his ability to be irrational. Why only Wednesday when his efforts to force a disarmament session were thwarted he publicly denounced the UN and US, took off his shoe and hammered on his desk calling the body a bunch of jerks. Now we can see what the President and other world leaders are facing in trying to talk peace to such a specimen of a man. Unless he can obtain exactly what he wants he threatens to involve the whole world in a war of extinction. There is no satiating his sanguine appetite for world power and conquest. His actions here have really been educational to us, and the rest of the world, because we can see now exactly what the pattern of the Communist world and its ruthless bosses stand for and more than ever this country and its allies will be in a state of readiness if and when the Red Bosses step out of line.

Auxiliary Bishop Sebastian Succumbs

The auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, Most Rev. Jerome D. Sebastian, expired Tuesday morning in Baltimore from a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 64. The bishop had been admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital on Sept. 27. He was a spiritual leader for Catholics throughout a large part of Maryland. Besides his archdiocesan duties, he was pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church in Baltimore, which has the largest Catholic congregation in the city.

Bishop Sebastian became the 200th member of the American Catholic Hierarchy Feb. 24, 1954, when he was consecrated as auxiliary bishop. His appointment to the bishopric had come in 1953 from Pope Pius XII. His consecration was the second such ceremony in the 146-year history of the archdiocese.

The bishop was actively associated with civic and religious groups in the city, and organized Boys' Brigade, a group with a membership of about 700. Other activities included the Junior Newman Club, the Carol Club at Johns Hopkins University and the Sodality Union of Baltimore.

The bishop was present at many scholastic functions at both local colleges and confirmed hundreds of St. Joseph's Church parishioners here in Emmitsburg.

The bishop was educated at St. Patrick's Parochial School and Academy and St. Charles College in Catonsville. He completed his theological training at St. Mary's Seminary, and was ordained in 1922.

Since his ordination, Bishop Sebastian remained with St. Elizabeth's Church the rest of his life.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. James Hamilton, and three brothers, Thomas, William and Harry, all residents of Washington.

Funeral services have been set for next Tuesday.

Vice President William G. Morgan presided over the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening at Fitzgerald's Inn near town. Twenty members were in attendance.

A preliminary report on the recent Horse Show sponsored by the club was given by Arthur Elder and the report indicated that the club should net somewhere in the neighborhood of $500 despite the inclement weather the day of the show which held the crowd to a minimum. A donation was authorized for the United Appeal Fund drive.

Dr. D. L. Beegle, sight conservation committee chairman, reported he had requests for three pairs of glasses from the County Welfare Board for Emmitsburg families. The group agreed to purchase the glasses for the local indigent families.

President John J. Hollinger presided at the regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall, 25 members in attendance.

Jaycee Community Development Survey Progressing

The Community Development Committee of the local Jaycees report that the survey portion of their campaign is close to complete. They are now waiting for the final surveys to be returned so the next step can begin. This will be the grouping of all the information and ideas and sifting out the impossible or crank type suggestions. We have found many worthwhile ideas and we will form our projects around them. We wish to thank the public for their cooperation in our survey. Even without the final count we know that industry and job opportunities are the top needs to build our town up. A booklet is being compiled that will state exactly what our town has to offer. This will take about 60 days to complete. In the meantime we will also push forward on other projects. One that needs attention is our local library. A Jaycee will be appointed to chairman this project at the meeting Monday evening of the Jaycee Community Development Committee.

We have found a lot of public interest in our campaign and as Jaycees we will work together and make Emmitsburg a better place to live.

FOLEY ADDRESSES WOMEN VOTERS

Speaking before the League of Women Voters of Frederick County on Tuesday, Congressman John R. Foley disclosed his opponent's 1960 legislative performance paralleled the Republican's 1959 record of failures.

Foley revealed that in the thirty (30) day 1960 General Assembly at Annapolis the Republican candidate failed to vote one hundred and seven (107) times without excuse. The significant difference from the 1959 ninety (90) day session record of five hundred and thirty (530) failures to vote, is that the Republican candidate compiled his 1960 record of failures after he had fled for Congress, Foley said. In addition to the one hundred and seven (107) failures to vote, Foley stated his opponent missed thirty-two (32) per cent of the quorum and roll calls in 1960.

Again in 1960 the Republican candidate compiled the worst Republican record in the State Legislature, the Congressman concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Burdner and son, Joseph Jr., were weekend guests of his father, Robert M. Burdner, E. Main St. They have returned to their new home at 550 11th Ave., New Hyde Park, L. I., N. Y. Prior to their return, a family dinner was held at which his sisters and their families were present.

zens, both here at home and abroad. This article covers some of the many Communist activities and proves that we must always be alert. A surprise attack today can be very fatal to any nation. Russia, we know, is committed to the doctrine of surprise and hides behind a wall of secrecy. The leaders of this nation have decided that in order for the United States to survive, we must know at all times what the Reds are up to. This is best accomplished by the method of spying. Government agencies the world over run spy operations like big businesses. The United States alone employs more than 100,000 people, and spends over 2.5 billion dollars a year for this purpose, all in the interest of the safety of the American people and nation.

On May 1, 1960, an unarmed U-2 American plane was claimed to have been shot down while making an aerial reconnaissance flight over the Soviet Union. As a result of this action the whole question of spying was brought out into the open.

On May 11, President Eisenhower told a news conference that spying is "a distasteful but vital necessity."

"No one," he remarked, "wants another Pearl Harbor. This means that we must have knowledge of military forces and preparations around the world, especially those capable of massive surprise attack. Secrecy in the Soviet Union makes this essential. The safety of the whole free world demands this."

Since 1950, Soviet Russia has shot down twelve American planes and attacked others, with a loss of 67 American lives. Let us look at the record.

In April, 1950, a Navy Privateer patrol plane, on a training flight, disappeared over the Bering Sea. Russia claimed it was shot down by a Russian plane. This plane was unarmed and had 10 crewmen were lost.

A Navy Neptune patrol plane, on a weather mission, disappeared in international waters off Siberia after being attacked. Here again 10 crewmen were lost.

In this same month a C-47 transport plane, off course, was forced down in Hungary by Soviet fighters. As a result of this action the United States paid the sum of $120,000 for the release of four crewmen.

In less than one year, in October, 1952, an unarmed Air Force B-29 disappeared after being intercepted by Soviet planes over the Japanese Kurile Islands. As a result, eight crewmen were lost. In March of 1953, a U. S. fighter plane was shot down over Germany by Soviet planes, but the pilot survived. In this same month a B-29 was attacked by Soviet planes over international waters off Siberia. This time the U. S. plane fired back at the Russian fighters and returned to its Alaskan base.

By this time it wasn't much of a surprise to pick up the paper and read of such events, but this was not the end. Shootings occurred in July of 1953; September, 1954; November, 1954; May and June of 1955; June and September, 1958 and again in November of the same year. In June, 1959, an American patrol bomber, a Navy P4M Mercator, was attacked by Communist planes, possibly Chinese or North Korean, about 80 miles off the Korean coast. One crew member was wounded in this attack.

The latest of these shootings, and surely not the last, was on July 1, 1960 when an Air Force RB-47 on an electromagnetic-research flight was shot down in the Barents Sea. This plane was reported to have been at least 30 miles from Soviet territory at all times. Four of the crewmen were lost, two are being held for trial on Russian charges of spying. Not long ago a report was released that information was received which leads us to believe that the Russians received word of this flight before hand and were waiting for the attack. Here again, proves the fact that the Russian forces are busy with their "cloak and dagger" activities.

On many occasions, this writer has often wondered how many spies are living and working within this very county. Surely there must be some when you stop to think of the important installations that surround our communities. There's Fort Ritchie; Camp David, the Presidential mountain retreat; Fort Detrick; the Nation's Capitol; all within a short distance from Emmitsburg. It makes one wonder just how safe we really are as we go about our daily tasks.

Since the U-2 flight and the Powers trial, you can be sure that Russia is quite concerned as to how one of our planes managed to get so far in over their territory. While Russia may be concerned, our officials are also quite concerned over Soviet espionage by way of fishing ships, submarines, etc. On many occasions innocent-looking fishing trawlers appearing off our coasts have turned out to be loaded with radar and other electronic gear.

Our officials have given this type of espionage a name. They call it the "wet war." This type of spying is sudden and secretive; an invasion of all the world's oceans, including America's own home waters.

With increased frequency, you pick up your newspaper or hear on the news reports that Soviet ships and submarines are prowling close to this nation's coastal shores. Many citizens laugh at our concern about such action, but there is a reason for taking this matter seriously.

What are these intruders looking for? The answer is simple. The innocent-looking trawlers, for example can collect all sorts of useful information about our Polaris-type tests, become familiar with the underwater-sound characteristics of U. S. nuclear subs to make them easier to detect in the future. These trawlers can also snoop on communications networks—the very heart of the U. S. air defense—and it has been learned that some sources claim these trawlers could steer soviet bombers through "electronic holes" in the Distant Early Warning radar screen in Canada.

Officers of the United States believe that Russian submarines can chart the ocean floors surrounding the North American continent. What would be the purpose of this, you might ask? Well, such an operation would enable Russia to prepare accurate maps so their subs, fleets of which are now under construction, can navigate into exact undersea positions for missile firings against our American cities. With radar and the so-called "infrared" sensing devices, they can peer inland to mark targets on the American mainland.

This "spy game" is not something that is confined to America alone. It is going on all around the world and is something to be watched carefully for Russia has been getting nowhere in the U. N. and it is this writer's guess that spy operations on the part of the Soviet Union will be stepped up considerably during the months ahead, and unless we keep up with such activities these spy operations could result in the very destruction of our American cities.

Our officials are deeply concerned about these operations and you can rest assured that our U. S. Navy is keeping a sharp lookout for such operations, but this is not all that is needed. What our officials would like to see in operation is a "burglar alarm" system, which is something like an undersea sonar fence, which could keep track of all Soviet sub operations. This type of "fence," is of course, still in the dream stage, but, perhaps some day in the not-to-distant future, it will materialize.

As for now, there remains but one thing to do. Continue spying, for it is our only means of safety and it must be remembered that only by spying, are we able to learn and detect if we are to be on the receiving end of a surprise attack. How else are we to know and be prepared for such an attack? Spying has been a long-time operation and is very valuable to countries the world-over, and it will continue to exist as long as one nation has fear of another. When the time comes, when all nations trust one another, then, and only then, will the world be moving in the right direction and world peace become a reality.

Local Mail Volume Sets New Record

Mail volume in the Emmitsburg area contributed to a new national record of nearly 64 billion pieces of mail, including a billion pieces of parcel post, during fiscal year 1960 ending last June 30, Postmaster Lewis Stoner said.

Based on advance information from the annual report of the Department, which has been made available to Postmaster Stoner, it was revealed that the present day figures represent an increase of 25 per cent over the 1953 volume which totaled 50.9 billion pieces.

Today, 85 per cent of the vast postal vehicle fleet—operating under a modernization and improvement program initiated in 1954—is composed largely of new types of standard, commercial, lightweight, maneuverable vehicles. This conversation, he noted, has meant the "retirement" of worn out units—many in use for ten years or more—which, in turn, has greatly reduced maintenance costs for the Postal Service.

Described as a vital part of this program which was launched approximately seven years ago under the direction of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, vehicle unit purchases during fiscal year 1953.

"The motor vehicle inventory on June 30, 1953, was 18,969," Postmaster Stoner said, "and although the 1960 statistics are not yet in final form it is estimated that more than 34,000 new vehicles have been purchased since fiscal year 1954 and that with the 'retirement' of old vehicles the inventory total on June 30 of this year was just a little under 37,000 vehicles.

Postmaster Stoner pointed out that there have been literally scores of organizational and operational changes during this 7-year improvement program and that each of them is directed toward the more efficient and more economical operation of the Post Office Department.

Some of the more significant of these are: Decentralization of postal operating management out of the Post Office Department in Washington, D. C., by setting up fifteen regional headquarters offices; adoption of modern business accounting and financial procedures; utilization of the latest types of electronic machines; elimination of hand-prepared checks, payroll and others, at each post office by making payments from regional offices with estimated net savings of $20,000,000 a year; introduction of new concepts of personnel management for the benefit and welfare of more than half a million postal employees, including both training programs for promotions and safety programs to reduce on-the-job accidents.

The pressure boys are about to make Congress jump through the hoop.

Local Representative To Nursing League

Miss Gertrude Hotaling, Associate Professor of Nursing at Saint Joseph College, will visit Hunter College in New York during the week of Oct. 16 as a representative of the National League of Nursing.

Miss Hotaling, director of Public Health Nursing at Saint Joseph College, will participate in an accreditation survey for the league of nursing. Graduated with a bachelor of science degree in public nursing at Catholic University, she received her master of public health from the University of North Carolina.

The National League of Nursing appointed Miss Hotaling to the accreditation committee in early 1960.

doctor follows in a heart examination. There are many methods, tools and tests including laboratory techniques for observing a patient's condition. The doctor uses those which are appropriate in each patient's case.

First, your doctor will talk to you. He wants to know if you have any complaints. Is there anything new in the way you feel since your previous visit? Your doctor is not making idle conversation. The information you give him is important to his estimate of your heart status.

Then he'll feel your pulse. The rhythm of the pulse reflects the rhythm of the heartbeat.

Your doctor will then take your blood pressure. The instrument he uses actually takes two pressures. This is why a blood pressure reading resembles a fraction. For example, 130/85.

The upper figure is the "systolic" pressure. This is taken at the moment your heart contracts and drives the blood from its chambers into the arteries. The lower figure is the "diastolic" pressure. It's taken at the moment your heart is resting between beats while its pumping chambers refill.

There's another instrument your doctor will use. This is the familiar stethoscope. Through the ear pieces he hears the sounds your heart makes when it contracts and when its valves open and close. The doctor listens for the rhythm, pitch and intensity of the heart sounds and other sounds. If something is wrong with the heart, there may be differences in these sounds from the way they normally sound.

Your doctor will tap your chest with his fingers to get an idea of the size and position of your heart. This is called percussion of the chest. Sometimes the doctor may shine a bright light into your eyes with a special instrument so that he can see the blood vessels at the back of your eyes. These vessels are the only ones he can observe directly for clues to the condition of your circulatory system.

The doctor may also want to check your heart under the fluoroscope. This is a special type of x-ray machine through which he observes the heart in motion, studying its size, shape and position and the way it contracts. If he wants a permanent record of what he sees he will take an x-ray film.

If the doctor wants still more information he may take an electrocardiogram. This is a tracing of the tiny electrical impulse which makes your heart beat. (It does not send any electricity into your body!) The test is especially useful to the doctor after a heart attack has occurred. It can often inform him where the muscle is damaged and to what extent.

The physician may also use additional laboratory tests in some cases to help complete his examination. He may want to check on the kidneys, the lungs or the blood.

In urging checkups as the new work year begins, Dr. Borkovich pointed out that the earlier heart ailments are diagnosed, the more effectively they can be treated. She emphasized that almost every

Some of the most loyal citizens in America are aiding the Communist cause unwittingly. The Communists agents among us are many and they are skilled in their nefarious work. They have enlisted tens of thousands of non-Communist Americans in their hundreds of Communist fronts, thus creating a powerful force working for Communist world-wide objectives. But one of the most destructive tactics is that of keeping American opinion shattered into many fragmentary groups, badly divided on basic issues, undecided on basic principles.

For instance, the Communists have persuaded many influential Americans that there is really no specific definition for the term "The American way of life." These loyal but misguided Americans contend that the term is "an abstraction," that there are as many definitions for it as there are people. This means that we haven't any common ideology for Americans to stand for. At least that is what some Americans say, influenced by subtle Communist thought-shaping. But it is a fallacy. There is a specific definition for "The American way of life." It is acceptable to all Americans—whatever their economic station in life. We can all rally around it and defend it, if we know about it and understand it.

The Definition

An acceptable definition for "The American way of life" is: A social system built upon the foundation of Faith in God, with a governmental system anchored to the United States Constitution, (a Republic), and with a capitalistic economic system having as its keystone the principles of private ownership of property, the competitive market, and the profit motive.

It can be put even more simply: Faith in God, Constitutional Government, Private Enterprise. Here are the three great pillars of our American system. They are not complex or abstract. They are understandable. And every American can stand for them proudly. Every American likewise has the responsibility to defend them, to safeguard them from erosion, undermining, gradual smothering, or outright destruction.

First Pillar

Let's examine the first, foundation pillar: Faith in God. The leaders among the Pilgrim fam-heart condition can now be helped by proper treatment.

And if you want a free copy of the booklet, "How the Doctor Examines Your Heart," write to The Heart Association of Maryland, 1140 Mondawmin Concourse, Baltimore 15, Md.

ilies who settled along our eastern shores 350 years ago were Godly people. The Mayflower arrived off Plymouth Rock on a Saturday evening; but all day Sunday the historic voyagers remained aboard the little ship and worshipped God. That day too they created and signed the Mayflower Compact, which began — "In the name of God, Amen."

When the Pilgrims built their communities, the church was the very first building to go up. In all of America's founding documents, the leadership of our rising young nation expressed a beautiful reverence for God Almighty, a deep and abiding faith. The great Declaration of Independence ended with the immortal words: "... with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence. . . we pledge. . ." Jefferson himself said: "The God who gave us life gave us Liberty." At the Constitutional Convention, the delegates prayed.

Inner Motivation

It is vitally important to understand that only a people who are spiritually motivated and guided from within can be free. If our allegiance were not to a Higher Power—to God—our moral code would be man-made, or rather self-made. To be selfish would not be wrong. Bakunin, the first Russian Communist, said: "Let your one happiness be your guide to life." Without moral underpinning, this is an invitation to the lowest animal impulses.

Where people are motivated by such a Godless code, the Police State is necessary. There is no inner compulsion to do right. Our laws in America come out of the moral concepts of Right. Since we are a Godly nation the average citizen breaks a law only accidentally. This has been true through the course of our history. Now, however, crime is on the increase. And every day more and more Americans are breaking the more important, the moral laws of God.

This is getting at the root of our gravest problems. The foundation stone of our American system is being eroded. We need to recognize it as the foundation stone, and we need to be sure that in the heart and the behavior of each of us it becomes the foundation stone for our every action.

Next week: Constitutional Government.

A criminal is a criminal whether he is rich or poor, and regardless of what society failed to do for him when he was young.

The smallest good deed is better than the greatest infention.

We have no quarrel with the man who has lower prices. He knows better than anyone else what his services are worth.

Read Deuteronomy 11:18-21: Ephesians 1:1-6.

Lay up these words in your heart and in your soul. . . And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down and when thou risest up. (Deuteronomy 11:18, 19.)

I was vacationing in the home of a friend, Roland, a two-year-old nephew, was visiting there, too. The first few times we gathered at the dinner table, he sat wide-eyed as we bowed our heads in prayer. He toyed with his spoon or snatched a bite of food while we gave thanks for our food.

Toward the close of the week as the family started to gather around the dining table, Roland quietly sat on his chair and folded his hands. He lisped, "A-mat." This was his child language for salamat, a word in the Philippines meaning to give thanks. He had caught the spirit of worship.

Blessed are the homes that echo with prayer and thanksgiving. The children in them are greatly influenced in their spiritual lives. Worship in the home becomes a treasured heritage.

Prayer

Dear God, abide in our homes and in our hearts. May we truly worship Thee through our prayers and through our lives. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

There is nothing to disturb you in a routine heart examination. Actually, says the Heart Association, the procedure is entirely painless and relatively simple.

During October, the Council on Public Education of the Heart Association of Maryland is encouraging post-vacation health and heart checkups. Dr. Watheline Borkovich of Baltimore, chairman of the Heart Council, says this is an ideal time to arrange a complete physical checkup including a heart examination. WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Probably no action in Washington will continue to raise so much controversy as the veto of the bill that provided for $251 million in loans, grants, and job retraining in the distressed areas of the nation.

The funds would have been used in an attempt to help areas such as West Virginia, Tennessee and New England textile mill areas where destruction of adequate protective tariff provisions forced through by State Dept. to permit the national flooding by cheap foreign labor goods have caused hardship.

The rallying cry on the issue will probably be "Billions for foreign give aways, but not one cent for Americans."

Yet, this perhaps will not express the picture accurately. For example, Congressman Donald McGinley of Nebraska voted against the measure in the first place saying "it is difficult for me to justify the whole load of bureaucratic hay that this bill would unload." But he also said "I do believe our first consideration is our problem at home and needs for abroad should not take precedent."

There is in Congress, with the black example of administration of the foreign give away programs, reluctance to turn sizeable funds over to any kind of a program.

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon is perhaps even more outspoken on the matter. He points to both Korea and Turkey as striking evidence of the failure of foreign give away programs to accomplish anything. These two nations, or rather their recently ousted regimes, between them were given some $6 billion in foreign give away funds.

But it probably remained for Congressman John Dowdy to come out with a statement really taps the spike on the head.

Congressman Dowdy announces that the U. S. Treasury now reveals that many of the nations receiving billions of Americans taxpayers funds in foreign give away have purchased in turn billions of dollars worth of the higher interest paying United States government securities.

Rep. Dowdy comments with some bitterness "the need for food for hungry people in foreign lands is always brought up, but when we try to amend a foreign aid bill to provide that 25% of its money be used to feed hungry people, the amendment is voted down. This shows that the free wheeling spenders are more interested in spreading your tax dollars abroad than they are in feeding hungry people either at home or abroad."

On several occasions the nation's independent business in nationwide polls of the National Federation of Independent Business have asked for curtailment of foreign give aways.

There are many signs seeming to indicate that a ballot revolt is in the making.

It looks very doubtful if the national policies on foreign give aways, on neglect of the domestic business scene, of the past twenty years will prevail much longer.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kestm

A real banner year is in prospect for the nation's deer hunters who plan to hunt for America's No. 1 big-game animal. With but a few exceptions, state after state reports good-to-excellent prospects for the fall deer seasons, which are becoming more liberal as to length and take of deer.

The nation's deer herds have grown from nine-million-plus in 1955 to an expected 12 million deer for the 1960 pre-season totals, states Michael Hudoba, Washington Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. This, despite the fact that the estimated annual hunter take of deer over the past 11 years was a million-plus, and an all-time record of 1,789,464 deer were taken in the 1959 season. Actually, the hunter take in 1959 is 3 1/2 times the 1900 estimated total of deer in the United States.

While the management policies of the state game departments and cooperative deer restoration efforts with sportmen's support have helped to provide potentials for the deer herds to grow to all-time record numbers, the increased popularity of deer hunting and the larger numbers of deer taken every season have actually helped deer herds ac-ording to expert biological observations. Although more sportsmen are accepting the experienced studies of deer herd managers, there are still many areas where buck-only laws, antiquated regulation by legislative (instead of game department) recommendations, plague the efforts of big-game authorities to keep herds in balance with food and cover. Too many deer are still starving in crowded ranges. Some estimates state that as many as 42 per cent of the annual deer kill is lost in the bitter winter struggle.

Modern biologists point out that it would be better if these animals were taken by the clean kill of a hunter's gun rather than the slow agonizing death of starvation.

It is significant that in those states where any - deer seasons prevail, the annual herd increase is consistent with bigger deer for the healthy herds.

In their respective areas, 16 states claim prospects for the 1960 deer season are excellent, 22 states report conditions as very good, and 12 states say chances of hunter success are good. With few exceptions, state surveys also show a marked increase in their deer populations. Texas leads with the biggest herd of 1,950,000 deer. California follows with an offering of 1,000,000 deer. Not only has the population increased, but deer are bigger and herds are healthier.

This bigger and better 1960 deer season can only be attributed to sound conservation programming and cooperation from the sportsman and landowner.

IRS Investigates Tax Violators

The District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, Irving Machiz, reported today that its income tax fraud suppression activities for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960, resulted in the indictment of 26 individuals. Completed trials resulted in 18 convictions.

As a result of the convictions, Federal Courts imposed fines of $62,900.00 and prison sentences totaling 25 years, including suspended and probationary sentences.

Machiz said the Intelligence Division of the Baltimore District was responsible for the investigations and that indictments, prosecutions, convictions and total fines imposed represented increases over the previous year.

The Intelligence Division investigates suspected willful attempts to evade payment of income and wagering taxes and such related criminal offenses as aiding and abetting others in attempted tax frauds, perjury, assaults on Internal Revenue Service employees and attempted bribery.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960, the Special Agents considered 290 cases, of which 144 resulted in full scale investigations. In initiating these investigations, the Intelligence Division screened and evaluated over 2,831 leads, or information items, relating to possible tax evasion. These leads, in addition to being developed by Special Agents, were received from informants, from other Divisions in the Baltimore District, from federal, state and local government agencies, newspapers and many other sources.

Those cases not deemed to warrant further investigation by the Intelligence Division were referred to other divisions for civil proceedings for determination of additional taxes and penalties.

In the wagering and coin operated gaming device enforcement area the district developed cases on violations for noncompliance. These investigations resulted in several raids.

An operation of this type in fiscal year 1960 involved nearly simultaneous raids on 3 wagering establishments in the Baltimore District. As a result, 5 arrests were made and 2 late model automobiles, over $1,200.00 in currency and other gambling equipment such as business machines, radios, firearms and numbers books were seized.

In addition to the stamp tax violations involved, several ex-

Maryland Town Oldest 'Ghost Town'

Venerable Ghost

The oldest ghost town in the United States is Port Tobacco, Md. just off U. S. Route 301 in Charles County. Founded in 1658, it was a flourishing seaport with international trade for 160 years, had an opera house—a also a court house, churches, taverns, warehouses, wharves. In its public square flowed a well that had been visited by Captain John Smith in 1608.

Today you see the square, clean and mowed—and the well, still flowing. Two houses and a ruined tower. But that is all. The town was gradually abandoned after the harbor silted up.

The water from Captain John's well is still excellent, though. People come from all around to get it for their homes.

City Of All Kinds Of Passage

Cumberland, the largest city in Western Maryland, has within its boundaries—(1) The start of the trail through the Allegheny Mountains, first used by explorers to the west in the early 18th century; (2) The start of the first Federal Highway built, 1806; (3) The end of the first canal (Chesapeake and Ohio) to the West, 1828; and (4) Part of the first American railroad (The Baltimore and Ohio) 1828. Cumberland, lying atop its rugged mountains, sophisticated and rich, is America's unique Transportation City.

Excise tax cases with indicated total deficiencies of more than $10,000 were uncovered.

College Receives Lincoln Films

GETTYSBURG — Gettysburg College has received a complete set of Abraham Lincoln Microfilm, a gift from the Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission, Washington, D. C.

The microfilm reproduction of the Abraham Lincoln papers in the Library of Congress consists of 97 reels on which some 14,000 letters, drafts, speeches and other personal papers of the Great Emancipator are reproduced. The largest number of documents are letters addressed to Lincoln while he was President, but there are some documents dated as early as 1833 and a few as late as 1916. The bulk of the Lincoln Papers were presented to the Library of Congress in 1923 by the President's son, Robert Todd Lincoln. The documents were first opened to the public in 1947 under terms of Mr. Lincoln's gift.

Among items of particular note are: two holograph drafts of the Gettysburg Address, the Letter of Condolence written by Queen Victoria to Mrs. Lincoln, Lincoln's Autobiography, his "Farewell Address at Springfield (Illinois, 1861), his First and Second Inaugural Addresses, the first draft of the Emancipation Proclamation, and letters from most of the prominent statesmen and military leaders of the day.

Accompanying the microfilm is an index to the Abraham Lincoln Papers, prepared by the Manuscript Division, Reference Department, Library of Congress. This 124-page bound index gives detailed reference to the 97 reels of microfilm.

The microfilm is now housed in the main college library. Eventually the complete gift will be housed in the newly created Civil War Institute Library on the campus.

Lloyd A. Dunlap, administrative officer of the Sesquicentennial Commission in presenting the gift to Gettysburg College stated:

"It is the hope of the Commission that students, researchers and historians who avail themselves of the facilities of your library will find this filmed record of Mr. Lincoln's works of great interest and enduring value."

Congress enacted legislation in August, 1957, authorizing the Librarian of Congress to arrange microfilm and index the papers of 23 Presidents whose manuscripts are in the Library. An appropriation to carry out the provisions of the law was approved in July, 1958 and operations began a month later.

The object of the microfilm and index set forth by the legislation is to inspire informed patriotism, to provide greater security for the original manuscripts and to make the Lincoln and other Presidential Papers more accessible and useful to scholars and other interested persons.

Democratic Caravan Plans State Tour

Sen. John F. Kennedy issued the following statement this week learning that Maryland's Governor, Comptroller and Attorney General will stump the state in behalf of the Democratic ticket:

"I am delighted to hear that Governor Tawes, Comptroller Goldstein, and Attorney General Sybert are going to campaign throughout the state of Maryland in behalf of myself and Senator Johnson and in behalf of the seven incumbent Democratic Congressmen from Maryland.

"It is a tremendous contribution to the campaign to have the Governor and his top elected officials make these appearances in every county in Maryland.

"Maryland's nine electoral votes are as critical as any in this election, and this energetic effort by Governor Tawes gives me great confidence that the Democratic ticket will carry Maryland in November.

"I wish the Democratic Caravan the best of luck and success on their journeys through the state, and send my best wishes and congratulations to all those aboard."

Pupils Appreciate Efforts Of Town Council

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

This week our senior class visited the recently built sewage plant now serving our community. The town citizens financed this major improvement of Emmitsburg, yet we were amazed to learn that at the Open House Day set aside for touring the area, only a few of the townspeople showed up. Certainly if the project was paid for out of your own incomes, you should be interested enough to want to see what a great improvement this is over our former set-up.

The complete system, valued at $360,000, handles about 300,000 gallons of sewage daily. After being collected at the initial plant on Creamery Road, it is piped by gravity to the new installation located back of the Lions Club Horse Show Field. Here a large vat containing three feet of bacteria works on the sewage. The next process removes the solids and sends the liquid to an awaiting tub, which sprays it over stones and then through a mixture of sand and soil. After the liquid is chlorinated, it is carried to Toms Creek via pipes. The sludge is then transferred to drying beds, where it is allowed to dry for thirty days, after which it is taken away.

The grounds are kept neat at all times. Shrubbery borders the driveway, and the lawn is decorated with rosebushes. By the very appearance of the entire area, it is plain to see that at least someone takes pride in his community and it's advancement.

If you have not already visited this plant it would be well worth your while to make a point of doing so. You will realize what our town authorities are doing with "your money" to make our community one of the most beautiful and healthy areas in which to live in this section of the state. You will no longer complain of increasing taxes and "for what." It is hard for us to convey to you the incredulity and amazement with which we viewed this project. Mr. Frailey had visited our Problems of Democracy Class early in September and had given us much valuable information about the government of our town. In closing he invited us to visit the Sewage Disposal Plant. We were completely unprepared for the elaborate and efficient set-up which Mr. Flax explained to us on our visit there this week. We would like to urge every Emmitsburgian to visit the plant and learn some of the problems and successes that have been accomplished by many people interested in your well-being in the last year. You'll go away with a feeling of "Well done—good and faithful servant."

Our thanks to Mr. Frailey for making this visit possible and to Mr. Flax for his excellent guided tour.

The Seniors of Emmitsburg High School

Art Exhibit At Local College

Displaying paintings by French school children, Saint Joseph College is holding an exhibition in the College Library this week.

Sponsored by the Omega Chapter of the National French Honor Society, Pi Delta Pi, this exhibition contains pictures painted by public school children between the ages of 9 to 16. The paintings depict Parisian landscapes, people, genre, still life, and decoration.

Having already viewed the exhibition, many children from the upper grades of the Mother Seton School, expressed their enjoyment. Sixth grader Michael Iredwell liked the paintings, "because they had bright colors, original ideas, and a very realistic look." Christine Miller was glad to have "had a chance to see what children in another land do," while Ann Barbe thought that, "the children of Paris have great talent for painting."

The Cultural Division of the French Embassy in New York distributes these pictures for loan to American educational institutions. Pi Delta Phi brought them to Saint Joseph's campus under the chairmanship of Carol de Vaughn, a sophomore from Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Ralph F. Irelan and Dr. C. R. Williams, Gettysburg, are big game hunting in Montana this week.

A man whose normal weight is 150 pounds would weight about 50 pounds if all the water in his system were dried up.

Parents' Weekend
At St. Joseph College

Saint Joseph College will entertain a record number of parents and friends of students attending the annual Valley Home Weekend in Emmitsburg this week. More than 1,000 persons will attend the weekend activities which will begin on Friday evening and continue through Sunday afternoon.

The traditional candle-light ceremony of the Freshman Academic Investiture will take place on Friday evening, October 14, with the largest freshman class ever to attend Saint Joseph's in its 152 year history receiving their academic caps from the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of Mount St. Mary's College. On Saturday afternoon, Sister Hilda Gleason, Ed.M., President of Saint Joseph College, and the administration and faculty of the college will receive the students and their parents at the Valley Home Tea scheduled for 1:30 p. m. in the Student Center. Student hostesses will pour for the tea.

A favorite event on the schedules of Valley Home Weekend for many years will be continued Saturday night when students and their families share the Father-Daughter Dance in the Student Center. Senior students will join with their fathers in a program of community singing.

Sunday's Mass at 9:30 a. m., originally scheduled to be held in the College Chapel, will be held in the college auditorium, and will be followed by the final scheduled event of the weekend, a brunch in the college dining room, DuBois Hall. Senior Carol Door will welcome the parents during the brunch program and, continuing the tradition of the tradition of the father-daughter team, her father, Lester J. Door, Executive Secretary of the National Industrial Traffic League, will present the sentiments of the seniors' parents on their last Valley Home Weekend. Because of the record number in attendance, the Sunday brunch will be attended only by the parents of the freshman and senior students.

An important academic feature of the weekend will be the capping of the sophomore nurses by Sister Hilda, President, and Sister Christine O'Gorman, head of the Division of Nursing. The ceremony will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament given by Rev. Robert R. Kline, Chaplain at Saint Joseph College.
