Regardless of what Mr. Groundhog saw yesterday you might as well resign yourself to the fact that you are in for another two months of winter, and the way things have been going I do mean winter. Seems odd to even think of spring but then after what we have been enduring the past two months it doesn't do one any harm to dream a bit to ease the tension. As winters go this has been one of the most severe and prolonged ones I have witnessed in a number of decades and I've been around for quite a spell folks.

My old friend, John Reifsnider who contributes occasionally to this column, was reminiscing a bit the other day and placed his thoughts and memories on paper, a few of which I will relay to you. "Jack", as he is familiarly known, philosophizes that the kids of today aren't as bad as those in his day. He relates how he, and his other friends, would gather up frogs, toads and turtles and dump them into the old fountain on the square. He states how he used to tease Kate and Jane Hutton and then proceed to Broad Alley to agitate Jakey Horner. (These names were before my time but I'll bet many of you old timers will recall them.) But, Jack reminisced, the day of all days was the Patterson Horse Sale, a big time for all. He recalls the horse races from the Emmitsburg House to the Spangler Hotel and the shows Doc Spangler used to produce in the Old Opera House, now the Charles Bolinger property on S. Seton Ave. He brings to mind the personalities of the Dayhoffs, Doc Brawnner, Stewart Adams and the Pattersons. The greatest lawman of all times, in Jack's mind, was Constable Ashbaugh (first name missing). Jack recalls the big fire at Beam's and Guthrie's livery stable and says he has a number of articles that were saved from the blaze in his possession. Should a museum or some safe place be found to house these items, Jack says he will donate them to the cause. Many thanks for the info Jack, I'm certain old-timers will enjoy recalling memories of long ago.

Sad news is in store for the school kiddies. Already the four "snow" days allotted during the school term have been used up and if any more school days are missed they will have to be made up, either on holidays, or at the end of the school term. State law requires 180 days of school. The county program was set up for 184 days, four of which already have been used. This I know, is unpleasant news for both students and teachers.

Unemployment has become deeply rooted in the Hagerstown area. Pictures, reminiscent of the early 1930's, have been shown on television of the "soup line" now activated in Hagerstown. Almost 5,000 are desperately seeking employment in that small city and there is little, if any, hope in sight for any betterment of the situation there, for some time to come.

Reports emanating from Frederick indicate that the county situation here is none too good either. With over five million unemployed throughout the country at this time and with unemployment funds fast dwindling there will have to be both State and Federal funds made available. One bright side of the picture though is that 65 million do have employment.

Mr. Lewis H. Bell quietly observed his birthday at his home on S. South Ave. Wednesday.

CHARTER NIGHT

The previously postponed Charter and Ladies Night of the Emmitsburg and Thurmont Lions Clubs will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 9 at 6:30 p. m., President Ralph F. Irelan announced this week.

Extinguish Fires

The Vigilant Hose Company was called Jan. 23 to extinguish a chimney fire on the Trent property on the Mountain road; for a chimney fire at the property of Mrs. E. R. Shriver, W. Main St., last Wednesday morning and to another chimney fire at the home of Harry Knipple on E. Main St. last Saturday morning.

Miss Susan Elaine McGlaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGlaughlin, Emmitsburg, and James Henry Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanders, Emmitsburg, were united in marriage on Sunday, January 22 at 1:30 p. m. in Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg. Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of the couple, performed the ceremony.

The altar was decorated with white pom-poms. Mrs. Reginald Zepp, choir director of the church sang, "O Perfect Love," by Barnaby; "The Lords Prayer" and "The Wedding Benediction" by Lovelace. Miss Ruth Shuff was the organist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal bridal gown of white tulle with fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and her chapel skirt had an insert of rose alecon lace. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of cultured pearls. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom, topped with sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Clarence Ancarrow, Emmitsburg, classmate of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street-length dress of red tulle with a fitted bodice and full skirt. The three-quarter length sleeves ended in pleated ruffles. She wore matching accessories and carried a bouquet of Mamie carnations.

Miss Martha Baumgardner, a classmate of the bride, and Miss Karen Eisenhower, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore pine green dresses identical to the matron of honor and carried shower bouquets of Mamie carnations.

County Consumption Of Alcohol Is Up

Frederick Countians were apparently living it up a little more than usual during the past three months because of the amount of distilled spirits delivered to this subdivision were much more than in the first three months of the 1961 fiscal year.

As a result, Frederick County will receive a larger slice from the distilled spirits revenue collected by the state.

According to figures released by Louis L. Goldstein, Comptroller of the Treasury, Frederick County is due to receive $13,172.50 from the state as its share of the distilled spirits revenue. This amount is for the period from October through December.

In the three months prior to October, the Frederick County share amounted to just $9,150. The total received here for the first half of the fiscal year now totals $22,322.50.

Figures show that during the quarter just ended in December, there were 26,345 gallons of distilled spirits delivered to Frederick County dealers. In the first half of the year there have been 44,665 gallons of alcoholic beverages brought into the county. Percentage-wise the amount of distilled spirits delivered here during the first six months of this fiscal year is just .46 per cent ahead of the figure for a similar period a year ago.

But for the three month period from October through December this year, the amount delivered here is 2.34 per cent more than in the like period a year ago.

The revenue making the distribution possible is derived from the distilled spirits tax of $1.50 per gallon. Each subdivision receives 50 cents for each gallon delivered to retail dealers in their respective jurisdictions.

Although the amount of distilled spirits delivered here during the past three months is an increase, it is relatively small compared with the increases noted in other subdivisions in the state.

For instance, neighboring Carroll County shows the greatest increase of any subdivision over the past six months and Washington and Montgomery Counties each have greater increases than in this county.

In the entire state, the only subdivisions to receive smaller checks for their quarterly share than were received at a similar period last year are Calvert, Charles, Howard and St. Mary's counties.

David Sanders, Emmitsburg, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Dennis McGlaughlin, brother of the bride and Wayne Sanders, brother of the bridegroom, both of Emmitsburg.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McGlaughlin wore a royal blue acetate cuponi dress with black accessories and a corsage of red and white carnations. Mrs. Sanders, for her son's wedding, wore a navy blue rayon crepe dress with a corsage of red and white carnations. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Lutheran Church parish hall.

For the wedding trip of an unannounced destination, the bride wore an orchid sheath dress with black accessories and the corsage lifted from her Bible. Upon their return the couple will reside at the home of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Emmitsburg High School, Class of 1959. The bridegroom was graduated from the same school in 1947 and is a member of the Emmitsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Out-of-town guests were from Taneytown, Baltimore, Mayberry, Harney, Lineboro, Thurmont, Littlestown, Rocky Ridge, Westminster, York, Hershey, Hummelstown, Waynesboro, Gettysburg and Fairfield.

A native of Adams County, she was a daughter of the late Ephraim and Elmira (Weikert) Lady.

She was a member of St. James Lutheran Church, of the Eastern Star No. 392 of Gettysburg, was a charter member of the Samaria Shrine of Gettysburg and was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Senator Lauds

Kennedy Speech

The following is statement by U. S. Senator John Marshall Butler (R-Md.), on President Kennedy's State of the Union address:

"The President's message was a far-reaching and sober analysis of the problems which confront the United States at home and abroad. Its cornerstone, I believe, was the promise that his administration 'will not distort the value of the dollar in any fashion.'"

"It is the duty of every American and every member of Congress to assist the President to attain the ultimate goals of world peace and national prosperity enumerated—and above all to keep the dollar as sound as a dollar. Without a sound dollar, of course, the objectives vital to the Nation and the World cannot be realized."

Water Co. Answers Criticism; Improvements Cited

Reassurance as to the quality of the town water supply was given in a statement issued today by Samuel C. Hays, President of the Emmitsburg Water Company. Mr. Hays says:

"The Chronicle of January 20th, in a front page article, carried a report of a recent meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners at which the town water supply and the conduct of the Water Company were discussed. The Company would like to clarify a few of the subjects mentioned in the news report.

"In the first place, let me say that all of us who are connected with the Water Company are vitally interested in providing Emmitsburg with a safe and reliable supply of water. This is our work and our goal. Some years ago, on our own initiative, and at a very considerable expense, we built the present reservoir so that the people of Emmitsburg would be spared the mental anguish and suffering which accompany water shortages. The best evidence that this foresighted policy of the Water Company has paid off lies in the fact that no community in Frederick County can boast of a better system than ours and many are not as good. While our neighbors and friends on every side are suffering from water supply ailments, Emmitsburg is enjoying the luxury of a comfortable 30 million gallons reserve.

"The Chronicle story, in reporting the meeting which discussed Emmitsburg Water Company affairs, ended by saying 'There was no spokesman for the Water Company present.' This was true, of course. The reason was, however, that we knew nothing about the meeting until we read it in the paper. We hope that no one drew the inference that the Company had refused an invitation to attend.

"With respect to the question of a possible sale of the Company to the town, the situation is this. The matter has been discussed over the past year or so. At one time, a number of months ago, a proposal was made by the Town, which the Company felt was not acceptable. But the Company did not close the door on further negotiations and we said we were perfectly willing to continue discussion. We feel that if the Town wishes to buy the plant that we ought to cooperate and do everything possible to find an acceptable plan. It is not only a problem of the price, but how it is to be financed.

"The Chronicle story also reported that the Council had engaged an engineering firm from Baltimore and that the report and appraisal of this firm had been offered to the Water Company but had been refused. This might indicate to some that the Company was taking an arbitrary position and was not being reasonable. The fact is, however, that the Company was never offered the chance to see or read or to have a copy of the report and appraisal of this firm, as reported.

"It was pointed out at the meeting that if the reduced pressure condition continues, the community could be reclassified by the Board of Fire Underwriters and our insurance rates would increase. Therefore, if we correct the trouble before this increase occurs, we will prevent higher rates and thus save the added expense.

"In order to see some action taken, we have written the Burgess and Commissioners, suggesting a conference as soon as possible, with all parties represented, including a representative from the State Public Service Commission. We believe that such a conference would lead to a better understanding of the engineering, financing and rate problems involved. We have also asked for a copy of the engineering report and appraisal, which apparently the Town Council thought had already been offered but which was not the case.

"We are sure, if the matter is approached in a spirit of goodwill and common sense, that a sound solution can be found."

Local Jaycees To Seek Community's Outstanding Young Man

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce has named a committee to find Emmitsburg's most outstanding young man. The committee, headed by Donald Eyer, Jaycee president, will actively canvass Emmitsburg's citizens for the coming six weeks to determine which young man, 21 through 35, has contributed the most to the community.

Nomination forms will be made available Saturday to the general public at most places of business to be filled in and given to any local Jaycee. The winner of the Distinguished Service Award will be judged for his contributions to the general community welfare, his leadership ability, and his own personal or business success. Three of Emmitsburg's elder citizens will form the final judging committee.

Arrangements are now being made for the presentation of the Distinguished Service Award for sometime in March.

Plans are also being made to hold a Lincoln Day Pancake Sale, Sunday, Feb. 12 at the Fire Hall from 7:30 A. M. 'til after the business meeting the members and their wives enjoyed a covered dish social.

Mountaineers Nipped By St. Vincent's; Meet Rider College Tonight In Jersey

A hot-shooting St. Vincent College basketball outfit handed the Mt. St. Mary's dribblers a stunning setback Monday evening at Latrobe, the Bearcats taking an 85-81 decision to snap the eight-game winning streak of the Mountaineers.

St. Vincent connected on 54 per cent of its shots while Mt. St. Mary's was close behind with a 52 percentage. The loss leaves Mt. St. Mary's with a 12-3 record. St. Vincent is 5-7.

In a game here on December 3 the Mount breezed to an easy 91-63 decision over the Bearcats, but it was a different story on Mon-

"The Chronicle story also reported some discussion at the town meeting about the quality of the water being furnished to the town, and about reports received from the State Department of Health. Let me say this on the subject of quality. Our water is chlorinated, as required by the State Department of Health. Occasionally the chlorinator fails to put in the required amount of chlorine. This might be due to the electricity being shut down temporarily and without our fault, as was the case early in 1960. But this is quickly remedied and the proper balance restored. Each month the Health Department checks the bacteria count and a satisfactory count is called a negative count. For months our count has been negative, the most recent being two weeks ago. We think we have a right to be proud of the excellent quality of Emmitsburg water.

"The Town meeting also discussed the water pressure at the fire hydrants. Reduced pressure at hydrants is due primarily to the fact that today we use twice as much water as we used fifteen years ago and our pipes are not large enough to carry this amount without a reduction of pressure. Yesterday, our master meter recorded a consumption of 350,000 gallons. This figures to more than 140 gallons per day per person. Put the condition of low pressure can and should be corrected. Of course, it will cost something but this cost would soon be offset by the savings.

"The Water Company now, as always, stands ready to provide all the water the community needs, when and where it needs it, and of a high quality, all commensurate with today's technical know-how. The Water Company has done and will continue to do everything it can to further this aim, but it cannot do it alone. It will require the assistance of the community and the cooperation of community leaders.

"It was pointed out at the meeting that if the reduced pressure condition continues, the community could be reclassified by the Board of Fire Underwriters and our insurance rates would increase. Therefore, if we correct the trouble before this increase occurs, we will prevent higher rates and thus save the added expense.

"In order to see some action taken, we have written the Burgess and Commissioners, suggesting a conference as soon as possible, with all parties represented, including a representative from the State Public Service Commission. We believe that such a conference would lead to a better understanding of the engineering, financing and rate problems involved. We have also asked for a copy of the engineering report and appraisal, which apparently the Town Council thought had already been offered but which was not the case.

"We are sure, if the matter is approached in a spirit of goodwill and common sense, that a sound solution can be found."

January Snow Statistics Given By Local Observer

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I noted in your paper that no one had taken time to study the statistics on the weather, they were so busy trying to keep warm, etc. I thought you might be interested in the following data I have collected as official observer for the Weather Bureau in this area.

The first snow this winter was Sunday and Monday, Dec. 11 and 12, when a total of eight inches was recorded. It was impossible to have school on the 12th because of the drifting snow which blocked many roads. On Dec. 21, there was another five inches, which covered over a 2-inch blanket not yet melted from the former snow.

No appreciable amount of snow fell until the 15th of January, when a 2-inch fall blanketed the area, with another three inches on the 16th. Schools were not closed by this snow, as it did not blow. But then again on the 19th and 20th there was heavy snow—nine inches recorded, but the drifting was very severe, and the roads were closed. Schools were closed early, and there was no school on the 20th. Many bus drivers experienced great difficulty getting the children home. The temperatures were below freezing all the time, so the snow did not pack, and on the 23rd another two inches fell. This drifted on the 24th and the winds rose to again block the roads. The bus drivers had great difficulty on this afternoon, also.

To add insult to injury, along came another four inches on the 26th, schools were again closed early, and no school was held on the 27th because of the forecast of heavy drifting, which, fortunately did not materialize. As of the 28th, more snow is predicted. The total snowfall so far this winter is 33 inches.

As to temperature, the coldest recorded temperature was -18½ degrees the morning of Dec. 23. Only six days during the last half of December did the temperature go above freezing. Four nights it was below zero. The first half of January the temperature rose above freezing every day until the 19th. The coldest night-time temperature was 14 degrees on four nights. Since the 19th however, the temperature has not gone over the 28 degree mark. On six consecutive nights it has gone below zero, with -12 and -9 the coldest registered.

I hope you will be interested in these statistics.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Paul L. Beale

CYO Will Sponsor Religious Films

The Seton Catholic Youth Organization Religious Committee announced today that it is making arrangements to show movies of a religious and entertaining nature each Friday night during Lent. The Committee feels that these pictures, all of a first class, will be a welcome and constructive substitute for the dances which cannot be held during this period. Each showing will be open to the public, adults and children, and begin at 8 p. m. in St. Joseph's High School auditorium. A slight admission will be charged to cover expenses. Laurence Orendorf is chairman of the Committee, assisted by Jenny Wivell, Theresa Weedon and Jeanne Chrismer. Mrs. George Arnold is acting as adult advisor of the group.

There will be a general meeting of the C.Y.O. Club this evening (Friday) at which this and other business will be discussed. Dancing and games will follow.

Thomas Glass

Heads County Bar

Thomas S. Glass, an assistant attorney general and onetime independent candidate for State Attorney, has been chosen as president of the Frederick County Bar Association.

The action came at the annual meeting of the Bar Association Monday afternoon in the Circuit Courtroom, after Wilbur F. Sheffield, former magistrate and vice president of the Bar Association, declined to assume the presidency for reasons of health.

Glass, who is 41 years old, has been practicing law in Frederick for the past 15 years. He also served as magistrate under Governor William Preston Lane in 1950 and 1951. He was appointed a member of the Democratic State Central Committee in 1952 and served as the party campaign manager that year.

Two Selected In Crocker Contest

RITA ANN REMAVAGE

Miss Katherine Springer of Emmitsburg High School, and Miss Rita Ann Remavage, of St. Joseph High School, have been named the 1961 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow in their respective schools.

Having received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating seniors in her school, each becomes a candidate for the State Homemakers of Tomorrow award which will be announced in March.

Each school Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive an award pin, manufactured by Jostens and representing the slogan, "Home is Where the Heart Is." The examination papers of school homemakers of Tomorrow will be entered in competition to name the state's Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The $110,000 homemaking education program sponsored by General Mills offers a $1,500 scholarship to the first ranking girl in each state and a $500 scholarship to the state's second ranking participant.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow and their faculty advisors receive an expense-paid educational tour to New York City, Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., April 8-13, the trip culminating in the announcement of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow whose scholarship is increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth ranking. Homemakers of Tomorrow in the nation will have their scholarships raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

The testing and judging is conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago. With a record 402,786 girls in 12,633 of the nation's schools participating this year, the Betty Crocker Search has enrolled more than two million girls in its seven-year history.

License Renewal Forms Sent Out

More than 31,000 Maryland drivers are scheduled to renew their operator's permits in February as a result of the License Renewal Program which became effective on January 1, 1961, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced today.

Applications for the renewal of these licenses were mailed on the last day of December to state motorists born in February of an "odd" year whose last name begins with the initials "A" through "O" and who obtained their previous permit prior to January 1, 1960.

John R. Jewell, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles said that over four thousand operators scheduled for renewal in January failed to return their applications and are now holding expired licenses. Under the law, the licenses of those eligible for renewal in a given month expire at the end of that month.

"It is extremely important," Commissioner Jewell said, "that motorists realize the seriousness of driving with expired permits and take every precaution to renew their licenses during their birth month."

He also noted that all enforcement agencies were recently sent written instructions on the recognition of expired Maryland licenses by the Department of Motor Vehicles and will be on the alert for drivers using out-dated permits.

The new law calls for permanent renewal of all motorists' licenses every two years. Operators born in an "odd" year will renew their licenses in the month of their birth in an "odd" year; those born in an "even" year will renew during their birth month in an "even" year.

A Day In Seoul, Korea

Korea is second only to Japan in its high rate of literacy. Every school boy can name with pride the first capital of Korea (Pyongyang) and tell that it was founded in 2224 B.C. He can also tell you that Korea built the first astronomical observatory in the world, and had movable type in use before the days of Gutenberg. School children look smart in their well-tailored uniforms. The government provides practically free schooling through the 6th grade. After that, students must pay, even in government schools.

A tremendous amount of new building is going on. The Republic of Korea was never before so prosperous. Yet every Korean is living in fear. The history of the nation is a history of invasions and of oppression. But never before were the threats of invasion daily dinned into their ears. The radio now clearly booms in constant propaganda from Peking and North Korea—in English, Chinese, and Korean—all daily. The "Hate America" programs never cease, and the assurance that the Communists will some day control South Korea is confidently confirmed daily. Appeals are also made for cultural exchanges and various other inter-communication. Special propagandists (conspirators) are also constantly infiltrating Korea.

Missionary Finds Truth

A missionary who has been several years in Korea said to me: "Before coming to Korea I assumed that the talk against Communism was political propaganda. I considered myself intelligent and open-minded. I decided to wait and finally judge the merits of Communism when I was sure it had been fairly represented. I thought nothing could be so bad as Communism was said to be. But after listening to the programs in English from Radio Peking, I have radically changed. I never heard such bold lying in my life."

When I asked for some instances, he continued: "In the news it may be said, 'Yesterday three American soldiers in Taiwan raped a 12 year old Chinese girl. Snake Eisenhower approves, and refuses to allow the soldiers to be punished.' Constant Propaganda

The missionary said: "Then when Eisenhower was in Korea last spring, I personally witnessed the reception. It was spontaneous and marvelous. No man could have received a warmer welcome. I was among the common people. They were all his friends. But Radio Peking reported it as though the crowds were unfriendly, and that if 'Old Ike, the Warmonger' had remained another day, the crowd would likely have broken through the defenses to get at him."

No one knows how much the public is being affected with this constant barrage of propaganda—representing the nations of the free world as warmongers, and conspirators against the well-being of mankind; and representing the Communists as peace-loving souls, and the world's only real benefactors.

Reds—Reaching Youth
I talked with men in the U. S. Armed Forces, with men in the U. S. Point Four Program, with Korean leaders, including the President of Chungang University (with 7,000 students, a part of which I addressed), with the political attaché of the American embassy, with American missionaries, and with the average Korean in his home. They all say there is no danger of the older generation of Koreans, who witnessed the Communist invasion of Korea, being influenced by the propagandists. But they are less certain about the youthful generation, which is inclined to think there must be "Some truth" in the Commie propaganda, and who can't believe any people are mean enough to have the ambitions the Commies really have.

The Korean government is so close to powerful Communist countries that it must be realistic in its opposition to infiltration. When infiltrators are found to actually be agents of the Commies, the government quickly jails them, as conspirators. In this, I think they are wiser than most free countries. In America we brand them as "conspirators," but we seldom jail them. To the Communists this is a real war right now. We will keep on losing it in America until we take much more positive steps in dealing with the conspirators in our midst and working for our destruction. They should be treated as in war, for we are in war—a war aimed at our conquest. (Next week: Report from Hong Kong).

Miss Fehr Guest Of Homemakers At Meeting Here

"Decisions, decisions, decisions"—How to live Better on 24 Hours a day! This was the general theme of the discussion led by Miss Beatrice Fehr, Home Demonstration Agent, at the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club Meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Charles Harner, despite adverse weather conditions, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 26. Miss Fehr began her discussion by showing the decisions one had to make in order to pack a bag to go on a trip. Then she related this incident to the decisions homemakers had to make in order to plan their lives, and to get done all the things they wanted to get done. Each homemaker present was asked to tell what they would like to do, but never had time to do.

Some of the reasons why the days aren't long enough and their solutions are as follows:

1. Poor planning. The solution was to have better planning—place important things first, and do them at the best time of the day for you.

2. Laziness or procrastination. To solve this, the homemakers decided one would have to practice discipline. Also, it helps for one to learn to do what you like to do; and to like what you have to do.

3. Lack of concentration. It was thought that everyone should review her goal—why are we doing what we are doing—what is our aim in life? We must learn to see through our chores to our aims. We should have a variety in the days' work—combine heavy and light jobs, or alternate them.

4. Interruptions. It was thought that one must learn to accept them gracefully, to use ingenuity, and to have a more flexible planning to take care of interruptions.

5. Overplanning — too many things to do. The Homemakers decided it was important to learn to choose and select ones activities. They felt that we are living at too fast a pace, expect too much of ourselves, have too many unnecessary wants, and then must take an extra burden on ourselves to keep them.

6. Too tired — we expect too much of ourselves. We must learn to say "no" to things that we feel are not as important as other things. We can learn to share our chores with other members of the family so the homemaker will have more time. We can learn quicker, easier ways to do things. Miss Fehr explained that the Homemakers Club program for this year will endeavor to teach us quicker, easier ways to do things.

A short business meeting followed Miss Fehr's discussion. The new officers and committee chairman were read. New program books were distributed and filled in. Mrs. Higbee, treasurer, noted that annual dues are payable. Old and new business, and correspondence was read. Mrs. Murray Valentine gave the Director's report. Three new members joined the club—Mrs. Grace Long, Mrs. Alice Paxson and Mrs. Benjamin Ogle. Mrs. Harner announced that the club sold $25.50 worth of items for Victor Cullen Hospital during Christmas time. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Fuss on Feb. 23.

Sodality Installs New Officers

At the first monthly meeting for the year 1961 of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Joseph's Church, the recently elected officers were inducted and presided over the meeting. They are: Mrs. Curtis Topper, president; Mrs. James Adelsberger, vice president; Mrs. William Martin, treasurer; and Mrs. George Arnold, secretary.

The Sodality decided to sponsor another bus pilgrimage this spring for members of the parish. The following committee was appointed to supervise the arrangements: Mrs. Donald Byard, Mrs. Marie Rosensteel and Mrs. Quinn Topper. It was agreed to examine the possibility of having the Sodality members make a weekend retreat this spring. Mrs. James Adelsberger, Mrs. Anna Gerken, and Mrs. Paul Sherwin were appointed to obtain the facts and make a recommendation at the next general meeting. A decision was also made that in the future, the Consultors of the Sodality would be notified by mail of a coming meeting and requested to contact each member of her band to inform her of the fact. A social gathering with light refreshments followed and it was resolved that all meetings in the future would end in this fashion.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

TESTING BABY FOR TB
By Katherine H. K. Hsu, M.D.
Pediatrician in Charge, Tuberculosis Division, Jefferson Davis Hospital, Houston, Texas

Babies are not born with tuberculosis, and, in this country, they do not get it from the milk they drink. Yet, more than 2,000 children in the United States under five years of age have active tuberculosis.

How do they get the disease? They get tuberculosis from the air they breathe.

If a young child catches tuberculosis, it is because he has breathed in tubercle bacilli, the germs that cause tuberculosis, that have been expelled into the air by a grown person in close contact with him.

Fortunately, it is easy to test a baby for tuberculosis. This is done by giving a tuberculin test, a remarkably sensitive skin test that causes a reaction if the baby has been infected with tubercle bacilli, even if active disease is not present.

When a child under five has become infected, there is always a risk of serious disease, even of tuberculosis of the membranes that cover the brain and spinal cord. Thus, precautions must be taken to protect the child from the possible consequences of infection.

Today, most pediatricians advocate prophylactic treatment for the tuberculin positive child. This means administering a drug, isoniazid, for at least a year. Some doctors advise also giving a second drug, PAS, short for para-aminosalicylic acid, lest the tubercle bacilli cease to respond to the action of the first.

Ordinarily isoniazid alone can be relied upon to provide the necessary protection. Studies have shown that this drug, remarkably effective in treating tuberculosis, can prevent the development of serious disease among children already infected with tubercle bacilli.

If a child is tuberculin positive, it is not enough to treat him. He must be safeguarded from continued exposure. Thus, the source of infection must be found. This means examining all relatives, friends or domestics in close contact with the child. Such persons should be given a tuberculin test and a chest x-ray. When the case of active tuberculosis is found, the individual should be placed under treatment immediately and precautions taken to protect the child from further contact.

It should be remembered that, although tuberculosis is usually thought of as a disease of older people, infants are highly susceptible to it and the disease usually takes a serious course with them. Prudence demands that the child be tested regularly for the tuberculosis and, if the test is positive, that prophylactic treatment be initiated at once.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

In an average week last year 60 Frederick County residents contacted representatives from the Hagerstown Social Security Office according to W. S. King, District Manager.

At the end of 1960 over 5,000 people in Frederick County were receiving old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits of about $250,000 each month.

The representatives of the Hagerstown Office received 787 new claims for retirement and survivors benefits, including 92 claims by disabled individuals, from residents of Frederick County.

People are interested in finding out what social security means to them as indicated by the fact that 3,728 personal visits and telephone calls were made to the social security representatives by people who asked for information about one or more provisions of the law during the year. Representatives from the Hagerstown District Office visit Frederick regularly each Tuesday and Thursday from 10:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. in the State Employment Office on West Church Street.

Other Frederick County contacts totaled 915 and were made with individuals around Frederick County for needed information in processing claims, adjusting earnings records and informing the people of their rights and responsibilities under the social security law. 908 people already receiving benefits found it necessary to contact these representatives during the year.

Persons desiring information on any matter pertaining to social security should get in touch with the social security representatives when they are in Frederick or they should call, phone or write the

Hagerstown Social Security Office, 59 North Cannon Avenue, Hagerstown, Maryland.

Baltimore Raceway To Open June 9

BALTIMORE—Baltimore Raceway this week announced the dates for its $100,000 Lord and Lady Baltimore Stake program, which will feature the harness oval's 24-night summer meet.

The Maryland Racing Commission has assigned Baltimore the dates of June 9 to July 6, which is virtually the same period as a year ago when the Raceway staged a highly successful meet.

In announcing the stake program, General Manager Frank Cashen pointed out that the local trot track will be opening on Friday night this year instead of the usual Monday.

"We will complete our stake program during the opening eight nights of our meeting with a stake-a-night scheduled from June 9 through June 17," Cashen said.

The Lord and Lady Baltimore will be raced in eight divisions with two-and-three-year-old events for colts and fillies at both the trotting and pacing gaits.

What should be the two richest stakes of the meeting will be staged during the opening two nights. These will be the Lord Baltimore three-year-old races for colts and geldings. The trot section of the stake will be contested on Friday night, June 9, and the pace on Saturday.

These two races have been estimated at $30,000 but Cashen admitted that the two races could be worth well in excess of that figure. Sustaining payments for both events, as well as the two-year-old races, are due on February 15, and Baltimore will re-evaluate the estimated purses at that point.

Each of the four two-year-old races are now estimated at $10,000 and the three-year-old events at $15,000.

The three-year-old filly trot is set for Monday, June 12, followed on successive nights by the two-year-old filly trot, the two-year-old filly pace, the two-year-old colt trot, the three-year-old filly pace and the two-year-old colt pace.

"Our Grand Circuit program will probably be confined to June 9 and 10, since these are the only available dates for us," Cashen reiterated.

Last year, the Lord and Lady Baltimore Stakes were worth $67,152.50 on a six event program. With two additional races this year and a list of nominations that is double that of 1960, the Lord and Lady Baltimore are among the richest harness stake programs in the country.

Taxpayers Must Report All Income

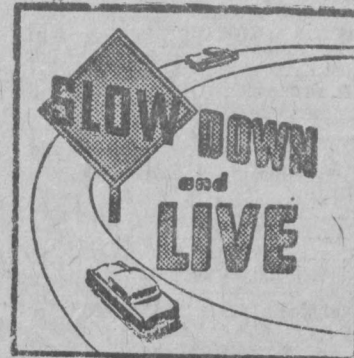

Many Federal income taxpayers each year fail to account for income received from sources not reported on their W-2 withholding tax certificates, Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, said today.

Sources of taxable income, he pointed out, include part-time work, dividends, tips or other gratuities, interest on savings accounts, and several other forms of income.

"Tip recipients, such as waiters and waitresses, cab drivers, porters, hair dressers, and persons employed in similar occupations where tips are a material income-producing factor are not only required to report such income on their tax returns but are also required to keep adequate records of such receipts," he said.

"Profits on the sale of real or personal property are subject to special rules and must be reported," he added. Some dividends, and certain other kinds of income need not be reported. Taxpayers should read the instructions booklet or appropriate tax guide carefully to determine whether they should be reported.

"Taxpayers who fail to report taxable income are liable to be called to account for it," Mr. Machiz warned. "They may be subject not only to the tax, but also to interest and penalties."

Chemistry Lesson
You own a first-rate chemical factory. But you can't hope to market the products, because the factory is your own digestive system.

Saliva in the mouth contains ptyalin, which goes to work on starches you're chewing, and changes them into maltose, a form of sugar which can be absorbed.

In the stomach, food is churned to a semi-liquid. The stomach produces a weak solution of hydrochloric acid which sets things up for the enzyme, pepsin. Pepsin comes from the stomach wall. It starts the breakdown of protein into a form that the body can use.

After about two hours in the stomach, the partly digested food enters the small intestine. As soon as the food touches the intestinal wall, it sets off a reflex which starts intestinal juice, pancreatic juice and bile flowing freely, from the intestinal wall, the pancreas, and the gall bladder, respectively. The intestinal juice cancels out the acid from the stomach. This is necessary because the chemicals at this stage can't work in acid. It also partly breaks down sugar and fat. Then it triggers the pancreas to release its juice, which really does to work on protein, fat, and carbohydrates. After that the intestinal juice finishes the job.

Food is now in a form which can be easily absorbed by the small intestine.

Any food substances not needed by the body at the moment are carried to the liver and stored there until wanted.

The digestive process is just as complicated as it sounds and there are many chances for something to go wrong. Don't dose yourself for persistent indigestion, bloating, heartburn. See your doctor. This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by your Tuberculosis Association.

An intelligent man, who knows what he is doing and why, is often mistaken for a pighead, stubborn individual by those who do not know what they are doing or why.

CANCER AND YOU

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of monthly columns to be published by this paper as a public service for the purpose of educating the public about their responsibilities to themselves and their families, with regard to cancer and to encourage the individual to seek prompt medical treatment if and when cancer's danger signals appear. This series is in cooperation with the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society. The American Cancer Society is the pioneer organization in cancer control in the United States, and is the only voluntary medical health agency engaged in the comprehensive programs of cancer research, education and service.

The Biology Of Cancer

To know fear is to understand it. Thus this article and subsequent ones to follow will shed light on the nature of cancer and provide us with understanding rather than fear, to enable us to cope with it if need be.

The term growth, applied to living things, usually conveys the idea of increase in size of the organism. Yet in the strict biological sense growth is an increase in the number of cells which compose the organisms. The greater number of cells result in an enlargement which we call growth. Normal growth begins with one nearly weightless single cell formed by the union of the male sperm cell and the female ovum cell.

The months from conception to birth is the period of fastest growth; from birth until the age of adolescence, about the 18th year, growth is not so fast; by adulthood growth is noticeable only in the replacement of cells that have been worn out or damaged by injury or disease.

Normal growth follows certain principles:

1. It is necessary for the maintenance for the life of the organism.
2. Normal growing cells are familiar in physical structure and in function.
3. The cells form themselves in an orderly manner into well defined tissues and organisms.
4. Normal growth is subject to influences which cause cell division to cease when its purpose has been achieved.

A cancer is a group of living cells which, for reasons not yet fully understood, begin to grow and reproduce themselves with the usual controls. The cell multiplication rate is changed — one cell may become three or four or more; the cells are irregular in size and shape; they no longer form useful tissues or organs and they do not stop multiplying. Masses of these run-away cells, sooner or later result in a lump or swelling which is called a tumor. A mass of cells that have little deviation from normal and only limited penetration into the surrounding area and do not spread to other areas, is called a benign tumor, because it usually does not endanger life. Examples of this kind of tumor are warts and moles.

A growth of cells, abnormal in structure and behavior which penetrates and spreads, is a malignant tumor, one that will almost certainly cause death if it is not removed or destroyed. This is A Cancer—A Disorderly And Uncontrolled Growth Of The Cells Of The Body Which Do Not Stop Multiplying Once They Begin. If the cancer cells continue to increase, the growth becomes larger and extends into surrounding tissues. Eventually the abnormal cells may penetrate the blood stream or lymph channels and be carried to other parts of the body where they establish colonies, metastases, from the Greek meaning "removal" or departure.

Cancer cells are misshapen and irregular in size. They lose their specialized structure, this is called the dedifferentiation. The cancerous cells take more than their share of cell nourishment but never mature or assume the functions of normal cells. They reproduce early and die early. They arrange themselves in an irregular, haphazard fashion forming abnormal tissue patterns. They are very adaptable and grow in many parts of the body distant from the point of their origin.

Cancer probably begins as a single cell. As it reproduces and a mass is formed, it can be eventually detected. One of the more recent techniques of detection is the examination of cells shed from the tissues of the organ. This enables diagnosis of cancer which

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kestmo

Now for the first time you can build your own aluminum auto-top boat from a factory-prepared kit. You can select one of various models from seven to 14 feet long, choose either pram or pointed bow, and the delivered price will run well below what a comparable boat would cost you on the showroom floor.

The popular 12-footer weighs about 70 pounds, and you can load and unload her from the top of your car yourself. It will safely carry any motor up to 7½ hp.

Gordon P. Manning, feature writer for Sports Afield Magazine, tells us that he has just finished assembling a 12-foot kit, and claims it was as much fun as hooking into a ten-pound lake trout. The people who make the can be made even before a noticeable mass of cells can be formed and before the disorganized growth has penetrated far enough into normal organs to interfere with their function.

There are two main types of cancer, named according to the tissues from which they originate. They are carcinoma, arising from the epithelial tissue such as the skin or mucous membrane, and sarcoma, arising from connecting or supporting tissues such as bone, fibrous tissues, cartilage and muscle. In man there are two hundred to three hundred kinds of cancer although 90% of human cancers belong to 30 common types. With this variety and form the problems of detecting and treating the different manifestations of cancer are many.

Next month's article: "The Causes of Cancer." If you have any questions regarding cancer, please write in care of this paper. Answers will be printed in a later article.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

How efficient is your casting? Do you know that the right combination of rod, reel, line, and lure can help you cast better?

Selecting the right combination of tackle based on your skill and fishing plans promises longer casts, greater ease, and more accuracy. When the tackle is right for the angler and the conditions, it's called "balanced tackle".

Casting champions, such as International Champion Johnny Dieckman, who count on accuracy or distance and sometimes both together to win a tournament, use six to ten different rods in a tournament depending on the events. For their fly tackle they provide a different reel and line for each rod depending on the purpose of the event.

If you are planning to buy a rod for yourself, your wife, or one of the kiddies — keep these points in mind.

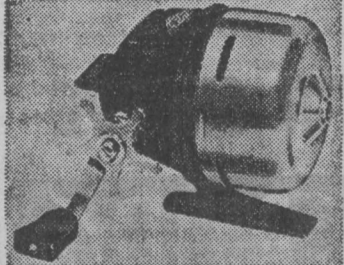

A stiff rod is more difficult for the beginner to work efficiently. It requires more coordination and know-how. But it offers the good caster greater distance with less effort. However, don't be sold on distance alone. While it is often the main reason for a choice of tackle — catching fish is still the prime reason for buying tackle.

The lake fisherman making long casts with light line may be willing to chance a broken line. If he isn't, he may compromise by giving up some distance and using a more limber rod to cushion the shock of light line and avoid unnecessary breakage.

If you fish swampy marsh land or tree-lined rapids where snags are a constant threat, you may well prefer heavier line to avoid breakage. Of course, this will shorten your casts but long casts are less important than accurate casts and your tackle is by necessity "balanced" to your need.

The ideal outfit for the beginner and occasional angler is a spin-casting reel such as the Garcia Abu-matic 140, 160, or 170, a fast taper, hollow fiber glass rod designed for ¼ to ½-ounce lures, and the line which comes pre-wound on the spool. For those who plan to fish often and in a variety of conditions, an open faced spinning reel offers more versatility but requires more practice to operate efficiently.

You can properly balance your rod and reel by experimentation. Try different weight lines and varied lures until you strike the combination that's best for you. When you do — you'll find your casts easier, more accurate, and — more productive.

Abu-Matic Spincasting Reel

kits evidently realize that the average man knows nothing whatsoever about forming aluminum into bends and flares . . . so they have done all this for you.

The entire hull, in fact, comes complete, so you don't have to do any welding or fastening of underwater parts. The rest of the pre-formed pieces are fastened together with tiny, airplane-type aluminum nuts, bolts and screws. Marine bedding compound is used in the through-hull fastenings. An interesting six or seven hours' work with screwdriver, drill and small wrench gives you a boat that is ready to take you out on the water.

The quality and weight of aluminum used is excellent. The entire hull is fabricated of .040-inch metal, giving her a stiffness that is far more satisfactory in rough water than some of the lighter weight metal often found in auto-toppers.

And happily there are no parts which require painting, the whole boat being made of non-corrosive metal. Of course, this doesn't mean that you can't paint her any color you want, after you have tightened up the last bolt. But don't forget, when you start painting, you also start maintenance.

One of the hidden, but most important, features of these boats is that they are unsinkable. Under each seat you insert a pre-cut chunk of styrofoam which gives you all the flotation you'll ever need, in case of an accident.

With the arrival of aluminum boat kits, a do-it-yourselfer now has the choice of all three of the popular materials from which to build his boat—wood, fiber glass or aluminum.

Recent statistics reveal that more than 40 per cent of the families in the United States own dogs, with 18 million homes owning two or more, adding up to 26 million dogs.—Sports Afield.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Romans 8:1-6.)
They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the spirit the things of the Spirit. (Romans 8:5.)
Food is a basic necessity for the body. Moreover, the production, distribution, and preparation of it provide employment for a vast portion of the world's population. But meat and bread are not to have priority in our concern.
The Master's counsel that man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God, needs reaffirmation in our day to each of us. Let us look about our homes to see where we are putting emphasis. Are we putting it on the material or on the spiritual?
We do well to keep in mind that our standard of attainment is set by God, not by man. We reach it, not by measuring ourselves, but only by bringing our desires into conformity with God's will.
God has expressed this will

BABSON
Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Discusses Life Insurance Stocks
BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 2—First a word regarding the purchase of life insurance. This should be a MUST for every young person. It should be first in one's financial program before thinking of real estate, stocks, or bonds.
Different Kinds Of Life Insurance
Personally, I prefer the simple "twenty-payment life" with out any endowment or other fringes. Get this first. After you are married you can get life insurance to pay the mortgage on your house, or to put your children through college, or to travel in the U. S. or abroad. An endowment policy may be a good way to save money for one who has no patience or self-control, but I would rather invest some other way.
I also believe in business insurance and "estate planning," in which my friend Mr. McMillan of Memphis, Tenn. has specialized. This is a newer form which applies chiefly to those in active business whose estates would be severely taxed at time of death. It also shows how much by use of trusts, gifts to members of one's family and to charities, such taxes can be greatly reduced.

Buying Life Insurance Stocks
But this week I want to write about burying the stocks of life insurance companies. These usually do not yield much income. Their cash dividends are very small and they sell at high prices. The reason is that a growing life insurance company must continually "plow back" more money for the required legal reserve. You know that life insurance companies are carefully audited by the government, which is another reason for buying them.
To offset the small cash dividends, the companies pay generous stock dividends. Some pay such stock dividends every year; while other companies give a large 50% or more dividend every five years. These stock dividends are nontaxable until you sell the stock received therefrom. As a rule, life insurance stocks are bought only by rich people; but in many cases this is one reason these people are rich! My appeal this week is that small investors buy good life insurance stocks now, although most bankers and brokers will always claim that such stocks are "too high!"
President Kennedy Helping Life Insurance Stocks
One of the planks in President Kennedy's platform was to help the aged by free medical care and in other ways. The American Medical Association and the American Dental Association, composed of some 275,000 doctors and dentists, are fighting this program.
Heretofore, most of the life companies have refused to insure people over 65 years of age; but if Kennedy legislation passes, they may insure persons 75 years of age or perhaps older. Not only do the "oldsters" favor this legislation, but also the children of the aged who are thus relieved of providing proper medical and dental care for their parents. Hence, I forecast that President Kennedy will succeed in getting this legislation passed.
Eisenhower And Kennedy Medical Plans Compared
The Eisenhower Plan was to provide Federal funds to match State funds for medical aid. The AMA and ADA were willing to approve this, apparently on the assumption that most states would be niggardly in their appropriations. The Kennedy Plan is to have the movement purely a Federal affair, tying it to the Social Security program. It would probably mean a 1/4 of one percent boost in the Social Security Tax, to be paid as now—jointly by employer and employee.
Either of these two plans should be most beneficial to the life insurance companies, which are interested in one thing, namely in increasing the health and length of life of the American people. Wherever the money may come from, every doctor and dentist, every drug manufacturer and druggist—and all devoted children—are interested in helping older people and their friends. In fact, there is no group of companies except the life insurance companies which have so many people working for them!

To Select 'Maryland Mother'

Judge Allene Leatherbury Moreland, Lothian, Md., State Chairman of American Mothers' Committee, Inc., has announced the launching of the search for the 1961 Mother of Maryland. Nomination blanks will be available shortly to national women's organizations, via radio and TV, individuals, and others. Additional blanks will be available upon request to Mrs. Moreland. The deadline for all applications to be submitted will be March 4th.

The standards that must be met by nominees for State Mother have been set up by the American Mothers Committee as follows:
First: That she be a successful mother, as evidenced by the character and achievements of her individual children.
Second: That she be an active member of a religious body.
Third: That she embody those traits highly regarded in mothers; courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness, understanding, and a good homemaking ability.
Fourth: That she exemplify in her life and conduct the precepts

Sense of humor: What makes you laugh at something which would make you mad if it happened to you.

Electric Dishwasher Aid to Etiquette

Etiquette experts say it's rude to wash dishes while guests are still present. Clear the table, scrape and stack the dishes if you must, but don't wash them until guests have left, even if the sight of dirty pots and pans, dishes and glassware piled in the kitchen is almost unbearable.
Party manners can be remedied along with the kitchen if an automatic electric dishwasher is installed. It will be the hostess' answer to the dinner guest dilemma. She can put the pots and pans in the dishwasher before sitting down at the table. They'll be done automatically during dinner, ready to be put away so dinner dishes can go right from the table into the dishwasher.

"New Look" For Spring Gardens

Planning a "new look" for your Spring garden is one of the more pleasurable pursuits when winter brings actual gardening to a standstill. A quiet winter's evening, or a lull in weekend activity, is an ideal time to turn to the pages of the new, colorfully illustrated garden catalogs.

Using these indispensable planning aids as a guide for selection, later on a glance through the window or a slow saunter through your garden site will reveal the choice locations for your new plants.

Among the new floral introductions each year and the classical favorites, roses continue to command prime attention. No other plant family offers the valued appeal of beauty, color choice, hardiness, succession of bloom from June to November, planting versatility, and a glorious floral display for decades.

This year's parade of roses is highlighted by the captivating All-America Rose Selections for 1961 — Duet and Pink Parfait.

While both winners are featured in rose catalogs and are available now for the up-to-date Spring garden, wise planners should order early to assure their share of the introductory year's limited supply and heavy demand.

Duet will add a litting note of charm with its bi-colored, Hybrid Tea beauty. Duet blends two warm, rich hues — a soft salmon pink on the inner petal surface and a contrasting rosy crimson on the outer surfaces. An excellent garden accent plant, exhibition and cut flower. Its petals add up to nearly thirty on each flower.

Pink Parfait joins the select company of Queen Elizabeth (1955) and Starfire (1959) as the only Grandifloras holding the rose world's highest honor — the coveted AARS award. Bud colors of Pink Parfait range from dawn to apple-blossom pink in a changing pageant of color tones. Semi-double, profusely blooming flowers vary from dawn to deep rose and serve with distinction as a towering rose hedge amid other greenery.

The versatile Florida class favorites fit well into any decorative or functional rose garden scheme. The striking vermilion hued flowers of Fire King, or the eye-catching scarlet-orange of Sarabande — both are 1960 All-America Rose winners — can be massed for a splash of color or located to create a stately "guard of honor" effect along bed or

It's wise to include a touch of white in selecting shades from the rainbow range of rose colors. Blend Garden Party, a 1960 AARS winner, or Ivory Fashion, one of 1959's title-holders to impart the balance and contrast necessary in an appealing color arrangement.

State Point System Proving Effective

The Department of Motor Vehicles disclosed this week that more than 150 state motorists have already had points charged against their driving records and proper action taken against them as a result of Maryland's point system. The law became effective on Dec. 31, 1960.

In making the announcement, John R. Jewell, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, stated that 37 of the above number had been notified of mandatory revocation of their licenses for being convicted of twelve-point violations. Four persons were convicted of 8-point violations which calls for automatic suspension of licenses unless appealed.

"The Department has taken the necessary action in all cases received to date that come under the jurisdiction of the point system,"

State Sales Tax Deductible

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that the Income Tax Division of his office had formally adopted the schedules developed by the Internal Revenue Service, as the basis for the deduction in the Maryland income tax return for 1960, of retail sales and use taxes paid to the State of Maryland.

Sales and use taxes paid to the State of Maryland are properly deductible in the State tax return under the law, Mr. Goldstein said, but as a rule taxpayers do not keep any records of the amounts spent. It is recognized, he continued, that every taxpayer pays some sales and use taxes to Maryland and it is for that reason that we have adopted the Federal figures as a uniform deduction for the various income groups. In those cases where actual records

Winterize Your Driving Habits

Winter road conditions call for extra care and caution in driving.

Winterize your driving techniques, as well as your car. From The House of Seagram, which advises you "When It's One For The Road, Be Sure It's Coffee," here are other hints for safer winter driving: —

1. Test brakes and traction on snow, ice or wet pavement before getting into heavy traffic. Get the feel of the road. Maintain traction with steady motion.

2. On snow, ice or wet pavement, hard sudden braking, as well as undue speed, can throw your car into skid. If you can't stop with normal, easy braking action, you're going too fast for safety.

3. If car skids, steer in direction in which the rear of the car is skidding. Don't apply brakes until you have traction — then do so easily, with pumping, intermittent action.

4. When road is slippery, increase distance between cars. Double, and even triple, the recommended normal interval of one car length for every ten miles of speed.

5. In fog, use low beam headlights to throw light on road where it is needed. High beams are reflected back to the driver by the fog.

"Must" equipment during the winter months: snow tires, chains, sand, flashlight, shovel and flares. Check wiper blades, heater, defroster and muffler. Under storm conditions, avoid travel unless absolutely necessary.

Many Voters Lopped Of County List

Names of some 1,477 voters have been removed from the registration books, leaving a total of 28,527 registered voters, it was learned this week from Russell House, clerk in the Board of Election Supervisors office.

The names removed were of persons who have not voted in the past five years. The list was figured from the 1954 election. The "cleaning house of the books" which started following the November general election, removed from the registration books about 500 less than the number of persons removed from the books at the end of 1959. Some 2,000 names were stricken at that time.

The Democrats still have a considerable lead in the number of registered voters with 15,954. Democrats taken off the books total 835.

The Republicans now have 12,082 registered with 618 being taken off the books. The total of declines registered numbers 491 with 24 being taken off the books.

In the 1959 clearing of the books, 1,032 Democrats and 1,035 Republicans were erased.

Registered to vote for the November 8 general election were 30,004. About 22,400 persons voted. House in a breakdown of voting statistics said there are a total of 27,229 white persons registered compared with 1,298 colored persons. The white group includes 15,181 males and 13,346 females. The colored people have 1,105 Republicans registered and 179 Democrats and 14 who have declined party affiliation.

The "cleaning up" of the registration books at the end of the year is routine for election board workers. Under law, voters who have failed to exercise their voting franchise at least once during the five-year period are eliminated. It was explained that a number of those persons taken off the election books are deceased, or have left this county.

Battle Beyond The Andes

Peru Launches Jungle War Against Malaria

Beyond the Andes lies a part of Peru little known to outsiders — la selva, the jungle country on the western fringe of the great Amazon Basin.

Unlike the central highlands, this remote region boasts no famous sites of empire or battle. The pre-Columbian Incas spread their dominions along the Andean ridges and Simon Bolivar's liberating armies sealed the Republic's independence in the mountain meadows.

Yet it is in the selva that the Peruvian army is now at war with an enemy more entrenched than any the Incas or Bolivar faced in the Andes. The enemy is malaria.

Malaria has been a major problem here since the time of the conquistadores. Many experts hold it accountable for the region's under-development. For though it makes up 56 per cent of the national territory, the selva holds but 800,000 of Peru's 11 million citizens and has never pulled its own weight within the country's economy.

All that is changing now, however, thanks to an agreement between the army's "Jungle Brigade" and the National Malaria Service whereby the soldiers put aside rifles and took up sprays.

This campaign's aim is not merely to reduce the number
