BY ABIGAIL

My thoughts concur with those of President Kennedy regarding the action of the nation's steel companies this week when they announced a price increase of $6 a ton on steel. The action came as a distinct shock to all in the face of serious events the nation has faced and still is facing. The President was right in his condemnation of the action. Just recently the steel companies hood-winked the steel unions into signing a contract which called for fringe benefits but little or no money. Almost immediately after consummation of the contract the companies started gouging. It was the President's plan to try and stop this annual wage-price spiral and as a matter of fact he was making good headway the first year until this kick in the face came this week. The increase will add a billion dollars to the Nation's defense bill, it'll cost us more for cars, refrigerators, houses, appliances, machinery and tools and hundreds of other items. The rise is unwarranted and unjustified in the eyes of the Government and naturally the people. It appears that the raise is not one of necessity but sheer profiteering by a handful of greedy steel magnates who are doing the steel industry no good by their actions. Public resentment is running high and public relations of the companies are at a low ebb at this time not only with the populace in general but also the unions who were duped. It isn't a good thing for us to fight among ourselves but when this sort of thing springs up some remedial action must be taken. One course would be to lower the tariff on foreign steel which would quickly speed importation of that product to help keep in line our own companies who have sold us down the river of greed. This would hurt American investors and workers. Another angle undoubtedly will be explored by the Government and that is the anti-trust angle or monopoly. Price-fixing seems rampant within the industry and now would be the opportune time to look into the matter. It certainly isn't a healthy situation when one type of industry has almost complete control over the economy of the Nation. We should back up our President in any remedial action he might take to correct this gross injustice on the American public.

Frontier Club Hosts Politicos

Thirty members were present at the April meeting of the New Frontier Democratic Women's Club held Monday evening. Mrs. Jane Bollinger, president, presided. The following activities were planned for the near future. On Saturday, April 14, a luncheon will be held at the Peter Pan Inn in Urbana. Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant to the Secretary of Labor, will be the speaker. A number of the club members plan to attend the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner to be held in the Frederick armory on April 28. The first annual family picnic will be held Sunday, August 5, in Manor Park, Thurmont. The club reported 101 voters recently registered, of which 60 are Democrats. April 14 is the last date for registration in the primary. Guests of the club for this meeting were members of the Tawes' ticket. Although Governor Tawes was unable to be present, Mr. Robert Sweeney represented the Governor and Mr. Thomas Finan, Attorney General for Maryland. Mr. Thomas J. McKewen represented Louis Goldstein, comptroller. The club was honored to have these members of the Tawes ticket as its guest. They were introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Jane Nolan. The May meeting of the club will be held in the VFW Annex on Monday, May 14. Thirty county candidates will be present.

3 Candidates For Local Election

Apparently Emmitsburg's voters will have a selection of only three candidates when the annual Town Election is held Tuesday, April 24. Aspirants to the office of Burgess and Commissioner still have until tomorrow (Saturday) to file for either of the offices, should they choose.

Registrar Charles D. Gillelan reported this week there are 480 registered eligible voters on the list this year.

A tight race has developed for the office of Town Commissioner. The two aspirants are incumbent Commissioner J. Norman Flax seeking re-election and former Mayor Clarence G. Frailey, retired businessman and bank director. The only single candidate filing to date for Burgess is former Commissioner J. Allen Bouey.

Voting will be held in the Town Office near the Square and the polls will be open from 12 noon on Tuesday, April 24 until 7 p.m.

Firemen Plan Annual Drive

President John J. Hollinger presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall, 32 members in attendance. The president announced that the annual convention would be held in Hagerstown from June 27 thru June 29. Delegates named to attend the convention were Sterling White, Charles Stouter, John S. Hollinger, John J. Hollinger and George L. Danner. Alternates appointed were Guy R. McGlaughlin, Paul A. Keepers, James Fitzgerald, Patrick Zimmerman and Carroll Eyer.

Chief Sterling White reported that 10 fires had been handled since the last meeting a month ago. Of this number of fires, five were field fires, one car, one chimney, and two buildings. New members admitted to the organization were Henry and Roger Zurgable, Francis Arnold, Carroll Brown, Robert Hardman and Clarence Orndorff. Clarence Umbel and Ed Althoff were voted into permanent membership after serving the regular six months' probationary period.

President Hollinger appointed this committee to handle the 1962 financial drive: Chairman, Frank S. Topper, Guy R. McGlaughlin, John S. Hollinger, George L. Danner, John J. Hollinger, Guy A. Baker Sr., Charles F. Stouter and Patrick Zimmerman. The next meeting of the group will be held at 8 p.m. due to Daylight Saving Time.

The company has placed an order for two MSA air masks. In an effort to see that as many citizens as possible have home fire protection the firemen have purchased a quantity of 2½-lb. dry powder fire extinguishers and these will be on sale by members as of this week.

Chief Sterling White has released the following statistical report for 1961:

TAX DEADLINE MONDAY

Since the April 15th deadline for filing individual Federal income tax returns falls on Sunday this year, the filing date is automatically extended until Monday, April 16.

Bids Being Asked On Route 15 Improvements

The State Roads Commission is asking for bids on building a section of Route 15 north which will join the Thurmont and Lewistown by-passes.

Bids on the 3.2 miles of highway will be accepted at the SRC offices in Baltimore until May 1 when they will be opened and read.

When completed, the new section of road will provide motorists with a relatively new highway from south of Lewistown to just south of Emmitsburg.

Thomas G. Mohler, District Engineer for the SRC, said the section of new highway will parallel the present Route 15 most of the distance.

The strip of highway will connect with the Lewistown by-pass project which was completed last fall and lead northward to the east of the present highway until it reaches the southern end of Catoctin Furnace.

The road will then cross present U. S. 15 and go west of the existing road, eliminating the sharp curves there and eventually connect with the southern end of the Thurmont by-pass which was opened in December, 1957.

Mr. Mohler said that work on the project, which calls for grading and draining as well as construction of the highway, should get underway this summer. It was also reported that work on the Catoctin Relocation connecting Route 340 with the new bridge over Catoctin Creek was started on Monday by the Richard F. Kline firm. This improvement is expected to be ready for traffic by December 1, Mr. Mohler said.

Teachers Will Seek Higher Salaries

The school board staff has been instructed by the Frederick County Board of Education to prepare a new teachers' salary schedule which might be adopted here to help cope with the higher salaries being offered by neighboring counties.

Dr. Quentin L. Earhart, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, told the board it is becoming increasingly difficult to recruit new teachers because of the salary schedule which is now in effect here.

"We are facing a critical problem and salary is a major factor," Dr. Earhart stated. He told the members that even Carroll County has increased the teacher salary schedule to a point where it is more than this county's.

Just last year a two-step salary schedule improvement was granted here but before the second step is put into effect, the schedule is proving to be outdated.

The beginning teachers' salary was increased by $300 to $4,300 a year last September. The second phase of the salary adjustment which will affect the career teachers is not scheduled to go into effect until this September. By comparison, Dr. Earhart said that Carroll County is offering a beginning salary of $4,500 and a maximum of $7,000. The maximum in that neighboring county can be reached after 14 years, whereas, under the Frederick County set-up, it takes 17 years to reach the top of the salary scale.

Beginning salary in Washington County this year is expected to be $4,400 or $4,500, Dr. Earhart said. And to the south, Montgomery County has always had a higher salary scale than Frederick County.

Dr. Earhart stressed to the members that not only is it becoming more difficult to recruit good teachers, he said some of the county's better teachers are expected to leave the system to accept higher paying positions in neighboring counties.

Although it is too late to make any salary increases this year since the local budgets have already been prepared, the staff is to formulate a new salary schedule which might be included in next year's budget.

Library Reopening Huge Success

The Emmitsburg Public Library held its open house Saturday, April 7 from 2 to 5 p.m. to celebrate its reopening. April showers failed to dampen the spirits of those who braved the rain to see the library, receive their cards and borrow books. A total of 91 received library cards Saturday. By the close of the library Monday evening 134 had received cards. It is hoped that many more will take advantage of National Library Week April 8-14 to renew their library privileges at our library in its new location. Card No. 1 was reserved for Miss Louise Sebald in recognition for her many years of service to the library.

It might be well to mention again that this is a FREE library. THERE ARE NO DUES AND NO MEMBERSHIP FEES! Many have inquired about the cost of joining the library. There is positively no cost involved.

Two lovely spring bouquets arranged by Mrs. Andrew Eyster, were received from the Silver Fancy Garden Club, with congratulations upon the reopening of the library. Cookies and punch were served.

Among the many persons who visited the library were Mrs. C. Burton Cannon, Jr., wife of the County Commissioner; Mrs. Donald Woods, wife of the candidate for County Treasurer; Mrs. George B. Stup, wife of the candidate for Clerk of the Court.

At the time of the reopening all fiction books were on the shelves. Cataloguing of non-fiction books has not yet been completed. Children's books were arranged attractively on shelves in the children's room so that even the preschool children could pick out the books they might want.

Many new books, have been received on loan from the Burr Artz Library in Frederick and are a real addition and asset to our own collection. The Frederick library also presented a variety of fascinating children's books to the local library.

Library hours are: Monday,

Wednesday and Friday, 7:30-9 p.m.; and Saturday morning, 9:30 to 12 noon. Please use the library now that it is open. Those who would like to volunteer for work in the library may call Mrs. John Chatlos, HI 7-2270, Mrs. Paul Beale, HI 7-5493, Mrs. Gilbert Oddo, HI 7-3764, Mrs. William Ryder, HI 7-2292 or just drop in at the library and mention your interest to the person in charge. If enough volunteer each person would only be called upon about once every three weeks for an hour and a half.

It seems appropriate here to give a bit of credit to those who have helped and will continue to aid this project.

To Mr. George Baker who spent many hours installing the shelves at cost; to Bernard Ott Jr., who gave a good price on refinishing the floor and did the work promptly; to Ralph McDonnell who installed the wiring and lighting fixtures; to the VFW who will pay $15 monthly toward the rent; to the American Legion who will pay $10 monthly toward the rent and loaned two large tables to the library; to Marvin Laws who organized the cataloguing and arrangement of the books; to Dr. Paul Carter of the Emmitsburg Pharmacy for his interest in the library and help in being "keeper of the key"; to the Senior Girl Scouts who have made the library a civic project; to the volunteer workers who have worked hard and long and will continue to donate time and ability (these people are the backbone of our organization); to the County Board of Education who loaned indefinitely 12 children's chairs, a table and a desk; to Saint Joseph College who donated eight chairs and a desk; to all those who donated and will donate books; to Miss Etchison of the Frederick Library who has done so much to help us; to all those interested persons who have encouraged the project and last but not least, to the Jaycees who gave the library a good start, particularly George L. Danner, Mayor Edward Houck and Robert Simpson.

Twenty members and five guests were in attendance at the meeting. Guests were from Carroll Manor and Taneytown. Lions Norman Shriver and Delbert Piper were named alternates to delegates to the annual district convention to be held in Atlantic City, N. J., next month.

It was unanimously agreed to entertain the championship teams of Mount St. Mary's College and Emmitsburg High School at a dinner to be held on either May 7 or 14 the date to be determined by a committee.

Nominations for office were as follows: President, Joseph W. Sullivan; first vice president, Joseph M. Haley; second vice president, Delbert Piper; third vice president, Edgar L. Annan, Jr.; secretary-treasurer, Robert A. Seidel Sr.; taitwister, William D. Smith; liontamer, Norman Shriver; director, Francis S. K. Matthews. Additional nominations can be made at the next meeting following which the election will be held.

EGG HUNT

Emmitsburg children will be treated to an egg hunt Easter Sunday afternoon by the Emmitsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658.

The egg hunt is an annual affair sponsored by the local service club and attracts many hundreds of local kiddies. Bernard Ott, Jr., general chairman of the hunt, announces the event will get under way promptly at 2:30 o'clock Easter Sunday. Ninety dozens of eggs will be prepared and quite a number of them will be "money" eggs, meaning they can be redeemed for small sums of money following the hunt. In addition candy will be distributed. The affair will be held on Community Field.

Democrats Lead

There could well be a record number of persons registered to vote in the May 15 primary, judging by the pre-election interest being shown in Frederick County in registrations.

As of last Friday each political party showed a gain of more than 500 voters registered for this primary as compared with those registered after the primary in May of 1960. Even the "declines" showed an increase.

By mid-afternoon Friday the Democrats had a total of 16,188 registered to vote in the primary, with a number of others registering later in the afternoon.

Registered to vote as Republicans were 12,120 with more Republicans also showing up too late to be counted in this figure, according to Russell House, a clerk at the Board of Election Supervisors office.

As of May 31, 1960—a post-primary figure—there were 15,441 Democrats registered and 11,476 Republicans. There were 508 declines registered as of the Friday count, compared with 404 declines listed in 1960. A "decline" is a person who registers to vote, but does not affiliate with any political party.

The current registrations for each party are expected to increase considerably more with the registration deadline April 14.

The Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House has been kept busy with the clerks even taking "night work" at home.

The deadline for registering to vote in the May 15 primary is Saturday, April 14. The Board of Election office will be open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. this week, and will also be open on Saturday to accommodate late registrants.

Explaining that they are always busy around election time, the clerks said they thought a goodly portion of the increase in registration could be attributed to the registrations now being held in the county districts. It is thought that this is the first time in the history of the primary elections here that a special effort has been made for pre-primary registration in the districts. This practice is generally restricted to the registration period preceding the general election.

The years 1960 was a presidential election year and apparently interest was somewhat less for the primary and general election, judging by registration figures for the preceding "local" election. The last election here in which persons selected county and state officials was in 1958.

Immediately following the May 1958 primary there were a total of 28,544 registered voters. The Democrats having 15,756 and the Republicans having 12,782.

The total number registered after the May primary in 1960 was 27,321. The current registration figures are already ahead of the 1958 post-primary figure by 272.

Btrons can expect the primary registration figure to be upped by about 2,000 between the primary and the general election judging by experience in registrations in previous years.

For instance, between May of 1958 and the general election, the registration figure had increased to 29,716.

Between the May 1960 primary and the general election in November the registration had increased some 2,600 with more than 30,000 registered to vote.

Then the total registration was lowered by 1,477 voters in the general clearance of registration books in 1961. Each year following an election (the odd years) the Board of Election Supervisors clears the registration books of all persons who have not voted in five years.

The Democrats have customarily carried a 4,000 or so majority in registration over the Republicans. This lead by the Democrats has not showed much change over the years.

Public Hearing On County Dam Set

A recent proposal by the Corps of Engineer for a series of dams on the tributaries of the Potomac River; one of which is located west of Six's Bridge on the Monocacy River, will be the subject of a public meeting called by the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission. The Commission has scheduled this meeting for April 19, 1962, at 8 p.m. in the North Frederick Elementary School, Frederick.

Because this proposed dam affects between 75 and 100 property owners in this area of Frederick County, the Planning Commission has personally invited those persons whose property will be flooded by the contemplated dam. The meeting, however, is public and all citizens are invited.

Of immediate concern to the County Planners is the amount of farm land and dwellings, both farm and private, which must be sacrificed in order to build this dam. Figures released by the Corps of Engineers indicate that the conservation pool which would be the normal impoundment on the 375 foot mean sea level line would flood approximately 3500 acres. The maximum water level (which represents flood level), at 388 feet mean sea level, would flood 5,480 acres. This would also include a taking of about 83 homes, both farm and non-farm.

A study of the Potomac River Basin issued by the U. S. Army Engineers, North Atlantic Division, in November 1961, purported that four basic plans were being considered for the orderly development of the water resources of the Potomac Basin over the next fifty years. The Monocacy Dam is a part of all of these four plans. The study also indicates that one of the primary purposes of the Monocacy Dam is low flow augmentation and recreation. It lists as a chief advantage to the area a high recreational potential and admits that one of the chief disadvantages is the appreciable loss of agricultural land.

This proposed impoundment is out of eleven smaller dams on the Potomac tributaries augmenting the large dam at River Bend, and is currently favored by the Corps.

The Senate Committee on Public Works, in a resolution dated January 26, 1956, authorized the Corps of Engineers to undertake a new study of the Potomac River Basin. This time the Corps was directed to prepare a basin-wide plan for flood control, recreation, the development and conservation of municipal and industrial water supplies, and for water quality control.

Daniel E. Wight, Chairman of the Planning group, who will also chair the public meeting on April 19, expressed a desire to determine the reactions of our citizens to this proposal so that the local Planning body can draft a recommendation which will adequately express the views of the local populace.

Representatives of the District Corps of Engineers will also be present at the meeting to answer questions.

15 Properties Sold For Taxes

Fifteen properties in the county were sold at public sale at the Court House Monday in the annual sale of properties on which back taxes are owed.

About 75 persons crowded into the Court House corridor to escape the rain as Glenn Trout auctioned off the properties to the highest bidder.

The highest bid offered Monday was $3,100 for a property in Doubs while the lowest was $47 for a property in Bartonville. Several persons purchased more than one property.

Mrs. Charlotte W. Yarroll, County Treasurer, who advertised the properties, issued Certificates of Sale to the purchaser after the bidding had ended. The owners of the properties which were "sold" still have a year to pay the taxes before they lose title to the real estate. Amos A. Holter served as attorney for the Treasurer.

The only Emmitsburg District property sold was an 8-acre tract of mountain land, unimproved, belonging to Dan S. Crabbs, for $850.

TWENTY YANKS STEAL LOCOMOTIVE IN GEORGIA

By Lon K. Savage

A train idled in the little station at Big Shanty in northwestern Georgia on a drizzly morning 100 years ago this week. Inside the station, the train's crew was having breakfast. Confederate soldiers milled around.

Suddenly, with a violent hiss of steam and a puff of smoke, the train's locomotive bounded forward and roared out of the station toward Chattanooga, its tender and three boxcars in tow. The crew ran out to see their locomotive, the "General", disappearing from sight. The Great Locomotive Chase was on.

Inside the cab that April 12 was Capt. James J. Andrews, Union spy who had planned the daring locomotive theft to cut the vital Georgia State Railroad between Atlanta and Chattanooga. Three volunteers were in the cab with him, and bouncing around in a boxcar behind were 16 more Union soldier volunteers.

North of Big Shanty, the Yanks stopped, tore up the tracks behind them, cut telegraph wires and loaded on crossties for burning bridges later on.

Thirty miles farther, at Kingston, Ga., they were forced to take a sidetrack while other trains passed. For 65 painful minutes they waited, the 16 in the boxcar listening nervously to the southern voices outside. Andrews protested angrily, claiming he had to get a cargo of powder to Confederate forces at Corinth.

Pursuit Begins

Meanwhile, trouble was coming from behind. Two men from the original train, Conductor William A. Fuller and Atlanta railwayman Anthony Murphy had set out in pursuit running on foot from Big Shanty. They had found a handcar and pursued aboard it until thrown over an embankment when the vehicle hit the track Andrews' men had torn up. Then they found a steamed up locomotive and, with wheels flying, set out again.

Fuller and Murphy pulled into Kingston minutes after Andrews had left. Unable to get through the tangle of trains, they ran through the station on foot, commandeered a second locomotive and were off again.

Four miles beyond Kingston, Andrews' men stopped to cut telegraph wires and tear up track when they heard the whistle of the pursuing train. Quickly they broke the track, leaped on the "General" and were gone.

Fuller and Murphy stopped again by the broken track, commandeered a third locomotive beyond the break and set out again at full speed—this time in reverse.

Confederates Sighted

Farther ahead, as Andrews sped out of the Adairsville station, his men saw the Confederate train, loaded with armed soldiers, coming up behind. It was a race to the end.

Mile after mile the two locomotives raced. The Yanks dropped crossties on the track to stop their pursuer. Once, the Confederates' locomotive struck a crosstie and seemed to bounce into air, but it landed on the tracks and sped on. The Yanks, now fleeing for their lives, whizzed across the bridges they were supposed to destroy, having no time to stop.

Once, the Yanks set their hindmost boxcar afire, uncoupled it and left it inside a covered bridge. But the Southerners' locomotive darted forward and pushed the flaming boxcar off the bridge, then onto a sidetrack, and the chase continued.

Finally, after 82 miles, the "General" ran out of fuel—and steam. The Yanks scattered into the woods, and the chase was over. Eventually, all the raiders were captured. Andrews and seven others were executed as spies. Eight others broke out of prison and escaped to the North, and the rest were released in an exchange of prisoners in 1863.

Next week: Big Days on the Peninsula.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Who'll Be The Ninth?

Nominations for the three races making up the American Triple Crown—the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes—close on February 15 and the Triple Crown hopefuls among the 11,535 foals of 1959 will narrow down to perhaps 100. The term Triple Crown, created by the sportswriters, was made official in 1950 when the Directors of Thoroughbred Racing Associations commissioned Carters, Inc. to create a trophy to be presented retroactively to the owners of the only eight horses to win this trio of events. Last year the casually bred, but anything but casual racer, Carry Back, appeared likely to become the ninth Triple Crown winner, but in the Belmont Stakes he rapped an ankle and finished unplaced. The TRA trophy went back to the vault and Carry Back went to the sidelines for two months. Total take home pay for Sir Barton for becoming the first Triple Crown winner in 1919 was $57,275. Citation, the last horse to turn the trick, earned $252,970 for the three races in 1948. If one of this year's crop of 3-year-olds proves to be the ninth Triple Crown winner he'll net in the neighborhood of $400,000, his share of the $125,000 which both Churchill Downs and Belmont Park put up and the $150,000 which is added to the Preakness by Pimlico. Other Triple Crown winners have been the late William Woodward's father-son combine of Gallant Fox (1930) and Omaha (1935); Man o' War's good son, War Admiral (1937); Calumet Farm's Whirlaway, (1941); Mrs. John D. Hertz' Count Fleet, (1944) and Robert J. Kleberg's Assault, (1946).

Mahoney Answers 'Slander' Charge

The following is a statement by George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for Governor, on the charge of slander by Prudential Savings & Loan Association.

"Any legal action for slander by Prudential Savings & Loan Association is a ridiculous grandstand play, in view of the facts surrounding the company. Actual court records disclose these facts:

"Last year, after investigation by the office of the Attorney General of New York State, the officers and directors of Prudential—including Philip W. Tawes, son of the Governor—were ordered to appear before a Justice of the New York State Supreme Court on March 30, 1961. They were further ordered to bring with them all business records, advertisements and other documents relating to their activities.

"The reason for the order was that the Attorney General of New York was preparing to file a charge of fraudulent advertising against Prudential for using the initials S.F.I.C. These initials stand for Security Financial Insurance Corporation—among the incorporators of which are two close cronies and political henchmen of Governor Tawes himself; A. Gordon Boone, Tawes' hand-picked majority floor leader of the House of Delegates and James A. Pine, Tawes' hand-picked majority floor leader of the Senate.

"At the time the New York authorities began to take action against Prudential and I might say action that should have been taken long ago by the Tawes administration, the following statement was made by Mr. Claude Gerard, President of the Prudential:

"Our literature and advertising are clear, factual and forthright."

"Needless to say, Girard flatly denied the charges of fraud and misrepresentation made by the New York authorities. But as the law closed in on him, Gerard changed his tune for reasons he has never disclosed.

"This is what the New York authorities had to say as shown in the legal records of the Supreme Court on the Prudential Savings & Loan Association:

"Prudential Savings and Loan Association, Inc. advertised in a fraudulent and misleading manner in a national magazine, circulated in the State of New York, that each account was 'insured' to $20,000 'against loss automatically and constantly by S.F.I.C.' As the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation is sometimes referred to as the 'S.L.I.C.' this practice by Prudential Savings & Loan Association, Inc. is obviously misleading. The only commercial savings and loan association known to this office to have the initial 'S.F.I.C.' which operates out of Baltimore Md., is the Security Financial Insurance Corporation."

"The use of the term 'insured' together with the unidentified letters 'S.F.I.C.', is a fraudulent and misleading technique aimed at deluding the unwary to believe that the insurance is carried by the Federal 'S.L.I.C.' Nowhere in the advertisement, a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof as exhibit 'A', is there any clarification that the claimed insurance is by a commercial company rather than an agency of the United States of America."

"To continue this story, Gerard and his associates in the Prudential Savings & Loan Association, chose not to reveal their business records to the Supreme Court.

"In order to avoid prosecution—and thus to avoid full disclosures of their records and activities—Gerard meekly consented to an injunction issued by the Supreme Court prohibiting Prudential Savings & Loan Association from further engaging in practices considered fraudulent and misleading.

"In view of the fraud charges brought against Prudential Savings & Loan Association—which Gerard did not dispute—the slander suit against me is absurd.

"In view of the facts listed above and the characters involved, it obviously is a politically motivated action, directed against me in this campaign by persons who fear my bringing the true facts about the frightful Savings & Loan scandal to the people of Md.

"These facts have been documented and reported in newspapers in major cities and national magazines.

"This lawsuit opens the doors wide to a complete disclosure of the records and activities of this association. The legal authorities were deprived of the opportunity of investigating Prudential Savings & Loan because Gerard eagerly chose the easy way out. I welcome the chance to fully explore the entire workings of it and perhaps other associations by means of the procedures authorized by the rules of the courts of Maryland. I intend to go into every facet of this company's operations and have instructed my counsel to take the sworn testimony from the officers and directors of Prudential Savings & Loan Association, including Philip W. Tawes.

"This suit will lift the veil of secrecy behind which many of the state chartered associations have operated. Some of them have been able to fleece over 40,000 people out of more than $30,000,000 while the Tawes administration has yet to send a single person to jail.

"I shall not be stopped by the threats of such people from cleaning up the savings & loan mess. I shall continue the fight for the people of Maryland, confident that they are behind me in this campaign—and will be in the primary on May 15.

SPEAKING & CARDS

POKER SQUARES

Among people who play cards only occasionally and even among those who classify themselves as avid Bridge, Poker or Pinochle players, there comes a time when they want to try something new and different. There are a number of games recommended by card experts as a "change of pace" and one of the best of these is the game called Poker Squares.

Poker Squares is the game of Poker Solitaire adapted to a large number of players. It is a game of skill but one that generates great enthusiasm among those playing it for the first time. Any number may play but each must have one pack of cards. One player is appointed "caller" in each round and the turn to call rotates around the table. As the caller shuffles his pack, each player sorts his own pack into suits so as to be able to locate any named card quickly.

The non-playing "caller" then turns up the first 25 cards from the top of the pack, one by one, calling aloud the suit and rank of each card. Each player takes the called card from his own pack and places it in a square array (see diagram) five cards wide and five deep. A player may put his card wherever he wishes within the square and, indeed, the whole game consists in placing them to best advantage. However, once a card is laid down within a square, it may not be moved. After the 25th card is called, the player having the highest count wins the game.

The object of the game, of course, is to arrange the cards so that the most valuable Poker combinations are made in rows, across and up and down. Diagonal rows do not count.

After the square is completed the player counts up his total score. Each Poker combination has its own point value as follows: Royal flush (ace high straight flush) 100; straight flush (numerical sequence in one suit) 75; four of a kind 50; full house (one pair, one triplet) 25; flush (five cards in one suit) 20; straight (five cards in numerical sequence) 15; triplet (three of a kind) 10; two pair (two sets of two of a kind) 5; one pair (two of a kind) 2.

Looking Ahead

...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Selway, Arkansas

Let America Move Ahead
After nearly 30 years of trial and error with government planning, is it not time to recognize that our "managed" economy has failed to achieve the wonders it promised? President Franklin D. Roosevelt sought to overcome the depression by "pump priming," deficit spending, economic leveling through high taxes, "trust busting," and government protection of union activity. All of these policies and others tended to make private enterprise the villain and profits immoral. Government planning was the Sir Galahad that would rout the depression and bring full employment.

Yet full employment, except during the war and immediately afterwards, never came. Unemployment remained at 8 million or more until World War II, and even today it amounts to more than half that number or nearly 6 per cent of the nation's work force. Although we in the U. S. have a perennial unemployment problem, the industrialized nations in Western Europe are experiencing labor shortages. Some of them are importing workers from other countries. Even Japan has full employment.

New Turn At Hand?
In a masterful article that explores this problem under the heading "A Prosperity Formula That Has Failed" in its March 5 issue, the U. S. News and World Report suggests that official questioning is being done in the Kennedy Administration about some of the original concepts of the New Frontier. It notes that officials are now saying what businessmen have been saying—without getting a hearing—for 30 years. Profits are now referred to as important, tax policies are being suggested that would stimulate investment, and unions are being cautioned to use restraint in bargaining.

The article goes on to explain that the turn of official ideas has come simply because: "A set of policies that dominated official attitudes for an entire generation has turned out not to produce the promised results." We have been forced to watch more and more American products being priced out of the markets. We have watched American business set up large operations abroad and expand rapidly where the climate for expansion is more attractive than it is at home.

To Speed Growth
Noted in today's fast-growing nations are other developments that provide a marked contrast to slow-growing America. These include tax laws that bear down less heavily on business and individual income and encourage more investment and risk-taking than the laws of the U. S. Labor unions abroad have usually been restrained enough to avoid pushing up costs that force prices higher. Instead of government hostility toward business, a good measure of co-operation has existed in these fast-growing economies. Making a profit is looked upon in these countries as a legitimate goal of business.

Staff members of U. S. News and World Report then went out to ask the nation's businessmen what policies continue to place handicaps on this country's growth. Their consensus: "Broad changes are urgently needed in U. S. policies—from tax and labor laws to antitrust laws. More must be done to stimulate private investment, encourage business to expand. Only in this way, it is held, will enough jobs be created to take care of the nation's fast-growing work force."

Profits Biggest Worry
They found the greatest single worry was the failure of profits to expand, a picture which remains largely unchanged over a ten-year period. Profits in relation to sales have continued to slide downward, even though sales have risen substantially. Employment costs have advanced more than 90 per cent, and other costs have also increased. High tax rates are an obstacle to growth when they drain off funds that should go out for investment. Another complaint: labor monopolies are encouraged but no opportunity is lost to harass business under the antitrust laws.

The article goes on down the line, reporting opinions as to what's causing our lack of growth directly from those who are in a position to know: the nation's businessmen. Needed: less regulation and control, more favorable business "climate," healthier attitudes toward work, a sound dollar and balanced budgets. President Kennedy is said to be an avid reader of current periodicals, including U. S. News and World Report. I hope he did not miss this particular article and that he marked it for all his advisors to read.

Those who established the United States would be amazed at what it is today.

Taxes have existed since the beginning of recorded history.

Career Notes

By RUTH WADE RAY*

The time when America's high school graduates will march down the aisle and into their chosen careers is near at hand. But career selection begins (or should) long before graduation. We find that creative people often do not understand how to put their talent to use.

Since Ray Vogue is the oldest professional arts school in the nation, many high school graduates come to me for advice. I tell them how we decided upon our six varied courses which utilize creative ability and prepare talented students for business success.

CREATIVE ABILITY
Dress Design      Photography
Interior Decoration      Commercial Art
Fashion Merchandising      Fashion Illustration
Graduates of our two-year course in interior decoration are placed in jobs with specialty and furniture houses, decorating firms and publications around the country.

Commercial art grads go into the art department of publishing or advertising companies while a one-year course in photography paves the way for careers in commercial, illustrative or portrait photography. The fascinating fashion industry welcomes graduates of our fashion courses dress design (two years), fashion merchandising (one year) or fashion illustration (two years).

Heart Patient Can Create Own Climate

Here's the ideal year-round weather forecast for heart patients and others who've got to watch their weather: "Sunny, warm, minimum of abrupt temperature changes, no prolonged hot or cold spells, moderate relative humidity."

So says Louis A. Kapp, M.D., and Dr. James K. McGuire, U.S. Weather Bureau climatologist, in an article for G.P., a professional medical journal. Although they agree that a warmer climate is beneficial to sufferers of various types of heart diseases, they warn that excessive summer heat and wide temperature extremes place too great a strain on the heart. Does this seemingly utopian climate exist in the United States? Not exactly, according to the authors, but some areas come pretty close. Among them are Florida, southeastern California and southern Arizona. But even in these areas there are weather changes detrimental to some patients. During hot weather, the authors emphasize, an efficient cooling system is essential and heart patients are advised to remain indoors at least part of the time. One permanent and convenient solution to the problem of heat waves and high humidity is proper air conditioning. The installation of room air conditioners in a house could make year-round residence suitable in a hot and humid climate. Not only will a room air conditioner make inside temperatures comfortable, but it will also rid rooms of excess humidity. Doctors Kapp and McGuire have this advice for the aged as well as for patients with heart conditions: "Those who spend only the winters in a warm climate should not return to a cold environment too early (generally not before mid-April); they should do it gradually, with a short stop-over in a moderate climate if possible."

Taking Baby Calling

There are some children who are just wonderful when going calling. They are no cause for trouble, concern or embarrassment. There are others, though, who seem to have the knack of turning a social visit into a nightmare for both you and your hosts.

We have one of each in our home. Our son, when he was little, had the patience of Job. Given a small toy he would quietly amuse himself for hours. Even without a toy he seemed to have the ability to keep himself entertained and out of mischief.

Our daughter, when she was a toddler, was a terror. She was adept at emptying bookcases, dresser drawers and kitchen cabinets in seconds. She once spent all of an afternoon visit standing on her head in a corner of a couch to our embarrassment and the consternation of our hosts.

Now that both are grown, we can look back and from our experience offer several suggestions that might help readers be welcome visitors when they take baby calling.

1. Teach your child good behavior when you're at home. Never try to do it while visiting someone else's home.

2. Wait until you get home to discipline your child. People find it embarrassing to watch another's child being punished. Should your child misbehave, speak to him quietly and divert his attention by starting him on something new. Being irritated and losing your temper will not endear you to your hosts.

3. Be concerned with what your child is up to. Never permit a situation to develop in which your hosts are forced to scold your child.

4. Anticipate what your child might be up to. If he's headed for a serving tray full of cups of tea and pieces of cake, get there before he does. Avoid trouble by keeping an eye on him.

5. Most children do not have the patience to sit still for hours while adults chat. Take along a small unbreakable toy for him to play with. Let him look through magazines and wander around within your sight.

6. Keep a small collection of baby's toys in homes of friends and relatives you visit frequently. Children delight in rediscovering familiar toys and even look forward to visiting in anticipation of the toys they'll find.

7. When your child is tired and irritable, bring your visit to an end and take him home.

SPORTING TIPS

Start Carping

Smart, cantankerous, slippery-lipped, cunning old carp this time of year go crazy. Love is their undoing, the gay devils. When you see them rolling close to shore try this trick. Popcorn is the key. Fling a few handfuls of it over the water and retreat until the carp begin to feed. Bait a tiny (No. 8 but strong) hook on an equally tiny monofilament leader. Let the Judas popcorn float out where you saw the fish... and Watch Out. They will fight like demons. Ain't love grand!

Boot Repair

A roll of electrician's tape... which you should have had in your shooting jacket because its uses are multiple... should now be transferred to your fishing jacket. Partial list of uses: Repair boots and waders (temporary), fix fishing pole (temporary), hold glasses on in high winds (temporary), Ersatz band-aid (temporary), splice electrical wire (permanent).

Gap Sparkplug

Did you know an ordinary pin is an effective measuring device to regap a sparkplug in an emergency?

Shearpin Repair

And there are a couple of ways to come home when your shear pin breaks and you haven't (shame on you) taped another on the handle. One way: Take pieces out carefully, replace long piece first, then the two short pieces. It will hold at low speeds. Other way: Your belt buckle will do the job and has more power. Use fishing pliers to cut and shape. Line Too Big, Hook Too Small

Sure, you've tried to thread a big line into a little eye on a hook. Especially with numb fingers life can quickly get to the not worth living point. Try this: Heat the eye with a match, before it cools slip line through. Just enough burns away to make it thread easily.

And the same match will put a torn plastic or rubber eel back in shape. Heat makes the material run together.

New Way To Lace Boots

Here's an interesting wrinkle on keeping laces tied in boots as your plow through briars and brush: Lace up to the last hole in conventional manner. Then push a loop through the top eye, instead of lace end. Do the same on the other side and pull the ends through the opposite loops. Tighten to comfort then tie in back. Never come loose, yet unties in a jiffy.

(Try for a $50 prize. Send your tip to the A.A. Contest, Sports Affield, 950 8th Ave., N. Y. 19, N.Y.)

To Offer Adult Civil Defense Course

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., State Supt. of Schools, announced recently that the Maryland State Board of Education has accepted a contract from the U. S. Office of Education to offer a civil defense adult education program in the State. A State Coordinator of Civil Defense Adult Education has been appointed to the staff of the adult education section of the State Department of Education. The Coordinator, with the cooperation and assistance of the local school Superintendents and their adult education supervisors, will prepare qualified teachers in each local school system, through a training course, to give instruction to adult students in personal and community preparedness. The need for civil defense; the total national civil defense effort; the effects of nuclear weapons (particularly fallout); the effects of chemical, biological, and ceroid conventional weapons; the principles of protective measures against these effects; the national warning system; the national shelter program; and other Department of Defense national training programs will be explained and discussed. State and local government civil defense disaster plans and programs will be examined and a considerable portion of the total course will be devoted to personal and family survival plans and action. The adult course is twelve hours in length and usually will be given in two-hour sessions, meeting once a week for a six-week period. There is no charge for the instruction, and no tests or examinations are required. An adult who attends the full twelve-hour course will receive a certificate of completion.

Colossal Auto Show At N.Y. Coliseum

The 1962 Sixth Annual International Automobile Show, April 21-29, at the New York Coliseum will be the World's largest automobile show ever held, according to Charles Snitow, president.

In a spectacular presentation, cars from every major automotive producing nation, England (as shown above), France, Germany, Holland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Sweden and every new American car will be on display, as well as new motor scooters, motorcycles and accessories. The latest styling, engineering and craftsmanship developments, a host of new experiments, future dream cars and the new "Concours d'Elegance," an impressive collection of classic and antique cars of all times, will be viewed by visitors.

Each year the International Auto Show exceeds the number of models displayed and breaks its own attendance record.

As One Home Run King To Another

Two World Series heroes—but one had never seen a big league club. That's Eddie Mathews, on the left, one of the National League's all-time home run sluggers, playing host in spring training to young Michael Salvatore, El Cajon, Calif. Mike, star of the 1961 Little League World Series, who had no trouble recognizing the Milwaukee Braves' third baseman from his collection of baseball trading cards from cereal boxes, was seeing a major league club in action for the first time.

Pitcher, home run hitter, World Series hero—that's Michael Salvatore of El Cajon, Calif. But he'd never seen a major league club until this spring. The California youngster, just turned 13, was the star of the Little League World Series last year. He pitched two no-hitters in the Championship tourney, batted .662 in 14 tournament games en route to the world title, and slammed out 12 homers in the 22-game regular season and five in the tournament—including a last-inning four-bagger that won the title for his El Cajon nine.

This spring, Mike got his World Series wish—a chance to see major leaguers in action, as he toured four Florida training camps of big league clubs. With part of his trading card collection, clipped from cereal boxes, and showing some 200 major league hitters and their records, tucked away in his back pocket, Mike had no trouble in spotting his major league idols—such as home-run king and third baseman Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves.

At each of the four clubs—the brand-new New York Mets, the league champion Cincinnati Reds, the colorful St. Louis Cardinals, and the Braves—he received a cordial reception and valuable playing tips from the ballplayers. Mike's reaction after a week of visiting with the major leaguers was:

"One thing my baseball trading cards didn't tell me—they're all such wonderful guys!"

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON
 Babson Discusses New Ways To Make A Million

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 12—When a young person has a really useful idea and takes it to a large concern to make and promote, he is often discouraged when it is turned down. This is because the head of the company asks only two questions: (1) Is it a new idea? (2) Will it sell? Unless it passes both tests, the big company will not bother with it. However, there is always an opportunity for a young person with selling ability and persistence to start his own business.

The Gerber Products Company When I was a young man, my wife cooked certain foods which she gave to our baby daughter during the weaning period. Only within the last forty years has anyone manufactured "baby foods" to save the housewife work. A young man named Gerber when graduating from Babson Institute, told me that his family was interested in this idea. Soon he went to Fremont, Michigan and developed the sales of the business.

The big food companies began to compete with him. He, however, with persistence and enthusiasm, kept ahead of them. Today "Gerber Baby Foods" are known all over the U. S. and in many European countries. The big food concerns had had generations to manufacture baby food, but it took Daniel F. Gerber to make a million from this idea.

A Fish Chowder Idea Being a Gloucester boy, I always like a chowder every Friday made from haddock. Today, this haddock must be caught, iced, and brought into Gloucester. There it is filleted. These fillets contain only 40% of the food value; the head, skin, and bones make up the other 60%. These fillets are frozen or canned to sell for making fish chowder. Someday some young person will capitalize on the idea of grinding up the entire fish and making "condensed" fish, just as Mr. Borden made the first condensed milk. Instead of having only 40% of the nutrient it will have the entire 100%. When I speak to my Gloucester friends about this they reply: "We are too busy with frozen and canned fish; let some young person make this into a million-dollar business."

Every reader of this column should have a little stock in one of the drug companies which are working on two wonder chemicals—D.N.A. and R.N.A. Many chemists believe they will lengthen the normal life span many years and perhaps sometime create life itself. The drug companies are also working on a pill which will improve the intellect, the judgment, or the memory of a person. I am certain that our present methods of education will be revolutionized by these new drugs. Here is another opportunity for a young person to make a million.

Selling Wood For Food At present, only termites and a few other animals can digest the cellulose of trees now in our forests. The Hercules Powder Company is dissolving this cellulose into a liquid that humans can digest. This will be the basis of a great new industry. Wise is the young person who becomes an expert on cellulose.

I once asked Thomas A. Edison what he would like to do if he had all the time he needed. He replied: "Make a cold light. My incandescent light consumes too much electricity as heat. I hate to think of the firefly being able to do something that man cannot do!" He was also much interested in birds. He said: "Birds are the only natural resource (other than gravity) that has not been harnessed. The land, water, sun, forests . . . all are the foundation of great industries." He believed that someday birds will be trained to forecast the weather and do other wonderful things. No large companies will bother with this, but it offers great opportunities for young people.

Automation And Electronics? I have not discussed these two subjects because they are so publicized in magazines and on the stock exchange. I am interested only in new ideas which will develop into "big money" for those with courage and ability. I like to call them our "sleeping giants."

It would be unfair for me to close without referring (again) to a book entitled "IDEAS" by Clinton Woods of 2803 Goodwood Rd., Baltimore, Md. Cost: $5.75 postpaid. He describes over 200 ideas which some young person has had the initiative to develop into big business.

The first newspaper beyond the Appalachians was the Pittsburgh Gazette founded in 1786 by John Scull and Joseph Hall.

To Vote For Two Candidates For Congress

Every Maryland voter, Republican and Democratic alike, will be—should be—voting for two candidates for Congress in the May Primary Election.

Each voter will be selecting a candidate from his own Congressional District and one for an "at-large" or Statewide seat.

Perry O. Wilkinson, Speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates and candidate for the Democratic "at-large" nomination, reports that in his trips around the State he has found many persons who are not aware of this unusual situation. Many indicated to him, he said, that they could not vote for him for they wanted to cast their ballots for their local Congressman.

A situation in which a body of American voters select more than one Representative is rare. It occurs generally when a State, that has gained or lost seats in the House of Representatives following a national census, has failed to redistrict.

However the situation in Maryland is different, may even be unique, in that the State Legislature did redistrict—it subdivided the State's largest Congressional District (the Fifth) into two parts. However a segment of the voters opposed this division and the redistricting legislation must be approved or rejected by the voters in the General Election in November.

Some of the voters, according to Wilkinson, felt that residents of Prince Georges and Howard Counties (the area which the Legislature designated as Maryland's Eighth District) alone would vote for two Congressmen. This, of course, is incorrect—all voters in the State will do this.

Maryland law decrees that all candidates for Statewide office (Governor, Attorney General, U. S. Senator, etc.) will be selected by "unit vote" in a primary election. This means that if a candidate gets a majority of the "popular votes" or votes by the people in a County (or in one of Baltimore City's Electric Districts), he gets all the unit votes for that County just as a Presidential candidate, in the national General Election gets all the electoral votes for a State if he gets a majority of the popular votes cast in a State. Candidates for the Representative-at-large seat, such as Perry Wilkinson, will be selected by the unit vote.

If the voters in November approve the action of the Legislature then thereafter there will be eight Congressional Districts as well as eight seats in the House of Representatives for Maryland. If the people turn down the legislative act then the Legislature will take up the matter again and redistrict or redistrict the State differently.

Build Model Cars

The model car boom is on. Building models of modern Detroit cars, as well as those of earlier vintage, is a favorite hobby of young and old.

The chance to customize models... coupled with the challenge to skill and dexterity appeals to any modeler.

Most of the car kits offer the hobbyist complete versatility through three separate ideas. K From one kit, he can make a custom, stock or race car. He can cut down his model, or use fillers to change the design.

He has a choice of interior and exterior decorating items. Spray paints, for example, are available in a wide variety of enamels, including pearl, pastel or metallic shades.

As for interiors, a model builder can express his individuality right down to the "fur" seat covers he chooses.

Keeping the cars in "show" shape after they're completed is also a big challenge. I've mounted my models on bookends, beside ashtrays and on lamp bases. Adds a real personal warmth to a room.

I keep my real prize models in clear plastic cases. The way most of these models turn out, you just can't help showing them off!

They'll play safe when left with a trained sitter

Don't give fire a place to start!

Campus Comment

Five years ago a hopeful child visited the shrines of Mother Seton in a wagon. She rode because she could not walk. This little girl accompanied by her friends made a children's pilgrimage and their prayers were efficacious for she is now able to participate in the active games of her playmates.

The girl is but one of the thousands who come to Emmitsburg every year to visit the shrines. These travelers, over 25,000 in 1961, arrive from all parts of the United States. The diversity of the pilgrims is astounding for every state of the Union as well as every state of life is represented. Maryland, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Virginia, Delaware — all have sent great numbers seeking the intercession of Mother Seton.

A bishop has accompanied his people on a pilgrimage; groups such as Italian and Polish, have come and sung hymns in their native languages; entire families have arrived to pray for one of their members. Schools, clubs and Sodalties come. Housewives, businessmen, doctors, lawyers—people from all walks of life flock to Emmitsburg, the resting place of Mother Seton. Their purposes for coming are varied; however, each resembles the other in that all have a devotion for Mother Seton.

There are three main shrines on the pilgrim's itinerary. After visiting the main chapel in the Central House his first stop is the Stone House where Mother Seton spent seven harrowing months enduring cold, hunger, poverty, sickness, and the death of one of her sisters. Built in 1786, this house was one of the first in Emmitsburg. From there the pilgrim visits the White House into which the sisters moved in 1810 and from which the parochial school system has its roots. This house contains many relics among which are a 152 year old altar, spinning wheels, desks, pictures, and an antique clock donated to those first sisters by a craftsman of Emmitsburg. The pilgrim culminates his journey by visiting the chapel in the cemetery which contains the vault of Mother Seton. If Mother Seton is canonized, this chapel will be the national shrine of the first American saint.

After the pilgrim has completed his tour, he leaves never to forget the peaceful atmosphere and the historical value of the Catholicity found within the environs of Emmitsburg, the home of Mother Seton.

Blood Bank Being Formed In County

Headed by Frederick Postmaster James A. Grove, a Red Cross steering committee is now seeking the $5,000 and 2,700 blood donors needed for the establishment of a regular bloodmobile program in the county by mid-summer.

Mr. Grove explains that the proposed Frederick blood program, although to be administered by the Red Cross, is a truly community-wide activity designed to supply protection for the transfusion needs of every county resident. Participating individuals and members of organizations with 20% participation will receive coverage benefits extending to their parents, spouse, children, and parents-in-law.

Under the anticipated provisions of the blood program, the only charge to patients provided blood will be a small administrative cost which is part of every hospital's procedure. The American Red Cross under no circumstances expects pay for its product or services.

The mobile unit, which is to visit Frederick County 18 times each year, is attached to the Washington Regional Blood Center, which furnishes personnel and equipment throughout its territory.

The first visit of the bloodmobile is scheduled for Frederick City on July 16. Later stops in Emmitsburg and other sections of Frederick County will be announced later.

County Roads Will Be Striped

The County Commissioners announce they will take formal action to reappoint Russell Keller as a member of the County Roads Board.

The commissioners made their announcement after a conference meeting of the advisory roads body.

Plans are proceeding on schedule for the program to have a center line painted on county roads on any stretch where the safety measure seems necessary. The work will begin with the arrival of reasonably good weather for projects of that type.

At Tuesday night's session, Crummel Jacobs, representing the areas east of Frederick, and Clarence E. Hahn, representing the north county, both specified locations where road repairs are needed.

Mr. Hahn called attention to minor repairs needed in the region around Emmitsburg.
