BY ABIGAIL

With Christmas behind us we can now look forward to ushering in the New Year with a better assurance of world peace than we had at this time last year. It was a quiet Christmas so to speak, both locally and worldwide. For the first time in 12 years there were no major battle fronts operative. Not since before the Korean War has it been so pacific and believe me that is really something unforseeable of course, confronts us in 1963 is something unforseeable of course. But let's be thankful for the quiet and holy Christmas we have just experienced. For the first time in a number of years we had a white Christmas. Weather observers claim that we experience these only once in about every 10 years. It doesn't seem that long but I don't doubt the authenticity and accuracy of modern weather men. Vandalism was kept to a minimum and few light bulbs were reported stolen or broken here. Reports say over 100 bulbs were stolen from the Christmas tree in front of the Courthouse in Frederick but misdemeanors were few indeed here in Emmitsburg.

As we enter upon a new year world tranquility appears to be a bit more certain but let's not be daydreamers because how well we know the long dark road to permanent peace is a dangerous and treacherous one, to say the least. We should never let down our guard regardless of how bright the picture seems and how docile our enemies play. We have the weapons now to protect ourself and our technology is as good if not better than any in the world.

In the business world I venture to say that the new year will be a good one. The economies of the country appear to be rather stable and there is no indication of too much of a change expected for some time to come. Oh sure there are some small merchants feeling the results of competition from the big chains and discount stores but the general picture is a bright one.

Oh the sadder side is the fact that 650 good Americans, men, women and children met their Maker over the holiday. Traffic accidents, as predicted, claimed that number. Think of the sadness and misery inflicted on the homes of these unfortunates over the holy season of Christmas. Despite repeated warnings over all types of communication media the slaughter continues. Death is always meant for the other fellow... some fools believe. Well another big weekend is in the offing and we'll see if we can do better over this one.

Soon to become just a memory, I believe, is the natural Christmas tree. It seems a shame but the inflationary prices charged for such trees are fast relegating them to becoming a thing of the past. It was nigh onto impossible to purchase a tree for Christmas under $4.00. A few sold for $3 but they were more or less rejects, seconds or what have you. With the great influx of artificial trees going on and the price they are selling them for it won't be long before we will be able to say I remember when we had real Christmas trees. Well-designed artificial trees are selling for around $10. They can be stored and reused. They will pay for themselves in just two seasons. So long tree-cutters and scalpers!

Low Bidder
Thurmont Construction, Inc., of Thurmont, made the low bid of $817,499 this week on a barracks for enlisted men at Fort Ritchie. Ten other firms bid on the project which includes two 3-story buildings with brick exteriors.

Mail Volume Establishes Local Record

During the Christmas period the local post office handled approximately 5% more letters than last year, it was announced this week by Postmaster L. H. Stoner. Monday, December 17, the peak was reached when about 12,000 outgoing letters and 15,000 incoming letters were handled. The Parcel Post mail, outgoing and incoming, during the Christmas period increased by about 10%.

The gross receipts at the local post office for the entire year will be the highest in its history, approximately $42,000,000, which is a 2 1/2% increase over last year.

The Postmaster announced that patrons are reminded that the increase in postage rates will be effective on Monday, January 7, 1963. The rates will be 5c an ounce for out of town letters, and 4c for drop letters, that is mail that does not go out of the post office. Air mail is increased from 7c an ounce to 8c an ounce anywhere in the U. S., Canada or Mexico. Newspapers and magazines mailed by other than the publishers, will be 4c minimum, for the first 2 ounces and 1c for each additional ounce. The third class rates are as follows: 4c minimum, for the first two ounces and two cents for each additional ounce up to 15 ounces. From one pound on up the Parcel Post rates apply.

Also envelopes smaller than 3 inches by 4 1/4 inches will be unavailable.

14 State Traffic

Fatals Last Week

Fourteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Four of those killed were drivers; four were passengers and six were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths; speed in six and "driver error" was present in eight. Five of the deaths were attributed to the snow last Friday.

"Alcohol, speed and slippery roads, singly or in any combination," said Colonel Carey Jarman, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, "are killers when associated with highway traffic. The motor vehicle operator's obligation to himself, his family and to the other users of the highway demands that he take positive action to avoid such hazards."

Commissioners Ponder County Tax Hike

Would you, as a taxpayer of Frederick County, care any if your tax rate for the coming year was hiked to $2.50?

Well if all the requests, budgetary that is, are to be honored the County Commissioners in Frederick would have to give ground and okay a raise in the present tax rate. Presently you are paying $1.88 for every $100 worth of property you own.

A. Irvin Remm, president of the County Commissioners, said that if all the budgets were approved as presented, the tax rate would have to be increased at least 65 cents, such an increase would push the rate above the $2.50 mark.

Mr. Remm, speaking in behalf of the Board of County Commissioners, stated that the tax rate definitely will not be raised that much. "We have been working day and night on it and are going to keep it as low as possible," he stated.

The tax rate must be set, according to law, by January 1. The head of the Commissioners said this will be done but it is too early to determine how much of an increase will be made or if one is to be made at all.

The county officials have now received all of the budget requests and have begun studying them to see what can be omitted.

This week the Commissioners met with officials of the Frederick Memorial Hospital to hear their request for money. The hospital is asking for $20,000 next year—a $10,000 increase over this year. Hospital officials pointed to normal inflation in hospital operation of seven per cent and increased debts from welfare cases. The state pays eighty per cent of the expense of welfare hospital cases.

Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer asked for $6,370 to operate the Juvenile Court. There was no change in this budget.

The Civic Club asked for $600 to operate a tourist information center and crafts shop. The club received no money this year.

The County Agent's office needs $20,965 to operate next year, the Commissioners were told. This is a slight increase over the current year's allocation.

No definite figure was available on the request to operate the Magistrate's Court.

Since the Commissioners have vowed to keep the tax rate as low as possible, it is apparent that the budget requests are apt to get quite a slashing.

Town Meeting January 7

The regular meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg will be held in the Town Office on Monday evening, January 7 at 7 p.m.

The Council announces that all taxes are due by Dec. 31 and will be considered delinquent after that date. Delinquent taxes are turned over to the County Treasurer for subsequent collection which necessitates additional expense to the taxpayer.

4-H Club Forming Basketball Team

A meeting of the Emmitsburg 4-H Club held recently opened with the 4-H pledge. At the meeting it was decided to sponsor a 4-H Club basketball team and enter the County 4-H League. The club also voted to provide a fruit basket for some needy local family over Christmas, a practice it has been doing for several years now.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Joey Beall at which time the annual election of officers will be held. A movie also will be shown at this meeting and all members are urged to attend. The meeting will be January 14. Following the meeting a Christmas party was held with games being played and refreshments served.

Miss Monica Warthen, Washington, D. C., spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Warthen, Emmitsburg.

Reserve Program Frees Land

Land retired from production under the Conservation Reserve program now may be used for certain purposes without violation of the contract. William L. Dudley, Chairman, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has announced. He explained that, even though the contract signers charge fees for the use of the Conservation Reserve acreage, the following uses of the land will be permitted without constituting a contract violation:

- (1) Fishing and hunting enterprises, except the production of fish and game for commercial marketing;
- (2) camping, excluding permanent trailer courts;
- (3) picnicking;
- (4) boating;
- (5) riding;
- (6) hiking; and
- (7) swimming.

The following additional uses will be permitted provided the contract signers do not charge or receive compensation for such uses; (1) Community sports and athletic activities; (2) carnivals and fairs; (3) meeting sites for religious, cultural, and educational groups; (4) landing areas for use by civil air patrol or noncommercial flying; (5) parades; and (6) military maneuvers. The Chairman pointed out that, if the permitted uses or activities (listed above) result in the area's becoming subject to wind and water erosion, adequate protective measures must be taken at no cost to the Conservation Reserve Program. If permanent-type structures or facilities are erected on the Conservation Reserve in connection with the permitted uses or activities, then the area occupied by such structures or facilities shall be removed from contract.

According to Mr. Dudley, this change in program regulations is in line with current agricultural policy, which is to convert land into other uses rather than to idle it.

Farmers who are interested in such uses of Conservation Reserve land are urged to discuss the matter with the ASC County Committee.

by any addition, omission or alteration to the prayer; those attached to objects of devotion (rosaries, etc.) only cease when the objects themselves cease to exist or are sold. To buy or sell indulgences is simony and those who grant or publish indulgences for money or otherwise traffic in them incur excommunication. Inasmuch as it is absolutely necessary to the gaining of an indulgence, however small, that one should be in a state of grace, it is readily seen that the notion of an indulgence as a "permission to sin" is grossly incorrect. The use of the word 'indulgence' itself is partly responsible for this misunderstanding. The term "on the usual conditions" applied to the granting of a plenary indulgence involves the necessity, in addition to doing the good works prescribed, of receiving the Sacraments of Penance and the Eucharist and of praying for the intentions of the Pope. Ordinarily, these intentions are 1) the common good of the Church; 2) the spread of the Faith; 3) the conversion of sinners, heretics and schismatics; and 4) world peace. An Our Father, Hail Mary and Glory Be will suffice for the prayers. Any church may be visited unless one particular one is specified. Confession may be made within eight days before or eight days after the day on which the indulgence is to be gained. Communion may be received the day before or within eight days thereafter. The habit of bi-monthly confession and communion would cover one in all contingencies, plenary or partial, at times.

Apostolic indulgences are indulted to crucifixes, rosaries, medals, etc blessed by the Pope personally or by his delegate. The indulgences can be gained only by the first person to whom the blessed object is given and depend upon the saying of certain prayers or the doing of certain works of charity (visiting the sick or poor) or other good deeds; each indulgence, according to its nature, can be gained only on certain days and those which are plenary, require the usual conditions as well. These indulgences are not attached to fragile objects or to those made of base metals.

With the subject of indulgences perhaps somewhat clarified, it appears even more imperative that we must all do ourselves the favor of adding that one important resolution to our lists: Starting January, 1963—let's collect indulgences.

If you know a human who is a better friend than your dog, we would suggest you keep in touch with him.

C. C. D. JOURNAL

The New Year will be upon us soon and with it, the endless lists of New Year's resolutions. In addition to the many excellent resolutions that will be made, the acquiring of indulgences should be at the top of every Catholic list. But what is an indulgence?

An indulgence is the privilege by which the Church either wipes out or lessens the temporal punishment due to sins already forgiven in the Sacrament of Penance or by an act of perfect contrition. God's law is a mirror of His Will for us. By sin we break the mirror. After our sin is forgiven we can mend the mirror by gaining indulgences, by penance in this life or by suffering in purgatory after death.

The Church grants indulgences from a spiritual treasury called "The Treasury of the Church," which contains the infinite satisfaction made by Our Lord for the sins of men and the very great satisfaction of our Lady and the saints which they gained during their lifetimes but did not need for the saving of their own souls. Indulgences are either plenary or partial. A plenary indulgence takes away all punishment of sin; a partial indulgence takes away part of the punishment of sin, the proportion of such part being expressed in terms of time—30 days, seven years, etc.

These time periods are a relic of the former penitential discipline of the Church, out of which the granting of indulgences arose and in which the time periods had their natural and practical significance. The modern indulgence, though less precise and practical, is no less effective. To the Pope, by divine authority, is committed the dispensation of the whole Treasury of the Church; lesser authorities in the Church can grant only those indulgences specified in canon law. No one may apply indulgences to other living persons, but all papal indulgences may be applied to the souls in purgatory, unless otherwise stated, by intercessory prayer. Indulgences attached to prayer are lost

100 YEARS AGO

SHERMAN IS REPULSED AT CHICKASAW BAYOU

By Lon K. Savage

It was a hectic Christmas season for Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman and the people of Vicksburg, Miss., 100 years ago this week.

Christmas Day found Sherman and some 30,000 Federal troops under his command moving down the Mississippi River from Memphis in transports and steamers toward what he considered the key city of the Confederacy: Vicksburg. Taking Vicksburg would give the Federals control of the Mississippi from top to bottom and would cut the Confederacy in two.

Sherman's plan was to do just that. He and his men, he figured, would move downstream to the Yazoo River, which emptied into the Mississippi just north of Vicksburg. There, they would turn into the Yazoo and debark, and the troops would assault the city from the rear through the swamp and water called Chickasaw Bayou. Sherman's commanding officer, Ulysses S. Grant, would meanwhile offer help from northern Mississippi by keeping the Confederates busy in that quarter.

Problems

But affairs didn't go as planned. Sherman's troops passed into the Yazoo, debarked and prepared for their assault on schedule, and immediately Federal problems arose.

The first problem had come up before Christmas. Grant, cut off from his supply line and communications, had been forced to withdraw from the area of Oxford, Miss., thus liberating some of the Confederate troops there to go to the defense of Vicksburg. The Confederates, under Gen. J. C. Pemberton, quickly took advantage of this fact, and two days after Christmas Pemberton was at Vicksburg with three extra brigades to defend the city.

The lay of the land caused a second Federal problem at Chickasaw Bayou. When Sherman spread his men out for the attack, they found only three roads through the swamps on which to move. Confederates had effectively obstructed them with fallen trees and had taken positions covering each of them with artillery and small arms.

The Attack

Despite the problems, Sherman decided to go ahead as planned. "We will lose 5,000 men before we take Vicksburg, and may as well lose them here as anywhere else," he told one of his division commanders. The orders for attack went out on December 29.

Immediately before the attack, a colonel questioned whether he was to make a direct assault. "Yes," he was told; "form your brigade." With an air of respectful protest, the colonel went to do his duty, moaning, "My poor brigade. . ."

At noon that day, with shouting and yelling, three brigades of Federals charged down the three roads toward the Confederate positions and were mowed down en masse. Some fell in the swamp; some turned and fled; some floundered through the mire to the bluffs under the Confederate positions and there took protection. The Confederate line remained unbroken.

Darkness ended the fighting, after more than 1,200 Federals had been killed or wounded, another 500 listed as missing. The Confederate losses numbered only 187. The New Year came with Sherman and his men still licking their wounds, and on January 2 they headed back North for safer country.

Next week: Murfreesboro.

Cat Show Scheduled

The Chesapeake Cat Club, Inc., of Baltimore, will hold its First Annual Championship Cat Show next February 16 and 17 at Harundale Mall, Ritchie Highway, just south of Glen Burnie, Md. Entries are now being accepted for all breeds of pedigreed cats, household cats and kittens (4 to 8 months old).

"This will be the first nationally recognized cat show to be held in the Baltimore area in some 28 years," according to Mrs. Louise Otto, show manager. Judging will take place throughout both days. For applications, write to Mrs. Elizabeth Salmon, Entry Clerk, Route 32, Finksburg, Md.

Anytime is Vacation Time in New York

It's a city to be visited. More than 5 million will visit Manhattan this season alone. There are dozens of ways to see it, be in it, get to know it. Pat and Linda, two young secretaries, found an inexpensive method: they chose a theater tour. The tour included three nights at New York's newest hotel—the Summit—plus three separate Broadway shows, a United Nations tour and even a trip to the Latin Quarter for $83 each, not including air fare. Extra nights were $12.60 and they did stay longer!

It was Pat and Linda's first sojourn into Manhattan, and there was a bon-voyage party the night before their Astro-jet left for New York. Friends planned an easy-to-serve buffet supper. They gave the party a metropolitan air with travel posters, and set the table with modern melamine dinnerware that is so popular with Manhattan apartment dwellers.

Both girls had definite ideas of what they wanted to do once they arrived. They viewed Manhattan from the top of Rockefeller Center, from the top of The Summit, and from the lake in Central Park. They rode subways and took buses. And they had their hair done in Manhattan, a town that harbors more good hairdressers per square block than any other in the world.

As for clothes, Pat and Linda knew that all this business about black dresses in Manhattan is something of a legend. Dark cottons and silks are perfectly correct. But you CAN wear a light cotton dress on a hot summer day, so long as you wear black shoes, carry a black bag and white gloves. Pat and Linda followed these instructions and felt like natives after the first day. . . once they had established that there IS an uptown, a downtown, a crosstown and a Fifth Avenue in the middle.

If you want to dress like a New Yorker, you'll wear black patents or beige calf shoes. Something to watch: new white patents, and whether they take fashion's fancy. You won't need a hat in Manhattan this summer, but you'll need plenty of hair spray. New York's humidity is the automatic end of more coiffures than anyone ever tried to count. So pack hair rollers, wave set and spray right along with your light cottons and silks and your dark cottons.

You'll find that traveling is easiest when you pack one suitcase and carry a cosmetic bag. Use a piece of cardboard cut to the exact size of the suitcase for a divider and shelf. Put shoes and handbags at the back, on the bottom, then tuck lingerie all around. Your dresses, layered with tissue paper, travel flat on the cardboard, then lift out easily when you arrive.

Babson's Business And Financial

Forecast For 1963

Business And Employment
The business situation will vary with different industries, and hence with different cities. Some defense centers will boom; steel cities will still find the going tough . . . but better than a year ago. Considering the high level of the past ten years it will not be surprising for 1963 to show a moderate decline in business. If so it should come in the second or third quarter, with recovery in the fourth quarter, followed by a good 1964.

Disposable personal income will remain high. With increased savings deposits and little change in the cost - of - living, the public should continue to spend freely, especially if merchants maintain their advertising outlays. Inventories will remain about the same during 1963. But government spending will increase over $3 billion—largely on defense—and $2 billion on new roads. Whether manufacturers will hike their expenditures for new machinery in 1963 in view of the depreciation tax credit, I would not now forecast.

All this means that business and employment for your city in 1963 will depend largely upon the attitude of its leading businessmen. If they will be optimistic and spend more on new plants, advertising, and salesmanship, we should have nothing to fear.

Stocks And Bonds

My father used to tell me, "It is okay, Roger, for you to make forecasts . . . but never put dates on them!" I forecast that the Dow - Jones Industrial Average will register lower sometime during 1963 and stocks will show an average yield of about 4%. Either dividends must be increased or prices of stocks must go lower. Both cannot continue forever so poorly adjusted.

The above comment refers primarily to industrial stocks. I forecast that both the gross and net earnings of utility stocks will advance during 1963 and for some years thereafter. The utility cumulative preferreds have reached a point whereby they will closely follow interest rates as determined by the Federal Reserve Banks. The utility common stocks should slowly rise in price provided they are not unjustly limited by legislation or by state and federal regulatory commissions. As for the railroad stocks, I generally feel bearish. A war with Cuba or a world nuclear war breaking out anywhere could cause the stocks of all our transcontinental railroads to go up sharply in price; but down they would come again. We are today in an electronic age and no longer in a railroad age. Those who desire to invest in common stocks should stick to the oil, chemicals, and electronics. Even then keep in mind Newton's Law of Action and Reaction which will always determine the time to buy and sell common stocks.

Regarding bonds I am not pessimistic for 1963. Certainly, the non-taxable bonds will sell higher during 1963. Also, good short-term corporation and government bonds will be safest to hold. Long-term corporation and government bonds may sell for less sometime during 1963. Long - term bond prices vary with interest rates and the probability of inflation.

Building And Real Estate

There may be some decline in residential building in 1963; and shopping centers in many suburban developments may remain at a standstill for a while. However, so much money is piling up in savings banks which must be invested, it seems that by 1964 many more new homes will be built. In this connection, when purchasing a house or business property, be sure to study the land, which usually improves in price while the value of the building declines.

When constructing new frame houses, build either single homes or houses with only two apartments on the ground floor. There will be considerable new building of brick apartment houses, which should keep filled so long as they are well maintained. Old apartments and old houses will decline in price during 1963.

The less attractive outlook for home building generally does not apply to government or public buildings, or to all commercial buildings. The real estate developers, however, must spend more on advertising in 1963 to meet the growing competition.

Retail Trade

Naturally, there will be a seasonal letdown in retail trade after Christmas and the markdowns which follow January 1. That will be the time to look for bargains. Scan the advertisements well. This especially applies to merchandise that depends more or less on style, such as dresses, coats, hats, and shoes. Buy good-quality items that can be passed down to the younger children. Over all, I expect 1963 to see a somewhat higher level of retail trade than has prevailed in 1962.

Purchases made at real mark-downs could be a good cause for opening a new charge account. But be very careful to build up a name for good credit. You can arrange to pay some in 30 days, some in 60 days, and some at 90 days; but be sure to pay a little before your account is due. Good credit at a good retail store will help you and your husband (or wife) when you may need this credit later to buy real estate or start a business of your own.

Cuban Outlook

I forecast that the Cuban problem will not be settled in 1963. It may extend until after the 1964 presidential elections. The Russians have removed their missile installations and bombers from Cuba, in accordance with President Kennedy's demands. In return, Mr. Khrushchev will undoubtedly want some concession in Berlin, or in Turkey—which now bottles up Russia in the winter due to Turkey's control of the Dardanelles.

Khrushchev must placate his people at home by improving rather than reducing their standard of living. I saw this very clearly when I was in Moscow. He helped Castro only so that he would have something to trade with the United States, either in connection with Berlin or with our bases which we now have in Europe. Khrushchev expected to later withdraw from Cuba when he first decided to help Castro. He knew Russia could continue to use Cuba as a base for Russian submarines. Now both Khrushchev and Castro are looking to save face at home.

Some think the Cuban fracas will make President Kennedy much tougher with labor here in the United States, but I disagree. Labor leaders may be more reasonable in their demands, but they will continue to have friends at the White House.

Labor And The Profit Margin

Readers should realize that the steel workers can reopen their wage contract after May 1, 1963. The settlement of this contract will be very likely to influence other labor disputes, depending largely on international conditions.

I feel that our country is becoming "immune" to crises. Believing that the cold war will continue for years to come. There, however, will be no nuclear war within our generation; and no international war of any kind in 1963.

Labor should begin to realize in 1963 that wages finally depend upon the employer's margin of profit. The year 1962 has seen many employers close down because of their slight margin. Small businessmen—both manufacturers and retailers—must have a larger

SPEAKING & CARDS

OLD CARDS: CHILDREN'S TOYS

Children love to handle playing cards. They are naturally attracted to the bright red, yellow, and black colors and pretty designs on the cards. And not only do they love them for the excitement of playing Go Fish, Old Maid, or Slap-jack, but also because they can play with them in any number of ways without getting into a game. Here are a few: Building card houses on the living room carpet. The child's excitement increases as the "castle" gets higher. Use the narrower Bridge deck cards for arches and risers and the wider "club" deck for ceilings.

Teach the youngsters how to play "Card in the Hat" by flicking a deck of cards one at a time into a hat placed on the floor near a corner of the room. Assign points to those cards landing inside the hat.

Help a child to make a playing card mobile. If confined to bed, the child will watch it moving for hours.

Start the child off on an interesting and unusual hobby: collecting playing card back designs. He can swap with playmates. Stick rows of old playing cards on to a board and hang in the children's playroom. It will make a wonderful dashboard. Special scoring systems can easily be worked out.

If your child is invited to a costume party, show him how to make a costume out of a deck of old playing cards. A crown of Kings, Queens and Jacks can be made for his head and the rest of the deck can be attached to his costume.

Economic Squeeze On Castro
President Kennedy should be commended for his strong stand of November 20 in the Cuban crisis...

partly military. The President promised continued surveillance of the island. Incidents will probably come, although Castro will possibly not create enough serious ones to invite an invasion.

The squeeze is going to be chiefly economic. This is an approach that Washington toyed with only half-heartedly before the blockade. Now, however, economic pressure can be exerted like we mean it.

days in Cuba last month and he was doing much more than selling Cuba on some of Khrushchev's ideas. Undoubtedly he was taking a close look at economic Cuba, aware that the battle is now shifting toward Castro's sagging economy...

Billion Dollar Failure
No one knows what he may report to Moscow and whether the Russians, faced with problems of their own at home and all over the world, will support Cousin Castro with enough to keep him operating. But my opinion is they will value this western base highly enough to keep it intact regardless of cash.

Some experts are estimating that it cost Russia as much as $1 billion to haul those missiles to Cuba and take them out again. To say the least, the Soviet attempt to arm Cuba to the teeth was a tremendously expensive program.

Living On Aid
The Russians, it is said, have promised a steel mill, a fertilizer plant, and an oil refinery, but these have not been delivered. Whether a recently rumored three-year treaty with Russia would be merely promises or enough to get Cuba going is the question...

Some experts give a better picture of the Cuban economy. Ruth Sheldon Knowles, reporting in The Wall Street Journal recently following extensive travel about the island, wrote: "Although Cuba's economy is staggering along under a heavy burden of bureaucracy, inefficiency, shortages of food, spare parts and raw materials...

Mikoyan undoubtedly is wondering what to recommend to Khrushchev about the prospects for general success of the Communist revolution in Cuba. Mrs. Knowles' comments, "Castro's labor problems, both industrial and agricultural, stem from the fact that he has imposed a totalitarian state upon a people who wanted freedom...

in Latin America, almost as high as Italy's."
The revolution was not a peasant revolt, she goes on to say, but was backed by middle class intellectuals. Then Castro destroyed the middle class by removing the private enterprise system that had created them.

The whiz who is always on the verge of making a million dollars never realizes he has to make a thousand first.

Vets Cautioned On Selling Homes

World War II and Korea veterans who contemplate selling their homes purchased under the Veterans Administration guarantee or direct loan program, should check carefully the credit rating and reputation of any prospective purchaser before the sale is consummated...

Mr. Quinn pointed out that unless the veteran applies for and receives a release of liability from the VA, the veteran will become liable to the Government for any claim paid in connection with the guaranty issued for the GI loan.

The VA will release the veteran from any future liability to the Government if the purchaser of the property is determined to be a satisfactory credit risk and he has the ability to meet the payments on the loan.

It is a great temptation to agree with certain people rather than engage in a hopeless discussion and waste one's time.

Salt-water rods should be washed in fresh water to remove any deposit of salt so ruinous to metal parts. They should be dried, wiped with a wax-base furniture polish, and then be hung from their tips on the wall of a cool room.

Let Them Eat Cake

If you are watching the kinds of fat you eat rather than the fat calories, you will like this cake made with the new balanced-oil margarine or corn oil margarine. The recipe favored by the staff members of Best Foods Test Kitchen is called Apricot Torte.

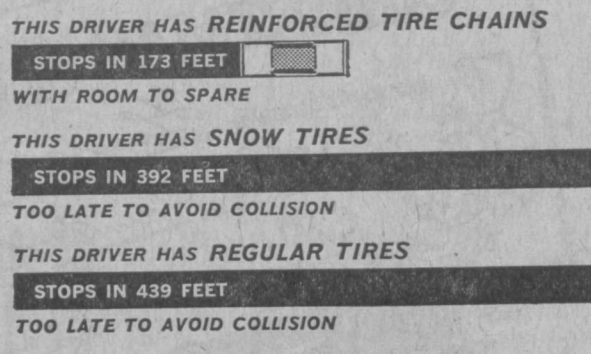

- 2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup corn oil or balanced-oil margarine
1 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
Grated peel and juice of 1 lemon

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream corn oil margarine, add sugar and beat until light. Add egg yolks and mix well. Stir in almonds, lemon juice and peel. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix until well blended.

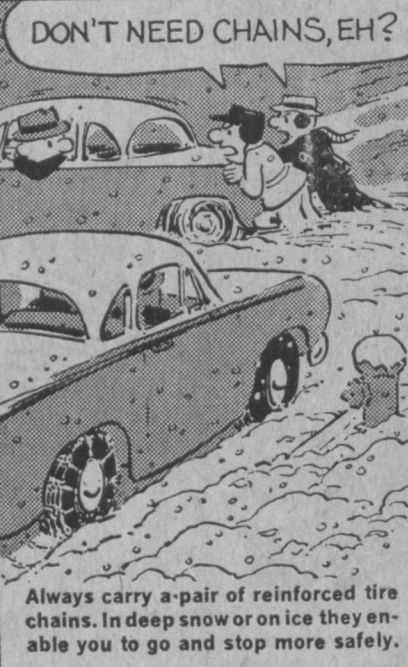

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

Here are National Safety Council Test Facts

These drivers see stop sign and cars crossing intersection. They apply brakes at same instant on glare ice at 30 miles per hour. What happens?

MORE FACTS FOR SAFER WINTER DRIVING

- Every winter the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards studies the effects of snow and ice, and how to drive safely under the worst conditions.
Packed snow also makes stopping difficult. Regular tires at 30 miles an hour will stop you in 135 feet, snow tires in 117, and reinforced tire chains in 86.
Reduced visibility is also a major winter driving hazard. Do your windshield wipers give clear, streak-free visibility? If rubber is dead, get live rubber refills. Also check wiper arm tension. It should exert one ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length. If arms are weak, blades smear around rain or road muck, and soon ride over snow or sleet—even with new blades. Make sure defroster works.
Rising temperature makes ice more slippery. At 30 miles an hour on ice at 0° a car with regular tires requires 256 feet to stop. At 30° this distance increases to 530 feet.
Also significant is the great effect of speed on braking distances. At only ten miles slower, all of these figures are reduced more than half. At ten miles faster, look out! To cite one example, the average braking distance for regular tires on glare ice is 780 feet at 40 m.p.h.

ABOVE CHART, provided by the Safe Winter Driving League, illustrates test results by National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. For each "braking distance" above you should add 33 feet, which is distance traveled during average "reaction time," needed to think and get your foot on brake after seeing a reason to stop. Skidding and reduced visibility are major added hazards of winter. CAN YOU SEE AND STOP IN TIME?

LOWLIGHTS IN OUR MISSILE PROGRAM

What is the biggest construction job in the world today? A program entrusted with the defense of every free nation on the face of the earth. Its use of land is prodigious — one site alone is twice the size of Maryland — the total area involved is over 100,000 square miles. $15 billion dollars has been earmarked for the job.
As you have undoubtedly guessed, the answer is our nation's missile program.
If you were involved directly in an all-out effort of this magnitude, with the evidence of Russian performance constantly before you, wouldn't you push ahead with all possible speed to get the job done?

It is sad and shameful to report that actually our Federal government has condoned major delays! Here is the record and background:
In a five year period, through 1960, we countenanced 330 strikes and walkouts with a loss of 163,000 man-days of production. From May 1961 through August 1962, more than 177 work stoppages at missile bases erased 17,000 man-days of labor. At one Titan II site, sheet metal workers walked off the job because carpenters installed acoustical lining on the ventilating ducts of the missiles. In another instance, work on 23 atomic submarines was halted and over 100,000 man-days were wasted due to a squabble over fringe benefits. Even more time has been lost because of slow-downs, featherbedding, and "blessing sessions" — a no-work farce where workers on full pay "watch" a completed work for the entire length of time it would have taken them to build it.

Another big production block lies in jurisdictional conflicts between rival unions. Which union has the right to clip the pay envelopes of particular units... that is jurisdictional!
The government, instead of cracking down — either as a payment for past performance or in anticipation of future favors — has done nothing!
In addition to the missile base mess, the President's Aerospace Board has continually called for "devices" to insure union membership among all suppliers and base workers.
This is part of an over-all program which encourages unionization of all civilian employees of the Federal government at aerospace sites and at other military installations and government branches, including the executive department.

A number of leading aerospace companies have agreed to the Aerospace Board's recommendation for a vote among workers whether they want a union or not. The employees at Boeing, Convair, Ryan and North American voted NO! to union membership.
The law says a man has the right to join a union or not. The President has bypassed this legal right. He is evidently convinced that union membership must be the way of life for all American workers.
Two West Coast divisions of an aerospace manufacturer are in conflict over this issue. Yet, the union membership is less than one third of the total work force. The management has refused to submit to this vote — on principle! They do not wish to force thousands of non-union members to join the union and pay dues against their will.
They believe this is the kind of election which could vote away the freedom and basic rights of minorities.
It gets down to this: If two thirds of the voters in a community belonged to one political party, would any one agree to an election forcing the remaining third to join the same party?
Suppose you were a member of one religion living in a community where two thirds of the population was another. Would you agree to abide by an election that could force you to join and contribute to a church not of your choice?
The Russians still threaten to bury us. Each new delay is used to their advantage — as they precipitate crisis after crisis just short of war.
In the face of this, the President is concerned with unionization which is outside the role of our chief executive.
No other President has ever stepped outside his office to deliver 3,000,000 workers and their dues into the hands of union bosses.
To insure our own peace as well as that of other free nations, our missiles must be a constant and growing deterrent to Russian and Chinese power — this is the President's prime responsibility.

March of Dimes Helps Youngster With 'Assist' from Coincidence

Kathy Anderson is too young at 18 months to understand coincidence. This is the story of how it tipped the balance in a life-and-death battle for her — hopefully, in favor of life.
The first child of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Grundy, Va., Kathy was born in December, 1960 with spina bifida—a severe birth defect in which the spinal column fails to close completely. Its cause is unknown and there are too few specialists in its treatment.
Mrs. Anderson had been sent home, uncertain of her baby's future, while Kathy remained in the hospital. The doctors were undecided on the next move.

Helpful Neighbor Phones
Ten days passed. Then the Andersons' telephone rang. It was a neighbor who had just read a magazine story about Linda Breese of Columbus, Ohio, the 1961 March of Dimes Poster Girl.
The article, in the monthly publication of the Loyal Order of Moose, told how Linda, also a spina bifida victim, had undergone an operation at Children's Hospital in Columbus, and was now making steady progress under a program of treatment and rehabilitation at the March of Dimes-financed Clinical Study Center there.
Mrs. Anderson, whose father-in-law is a Moose member, read the article for herself and promptly called her family physician, Dr. Thomas McDonald. They agreed on an immediate call to the Breese family, 200 miles away.
Mrs. Breese confirmed the story. She also praised the skills of Dr. Martin P. Sayers who had performed the operation on Linda and of Dr. William O. Robertson, director of the March of Dimes-supported Center.
With Dr. McDonald making the arrangements, Kathy was soon taken to Columbus for surgery by Dr. Sayers. The operation was successful, but Kathy then began to develop hydrocephalus, or water on the brain, which frequently accompanies the open spine condition. Dr. Sayers inserted a plastic tube which drains the excess fluid from Kathy's head into her body to be absorbed. Kathy went back home to Grundy in February of 1961 after spending a month at Children's Hospital, but she's been a regular visitor since.

During reassuring check-up visit to March of Dimes-financed Birth Defects Clinical Study Center at Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, Kathy Anderson, 18 months, gets loving embrace from parents, Jim and Barbara Anderson of Grundy, Va.
Faithfully each month from March through October, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson drove 650 miles, round trip, between Grundy and Columbus, leaving home at midnight to reach Children's Hospital at 8 a.m. and returning the same afternoon.
Kathy Checked Closely
This enabled Dr. Robertson and all the other members of the Clinical Study Center's medical team to keep a close check on Kathy in the important early months and to act promptly on any changes in her condition.
Now that the critical stage is past, the Andersons must make that long auto trip only once every three months. But it doesn't seem so long to them now because it leads to hope for Kathy's future.
Despite her continued improvement, Kathy's problems are far from over. Says Dr. Robertson:
"Kathy is a cheerful little girl who seems to be responding well to much of the treatment we are prescribing for her. However, like most children with severe birth defects of the central nervous system, she has complications which we can't fully correct because we don't know enough about them yet."
Centers Fight Crippling
The expert medical team at the March of Dimes-supported center in Columbus and those in more than 50 other centers are working to improve diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation techniques to help make possible nearly normal lives for the victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio.
Jim and Barbara Anderson can only hope that the work of Dr. Robertson and his associates will bring a promising future to Kathy. But they can personally endorse his diagnosis of their daughter's disposition.
"She's a lively, happy baby who loves to have people around her," says Mrs. Anderson. "We try to keep her from getting spoiled but it's not easy. What can you do with four grandparents who have only one grandchild to fuss over?"

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

College of Home Economics

velops other abilities, such as chewing, which permits him to consume more solid foods.

Parents should understand baby's ability to eat at different ages, and offer foods when his baby's development shows he is ready for them.

A new baby eats because his stomach becomes painful with hunger. He is truly in anguish.
The intervals at which these periods of hunger anguish occur vary

The normal infant is born with a desire to eat, and an innate ability to suck and swallow liquid food. As he grows older, he de-

with individual babies.

In most cases, a baby is best satisfied when he is allowed to tell the adult who feeds him that he is now ready to eat. He is also best able to judge how much food he needs in order to quell
his hunger pains.

After several months of taking
only milk by sucking, the nerves
and muscles of his tiny mouth
and throat are ready to swallow semi-solid foods. Then the infant can easily handle thin cereal, fruit or vegetable mixtures.

If, when these foods are first presented, he still shows evidence that his only abilities lie in suckling food and not in getting it back into the throat through newly acquired skills with his tongue,
he just isn't ready for semi-solid
baby foods.

Later in the first year, when teeth are beginning to cut through the gums, the infant makes chewing motions as though he has an urge to try a new skill. He then likes to chew dry toast and other more rigid foods. The foods baby

then eats should be selected carefully to be sure that they will soften easily as he chews.

Baby's mealtime should always be conducted in an atmosphere of friendliness and compatibility so that he is not emotionally disturbed as he eats. The actual foods that he is fed should be under the wise guidance of your family physician.

—forever. He is ever available!

But we should ask ourselves,
"Whom do we seek?" If we are sincere in our desire to seek that which is honest and true, and the highest, the answer clearly comes:
"We seek Jesus."

Prayer
Our heavenly Father, make of us better persons, more eager to proclaim the gospel, more willing to give faithful Christian service
in our thoughts, our words, our deeds. Help us to be worthy followers of Christ, who taught His disciples to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

Thought For The Day
I will seek the Lord, for He is a rewarder of them who diligently seek Him.

SPEAKING OF CARDS

NEW KIND OF CARD PARTY

Want to get away from giving a routine card party? A new booklet called "Around the World
in 20 Card Games" gives hints
for invitations, decorations, and refreshments that enable you to stage any one of
twenty card parties
with a foreign
flavor.

For example, there's a Cribbage party complete with a
suggested menu of fish and chips, English muffins, English tea with milk and for dessert English toffee and Cheddar cheese.

There's a German party where Skat is played. And there are directions for entertaining at a Japanese Fan Tan party where the guests sit on Oriental floor
cushions.

Just pretend you're going to give one of the parties outlined in "Around the World in 20 Card Games," and so you receive complete directions in the booklet. How about armchair travel to Argentina, the land of dashing Gauchos who tend the herds

on the pampas?

Argentina is the mother of Canasta, one of the most popular card games in the world. Canasta means "basket" in Spanish, so what is more appropriate than to send little baskets as invitations.
Glue a little sign inside that says
"Canasta's in the basket" and then give the time and place of the party.

When your guests arrive, give each a poncho you've fashioned out of crepe paper. Deck the room with baskets to hold nibble-
foods, flowers and playing cards.
Then treat your friends to a favorite version of Canasta or teach them a new one—like Samba, Bolivia, Chile, Uruguay or Combo-Canasta. For refreshments serve sausages and peppers, charcoal broiled steaks, strong South American coffee and cookies filled with coconut cream.

Sound like fun? If you'd like hints for travel to other countries
a la 20 card games just write to the Association of American Playing Card Manufacturers, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. Tell them you want "Around the World in 20 Card Games," enclose ten cents to cover the cost of postage and handling, and you will receive a copy of the booklet
by return mail.

Read John 1:43-51.
Whom seek ye? (John 18:4.)
I know that ye seek Jesus.
(Matthew 28:5.)

All through the Gospel stories
of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John we find people seeking Jesus. We find shepherds, wise men, and others seeking Jesus. We find men and women from various walks of life—the troubled, the hungry, the ill, the lame, and the blind—seeking Him. We read of religious leaders and Roman soldiers seeking Him.

Whether they sought to be blessed, comforted, advised, fed,
healed, forgiven, or to crucify
Him, they found Him—found Him
gentle loving, helpful, forgiving.

We know in our minds and feel
in our hearts that the same is true of Jesus today and tomorrow

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Outdoors Not "Free"; Udall Sees Crisis

By Stewart L. Udall
Secretary of the Interior

Today we face perhaps the gravest threat in history to our resources of land and water—and particularly to the once plentiful "green acres" which traditionally have played a vital role in shaping the character and destiny of America.

And this is at a time when some 90 percent of our people—turning back by the millions to the spiritual solace of the land—take part in outdoor recreation of some form.

While heartening, this vast movement to the out-of-doors
presents two thorny problems: First, our people are multiplying and more people need more land, both to live and to relax; and,
second, the demand for industrial, commercial, and residential development for this burgeoning population is chewing away a million acres of remaining open space a year, wiping out suitable outdoor recreation areas at an alarming rate, and,
at the same time, through ever stiffer competition for use of the land, sending the prices for the remnants of our natural, unspoiled wilderness and waterfront to levels swiftly approaching the astronomical.

Obviously, a solution must be found. But to find it we shall have to pay a price because, for better or worse, in the 1960's
the out-of-doors is no longer
free.

An example of the cost may be seen in this Administration's vigorous efforts to save needed
land to preserve our wildlife.
Before 1961, land acquired for Federal wildlife refuges cost an average of $12.40 an acre; in fiscal 1961, this average price
rose to $69.39 an acre; while in the 1962 fiscal year—as suitable land grew scarcer—the average price per acre had soared
to $86.71.

Spurred by the President's leadership, the conservation-minded 87th Congress took unprecedented action in setting
aside three superb strips of sea-coast as National Seashores at Cape Cod, at Point Reyes, near San Francisco, and at Padre Island, along the Gulf Coast of Texas.

In May 1962, President Kennedy called the first White House Conference on Conservation

since the turn of the century.
At that extraordinary gathering of conservation leaders from throughout the country he said:
"I can think of no more suitable
effort for an administration
which is concerned with progress
than to be identified with efforts to preserve this land and maintain its beauty."

Congress will act this year on a proposed pay-as-you-go Land Conservation Fund to be financed by those who now enjoy
our superb outdoor recreation areas and from recreation and land related Federal receipts.

The bill establishes modest user fees for campers, picnicers, boaters, and others who in 1961 comprised more than 300
million visitors to national parks,
forests, reservoirs, and seashores.
Revenues would be utilized by the States and the Federal Government to plan cooperative and comprehensive outdoor recreation programs and to acquire suitable new recreation areas.

Further financing for open space acquisition programs
would be provided through a car permit which would entitle annual admission to all national parks, forests, fish and wildlife
recreation areas, dam reservoirs,
and other federally financed recreation areas throughout the Nation.

With sufficient public understanding and support, this is the program which, in President Kennedy's words, will enable us
to move ahead in 1963 toward repayment of our debt to the past—and meeting our obligations to the future.

Pig "Betting"

There was a time when the "betting ring" was a regular stop on the beat of the racing reporter. The wagering of such famed "plungers" as the Dwyer Brothers, Harry Payne Whitney, Commander J. K. L. Ross, Samuel Hildreth, Pittsburgh
Phil and a host of others made news. The betting ring today
looks more like the tellers line
at a bank and with the exception of an occasional plunger
in the show pool, usually identified as "A Lady in Red,"
really big bets are most unusual. Lou Walzer, pari-mutuel manager at NYRA reports that only about 6 per cent of the betting is done at the $100 windows. The big "betting" is done
today at the yearling sales
rings in Kentucky, California

and at Saratoga. Last year a total of $9,996,957 was "bet"
on the beat of the racing reporter, an average of $5,383 each. The results of these bravely backed opinions are coming in this year as these horses begin their racing careers. One of particular interest is Swaps, a son of the famed Swaps, for which industrialist John Olin paid a record price of $130,000. The "betting" on yearlings will start
again as the Breeders Sales Company auctions get under way at Keeneland on July 23
to be followed the week of August 6 by the traditional Fasig-Tipton sales at Saratoga.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

As this is written, it is not known what action Congress
will perhaps have taken before publication of this column on the plan to withhold taxes on dividends and interest. In addition, the nationwide membership of the National Federation of Independent Business has not taken a vote on this issue.

But it
seems quite significant
that Sen.
Harry Byrd,
has taken a
stand against
the proposal.

It is possible, that some interest and dividends is escaping taxation. On the other hand, if there are cases existing where major tax sums are being avoided, it would be among people whose wealth
and affluence would mark
them for intensive tax audits
to begin with, and thus it would seem that any major male-
factors could be uncovered
with ease by other methods.

But so far, no great publicity has been placed on the extremely heavy bookkeeping
costs this would place on banks,
savings and loan firms, corporations, and all others paying interest and dividends.

Just to take one example
that could eventually result.
Millions of school children
throughout the land are encouraged to open and maintain savings accounts, principally
to teach habits of thrift.

Bear in mind that these savings accounts of the children © National Federation of Independent Business

do not represent huge sums transferred to them by rich and indulgent fathers, but are accounts built up by systematic savings from their allowances,
money earned on paper routes,
mowing lawns, et al.

But if the savings banks every time they credit interest to the account of Johnny with a balance of $118, or to Sue with a balance of $48, have to compute the withholding tax and
report it to the government,
millions, if not billions of dollars worth of man hours will be expended.

And then if Johnny or Sue
make demands for the refund
they are entitled to get, it will take billions of dollars in bureaucratic salaries to get the refunds processed.

Thus, the whole plan would seem to boil down to one of two alternatives.

One is that this represents bureaucratic stupidity to the nth degree.

The other is that it is recognized that many school children, retired people, pensioners, et al. with small investments, will not be able to, or will forget, to file for their refunds, and thus government
will benefit by substantial collections of taxes to which it is not entitled.

Of course, there may be another alternative which is tied up in a joke along the Potomac. It goes to the affect that the government is determined to be ahead of Russia in all ways, including government control of the private affairs of its citizens.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
VISION AND DRIVING

It is a common thing to accept vision as part of driving—so common, in fact, that very few of us even think of it. Yet, ninety percent of driving decisions are based on our ability to see and to react.
A National Safety Council study
of 685,000 traffic accidents reveals that nearly nine in ten occurs at speeds below 40 miles per hour. Actually, most accidents happen under "safe"
conditions, in
clear, dry weather, on straight roads, and low traffic volume.

What causes the trouble? Worry, daydreaming, impatience, and the plain fact that drivers just can't see where they're going. Regardless of the reason, it's your business to see everything necessary to drive without injury to you or anyone else.

Unfortunately, millions of drivers don't know their visual shortcomings. The American Optometric Association points out that one out of every five drivers—with or without glasses—has at least one vision deficiency which affects safe driving.

License tests are not designed to eliminate drivers but to enforce the maintenance of the best possible driving skills and aptitudes
of each driver.
But the driver can help, too. He can visit his eye doctor at least once every six months. He should remember that he has a legal and moral obligation to employ and maintain the best driving vision
possible.

Babson Forecast

margin of profit in order to exist. There are too many mergers into bigger units and too many failures of worthy employers. Labor leaders are largely responsible for this unfortunate development and are slowly pricing themselves out of business. Sooner or later this can result in much unemployment. A tax cut will not solve this difficulty.

Commodity Prices
Nineteen-sixty-three will see many basic commodities sell for lower prices. Despite domestic production cutbacks for many raw materials, world supplies will continue their uptrend. These surpluses in world markets will place additional downward pressure on commodity prices in the U. S. There will be exceptions in hybrid corn, Idaho seed potatoes, and other selected crops. Much depends upon the weather and the ability to hold over surpluses.

Prices of peaches, apples, citrus and other fruits depend principally upon the weather. Improvements in canning freezing, and storage have been greatly advanced, while the big supermarkets have been beneficial in stabilizing prices. The hope of the fruit growers rests in co-operative advertisements in newspapers and other media.

Certain basic chemicals will surely decline in price due to overproduction and competition from imports. The U. S. Justice Department claims to be working for consumers in its fights with many companies such as the dairy concerns, but in the end supply and demand will determine the result and not legislation or court decisions.

Taxes And Inflation
Before the Kennedy Administration retires. I forecast that we will have either more taxes or more inflation. Neither, however, need come in 1963. The stock market may discount the expected inflation by temporarily continuing above 600 on the Dow-Jones Industrial Average. The November elections indicate that the voters want a "welfare state" and I believe this means more inflation rather than more taxes. The old saying, "We cannot have our cake and eat it too," is certainly true today. The elections referred to above indicate that the majority of voters really believe they can have all these temporal benefits such as medical care for the aged, medical and hospital payments, more social security, etc., without having to pay the bill either through increased taxes or through inflation.

With all that is promised to young people in the form of free education, college scholarships, etc., in addition to the above-mentioned help, this means that the employed people, from ages 25 to 65, must carry the entire burden. Sometimes they will rebel, but it will not be in 1963 although it might come at the next presidential election. Certainly the enactment of a "real" all-inclusive tax cut is no sure thing. It may look good to the "working man" but not to investors or employers.

The United States Dollar and Gold
The purchasing power of our dollar will gradually be less, but this statement applies also to the currency of all countries. If our dollar declines in value it will be the same for every nation. If we devalue the dollar or temporarily look prosperous by phony book-keeping, the other nations will gradually follow suit and we will all wind up where we started.

The dollar will not be devalued in 1963, although the Wall Street and Lombard Street brokers will put out propaganda to the contrary.

Now, a final word with regard to gold. The United States will continue to lose gold on balance during 1963. The only way to prevent it in 1963 is for us to export more goods and import less.

This would require certain sacrifice on the part of our people. Since my trip to Africa, I have concluded that the answer is in producing more gold rather than leaving it underground. If gold had a free market, its production would increase naturally and it would then represent one of the safest and most profitable investments available today. Another one may be uranium oxide.

Of course, large quantities of gold may be found on the surface of the moon—which brings me to my final subject, which I hope readers will take seriously.

Going To The Moon
Nobody will reach the moon in 1963 or in 1964, but you will see more and more about it in the newspapers during 1964—or 1965. Do not think that the United States will be the only country preparing for this trip. Russia, England, France, Germany, and possibly China are preparing today to go to the moon. With labor getting 15 cents for a twelve-hour day in China and with booster engines purchasable abroad, China may be the first to get to the moon. China does not need to be a member of the United Nations in order to send a rocket and three men to the moon and return. China's trip to the moon may be financed by foreign capital. China will win the territory it wants in India and ultimately get Burma.

Buying of "going to the moon" stocks may become a very active speculation. The original boosters will be paid for by some government, but their operation will be left for profit. The situation may compare with our great "gold rush" in 1849. However, it will not be limited to gold, but will also include diamonds, platinum, and perhaps other elements which are not yet in our chemistry books. My great-grandparents were all seafaring men taking people from New England down the East Coast of South America around the Horn and up the Pacific Coast—a trip of two months. The astravants say that they can make the trip to the moon easily in less than four days. One naïf thought: If the Kennedy Administration gets into too much of a jam between taxes and inflation, the promotion of trips to the moon may pull then out of their troubles. By enticing private capital which is now in need of some attractive speculative investments, this might even bring about another big stock market boom in the late Sixties.

THOR RESEARCH CENTER FOR BETTER FARM LIVING

There are a lot of sawing tasks in farm and home repair, maintenance, and workshop projects. And it wasn't too long ago that the home craftsman had to search through a pile of hand saws looking for the proper one to cut in wood, metal, plastics, and other materials.

Thanks to the research and development in the portable electric tool industry there are now jig saws available that do the job of several different hand saws—and do it almost effortlessly on the part of the user.

The two old standby hand saws are, of course, the cross-cut and rip models. Used to cut across the grain, the cross-cut is held at a 45-degree angle and has teeth bent alternately on each side. The rip saw, used for cutting with the wood grain, has more chisel-shaped teeth.

But with the development of the lightweight electric jig saws, the home and farm craftsman can depend on them for cross cutting, ripping, notch and scroll cutting—virtually all types of sawing in practically every kind of material.

Some of the newest jig saws weigh only four pounds. They come with metal and wood cutting blades. Low-priced models have oilite bearings, higher priced ones have ball and needle bearings.

Businessmen Protected From Unfair Competition

By Paul Rand Dixon
Chairman, Federal Trade Commission

The Congress has authorized the Federal Trade Commission to prohibit by cease and desist orders "unfair methods of competition in commerce and unfair or deceptive acts or practices in commerce." The FTC strives to protect the honest businessman from an unfair competitor and the consuming public from unfair and deceptive acts and practices.

A competitive free enterprise system has greater assurance of growth and vitality when the anti-trust laws and the statutes prohibiting unfair competition are vigorously enforced.

The greater number of proceedings by the FTC relate to deceptive acts and practices including false and misleading representations as to the quality, quantity, effectiveness and place of origin of goods sold in interstate commerce.

False and misleading price comparison receive our constant attention in order to protect the consumer against fictitious bargains. To prevent pricing practices that deceive the consumer, the FTC has published a pamphlet entitled "Guides Against Deceptive Pricing."

Other guides of general application for consumer protection published are Guides Against Bait Advertising, Guides for Advertising Shell Homes, and Guides Against Deceptive Advertising of Guarantees.

Because of the broad authority of the FTC to prevent deceptive practices, we are able to proceed against new and ingenious practices resulting in consumer deception.

Some of the most objectionable cases of deceptive advertising concern the promotion of "earn-at-home" schemes. Use of deceptive practices in the sale of correspondence courses is another activity that is especially reprehensible. The bait in these cases may be a false promise of future employment.

Other practices which the FTC prohibits are the use of scare tactics to induce purchases of home repairs or home appli-

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

The Twentieth Century formula on how to succeed in politics without really trying is to find out what a large bloc of voters would like free, then figure out way to make them think they are getting it free.

***

This basically explains the strike of doctors in the Canadian province of Saskatchewan against the socialist government of Premier Woodrow C. W. Harder Lloyd which had forced into law a medicare program. How this crisis will be resolved is still a moot question.

***

Some U. S. newspapers with apparent leanings to left are appalled at the action of the doctors. Yet from all reports, majority of the people in this Canadian province are quite bitter toward government for creating such a crisis.

***

There is a sobering thought here. If the U. S. government follows a present proposal to bring a portion of American medical practice under the control of bureaucratic direction, there is no predicting what the American doctors will do.

***

If they should adopt the strategy of the Canadian medical men, it is a certainty that they and the American Medical Association will be more bitterly attacked than they are at present for merely opposing the drive to sacrifice the integrity of American medicine for political expediency.

***

Most men do not primarily enter medicine for monetary gain. There has to be a great humanitarian impulse to cause a young man to give up many of the golden years of young manhood in hard grinding study. And of course, between the cost of his education, and the income he could otherwise earn, the doctor has invested $50,000 before he can even start to practice.

***

Yet even today there is a snide attempt to infer that the opposition of doctors to medicare is due to selfishness.

***

Unfortunately, the doctors are in a small minority, thus prime target for demagoguery.

***

After all, medical men devote their lives to the mysteries of healing not vote chasing. To paraphrase a famous saying of Benjamin Franklin, "a doctor between two politicians is like a fish between two cats."

***

Thus, in its proper light, the battle is between integrity and insidious socialism. For doctors on the average are people of the highest integrity, because obstacles young man must overcome to become a doctor comprises most brutal selection system yet devised.

***

There has been no Billie Sol Estes scandals in the conduct of American medicine.

***

And doctors, with a psychological insight in human nature, know that once the bureaucratic mind that set up the Estes affair gets any measure of control over medicine, it will be disastrous to the nation's health. Cuban masses cheered Castro when he promised land reform... but he gave them food rationing.

SPORTING TIPS

Box Mattress

Campers, here's an idea for double duty packaging that can save you from a sleepless night or two in camp. Simply use a fair-sized cardboard box to lug in part of your gear to base camp. Then, disassemble it to make a ground cloth under your sleeping bag or air mattress. If sleeping on rough ground, it could save your air mattress from a puncture; in cold weather it acts as an insulating shield.

Oar Holds For Cartoppers

Cut king-size rubber bands out of inner tubes and slip these over underside of seats. Then, slip the oars through loops on either end so tension holds them snugly and quietly upside down. With proper fit, you'll find oars held tight enough to function as lift on and off handles.

Emergency Weedless Hook

Have you ever been in the situation where you'd catch fish if you could make a certain lure weedless . . . but didn't have a light piece of wire to do so? Try this next time: Ball a piece of war paper or aluminum foil around the hook or hooks. A hubber hand slipped over shank helps hold it steady. Weeds will slip past but a fish will collapse wrapping and be hooked.

Cricket Catcher

Collecting crickets for bait can be a problem or it can be easy. One easy way calls for hollowing out the inside of an uncut loaf of white bread. Cut it in two to hollow, then tape it back together. Next step is to open a hole in one end the size of a quarter. Now, park it in a likely spot overnight. Next morning, open up and pour the captured critters out.

Pin Up Game Carrier

A few "horseblanket" safety pins in your game pocket can serve as emergency game carriers.

Three Fast Ones

(1) Stuck in the sand? Pour a bucketful of water around the tire. It will pack sand, aid traction. (2) When storing reels for the winter, tie line around match stick, draw up tight. (3) A plastic pillow case with zipper makes a fine camp suitcase. Can be easily stowed, is waterproof, inexpensive, holds plenty.

Where's The Beer

It's a fact. Full beer cans stay where you put them under water without any deterioration. At least over relatively short periods. Stow a six pack or two opening day on the bottom near a remembered landmark and you'll have a cool one on tap.

(Try for a $50 prize. Send your tip to A.A. Contest, Sports Afield, 959 8th Ave., New York 19, N.Y.)

Tax Forms

Now Available

Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and the District of Columbia, announced this week that the 1962 Federal income tax forms are available in all Internal Revenue offices in the Baltimore District for certified public accountants, attorneys, accountants and other persons who prepare returns for the taxpaying public.

Individuals who filed returns last year will receive their 1962 tax forms in the mail around the last week in December, Machiz said.

The Director further stated that individuals should wait until they receive their forms in the mail before requesting them from local Internal Revenue offices. However, taxpayers filing for the first time should request tax forms. Not receiving a form in the mail does not exempt anyone from filing a return if required to do so.

In Collision

Gettysburg Borough voice were called Monday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock when a car operated by Rita A. Remaveg, Emmitsburg, collided with a station wagon driven by Francis L. Groft, Gettysburg, in the first block of Chambersburg St., Gettysburg. Police, who estimated damage to Mrs. Remaveg's car at $60 and Groft's station wagon at $10, said Groft halted for traffic ahead and Mrs. Remaveg was unable to stop her car quickly enough.

Christmas decorations created by the home craftsman for tree, table, and mantle have been more and more in evidence in recent years. Perhaps it's a turn back to Grandmother's day when popcorn and cranberry strings were in vogue. Perhaps it's just a revolt from mass-produced baubles.

In any case, the holiday scene in many homes is given distinction by ornaments and decorative effects handmade with simple artistry and fireside ingenuity. Plywood cutouts of angels and Santas dressed in colorful costumes of paint, tree hangings made with painted, used flash bulbs, lovingly constructed nativity scenes — family-made things like these add much to devotional spirit of the season. Remember, in painting small irregular objects, difficult to handle with a brush, "Duco" spray magic enamel in an aerosol container comes into its own. A push of the finger tip and — pouf — a small object is bright with color. Then, using artist brushes dipped in enamel, the finishing touches go on. Try making your own decorations. It's loads of fun and you'll surprise yourself.

with frayed bottoms, a wool shirt with the elbow worn through, and a shooting jacket that had seen better days—not a very handsome outfit but they belong to a special breed of man, a grouse hunter.

With a short barreled, open bored shotgun he moves slowly, threading his way through the honeysuckle and grapevines. Now and then he pauses by a likely bit of cover hoping for that tell-tale sound of a flushing bird. His mind is strictly on the business at hand but his legs tell him that it must be getting late. Suddenly a grouse explodes from its cover, then the shot, a thud, and the sound of wings beating the leaves. In the next few moments this man changes completely. That bird in his jacket feels warm against his back and the weariness is gone from his legs. His better judgment tells him to head toward the car but something else says, "you might find another bird up on that next hill". An hour later finds him much farther from the car but that second bird in his coat makes the distance seem short. Later that evening as he sits by the fireplace he will relive this day in his mind—there will be other days, some not so fruitful.

If you have enjoyed such rewarding experiences as these, you are indeed a fortunate man. If you haven't, you are missing the most thrilling type of hunting. In my case, I have killed bucks in the deer woods of Pennsylvania, the majestic Canadian geese on the Eastern Shore, the colorful Mallards in the Pin Oak swamps of Arkansas, but I never was as thrilled as the day I scored a "double" on grouse. Two grouse bursting from cover, two shots, and the only thing I could say was "Son of a gun", or was that what I said? Seeing my bird dog splashing through that mountain stream with a fat grouse stuffed in her mouth was a sight I'm not likely to forget. "Suzy," my bird dog and I both had a grin on our faces as we drove home that day—we were kind of tickled with ourselves.

 A French-British "Concorde" jet airliner capable of twice the speed of sound may threaten the U. S. hold on the jet market by 1970 if joint plans by the two countries come to fruition. French and British aviation companies, subsidized by their governments up to $370 million, plan to develop a thin delt-wing craft that will whisk 90 passengers from London to New York in less than three hours. The U. S. is concerned, but aviation people here remain interested only in developing a Mach 3 (2,000 m.p.h.) plane, calling Mach 2 a strictly "short-term answer."
