Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

The recent rash of automobile accidents on the new by-pass is indicative that some additional remedial changes must be made to prevent motorists from killing themselves and others. Within the past 10 days three separate accidents, two of them involving three cars, occurred at the dangerous new intersection. Two of the three mishaps happened at the intersection of Rts. 15 and 97 where blinker lights have been erected. Without question some sort of blinking system should be installed at the Toll Gate Hill intersection. How to correct the condition at the worst of the intersections, 15 and 97, is really something for the State Roads Commission to work on. There seems to be only one solution for the future and that is an overpass. It is not just enough to install lights and say that if people are dumb enough to be killed. Actually it is our duty to protect them from themselves. Just think of the poor innocent victims.

I have received a request from an out-of-towner who is seeking information on the late Michael O'Shaughnessy who is supposed to have died here in 1946. Should anyone here know of Mr. O'Shaughnessy, or his relatives, I would appreciate hearing from them. Seems that a relative now attending Notre Dame University and who is writing his Master's thesis on Mr. O'Shaughnessy, would very well like this information. If you have any information please let us know.

Efforts are now being made by certain individuals and groups throughout the County to have the present session of the State Legislature enact legislation to provide a roving registration for this county in future elections. The move is a prudent one we believe and our two local central committees should play an active part in the movement. Remember, it was but a few short months ago when an attempt to hold a field registration here and it was blocked? Now is the proper time to remedy this condition and to eliminate the imposition of having to go to Frederick to register. An all-out effort should be made right now to make provisions for a local "field" registration, not only in Emmitsburg, but throughout the County.

With our local election only two short months away there is much speculation as to who will be the candidates for the town Commissionerships up for grabs. Incumbent Commissioner Flax has intimated that he would not seek re-election. A recent amendment to the Town Charter provides for an extra Commissioner, so two will have to be elected. Friends of Commissioner Flax are trying to convince him to reconsider but to date his mind is made up. There are many who would like to see the Commissioner stay in office. Many term him the "work horse" of the Council and appreciate his valuable contribution to the Town government. It would be regrettable to lose such a valuable asset to the Board and we openly encourage him to change his mind and continue in office for at least another three-year term.

HEADS LOCAL CANCER DRIVE

The Frederick County Cancer Drive will get under way next April, Chairman Grayson Bowers announced this week. Mr. Bowers, Frederick, is the Frederick County chairman and announces the appointment of Francis X. Ligorano, Student Union Director, Mt. St. Mary's College, as the Emmitsburg chairman. He will be assisted in the drive by C. Arthur Elder, last year's drive chairman. Messrs. Ligorano and Elder will take charge of the local rural routes and Mr. Bowers announced that the Ladies' Auxiliary to the VFW, with Mrs. Rita Byard as chairman, will handle the drive in Emmitsburg proper. Solicitors will be named in the near future by the chairmen. Last year's drive netted the Cancer Fund over $260. It is hoped to top this sum with this year's drive which it is planned, will be more extensive.

M-D Tourney Scheduled For Mount

By Bob Gosser

Mount St. Mary's Memorial Gymnasium will be the scene of this year's Mason-Dixon Conference Tournament to be held next week, February 25-27. As of Wednesday morning, the host Mountaineers were in first place in the Conference's Northern Division, 10-2, with Loyola and Catholic U 9-2 and Western Maryland 7-2. In the tournament, four games will be played the first night, two the following night, and the championship clash Saturday night. There will be eight teams in the tourney, the top four teams from each division. The first place clubs from each division will face the fourth place teams in the other division, and the second place clubs will meet the third place teams of the opposite division. The final positioning of teams probably won't be decided until all the league games have been played, but the entrants from the North shape up to be Mount St. Mary's, Loyola, Catholic U, and Western Maryland. In the South it looks like Randolph-Macon, Hampden Sydney, Roanoke, and Bridgewater.

Either Randolph - Macon or Hampden Sydney should cop the Southern Division crown. Hampden, 8-2, trails Randolph, 9-2 by one-half game, while Roanoke, 6-6, seems secure in third with Bridgewater, 5-8, established in fourth. Each of the four Northern Division teams has a chance for the top spot. Loyola, Mount, Catholic and Western Maryland, each have but two defeats, but the Mounties have won more games and have to remain undefeated through the last two games to cop the crown.

Tickets for the tournament will be sold on a per night basis, according to John J. Dillon, Director of Athletics at the Mount. Both general admission and reserved seat tickets will be sold each night. Starting time for the opening night games is 5:00 p.m. Friday's first game begins at 7:30 with the second beginning at 9:30. The championship game will tip off at 8:02 o'clock Saturday night. The winner of the tournament secures a berth in the NCAA Small College Regional playoffs.

Mrs. Rose I. Shorb, 211 North Seton Avenue, observed her birthday anniversary recently. Mrs. J. Walter Kugler and Mr. and Mrs. Quay Hartman, Fairfield, spent an evening recently with Mrs. Rose Shorb.

Mounties Cop Conference Lead; Down A. U.

By Bob Gosser

Splitting two non-league games during the past week, Mount St. Mary's trounced Mason-Dixon Conference foe Washington College, 107-69, last Sunday. The Mounties had dropped a 90-78 overtime decision to Rider, Friday, but recovered in time for their Conference win, then outpointed Shepherd State 119-104, Monday. Against Washington, the Mount held a shaky 44-38 halftime edge, but soared to easy victory with a 63 point second half burst. Thirteen men scored for Jim Phelan's Mount, Bernie Haag spear-heading the attack with 23 and Pete Johnston drilling 19. Ed Folk added 12 and John Carrell, 10.

For Washington Rich Carroll had 23 and Tom Finnegan, the state's top scorer with a 29.7 average, netted 20.

Leading Rider at the half, 43-31, Friday night, the Mount collapsed in the game's final four minutes, allowing the Broncos to knot the score and win in overtime. Rider grabbed a 76-74 lead with 2:49 remaining, but the Mount's John Carrell banked a deuce and jammed the count, 76-76, with 2:04 to play. The Saints recovered the ball and froze it for the final minute, then missed a shot at the buzzer.

Rider completely dominated the extra period, scoring 11 points before the Mount made a basket. With 1:40 left Rider led 87-76, all but having clinched the win. It was the Mounties first home loss since early last season. The Saints had previously beaten Rider, 79-67 in the Trenton Tourney this year.

John Carrell paced the Mount with 21 markers, and Pete Johnston chipped in with 16.

Riding the crest of John Carrell's 21 second half tallies, the Mount downed Shepherd State, 119-104, Monday. Carrell broke a tight game wide open with his scoring deluge. The Mount led only 54-49 at the half before pulling away with a 65-55 second half advantage. The victors hit 55 per cent of their shots in the free-scoring contest, whereas the hosts sank only 45 per cent.

Bernie Haag was high man for the Mount with 32, while Carrell had 29 and Pete Johnston 16.

As of Tuesday, Mount St. Mary's sported a 17-4 overall record, and rested 10-2 in first place in the Mason-Dixon Conference. Loyola led the conference pack with a 9-1 mark, but the Greyhounds were defeated by Catholic U. Tuesday night and still have Towson and Washington College on their schedule. The Mount will journey to Western Maryland, 7-2, tonight, for its final league game before the Mason-Dixon Tournament to be held here next week, Feb. 25-27.

By-Pass Score Now Totals 10 Wrecks; 4 Dead

Six more motorists were injured in accidents on the new Route 15 by-pass of Emmitsburg during the past week.

The two most recent accidents there occurred on Friday and Sunday and brought the total number of accidents at that scene to 10, with four fatalities, since the new stretch of highway was opened on Dec. 11. On Saturday, Feb. 6, three people were injured in a three-car crash at the Toll Gate Hill intersection near Durdash's 66 Service Station. Last Friday a 60-year-old Blue Ridge Summit woman suffered several fractured ribs and lacerations of the face in an accident at the intersection of Rt. 97 and Rt. 15 by-pass, near the Arthur Elder property, when the automobile in which she was a passenger failed to stop at a stop signal and struck a north-bound auto broadside.

Ann H. Hershey was admitted to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, after a car operated by Ella Mae Buffington, 65, Blue Ridge Summit, traveling west on Rt. 97, failed to stop at the intersection and struck the right side of a 1964 Ford sedan operated by Fred Dewitt Miller, 57, Hershey, Pa. Mrs. Buffington suffered bruises of the face and body but refused medical attention. Miller was not injured.

Trooper E. F. Tracey, Maryland State Police, who investigated the accident, placed the blame for the mishap on the woman operator, who has not yet been charged. Five persons were treated at the Warner Hospital for injuries received early Sunday afternoon when two cars collided at the intersection of Rts. 15 and 97 in Emmitsburg.

Kenneth Koontz, 23, Annapolis, driver of one car, received treatment for a laceration of the scalp; his wife, 24, for brush burns of the right leg, lacerations of the left knee and contusions of the right forehead, and Mrs. Norman Linsay, 48, Myersville, mother of Mrs. Koontz, for abrasions of the left leg and knee.

Helen Merceraus, 65, Hagerstown, driver of the other car, suffered contusions of the left shoulder and right leg, and a passenger, Elizabeth Krebes, 62, Hagerstown, suffered a laceration of the scalp, contusions of the back and right hip.

All victims of the three accidents were taken to the hospital in the VFW ambulance. Drivers were Paul E. Humerick and Leo M. Boyle.

PAM Discusses Good Grooming

The "Best-Looking" There they go hand in hand. Such a good looking couple—no wonder they won the best-looking award. But what made them win—they are not exceptionally good looking—why do they always present such a good appearance—and how could you make heads turn as they do?

They say clothes make the woman—but Mary's clothes aren't the most stylish. They are always pressed and worn in good taste. She knows what styles become her and dresses accordingly. Since stretch slacks are not as becoming on her as the faded slacks, Mary sticks to the wool type. No—it's not stylish clothes but rather well-kept ones worn with taste.

Bob is no different for he hasn't a cashmere sweater on today but rather a clean shirt and pressed pants. And is that a shine on his shoes we see—impossible for he's a teenager! These kids don't wear the very best clothes, but just make the best of the clothes they have.

Could it be Mary's hair—clean, neat, shiny and worn in such a flattering way? She knows that her daily hairdo can not be teased to Prom heights nor can she flatteringly wear the long straight Joan Baez look. So Mary has decided to make it her "Crowning Glory" and wears it simply yet in a flattering way. She takes pride in her hair and as a result never has that "should have washed my hair last night" look, or that too teased look that should be called purposefully windblown.

Bob could never pose as a user of "that greasy kid stuff" or as another Ringo. His hair is cut in such a fashion that his face can be seen—you know that clean cut look.

Now that we have mentioned faces—let's look at Mary and Bob's. "No, they're not exceptionally good-looking", you decide as you muse again on what makes them so attractive.

Mary has made the best of her youth—the God-given color in her cheeks has not been erased by Max Factor or the natural lines of her eyebrows completely changed by Maybelline. Mary has used make-up as it is to be used—that is not to be seen or recognized as make-up but used so that her natural good-looks are improved. Neither has she a china-doll look or the washed out look, but a clear, clean, natural look of a sixteen year old teenager.

Bob's face needless to say need not be discussed as a walking ad for Maybelline. His face shows the happy results of Mother's harping—a clean face is a clean complexion. Girl's amazingly enough aren't the only ones who wash their face for a clear complexion.

So there it is, we've looked closely at Mary and Bob, and see not that they were not naturally endowed the best-looking but that they worked at it. They developed the qualities of cleanliness and good-grooming. These seem to be their secret of success, how about making it yours? So that next time I walk down Main Street, I will be able to remark, "My but these kids are well groomed and awfully good-looking."

Til next week

Car Thieves Captured After Wild Night Chase

Two Baltimore men a woman, who had a teen-age hitchhiker in their car, led Gettysburg, Pennsylvania State, Emmitsburg Police Chief Wilmer Law, and several Maryland State Police cars and Westminster officers Friday night on a 90-mile-an-hour chase that started on Buford Avenue in Gettysburg and ended near the Westminster High School. During the chase the car of Chief Law and a Maryland State Police vehicle were damaged.

The trio, whose names were listed by Gettysburg police as Ralph Edward Catlett, Albert Andrew Downes and Julia Ann Ogden, all of Baltimore, are in the Westminster jail. The hitchhiker was identified as Leon M. Cowan, Orrtanna R1. The car they were driving was reportedly stolen in Baltimore.

The two men and the woman were arrested on foot five blocks from where they abandoned their car in Westminster. The most frightened person in the group was the teen-ager from Caledonia who had "hitched" a ride with the trio on Chambersburg St. about 11:15 o'clock Friday night and then was taken on the wild ride.

As Gettysburg police told the story Officer Russel Potter Jr. and Cumberland Twp. Policeman Bernard V. Miller Sr., who was serving as a borough policeman for that shift, received a report that a car was "racing through alleys". They stopped a car of that description on Buford Ave. but when Potter started towards the vehicle the driver took off toward Seminary Ridge. The pursued car turned into the Fairfield Rd. where state police joined the chase. The officers pursued the car through Fairfield, into Emmitsburg where Officer Law joined the chase after calling Maryland State Police to assist.

At a roadblock on the Taneytown Rd. the fleeing car bypassed the two police vehicles and sped on. On the four-lane highway leading into Westminster four other Maryland police vehicles joined the chase.

Police efforts to force the fleeing car off the road failed. Law's machine was damaged when he attempted to stop the pursued motorist. A Maryland trooper's car was damaged when he attempted to ram the escapee's car from the rear.

Finally a Maryland officer severed the oil line of the fleeing car with one shot.

At Westminster the trio fled on foot, leaving the hitchhiker alone in the car.

Police and police dogs captured the trio five blocks farther on in Westminster.

What may be stolen merchandise was found in the abandoned car which had been stolen in Baltimore Thursday.

Dr. Allison's Father Dies After Crash

Rev. Wilbur M. Allison, 74, Gettysburg, and father of Dr. James Allison, former Emmitsburg physician, died Saturday afternoon at 12:05 o'clock in the Warner Hospital. The Adams County coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, said the death was caused by multiple fractures of the face, suffered in an automobile accident at Zora February 7, and by terminal pneumonia.

Mrs. Allison, the former Laura Ruth Gemmil, 70, is still a patient at the hospital from severe injuries sustained in the accident. Her condition is listed as serious. She suffered a fractured skull, arm fracture and lacerations of the face.

The accident occurred at 4:10 p.m., Sunday, February 7, as Rev. Mr. Allison was seeking to turn into the parking lot at a restaurant at the Zora intersection when his car was in a collision with a westbound auto operated by C. Lenins Baker, 36, Waynesboro R1. Baker was treated at the hospital for cuts of the lips, knee and chest. The car of the Rev. Mr. Allison, which had been headed east on the Sunshine Trail at the time of the accident, was swung around by the impact and was also in a collision with another eastbound auto operated by Mrs. C. Richard Harner, 42, E. Main St., Emmitsburg, who escaped injury.

Delegates Favor Smaller Bond Issue For Schools

An official decision on the amount of a school bond issue for Frederick County is expected in the near future. C. Clifton Virts, chairman of the delegation, said discussion of the bond issue and other major legislative matters was postponed due to the illness of Sen. John A. Derr.

The county's legislative delegation to Annapolis, however, appears to favor the smaller figure of $5 million rather than the $7 million requested by county school administrators.

Virts said the delegates felt they would like to confer with the senator before making a final decision on the amount of bonds for which they will seek authorization.

Frederick's county commissioners described projects that could be completed with either a $5 or a $7 million bond issue to the delegates at Annapolis. Virts said "It looses like it'll be $5 million." Other members of the delegation echoed Virts' feelings and indicated they would rather have the county seek authorization for another bond issue in two years than to grant the full $7 million now.

Delegation Views Mount Building

Dr. Warren D. Bowman, president of Bridgewater College, Va., accompanied by Donald Clague, Dean of Students, and a delegation of faculty members and student representatives visited Mount St. Mary's College on Monday to inspect the Cogan Union building.

The Cogan Union has been selected as a model for student union facilities by the American Association of School Administrators. It was designed by the architect firm of May & Ruppert, Washington, D. C., and constructed by the Henry Knott Construction Co. of Baltimore. It was opened in the fall of 1962 and is directed by Francis X. Ligorano.

Fragile Records

John E. Madden, for eleven consecutive years (1917-27) America's leading breeder of Thoroughbreds, was credited with as many turf maxims as he was winners. One of his sayings was: "Opinions die; it is only the records that stand." In Thoroughbred racing, however, the records don't stand for very long. When Citation became the first equine millionaire it was thought that his record would have some durability, but four horses have since won more money, and during 1964 Kelso raised the record to $1,893,362. Last year the 2-year-old Sadair earned $498,216; the record for 2-year-olds he broke had stood for only two years, having been established by Never Bend with earnings of $402,969 in 1962. Of the fourteen commonly run distances on the list of American time records, 12 were established in the last decade and the other two in the early 1950's. In winning his fifth consecutive Jockey Club Gold Cup at 2 miles last year Kelso broke his own American record for the distance. The only seemingly durable records in the book are for distances rarely if ever run, such as Joe Murphy's mark for 2 1/4 miles set in 1894 and Loretta Borgia's 4-mile record which goes back to 1897. In 1913 when Whisk Broom II won the 1 1/4 mile Suburban Handicap in two minutes flat, the time was disputed and it was thought an erroneous record would stand forever in the books. Today the record for 1 1/4 miles is 1:38-1/5 run by Noor at Golden Gate Fields in 1950.

100 YEARS AGO

COLUMBIA, S. C., BURNS; CHARLESTON EVACUATED

BY LON K. SAVAGE

Columbia, the capital of South Carolina, was sacked and burned 100 years ago this week and before the flames had gone out, Charleston, South Carolina's biggest port where the Civil War began, dropped like a ripe plum into the Federal army's hands.

The two events, coming simultaneously, effectively ended South Carolina's existence as an active Confederate state and set off demonstrations of jubilation throughout the North. At long last, Fort Sumter, the site of the Civil War's first battle, was back in Federal control. And the size of the Confederacy had shrunk to less than two states.

The burning of Columbia caused arguments for generations, but one thing is not debatable: from one-half to two-thirds of the city was destroyed in a conflagration that was needless.

When Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's 60,000 veterans neared Columbia, panic seized the city. Many residents fled; Confederate soldiers abandoned the city; mobs formed, and by the time the Yanks arrived, freed convicts, Negroes and others were looting stores.

Columbia's Mayor rode out to greet the Federals and surrendered the city unconditionally on February 17, but that did not save the devastation. Federal troops poured into the city, and somehow the fire started.

Federals reported that Confederate cavalymen set fire to cotton bales before departing, and that set off the conflagration. Confederates countered that Federal soldiers caused the fire. Probably, both sides contributed to it.

To make matters worse, the Federal troops found liquor awaiting them in the city (Federals charged it was given them by Columbia citizens), and Sherman, himself, noted some of his soldiers were drunk in the streets.

At any rate, that night, February 17, the holocaust broke out, and a gale wind blew the flames from house to house, block to block. Federal soldiers and Columbia citizens both worked to put the fire out, but they could not. And while some tried to fight the fire, others looted and sacked homes and stores.

Wind Changes

The wind changed about 4 a.m. next day, and finally the fire burned out, but more than half the city lay in ashes, chimneys standing solitary among the ruins. Hundreds of residents had fled from their homes and wandered in the streets.

Sherman, himself, was angry about the burning, but he resumed his warfare. Those buildings that could contribute to the war—depots, arsenals, granaries, factories—were destroyed if they had escaped the fire. And two days later, Sherman and his men pushed on northward.

When Columbia fell, Charleston was useless to the Confederacy. It was cut off both by land and sea now, and the small group of Confederate soldiers there rode off to the north, hoping to stop Sherman in North Carolina. Federals immediately entered, and the Union flag, for the first time in four years, was raised over the ruins that had once been Fort Sumter.

The importance of the fall of the two cities could not be under-estimated. A war clerk in Richmond wrote in his diary: "My wife wept, my daughter prayed, upon hearing the news."

Next week: Wilmington falls.

Helpful Income Tax Information Listed

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws, which will help them to prepare better and more accurate returns and pay their just tax, no more, no less. Clip and save for help in preparing your 1964 tax return.

The Overall Provisions Of The 1964 Revenue Act—continued

The tax avoidance device of selling property for deferred payments without specifying the interest being charged is eliminated. This will be done by treating the sale—for tax purposes—as if a reasonable interest had been charged. The device of taking a low capital gains rate on the amount of interest, instead of the ordinary tax rate which would have been applicable if the amount of interest had been made clear in the contract, is thus made impossible. The contracts concerned must be of longer duration than 1 year, and must involve $3,000 or more.

An interest deduction is no longer allowed for indebtedness in connection with what is popularly called "minimum deposit or bank loan insurance." This will end the practice of some high-bracket taxpayers of devising systematic schemes to finance the cost of life insurance through the device of tax deductions, which, when added to tax-exempt build-up in cash values, produce a profit greater than the actual interest cost. This provision will not affect the normal use of life insurance policies as collateral for borrowing.

The limitation on deducting travel expenses for that part of a business trip within the U. S. which is devoted to pleasure is repealed.

Americans residing abroad for more than 3 years may exclude from income subject to U. S. tax their first $25,000 of earnings. This exclusion is lowered from the $35,000 previously allowed. The ceiling on tax-free earnings of Americans who stay abroad for shorter periods is left unchanged.

If a wife has not held a job at least 10 years, she is not eligible for the retirement income credit when she reaches 65 or over, even though her husband qualifies. Under the new law, a married couple both 65 or over may take a retirement income up to a maximum of $2,286. They will be eligible for this increased maximum if either husband or wife meets the earnings test to qualify for the credit.

Capital Gains

The rules governing tax treatment of real estate other than land are tightened so that the portion of capital gain resulting from excess depreciation will be taxed at much lower capital gain tax rates. The practice of taking excess depreciation and then selling property proved such a profitable means of tax avoidance that it led to widespread creation of so-called "real estate tax shelters" which existed primarily as a tax avoidance device. The quick and large profits available from such operations encouraged pyramiding of such holdings into financial structures based almost entirely on a quirk in the tax law, rather than on any legitimate business enterprise. The amount of gain which is attributable to excess of depreciation is scaled down from 100 per cent on sales within the first 20 months of holding to zero at the end of 10 years.

The rules governing stock options are tightened to limit the practice of using such options as a device to offer executives a profit—above and beyond salary—with little or no risk, rather than as a means of extending ownership in the company to management.

There are six major changes, which will: (1) eliminate the spread between option price and selling price at the time the option is granted; (2) extend the holding period for stocks purchased under options; (3) eliminate the practice of "resetting" the option price if the market price drops; (4) shorten the period during which options must be exercised; (5) deny stock option tax treatment to "substantial" shareholders of a corporation; and (6) require shareholders' approval of option plans within a certain time.

The rules concerning the carry-over of capital losses are liberalized to extend the period from 5 years to an indefinite number of years. A net capital loss incurred in a given year may be used to offset as much as $1,000 of ordinary income subject to tax. If the actual loss exceeds this ceiling, it may be applied against $1,000 of ordinary income until the capital loss is exhausted.

For further information contact your local Internal Revenue office.

Students Begin Teacher Training

Thirty-one seniors at Mount St. Mary's College, who are enrolled in the Education curriculum, began their professional semester on Monday, Feb. 1. The professional semester, as explained by Prof. Gerald C. Orosz, Department Chairman, occurs in the last, or eighth semester of study and consists of an intensive program of professional teacher training composed of six weeks of course work followed by nine weeks of student teaching in area high schools.

The six weeks of course work is under the supervision of the department with special methods courses taught by faculty members who have experience in teaching a particular subject. This program follows the recommendations of the Maryland State Department of Education.

In addition to Pro. Orosz, who formerly taught biology, other special methods teachers for the term are: Mr. Bernard S. Kaliss, English; Mr. Thomas D. Ryan, Mathematics; and Mr. Joseph E. Flaherty, History. Classes meet for one hour sessions five days a week.

The student teaching phase of the program is the culminating activity of the education major's college career and is designed to prepare him as much as possible to step into the secondary school classroom as a qualified teacher. Each student is assigned to an area high school under the supervision of a critic teacher in that school who is qualified in the practice teacher's subject area. Spending nine weeks, the student teacher under the critical eye of his experienced mentor, observes and gradually assumes the full teaching duties of the respective class or classes.

This year twelve area high schools are cooperating in the program including both Gettysburg Junior and Senior High Schools, Taneytown High School, Walkersville High School, Emmitsburg High School, St. Joseph's High School, Fairfield High School, Waynesboro East and West Junior High Schools, and Waynesboro High School, Littleton High School, and Hanover High School.

Seniors participating from Emmitsburg are: Laurence F. Orendorf, John C. Umbel and Ralph F. Ireland, Jr.

A balanced diet consists of a variety of fruits, vegetables, cereals, meat, fish, milk and eggs and their products.

"Our nation was created to help strike away the chains of ignorance and misery and tyranny wherever they keep man less than God means him to be. . . . We have built a military power strong enough to meet any threat and destroy any adversary. And that superiority will continue to grow so long as this office is mine. . . ." ### Sugar Peas

Edible pods with only tiny peas inside (lower right) are shown in the bowl ready for eating. They're delicious!

Fresh peas, canned peas, frozen and dried peas are the kinds everyone knows and eats. But sugar peas, which are eaten with pods and all, are almost unknown. Widely grown and used both in Europe and the Orient, they are deliciously flavored, delicate and sweet.

There is no difference between growing sugar peas and ordinary peas. The distinction starts with harvesting for sugar peas must be picked when the pods are still flat, not yet distended with maturing peas.

By running your finger down the pod you can tell immediately if that pod is ready to pick. If you barely feel the tiny peas inside it, harvest time has arrived. When the pods grow larger and the peas mature, pods become tough and are inedible.

To cook sugar peas, first place a pat of butter in a saucepan, when it melts add the pods. Stir the two together until each pod is coated with butter. Add just enough water so the peas will cook without burning. About 10 minutes of cooking will find the pods tender but still a little crisp. Flavor with salt and pepper and serve.

A new variety of sugar pea named Sweetpod makes it possible to eat sugar peas in only 68 days from the time seeds are sown. Four-foot-long vines make chicken wire or brush supports necessary, but pods of 4½ inches long and ¾ inch wide result when this variety is chosen.

One of the most common discomforts of pregnancy is nausea, sometimes called "morning sickness." Experts estimate that about half of all pregnant women experience nausea for varying periods. Usually it occurs during the first three months of pregnancy, then disappears. Despite its nickname, it may occur at any time of day or night. Since nausea often can be overcome by intake of foods high in carbohydrates, doctors frequently advise their patients to have as many as five or six small snacks of a cookie or cracker with jelly a day. If nausea is severe and persists, the doctor may prescribe a drug.

However, pregnant women should take drugs ONLY when prescribed by a physician.

Baby's Skin Problems

By Dr. Louis B. Wexler
Attending Dermatologist
Beekman Downtown Hospital and
Fordham Hospital, New York

A baby's skin differs from that of an adult and requires special care. It is more sensitive and easily affected.

Not only is baby's skin thinner, it has less keratin, a protein substance which forms the base of the skin, and less pigment, the skin's coloring matter. With both of these substances in short supply, the ability of baby's skin to protect itself against sunlight, friction and changes in temperature is not as great as that of adults.

What is more, many of the sebaceous (oil) glands found in the skin of adults are not fully developed in the baby's skin. The baby's skin for example, has underdeveloped sebaceous glands in the diaper area; that is, in the groin and the anal regions. Thus, the protective oils secreted by the sebaceous glands are not present in the natural folds of skin in this area making these folds vulnerable to infection and disease.

Perhaps the most important element in the proper care of a baby's skin is the changing of the diaper as soon as it is wet or soiled. For three of the principal causes of diaper rash are contained in a wet diaper.

It is the natural decomposition of the urine in the diaper by certain bacteria that results in the foundation of ammonia, a powerful skin irritant. The wet diaper also seems to emphasize the presence of any traces of irritating soap and detergent which have not been completely rinsed away after washing. It also seems to be a suitable environment for the skin-irritating bacteria that have survived the diaper's washing because washing is not sterilizing.

Most doctors as well as the American Medical Association are agreed that the processing of diapers by a professional diaper service is far more effective in restraining the growth of ammon-

Infertility—the inability to conceive children—is a stubborn and often heartbreaking condition which is slowly yielding its secrets to medical scientists.

Doctors Robert Franklin, M.D., and C. Dean Dukes, Ph.D., of Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Texas, recently reported finding a new clue to unexplained infertility. After careful clinical tests, they established that some women are temporarily immune to their husband's sperm. Their systems build up antibodies which make the sperm ineffective.

The scientists reasoned that these antibodies would disappear in time if not stimulated. They suggested to 13 couples that for specified lengths of time they not have marital relations in which

TOWN OF EMMITSBURG CHARTER AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 13(e) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1964 Cumulative Supplement) the following is published as a fair summary of the proposed amendments to the Charter as passed by the Burgess and Commissioners at a special meeting on February 9, 1965, to become effective on the 50th day thereafter.

CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 7

This amendment provides for an additional Commissioner to be elected so that there will be four (4) instead of three (3) Commissioners.

CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 8

This amendment allows Commissioners to come from any precinct in the town. It removes the limitation of not more than two (2) Commissioners from any one precinct. Because the town elections are town-wide, the Commissioners will, in the future, represent the entire Town rather than one section as appears to have been contemplated in the past.

CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 9

This amendment gives the Burgess the power to act as a member of the Board of Commissioners in passing ordinances, rules, etc., and transacting business. It changes the votes required to override the veto of the Burgess from a unanimous vote to a majority.

Published by authority of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg in the Chronicle on February 19 and 26, and March 5 and 12.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson's Point Of View On: Devaluation Of The Dollar . . .

Gaulle of France concerning the need for something more stable than the dollar and the pound with which to settle debts between nations.

until a nation gets into real economic and financial trouble. Only when it is faced with serious deflation does a government resort to a hike in the price of gold—i.e., to devaluation of its currency.

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Luke 10:25-37. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.

that if he didn't mend his ways, the U. S. would find itself in the same mess that de Gaulle pulled France out of when he took over the helm at Paris in the late 1950's.

What Can We Do? Rather than worrying about what would happen if the dollar should be devalued — or struggling to think up ways we can "benefit" from inflation — we should work to make certain that the dollar is not devalued and that inflation does not run wild.

The first thing to do is to think right. Don't believe that perpetual prosperity is any more likely than perpetual happiness. Don't believe that tinkering with money and credit can keep business constantly climbing.

Green Thumb Tips

Because it always seems such a shame to spoil the garden picture by cutting flowers, the house often goes unadorned. Consider this year having a small cutting garden — a few rows of annuals planted just for cutting and indoor use.

The kinds of annuals will depend, of course, on your likes and dislikes but the flower colors of the varieties you grow should be selected to blend or contrast with the color schemes of the rooms in your house.

If you are a lover of Bibb, that crisp, sweet-flavored, buttery lettuce, but have been annoyed because it bolts to seed as soon as the weather warms, try growing Buttercrunch.

Special for new gardeners: The nicest thing about growing a first year garden of annual flowers is that any mistakes you make will be wiped out by frost.

Bigger and better crops of muskmelons result when the plants are kept mulched with black plastic. Try it!

Have you ever grown sweet suitans? These relatives of cornflowers or bachelor's buttons should be sown in early spring where they are to bloom.

Any tall weeds growing at the edges of the garden should be cut now and burned. They harbor eggs of many kinds of insects which, if left to hatch will result in damage to your garden.

a Dog's Life

TEACH BIRD DOG PUPPY BASIC COMMANDS

By Bob Bartos, Manager Friskies Pet Foods Research Center

If you're planning to train that bird dog puppy you got for Christmas to hunt, don't wait 'till he's six months old or until you get out to some wide open spaces.

Much can be done indoors in the largest, least cluttered room, or outdoors, right in your own backyard.

The basic commands for the hunting dog are the "sit" and "stay" which can be taught by the usual method, and the "come" and "whoa" which are not.

The "come" should be taught by word, by hand signal (the drop of an extended arm) and by whistle—two blasts or whatever you decide on.

Put your pup in the "sit", "stay" position. Call "come". Simultaneously drop your raised arm, blast away on the whistle and turn and run away from him, clapping your hands as you go.

For the "whoa" which is necessary to curb a dog's natural instinct to rush in and grab the bird, put the pup in the "sit" or "stay" position. Command "come". Run full steam away from the pup and then suddenly reverse and turn into him shouting "whoa" and extending your hand in the "stay" position.

Feeding tip: Friskies Puppy Food, which is formulated especially for the nutritional needs of the growing puppy, has a special beefy flavor which perks up his appetite.

goodness with weakness, for true goodness is one of the grand attributes of God. It keeps company with faith, love, courage, strength, justice, and mercy.

In 1919, President Woodrow Wilson was sitting at the peace table in Versailles, France, with Lloyd George, Vittorio Orlando, Georges Clemenceau, and others.

Prayer Our Father, help us to have the mind and heart and hand—the goodness—of the Samaritan of the Jericho road.

Thought For The Day To be good, as God is good, demands high aim, prayer, perseverance, and divine help.

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Grappling Hook Lose something overboard? Make your own grappling hook to find it. Just open all the hooks on your chain stringer.

Frozen In Don't give up if your favorite duck pond is frozen over. Take a five gallon can of water and add a cup of bluing to it.

Scope Clean An inner tube strip covers your scope in bad weather, removes instantly for fast shooting.

Red Flannel Many the wary old pike or pickerel has been caught on a piece of red flannel impaled on a hook and skittered across surface.

Frog's Legs Want some frog's legs? Also some high sport. Get a bright light, a sling shot and a supply of marbles.

Wax A Gun Wax your gun with auto wax. Put on a couple of coats. You'll never have to worry about it rusting as long as the wax coat stays on.

Boat Fender A truck inner tube makes a good boat fender. Inflate almost full and tie in center with light line. Has surprising strength.

Rustic Hat Rack You can make an attractive and rustic hat rack for your den by cutting a small oak tree. Trim it of leaves and small branches and mount it on a base.

LOOKING AHEAD
 by GEORGE S. BENSON
 President—National Student Reliance Council
 Spring, Arkansas

The Reds Activate A Campus
 A great deal of analytical editorial comment around the country continues to discuss the so-called "free speech" struggle on the Berkeley campus of the University of California. A coalition of student organizations, known as the Free Speech Movement, topped off a series of agitations which had continued for many weeks with an all-night sit-in strike in mid-December in which 800 persons, including many non-students and professional agitators, were carried limply to jail. Indications are that the Reds would like to export similar unrest to other large campuses.

In Arkansas, some debate on freedom of speech and the uses of propaganda recently followed refusal of University of Arkansas authorities to provide facilities for a Bulgarian Communist speaker. A Methodist religious center offered facilities, the speech was delivered, and the host minister was censured by some and lionized by others. At Berkeley, traditionally an open campus, turmoil followed university efforts to restrict outside radicals and Communists as well as student activity in outside groups. The difference in Fayetteville and Berkeley? Plenty of Reds in the Bay area!

Revising The Rules
 Until recently the University of California had not attempted to enforce its rules against collecting funds for political purposes, including civil rights organizations like CORE. When in this case solicitation was allowed at only one gate, FSM insisted on the same freedoms on-campus as off. This seemed a reasonable enough position to attract a considerable following of campus organizations.

In fact, Clark Kerr, now president of the University, in 1951 opened the door to influences of extremist groups by contesting loyalty oaths in the courts. It is ironic that he thus encouraged enlarging the campus role of outside political and activist groups.

This policy included allowing Communists to speak to students. It was an effort to revise this that is said to have sparked the unrest. A massive sit-in strike followed innumerable rallies, pickets and demonstrations. This was an attempt to paralyze the institution's administrative activity by closing down Sproul Hall. Some 600 policemen worked 12 hours to move strikers from the building and perhaps as long to fingerprint and book them. The immediate cost to taxpayers was about $25,000. A number of jury trials will require even larger amounts of public money.

Control By The Few
 Perhaps no more than 4 per cent of the University's 26,000 students are said to have been involved in the strike. Yet, the FSM leaders were about to be pacified in their goal of seeking control over the institution, according to informed sources. Leaders of FSM were flown to New York by ABC television and were making guest appearances on other campuses around the country, where other sit-ins will doubtless be staged if the off-campus Reds and other extremists are able to get into the act on time. A little infiltration seems to go a long way.

Such situations of destructiveness as this, disrespectful as they are of law and order and conducive to lawlessness, are made to order for the Communist cause. This kind of activity is not promoted by patriotic, law abiding young people who love their country. It is inspired by professional "demonstrators" who stand to profit from such exploitation and who "demonstrate" clearly enough that they stand in the shadows ready and waiting for the revolution they confidently expect. It is a pity that young people in our universities will lend themselves to such purposes.

A Communist Goal
 Just as in San Francisco at City Hall in 1961, these campus capers brought out the professional Communists. Not all of them were enrolled as students. But if Latin American universities offer their political activists for revolution, evidently the Reds think that U. S. campuses can become centers for revolt. On hand or photographed at various times were a dozen or more recognized Communists. The first to be arrested was Robert Treuhart, a Red attorney and husband of writer Jessica Mitford, who had been advising students to go limp when confronted by police.

The penetration of U. S. college and university campuses is a prime goal of world Communism, one that has been ordered by the Moscow high command. This was an achievement that Red intellectual leaders and call workers of the Thirties very nearly accomplished.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The Francis X. Elder American Legion Auxiliary Unit 121, met last Tuesday evening at the Post Home. President, Anna Bushman, presided with 10 members and one guest present. Messages were read by the president from the monthly bulletin. Membership chairman announced that 74 members had paid their dues to date. Several thank-you notes were read, and the chaplain reported two fruit baskets had been sent to sick members during the past month, as well as two get-well cards and three visits to sick members. The District meeting which was scheduled to be held at Williamsport in January had been cancelled and was held on Sunday, Feb. 7. The next District meeting will be held at the Francis X. Elder Post Home with the auxiliary as host unit, on March 28. Lunch will be served at 1:00 p.m. and all reservations must be received by March 23. Members reported 51 hours baby sitting, 15 hours helping with the annual party given by members of the Post.

The Unit room had been used 70 hours by the Public Health Clinic; 30 children had been treated during the past month, ann $7.50 in U. S. Savings Stamps had been given to four veteran's children. The draw prize was won by Anna Bushman and Katherine Kelly's name was called for the door prize, but she was not present. Refreshment committee for next month is: Anna Topper, Anna Shorb and Loretta Hardman. The meeting adjourned and the ladies joined the men of the Post for refreshments.

any of a wide range of diseases, from diphtheria to leukemia, that require your doctor's skill, not your guessing, to diagnose.

Sometimes tonsils and adenoids are involved in causing a sore throat, and when these organs cause trouble they frequently are removed. Tonsil-adenoid removals account for half of all operations performed on children, Today's Health reports. Sometimes the surgery helps prevent sore throat, sometimes it doesn't.

Allergies can cause sore throats. Cold, dry winter air can trigger it. So can extreme thirst, excessive smoking or mouth breathing. Anything that dries out the throat and cuts off secretions that normally wash dust away.

Virus infections of many types also are a cause of sore throat, and everyone who has had "flu" knows that this particular virus disease often causes the throat to hurt.

"Strep throat," is a serious infection that occasionally leads to rheumatic fever and possible heart damage. It can be knocked out with penicillin, if it is diagnosed in time.

The crucial diagnostic test in sore throats is the swab test in which the germs causing the trouble can then be identified.

There is little or nothing you can do to cure a sore throat at home, says Today's Health. There are medications which bring temporary easing of the discomfort but the cure must be launched by your physician. The best money you can spend if you get a sore throat is the dime it takes to call your doctor.

Leaving children alone at home is an open invitation to tragedy.

Group Seeks County Registration

The Frederick County Young Republicans have asked State Senator John A. Derr to present a bill in the State Legislature requiring a county-wide voter registration drive.

They claim, in a resolution passed at their last meeting, that the latest census figures show there are 49,153 persons in Frederick County over 21 and presumably eligible to vote but only 29,174 are registered.

This leaves 19,978 persons in Frederick County still unregistered and unable to participate in county, state or national voting," Merhle H. Duvall, president of the Young Republicans, said.

The resolution also urges appointment of two more registrars—one Republican and one Democrat—in addition to the two now employed at Winchester Hall.

County registration could then be conducted between the hours of 3 p.m. and 9 p.m., giving everyone an opportunity to register near their homes, no matter what hours they work.

Good representative government requires an all-out effort to give everyone eligible in Frederick County the right to vote, Duvall said.

Some sections of Frederick County are from 25 to 30 miles from the only permanent registration office in the basement of Winchester Hall, the Young Republican's president points out.

Evening registration hours are only held on a few days before primaries and general elections and the average county resident with a full working schedule cannot possibly get to this registration office in time to register, he said.

K of C Plans Remodeling Job

The regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, was held Monday evening in the council home, Grand Knight Lumen F. Norris presiding.

District Deputy Paul A. Keepers gave a report on the third degree exemplification held Sunday at Mt. St. Mary's College and said that it was one of the most well-attended affairs held in many years.

Approximately 60 candidates received the degree, among them three members from Brute Council, Father Carl J. Fives, Martin T. Golibart and Earl Topper.

Clyde Eyster, film chairman, announced that 360 individuals witnessed the showing of the film, "Pages of Death", which was shown to the Council and the PTA and high school students at St. Joseph's High School.

A "traveling Gavel" will be presented to Grand Knight Norris at the next regular meeting and on March 9, Norris will present the gavel to the Mt. St.

Mary's College K. of C. Council. Guy A. Baker, Jr., vice president of the Home Assn., gave a report on planned improvements to the Council home. Plans include the installation of draperies, tables and chairs and subsequently major improvements to the building itself.

Library Fund Drive Successful

Last Saturday in a little over two hours' time the Emmitsburg Public Library netted $151.00 from the visitation made by the young readers of the community. If you were missed and wish to contribute to this Library Renovation Fund you may still do so by sending your gift to Mr. John D. White, Library Treasurer, Emmitsburg, Md.

The young canvassers were sent out in teams of two or three with identification tags and collection boxes. They covered the entire community but many people were not at home. The girls were eager to do their part for the library and very happy over the financial success of the day.

Upon their arrival back at the library they were surprised when the members of the Board of Trustees served them luncheon consisting of barbecue sandwiches, potato chips, cookies and punch. The following girls helped in the campaign: Kathleen Boyle, Cynthia Welty, Cathleen Oddo, Kathy Stoner, Cheryl Topper, Winifred O'Brien, Betty Sue Jackson, Lou Anne Cook, Nancy Carr, Mary Ellen McGucken, Karen Warthen, Linda Gillespie, Carolyn Keilholtz, Susan Topper, Barbara Topper, Pat Topper, Linda Seidel, Susan Ott, Barbara Seidel, Lisa Orndorff, Debbie Gillespie and Sheila Chatlos.

The members of the Board who helped were Mrs. William Carr, Mrs. Paul Beale, Miss Ruth Shuff, Mrs. Glen Gillespie, Mrs. John Chatlos, Mrs. William Slemmer; the librarian, Mrs. John Warthen, and assistant librarian, Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz.

Emmitsburg citizens should be proud of their library. It was the first public library in Frederick County, founded in 1910, by a group of public spirited people. It has been in continuous operation from that time until the present.

Many thanks are due to those far-sighted individuals who saw the need for such an institution and then did something about it. To the loyal ones who helped to operate it during the years, a word of appreciation must be spoken.

In the summer of 1961 the Junior Chamber of Commerce became interested in the library as a result of a public opinion poll, in which many of the Emmitsburg people registered their interest in a larger and more active library.

At a public meeting a Board of Trustees was elected to serve in the interests of the public. A new location was found for the housing of the library near Center Square. After many months of working and planning, in April, 1962 the Library was moved to the present location. The members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce worked hard and long to prepare this building for the library use, and the present Board of Trustees is grateful.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion Posts together have contributed each year the amount necessary for the rent. This has been a big help, financially, and it is deeply appreciated.

The library is open every day except Sunday with a librarian in charge. Mrs. John Warthen is serving as the librarian and Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz is the assistant.

Have you visited the library? Do you know what services are available there? Come, borrow a book, and join the fun!

ZIP Code Deadline Nears

Postmaster Lewis H. Stoner was informed this week by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski that bulk second and third class mailers will have nearly two years—until Jan. 1, 1967—before they are required to begin pre-sorting their mail by ZIP Code.

Postmaster Stoner said regulations requiring pre-sorting by bulk mailers were first established nearly 40 years ago. The application of ZIP Code to those regulations is the first major change since the regulations were established.

The new ruling covers newspapers, magazines and periodicals in the second class category, and advertising matter, books and certain types of merchandise in third class.

A total of 275,000 mail users fall into these two categories. Combined, they generate annually more than 27 billion pieces of mail—39 per cent of the 70 billion pieces processed during the past fiscal year by the Post Office Department.

The purpose of the ruling is two-fold, Mr. Gronouski explained in part: To eliminate the sorting that otherwise would have to be done at the post office of origin. Virtually all of this mail will flow into the postal stream without entering the originating post office.

It is up to the fault-finder to propose a remedy for the ills he discovers.

It is up to the fault-finder to propose a remedy for the ills he discovers.

Wind Damages Trailers And Cars

A Maryland State Police cruiser and another vehicle were damaged Saturday morning when a strong wind gust blew a house trailer on top of them.

The mishap occurred about 12:45 a.m. in a picnic area just off U. S. 15 about two miles north of Thurmont.

Tfc. Neil F. Bechtol had pulled his police car into the picnic area to check a house trailer which was turned upside down.

At the same time Allen F. Davis, 35, Emmitsburg, also pulled his car into the picnic to see what had happened.

While TFC Bechtol and Davis were looking at the one house trailer which had already blown over, another gust of wind upended a second trailer which toppled on top of the police car and Davis' vehicle.

Damag to the 1963 cruiser was $75 and damage to Davis' 1957 station wagon was $125. First Sgt. W. H. Wahl and Cpl. Robert Snyder investigated.

OUR LIBRARY

Just received from County Services new books of interest to local patrons:

"Maryland Symbols," by Elmer M. Jackson, Jr. This is a book of the official emblems of the great Free State. Since boyhood the author has studied the habits of Maryland's State bird, the Baltimore Oriole, and his many chapters on this flaming and beautiful symbol of the Free State of Maryland makes the book exciting for the reader, even without reference to its other contents.

Mr. Jackson's account of the origin of Maryland's State Dog, The Chesapeake Bay Retriever, the only hunting dog of native American origin, is equally as fascinating, factual and enjoyable as the story about "Lord and Lady Baltimore's" problems and joys here in Maryland.

"Baton Twirling," by Constance Atwater. The fundamentals of an Art and a Skill, of the baton—from suggestions for organizing a performing group, through basic twirls and routines, to the more spectacular features of the art. The first manual of its type to cover the subject completely. Over 120 photographs and line drawings.

"Modern Catholic Sex Instruction," by Bishop Josef M. Reuss. A practical study of sexuality and love.

"The Complete Short Stories of Mark Twain," edited by Charles Neider. For the first time in one volume, all of the famous short stories of America's beloved humorist and storyteller.

"Botany—Third Edition," by Wilfred W. Robbins, T. Elliot Weier, C. Ralph Stocking. An introduction to Plant Science.

If you are a do-it-yourself or a professional, you'll enjoy the "Hairdo Handbook." A complete guide to hair beauty by Dorothea Zack Hanle, Editor, HairDo Magazine. Everything you need to know about your hair-grooming, styling, coloring, handling problem hair, plus step-by-step instructions for a wide variety of settings.

"Living by Faith," by Faith Baldwin. For the people that look to Faith Baldwin for a book of gentle delight of heart balm, a book to help the troubled in spirit will happily receive Miss Baldwin's fifth inspirational work. This book takes readers through a year in the author's life. It is a tour of the world around her, describing her own state of mind and the house in which she lives, but, most importantly, it is a tour through life itself.
