BY ABIGAIL

Some activity concerning house numbering was generated this week when a delegation appeared before the Town Board requesting that such a project be undertaken in the near future. The project is a prerequisite to street mail carrier service and must be completed before any consideration is given by the Government for this type of facility. For years the matter has risen from time to time but for some reason or another was always shelved and remained dormant. Now that the prospects for a new Postoffice are bright, it is felt that the time has come for carrier service also. In all probability the new Postoffice will not be located near the Square and local residents will be mighty thankful if such a service should come their way. It could be quite a walk from some sections of Town to the new building and therefore the carrier service would be greatly appreciated. From the individuals I have talked to, and they are many in number, it is felt that no time should be lost by the Town Government in completing this project.

Now that the ordinance amendment increasing the Board of Town Commissioners from three to four and giving the Mayor voting privileges, appears almost certain of adoption, activity should be stirring on the local political front. I have heard not a single complaint against the amendment so either the people are for it or apathetic toward it. Rumors are prevalent that several individuals are interested in the new Commissioner's job but to date no one has filed for it. Commissioner Norman Flax, whose term expires next month, has stated he will not be a candidate for re-election. However friends of the Commissioner have been "talking" to him and feel that they are making some progress in having him reconsider and run for the office. We hope they are successful in their efforts to persuade the Commissioner to try for another term.

This red hot basketball town had its spirits dampened last week when their favorite "Mounties" and popular coach, Jim Phelan, were ousted as champs of the Mason-Dixon Conference. They were replaced by Randolph-Macon, a Southern school, which battled superbly throughout the tourney which was held at the Mount. This was the first time in the history of the Conference that a Southern team took the title. From now on the new champs will proceed to Akron, O., where they will meet other contenders in the regional playoffs for small colleges. Friends of the Mount, and Coach Phelan, won't forget the superlative brand of basketball they have been dishing out during the past decade, taking the championship seven times, and feel confident they'll be in there swinging and with their eye on another championship come next season. And . . . if the future bears out the past tradition, that's exactly what'll happen!

Spring is just around the corner when the State Game Commission starts stocking the nearby trout streams and that is exactly what they did. Fresh new fish have been placed in Big Hunting Creek and shortly trout will be dumped into Owens, Friends, and Little Hunting Creeks. It won't be long now until that perpetual string of happy faced, delighted fishermen starts making those daily trips to the streams.

Special Lenten Services Scheduled

The Reverend Martin Case, Pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, will be guest Pastor at the first Community Lenten Service to be held on Wednesday, March 10 at Elias Lutheran Church. The theme for this year's community services is "How the Crucifixion Reconciles God and Man," and will be presented by the ministers of each of the Protestant Churches of Emmitsburg. All services during Lent will begin at 7:30.

Every man is satisfied with his weight and himself.

Ray Lauer Heads Mount Business Dept.

Prof. Raymond R. Lauer, assistant professor of economics at Mount Saint Mary's College, has been appointed as chairman of the college's business department according to Rev. Carl J. Fives, academic dean.

Lauer, a native of Shamokin, Pa., graduated from the Mount in the class of 1950. He continued his studies at Bucknell University where he received his master's degree in 1951. He is presently a candidate for the doctoral degree from Pennsylvania State University.

PTA Makes Plans For Consolidated Thurmont School

Delinquents stem their problems from one or a combination of "pronounced emotional immaturity, low tolerance level, strong feeling of dependency, or resentful attitude of authority," Joseph Sheridan stressed at the February 24th meeting of the Emmitsburg Parent Teachers Association.

Addressing the parents and teachers on "Child Development," Mr. Sheridan cited a number of strutting examples of the four major problems found common in delinquents and the role parents play in the picture.

Mrs. Robert Simpson, program chairman, introduced Mr. Sheridan, a Guidance Counselor for the Arlington Juvenile Domestic Relations Court. The speaker is a graduate of DePaul University, class of 1959; Wesley Theological Seminary, 1963, and is presently working on his Ph.D. at American University on "Social Ethics and International Relations."

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. William Carr, vice president. A report was given by Rev. John Chatlos on the special meeting held February 10 with representatives of the Board of Education and Emmitsburg area residents concerning the North County High School.

A motion was made from the floor and seconded that the Emmitsburg ninth grade students be included in the new school program. The motion was carried unanimously. A letter is being sent to the Board of Education to this effect.

Town Will Arrest Unlicensed Peddlers

All unlicensed peddlers were ordered picked up and fined it was decided at the regular meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners, held Monday evening in the Town Office.

Mayor Ralph F. Irelan was ordered by the Council to instruct Police Chief Wilmer E. Law to apprehend all unlicensed peddlers immediately. President of the Board, Dr. J. W. Houser, presided over the meeting which was attended also by Commissioners J. Norman Flax and Joseph Haley.

A delegation interested in having the Town number all houses preparatory to carrier mail service appeared before the Council and asked that this project be completed as expeditiously as possible. The delegation consisted of Mrs. Jane Bollinger, C. C. Combs and Patrick B. Boyle. Council took the matter under advisement.

A complaint was received by Council concerning the use of a parking meter bag which has been "rented" to a local car owner on an annual fee basis. The complaint stated the bag should not be in use during times when the meters are not in operation and especially on Sundays. Council is checking the matter out.

Mayor Irelan said he had been approached by several citizens asking that parking meter permits be issued on an annual basis for $5. Council acted on the matter by declining to issue any such permits.

A request from an outside the Corporation property-owner if water would be available for building lots was received and the Solons agreed that would be available providing the land-owner conformed to all existing regulations and requirements of the Town.

Up for discussion at the meeting was the possibility of the Town handling the collection of garbage and trash and adding it to the tax bill each year. No definite action on this matter was taken at the meeting. Town Clerk Yonnie Baker announces that the last day to register for the coming Town Election on April 27, will be April 17, 10 days prior to the election. The clerk is presently revising the voting list removing those who have died or moved away in the past year.

Blood Needed For Emergency Operation; Bloodmobile To Be Here

Because blood is needed for open heart surgery in Washington next week, Francis X. Ligorano, Student Union Director, Mount St. Mary's College, urges as many Emmitsburgians as possible to visit the Bloodmobile and give blood when the vehicle comes to the college campus Tuesday, Mar. 9.

The Red Cross, which operates the Bloodmobile, says it badly needs O-negative type blood for the operation and those of this type will be handled first starting at one o'clock on that day. The vehicle will be on college property until five-thirty that day.

Mr. Ligorano points out that many residents working out of town, especially Frederick and Fort Detrick, should give blood in Emmitsburg for credit towards the town's quota. Fifteen pints of O-negative blood are needed but persons of all types are urged to give next Tuesday.

The Washington Regional Red

Cross Blood Center is requesting the blood for use in open heart surgery March 10 in Washington.

The local Red Cross must know prior to the bloodmobile visit whether the request can be filled. Emmitsburg residents with O-negative blood, who have donated in the past and have Red Cross cards indicating their blood type, are asked to contact the Frederick Red Cross office on South Market Street if they are willing to donate for the operation.

A total of 191 pints of blood was collected by the Red Cross Wednesday from the 216 persons who appeared at Hood College.

This was considerably more than the 153-pint quota set for all bloodmobile visits.

Of the 216 who appeared, 165 faculty members and four were were Hood students, seven were employees at the educational institution. The remainder were multiple donors from Frederick.

Two Injured In Two Crashes

Two soldiers from Fort Ritchie were injured in an accident Saturday at 10:50 p.m. on Route 16, six miles west of here, according to Pennsylvania State Police.

James E. Bough, 22, of Christian, Ill., failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of legislative route 10223 and the state route and struck the side of a car operated by William R. Slemmer, III, 20, of Emmitsburg.

Bough suffered lacerations and bruises of the body and Slemmer sustained lacerations of the head, face and body. Both were removed to the Fort Ritchie hospital in the Blue Ridge Summit ambulance.

Damage to the Bough car was $100, and to the Slemmer vehicle, which was demolished, $3,000.

Damage was estimated at $75 to the car of Helen J. Sanders, Emmitsburg, when it was struck by an auto operated by Kenneth E. Wetzel, Jr., Gettysburg R2, Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock on S. Washington St., Gettysburg. Police said the Sanders vehicle was going north when the Wetzel auto came out of the alley at H and H Machine Shop and struck the other car, causing no damage to Wetzel's auto. Police said they will bring a charge of failing to yield the right of way against Wetzel.

Mountaineers Eliminated In Tourney

By Bob Gosser

For the first time in the 25 years' history of the Mason-Dixon Tournament, a Southern Division entry wears the tourney crown. And the winning team doesn't have a senior on its roster.

Randolph-Macon, overcoming a 39-37 halftime deficit with a blistering second half pace and an airtight defense around Charlie Boylan, upset Catholic University, 70-64 in the championship finale Saturday night, here, and secured a berth in the NCAA small-college playoffs.

With Juniors Stan Trimble, and Irv Sentz, and Sophomore Bob Minutella paving the way, R-M grabbed an early second half lead they never surrendered. Sentz swished two buckets from way out to shove the Jackets ahead 41-39, and Trimble drilled a deuce, sandwiched around CU's John Cuttica's fielder, to give R-M a 43-41 edge. Charlie Boylan countered with a free heave for CU—his only point of the second half—but from there on it was R-M.

Minutella, Frank Farren and Bob Bombard combined to give the Jackets a 50-44 lead, and after Trimble corded a bucket with 8:55 left in the game, R-M led 59-47. Catholic went into a press at that point and shaved the margin to 68-64 with 1:19 to go, but the Jackets staved off a last minute rally and held the lead to the buzzer.

Stan Trimble ended as the evening's high scorer with 25 markers, followed by Sentz with 18, and Minutella with 15. Emmett Speicher topped Catholic with 18, while Charlie Boylan added only 13.

Coach Paul Webb's champs reached the finals with victories over Western Maryland, 85-85, and Roanoke in the semi-finals, 79-66. Catholic downed Hampden-Sydney, 97-77, and tourney favorite Mount St. Mary's, 86-74, to gain the finals. Nearly 6,000 fans attended the three nights of the tourney to make this one of the most successful ever.

Randolph-Macon has a dazzling 19-3 record going into tonight's NCAA first-round regional playoff game against Buffalo at Akron, and the Jackets got that record and position with a senior on the squad and no starter over 6'2".

After whipping Bridgewater, 92-61 in their opening round game, Mount St. Mary's fell before a fired-up Catholic University team 86-74 in the semi-finals of the 25th Annual Mason-Dixon Conference basketball tourney held last weekend at Mount St. Mary's College.

The Mount had beaten the Cardinals twice during the regular season, 80-67 and 78-71, but Tom Young's cagers were sky-high for this one.

Coach Jim Phelan's Mounties soared to a 21-14 lead with 11:16 gone, but Catholic switched from a zone to a man-to-man defense, forcing the Mount to shoot from outside where it couldn't hit, and Charlie Boylan started to score.

The Mount trailed 33-31 at the half, but faltered fast in the final 20 minutes. With Boylan coring two-pointers and the CU team on its way to a perfect 19 for 19 from the sin stripe, the Cardinals roared to a 53-42 spread at one point, and to 74-55 with 6:26 to go. The Saints went into a full-court press but the stunned Mount following knew it was all over.

Catholic won at the foul line where they sank 28 of 31 attempts, to the Mount's 10 for 18 percentage.

All-conference Charlie Boylan notched 31 points for CU, while the Mount's Pete Johnson, an all-tourney choice, matched him with 31, 22 coming in the second half. Against Bridgewater the Saints managed only a 41-39 half-time margin, but ran wild in the second half. Five men hit double figures for the Mount with Bernie Haag banking 20 and Jim Livelsberger scoring 16.

The Mount ended the season with a 20-5 overall log. Coach Phelan loses four players via graduation: Ed Folk, Jack Campbell, Lou Martine, and Bill Neuss.

100 YEARS AGO

LINCOLN INAUGURATED FOR HIS SECOND TERM

BY LON K. SAVAGE

March 4, 1865, dawned dark and cloudy over Washington 100 years ago this week. Heavy rain fell and ran in rivulets through the muddy streets. Strong winds blew. And on that day, the weather notwithstanding, Abraham Lincoln was inaugurated for his second term as President of the United States.

It was a day to be remembered not only for its historical importance but also because of the problems that arose.

The weather was the first one. In their best finery, the society, the sight-seers and the politicians of Washington turned out for the mid-day ceremony, and with minutes, their clothing hung on them limp and soggy.

But then the weather changed. The rain stopped, and the sky began to clear. On the east front of the capitol, a platform had been erected for the ceremony, and the capitol, itself, now was topped with a beautiful dome that had been constructed during the war years.

Johnson's Speech

A new problem arose when Andrew Johnson was sworn in as Vice President in a Ceremony in the Senate Chamber. Johnson had been ill and had come to the inauguration in a weakened condition. To fortify himself, he had consumed too much whiskey, and the combined effect of the illness and the whiskey was noticeable. Some who heard his rambling, maudlin speech wondered if he were drunk or crazy.

Everyone moved outside to the platform for Lincoln's inauguration, and from there, things went well.

His inauguration address was the shortest in the nation's history, and it attracted little attention at the time. Yet it included words that live still.

Lincoln's Speech

Lincoln first told his audience that having spoken often during the preceding four years, he now could present "little that is new." Then he turned to the war and to the slavery issue.

"Both parties," he said, referring to North and South, "deprecated war, but one of them would make war rather than let the nation survive, and the other would accept war rather than let it perish, and the war came . . ." The sentence drew applause.

Turning to the "peculiar and powerful interest" of slavery, he said, "All knew that this interest was a somehow the cause of the war. To strengthen, perpetuate and extend this interest was the object for which the insurgents would rend the Union even by war, while the Government claimed no right to do more than to restrict the territorial enlargement of it. Neither party expected for the war the magnitude or the duration which it already has attained." This brought a cheer.

Lincoln then spoke of God's will and its effect on the turn of events in American history and the Civil War. And he ended his speech as follows:

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

He then began his second term—destined to last slightly longer than a month.

Helpful Income Tax Information Listed

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws, which will help them to prepare better and more accurately.

ate returns and pay their just tax, no more, no less. Clip and save for help in preparing your 1964 tax return.

Questions And Answers
Q. Will the second stage of the new tax cut increase my take-home pay?
A. No, it won't. Withholding rates were reduced last year in just one stage compared to the two stage drop in tax rates.

While most taxpayers won't find any change in the size of their paycheck as a result of the 1965 tax reductions, the savings from this cut are still very real.

Tax rates on 1965 individual income drop to a range of 14 per cent to 70 per cent. The tax rates on income earned last year are 16 per cent to 77 per cent. Before the tax cut, individual income tax rates started at 20 per cent and went up to 91 per cent.

Q. Who may use the new minimum standard deduction?

A. Any individual taxpayer may use this provision if he finds it to his advantage. Generally speaking, this provision will benefit low income taxpayers.

Individuals can have income up to $900 and married couples up to $1,600 and have no income tax to pay, thanks to the minimum standard deduction. It is estimated that about 1.5 million people will be freed of tax liability as a result.

Q. I increased my withholding last year to avoid the possibility of owing more tax at year-end. Should I continue my withholding at the same rate for 1965? I've heard it said that last year was a special situation and that additional withholding taken then need not be continued.

A. The answer to this question must be decided by each taxpayer. The law tells you how much must be withheld but it is up to each taxpayer to decide whether he wants additional amounts taken out of each paycheck.

The special situation you described last year resulted from the use of two withholding rates, 18 per cent and 14 per cent, during the year to make the required federal income tax deductions. The combination of these rates only approximated an effective rate of 16 per cent, the lowest tax rate for 1964.

To prevent taxpayers from being surprised by additional bills at year-end, we suggested last year that taxpayers make a rough estimate of their 1964 tax liability. By comparing this with how much would be withheld, they could decide whether to have additional amounts withheld or to increase estimated tax payments.

Whether taxpayers who took either of these actions in 1964 want to continue them in 1965 is something they will have to decide based on their 1965 tax situation.

Q. What can I do to speed up my refund?

A. If you haven't filed your return yet, there are some things you can do to help speed up a refund. These consist of checking your return thoroughly before sending it in.

A return that is unsigned, which lacks a social security number or is minus a W-2 form will have to be completed before it can be processed. The time it takes to contact the taxpayer for the missing information will naturally delay a refund.

If you've already filed your return the best thing you can do is wait patiently. A call to our office will only add to the workload of our employees.

Q. I am filing a joint return with my wife. Do we have to list her social security number on the return even though most of the income we report came from my salary?

A. Your wife's tax account (social security) number should be listed if she has one. Even though she may not work, any separate income she receives from stock investments, savings accounts or similar sources makes it necessary for her to have a number.

Banks and corporations are required to report dividend and interest payments to us identified by an account number. The re-

Household employees — cooks, maids, charwomen, handymen — earn their own protection against loss of income from old-age, death, or disability under the social security program.

Domestic workers who are paid at least $50 cash wages in a calendar quarter from a single employer receive social security credit for these earnings. To get this credit, the earnings must be reported. As an employer, you must report to the Internal Revenue Service if you pay your household worker as much as $50 cash wages in the quarter. Most household employers submit reports on Form 942, a simplified statement printed on the inside of a self-addressed envelope. These reports are filed after the close of each calendar quarter and are due by April 30, July 31, October 31, and January 31, each year.

If you are a household employer on the mailing list of the District Director of Internal Revenue, one of these forms is mailed to you at the proper time. If social security taxes are due and you are not on the mailing list, you should request the District Director to add your name to his mailing list.

The social security tax for the employee and the employer is 3 6/8 per cent each of the total cash wages paid in a calendar quarter. However, it is the responsibility of the employer to report and send the total tax of 7 1/2 per cent to the District Director of Internal Revenue. You must also collect your employee's share of the tax.

The $50-cash-wage test applies to each household worker in your employ; but no report or social security tax is due on any household worker to whom you pay less than $50 cash during a calendar quarter.

ipients, in this case your wife, are required to list the income they receive from these sources on a return.

Q. I haven't received my W-2 yet from my employer. What should I do?

A. Employers are required by law to provide their employees with W-2 forms by the end of January. If you don't receive your form by that date ask your employer about it.

Most delays in obtaining W-2 forms occur when a person works for more than one employer during the year and has also changed his address. In such cases, an employer might have difficulty locating a former employee to send him the required form.

In cases where there is more than one employer, it is important to obtain W-2 forms from all of them. This is the only way a taxpayer can be sure of getting credit for the income and employment taxes that were withheld from his paychecks.

and outgrown shoes should be promptly replaced.

To insure healthy feet for your child, a few simple precautions should suffice.

Examine your baby's feet regularly. When you give him his daily bath, run your hand gently over the soles and upper part of his feet. If you feel or see rough, hardened skin or red, rubbed spots, have his shoes checked. If they're not at fault, take him to a podiatrist, who is a professional foot doctor. It is also advisable to have your child examined if he drags one foot, is clumsy and falls more often than other children of his age, or, if he seems to be knock-kneed or bow-legged.

American Podiatry Association. Surveys made by the American Podiatry Association in public and private schools reveal that one out of every two children has a foot disability.

Not all of these children have serious disabilities. Enough, however, have foot problems which, if not treated, will lead to chronic foot disorders in adulthood.

A baby's feet are soft and malleable. The 52 bones in his feet are chiefly soft and rubbery cartilage. His feet can be twisted, turned, and bent gradually without difficulty. Yet, lack of intelligent attention now may pave the way for a lifetime of the common American complaint, "my feet are killing me."

It's the wise mother who, despite all temptation, lets her child take his own good time about standing or walking. Generally, children pull themselves upright and take their first steps between nine and 15 months of age. Don't use outside aids such as baby walkers or mother's hands to force him to his feet before he is ready.

A child doesn't need shoes until he begins to stand. At that time they provide him with a stable base, as well as protection. Then, in a completely natural way, they encourage him to walk. His first shoes should be as carefully constructed and fitted as any he will ever wear. A baby's feet grow at a surprising rate

Thurmont Cooperative Holds Annual Meeting

Two hundred stockholders, their families and guests, attended the 30th annual meeting of the Thurmont Cooperative, Inc., at the Thurmont High School last Friday evening. The Cooperative, which operates plants at Thurmont, Rocky Ridge and Union Bridge, is owned by the farmers of Frederick and Carroll Counties who use its services. The President of the Cooperative, Ross S. Stull, conducted the business session.

Rev. Martin A. Case gave the invocation. D. S. Weybright, manager of the cooperative since its inception, gave the financial report and stated that during the year the cooperative had added new concrete grain tanks with a storage capacity of 21,000 bushels of grain. Mr. Weybright also gave a summary of the association's progress during its 30 years, beginning with the amended charter of facilities of the Thurmont Milling and Supply Corporation. Mr. Weybright recalled the fire of 1942 which completely destroyed the main floor and that within a year, a new building had been constructed. Since then, additions to facilities have been constant. Mr. Weybright pointed out that in this time of mergers and acquisitions, the Thurmont Cooperative remains one of a relatively few independent and locally-owned cooperatives.

The program was conducted by Mr. William G. Baker, head of the Vo-Ag Department of the Thurmont High School. Mr. Baker introduced Miss Mildred Trevett, head of the music department who with a 14-member choir from the Glee Club, presented a program of varied musical selections. Solo selections were sung by Glenda Shook and Barbara Lawyer. Mr. Gary Barkman, the representative of the Thurmont FFA to the National Convention in Kansas City, reported on his trip made last fall. The Cooperative co-sponsored Mr. Barkman's trip. The reigning Frederick County Dairy Princess, Miss Brenda Hahn, was introduced and in her remarks described her duties as Dairy Princess in promoting the use of milk. Miss Hahn pointed out that Frederick County ranks 17th in the nation in production of milk.

Miss Joyce Sanders and Miss Bonnie Blair, also introduced, were the winners of the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow contest for Emmitsburg and Thurmont, respectively. Both young leaders will participate in the state contest. Mr. Ralph Lee Keilholtz, leader of the Rocky Ridge Progressive 4-H Club described and showed slides of his outstanding club and its activities. Recognized for individual accomplishments were: Mike Smith, gardening; Sylvia Brauer, dairy; Paula Goetze, beef and horses; Jerry Orndorff, swine; and Ralph Keilholtz, Jr., owner of the 1964 Grand Champion Steer. Mr. Jeff Valentine gave a brief report on his 4-H Exchange trip to Iowa. He reported that a return trip by Iowa 4-H'ers will be made to Maryland this year.

Two delegates sponsored by the Thurmont Cooperative to the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperatives, held at Michigan State College in August, 1964, Miss Susan Martin and Miss Sylvia Brauer, both of Emmitsburg, gave interesting reports on their trips to the Institute program. Miss Martin had participated as a panel member during a discussion session at the Institute.

Mr. Alan Heflin, President of the Maryland State FFA Association, brought greetings to the group from the state organization.

Mr. Baker introduced the winners of the FFA Foundation Awards for the Thurmont Chapter. Mr. Robert Green for farm mechanics; Mr. Allen Oakes for poultry, and Mr. Martin Kline, the Star Farmer Award winner. Miss Bea Dinterman, Chapter Sweetheart, presented the awards to the young men.

The election of directors resulted in the return to office of incumbents Lloyd B. Wilhide, Keymar; Robert B. Ogle, Rocky Ridge and Mehrle H. Ramsburg, Jr., Thurmont. Other directors whose terms did not expire this year are Ross S. Stull, Harry G. Black, J. Paul Bowman, John L. Baumgardner, C. Rodman Myers, and Lester G. Bittner. At the rearganization meeting, Mr. Stull was re-elected as President.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. Glenn Lewis, State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture; Mr. Harold Reiley, State Executive Secretary of the FFA, and Mr. Kenneth Wisner, Frederick County Young Farmer Instructor.

TOWN OF EMMITSBURG CHARTER AMENDMENTS
Pursuant to the requirements of Section 13(e) of Article 28A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1964 Cumulative Supplement) the following is published as a fair summary of the proposed amendments to the Charter as passed by the Burgess and Commissioners at a special meeting on February 9, 1965, to become effective on the 50th day thereafter. CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 7

This amendment provides for an additional Commissioner to be elected so that there will be four (4) instead of three (3) Commissioners.

CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 8
This amendment allows Commissioners to come from any precinct in the town. It removes the limitation of not more than two (2) Commissioners from any one precinct. Because the town elections are town-wide, the Commissioners will, in the future, represent the entire Town rather than one section as appears to have been contemplated in the past. CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 9

This amendment gives the Burgess the power to act as a member of the Board of Commissioners in passing ordinances, rules, etc., and transacting business. It changes the votes required to override the veto of the Burgess from a unanimous vote to a majority. Published by authority of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg in the Chronicle on February 19 and 26, and March 5 and 12.

Color Is Clue To Housekeeping Style

by LOUISE ALLEN

The color that brightens your cooking life these days is also a clue to your secret thoughts about homemaking—as well as your personality.

That turquoise fry pan is not only beautiful to look at, it tells a lot about your style of cooking, serving, and general housekeeping habits, according to color researchers for the Club Aluminum Products Co.

Here's what the color of your cookware reveals about you: If you see red, literally, when standing at the stove, it doesn't mean you resent cooking the pork chops. Rather, shades of red in kitchen utensils indicate a vigorous, zestful attitude toward housekeeping—cooking in particular.

Blue, as in prize ribbons, or blue-green tones show a dignified, thorough approach to the job of housewife. Chances are, your cupboards and closets are always well ordered, your meals carefully planned.

Yellow or gold, which denotes richness, also suggests you have a sunny, cheerful outlook on your work. Basic white is the choice of a practical, serene temperament usually. If your preference is white or ivory, Club researchers note, you tend to be steady and imaginative in coping with household affairs.

permission slips, all involved in getting young people off to school on time, you may wonder vaguely, "Whatever became of breakfast?"

Perhaps you collapse wearily with a cup of coffee after the early morning hubbub is over. Perhaps you feel guilty because you couldn't get the children to "sit down to breakfast" before they left. Maybe you managed to get a glass of milk and a sugar bun into one of them. If so, give yourself a blue star for the day.

The fact is, a large majority of young people in the crucial health years — of body growth, greater strains and pressures, less sleep and more study—either eat a scanty breakfast, or ignore it altogether these days. Yet at no time in their lives are they in greater need of a substantial, balanced breakfast with a good protein base. It can mean the difference between a good day, better grades, a happier outlook on life, and the ability to "last out" the day . . . or the opposite.

Your Christmas seal association suggests that a little preparation the night before may help—like setting the breakfast table, and laying out those things that don't require refrigeration—dry cereal, jams or marmalades, waffle syrup, etc.

The time factor? Set the alarm a little earlier—and the radio to their favorite music!

By ROGER W. SABSON

Babson's Point Of View On: Importance Of Owning Land
BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 4—Everyone should be interested in building personal safeguards against the future—for one's self and for one's children and grandchildren. Diversification is one of the most important keynotes in hedging against inflation, deflation, and whatever unforeseeable economic developments may lie ahead. A well-rounded program will, of course, include a bank account, insurance, a comfortable home, carefully selected stocks and bonds, and probably a business interest.

Land Gives Excellent Protection
 Do not forget, in addition, the extraordinary value of land holdings as a longer-term investment. Many who long ago bought or inherited acreage that seemed to be situated too far away from a community center to be good for much of anything but farming have profited handsomely from the population explosion and widespread decentralization. Both residence-es and business plants in recent years have spread out into suburban and rural areas that were almost entirely unoccupied within fairly recent memory. Land values have climbed without interruption.

While many people may hesitate to buy land when prices are so high, there are certain basic factors that make the buying of good, well-located land advisable at almost any time. First, there is only so much land in the country, in each state, and in each community. There will never be any more, except for the minor instances where fill-ins form small areas out of watery shallows. There can be more stock issued, more bonds floated, more businesses established—and even more money printed—but the land now existing is the only land we will ever have.

Hedge Against Almost Anything
 This is no doubt one reason why land prices often tend to withstand the strong downward pressure that recessions bring to bear on other holdings. During the 1958 recession, for example, investment prices took a sudden and severe pummeling and general business slipped badly. Land values, however, held up amazingly well, with no real losses in desirable properties.

A severe depression would probably cut into land values to some degree, but even then prospects would favor a more rapid recovery than might be expected in other forms of investment. The basic reason for this is not only the "absolute" limit to land amounts but also the unparalleled population growth. With more babies being born and people living longer than ever, population should continue to expand for the foreseeable future. Not even a sharp recession would fundamentally alter this long-term upward trend.

Buyers Should Chose Carefully
 While it is reasonable to be bullish on land as a protective holding, buyers should use discrimination in selecting acreage for purchase. No plots should be bought without being seen by the buyer himself, or at the very least by an experienced family member, friend, or trusted associate. Economic trends in the vicinity are often a helpful guide in making final decisions; look for localities close to urban and suburban centers showing swift population and manufacturing growth.

One land-buying rule that has stood the test of time is this: Select a growing city; determine the main road out of that city along which expansion is the most marked; go out to that point on the main artery where land is quoted by the acre as opposed to by the foot; there make your long-range land investment . . . and then be patient. Once you have made such a commitment, exercise of extreme patience will pay the largest dividends.

A final bit of advice: Keep a sharp eye open for available sites on the waterfront, whether along oceans, rivers, or lakes. There should never be any serious question of making a later profit on such property since available waterfront will become steadily rarer, and thus more desirable.

WOMEN'S HEALTH

Precautions Can Reduce Incidence Of Birth Defects

By Elizabeth Stewart

Women's Medical News Service
 One of every 16 babies born in the U. S.—or 250,000 a year—has a birth defect which, if untreated or undetected, can shorten life, cause disfigurement, or result in mental or physical handicaps. Thousands of these defective births can now be prevented or their effects minimized. Meeting the birth defect problem, however, calls for many steps, perhaps the most important of which is proper medical care before and during pregnancy.

A time of danger to the unborn baby is during the first few weeks after conception, says Dr. Josef Warkany, professor of research pediatrics at the Children's Hospital Research Foundation, University of Cincinnati. It is at this early stage, he says, that certain factors in the environment—drugs, viruses—can do damage. However, even later, serious brain and organ damage can result from certain infections and from drugs.

Another noted physician, Dr. Allan C. Barnes, professor and chairman, Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics, the Johns Hopkins University, points out that pre-natal care enables the doctor to "recognize and treat diseases or conditions a woman may have before she becomes pregnant, thus contributing to the prevention of congenital difficulties." Family Planning Important

A visit to the family doctor by a couple planning a family can result in life-long dividends of good health for parents and children. On such a visit a doctor will usually take detailed family histories. From these he may be alerted to the possibility of inheritable defects, and can take steps to minimize their effect. Blood tests will warn him of possible trouble which can be avoided if he is aware in time of danger.

A simple but vitally important precaution a woman should take if she expects to become pregnant, or suspects she is pregnant, is to avoid taking drugs without a doctor's prescription. According to Dr. Virginia Apgar, some drugs, for reasons not entirely clear, "can cause havoc in the growth process of an unborn child, resulting in malformations like those caused by the transulizer thalidomide." Dr. Apgar is Director, Division of Congenital Malformations, The National Foundation - March of Dimes and Honorary Fellow, the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

She continues, "The greatest danger of inducing malformations (by taking drugs) is during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy. Since this includes the period before a woman may be aware that she is pregnant, and since we know very little about the effects of drugs on the unborn child, self-medication by patients should be discouraged."

This is not to conclude, the doctor warns, that all drugs are harmful to the pregnant woman. Drugs prescribed by a physician and checked by him throughout a patient's pregnancy, can and do save countless lives of mothers as well as babies. It is self-medication which must be avoided.

As Dr. Apgar says, "Just about everything a pregnant woman eats or drinks or inhales or manufactures in her body processes is transmitted to the blood stream of her unborn child."

"Until we learn more about the various substances besides nourishment that may be transmitted from mother to unborn child, our best advice is this: The pregnant woman takes care of her baby by taking care of herself."

Life-long good health habits, regular medical care, including pre-natal care, family planning, avoiding self-medication—can do much to cut down on the tragic consequences of birth defects.

A woman wants to know if I ever have any thoughts or feelings other than those I express in writing; the answer is yes.

Every man thinks he has wonderful self-control because the woman had the last word.

TRUE BLUE

All the shades of blue you can imagine are likely to appear in the flowers of this new delphinium, Connecticut Yankee, which blooms the first year from seeds sown early.

Dark blue, light blue, lavender-blue and all the other shades of blue you can imagine, plus purple and occasionally white are the flower colors found in Connecticut Yankee. This new strain of delphiniums is an All-America Selections winner for 1965.

It bears its unusual name for two reasons. First, the strain was bred in a Connecticut garden by Edward Steichen, world-famous photographer. Second, this dwarf delphinium is quite unlike the tall, stately Pacific Coast types which are named for members of King Arthur's round table. So, why not name it for the Connecticut yankee who visited King Arthur's court in Mark Twain's famous book?

Connecticut Yankee is a perennial delphinium which will last for years in your garden. Yet it will bloom the first year from seeds sown early in spring. Thus you will be able to see the flower colors within months and move the plants, if necessary, to the places where they will furnish the same blossom color for several to many years.

Flower stems are 2 to 2 1/2 feet long, 3 feet at most. Thus the plants require no staking. The blooms are larger, to 2 1/2 inches across, than those of the Chinese type delphiniums, yet it is this type that Connecticut Yankee most closely resembles.

For true blue flowers in your garden, plant a packet of Connecticut Yankee seeds as soon as the ground can be worked and enjoy the results during the summer.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON

Something For The People

Any U. S. citizen of voting age who cares will be able easily to make the observation that never in any period of his experience has the trend toward federal power and centralized authority been more accelerated than it has in the past few years. Resisting this trend has seldom been a matter of concern to recent administrations. Congress, at least in terms of its majorities, has offered little resistance to the proliferating federal wonderland. But it has been the U. S. Supreme Court that has overreached them all in forcing radical changes upon the body politic.

The bombshell of greatest proportions was that of June 15, 1964, when a 6-3 decision upset 250 years of political development. In this decision, the Court ordered reapportionment of state legislatures according to its own interpretations. Not satisfied just to recommend what it thought was a principle, which it could not do without serious contradictions, the Court has imposed remedy through its own judicial arm, the federal courts. The Court thus not only intruded into areas reserved to the states, it declared it could amend the federal Constitution as well as those of the 50 states.

Presumably in the various states, as occurred in Arkansas in late January, the federal courts will order compliance with the ruling at a very early date. In retaining jurisdiction over the case, the Court expects to force compliance before an aroused Congress or the states themselves can organize any constitutional resistance. However, Congress in the present session should become immediately concerned with taking the matter away from the courts and giving it back to the people, through Constitutional amendment.

Senator Dirksen, (Ill.) and Representative McCulloch (Ohio) believe they are introducing an Amendment early enough to wear down any filibusters that are likely to be attempted by big-city congressmen. Both houses must pass amendment legislation by two-thirds majority in order to send it to the states, where three-fourths of the states must ratify it before it becomes law. Senate passage, particularly, is likely to require heavy response from constituents, despite the fact that the U. S. Senate would be next to go if the Court's notion prevails.

The States Can Act

Another method is available in this battle to take the decision away from the Court and back to the people. Under the U. S. Constitution, the Congress is obliged to call a Constitutional Convention if two-thirds of the states ask it. A movement is under way among state legislatures to pass a uniform resolution that would bring this about. Perhaps the time has come for a Constitutional Convention that would review the whole problem of Supreme Court performance, with the idea of imposing some well-defined restrictions upon this arm of the judiciary.

It is quite likely that some of the states will want apportionment in their bi-cameral legislatures based on population only and some will not. But it is a political matter entirely, and it should be left to the people of the various states—not to a few judges—to decide. In Arkansas the state legislature had taken some steps toward reapportionment. But the district court by its action made both houses of the present legislature invalid as of next June 15 unless each legislator is made to represent the same number of people.

The People's Choice
In Colorado in 1962, the state by referendum rejected a proposal to base both houses of its legislature on population only. Two years later they approved a Senate representation that gave some emphasis to diversity on a geographical basis. This was all right, even with the voters of every county including the county in which Denver is located. However, the people in Colorado are not being allowed to decide in what manner their state government is to be set up.

The whole basic root of the question is whether the people in our states are to have a choice, whatever that choice may be. Some look upon it as a city-county fight. It is to some extent a showdown between urban populations and rural areas. If so, that still makes it a political dispute and no business for the Supreme Court. The founding fathers thought each state might design its legislature to suit its own needs. In this day of central power, the high court would federalize every decision—with nothing left to do except shut up and knuckle under.

"New & Improved" Swindles

Madison Avenue's vendors of detergents are not the only ones who appeal to the layman's awe of scientific jargon to make their pitch. The direct mail touting business offers "new" and "improved" promises to the unwary and the gullible.

One up-to-date con man, for a $250 fee, offered "the latest space-age breakthrough to a lifetime income from racing." The same man, according to the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, had previously been associated with a touting operation known as "The American Figurator Co.," a name which implied the latest thing in winner-picking computers. The fact that the tout has survived since 79 A.D., when one "Elvius the Charioteer" advertised his reputed secrets on the walls of buildings in Herculaneum, indicates that Barnum's observation on the birth-rate of "suckers" is correct.

John L. Brennan, executive vice-president of the TRPB, recalls one man who enjoyed being swindled. When approached by the TRPB in the course of an investigation of a touting operation, the victim, a wealthy oil man, laughed and said: "I know I'm being taken but I like it. I switch from tout to tout. I love their stories."

The Real Secret of SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE

Advice on how to be happily married was never so freely available as it is today.

Marriage problems are openly discussed in newspaper columns and on the radio. Marriage advice is available from the man next door, who speaks from experience... and from the psychologist, whose views come from study and research. There is no topic... from etiquette to fidelity... on which advice and counsel are not available.

Yet with all this marriage education, the modern divorce rate continues at an appalling high!

This condition obviously is not due to ignorance of the so-called "facts of life." It cannot be attributed to economic problems, for good times have been repeatedly marked by a high divorce rate. Nor can it be blamed on the excuse of personal "incompatibility," which so often appears in divorce petitions.

These and other practical problems undoubtedly contribute to marriage conflicts. But the basic, fundamental cause of marriage failures goes deeper. It is the failure of many people to realize the true meaning of marriage... to recognize that it is a life-long union of a man and a woman... to see that its main purpose is the begetting and rearing of children.

In Catholic eyes, marriage is, first of all, a contract which... as with all contracts... must be governed by justice. A purely sentimental and physical attraction between a man and a woman, which is not permeated by a sense of duty to each other and to God, is not the love upon which enduring homes are built.

But the Catholic Church teaches that marriage must be what God meant it to be... and He made it not only a contract—but a Sacrament.

When the marriage of a man and a woman is a Sacrament, they receive title to all the divine helps necessary to overcome the disappointments and difficulties of domestic life. They are thus better able to overcome personality differences... better able to deal justly with each other... better able to understand the many practical problems of living together.

Marriage is not a strictly private affair. It is the concern of the whole community. It is the special concern of the Church, which is charged with safeguarding this Sacrament. That is why the Catholic Church strives to impress the true nature of marriage upon all who hear her voice.

Whether you are already married... or just thinking about it... you will be helped by a pamphlet we will send you explaining the true nature of marriage and the blessings that come from a proper understanding of the married state. Write today for your free copy. It will be mailed promptly, and nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-19.

Road Suit Settled For Higher Figure An Adams County jury Monday afternoon awarded J. Leslie Bowling, Fairfield R2, $12,000 as damages to his property in Freedom Twp. caused by construction of the new Route 15 around Gettysburg. Bowling's land is located at the intersection of new Route 15 with old Route 15, just north of the Maryland line. The new road cut through Bowling's property, cutting off one end of it from the remainder, and took 15 1/2 acres of his 116-acre farm. The jury acted on an appeal made by Bowling from the report of the board of review which last December held the damages totaled $8,006. Howard J. Bowman, Littlestown R1, who was foreman of the jury, told the court that the jury had gured into its verdict interest on the money since the time that the land was taken from Bowling in 1961, and as a result no "detention damages" were listed.

Girl Scout Week To Be Observed By Local Group

This Sunday, March 7, marks the beginning of Girl Scout Week. For this observance, the Girl Scouts of Emmitsburg will attend Sunday religious services in a body. The Protestant Girl Scouts will meet at Incarnation United Church of Christ at 10:30 with Mrs. Ralph Lindsey and Mrs. John Chatlos, leaders. The Catholic Girl Scouts will attend the 8:30 Mass at St. Joseph's Church and will assemble in front of the church at 8:15 with Mrs. Robert Myers, leader.

During the week, the flag raising and lowering at both Mother Seton School and the Emmitsburg High School will be in charge of the Girl Scouts.

"Girl Scouting—A Promise in Action," the theme for the 1963-1966 triennium, means many things to many people—and during Girl Scout Week, it is particularly appropriate to consider its many implications. This promise implies a commitment for the future, a forward look to the time when our girls will become the women of tomorrow.

A feature of the 1963 program change is the bridge between the four age levels. Through these age levels, spanning ten years of a girl's life. Scouting offers a bridge to the future—a bridge constructed from many opportunities for special experiences. From this observation then, a secondary theme for Girl Scout Week is suggested: "Girl Scouting—A Bridge to the Future." Each day of Girl Scout Week has been especially marked to illustrate one particular phase of the present-day activities and interests of our girls. These are: March 5, 6, 7, Sabbath Day or Sunday; March 8, Monday, Homemaking Day; March 9, Tuesday, Citizenship Day; March 10, Wednesday, Health and Safety Day; March 11, Thursday, International Friendship Day; March 12, Friday, Arts and Crafts Day, and March 13, Saturday, Out-of-doors Day.

Junior Troop 405 will decorate the Library window for Scout Week, Mrs. John Chatlos, leader. Cadette Troop 1316 will use the window at Carter's drug store, leader, Mrs. Robert Myers, Brownie Troop 1300, Mrs. Ralph Lindsey, leader, will decorate the Town Office window.

During this week, the Junior and Cadette Scouts will be selling Girl Scout cookies. They began yesterday, Thursday, at 4 p.m. and will continue through Saturday, March 13. There are four kinds of cookies: Peanut Butter Sandwich, Butter flavored Shorties, Assorted Sandwich, and Mint Cookies. Each box will sell for fifty cents. Remember that five cents from each box sold will come to the girl's own troop treasury. More of the profit is used by the Central Maryland Girl Scout Council for camping and comes back to our girls in many forms—established camp opportunities, day camp, troop camping, camperships.

Mrs. William Slemmer Jr. is serving as the community cookie chairman for Thurmont, Taneytown and Emmitsburg. Mrs. Robert Myers and Mrs. Padick Stoner are the local Troop Cookie Chairmen.
