Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

That big snow that we have been waiting for seems mighty elusive and it is hard to believe that we just might escape such a downfall. We're just about winding up those six more weeks of winter that Brer Groundhog promised us and so far we have been downright lucky. Had last week's rainfall been snow we'd still be shoveling. The rain was a good one and streams were well over their banks or normal levels. Water still can be seen laying in the fields a week later and local wells and reservoirs appear filled to capacity. Rainbow Lake is reported running over its spillway for the first time in approximately 10 months and indications are that local crops and gardens will get off to a good start, once again. If you will remember, last spring was an excellent one as far as ample water supplies are concerned but in just a few short months we were right in the middle of a real drought, the third in three years. Let's hope we won't have a repeat performance.

The disgrace that is now going on in Selma, Ala., should be stopped immediately even if Federal intervention is necessary. It is downright disheartening and sickening to see individuals clubbed over the head in brutal fashion. With television on the scene the actual brutality of the police and even private citizens is startling as it appears right before your eyes. It is infuriating and I feel certain that a situation of this kind brings more champions to the Negro cause each time it is witnessed. On this day and age this stupid brutality is almost unbelievable, yet it exists in very real graphic fashion. Here's to the right of every citizen to be able to vote in these United States.

With the deadline for filing in the local Town Election just a bare short month away there have been no applications from interested parties to date. There are two offices to be filled, both Commissioners. Individuals close to Commissioner Flax believe they have persuaded him to change his mind about seeking re-election and we feel certain he again will be a candidate. This leaves one more job up for grabs. The Mayor does not come up for election until next year, however, he will have voting power this coming term which is tantamount to a five-man board. A number of local citizens has turned up at the Town Office to register and this is an encouraging sign. New voters have until April 17 to register on the Town books. A list of the eligible voters is published elsewhere on this page and if your name doesn't appear on the list you had better check with the Town Clerk, or else perhaps you haven't even registered?

Signs of development are beginning to stir in Emmitt Gardens these days. Construction equipment has moved to the scene and it is planned to install water and sewerage through the undeveloped lots. Workmen are currently cutting out a new street in the area. There should be some new homes springing up there shortly.

SPORTSMEN PLAN ANNUAL CARNIVAL
The regular monthly meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club was held at the Fire Hall last week with the president, Gilbert Eiker, presiding. The members voted to have the annual carnival and it was decided to hold it the week of July 12 through July 17. There will be rides for kiddies and adults and the usual stands of games, delicious refreshments and the ever-popular family game. It was announced that a color TV will be awarded at the carnival along with several other nice prizes. The club hopes the people of the community and surrounding area will help support the affair which is held annually on Community Field. Also at the meeting, the club donated a book, "The Outdoor Encyclopedia," to the local library.

Coveted Medal To Be Awarded At St. Joseph's

Mrs. Arthur G. Connolly of Wilmington, Del., has been nominated by the Most Rev. Michael W. Hyle, Bishop of Wilmington, to receive the St. Louise De Marillac Award presented annually by St. Joseph College. The presentation will be made at a special convocation on Saturday, March 13, in DePaul Auditorium on the Emmitsburg campus. Bishop Hyle will deliver the principal address. The Louise De Marillac Medal is bestowed annually by the college upon a woman who has distinguished herself for self-sacrificing personal service to her neighbor beyond the call of duty and justice. The award was created in 1958 to commemorate the unique contributions of St. Louise De Marillac, co-founder of the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent De Paul, to the spheres of charity and social welfare and to perpetuate her ideals of personal sacrifice for the neighbor.

Mrs. Connolly, whose husband is senior partner of the law firm of Connolly, Bove and Lodge, is the former Gerardine Laffey. She is a graduate of the Ursuline Academy in Wilmington, and attended the Wilmington Academy of Art and the Traphagen School of Design in New York. The Connollys are parents of six children.

Mrs. Connolly has been on the Board of the Child Guidance Clinic in Wilmington for ten years, and has been active in the annual Flower Market which raises funds for needy children. She is a member of the Board of the Catholic Welfare Guild of the diocese of Wilmington, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Archmere Academy, Salesianum High School, Ursuline Academy, and St. Edmund's Academy. She is one of the founders of St. Edmund's Academy, a private school for boys.

An amateur horticulturist, Mrs. Connolly is vice president of the Alapocas Garden Club, and a member of the Delaware Federation of Garden Clubs and the Neighborhood Federation of Garden Clubs. She is also a member of the Wilmington Fine Arts Society. Past recipients of the Louise De Marillac Medal are Alice R. May, Baltimore; Mary A. Dixon, Washington, D. C.; Clara S. Fowler, Richmond; Mary S. Giordano, New York; Mary T. Smith, Newark, and Mary T. Lowery, Philadelphia.

15 Die On State Roads In Week

Fifteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Four of those killed were drivers; four were passengers; and seven were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in five of the deaths; speed in seven; and "driver error" was present in twelve of the fatalities.

In a statement by Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, on the necessity of strengthening our effort to deal with the problem of the driver under the influence of alcohol, he pointed out that Senate Bill 136 now before the Legislature is designed to meet this problem head-on with maximum impact.

Firemen Called For Three Barn Fires

The Vigilant Hose Company was called out four times this week.

On Sunday morning at approximately 6:50 a.m. a blaze was observed in the John Reaves Electrical Store on West Main Street by Joseph Welty. Clarence G. Frailey who lives next door quickly summoned the firemen and the blaze was doused with a minimum of damage. Firemen were on the scene over an hour. Chief Sterling H. White reported the blaze apparently started about the chimney section of the property. Forty-eight firemen responded to the early morning call.

Tuesday night the firemen were called to a blaze that had started in the old Stansbury barn in the rear of the Gem Theater. The call came at 1:40 and firemen quickly had the situation under control. At 5:45 a.m. Wednesday, the firemen were called to a fire at the Sanders barn near the Stansbury property where a blaze was found in the building. They left the scene in a few minutes. However, the Fire Co. was recalled to the same premises at 7:30 a.m. when the same condition was reported. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

VFW Auxiliary Backing Local Cancer Drive

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held at the Post Home on March 4th with President Rita Byard presiding. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and several other communications were read. It was voted upon to send the amount requested to the Maryland National Home Building Fund. The committee for the record hop held in February gave a report on the amount made and the attendance at the affair. The president informed the members of the progress to date on the National Americanism Award Contest currently being sponsored by the VFW Auxiliary. The theme for the contest is "In Education Rests The Future of America." The two local high schools and both colleges have been invited to participate and the essays are due by April 15th. It was agreed by the members to send the usual donations to the Heart Fund, March of Dimes, Easter Rehabilitation and Cancer Drives.

A discussion was held regarding the Cancer Drive to be held in April and the Auxiliary has volunteered to canvas the town. The collectors are as follows: Emmitt Gardens, Mrs. Carrie Long; East Main St., Mrs. Carmen Topper and Mrs. Jane Orndorff; West Main St., Mrs. Loretta Adelsberger and Mrs. Anna Stoner. North Seton Avenue, Mrs. Hazel Topper and Mrs. Phyllis Joy; South Seton Avenue, Mrs. Gloria Martin and Mrs. Dolores Henke; De Paul St., Mrs. Mary Teresa Miller; Federal Hill, Mrs. Marion Timmerman and Mrs. Corrine Seiss. The president will contact the local organizations for donations.

A request was received from Cub Scoutmaster Ray Baker that two of the Dens be allowed to hold their monthly meetings in one of the Auxiliary meeting rooms and the request was granted. It was voted upon by the members to send $10 to the Emmitsburg Library for its recent drive. The Treasurer's report followed. Dolores Timmerman's name was called for the draw prize but was not present. The next meeting will be held on April 1 at which time the elections will be held for the coming year.

Bloodmobile Well Patronized On Visit Here

With an assist from the co-eds at St. Joseph College, the young men at Mount Saint Mary's College were able to exceed their previous record of 224 pints of blood donated to the American Red Cross Bloodmobile by setting a new record of 235 pints, according to Francis X. Ligorano, Student Union Director.

The annual visit of the Bloodmobile was held at the Cogan Union on Tuesday under the auspices of the Student Union Board committee headed by junior economics major, Joseph W. Sheehan, Ft. Edward, N. Y.

In addition to the collegians and seminarians donating blood to the project, twenty-four young ladies from St. Joseph College plus several faculty members and townspeople aided the setting of the new record.

Of the blood donated there were five pints of O negative which will be used in a case of open heart surgery in Washington, D. C. this week, according to Dr. James Grove, Frederick Postmaster and director of the Bloodmobile program in the county. Mr. Grove stated that the students at the area colleges have demonstrated in a "positive" and sometimes "negative" way their sense of community responsibility in making the county, their families, and friends, and those whose very lives depend on such generosity, safer and healthier. "For the third consecutive year they have earned the commendation of the community and in particular the respect of the doctors and staff of the Bloodmobile," he added.

Firemen Seek Bids On New Building

President John S. Hollinger presided over the regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall. Chief Sterling H. White reported three fires handled since the last meeting.

The building committee reported it was issuing bids for the new annex to the hall on the 15th of this month. The bids will be opened March 29th. Donald Shorb and John G. Humerick were accepted on the active list of the company and William Kaas was named as a social member. The honorary membership committee consisting of Guy R. McLaughlin, George L. Danner, Patrick Zimmerman and Jeff Fitzgerald announced it would have a report ready for the next meeting. The quarterly meeting of the County Association will be held in New Market on April 29. John Balmer gave a report on the coming shooting match and the 50-50. A movie of the Martin barn fire will be shown at the practice session next week. It was announced that the smoke mask tanks were refilled at the Citizens Truck Co in Frederick and that this service is available at no charge and the company would bring the service truck direct to the fire if necessary.

A request was received from Cub Scoutmaster Ray Baker that two of the Dens be allowed to hold their monthly meetings in one of the Auxiliary meeting rooms and the request was granted. It was voted upon by the members to send $10 to the Emmitsburg Library for its recent drive. The Treasurer's report followed. Dolores Timmerman's name was called for the draw prize but was not present. The next meeting will be held on April 1 at which time the elections will be held for the coming year.

Mount Seminary Schola To Participate In New Chapel Ceremonies At St. Joseph's

The Schola Cantorum of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary has been invited to participate in a special religious program at Saint Joseph's Provincial House Chapel on Friday, March 19, the feast of St. Joseph.

The combined choirs of the Mount Schola Cantorum, under the direction of Rev. David W. Shaum, Ph.D., and the Saint Joseph Central House Choir of professed Sisters, Novices and Postulants, under the direction of Sister Jane Marie, will sing the solemn high mass program beginning at 9 a. m.

A solemn vespers service will be held at 4:30 p. m. at which time 400 combined voices will participate. In addition to the two choirs, the voices of the Mt. St. Mary's College Glee Club, the student body of the Mount Seminary and the body of the Motherhouse will participate.

According to Rev. Dr. Shaum, the male voices from the Mount Seminary and College were chosen as the first visiting group to sing in the newly-constructed Motherhouse Chapel, because of the long association between the two institutions and primarily because of the close historical relationship from the time of Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton, foundress of the St. Joseph's Province in this country, and the early founders of the Mount, Rev. John Dubois and Rev. Simon Brute, both of whom later were elevated to the ranks of hierarchy of the Catholic Church. The former became the third bishop of New York and the latter, first bishop of Indianapolis.

OUR LIBRARY

What Have You Read Lately?

We don't have every best seller that comes out. We cannot buy them all. We do try however to give the reader his choice, if we don't have it in our collection, we can always do the next best thing. Forward the patrons request on to County Services or the Enoch Pratt Free Library. Don't hesitate to ask.

We have just added to our collection the "Comparative Guide to American Colleges for Students, Parents, and Counselors," by James Cass and Max Birnbaum. This analytic handbook includes every accredited four year college in the United States. It provides a sound basis for college selection, with data on: admission requirements—Academic opportunities offered by the institution, Faculty qualifications, Enrollment figures, Degrees offered, Special programs, Intellectual, social, religious, and cultural environment, plus a special section on financing a college education, with advice on scholarships, loans, job aid.

A companion to the College Guide might well be: "How To Get Money For College," by Benjamin Fine, Ph.D., and Sidney A. Eisenbert. Almost a billion dollars is annually earmarked for scholarships, loan, and fellowships for college and university students—yet each year many of these scholarships go unclaimed because qualified students did not know about them. The main feature of this book is an alphabetical listing of every college in the country that offers a scholarship or loan program. In each case the following information is given: the number of scholarships available and their amounts, amount of money available for loans and the rate of interest, student jobs available, whom to contact and how, and other pertinent details. In addition there is detailed information about scholarships and loans available thru foundations, labor unions, companies, industries, government and religious and fraternal organizations. No expense has been spared to make this the most useful, complete, and up-to-date volume of its kind ever published.

"The Complete Book of Home Freezing," by Hazel Meyer. This book was written to fill a definite need. It is an accurate, useful working tool for the woman who has or plans to buy a home freezer, and has the plus value of being readable and amusing. Written by an expert, it has been checked by authorities in the field. She is specific about foods that will freeze (and how long they can be kept safely) and about foods which will not. Many of her own experiments in new ways to handle foods for freezing are included. She gives instructions on preparation of every type of food for the freezer, frank appraisals of packaging materials, and clear instructions on how to wrap or package every type of food for safe long-term storage at zero temperatures.

"Children For Adoption," by Pearl S. Buck. A great novelist and authority on adoption speaks for the new millions of unwanted children all over the world. We are living in times of changing morality, with the inevitable resulting increase of fatherless children. Who is caring for them? Where will they go? Who will love them? The author provides comprehensive information on the gray and black markets in adoption: how they work, their advantages. She discusses in detail the difficulties of the adopting parents before and after adoption and often heartbreaking problems of the adopted children as they grow.

Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Lewis, 316 Antietam Drive, Hagerstown, was the setting recently for the observance of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Brown, of Thurmont, the parents of Mrs. Lewis.

White and gold decorations dominated the dining room where a turkey dinner was served for the family and a few friends. The table, which was laid in white and enhanced with white and gold china, was centered with gold candles and a beautifully decorated three-tier cake. Mrs. A. L. Brown, daughter-in-law of the honorees, baked the cake.

Members of the family present besides the hostess and honorees were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baker and family, Miss Virginia D. Brown, all of Hagerstown; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hess and family, Westminster; and Donald L. Brown, Thurmont.

Mrs. Evelyn Houff, Norristown, Pa., their youngest daughter, was not able to attend.

Other relatives included: Mrs. Gertrude Davis, Emmitsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Diehl, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Feigley, Hagerstown; Mrs. Nellie Clipp, Waynesboro; and Kenneth Finnyfrock and family, Thurmont.

Friends of the family who also enjoyed the dinner and festivity of gift giving were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller and daughter, Thurmont; Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lewis, Hagerstown; and Robert Lewis, Funkstown.

Children of the honored couple presented their father with a gold and onyx Masonic ring and their mother with a gold brooch.

The couple were married by the late Reverend Leonard J. Flohr February 25, 1915, in their hometown of Thurmont. Mrs. Brown was the former Miss B. Ruth Finnyfrock, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Finnyfrock. Mr. Brown, a retired carpenter, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Reuben Brown.

Judge Clapp Selected Delegate

Judge Robert E. Clapp, Jr., of Frederick, has been selected from more than 260 applicants to attend the 1965 session of the National College of State Trial Judges which will be held at the University of Colorado School of Law during July.

Judge Clapp is one of seventy-five who will receive a fellowship from money provided by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation to cover the essential expenses of his participation. Judge Clapp stated that any expenses not covered by the fellowship grant would be paid by him and not from public funds.

The first session of the National College was held at the University of Colorado in 1964 at which 92 judges from all but three of the United States attended. As in 1964, the session this year is designed to acquaint new judges with methods for effective judicial administration being developed throughout the country. The faculty, composed of leading jurists and law professors, will present courses in court administration, modern trends in evidence, sentencing and probation, criminal procedure, pretrial procedures and other currently developing fields of trial court administration. The course comprises four weeks of intensive work in these various fields.

Mr. Justice Clark who serves as chairman of the governing board of the College stated that, after examining the applications, he was impressed with the high quality of the judges who applied and is looking forward to having them in attendance. He expressed his regret that the College, because of limited financial considerations, was able to accommodate only a small percentage of the excellent applicants.

Taneytown Pool Construction Slated

Construction of the proposed new Taneytown Swimming Pool will begin on April 1 if sufficient funds, in donations and pledges, are available at that time.

The Taneytown Swimming Pool Committee said that $60,000 must be pledged by March 15 if spring construction on the pool is to begin. Last returns showed approximately $20,000 to date.

The committee has named the Ira C. Rigiger Contracting Firm of Cockeysville to build the pool. The firm has pledged that the pool will be completed by Memorial Day if started on April 1.

Minimum Roughage

Many dairymen are either out of roughage or are getting short on roughage. Dairymen are reminded that after minimum roughage requirements have been met, it is usually more economical to feed extra grain than to buy hay or silage.

The minimum roughage requirement is about 1 lb. of hay equivalent per 100 lbs. of bodyweight. Expressed on a daily basis for a 1200 lb. cow, the minimum amount of roughage to feed is about 12 lbs. of hay or about 35-40 lbs. of silage or some combination of hay and silage.

The average length of stay in hospitals by Blue Cross members was 7.92 days in 1963.

The U. S. Navy has been performing aerial hurricane reconnaissance since 1943.

LOOKING AHEAD
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Look First, Leap Later

So often, in the advent of today's creeping socialism, you hear the propaganda that this or that is a sure thing, according to the polls. Your favorite lobby has won its battle, friends if the pundits hint that it's as good as in. And so, it appears, with Medicare. With Congressman Mills having relented to offer tentative approval, the American Medical Association actually proposing a "government" plan, and LBJ making his bill first priority—well, the nation is going to get it whether it wants it or needs it or not. And it seems to be only the beginning.

The population group of over 65 is said to be one of the wealthiest categories of citizens in the nation, but we cannot stop to quibble about that. Everyone of them must have it. The state of South Dakota is reported to have identified 349 cases of need. Other states may have fewer, depending on the population and the standards you use. Certainly one should not assume as the Administration bill does, that everyone of our 19 million Americans over 65 needs this help, even if costs have soared. The Kerr-Mills program must be helping the needy, since it and similar programs spent more than a billion in 1964. But Mr. Johnson ignores this.

Eventually, Everyone
Despite the dismal record of socialized medicine in Britain, West Germany, Canada, and other countries where much public dissatisfaction is found with it, we Americans allow ourselves to be marched right into the trap. U. S. News & World Report has published an extensively documented article (January 25 issue) showing that one-fourth of U. S. health care is already being provided by the government (federal, state, and local).

Some 30 million persons, or about one-sixth of our population, already are eligible for treatment in government hospitals and clinics, the article says. In addition, 16 million others fall under health plans in force that are partially under federal and state auspices. The Johnson hospital care plan for those 65 and older would cover 19 million more, at the outset. Eventually, the remainder of the population would fall under the system.

Counting Costs

The President, appearing to take Mr. McNamara's "savings" of perhaps a half-billion, makes it appear that for only a few hundred millions the U. S. can set up a wide health program that will whip every dread disease—with no emphasis on the fact that his program would be costing billions by 1970. Not many people will object to conquering disease, whether the money used is public or private, but we ought not to allow that kind of budgetary "backdoor" behavior, in which the costs as well as the socialization creep upon us from behind.

As for the Johnson "medicare" plan itself, which largely will come out of the pockets of taxpayers themselves and their employers, some $2 billion will be required in its first full year. Social Security taxes would be raised from 7 1/2 per cent of wages to 10.4 per cent, and the base on which it is taxed from $4,800 to $5,600. This means the Social Security tax on a $5,600 income would go up from $348 to $582.40, and would only be the beginning of the bite out of paycheck withholding. For many a wage earner, this would mean another payroll tax about as high as his federal income tax.

How Much Higher?
And nobody doubts that it would keep on going higher than that. Experience has been, generally, that costs soar when the government system takes over. And it is being made most clear that if the Administration plan is passed, only a little push would be required to have it cover medical and surgical costs as well as hospital care, and even to spread it to include those under 65 years.

Nobody seems to ask whether the general population, a growing number of whom have private plans, wants socialized medicine.

But once the direction is charted, and it clearly has been, the destination will be the same: socialized medicine for the whole nation. We are not convinced that the general public does not want to put the health services of the whole country under government operation and make our basic doctor-patient relationship a matter of government sponsorship. It is the modern "medicine men" of our time, the politicians, who insist on doing that.

Planning and Prenatal Care Vital
The U. S. aims to put a man on the moon before the end of the 60's. Our people produce more goods and services than any in history. Yet we rank 10th among Western nations in deaths per 1,000 of infants under one year. It is estimated that one of every 40 babies born in the U. S. dies before it reaches its first birthday; that one of every 16 babies born here has a birth defect.

These shocking figures can be cut substantially if: Women plan their pregnancies. Then any abnormalities or diseases they may have can be eliminated or treated; All women, rich and poor alike, receive prompt and continuous prenatal care.

Every county in the land has a hospital clinic or public health center at which prenatal care is provided. To find out what is available in your community check your state, city, or county health department. The lives you're safeguarding are yours — and your baby's.

Tetanus Tame-able!
Do you like to garden? Or walk barefoot on a sandy beach? Do you ever have to change a tire? Do you think you might puncture your skin some day on a thorn, or a baby's diaper pin, or while opening a can?

Your answer to one or more of these questions is likely to be "yes." If it is, there's another question we hope you can answer with a "yes." Have you been inoculated against tetanus? Tetanus, also known as "lock-jaw," is a killing disease caused by a germ that lurks in dirt. An innocent-looking garden tool, a piece of broken glass, a nail (which doesn't have to be rusty) — any of these can harbor the germ. It can penetrate a tiny skin puncture to do its deadly mischief. Unless you're inoculated against the disease, tetanus can strike. Its victims have only a 60-40 chance of survival.

Despite the fact that a safe, dependable, long-lasting inoculation against tetanus exists, Americans are dying of the disease every year, either because they've never been inoculated or neglected to get their boosters.

Two Harvard researchers, Leo Levine and Louise Wyman, found that many Massachusetts men and women over 30 are not fully protected to it largely because, the scientists believe, men are routinely inoculated against tetanus when they do their military service.

After 50, though, both men and women seem to be inadequately protected. (Studies by the World Health Organization indicate that immunization of women before pregnancy helps protect newborn infants from tetanus). Mr. Levine is chief of laboratory and Miss Wyman senior bacteriologist, at the Division of Biologic Laboratories, Massachusetts Department of Health.

Troupe To Perform At St. Joseph College

Le Treteau de Paris, the distinguished French theater company, will stop over at St. Joseph College on Tuesday, April 27, during its seventh annual tour of American and Canadian campuses. The troupe will give a performance in French of Paul Claudel's "L'Annonce Faite A Marie" (The Tidings Brought to Mary). Set in medieval France, the production has been acclaimed "one of the loftiest examples of poetic drama in French literature."

The Emmitsburg performance, scheduled for 7:45 p.m. in DePaul Auditorium, was arranged by St. Joseph's Modern Language Department and Omega Chapter of Pi Delta Phi, the national French honor society. Claudel's work marks the company's second appearance on campus. The American tour is under the patronage of the French Cultural Counselor and under the auspices of the French government.

The troupe is comprised of some of France's top professionals. Each year different actors give up part of their Paris season to tour with the company. The current tour is directed by Pierre Franck, whose first presentation of his staging of this play in 1962 received the "Prix de la Critique Dramatique." Madeleine Vimes and Christine Fersen head the cast in the roles of "Mara" and "Violaine."

Tickets are now on advance sale. General admission is $3.00, with a special rate of $2.00 for students. Sr. Margaret Flinton, chairman of the Modern Language

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson's Point Of View On: Working While Getting Your Degree

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 11—Students heading toward a higher education should look into the growth in many parts of the nation of co-operative programs that permit college students to work with a company in their chosen field while pursuing college training in that same direction. Emergence of this system has resulted from successful teamwork between college and management leaders. College-Job Combination Programs

While the idea of "working your way through college" is scarcely new, in times past the jobs taken by students to help themselves along often had nothing to do with their career objectives. Boys "jerked" sodas, mowed lawns, did night work in local factories; girls baby-sat, did part-time clerking in local stores, tutored, and so on. But the trouble was that their scholastic aims were almost always slowed—or even diverted—by their need to make money.

Recently, colleges in many sections have begun to appreciate the value of developing workable plans in joint action with private concerns and government agencies seeking to build strong crews of skilled employees. There are currently 78 colleges and universities with such programs in operation, 18 of these having been added in the past two years. The National Commission for Cooperative Education reports that nearly 50 more higher education establishments are considering such systems. So it is evident the work-study concept will attract many more degree seekers from now on.

For Ambitious College Material
As a rule, the program requires five years instead of four to get a bachelor's degree, because of the time devoted to developing on-the-job skill in an allied company or agency. For the first year, concentration is usually on basic academic studies, so other forms of financial help may be essential for that period. In the years thereafter, however, an eligible student should be able to work—in his job-study program—enough to cover most of his costs. Commission figures indicate that there are now more than 35,000 entered in the cooperative program, earning on average about $2,000 annually.

When a company or a government agency ties in with a work-study program at a given university or college, it is naturally for the possible later recruitment of the students for full-time employment. In this way, employers get to know the young people during their training days and are able to appraise their capabilities as they go along. This provides an extraordinary opportunity to give direction to scholars and head them toward careers for which they are best suited within the field they have originally selected. The college is likewise enabled to slant its courses toward this end.

Program Worth Looking Into
No matter where you live, those of you who have children or grandchildren with hopes for a higher education should direct the attention of such young people to this rapidly expanding job-study concept. One very strong point in its favor is that corporations and agencies concerned are almost always willing to start graduates at a higher-than-average beginner's pay. This is because the on-the-job training during the college years cuts the time and cost that would otherwise be spent breaking in such employees when they joined personnel rolls.

Now—while high school seniors are starting the last lap—is the time to look into the possibilities of job-study programs for fall entrance into college. The National Commission for Cooperative Education, 8 West 40th Street, New York, 10018 will send you a list, free of charge, of institutions of higher learning which have such programs in operation. A letter to any college selected from the list should bring you details of the plan and tell you what steps must be taken to determine eligibility for entrance. Send a full-sized, stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

College Announces New Publication

"Scientists are not dependent on the ideas of a single man, but on the combined wisdom of thousands of men." With these words of Lord Ernest Rutherford, early 20th century pioneer in atomic research, featured on its masthead, the division of Natural Science and Mathematics at St. Joseph College recently launched its new publication, "Search." Dedicated to the dissemination of scientific knowledge on a general collegiate level, this quarterly newsletter is expected to open broader horizons to its non-scientific readers.

As a channel through which science students may transmit an understanding of their pursuits, "Search" is being financed by a National Science Foundation Institutional grant. Under the guidance of Sister Denise Eby, associate professor of chemistry, the staff is headed by Barbara Gaver, senior chemistry major from Baltimore, as editor-in-chief. Other staff members are Cynthia Crawford and Maureen Higgins in the field of biology, Jeanne Harris with Miss Gaver in chemistry, and Jane Currie and Julianne Rupp in mathematics. Inquiries and requests for copies of "Search" may be addressed to Sister Denise, Department of Chemistry, St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Self-employed farmers are virtually assured social security protection for themselves and their dependents by a special provision in the social security law, according to W. S. King, Social Security District Manager, and Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue.

Mr. King stated that farm owners and operators who have a gross income as little as $600 a year can get social security credit by using the optional method for figuring their net annual earnings. "Now, before filing Federal income tax returns," said Mr. Machiz, "is a good time for farm owners and operators to check up on the optional method for figuring earnings in years when profit is low." He summarized the optional provision as follows: If a farmer's gross income is at least $600, but less than $1,800, he has the option of counting either his actual net or two-thirds of his gross farm income for social security credit. If the gross farm income is over $1,800 and net farm earnings are under $1,200, a

LEGAL

TOWN OF EMMITSBURG CHARTER AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 13(e) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1964 Cumulative Supplement) the following is published as a fair summary of the proposed amendments to the Charter as passed by the Burgess and Commissioners at a special meeting on February 9, 1965, to become effective on the 50th day thereafter. CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 7

This amendment provides for an additional Commissioner to be elected so that there will be four (4) instead of three (3) Commissioners.

CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 8

This amendment allows Commissioners to come from any precinct in the town. It removes the limitation of not more than two (2) Commissioners from any one precinct. Because the town elections are town-wide, the Commissioners will, in the future, represent the entire Town rather than one section as appears to have been contemplated in the past.

CHARTER AMENDMENT NO. 9

This amendment gives the Burgess the power to act as a member of the Board of Commissioners in passing ordinances, rules, etc., and transacting business. It changes the votes required to override the veto of the Burgess from a unanimous vote to a majority. Published by authority of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg in the Chronicle on February 19 and 26, and March 5 and 12.

RX FOR DUST-FREE ROADS

Many people who regularly travel over superhighways would be amazed to learn that two-thirds of America's roads are unsurfaced!

According to Allied Chemical researchers, America has about a million miles of unpaved roads. Of this total, more than 500,000 are graded and drained non-surfaced roads—but nearly half a million miles are primitive and unimproved.

Imagine all the dust thrown up by these unpaved roads! Then imagine the millions of dusty miles of other unpaved areas: driveways, walks, factory grounds, parking lots.

Fortunately, there is a solution—an easy, economical and efficient way to make dust problems bite the dust. Solvay calcium chloride, produced by Allied Chemical scientists as a dust-layer and surface binder, can be spread on roads and other unpaved areas just as it comes from the package.

For small surfaces, apply it with a shovel; then spread it around evenly with a rake or broom. For large areas, use a spreader.

For best results, the makers of Solvay suggest that you make two or three light applications rather than one heavy one. The amount of moisture in the air or on the surface determines the time needed for the flakes to dissolve. To accelerate this action, apply Solvay after light rain or on a sprinkled surface.

How much is needed? For most areas, the quantity of calcium chloride required per season averages two pounds per square yard—a small investment indeed in a dust-free environment.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder American Legion Auxiliary Unit, 121, was held last Tuesday evening with President Anna Bushman presiding. Twelve members were present.

The membership chairman announced that the quota of 76 members had been reached. The chaplain reported that a fruit basket had been sent to a sick member as well as sympathy cards. Several thank-you notes were received. The Americanism chairman reported on the Americanism Essay Contest. Members reported 40½ hours of baby sitting for veteran and non-veteran families.

The Unit donated $5 for the District Reception for Department Commanders and Presidents to be held at the Morris Frock Post in Hagerstown on April 10. The next District meeting will be held on Sunday, March 28 with the Francis X. Elder Unit as host Unit. Dinner will be served at 1:00 p.m., and all reservations must be received by March 28. Invitations have been issued to the following Department chairmen to attend the meeting: Community Service, Foreign Relations, Girls' State and Legislative. Marian Timmerman won the draw prize, and Edith Baker's name was called for the door prize, but she was not present. Refreshment committee for next month is: Margaret Shorb and Beatrice Umbel.

INFRARED SPACE CAMERA PROBES EARTH SECRETS

NIMBUS I IN FLIGHT . . . Artist's rendering shows satellite with earth-oriented High-Resolution Infrared Radiometer attached to bottom. INSET shows ITT Industrial Laboratories' scientist preparing HRIR for installation in NIMBUS I.

There's a new "eye" for the sky that can reveal long-hidden secrets of Mother Earth. Mounted in a NIMBUS weather satellite whirling busily about our planet, this device, is technically known as a High Resolution Infrared Radiometer. It was designed by the ITT Industrial Laboratories of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company.

NASA scientists, are elated by its performance. It is predicted that it will offer tremendous benefits to all mankind, providing new means for long range weather forecasting, for geology, for water conservation, and as a tool for extending all the earth sciences.

Icebergs, clouds, cities, all give off infrared rays. Now it is possible to "picture" this radiation and chart the daily changes in weather patterns around the world. Infrared study is still in its infancy, but the benefits from it may some day radiate to all mankind.

ITALY AT MIDNIGHT . . . taken from 275 miles up by ITT Laboratories' High-Resolution Infrared Radiometer. The "boot" of Italy is at center, with clouds of a weather front at top, over the Alps.

100 YEARS AGO

SHERMAN LEADS ARMY INTO NORTH CAROLINA

BY LON K. SAVAGE

General William Tecumseh Sherman's Federal army of 60,000—the men who had scorched the earth of Georgia and South Carolina in three months of almost steady marching—came swinging into North Carolina 100 years ago this week.

And when they did, only two states remained unconquered in the Confederacy. Before they would leave the state, the Confederacy would be no more.

Perhaps it was this knowledge of certain victory that caused Sherman's veterans to calm down once they had crossed from South Carolina into North Carolina. For once in the Tar Heel state, the wrath and destruction they had vented farther South lessened, and North Carolina was spared of much of the ravage that her sister states had experienced.

Sherman crossed into North Carolina from Cheraw, S. C., where his army had helped itself to warehouses full of furniture, rugs and fine wines that the people of Charleston had stored for safe-keeping. They rode into North Carolina with saddle blankets made of those rugs and with wine bottles in their baggage.

Cross Border

They crossed the state line on March 7 and headed for Fayetteville. In four corps the army came, taking different roads, each unit followed by long lines of Negro slaves on mules, in wagons and on foot. Singing "John Brown's Body," the Northern soldiers came through dozens of little communities, meeting a minimum of resistance.

At Laurel Hill, N. C., Sherman sent two messengers off to Wilmington with messages for the Federal troops there, announcing that he would proceed to Goldsboro, N. C.

Wade Hampton's Confederate cavalry made one attack on Sherman's column at Fayetteville and captured about 200 prisoners, but that hardly delayed the advance. By March 11, Sherman was in Fayetteville, and his army recaptured the last Federal arsenal in the East that had fallen to the Confederacy at the outbreak of the war.

A Battle

Sherman's Federals destroyed all that could be of value to the Confederacy at Fayetteville and pushed on, slower now because of a growing Confederate army forming to the north under Gen. Joseph E. Johnston.

At Bentonville, midway between Fayetteville and Goldsboro, Johnston, with 30,000 men, stood athwart the road before Sherman's 60,000, and the two armies fought a two-day battle there before Johnston was forced to retreat. Having inflicted 2,700 casualties on Johnston's army while suffering 1,600 themselves in the Battle of Bentonville, Sherman's men pushed on to Goldsboro.

And there, they joined forces with Gen. George Schofield's Federal army of 27,000 fresh troops who had come up from Wilmington.

With that juncture, North Carolina was effectively neutralized as a Confederate state. Sherman now had three times the manpower that Johnston could muster.

Helpful Income Tax Information Listed

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws, which will help them to prepare better and more accurate returns and pay their just tax, no more, no less. Clip and save for help in preparing your 1964 tax return.

Q. Which is the easiest tax form for me to use?

A. The simplest tax form is card form 1040A. However, not all people can use it and it would not be to the advantage of some others to use it. Generally speaking, from 1040A cannot be used if:

- 1—deductions are itemized
- 2—income is $10,000 or over
- 3—more than $200 of income is not subject to withholding
- 4—special tax status or tax credits are claimed

The instruction booklet accompanying Form 1040 discusses which form is best for you in some detail. The booklet is available at no charge at all Internal Revenue offices as well as in some banks and post offices.

Q. I understand that the new tax law has eliminated some low-income people from the tax rolls. Over what income level must a Federal income tax now be paid?

A. Under the new law, taxpayers may now have income up to $900 before they become liable for payment of Federal income taxes. However, if a taxpayer has self-employment income of $400 or more, he must also file a return and pay the self-employment tax.

If the taxpayer has income under $900 but $600 and over, he must nevertheless file a return. This is particularly important to the taxpayer who has had taxes withheld. A return is necessary to obtain a refund.

Q. Through part-time and summer work my son earned over $900 last year. Does he have to file a return and can I claim him as a dependent since he is a student getting most of his support from me?

A. Your son must file a return if he earned $600 or more. He may be claimed as your dependent if he is under 19 or is a student and you furnish more than half his support.

Q. Where can I find out which state and local taxes are no longer deductible on my Federal tax return?

A. They are listed in the instruction booklet accompanying the 1040 tax forms. Briefly, deductions are generally not allowed for: automobile tags, drivers licenses, state and local sales taxes specifically on alcoholic beverages, tobacco and certain miscellaneous taxes. State income taxes, state gasoline taxes and real estate taxes are deductible.

Q. I'm going to get some outside help for this year's tax return. How can I be sure the man I get to help me is reliable?

A. The overwhelming majority of tax advisors are competent and honest. To avoid the few who are not, here are some things to look for: avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds; be on guard if he suggests that the refund check be sent to his address; don't sign a blank tax form; don't sign a form prepared in pencil, the figures could easily be changed; ask the advisor to sign the return he has prepared.

Keep in mind that you, the taxpayer, are legally responsible for the contents of your tax return no matter who prepared it.

Q. We receive several hundred dollars in dividends a year. I know there have been some changes in the tax law. Are these dividends still taxable?

A. Yes, dividends are still taxable. Changes have been made however that will benefit low and middle income taxpayers.

Under the new law, individuals may now receive up to $100 in dividends of a taxable domestic corporation before they become taxable. The previous limit was $50. For married couples where both have dividends, each may receive up to $100 in qualified dividends tax-free.

Q. Has there been any change in the dividend credit provision?

A. Yes. The dividend credit is reduced from 4 per cent to 2 per cent for 1964 and to zero for 1965. The dividend credit provision allows a taxpayer to deduct a percentage of his dividend income from his tax liability.

For 1964 taxpayers may claim a credit against their tax of 2 per cent of the amount of qualifying dividends they receive over the exclusion with certain limitations.

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of my dear father, Charles W. Hess, who passed away 42 years ago, March 13, 1923. Remembrance is a golden chain Death tries to break but all in vain, To have, to love, and then to part is the greatest sorrow of one's heart. The years may wipe out many things But this they wipe out never The memory of those happy days When we were all together. The depths of sorrow we cannot tell Of the loss of one we loved so well, And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep His memory we shall always keep. They say time heals all sorrow and helps to forget But time so far has only proved How much I miss you yet. Loving Daughter, Mrs. Charles R. Miller 1tp

Vacation Definition Given By Gas Co.

"A vacation," says Webster, "is a time of respite, a period for rest and recreation."

The definition doesn't distinguish between spending that "time of respite" at home or away from it, only that it should provide "rest and recreation."

In line with this definition, statistics indicate that many consider air conditioning an all-summer vacation. And now is the time to plan for it.

The first step in planning such a "vacation" is to get cost estimates. Free estimates on gas air conditioning, without obligation, are being offered by the Emmitsburg Gas Co. during National Gas Air Conditioning Week, March 21-27, as part of a national program sponsored by the American Gas Association.

These estimates may provide an especially pleasant surprise for families who have chosen gas warm air heating, for the ducts that carry the warm air can usually carry the cool air supplied by an add-on gas air conditioning unit. This duct system accounts for over half the cost of air conditioning.

A survey by the American Gas Association of families which had installed gas air conditioning revealed that 66 per cent no longer took vacations just to avoid the heat. Almost half of the families had switched their vacations to winter instead of summer.

Because gas air conditioning has no major moving parts to wear out, it lasts longer, costs less to maintain and offers quiet operation.

The American Institute of Management has predicted that, in just ten years, "air conditioning will be standard equipment in all new homes, and then non-air conditioned homes will be virtually outdated."

Which can mean that Americans just love to "vacation"—and who would doubt that!

Honor Society Gets New Members

At a recent assembly of Saint Joseph's High School, three new members were received into the Cribbins Chapter of the National Honor Society. The Honor Program began with a mock court scene in which the prospective members were "tried" for exhibiting qualities of Leadership, Character, Service, and Scholarship. After they were found "guilty," the new members, Joan Wivell, Diane Clare, and George Gorman, were inducted into the Society during the candle-lighting ceremony which followed.

Re-instated active members, Dennis Boyle and Lynn Shorb, received the loyalty pledge of the new members and distributed membership cards and certificates. Dennis also explained the significance of the ceremony.

Elected as provisional members were: Mary Hemler, Barbara Howe, Margaret Marshall, Gerald Orosz, Alma Sanders, Edward Adelsberger, Donna Fitzgerald, Daune Ray, Ann Marshall, Nelson McDonald, Patricia O'Brien, Ruth Sanders, and Joseph Welty. These students may participate in the activities of the chapter, but may not hold office until they have been elected to active membership.

A final word of commendation was given by Sister Antonia, principal, who reminded the members of their obligation to become the leaders of tomorrow, by loyalty to the aims of the Society.

Stork Shower Held A stork shower was given for Mrs. Craig Stoops, by Mrs. Leila Hess on Thursday evening, March 4.

Many nice gifts were received, and following the opening of the gifts, refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Donna Linn, Mrs. Jean Rosensteel, Mrs. Roland Frock, Miss Nancy Glynn, Miss Sandra Wagerman, Miss Judy Ridge, Miss Sylvia Brauer, Lorraine Gilland, Linda McClellan, Bonnie Glenn and Linda Frock. Those unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. Janet Zeigler, Mrs. Alice Gilland, Mrs. Mariam Gilland, Mrs. Cass Rippeon, Mrs. Catherine Kimes and Mrs. Clara Mae Shindledecker.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Null, of Rocky Ridge, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Diane Marie, to Robert Hans Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Jacobs, Abbotstown, Pa. Miss Null is a 1964 graduate of Emmitsburg High School and is employed by Moore Business Forms, Thurmont. Her fiance is a 1964

Vacation Definition Given By Gas Co.

"A vacation," says Webster, "is a time of respite, a period for rest and recreation."

The definition doesn't distinguish between spending that "time of respite" at home or away from it, only that it should provide "rest and recreation."

In line with this definition, statistics indicate that many consider air conditioning an all-summer vacation. And now is the time to plan for it.

The first step in planning such a "vacation" is to get cost estimates. Free estimates on gas air conditioning, without obligation, are being offered by the Emmitsburg Gas Co. during National Gas Air Conditioning Week, March 21-27, as part of a national program sponsored by the American Gas Association.

These estimates may provide an especially pleasant surprise for families who have chosen gas warm air heating, for the ducts that carry the warm air can usually carry the cool air supplied by an add-on gas air conditioning unit. This duct system accounts for over half the cost of air conditioning.

A survey by the American Gas Association of families which had installed gas air conditioning revealed that 66 per cent no longer took vacations just to avoid the heat. Almost half of the families had switched their vacations to winter instead of summer.

Because gas air conditioning has no major moving parts to wear out, it lasts longer, costs less to maintain and offers quiet operation.

The American Institute of Management has predicted that, in just ten years, "air conditioning will be standard equipment in all new homes, and then non-air conditioned homes will be virtually outdated."

Honor Society Gets New Members

At a recent assembly of Saint Joseph's High School, three new members were received into the Cribbins Chapter of the National Honor Society. The Honor Program began with a mock court scene in which the prospective members were "tried" for exhibiting qualities of Leadership, Character, Service, and Scholarship. After they were found "guilty," the new members, Joan Wivell, Diane Clare, and George Gorman, were inducted into the Society during the candle-lighting ceremony which followed.

Re-instated active members, Dennis Boyle and Lynn Shorb, received the loyalty pledge of the new members and distributed membership cards and certificates. Dennis also explained the significance of the ceremony.

Elected as provisional members were: Mary Hemler, Barbara Howe, Margaret Marshall, Gerald Orosz, Alma Sanders, Edward Adelsberger, Donna Fitzgerald, Daune Ray, Ann Marshall, Nelson McDonald, Patricia O'Brien, Ruth Sanders, and Joseph Welty. These students may participate in the activities of the chapter, but may not hold office until they have been elected to active membership.

A final word of commendation was given by Sister Antonia, principal, who reminded the members of their obligation to become the leaders of tomorrow, by loyalty to the aims of the Society.

Stork Shower Held A stork shower was given for Mrs. Craig Stoops, by Mrs. Leila Hess on Thursday evening, March 4.

Many nice gifts were received, and following the opening of the gifts, refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Donna Linn, Mrs. Jean Rosensteel, Mrs. Roland Frock, Miss Nancy Glynn, Miss Sandra Wagerman, Miss Judy Ridge, Miss Sylvia Brauer, Lorraine Gilland, Linda McClellan, Bonnie Glenn and Linda Frock. Those unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. Janet Zeigler, Mrs. Alice Gilland, Mrs. Mariam Gilland, Mrs. Cass Rippeon, Mrs. Catherine Kimes and Mrs. Clara Mae Shindledecker.

RECEIVES MEDAL USS WORDEN (DLG-18)—Seaman Nevin C. Staub, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy F. Staub, Rocky Ridge, Md., has received the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal while serving aboard the guided missile frigate USS Worden, operating out of San Diego,

Abhors Actions Of Juvenile Yokels

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

We are at a point where we adults cannot take it any longer. No chain is stronger than its weakest link. These so-called culprits seem to have no end to their devilry. They seem to pick their victims to plague and annoy.

They cannot show their spunk at a showdown as they have a cowardly way about themselves. One state policeman and one local policeman cannot do everything at once or be everywhere at the same time, and all of our Town officials are good too.

We need additional police as the population is increasing in our town and countryside alike. These hoodlums or so-called culprits have the movements of the policemen synchronized or timed as to their whereabouts. Two or more of these culprits in broad day light stopped their car and drew what was thought to be a real weapon upon a pedestrian along the highway and rang out foul language and profanity, and fled to avoid being identified or their car license number being taken. These hoodlums never get out of their backyards until taken to jail. They then return home sometimes before the police return who have taken them there for confinement.

Emmitsburg has a large building program going on and it should include the building of a jail so it would save the police a trip to Frederick, taking these culprits to jail when same can be done here. Parents should instruct their off-springs to show good behavior at all times.

A number of these culprits are said to be on parole or have been in the past. They are too young to go to jail but old enough to drive cars, a great gag, eh?

At closing hours where they congregate they then cruise the town and countryside in cars slurring and hollering at passerbys. Facts are facts. A lot of midnight oil has been burned obtaining these facts. Sharp eyes and silent tongues work together. If they are old enough to drive cars, they should be old enough to attend to their affairs and stop annoying those who attend to theirs.

Several residents of both our town and countryside have signified their intentions to either leave this locality or obtain permission to arm against these culprits in behalf of self defense. However we value our beloved town and countryside as a religious and an educational center and a civilized environ and not an outlaw ground. We who abide by the law are entitled to live in peace and harmony. Much has been done to provide recreation and what goes with it for teenagers here and still to them it does not seem enough after so much has been done.

Their misbehavior has been going on for more than a decade. It is high time to yield towards good citizenry and not be trash always.

A word to the wise is sufficient: You hoodlums or so-called culprits should read our local paper and you will readily know what we citizens think of your actions. Try to have a little more sense than a goose!

New Frontier Club Holds Election

Monday evening, March 8, the New Frontier Democratic Women's Club, led by Mrs. Jane Bollinger, held its regular monthly meeting at the VFW Home in Emmitsburg.

Dr. Virginia Lewis of Hood College's history department was scheduled to speak after the business meeting, but she was unable to attend. The club is hopeful of having her as a guest sometime in the near future. However, in February, the New Frontier group had as its guest speaker Dr. John Morrison of Mt. St. Mary's history department. His informative lecture on civil rights gave the club members additional background for understanding this timely problem.

Mrs. Dorothy Lambdin, a member of the New Frontier group and editor of the "new" Newsletter of the Democratic Women of Frederick County, explained that one of the purposes of the paper is to keep each Democratic women's club in the county fully aware of what all other local groups are doing and thinking.

During the course of the evening the club members enjoyed hearing the latest news about Madge Angel, their "adopted" friend at Montevue. Also, it was decided that for the remainder of the year Mrs. Frances Rosensteel will serve as hostess of the "social hour" following each meeting.

The club's main job in preparation for the Jefferson - Jackson Day Dinner is to make arrangements for the orchestra which will play later in the evening. For the Jefferson - Jackson Day Dinner Program Book, Mrs. Bollinger has asked Mrs. Frances Rosensteel to solicit ads in Emmitsburg, Thurmont and Sabillasville. Mrs. Ruth Houck is representing the club in its efforts to help make this fund-raising event a success.

The following officers, installed in December of 1963, will serve the organization until December, 1965: president, Mrs. Jane Bollinger; vice president, Mrs. Mary Hatter; recording secretary, Mrs. Jane Nolan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Louise Fraley; and treasurer, Mrs. Catherine Kugler.

Mrs. Bollinger is leading a drive to get "old members" to "join the ranks" again. Dues are $1.00 a year, and meetings are held the second Monday of each month.

Mr. and Mrs. William Greco, Myersville, visited recently with Mr. Greco's parents, Prof. and Mrs. D. G. Greco.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knox, Baltimore, visited with Mrs. Knox's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Regis Miller, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fisher and son, Norfolk, Va., visited recently with friends and relatives in town.

William Lansinger, Baltimore, visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel.

Rev. and Mrs. Martin Case and family, Thurmont; Rev. Joseph Sheridan and his fiancée, Miss Rita Johnson, both of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, Hagerstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Valentine, Jr., Taneytown, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Valentine, Sr., Taneytown, on Sunday.

Student Union Bldg. Selected As Model

The Cogan Union building at Mount Saint Mary's College was selected by the American Association of School Administrators as an example of student union facilities to be included among the exhibits at the Association's Convention which was held recently in Atlantic City, N. J.

The split-level building was completed in 1962 at a cost of approximately $750,000. Its construction was part of the $3,000,000 Mount Development Program which also included a 208 man dormitory and a million dollar science facility. The former was completed in 1962 and the latter was used for the first time during the fall of 1964.

The Union is constructed of mountain stone and masonry blending with other campus buildings and houses meeting rooms, dining rooms, cafeteria, kitchen, barber shop, post office, and business offices. On the lower level is found a spacious lounge, student game rooms, television lounge, college store, and snack bar.

The building was designed by Washington architects May & Ruppert and was constructed by Henry A. Knott, Inc., Baltimore.

Students Promote Press Month

To promote interest in National Catholic Press Month and Catholic Book Week during February, the Library Council of Saint Joseph's High School sponsored a book-jacket contest and presented a one-act play entitled, "The Day The Authors Came." Characters were portrayed by Dale Elder, Barbara Fannin, Gloria Knott, Linda McNamara, Kimberly Parks and Jody Rodgers.

After the play, winners of the contest were announced and awarded prizes by Sister Antonia, Principal. Those receiving the awards were: Patricia O'Bryen, $5; Christine Miller, $3; Margaret Marshall and Jerry Orosz, $2 each; Julie Neighbors, $1. The following students received Honorable Mention Certificates: Dolores Eckert, Debbie Merritt, Mary Pat Hemler and Ann Marshall.
