Every holiday seems destined to establish a new record for traffic fatalities. The recent long Thanksgiving holiday week-end was destined to go into the annals of history as the worst on record with 747 victims recorded. Right in our own backyard we had two accidents, one involving three cars. This one happend Sunday at our now infamous intersection in East End. Threats of losing licenses on moving violations during these periods, with hearings before the State Motor Vehicle Dept. commissioner, has done little if any to stem the constantly rising tide of death on our highways. What's the answer? We wish we had it.

The first snow of the season descended on this area Tuesday night as about an inch of the white precipitation settled softly over the area, the first real harbinger of winter we have had. As usual, there was the rush to filling stations for snow tires and antifreeze. Luckily, no accidents were reported. The very next day there was hardly a sign of the snow.

Those versatile fellows, the members of the Vigilant Hose Co. came to the rescue of the Town Tuesday and quickly put up the annual Christmas decorations. Seems the electric utility was too busy this year to help us out. Anyway, the job is done and we are on our way to the happy Christmas season. Thanks for a job well done,

Then there's the story of a local hunter making the rounds and it concerns the shooting of a duck which cost the gentleman $25, in fines. In order to relieve the gent from further embarrassment we are not going to give you his name. Many have dubbed him "Quack, Quack." He has a busy phone these days, but when he answers it, all he gets is a "Quack, Quack." I think he has suffered sufficiently so I'll lay off.

Dear "Interested Citizen":

It was indeed a shock to hear that someone has found undesirable and trashy literature on the newsstands in Emmitsburg. That is one thing we, as dealers, have tried to avoid by quickly scanning the contents of the magazines before placing them on the rack for sale to the public. It would take much too long to check every publication from cover to cover.

I feel that by efforts to see that our children come to know the best of reading, and by supporting better school libraries and public library service we will do far more to make reading an uplifting and enriching experience than by complaints about newsstands.

Most professional experts would agree that the exposure of children and youth to materials truly obscene is clearly undesirable. Few if any, however, see such materials as an element of major consequence in juvenile delinquency in comparison with such factors as broken homes, parental delinquency or school maladjustments.

One must recognize that the squalor portrayed in some publications unhappily reflects realities of life that young people will in any case encounter, and are encountering in newspapers daily, as they grow to manhood and womanhood.

Life itself is often shocking, beset with temptation, surrounded with sordiness. The young people who meet these aspects of reality clearly and with integrity will be those who have been made aware of them and taught to confront them with understanding.

If a youth has been prepared for what he will find in much of life itself, there is little to fear from his encounter with the pages of any book. Frightenel ignorance is no good preparation for either.

Senior Citizens Plan Open House Monday Night

The Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Center is in readiness for its Open House. Just recently settled at its new location on the Square, the Center has added bookcases, television, working tables, reading tables and chairs and much other equipment needed for its members.

Plans call for the Open House to be held on Monday evening, Dec. 5, from 6:30 until 10 p.m. The general public is cordially invited and urged to attend the affair and see the progress the Center has made since its inception several months ago.

Frederick County public officials and the official family of Emmitsburg's town government, have been extended written invitations to attend the Open House. Refreshments will be served during the evening and all members are urged

School Plan Financing Must Be Reviewed

Frederick County's school building program may be delayed due to a lack of funds.

Dr. John L. Carnochan, Jr., superintendent of schools, said there was not enough money now to complete the projects scheduled under the 1965 state and county bond issues.

The county bond issue scheduled for 1967 under the ten year plan is $2.8 million.

"This would have to be increased by about $750,000 to keep the present program on schedule," Dr. Carnochan said.

The first priority will be Catoctin High School and the Valley Elementary School, he said. The lack of funds became evident when bids for the Catoctin of merchandise and gift suggesschool were opened recently, and the low bid, $3,360,064, was $866,-064 over the amount estimated for the school in the ten-year building program prepared by the superintendent.

Bids for the Valley school, which will be opened Dec. 6, are expected to be higher than the $700,000 estimated cost.

Construction of the two schools would use most of the funds available, Carnochan said.

This would result in a delay of work on other scheduled projects. The other work scheduled under the 1965 bond funds are: An addition to Liberty school, $100,000; An addition to Walkersville Elementary school, $50,000;

Renovation of the Thurmont High School which is to be converted into a middle school, $100,-

School officials and architects for the Catoctin High School are meeting with the low bidding conschool can be reduced.

The plan on which the estimates are based was prepared in July costs at that time. The plan calls for an $18,875,000 construction program from 1966 to 1975.

"...you'll be a Man, my son!"

Rudyard Kipling appreciated better than most the making and meaning of a man.

And if he were alive today, he'd undoubtedly have applied the famous quote above to America's newspaperboys. By faithfully delivering the news day-inand-day-out, fair weather or foul, a newspaperboy learns responsibility at an early age.

He learns enterprise. Dedication. Dependability. How to fill an important place in the community. And he learns the value of money and saving, too

... and of looking ahead to the future. That's why many a newspaperboy develops the habit of buying U.S. Savings Bonds regularly. Maybe to help put himself through college someday. More than that, newspaperboys have done their communities and their nation a real service since 1941 by buying Bonds and by helping to promote and sell Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The nation's brothers and dads in Viet Nam thank you. The Treasury Department and Uncle Sam salute you. And someday, when you're a Man, my son . . . you'll thank yourself for having been a newspaperboy.

Warts are contagious. They can be transmitted from one person to another. Scratching or picking at warts sometimes causes them to spread. They can also be spread by shaving over them or by brushing and combing the hair if there are warts in the scalp.

Warts can occur on any part of the skin, but most often appear on the hands, fingers and on the soles of the feet. Those on the soles -- plantar warts -- cause the most trouble. Because of the pressure of shoes and walking, they are pushed inward instead of bulging outward, sometimes Bar Association Recommends At the instigation of patriotic members of the American Bar Association, the Intrenal Security Sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been hearing testimony on the need. One of the witnesses representing the Bar Association was Loyd Wright, of Los Angeles, former national president of the Association and former chairman of the Congressionally-created Commission on Government Security. Another was Denison Kitchel, president of the Free Society Association, also a dis-tinguished member of the American bar.

Both of these well-informed American thought-leaders recommend an immediate reconstruction by Congress of internal security safeguards at the Federal level and the wiping out of the effect of Supreme Court decisions relating to subversion. The keystone recommendation is for establishment of a "Central Security Office" which would concern itself with subversive activities within the Government as well

Family Records Can Save Heartache

Catching up on household chores this fall? Then don't forget the most important of all—bringing the family rec-

Family records must be more than a listing of birthdays and anniversaries if they are to serve us well in our busy lives today. In this fast-paced world of career switching, job hunting and interviews, it is important that a record of employment dates, interviews, appointments and pertinent notes be kept. It will prove useful not only for the present, but in the future as careers develop and other job changes are made.

A major section should be allocated to the family's medical records. This should include insurance and hospitalization plan policy numbers, blood types, innoculation dates, booster injections, operations and allergies. A note should be made of the illnesses each family member has had and their frequency when necessary. Kept faithfully these records can help save a life in an emergency.

Most insurance companies require a listing and valuation of each article damaged by fire when a claim is filed. Although time consuming initially, each room's furnishings should be listed carefully. Afterwards these listings can be added to as new articles are purchased. Should something be lost or stolen, these lists also will prove useful to the police. So remember to include serial numbers whenever possible.

A record of securities, transactions and dividends will A record of securities, transactions and dividends will prove helpful at income tax time or when reviewing the family finances.

A tablet or looseleaf notebook to which pages may be added as needed can serve as the center of this vital information for the entire family. Dividers or tabs to keep sections separate will help put all the records at your fingertips.

All in all, you will be a well-recorded family.

year. On this, both antagonists agree . . what with growing worry, on the one hand, about a mounting squeeze on profit margins and determination, on the other, to keep pay rates pushing constantly higher. More Pact Openings Coming Up There were fireworks aplenty during 1966, but there will be considerably more over the twelve months ahead. For one thing, upwards of 2,000,000 employees in firms having 5,000 or more workers will be involved in contract negotiations in 1967. This compares with less than half that number for 1966. Looming head and shoulders above the rest are next September's auto agreements, covering more than 614,000 employees of the Big Three. Negotiations will begin by midyear.

While autos will doubtless catch the limelight, plenty of big-scale confrontations will be seen in other industries too. In March, contracts covering some 336,400 regional teamsters are due to expire, so that sparring in this line can be expected to become brisk soon after New Year's. There will be wage negotiations also during 1967 in telephone service, women's clothing, processed foods, hotel service, rubber (the Big Four), building, electronics (R C A), meat packing, office equipment, farm equipment, and machinery.

No Productivity Holds Barred

The productivity guidepost sanctioning wage increases of 3.2% a year has long since been scrapped by both unions and employers. Perhaps the most convincing funeral dirge for the guidepost was sung when the airlines accepted a settlement providing a 6.5% annual pay boost earlier this year.— just boost earlier this year, — just about twice the guidepost percentage. And there have been lots of other big annual pay increases that will spur unionists to go for all that the market will bear in both wages and fringes during 1967.

It should not be forgotten, either, that the federal minimum wage faces a hike from 1.25 to $1.40 an hour next February. This will not only give fresh encouragement to union negotiators seeking new concessions for low-pay workers in general, but will also start a whole new upspiral of wage adjustments to maintain differentials at all higher-pay levels. Rising living costs have already acted as a lever to hoist union demands, and they will continue to do so as long as the fundamental trend is toward higher ground. Unions will not hesitate to call strikes where they do not get what they consider a fair share of the profits pie. Nor will em-ployers always give in easily during 1967, especially since the boom is showing signs of flag-ging. Stiffening on both sides when employment is at such high levels could mean quite a rash of strikes . . . despite indications that workers dislike to take the income losses caused by walkouts.

Labor Could Be Hurt It is not safe to ignore the possibility of new legislation that would involve forced arbitration if deadlocks are prolonged. England tried such tactics, and the lid was clamped on by a Labor government. It could conceivably happen here. Meanwhile, neither management nor labor is going to act as though it might happen. Every possible wage hike will be sought during forthcoming bargaining, and at least part of the ensuing rise in product and service costs will be passed along in higher prices.

It is possible that rising costs and tight money will hold back ing months enough to dampen the inflationary fires a bit. And there is still the possibility of tax increases, both personal and corporate, that could bring some deflationary influence. In any event, the coming battle will be a big one; and this time, labor—as well as the public—could be the loser.

> of Rocky Ridge, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Diveley of Biglerville, Pa.

> Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a floorlength A-line gown of white satin, topped by a floor-length lace coat with long sleeves, and small pearl buttons on the bodice to give an empire effect. Her long veil, of mantilla style, was of the same lace as the coat, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and ivy.

> Miss Donna Sayler of Rocky Ridge, a friend of the bride, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a floor-length empire gown of cranberry chiffon with long sheer sleeves, and wore a matching pillbox hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of light pink carnations and ivy.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Janet Newcomer, Mrs. Thelma Byard, and Mrs. Regina Schultz, wore gowns identical in style to that of the maid of honor, but shocking pink in color, and carried cascade bouquets of shocking pink carnations and ivy.

The best man was Eddie Eugene Diveley. Users were Thomas Kline, Robert Muench, and Thomas Flynn. The ring-bearer was Dennis McCusker, nephew of the

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the VFW Annex. Miss Jennie Motter, an aunt of the bride, served punch at the bride's table. Mrs. Joyce Grinder served the wedding cake, and Miss Susan Martin assisted at the

The bride is a graduate of Emmitsburg High School and the Waynesboro Business School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Biglerville High School.

Following a short wedding trip to Virginia, the couple is now residing near Biglerville.
