The decision this week of the British Government to devaluate its pound sterling has provided the Johnson Administration with an open wedge to pry open the doors to obtain a 10% tax hike. It appeared almost certain that the tax hike had been smothered out for the time being by opponents of the move. Immediately following the announcement by the British of the devaluation of the pound and the wailing by the Administration was heard heavier than ever. There still appears plenty of stiff opposition to the increase though and we are in favor of holding the line at the present time or until such time as the Administration shows some bona fide effort to cut Government

With the Christmas savings checks in the mail and Thanksgviing well behind us the Christmas rush has now started. Neighboring towns have all the trimmings and adornments put into place for another season and the radio and television stations are grinding out the Yuletide music Santa scenes and commercials. Newspaper ads also are beginning to sprout Old Saint Nicks and before you realize it you will be swallowed up in the usual Christmas rush.

Old pictures always cause a flurry of excitement and comment. Ye Editor says the one run last week of the old Emmitt House brought a number of calls challenging his estimate as to the antiquity of the photo. He guessed it was taken around 1920. Not so, say a number of individuals including an employee of one of the former owners. Seems Mrs. Annie Slagle owned the old inn around 1920. Apparently she never removed the name of a previous owner, one J. William Breichner, from a sign in front of the place. It is estimated Mr. Breichner operated the inn around 1914. Another misstatement by the Editor was that to the right could be seen a horse and buggy. Not an old Buick car. Closer scrutiny with a magnifying glass substantiated the phone caller's contention. This week the Editor will try again with another old shot and should he fumble on this one it will probably end the series. Oh well, it shows folks are reading the old sheet and that's encouraging. Incidentally, Mrs. Slagle sold the Emmitt House and later ran the present K. of C. Hall (the former Spalding Hotel), and later took on the present Myers Apt. on the Square which at one time was operated by James B. Elder, Mrs. Slagle, Lawrence Mondorff and presently Mrs. Charles Myers.

* * * Efforts to eliminate Emmitsburg High School have been going on for over half a century. I really thought it was relatively current until I was given an old clipping from the Chronicle published on September 23, 1914. The clipping reads:

Owing to the small enrollment of students in the ninth and tenth grades, the Emmitsburg High School will be abolished. This was the determination of the Frederick County School Board which met in Frederick on Monday. The local school will have but eight grades and will be classed as a grammer school, and the few students who entered for the two higher grades will be assigned to the Thurmont High School. The High Schools at Myersville, Walkersville, Jefferson and Adamstown are also to be abolish-

Charlie Linn brought in the old clipping he found in a book and which gave an account of the fire which destroyed his father's barn in 1914. The account reads:

A fire involving the loss of a barn, farming machinery, implements and harvested crops occured on Wednesday night on the farm of Edward Linn. It was the result of a stroke of lightning during the heavy storm which centered over Emmitsburg and the adjoining districts, lasting from about 6 until 9 o'clock.

Widely advertised as a national "demonstration to end the war in Vietnam" it was actually a skillful Communist operation, a propaganda device to give great prestige to the movement clamoring for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam in a manner assuring utter capitulation to the Red enemy. Enemy Assault

Communist North Vietnam flags were brazenly hoisted by members of the well-disciplined vanguard which assaulted the Mall Entrance of the Pentagon.
As TV and movie cameras ground out the scenes to be shown throughout the world, the grim assault cadres of well-trained men followed by hundreds of emotionally - encited 'hippies' and 'peaceniks' were re-pulsed amidst flying night-sticks of Army MP's and the crashing gun-butts of paratroopers. The Communist purpose was to depict an outpouring of innocent respectable peace-lovers ('Doves') representative of a nationwide clamor for U. S. withdrawal from Vietnam being beaten down bloodily by a sadistic military dictatorship.

Regardless of what you, the readers of this column, may have read in the press or viewed on TV the facts gathered at first hand on the scene of the rally and march are as follows:

Approximately 50,000 people Approximately 50,000 people along the turfed aprons of the great Reflecting Pool fronting it. Many of their banners were profane, obscene, unprintable.

Fossibly 5000 were decent pagathered at the Memorial and including curious teen - agers from the Washington area who came to watch and then marchel with the others to the sprawling North Parking Lot at the triotic citidens who abhor war Pentakon's Mall entrance not agitating for or expecting violence.

Additional Facts

The other 45,000 included at least 35,000 'beatniks', 'hippies', and 'peaceniks', vulgarly clad, profanely vocal against the U. S. government, militantly ready to act upon the emotional encitations that grew in volume and shrillness as the mobs approached the Pentakon Mall entrance led by their own coldy dedicated cadres of 'marshals' who controlled the mob.

From beginning to end, it was an unrestrained public spectacle of obscenity and immorality, an incredible challenge to all rules of moral conduct. Planned Assault

Approximately 50 men, white and black, formed the vanguard for the assault. Obviously, they were carrying out well-laid and well-rehearsed plans. The plan callel for these 'civil disobedi-ence' leaders to make first bloody contact with the MP's and troops guarding the Pentagon, followed closely by surging mobs of the 'peaceniks' and 'hippies' who had been encited to riot by loud-speaker exhortations blarring from platforms hastily set up at the Pentagon steps. We heard the exhortations. tions. We saw the 'hippies' and the 'peacenik' pals, male and fe-male, rush in behind the vanguard cardes and advance on the MP's and Federal Marshals, spitting in their faces reviling them with obscene profanity, and, yes attacking the militia and getting their heads bloodied . propaganda victory for Ho Chi Minh and World Communism of incalcuable value.

The front man for the mammoth operation was David Dellinger, chairman of the 'National Mobilzation Committee to End the War in Vietnam'. The New New York Times and other newspapers pictured Dellinger a New Yorker, as a lifelong 'pacifist' and a present day 'cool critic of war'. But the Washington Star of Friday, just before the Saturday march, de-clined to butterup the Yale-educated 42-year-old radical. It said that (at a time when he apparently did not know he was to be selected to lead the march

The early settlers, living remote from civilization, turned to the traditions of their ancestral homelands and to the methods of the Indians, and came up with a medical lore all their own. Their ideas of prevention and treatment were not all wrong, but often they did more harm than good. Some of the common misconceptions of the frontier era have carried over into modern times.

TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE lists the facts about some of these misconceptions-

Babson's Point Of View On: Adjusting To The Skilled Labor Shortage

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 23-For quite a while manpower shortages have been a way of life for employers in many parts of the county. Some of the smartest labor relations men looked early in the game for ways around the problem. But too many simply let things slide, thinking the picture would change if they waited. Demand for men and women of high skills, however, continues to increase, and managements both large and small are having to face up to the dilemma. Strategies For Finding Good Workers

Industrial execctives have plenty of difficult questions to answer, perhaps more than ever before. But when top businessmen get together today, the talk almost always settles down to the best methods of finding employees to man the production lines. Most localities have plenty of jobless people, but these are usually entirely without training,-and too often without ambition. That is why business schools and colleges are being besieged by job "prospectors" offering contracts and big pay to boys and girls even before they have completed their education. There are only limited numbers of such potentially top drawer job aspirants. The most successful personnel officials are these who uncover manpower sources where there don't seem to be any, who have the ingenuity and drive to learn from others how they have managed to staff their plants and offices. This is an excellent time to note how some of the more forwardlooking firms are maintaining adequate crews in areas where others are searching in vain. Training Programs On Most Lists

Upgrading already established workers from within has proved an effective way of strengthen-ing the juality of a comvany's position. Then comes, of course, the necessity for filling in again at the bottom. Most establishments have what is known as an "open door" policy, with the unskilled encouraged to come to work and enroll immediately in a company training program. The percentage of successful breakthroughs may be small. but they are worthwhile where skilled job aspirants are virtually non-existent.

One large concern has 10 plants in critical labor shortage cities. It has recently designed a new policy that is said to work well, All of its employee-testing procedures have been revaluated, making it easier for an inexperienced applicant to be hired and directed to the type of on-job training best suited to his abilities. Regular recruitment systemh—using newspapers (still considered most re-warding), TV, radio, billboards, and brochures—are being steadily augmented by what might be termed "desperation" tech-Invitations Back Into

The Labor Force

In practically all of the most heavily industrialized centers. employers are trying to get those not currently seeking employment to come into the manpower force. Many firms are making recruiting agents out of their workoers by offering them a $50 bond for each new employee they bring in. Other executives are giving trading stamps in substantial numbers, expensive appliances, paid vacation trips, and other unusual incentives to those unearthing job applicants who actually join the personnel rolls.

Attempts are being made to lure mothers back, at least on a part-time basis. One Eastern company has placed in operation a "Mother Shift", which is said to be flourishing. It runs from 8:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., permitting the mothers to work while the children are at school and get home in time to greet them and have dinner ready in time. More efficient organization al planning is being emphasized in some cases to meet manpower deficiencies. One leading manufacturer stresses a perfect attendance record, granting those who achieve this mark a $50 bond each year; still others spur attendance perfection via gifts and trading stamps. As it looks now, it could be a long time before skilled labor is again easy to come by. Executives who realize this and grapple successfully with the problem will hold the best competitive position.

NOBODY EVER WINS

Health Department Training Therapists

Recent developments in the health field, such as Medicare, Medicaid, and the expansion of community health, hospital and nursing home services, have increased demands for Occupational Therapists. To meet the needs for the profession, the Maryland State Health Department will continue training courses for Occupational Therapy Assistants.

"Fish 'em deep and slow" is the advice offered to fishermen by the experts of Mercury Out-boards, and it's a tip that deserves further consideration. While no theory in fishing is infallible, this business of switching to deep-running plugs when on-top baits fail to pro-duce is merely common sense.

During a 24-hour period, the shallows are good mainly in the early morning and at dusk. The rest of the time, you'll do better in the depths.

The biggest handicap to fishing a bottom bait properly is the fisherman's impatience which invariably causes him to retrieve too fast. It takes plenty of self-restraint to let an artificial sink down into 15 to 30 feet of water, and then retrieve it so slowly it would play second fiddle to a slow turtle.

As a general rule, turn the reel handle one complete turn about every five seconds. Occasionally twitch the rod tip to make the lure dart forward.

The strikes you'll get adequately compensate for this painstaking retrieve.

Another advantage of working the depths with a bottom bumper is the fact that this is the home of big lunkers, fish seldom taken in the shallows.

So don't give up too quickly when you're on the water and the action is slow. Gear your fishing accordingly and hug that bottom . . . that's where
