FHA Girls Aid Destitute Indians

The Thurmont High School Chapter of Future Homemakers of America answered the appeal to help the Navajo Indians who were suffering from one of the worst snow storms in history. The girls worked diligently collecting, cleaning and repairing, to put the clothing in first class condition for use by the Indians. This project accepted by the FHA's is only one of many developing the theme of Citizenship lived at home and abroad. Girls who worked with the clothing drive were Beverly Wetzel, Carol Ann Morgan, Joyce Guthrie, Debra Reckley, Donna Liston, Kay Knott, Suzanne Wood, Lois Sharkey, Sharon Hill, Donna Jackson, Shirley Kauffman, Debra Lingg, and Mary Wetzel. The boxes were mailed to Navajo Save the Children Federation, Norwalk, Connecticut. The next project of note is to be represented at a Leadership Training Conference to be held at Hood College in June. Thus far, Cynthia Carbaugh, president for the ensuing year, and Debra Reckley will be delegates. Miss E. C. Hutchins is Advisor to the chapter.

Firemen To Start Financial Drive

At the regular May meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co., President James Fitzgerald announced the following Fund Drive Committee for 1968: James Fitzgerald and Thomas White, Co-Chairmen, with a committee of Leo M. Boyle, Michael Byard, Arthur Damuth, George Danner, Charles Hartd- gen, John J. Hollinger, Guy R. McLaughlin and Sterling White. All residents and property owners in Emmitsburg and vicinity will be contacted by letter or in person before the drive is completed. The cooperation of the public is essential if the Fire Company is to continue its present service. Arthur Damuth of the Service and Rescue Truck Committee, advised that Sperry Ford Sales has received the chassis for the new truck. However, the body has not been delivered to Antietam Equipment in Hagerstown, who will install the closed-in utility body on the three-quarter-ton 4-wheel drive Ford chassis. The following delegates and alternates were appointed by the president to represent the company at State and County functions beginning with the annual State Convention being held in Ocean City on June 19, 20 and 21. The delegates are: John J. Hollinger, Sterling White, James Fitzgerald, Charles Stouter and Thomas White. Alternates are: Guy McLaughlin, Arthur Damuth, Dr. George Green, Robert Wagerman and Robert Rosensteel. Chief Guy McLaughlin reminded the members that all members are welcome to sit in on the remaining sessions of the Firemen's Basic Training Course presently being conducted by the University of Maryland at the Fire Hall. Chief McLaughlin also announced that eighteen members had recently completed both standard and advanced Red Cross First Aid courses.

Chief McLaughlin also stated that 200 feet of 3" hose has been added to the equipment on the attack pumper. The purpose of this hose which cost nearly $600 is that it will supply the pumper with almost double the amount of water as the ordinary 2 1/2" hose.

It was decided that for the enjoyment of the kiddies (and the convenience of their parents) several glass panels would be installed in the lower sections of the engine room doors.

The next regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Company will be held on Tuesday, June 11, 1968 at 7:30 p.m.

Candidate For College

Hardly seems possible, just a baby in arms today, ready for college tomorrow.

Time has a tendency to slip by, and before you know it, this youngster like so many other will be ready to enroll in college. But will the money be there to pay for his education? With tuition costs mounting, and they will certainly be much higher within the coming years, open an account just for that purpose. Each year it will earn interest compounded semi-annually, thereby assuring your youngster of his or her college education.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

A Boon To Business

The House last week took a step which is good news to all of American business, and particularly to smaller companies. By an overwhelming vote, the House passed and sent to the Senate H.R. 2158, to limit and reform the taxation of interstate commerce by the states.

This legislation is the product of over seven years of work by a Special Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee. As a member of that Subcommittee, I was shocked and dismayed to learn, during our investigations, of the tremendous volume and variety of taxes which states and cities impose on people doing business within their borders.

According to the Subcommittee study there were on the state level some 39 sales and use tax systems, 38 different corporate income tax laws, 37 capital stock tax laws, and 8 gross receipts tax laws. The local picture was even more confusing, with more than 2300 cities, counties and towns imposing use or sales taxes, over 1000 local governments imposing gross receipts taxes, and more than 100 imposing corporate income taxes.

Complying with all of these laws is a real challenge even for our largest corporations, with their battalions of clerks, lawyers and accountants. Smaller firms doing business across state lines find compliance almost impossible. Our Subcommittee found, in fact, that on a national basis, companies are simply not paying over 95% of the state and local taxes for which they are theoretically liable.

I have asked many in small businesses just what they do with the great volume of tax notices, tax forms, tax questionnaires and other red tape which they collect wherever they do any business. The answer is that businessmen file away these papers and hope that they don't hear further. But those forms in the file represent time bombs which could go off at any time, threatening the businessman with not only taxes, but also back taxes, penalties and fines.

The chaotic state tax situation is also dangerous from another point of view. The width and breadth of the American commercial market has been the stimulus for our great economic growth for almost two centuries. Yet now—at a time when the European nations are trying to emulate our system and reduce barriers to trade—American business is slowly being strangled by state and local tax barriers and the threats and burdens these tax laws impose.

The bill finally passed by the House last week both introduces order into the present system, and removes the threat of back liabilities. It reaffirms the basic principle of freedom of commerce among the states, and provides standards for taxation which are both reasonable and practical—standards which can be complied with by the businessman, and enforced by the state or local tax administrator.

House passage of H.R. 2158 is indeed good news. I hope that the other body will now consider the bill promptly, so it can be cleared for Presidential approval before the end of the 90th Congress.

Looking Ahead by Dr. George S. Benson President NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM Searcy, Arkansas

Leadership And Our Nation's Fate The destiny of a free nation is shaped by the calibre of leadership placed in governmental offices by the electorate. Today America is neck-deep in the worst mess in history. This fact spotlights a failure of leadership. But the basic failure is in the electorate, the citizenry of our nation. Since the mess began to accumulate at the end of World War II, the electorate has chosen four Presidents and eleven Congresses. All have failed somehow to measure up to the challenges, and so has the electorate. Now what? The 1968 Presidential election is wide open. A new House of Representatives and a substantial number of the Senate seats are to be chosen. Will the electorate fail again to choose leadership capable of effectively turning the tide now running toward disaster for America? Will men be elected who have the attributes of true leadership, or is our nation to continue down the Western slope toward oblivion as all civilizations before us have ultimately done.

Challenge Is Real This is not an abstract or fanciful question. The situation in America and in the world poses just such a challenge to the citizens of America. And we had better believe it!

Where are the yardsticks for measuring leadership capability for the Presidency, for the House of Representatives, for the Senate? Some requirements are basic. If they are to meet the challenges of our greatest crisis, Congress and the Presidency demand the very highest human attributes—spiritual and moral integrity, extraordinary intelligence and wisdom, an inspirational capacity to lead; honor, patriotism, love of country. The Presidency demands the greatest measure of all these. Candidates, for whatever office, who cannot measure up to these basic requirements should not be chosen.

Lure Of Promises As the world has turned more and more, under either weak or evil leadership, toward the governmental "Welfare State" (which can only spawn dictatorship), the demagogue has played an ever-more prominent role in politics, and government. Webster gives this definition: "Demagogue: a leader who makes use of popular prejudices and false claims and promises—to gain power." Winston Churchill was a genuine leader at the moment he arose to declare to the people of Great Britain, as Hitler's panzer divisions ravaged the whole of Europe: "I can promise you only blood, sweat and tears."

But the British people following a great Churchill victory in war, succumbed to demagoguery as they forsook the Churchill government for the false promises of Socialism. And Britain, one of the two great powers of the world at that time, has been on a toboggan slide ever since. Today she is a weak, third-rate power among the nations of the world.

Casting The Die There is no easy way out of the catastrophe looming darkly over America, either for the leaders or for the American people. The entire nation has got to begin to make sacrifices if we are to overcome the threats to our survival. We need to be unified as a people behind sober, dedicated, inspirational leadership—which can only promise, for the immediate future, Blood, sweat, and tears.

Will Americans this summer and fall default on their citizenship responsibilities and be beguiled into gradual slavery and extinction by accepting the promises of demagogues? Or will they make politics and politicians their greatest concern from now until November 5 and vote on the basis of true leadership qualifications? Each of us must answer these paramount questions for himself. The answer of the majority of the more than 100-million potential voters will certainly decide the fate of our nation.

Jewell said, "and within milliseconds will receive sufficient background information to impose sentences which are more consistent with defendants' past performance records."

Television-type screens will be located in each one of the five Municipal Courtrooms, as well as the clerks office, which will also contain a computer-printer.

"DMV is ready to provide immediate service to the courts as soon as their equipment is purchased and installed," Jewell stated, adding "our computer technicians already have completed their planning and estimating, even to the selection of proper equipment locations in the courthouse building. We are ready to go the minute their receivers are installed."

Jewell said that Maryland is pioneering this unique approach to micro-second research for the judiciary who preside in cases involving motor vehicles. He predicted that the service would eventually be installed in courts of limited jurisdiction throughout the State.

After Death, The BODY SHALL RISE AGAIN!

This is one of the Christian truths hardest for some people to believe.

Though accepting the immortality of the soul, they cannot believe the human body can disintegrate and then be renewed and restored. Forgetting that anything is possible to God, they regard such resurrection as a physical and scientific impossibility.

One of the most definite truths of the Christian religion is that the bodies of all men after death shall rise again. "...the hour is coming," says the Gospel of St. John, "when all who are in the tombs will hear His voice and come forth, those who have done good to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil to the resurrection of the judgment" (John 5:28-29).

Confronted by the disbelief of the Sadducees, our Lord said to them: "...as for the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was said to you by God, 'I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?' He is not God of the dead but of the living (Matt. 22:29-33).

But even though the Scriptures confirm this ancient Christian doctrine, they don't specifically answer some questions concerning it that may trouble you. You may wonder, for example, if your resurrected body will be identical with your human body... if you will recall loved ones and events of your life... if you will eat, drink and move about as you did in your lifetime on earth.

The nature of the resurrected body is explained by St. Paul, using the example of a seed to make his meaning clear. "What you sow is not the body which is to be, but a bare kernel, perhaps of wheat or some other grain. But God gives it a body as He has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body. So it is with the resurrection of the dead. What is sown is corruptible, what is raised is incorruptible. It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power. It is sown a physical body, it is raised a spiritual body" (I Cor. 15:37-44).

If you are in doubt about or confused by the mystery of the resurrection of the body, write today for our new pocket-size pamphlet entitled: "You Shall Rise Again." You'll find in it the answers to questions you may have on this all-important doctrine—presented in interesting, easy-to-read fashion.

Let's Go Fishin' BY BOB BREWSTER

Spawning time is fishin' time. And it's right around the corner, already underway in the south, about to begin up north.

For many bass fishermen this event signals the start of the wildest action they can expect to find during the season.

The spawning of America's favorite game fish holds more than passing interest, comment the angling experts at Mercury outboards.

When early spring water temperatures approach 60 degrees, fish move into shallow water. Papa Bass works hard to fan out a nest in the bottom and induces Mama Bass to lay her eggs in this specially created haven; the number may range from 4,000 to 10,000.

This done, Mama flips her tail and disappears, leaving the old man to protect the nest against all intruders for a period of incubation that may last from two days to more than a week.

And protect the nest he does. Any creature or object that trespasses is violently attacked. Hence, the effectiveness of almost any fishing lure plopped in the vicinity.

When the eggs hatch, Papa Bass obviously famished after several days of playing watchdog reverts to his usual bad disposition and glutton's habits.

This the Mercury lads say, emphasizes the pugnacious and brutelike attributes that have made bass the most eagerly sought-after game fish in the U.S.

D.M.V. REPORT

By D. Murray Franklin
Public Information Officer
Md. Dept. of Motor Vehicles
Air Pollution Controls And
New Reinstatement Fees
Enacted By 1968 Assembly
A rather significant approach to the control of air pollution is contained in House Bill 304 which establishes certain minimum standards for mufflers on motor vehicles and also prohibits the emission of excessive smoke and/or fumes.

Providing that no motor vehicle in this State shall have a continuous emission of exhaust darker than Ringelmann Shade #3, this bill may prove difficult to enforce. It requires that law enforcement agencies equip their personnel with Ringelmann Charts (published by the U. S. Bureau of Mines) to measure the density of color of emission exhausts. Ringelmann standards are used in a number of jurisdictions, including the District of Columbia.

One of the problems of enforcement is contained in the fact that color alone does not indicate the degree of toxicity. Gasoline engines for instance, produce relatively colorless emissions when compared to the smoke-producing diesels, yet their ratio of hydrocarbons per cubic feet is considerable higher because the fuel injection systems of diesels burn away most of the hydrocarbons.
Effective July 1, 1968, House Bill 304 would be applicable to all cars, old and new. It is interesting to note that the bill was supported by the Maryland Motor Truck Association, despite the largest number of members operating diesels. Amendments to the bill provide that a violation must consist of a steady emission of Ringelmann Shade #3, rather than sudden puffs when starting from a full stop.
The 1968 General Assembly also enacted legislation which requires that after July 1, 1968, individuals who have had their driving privilege revoked and file applications for reinstatement, must pay a $10.00 fee with the application. If approved, the applicant must also pay an additional fee of $15 at time of approval, in addition to the regularly established fees for licensing new drivers. A successful applicant will therefore, pay a total of $25.00 for the restoration of his driving privileges; the unsuccessful applicant would lose the initial $10.00 fee.
This bill was designed to impose yet another penalty on those individuals who drive carelessly and suffer the loss of their privileges. It will probably curtail to some extent, the frivolous filing of reinstatement applications every three months by persons with horrendous driving records, thereby reducing the cost of these procedures. Actually, the cost of reinstatement is rather expensive, considering the time of investigators, hearing officers, license reviewers and maintenance of the Rehabilitation Clinics. The new fees still do not cover all of the costs of handling reinstatement procedures but they will help to mitigate some of these costs and perhaps further restrain irresponsible motorists by making reinstatement more costly.

New Geological Map Available

Publication of a new geologic map of Maryland was announced this week by the Maryland Geological Survey. The map is a compilation of the current knowledge of the geology of the State and was prepared over the past three years by Emery T. Cleaves, Jonathan Edwards, Jr., and John D. Glaser of the Survey Staff. Ninety-four vivid color patterns representing the geologic formations are depicted on the map which measures 58x42 inches and has a scale of 1 inch equals 4 miles. The geologic patterns are superimposed on a base which shows roads, towns, railroads, streams and other important cultural and natural features.

Dr. Kenneth N. Weaver, Director of the Survey, said that the new map is the largest and most detailed geologic map to date covering the entire State. Previous State geologic maps were published by the Survey in 1859, 1893, 1906 and 1933.

Dr. Weaver said, "During the 35 years since the last geologic map of the State was published, much detailed geologic mapping has been done, geologic conceptions have changed, and new methods for determining the ages of rocks have been developed. The availability of these new data made imperative the compilation of a modern geologic map of the State which would summarize the new information."

In addition to the colored map, a geologic cross section, also in color, depicts the configuration of the geologic formation at depth. A small map showing the source of 62 references used in the compilation of the large geologic map is also included.

The map will be very useful as a reference for secondary school earth science courses throughout the State. It will also be used extensively as a teaching aid by college and university geology departments and by mineral-oriented industry in Maryland and throughout the United States. The map will be sent to colleges, universities, libraries and State geological surveys in the 50 States as well as to about 200 foreign agencies with which the Maryland Geological Survey has exchange agreements.

The map is for sale to the public at $3.00 per copy plus tax and may be purchased from the Maryland Geological Survey, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland 21218.

A small generalized geological map, also in color, is available at no cost from the Survey. This map is 8 1/2 x 11 inches in size, and was prepared mainly for use in secondary schools throughout the State.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Finding bass in unknown waters is a matter of experience, born of years behind a rod — probing, pounding out casts, learning where fish habitually live according to the contours of a shoreline or other visible cover.

When you haven't had that experience, you start by following the pattern of men who have learned this skill. Here's how they do it:

First, an unknown lake, one so big that you don't know where to begin. One customary way is to ask the man at the dock where you rent the boat. But consider how many people ask him this same question, and how hard his "top" spots are fished.

Good advice would be: (1) Get a boat that's big enough to be safe in rough water, and make sure it has both a big motor to move you out fast and a small motor for trolling or mobile shore casting. And (2) start fishing the moment you reach quiet water just outside the reach of the dock's traffic highway. Plenty of good bass are caught within sight of the dock just because few people bother to fish there.

Next, crank up the big motor and hit the main channel of the lake. Look for quiet coves with cover in them. Hit each one a few licks with various types of lures. Keep moving.

Every time you see a rock or gravelly point jutting out into the lake, stop and fish it. Try surface and deep-going lures over the center and along the sides.

Always take along a map of the lake, and wherever you see an inflowing stream indicated, check it out. If it's too shallow, forget it. If a deep hole exists where the flow meets the lake, fish it thoroughly.

Streams are much easier to learn, advises Homer Circle, the new Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Just watch where the flow of the current courses. It is carrying food with it, and where the food goes, that's where you find the bass, especially along undercut banks.

Another hot spot can be where a riffle disappears into a dark, deep hole. The foot of the riffle or the adjoining eddy water can be a hangout for big bass.

Around large, submerged boulders, alongside fallen logs and beneath overhanging bushes are good spots. Areas below dams or baffles in the deeper pools are

ENGINES SPARK 4-H'ERS

PETROLEUM power sounds mighty, and it is. It's mighty important to 4-H members who want to learn what makes the tractor engine and its upkeep; how to operate farm machinery efficiently and safely; how to drive carefully and skillfully.
The national 4-H Petroleum Power program offered 4-H'ers this year is an expansion of the former tractor program. A small engines project has been added to help members gain a working knowledge of internal combustion engines, their parts and functions. They can acquire skills needed to operate and maintain small engines.
The up-dated project will enable younger 4-H'ers to work on engines and operate power lawnmowers, small garden tractors and other equipment used on the home grounds year round. New guidebooks have been prepared in three units. They cover small engine power; two-stroke and four-stroke cycle engines.

Tractor club members will continue their projects in much the same manner as previous years. They learn about the tractor engine and its upkeep; how to operate farm machinery efficiently and safely; how to drive carefully and skillfully.
Two annual tractor operators' contests will be held again this year, according to the Cooperative Extension Service. The Eastern event is scheduled in Richmond, Va., Sept. 22-24; and the Western contest in Laramie, Wyo., Oct. 6-8.
All 4-H members have an opportunity to compete for program awards. They are: county — a medal of honor; state — an expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress; national — a $600 scholarship to each of eight champions.
Donor of the awards in this and 39 other states is American Oil Foundation.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Reuther Planning Own Mini-Federation
 BABSON PARK, Mass., May 30 — Walter Reuther, dynamic leader of the United Auto Workers, has long been planning to withdraw from the AFL-CIO and take his membership with him. Now he has done it, by the simple strategy of refusing to pay the UAW monthly dues into the Federation's coffers. The AFL-CIO's constitution provides for suspension of any affiliate falling more than three months behind—and the UAW stopped payment early this year.

Long Feud Brought Schism
 The break has been in the cards for a long while. Thirteen years ago Reuther aided Meany in bringing together the long-separated Federation and the CIO to formulate the AFL-CIO.

Reuther hoped that his powerful position as President of the UAW would eventually lead him into the line of succession for leader of the union movement when Meany stepped down. But this never came about. Nor did Meany ever encourage his ambitious lieutenant at all in this direction.

Fundamentally, the two have always been irreconcilable rivals. The UAW head has leaned strongly to the left and has eagerly urged liberal reforms for the Federation. He has termed Meany's leadership "stagnant" and "undemocratic." Actually, Meany's views have always been more conservative, and he has shown reluctance to alter his more moderate pattern of action in organizing, negotiating, and running his establishment. These ideological differences became more intense with the passage of time until frustration drove Reuther to his plan for splitting off from the AFL-CIO.

What Reuther's Move Means
 The intentions of the UAW chieftain are undoubtedly more impressive than may be immediately apparent. By leaving the Federation he has brought out of the Meany fold more than a million and a half members and better than $1 million annually in dues. According to insiders, however, this is only Step One for the aspiring "renegade". His aim is said to be the construction of a federation of his own, and a number of union officials within the AFL-CIO may well be interested in seeing whether he has more to offer than they might attain by staying with Meany.

Mentioned among those at least interested in Reuther's siren call are the Rubber Workers, Chemical Workers, Wood-workers, American Federation of Government Workers, and the Teachers Union. If all of these groups should pull out, it would add close to 600,000 more members to the emerging separate house of labor. And, of course, it would mean a substantial addition to the income from dues. Bruited about, also, have been reports that Reuther would welcome the enormous and wealthy Teamsters Union into his organization. This division of unionism has been independent since it was cast out of the Federation some years ago for corrupt practices and Red infiltration.

Trouble For Some Employers
 If fate should smile on Reuther and most of these prospective groups actually join up with him, it could have a smashing impact on labor relations. For one thing, there would be enough money from dues to implement Reuther's plans to rev up organizing and bargaining tactics. Should he be successful with a smoothly streamlined approach, some of the younger leaders of AFL-CIO segments might decide later to throw in their lots with the new mini-federation.

Rivalry between the AFL-CIO and its pugnacious offshoot could bring serious woes to employers in the affected fields. Competition for the unorganized might easily become as rambunctious as it was in the old days when the CIO and the AFL were separate and hostile. There would inevitably develop the old system of pirating members from established locals. Once such rough and tumble moves begin, the bitterness would increase and invite more violent charges and counter-charges. Employers in some lines must expect that growing antagonism between the two factions will make labor relations a real problem. With Reuther's dynamism and the anger generated by it in many AFL-CIO quarters, things will surely pop before 1968 is much older.

proposed Constitution and what they would mean to the citizens of Maryland. I believe this is in keeping with the highest ideals of the practice of journalism and I hope you will accept my thanks and the thanks of the other officers of the Convention for your interest and your coverage.

Where Is He Now?

An Army VIP Test

After commanding the 25th Infantry Division in the battles of Guadalcanal and New Georgia, General J. Lawton Collins was transferred to Europe to take command of the VII Corps for the invasion of Normandy. Landing on Utah Beach on D-Day, his forces spearheaded the drive of the First U.S. Army through France, swept across Germany, and linked up with Russian troops at the Elbe River. At the end of World War II, "Lightning Joe" Collins became Deputy Commanding General and Chief of Staff for the Army Ground Forces. Before retiring in 1956, he served as Army Chief of Staff and U.S. representative to the Military Committee and the Standing Group of NATO. After retiring, General Collins served as vice chairman and director of the President's Committee for Hungarian Refugee Relief. Where is he now?

ANSWER: General Collins now lives in Washington, D.C. He is a member of the board of directors of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc. and vice chairman of Pfizer International.

Senior Citizens Hear Speaker

Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the Senior Citizens Center, Mr. Scarpeli from the Frederick brnach of the State Department of Public Welfare and United States Department of Agriculture, gave a talk to thirteen members of the club on the "Food Stamp Program."

The reasons for this program is to help low-income families to better and more foods, to have more satisfying and better - balanced meals and to select the foods they want.

All foods for human use may be bought with these food coupons except alcoholic beverages, tobacco, imported meat or meat products, pet foods, non-food items such as soaps, household supplies and equipment or any other non-food items. No "lunch counter" or prepared foods.

The stamps may be used in any retail store, supermarket, dairy or bakery taking part in the food stamp program.

Those entitled to coupons must be living in a city or county which has the stamp program. Cook- ing facilities must be in the home.

Eligibility is based on certain definite terms: A household with stated income or liquid assets listed by the Food Stamp super- visors, the U. S. Government.

Informatin may be obtained by visiting or writing the Office of the Welfare Department in Fred- erick.

After a question and answer period, Mr. Scarpeli left and Mrs. Patricia Throne of Frederick showed a reel on "Medical Quackery". This also was sent out by the U. S. Department of Health, Ed- ucation and Welfare and was a warning to beware of uncertified patent medicines promising to cure anything and everything. These may be recognized also by "word of mouth" testimonials. One medicine cannot cure both heart trouble and bunions!

Doctors oppose the use of this type medicine as does the Justice Department and the Post Office. Protect yourself and do not be a victim, wasting money and poss- ibly a life.

Our farmer patrons are again requested to comply with the June Livestock Survey, conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Reminder slips will be placed in your boxes next week, requesting that you submit the Survey Card.

The inspection of our Route number two, showed the same fine cooperation as on route one. Of course there are still a number of patrons lacking their name and box number on the boxes. Again I must emphasize the importance of this requirement, for every patron to use their complete address on all correspondence.

We still occasionally have greeting cards passing through the mails with 5c postage affixed. These cards are all stamped postage-due 1c, and sent through. This may become very embarrassing, if it were mentioned by your relative or close friend.

Again I wish to bring to your attention, that there is no longer a reduced rate for greeting cards. Greeting cards may be sealed, and must always be sent at a minimum rate of 6c.

Rocky Ridge 4-H Club Meets

The May 20th meeting of the Rocky Ridge Progressive 4-H Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wivell. To open the meeting, the Pledge to Allegiance and the 4-H Pledge were recited. Sixty-one members answered the roll with the name of a lake. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, followed by project reports. Jane Bassler gave a report on the dairy club, Ralph Keilholtz on horse and pony, Phyllis Wivell reported on the activities of the flower arranging club, and Lynn Williar spoke of the sewing club. Under old business the recent broiler show was reported to the club by Vicky Wivell who attended this event. Tim Keilholtz then commented on the latest club council and state-to-state exchange meetings held the 15th of May. Sharon Sharrer then noted that both she and Jane Bassler participated in the Frederick County Dairy Princess Contest. It was observed that 15 members took part in the annual McDonough School Fair; 1 dairy and 14 beef entries. The newsletter was then reviewed by the club. Events emphasized were the county 4-H camp, agricultural demonstration day, feeder lamb sale, and the small motors workshop. In ending the business meeting, Debbie Parks and Carolyn Keilholtz reported about the camp counselors workshop held May 17-19, which they attended. Jane Bassler then presented a demonstration on "Trimmign the Feet of Dairy Animals", followed by another demonstration given by Christine Skybyk entitled, "From Scratch to Beauty."

Nursing Convocation To Be Held At Local College

The fifth annual Nursing Convocation of St. Joseph College Department of Nursing will be held on Saturday, June 1, at 2:30 p.m. in DePaul Auditorium. Forty-two seniors in the pre-service program will be awarded the graduate cap and school pin, thirty-five juniors will be given the senior cap with stripes, and forty-four sophomores will receive the junior cap.

The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. John E. Hurley, C.M., college chaplain. Kathleen O'Connell, of the graduating class, will welcome the guests of the nursing students. The principal speaker will be Josephine A. Dolan, Professor of Nursing and Assistant Dean at the University of Connecticut. The afternoon ceremony will be preceded by Mass offered by Rev. John E. Hurley, C.M. in the college chapel at 10:00 a.m. to which the nursing students and their guests have been invited. Immediately following the convocation there will be a reception in Brute Hall for students and their friends.

Basketball School At Mount

The second annual Blue Ridge Summer basketball camp for boys 11 years of age through last year of high school will be conducted at Mt. St. Mary's College, it was announced by co-directors Jim Phelan and Marty Benkovic. Five sessions will be held, beginning June 16 and ending on August 24. Eighteen staff members will conduct the sessions. Included in this group will be Jack Bream, Littlestown High School; Jimmy Livelsberger, Delone, and Tommy Ryan, Mount St. Mary's. Among the 15 guest coaches listed to take part are Bob Hulton, Gettysburg; John Egli, Penn State; Bob Garrett, Elizabethtown, and Bob Davies and Hot Rod Huntley of the Converse staff.
