Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Well our Big Parade is finally over after worrying how many entries we would have and what the weather would be for the past several weeks. It all was rewarding though and we had one of the nicest parades in recent years and several thousands of spectators to back it up. We doff our hats to the men who made this outstanding event possible and to the two organizations that assisted with the promotion. They are the local Fire Co. and the Sportsman's Club. Now that the Sportsmen appear to have made a little money from the parade and carnival, the time has come to lend a little financial assist to our local Fire Company. As you know this outstanding group is in the midst of its annual financial drive and we urge you to respond early and generously. It really is a fine and invaluable asset to our community, so let's get those donations rolling folks!

Beware of that intersection at Rts. 15 and 97 in East End. This week stop and go lights were installed and while there haven't been any wrecks so far this week there are quite a few skid marks that indicate "close shaves." We all know the infamous history of this crossroad so when you approach it, even though you have the green light, better exercise extreme caution, because many motorists and truckers are not aware the lights are in operation as yet and I have seen numerous violations of "running" the stop-light.

Well, the Old Burg has settled down to a long hot and quiet summer. All schools, including our two colleges are out for the season and the numerous graduates, literally hundreds of them, finished their education and seeking their opportunity to make good. Naturally the two colleges turned out the largest crops, well over 200 I am told, while our high schools graduated around 70. This figure will be greatly reduced though next year as our senior public high students will be graduating from the new Thurmont High School. This isn't exactly the way we wanted it to happen but since it has we must make the best of it. The new school will offer many more advantages to our students and its bound to have a rewarding effect with a much more expanded curriculum to help educate our secondary school students. The new school won't be ready for the fall semester but it is hoped that some time in February or March the second semester will see all in readiness.

FATHER COAD DIES SUDDENLY; WAS AGED 98

Rev. Peter A. Coad, 98, Professor Emeritus of History and dean of the faculty at Mount St. Mary's College, died of heart failure Tuesday afternoon at Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Penna.

His only survivor is a cousin, Miss Agnes Ryan, Philadelphia.

The body will lie in state in the Reception Room at Mount St. Mary's Seminary until this evening (Friday), when it will be removed to the college chapel. The Office of the Dead will be chanted at 8 p.m. Friday.

A concelebrated requiem Mass will be offered Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the college chapel, Rt. Rev. Hugh J. Phillips, college president, will be the principal celebrant, Rt. Rev. George D. Mulcahy, rector of Mount St. Mary's Seminary and a lifelong friend of the deceased, will deliver the homily.

Interment will be in the college cemetery.

Father Coad was born in Johnstown, Pa., on December 23, 1869, the son of John Coad and Mary Ryan. He obtained his elementary schooling under the direction of the Sisters of Charity at Saint John Gualbert Parochial School in Johnstown. He next entered Mount St. Mary's Preparatory School in the fall of 1885 and continued on into the college, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1890.

One year before his graduation, he lost his parents, a brother, a sister, and a grandmother in the great Johnstown flood.

He continued his studies at the Mount, receiving his master's degree in 1892, and was ordained for the Diocese of Pittsburgh in the college chapel by Bishop John McGovern of Harrisburg in June of 1894.

He was assigned to the Church of Saint Mary, Sharpsburg, Pa., after his ordination, where he served until February 22, 1896, when he was recalled to the faculty of Mount St. Mary's. In 1897 he was elected to membership on the College Council.

With the exception of the years 1898-1901, when he pursued studies in Athens, Greece, Father Coad spent his entire adult life on the campus of the Mount. He was a scholar of varied interests, specializing in classical languages, ancient history, and church history. He also served for a time as professor of moral theology in the seminary.

Father Coad celebrated the 70th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood on June 23, 1964. Up until very recently he was very active and alert, celebrated daily Mass, took his daily walks, read the newspapers and the "Congressional Record," and taught a class in Patristic Latin three days a week at the seminary.

At the 157th Commencement exercises of Mount St. Mary's College in June, 1965, Father Coad celebrated the 75th anniversary of his graduation from the college, the only graduate in the long history of the college to reach this milestone.

Although recognized as a master of the teaching profession, with a wealth of wisdom, illustration, and anecdote, Father Coad declined all honors, but the College Council, nevertheless, elected him vice president, 1902-1904, and in 1964 named the new science building Coad Hall in his honor. He was beloved by his students and generations of alumni, and his name has become a legend on the campus of the college and the seminary.

Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, is in charge of arrangements.

Katharyn Williams Kunkle, 57, of Gettysburg, Pa., was charged with failing to grant right of way on Federal Avenue and East Main St., by Officer James Trout of the Emmitsburg Police Dept. She proceeded across the intersection traveling north and the truck struck her right rear causing an estimated $350 damage. No injuries were received by either party.

Trial date was set for June 19, 1968 at 7:00 p.m.

FIREMEN START FINANCIAL DRIVE

The regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. was held Tuesday evening at the Fire Hall with President James Fitzgerald presiding.

Applications were received from Dennis J. Stahley and Gary E. Cool. The applications were accepted on a 6-month probationary period.

President Fitzgerald and Secretary Thomas White, co-chairmen of the Fund Drive, announced that the Fund Drive is under way with the mailing of nearly 1200 letters to the residents of Emmitsburg and vicinity, on Monday. Through the cooperation of the Emmitsburg Chronicle, the names of all contributors who return their donations before July 3, 1968, will be published in the Chronicle on June 21, 28 and July 5.

Chief Guy McLaughlin advised that only two class sessions of the Firemen's Basic Course are left. Chief McLaughlin also wished to thank the Fire Police for the fine work which they have been doing in controlling traffic on the fire grounds. Also for the fine work in handling the traffic during the recent parade held by the Indian Lookout Conservation Club during their carnival. Fire Police from neighboring companies as well as from the Adam's Co., Pa. Fire Police Assn., assisted at the parade, under the direction of Paul A. Keepers, Captain of the Emmitsburg Fire Police.

All firemen are reminded that the annual State Firemen's Convention is being held at Ocean City on June 19, 20, and 21. A delegation from the Vigilant Hose Company plans to attend.

The Fund Drive Committee wishes to encourage all residents of the Emmitsburg area to contribute to the drive. The drive is the main source of financial support for the Fire Company to operate throughout the year. The money received from the Town and County governments covers less than one-half the annual expenses.

With the purchase of a new Service and Rescue truck the generous cooperation of the public is asked.

The next meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. will be held on July 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Monks Gave Land For Church

June 8, 1968
Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Today, during the funeral mass for Robert F. Kennedy, the American nation was allowed a close look at St. Patrick's Cathedral. We people of Emmitsburg should have taken a special look.

While it is well known that this small Western Maryland community sent New York its first Archbishop, in the person of Archbishop Hughes, and its first Cardinal, in the person of Cardinal McClosky, it is perhaps less well known that we sent them also, in 1813, a band of Trappist Monks, who, in the following year purchased the very land on which the great St. Patrick's now stands. Since these Trappists are accepted to have been poverty stricken until suddenly enriched in 1813, by the will of William Bradley of Emmitsburg, it follows, in all likelihood, that the money which William Bradley gave them was used in 1814, to purchase what is now the St. Patrick's Cathedral property.

numerous complaints about minors under the minimum legal age of 16 who were operating without an operator's license.

"Operating an unlicensed vehicle without a driver's license simply compounds the illegality of an individual's actions," Jewell stated, "and could result in young people developing a record of violations serious enough to preclude obtaining their operator's permits when they come of legal age for driving in Maryland."

Jewell further noted that even if the individual possessed a driver's license, he could be charged with operating an unsafe vehicle in addition to the charge of operating a vehicle not properly registered under the State's vehicle registration laws.

Jewell said that he was issuing this warning in response to an increasing number of complaints from residents of Baltimore City and elsewhere throughout the State.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Helping Returning Servicemen

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 13—The end of Vietnam war is not yet in sight. But even now, thousands of servicemen (and women) are returning to civilian life each month. If you have relatives or friends due to be discharged, or if you are an employer, you should know what Uncle Sam is doing to help these veterans.

Old Job Or New

All vets who were employed before entering service have 90 days after discharge to apply for restoration to their old jobs. If you know any returning servicemen who is having trouble getting his old job back—and this is not uncommon, especially in small companies whose owners or managers just don't understand what the law requires of them—tell the vet to contact the nearest Veterans Re-employment Rights Office of the U. S. Department of Labor for assistance.

Vets who worked for Uncle Sam before going into service, or who would like to work for him now, should contact their local U. S. Civil Service Commission Office. Note that the Federal Veterans Preference Act accords former servicemen priority on government jobs for which they qualify. Many states give a similar break to vets qualifying for state civil service jobs. In addition, President Johnson has empowered federal agencies to hire vets for some government jobs without requiring competitive examinations.

Life Insurance And Home Loan Guarantees

All discharged military personnel possess a most important asset in their Servicemen's Group Life Insurance policy. This protection is continued for 120 days after they leave the service. If not converted to a commercial-type policy within that period it lapses. So, if you have a query about GI insurance, don't guess, or be content with partial answers. Get in touch directly with the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, N. J.

Most of us are aware that vets have 10 years from discharge date to get a VA-guaranteed home or farm loan. But many do not realize that, to this 10 years, an extra year is added for each three months of active duty. Loans are made by private lenders with VA guarantees. For homes, the guarantee ceiling is now $7,500, or 6% of the loan (whichever is less); for farm real estate other than acquiring a home, the top is $4,000, or 50% of the loan. Legislation is now pending in Congress to raise these guarantee ceilings.

Mini-Bikes Illegal

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell, this week warned parents of teen-age and under-age minors that operation of certain types of mini-bikes and go-carts on public highways is illegal and violators are subject to prosecution.

"Under Maryland Motor Laws, these miniscule vehicles are clearly classified as motor vehicles or motorcycles and are required to comply with all of the requirements of registration and operation," Commissioner Jewell said, adding, "many of these units cannot meet the licensing requirements of this Department because of deficiencies in design and/or required equipment."

Jewell also pointed to the fallacy of believing that the miniature size of the vehicle did not require a driver's license, citing

Disability Compensation And Hospital Care

VA disburses disability compensation on a monthly basis to vets who have incurred wounds in line of duty or who have suffered injuries or contracted diseases while in service. Such payments range from $21 to $850 per month. All through life, veterans are also entitled to full care in VA hospitals at no cost for service-connected disabilities; and for treatment of non-service-connected illnesses when beds are available and they can certify they are unable to pay for hospital care elsewhere. For complete, up-to-date information on total possible benefits, contact your local VA office.

The Veterans Administration administers this program. Government help amounts to $130 per month for a single vet in a full-time educational pursuit. With one dependent, the total rises to $155, with two to $175. Assistance for each dependent after the first two is $10 monthly. Not widely known is the fact that veterans may receive a monthly allowance if they choose to take farm co-operative training comprising institutional agricultural courses plus related work on the farm. For a single vet, the allowance is $105 per month; $145 for a vet with two dependents, $7 for each additional dependent.

Annual Report On Fish And Game Published

Maryland sportsmen and outdoor enthusiasts will find a wealth of valuable information in the Annual Report of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, according to Director George B. Shields. A detailed fiscal account of Division expenditures is presented. All revenues are derived from hunting and fishing licenses related fees as listed and federal aid from the excise tax on equipment used in hunting and fishing. Fishery management activities included: freshwater research and management for both trout and warm water species; operation of the Albert Powell Hatchery and Bear Creek Rearing Station with assistance from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service Hatcheries, a total of 133,450 adult trout plus 108,200 fingerling trout were stocked during late winter and spring with a fall stocking of 20,000 rainbow trout; the warm water fish stocking resulted in providing community ponds, farm ponds and rodeos with 26,401 largemouth bass fingerlings, 37,700 sunfish fingerlings, 8,760 adult sunfish, 20,429 catfish, 47 adult largemouth bass, 12,660 mixed fish, and 1,660 crappie. Additional stocking in Deep Creek Lake consisted of 7,500 rainbow trout, 8,000 gizzard shad, 500,000 walleye fry, and 1,100 walleye fingerlings. Wildlife Management conducted a broad program including: the raising and liberation of the exotic Iranian X Ringneck Pheasant; development of 17 dove hunting areas and banding and releasing 1,258 birds; extensive habitat improvement; research involving waterfowl wetlands, upland game, deer and turkey. Harvest figures showing increased hunter success with small game, waterfowl and deer furnish a measure of accomplishments. The 1966 deer kill showed a total of 13,976 animals which is the highest in the State's history. Extension work was expanded with the employment of a Wildlife Extension Biologist. General activities involved the maintenance of all properties, including brushing and posting boundary lines, repair of access roads and parking areas; maintenance mowing of pond and lake borders and access sites; building repairs at various work centers, repair of boat launching ramps and impounding structures; and trash collection on all public use areas. Land acquisition reveal the purchase of 323 acres on Dan's Mountain and 226 on Warriors Mountain. Both tracts are located in Allegany County and will provide additional hunting access areas. In Kent County 105 acres were added to the Millington public hunting area and two tracts totaling 924 acres were purchased to increase the Idylwild area in Caroline County. Leased lands involved 5000 acres with the Whittead Iron Co., in Cecil County, 2,500 acres with the Corps of Army Engineers in Cecil County and 1,500 acres in St. Mary's County with the Chesapeake Corp. More than 50 areas were inspected and appraised for feasibility as possible hunting and fishing areas in the state. Information and Extension activities included motion picture production, radio and TV programs, exhibits, publications, speaking engagements, news releases, school programs, outdoor conservation-education programs, teacher meetings, workshops, conservation tours, and summer camp visits. Hunter safety activities and increased efforts in the safety program by outdoor groups and the County School Boards are also described in the report. Law Enforcement revealed the apprehension of 1,629 persons who paid $45,992.40 in fines and 246 were issued warnings. 1,299 permits were issued and a total of $4,741.00 was collected. Detailed tables are given in the report.

D.M.V. REPORT By D. Murray Franklin Public Information Officer Md. Dept. of Motor Vehicles

School Bus Inspection All public and privately-contracted school buses must be inspected three times each year, under by-law 531:1 of the Maryland Code. Inspections are conducted by authorized agents of the State Superintendent of Schools, assisted by inspectors from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

In accordance with the law, the first inspection is made in July, prior to school openings; the second between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15 and the third during March. Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell said, "and in addition, spot checks and re-inspections are made where required."

DMV inspectors are concerned with operation of all safety equipment; qualified mechanics inspect the mechanical parts. Inspections by Department representatives include the cleanliness of the bus, inside and out; condition of the paint... school bus chrome... and the 8" letters "SCHOOL BUS" front and rear; inside, outside and cross-over mirrors, condition of windshield, doors and windows which must be free of cracks; flashing-type red stop lights front and rear which must be turned on 100 feet before loading or discharging passengers; two amber front and two red rear clearance lights, headlights, turn signals, tail lights and stop lights. DMV inspectors check doors and door latches, bus floor and entrance step, wipers, horn, seat frames and upholstery, chains, flags and flares, heater and defroster, fire extinguisher and hand axe. First aid kits approved by DMV must be maintained in good condition with all used materials immediately replaced. Drivers are instructed in first aid treatment. School bus inspection forms are provided by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Executed copies are distributed to the County Board of Education, DMV, the bus operator and the inspector. Defects noted on yellow copies of the form must be corrected, repaired or replaced, and a report filed with the County Board of Education and the Department of Motor Vehicles within 10 days. Analysis sheets of each bus, its owner, and the results of each inspection are maintained by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Any school bus found to be mechanically unsafe through any official or spot inspection shall be immediately removed from service and not used until further inspection proves it to be safe again. Operators of school buses must be at least 21 years old and not over 65. Drivers over 60 are required to take a special drivers test, as does anyone who has not driven a school bus before. All drivers must maintain a current chauffeur's license and are required to take a physical examination at the beginning of each school year. They must be of good character and capable of maintaining discipline and commanding the respect of the pupils. Owners of school buses must have a contract with an accredited school before they can secure school bus tags. They must also secure adequate insurance coverage and file proof of same with DMV's commercial insurance department.

Sister Awarded Fellowship

Sister Madeleine Wheeler, chairman of the home economics department at St. Joseph College, has received a full-year fellowship for further study, awarded by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The grant, which is administered by the American Home Economics Association, is applicable at any university of the awardee's choice. Sister Madeleine will study in the family economics and home management department at Penn State University. The $3,600 stipend covers the period from June, 1968 to September, 1969. A full time member of the St. Joseph's faculty since 1956, Sister Madeleine received her B.S. from St. Joseph's and her M.A. from Simmons College in Boston. On August 1, Sister Madeleine will take office as president of the Maryland Home Economics Association, the first sister to be elected to that position. She is also a member of the National Council of Administrators of Home Economics, which meets annually in Chicago to decide policy in that discipline for the coming year. OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Not Named for the Apple

E.J. "LUCKY" BALDWIN Scheduled to be run for the first time at Santa Anita Park on March 28, is a stakes race called the Baldwin, and it is not named for an apple. The race honors the memory of E. J. "Lucky" Baldwin whose Rancho Santa Anita once sprawled over a goodly portion of what is now Santa Anita Park and Arcadia, California. If Mr. Baldwin's biographers are correct, and, if he is getting news of racing wherever he is, his copious mustache is probably bristling as he says "It's about time." The pioneer-day accomplishments of E. J. Baldwin (he is said to have detested the nickname "Lucky") are too numerous, and, according to some accounts, too scandalous to recount in this space. In his time Baldwin was called many things besides "Lucky," most of them bad. He was a product of the times, tough, irascible, sometimes unscrupulous but not a hypocrite. After having made millions in mining transactions he took stock at the age of 72 and found himself nearly broke although his heavily mortgaged holdings around Santa Anita included a sizable portion of what is now Los Angeles County. He forthwith took off for Alaska where another gold rush was in progress. Nothing came of that venture but it demonstrated that Baldwin might be down but he was never out. Back in California he continued to build. He also raced a phenomenally successful stable and built the original Santa Anita race track, opened in 1907, of which he said, "I have realized the greatest ambition of my life."

WOMEN'S HEALTH

By Louise Chase
Women's Medical News Service

Side Effects 'Induced' By Specific Questions

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Side effects of a medication can sometimes be 'induced' by the type of question asked a patient rather than by the medication itself. In fact, there may be more 'side effects' without taking a drug. These observations were reported to a medical meeting here by Dr. Darrell E. Statzer of the Wayne State University College of Medicine and medical director of Detroit's Planned Parenthood League.

Puzzled over why there is such wide variation of side effects among women taking oral contraceptives, Dr. Statzer set up the following study to root out the mystery:

Some two years ago, 843 of the League's patients who chose to take the pill were divided into two groups and were asked to return to the clinic for checkups at three-month intervals.

The women in the one group asked simply, "How have you been?" If they reported side effects these were recorded.

Each time the women in the other group returned they were asked specific questions about the four most commonly reported side effects: Were they nauseous at all? Did they have dizzy spells? Did they get headaches? Were their periods painful?

Incidence Differs Markedly
Examination of the records revealed that the patients asked about specific side effects reported having them significantly more frequently than the women asked the general question.

For example, one out of seven of the women asked specifically about painful periods reported having them as compared with only one out of 21; about one of every nine asked the specific question reported headaches as compared with one out of 30 asked the general question.

The physician told Women's Medical News Service that he believes responses to the general question "probably reflects the truer incidence since the women were not influenced by the interviewer's guidance."

He emphasized that the patients in each group were of comparable age, had about the same number of children, and were of the same socio-economic and educational background.

Dr. Statzer found that when the questions referred to something measurable, such as weight gain or loss or breakthrough bleeding, there was little variation among the two groups.

More "Side Effects" Without Drug
One fascinating sidelight is that as part of their initial medical history, before they started to take the pill, the women were asked whether they had experienced bouts of dizziness, nausea, had painful periods or had headaches in the immediate past. More women reported having these symptoms before starting therapy than when they took the medicatio.

CLAIRVAUX

In order to continue a train of thought, and argument, I must quote some of the same words from Mother Seton's Pen which I quoted before: "The order of Sulpicians which is composed of the respectable gentlemen of this Seminary and College (St. Mary's—Paca St.—Baltimore) have a Seminary and a great part of their property at Clairvaux on the mountains"—March 13, 1809.

I maintain that on the day Mother Seton wrote those words the Sulpicians owned not one acre of ground on the Mountain at Emmitsburg . . . EXCEPT CLAIRVAUX . . . and that Mother Seton was referring to CLAIRVAUX. Oh yes, there was other church-owned property in the area, but not the land now occupied by the College. This land, in principal part the old Arnold Elder plantation, was not yet firmly arranged for, and I am uncertain that even to this day a formal conveyance was ever obtained.

Fr. DuBois, in his own right, owned 17 acres which he proposed to use as a spa and a home for aged and retired priests. In 1805, on this tract, with funds furnished by Father Du Bourg, a Sulpician, Father DuBois arranged with James Hughes, of Frederick, to build a church which survived for 100 years as "The old Church on the Hill."

In addition, somewhere in the vicinity, "at an inconvenient location"—to quote Fr. DuBois—was a two acre tract, owned by the Bishop, on which had been constructed a brick priests' home. For those who love to speculate as I—and who see no great harm in it, I submit that the brick priests' home that Fr. DuBois referred to is the handsome brick residence at the top of Tollgate Hill, adjacent to the '66' station, now occupied by Mr. Joe Myers. It was more than once proposed, in the early days, that the parish at the mountain, and the one in town, be consolidated at a central location. This spot would have been ideal for a central church and rectory. Besides, the sisters can tell any who are interested that the house in question was in fact constructed as a residence for priests. So there!

Now if the Sulpicians didn't own any land except Clairvaux in 1809 how do we know that they really own even it? We don't yet. It may take a thousand bits and pieces if I am ever to establish it . . . especially if I continue wanting the help that could be thrown my way.

Bit No. 1: Again I must lean on Mother Seton, and if she will see me through, I will certainly establish, not only that Clairvaux was once a refuge for Trappists, but more, the miracle for which I really long; but I digress. On October 29, 1812 Mother Seton again wrote to Julia Scott, "we have now an eminent physician at the mountain Seminary (living on campus), but he can give no relief but warm baths and frictions; and so we go." This is an obvious reference to Dr. Shorb, "beloved physician of the Mount" . . . who lived at Clairvaux for more than three decades. And what a deal he had . . . a rent free residence . . . and probably board as well! If Clairvaux were owned by the Mount today, and were fixed up, it would be a dumb doctor who would turn down a similar chance to become "The Physician in Residence."

To Participate In French Program

Two St. Joseph College French majors, Anne Maher, '68, and Diane Callison, '69, are among the ten Americans chosen to participate in a summer program in France sponsored by the French Ministry on Education and Youth.

Selected candidates for the program, "Connaissance de la France," were announced recently by the Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York, M. Edouard Morot-Sir.

With students from a number of countries, the American participants will spend six days in Paris and the surrounding areas and then travel individually to the various provinces of France to learn the specific characteristics of one region or city.

Miss Maher, a resident of Shamokin, Pa., has been assigned to the city of Caen in Normandy where she will attend sessions on the port facilities, the industrial and agricultural development, the monuments and manors, and the tourism of that city.

She has studied at the Laval University in Quebec, Canada, during the summer of 1965 and during her junior year as part of St. Joseph's exchange program which encourages language majors to live and study for a year in foreign countries.

Miss Callison, who has already accepted a European study trip this summer with a group sponsored by Georgetown University, is a member of Pi Delta Phi, the national French Honor Society. She is a resident of Arlington, Va., and has participated in the Neighborhood Youth Corps tutoring program, the Marian Association, and the teaching apostolate.

President
NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Forum Expansion Encouraging
More than 400 conferees were in attendance when the National Education Program's 29th Freedom Forum convened in the American Heritage Center auditorium in Searcy on April 16. It was the biggest attendance in the Forum's history. And when we assess the many-pronged attack now under way against our American system, the attitude of the conferees was the most encouraging since our first Forum in 1949. They evidenced grave concern for our country's survival and they voiced their determination, at Forum's end, to dedicate a part of their lives to citizenship responsibilities. Since we believe that the first requirement of citizenship is a clear understanding of our American system, my keynote address was devoted largely to examining the principles and reviewing in depth the reasons why our system has provided greater freedom and economic well-being than any in history. The Dangers

Then I touched briefly on the four major dangers confronting Americans—the cultivation in America of a God-less society; the citizens' condoning of a breakdown of law and order; the apathy of Americans generally toward the growth of dictatorial Federalism; and the menace of international Communism, now manifested most dramatically in the swift expansion of Revolutionary Black Power.
Stanton Evans, Editor of the Indianapolis News and author of the book, The Politics of Surrender, reviewed the disastrous American foreign policy actions of the last 25 years. He took special note of recent news from Czechoslovakia, where "relaxing" of brutal Communist Police State measures is reported. He said the U. S. should not be stampeded into giving financial aid to Czechoslovakia as it did Poland when "relaxing" measures were widely heralded there. "Today," he said, "Poland is one of the most oppressive Communist nations; and U. S. money made it so." Cuba Arming "Black Power" Paul Bethel, Executive Director of the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, a former State Department official in Cuba, said that Communist Cuba today is a Soviet military bastion and that it is working to subvert and control revolutionary "black power" forces in the U. S. Gary Allen, California newspaperman who has specialized in reporting on radical youth activities, said that the work of the Communists among American youth was more dangerous because "whoever controls fads for the young control the youth of a nation." He said the Communists now are working to gain sufficient control over thousands of "radical" youth and bring them into a "united front" with Communist "black power" leaders for an attempt to take over the U. S.

A climactic event of the Forum was Senator John L. McClellan's address on the civil disorders in America. He said that the greatest menace confronting America "stems from the activities of enemies and conditions that prevail from within the nation."

"Brink Of Disaster"
"Never since the Civil War," said Senator McClellan, whose Senate investigation into "Civil-Criminal" disorders has produced shocking evidence of careful planning, "has this nation faced such dissension, strife, turbulence and violence—such danger from within... the momentum of momentous events is sweeping us rapidly toward the brink of disaster."
Senator McClellan suggested four goals in which citizens must enlist their active support:
"1. There must be a revival of patriotism and a renewed dedication to the ideals and fundamentals upon which our liberties rest."
"2. We must make greater effort in our homes, schools and churches to inculcate into the youth of our country higher standards of morality and a deeper sense of citizenship obligation."
"3. We must strengthen law enforcement and provide better protection to society and greater safety for our citizens."
"4. We must bring the scales of justice back into balance as between the rights of criminals and the protection of society."

SPORTS AFIELD
How do you pick a sporting-dog puppy?
The late Charles Jordan, a well-known Georgia sportsman, always let his kennelman pick the "best" pup. Of a particularly prized litter of setters, he asked Aleck which puppy would make the best dog. Without hesitation, Aleck pointed out a scrawny little fellow and said, "Dar he."
Jordan registered that pup as Dar He—and Aleck was right. The young setter made an impressive record in field trials.
Having "an eye for a dog," as Aleck had, will help in picking the right pup. But don't depend on it entirely. There are certain guidelines that one would do well to follow.
First, look into the qualifications of sire and dam. Assure yourself that the puppy is descended from gun dogs that have proved their merit in the field.
Observe the puppy's conformation carefully. Balance is what you're looking for. Try to picture what the puppy will look like when he matures. Excessive narrowness in the chest, too long a back or cowhocks may indicate future weakness or lack of stamina. A glaring fault, even in a very young pup, will be fairly easy to detect. All young and growing dogs go through a period of awkwardness, but this will not last long with a puppy that is built right to begin with.
Look for boldness. Try to pick the boldest pup in the litter; if you can't, do not, on any account, pick a timid one! Boldness or timidity may not be immediately manifest in a very young pup, so don't be in too big a hurry to make your choice. Take your time and observe the puppy closely, before you buy.
Test the puppy's hearing and eyesight. You can improvise methods for this.
See that his sense of smell is keen. Drag a piece of raw meat across the lawn on a string; then watch for the puppy to follow the trail when he comes across it in his play.
If he is a bird-dog puppy, test his pointing instinct, advises Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Twitch a bunch of feathers, a bird's wing or even a wad of paper along in front of the pup across the lawn. When he tries to pounce on it, jerk it away from him, then let it come to rest in front of him. Soon he'll begin to stalk it and then sight-point it. This may give you an idea what sort of style he'll have on point at maturity.
What you're looking for is a well-bred puppy, physically sound, with the qualities essential in a sporting dog. Given this sort of material and a little training know-how, you will have good prospects for a serviceable hunting companion.

If you haven't noticed, there is a church nearby where you are welcome.
Nothing delights a worker like an advance in pay without additional work.

Patriotism as a WAY TO PEACE

Patriotism is often thought of as a virtue primarily connected with war.
And certainly they are patriots who offer their lives in defense of their country.
But even those willing to bear arms must view the alternatives of war or peace with a deep sense of morality. It was this sense of morality that prompted Pope Paul to plead prayerfully for the end of all wars... and the Conference of American Catholic Bishops to issue their Statement on Peace in 1966.

"Citizens," the Bishops' statement said, "should develop a generous and loyal devotion to their country, but without any narrowing of mind. In other words, they must look simultaneously to the welfare of the whole human family, which is tied together by the manifold bonds linking races, peoples and nations."

"These 'limits on patriotism,'" the Bishops added, do not rule out a country's right to legitimate self-defense. "And what a nation can do to defend itself," the Bishops added, "it may do to help another in its struggle against aggression."

"We must," the Bishops said, "use every resource available, as a nation, to help alleviate the basic causes of war. If the God-given human dignity of the people of poorer nations is not to become an illusion, these nations must be able to provide for the spiritual and material needs of their citizens. We must help them do this."
Pope Paul, Vatican Council II and the U.S. Bishops all point out that true peace can exist only if the right order established by God... and based on the requirements of human dignity... can be evolved from the conscience of all peoples, everywhere. The real "balance of power" is in your hands and mine.

To help you put war and peace in a proper perspective, we have just published an easy-to-read, interesting pocket-size pamphlet entitled "PEACE THROUGH PATRIOTISM." We will be glad to send you a copy free upon request. There's no obligation—and nobody will call on you.

A grand slam homerun by Kevin Topper in the top of the sixth inning paced the Giants to a come-from-behind 8-6 win over the Cardinals Monday evening on the Little League diamond.
After Denny Hewitt doubled and Joe Lupinski and Denny Vaughn got on via singles to load the bases, Topper was sent in as a pinch-hitter and then poked a long ball over the left field fence to account for four of the Giants five runs in the sixth.

The Cardinals scored four big runs in the bottom of the third on singles by Ed Seidel, Brian Bentz, a walk to Terry Wivell, and a double by Frank Saylor. Englestatler topped all batters with three safties. Seidel, Bentz and Saylor all had two hits for the Cardinals.

Giants Rout Red Sox
A brilliant pitching performance by Kevin Topper sparked the visiting Giants to a 6-0 win over the Red Sox Thursday evening.

Topper fanned 16 of the 18 batters and did not give up a single walk. His only nemesis during the game was Red Sox catcher Mike Olinger who got all three of the losers' safeties. The Giants got four scattered hits, two by Kevin Topper and Jim Saylor in a four-run fourth inning. The remainng two singles were by Denny Hewitt and Frank Davis.

Red Sox Beat Yankees
Scoring all of their runs in two innings, the Red Sox claimed undisputed possession of second place as they turned back the Yankees 10-6 Tuesday evening. Roy Adelsbreger sparked the five-run third inning for the winners with a long home run with two mates aboard.

An additional reminder is hereby set forth for the P. O. Box-holders, that box rents will be due beginning Thursday, June 20, and must be paid prior to July 1, which brings the deadline to Friday, June 28, since rents cannot be accepted on Saturdays.

A reminder notice, has been posted at our office, which can be most helpful in obtaining the Zip Code, for the person that you have correspondence with. I feel sure that this has been mentioned in my column before, however, reminders are never wasted.

This Zip Code will be shown in all postmarks, unless it be from a multi-coded city, whereas, it is then necessary to revert to standard procedure, which is to look-up the street address, under that particular city, in the Zip Code Directory, to be found on our lobby desk.
